Reverting to the recent fire, Mr. Kirn stated that the effect of the explosion would be to distribute the fire to different parts of the drying department. He explained that a fan over the grinders was intended to carry off the dust. The ground hulls, commercially termed "vim," was not specially susceptible to heating.

Commissioner Heaton stated that he had been informed of one fire in Oxford County caused by "vim." It had been shipped to farmers and had to be moved to safe places several times because of the danger it presented from heating.

The presence of vertical openings extending from the ground to the top floor, including several elevators, Mr. Kirn said would facilitate the rapid spread of the fire to the upper floors.

ALEXANDER MILLER.

The next witness, Mr. Alexander Miller, said he had been chief engineer with the Company since 1902. Witness was not at work on Dec. 11, on account of the death of his wife. Mr. W. H. Mesley took his place. No fires at the mill had originated from the boiler house. That of three or four weeks ago, Tuesday, Nov. 24, originated up in the dry house. As a rule, that's where they all originate. Witness heard the explosion at that time. It was very light. The fire was put out by the use of about thirty extinguishers and two sets of factory 1 3-4 in. hose. It was extinguished without much damage. All the extinguishers used on that occasion were re-filled by Mr. Miller.

Witness said there was a weekly examination of the factory fire apparatus. The pump was tested once a week. The hose, buckets and tanks were examined once a week to see that they were in their proper places and ready for use. Mr. Miller said he believed the equipment was in perfect condition on Dec. 11th.

To Mr. Heaton witness said the sprinklers in the dry-house operated once in 1916. That was back in the spring. About a month ago they operated in the office-end of the building, from an overheated flue. Mr. Miller did not keep a record of the times the automatic sprinklers were discharged.

SMALL FIRE ON SUNDAY.

Mr. Grant stated that he was foreman of the shipping room, and had been with the Company twenty years. On Sunday, Dec. 10th, he saw a small, smouldering fire in the shipping room. It must have come from the hull grinders above.

Mr. Houlihan, Mr. Welsh and Mr. Wolfe were with him on that day, and helped put out the fire. They used one or two extinguishers. The dry-room was just two stories above the shipping floor.

On the next day Mr. Grant was in the shipping office when the explosion occurred. It blew in the end of his office. He did not notice a blaze at that time.

MR. ALFRED MESLEY.

Mr. Alfred Mesley was in the package department. He helped the girls to get out, then hurried to the rear of the plant. He noticed that the north wall of the drying department had fallen over the boiler room. Witness went over to a window and called in to the men he believed were there, but received no answer. All the ovens were buried under brick and steel. Witness reached the boiler room about three minutes after the explosions.

Mr. Mesley recalled smaller explosions that had occurred in the same "dry house." It was generally supposed that they were caused by a piece of foreign matter going through the grinders and causing a spark.

Witness recalled a fire of a year ago when sixteen sprinklers discharged in the oat mill, and twelve in the dry room. Considerable water flowed from them. They operated about five minutes before they were shut off.

ROBERT ALLEN.

Mr. Allen was an engineer in the boiler room with Mr. Miller and Mr. Mesley. He was on night duty at the time of the fire. He was on day work three weeks ago when a small explosion occurred. It was said to have originated from the grinders. Witness knew of occasions when the sprinklers were put in action by explosions.

MR. O. A. LANGLEY GETS JUDGMENT IN THE FAMOUS GARNSEY CASE

Judgment in favour of the plaintiffs was given this morning in the County Court by His Honour Judge Huycke in the case of Leamon Garnsey, Mrs. L. Garnsey and Miss Catharine Hill, of Dummer, versus Mrs. Clarissa Sampson, of Dunmer, and S. T. Wedlock, W. J. Hancock, and C. A. Beatty, of Peterborough.

Mr. O. A. Langley acted for the plaintiffs, Mr. D. O'Connell for Wedlock, Mr. F. D. Kerr for Hancock, and Mr. B. D. Hall for Beatty.

Damages amounting altogether to $225 were awarded plaintiffs. One hundred and fifty dollars of this amount was awarded to Leamon Garnsey against Mrs. Sampson to be set off against her claim on a chattel mortgage. Mrs. Garnsey is awarded damages to the amount of $50, while Miss C. Hill's award amounts to $25, making in all $225 awarded to the plaintiffs. His Honour directed that Beatty, Hancock and Wedlock each pay $25 of the amount awarded, to the two women.

The award includes High Court costs only.

The case arose out of a number of seizures that were made last summer and which the court held to be illegal. Upwards of fifty exhibits were submitted to the court, and about a dozen seizures were involved.

Judge Huycke remarked that the case was a very complicated one ran close to the border line in a number of instances. "Mr. Langley was unquestionably right," said His Honour, in referring to Mr. Langley's contention that all the seizures under the chattel mortgage were illegal. His Honour found Mrs. Sampson responsible for the whole of it, and awarded Garnsey judgment for $230. As Garnsey still owes defendant $200 he is still $50 to the lead.

Messrs. Wedlock, Hancock and Beatty were engaged to remove from Garnsey's farm certain chattels seized on instructions from Mrs. Sampson's lawyer.

Only Three Fires At Plant in 8 Years

During the past eight years the fire loss at the Quaker Oats Co. plant was only $560.00. This was shown in Chief Howard's report this morning which further recalled the fact that in that period only three minor fires in the factory had called out the brigade. The dates for alarms from the box in front of the Quaker Oats Company:

June 21st, 1909, children and matches, no damage.

Oct. 16th, 1911, spark from machine, $30.00.

July 30th, 1912, short circuit in power house, $500.

Sept. 29th, 1912, unknown, no damage.

May 14th, 1914, grass fire, no damage.

June 10th, 1914, fire in sawdust pile, no damage.

July 17th, 1914, fire in sawdust pile, no damage.

July 23rd, 1914, fire in sawdust pile, no damage.

July 25th, 1914, fire in sawdust pile, no damage.

New York Stock Market

Summary of To-day's Activities on the New York Stock Exchange

NEW YORK Dec. 21.—Stock market which broke 2 to 13 points during the first hour to-day was thrown into wild excitement and uncertainty by announcement of Secretary Lansing that President Wilson sent his "peace message" to belligerents because this country's position as neutral is becoming intolerable. At one o'clock sales for three hours were estimated 27 million. United States steel may go lower par before market closes.

Air Brake 144, 137; Atchison 103 3-4; B. & O., 83 5-8, 83 1-8; C.P.R. 167, 163; Erie 50, 49; Reading 106, 99 7-8; Bethsteel 500; Rep. Steel 74 7-8, 72; U. S. Steel 104 3-8, 101 3-4; Anaconda 83, 79 1-4; Inter. Nickel 41 1-2, 40 3-8.

NEW YORK, Dec. 21.—First sales on stock exchange to-day showed break in prices of 2 to 6 points as the result of President Wilson's note to belligerent powers.

OTTAWA, Dec. 21.—Government officials were silent as sphinx to-day in regard to President Wilson's note.

Chicago, Dec. 21.—Wheat dropped six cents when the Exchange opened to-day, on President Wilson's peace note.

Dom. Steel 66 1-2, 64 1-2; Gen. Elec. 110, 111; N. S. Steel 115, 110 1-8; Steel Can., 66, 61 1-4, Cement 59; Smelters 33, 32 1-2.

Perhaps the best summary of the cause of last week's break from which the market has not yet recovered is given by the "Financial World" of New York. It says:

By all odds this week's violent break in the stock market was the worst of any in the entire 12 months of 1916. The decline was bigger on the average and the recovery has been smaller. The explanation made that the German peace proposals, giving sinister suggestions of a hasty collapse of all the inflation that has been built up around our enormous foreign trade and inflow of over $600,000,000 in gold does not adequately fit the situation. The market was already under pressure before the German proffer of peace came and a sever brak was altogether in preparation for the season that the country from east to west and north and south had been indulging in an orgy of speculative buying that was sure to be punctured at one time or another as the evidence of the overdone character of the movement came clearer into view.

It was the collapse of the war speculation bubble, and the German peace proposal merely gave added courage to the big groups of bears who had been gathering for a fortnight or more for an attack on the position. The great final wave of speculation that wound up the big bull market of the war began in August and it reached its crest in November. Since then the huge balloon has been held intact by the forces of cheap money and enormous resources which the speculative inclined public was able to pour into the market. The sharp rise in call money to 15 per cent. ten days ago, however, brought the first doubts as to the strength of the position and encouraged those who had sold out and saw the condition of things as they really existed to efforts intended to force a liquidating movement on a large scale.

Three attacks were delivered this week, the first on Tuesday, which made great headway, leaving off only after the market had become semi-panicky. On Wednesday there was a pause and a covering movement by timid bears who thought the position too strong to be successfully assailed further, but on Thursday the leading professional structure still left and by night they had the immense army of bulls in demoralised flight, the banks and brokerage houses in vast alarm, and throwing over great blocks of stock for whatever price they would bring.

MEASLES THE ONLY EPIDEMIC IN NORTH MONAGHAN IN 1916

Measles is the only contagious disease reported in the township of Monaghan by Dr. T. N. Greer, Medical Health Officer for the township, in his annual report. The outbreak was limited to thirty-five cases reported.

The report to the Board of Health of North Monaghan follows:

Gentlemen.—In submitting my report for 1916, it is gratifying to note that health conditions in the municipality are quite satisfactory at the present time. In the early part of the year measles occurred in epidemic form, spreading, I think, from the city of Peterborough to the township. By the strict measures we adopted to control it, however, the outbreak was limited to 35 cases reported. I would like to point out in this connection that it is now believed that the most infective period of measles is at the very beginning, before the rash appears, hence the importance of early recognition and isolation during the pre-eruptive stage. This we were able to do in a few cases, but it could not be systematically carried out in the absence of provision for proper inspection of school children. Arrangements are now under way whereby your Medical Officer of Health will make monthly inspections in co-operation with the teachers, especially at May's School. This should be sufficient to meet ordinary demands, but should an epidemic occur a nurse would have to be engaged to make more frequent inspections and otherwise assist the M. O. H.

On account of the close proximity of Monaghan to the City of Peterborough, the danger to the residents of the township of contracting disease from that source is always present, and the utmost vigilance on the part of your health authorities and of the public, as well must be exercised to guard against it.

In a former report I referred to a serious outbreak of diphtheria which occurred in the township three years ago, and which was traced to a home in the City of Peterborough where no precautions had been taken to prevent the spread of the disease.

It is to be hoped that the sewage disposal plant question will soon be settled to the satisfaction of the township ratepayers and that in the final settlement the interests of every resident in the district affected shall be properly safeguarded, especially in relation to the health of the community. I am glad to know the city has conceded to Monaghan residents the privilege of connecting up with sewers running through the township and I trust the people will take advantage of the opportunity when the time comes.

Except measles, no other cases of contagious diseases have been reported during the year. A few unimportant nuisance cases occurred and were promptly and satisfactorily adjusted.

T. Newton Greer,
Medical Officer of Health.

$150,000 XMAS BOX FOR EMPLOYEES OF TORONTO STREET R.R

SPECIAL TO THE EXAMINER:

TORONTO, Dec. 21.— The Toronto Street Railway Company, which is Sir Wm. Mackenzie's enterprise, dropped $150,000 per year Christmas box into the stocks of their employees to-day, when they announced a voluntary increase of 2 1-2 cents an hour in men's wages. The increase is antedated to November first, too.

Last Chance Snaps
IN BOOTS

For the last two days before the holiday, we will give the best money-saving prices of the season on all lines of boots in the store. We list just a few to give some idea of the unprecedented values.—

LADIES' HIGH BOOTS—Patents with cloth or kid tops, the very latest style. Worth $5.00. A very special bargain 2.98

LADIES' DRESS BOOTS—Very nice quality of pliable patent with cloth tops, buttoned, nice medium heel, splendid walking boots. Regular $4.50. Special at 2.49

LADIES' FINE BOOTS—Selected patent vamps and specially nice soft kid uppers, buttoned, walking heels. Regular $5.00 boots, and a very Special Snap at 2.75

MEN'S DRESS BOOTS—A very neat line, laced or buttoned, well finished, sewed soles. Regular $5.00. For only 3.50

MEN'S FINE BOOTS—A very dressy boot in Chocolate, African Brown, and Mahogany colours. Splendid vici kid, soft and pliable. Sewed soles. Regular $7.00. Our Special Snap price 4.98

LADIES' SLIPPERS—The "cosy" bedroom slippers, in brown, green, red and khaki coloured felt, with soft leather soles. Regular $1.25. Our special price only 89c

LADIES' KID "COSYS"—White and coloured, a most acceptable Christmas present. Worth $2.75. A big snap at our price 1.25

LADIES' JULIETS—In figured velvet fur-trimmed, leather soles and heels. Another big bargain. Worth $2.25. For only 1.49

SPECIAL IN CHILDREN'S SLIPPERS — Red felts prettily trimmed, and with durable leather soles, cosy style. About half price, for only 65c

Very special low prices on all Children's Boots and Rubbers. Be sure and see our bargains before buying.

D. ZACKS

424 George Street Next to B. J. Zacks

THE WORLD OF SPORT

BOWLING

Last night at the Water street alleys proved to be one of great excitement. The alleys were crowded all day, everyone eager to take home a turkey. It proved also to be a record night in bowling for the City of Peterborough,as Mr. George Cairns rolled a high single game of 290 pins. In this game he made 11 strikes and 1 spare. If he had made 12 strikes it would have been a possible as 300 hundred pins, or all that can be rolled over in one game. This game should stand good in Peterborough for a long time to come and places Mr. Cairns in a class with W. Miller of Detroit, Larry Sutton of Rochester, J. Blouin of Chicago and many men of the world famed bowlers. In his 3 consecutive games he rolled a grand total of 690 pins, also a record on all alleys in the country, and is close to one of the highest scores made in a world's championship. It will be found that R. Wengher of Chicago, in 1908, rolled the highest 3 games yet on record with a score of 699 pins, and as Mr. Cairns' score was 690 it will be found that he was only 9 pins behind the wonderful score of Mr. Wengler. It proves Mr. Cairns also to be a bowler of high standing.

This score should stand good for today's turkey, as it will take a lot of pins to beat it, but then miracles have happened before and who knows but the day may bring out another great bowler on the alleys.

The league match between the Canadian General Electric and the Wholesale Grocers will be played to-night at 8 o'clock. The game will cause great excitement as the league standing shows all the teams fighting hard for first place.

To-morrow night the Printers play the Left Overs another game that should bring out a large crowd. This game will end the league games till after the New Year, when they will be continued again.

IRISH SETTLEMENT COMING.

Close Harmony Will Soon Prevail Says Sir Horace Plunkett.

NEW YORK, Dec. 21. — Ireland and England will soon be brought into closer harmony through a provisional adjustment of the Irish problem, Sir Horace Plunkett, prominent Irish politician, declared yesterday. Plunkett arrived in New York Tuesday on the Adriatic.

The understanding and sympathy with the purpose of the war will soon spread so rapidly throughout Ireland that she will give between 130,000 and 140,000 more men for the defence of the United Kingdom, Plunkett predicted.

HOCKEY GOSSIP

Although he has been for many months in the thick of the excitement in France Sapper M. L. Dobson, of the Canadian Engineers, the well known Peterborough hockey player and referee, hasn't forgotten the old game. On a card to a member of the Examiner staff he writes:

"How are the kids shaping up this season? About due to come through, eh? Game called off here—wet grounds—and believe me, the old sign works overtime, but the big show still repeats with its thrills. Very exciting at times, but getting monotonous. Regards to all the boys and all good wishes for a very merry Christmas.

Sapper Len Dobson,
Canadian Engineers,
B.E.F., France.

The 247th Battalion Intermediates will practice to-night at 7 o'clock at Brock St. Rink. All players are expected to be on hand in time to get on the ice at 7 o'clock sharp.

The Peterborough Juniors will practice to-morrow night at 7 o'clock. The following players are expected out: Murray, Carney, Montgomery, McIntyre, Graham, Cherrett, Bartley, McFee, Frost, Park, Scott, Moore.

TO RECRUIT IN QUEBEC.

Sir Sam Hughes Intimates an Interest in the Work.

MONTREAL, Dec. 20.—Sir Sam Hughes was in the city yesterday on his way to New York on a brief business trip. He said that he had by no means lost his interest in the recruiting work, and that he was particularly concerned in the work being done in this province by Col. Mignault, with a view to interesting the French-Canadians. It was probable that later on he would speak at recruiting meetings to be held at Montreal and Quebec. General Hughes was met by Sir Herbert Holt, with whom he lunched at the Mount Royal Club. During the afternoon he had a long conference with Major-General E. W. Wilson, and also talked matters over with Major Victor Pelletier, A.D.C., Sir Frederick Williams-Taylor and others interested in recruiting work.

If you would keep Father-Son or Brother efficient Spirit, ually, Physically and Mentally for 1917, buy him a Y.M.C.A. Ticket for a Christmas Present

Oak Hall For Special Christmas Gifts

Our Store being Head-Quarters for Men's Articles—what to give him? The question is very easily answered. Just the sort of Gifts he'll appreciate after Xmas is over.

NOW'S YOUR CHANCE FOR A HOUSE COAT

Balance of our House Coats to clear. Worth up to $7.50 for—

$4.95

Open To-Night, Thursday, Friday and Saturday Night until 10 o'clock

Boxed Gifts

Ties....25c, 35c, 50c, 75c & $1.00
Braces.....25c, 50c, 75c
Armbands.....25c & 50c
Garters.....25c & 50c
Scarfs.....$1.00, $1.25 to $2.50
Men's Setts..50c 75c, 1.00 & $1.50
Gloves.....$1.00, $1.50 & $2.00
Tie and H'd'kf Boxes...75c, $1, $1.25
Shirts.....$1.00 to $5.00
Boy's Sweater Coat...$2.00 to $5.00
Boy's Jerseys & Sweaters.....$1 to $2
Men's Sweater Coat..$2.50 to $6.00
Men's Sweaters.....$2.00 to $2.50

Boy's O'Coat Special

Heavy tweed ulsters, ages 10 to 18, convertible, button back. Worth up to 8.50 for.....$6.45

Men's Overcoats

Young men's stylish short coats, broken lots. Worth up to 16.50 for..$12.90

Better Cloths some sample coat in them latest styles Jellicoe and Canadian. Worth up to 20.00 for.....$15.90

Dressing Gowns

Balance of our Dressing Gowns, were $4.50 to $6.50. To clear $3.95-$4.95

A Special Gift for Men

ONE HE WILL APPRECIATE

Silk Garters, Armbands and Leather Belt put up in neat box, belt adjustable to any size. Special.....$1.50

A leatherette case folds like a wallet, added to this a nice pair Silk Hose or two or Hose and Braces. It makes nice gift and you can regulate your amount by chosing your own articles.

Boys' D. B. Suit Special

Suits in all-wool medium shade tweeds, full bloomer pants. Worth from $6.00 to $12.00. Special for.....$4.95 and $7.95

Children's Suit Special

All-Wool Blue Serge in Fancy Norfolk, stitched belts and pleats, fancy pockets, real nice suit. Special.....$4.35
A Dark Fancy Tweed in above style..$2.95

We have made a few suggestions above. No doubt there are many we have overlooked—we'll be pleased to have you call and we'll do all in our power to assist you.

OAK HALL

IMPORTANT: When making your purchase, ask for one of our "WALL MIRROR CALENDERS." Some new and useful in calender line.

REV. DOUGALD BROWN PRESENTED WITH A PURSE OF GOLD

Christmas Tree Entertainment Held Last Evening in Park Street Baptist Church---Good Programme Provided

One of the most successful Christmas trees and entertainments in connection with Park Street Baptist Church took place last night in the Sunday School room, which was crowded to its utmost capacity. A good programme was given, as follows:

Doxology.
Recitation—Master French.
Dialogue—Mr. Saunders' class.
Song—Miss Gower.
Recitation—Master Curtis.
Chorus—Primary Class.
Dialogue—Mrs. Luffman's class.
Song—"Japanese Girls."
Recitation—Violet Perry.
Chorus—Mrs. Fallis' class.
Dialogue—Mrs. Matchett's class.
Piano Duet—Misses Nore and Mabel Theobald.

At this stage a very interesting event took place. The chairman, Mr. F. A. D. Fry, called upon Mr. H. Goodwin, to come to the platform. Mr. Goodwin called upon Mr. O. S. Matchett, who, in turns called upon Rev. and Mrs. Dougald Brown to come to the platform, when the former read a beautiful illuminated address, beautifully framed, and at the proper moment Mr. Matchett presented to Mr. and Mrs. Brown a well-filled purse of gold.

The Address.

Rev. and Mrs. Dougald Brown.

Dear Mr. and Mrs. Brown—As we are gathered here to-night for our annual Christmas entertainment, we cannot let the occasion pass without in some way expressing to you both our deep feeling of love and esteem in which you are cherished by us.

We are sincerely thankful to God and to you under God, that you were directed to come amongst us, because we feel and know that you have done a great work here.

We wish to express to Mrs. Brown the thanks of the ladies for the great help she has been in the different organizations of our church. We also are thankful that it has been your constant aim to lead us to centre our thought not upon the facts alone but upon Him, who is the Central Figure of God's word—Christ; Christ as a personal Saviour and Redeemer, and we trust and know that God will ever bless your work both now and in the future, amongst us.

We would ask you to accept this purse as a slight token of love and esteem, with our hearts thus bound in Christian love and, and thus united in the Master's service may we all labour on, ever rising to a higher plane in the Christian life and more usefulness in the cause of Jesus Christ, that is nearest and dearest to your hearts and ours.

Signed on behalf of the Park Street Baptist Church.

Harry Goodwin, Church Clerk.
Alfred Fallis, Chairman Deacon's Board.
F. A. D. Fry, Supt. of S. School.
Wm. Saunders, Pres. of the B. Y. P. U.
Mrs. A. Nichols, President of the Ladies' Aid.
Mrs. J. Tranter, Secretary of the Mission Circle.

Rev. Mr. Brown, although taken by surprise, replied very feelingly for Mrs. Brown and himself.

Mr. Goodwin then called upon Mr. A. Nichols to come to the platform, when the following address and presentation took place:

Peterborough, Dec. 19 1916.

Mr. A. Nichols, Organist and Choir Master.

Dear Mr. Nichols.—As we are gathered here to-night, enjoying our annual Christmas entertainment, we cannot let the occasion pass without in some way recognising your good, ly, was unavoidably absent, when the following address and presentation took place:

Peterborough, Dec. 19, 1916.

Mr. and Mrs. W. C. Barrie, City.

Dear Mr. and Mrs. Barrie,—We are glad to-night to have the privilege of recognizing your good work in our church as Communion Clerk.

We know and feel that you have a good work to perform, one of the most important in our Church life, and have performed it well.

We would ask you to accept this small gift as a slight token of our love and esteem and we trust and pray that you may both be spared many, many years yet to labour on in our midst.

Signed on behalf of the Park Street Baptist Church.

Rev. Dougald Brown, Pastor.
Harry Goodwin, Church Clerk.

Mrs. Barrie replied, thanking them on behalf of Mr. Barrie and herself.

The Chairman then took charge, and the balance of the programme was run off, as follows:

Recitation—J. Batley.
National drill—Mrs. Brown's class.
Dialogue—Mrs. Wright's class.

The presents were then taken off and distributed.

The Sunday School attendance is growing, last Sunday having the largest attendance for years, and any one not attending any other Sunday school will receive a hearty welcome.

MILITARY NEWS

The Examiner has received a very interesting Christmas greeting card from the 39th Battalion, C.E.F., sent by Capt. J. E. R. Munro. Peterborough looms large in the list of officers. Major C. R. Cameron is second in command of the 39th, and Major A. G. Carruthers is quartermaster. Capts. W. G. Hall, Grant D. Mowat, J. H. Eastwood, T. W. B. Marking (Lakefield), and J. M. Bygott (Lakefield), who went overseas with the 93rd Battalion, are each second in command of companies in the 39th. Lt.-Col. T. J. Johnston, Major R. P. Watt, Major K. G. Lech, Hon. Major J. C. Davidson, Hon. Capt. J. H. Burnham, Capt. J. E. R. Munro, Capt. H. S. Neilson, Hon. Capt. Jas. Rollins, Capt. E. C. Thompson, and Capt. C. R. Widdifield appear in the list of attached officers. Lieut. W. W. Armstrong, assistant adjutant of the 93rd Battalion, is a platoon commander with the 39th. Capt. M. H. W. P. Eastwood, Peterborough officers with the Royal Flying Corps, are also attached to the 39th Battalion.

END OF LONDON COUNCIL ROW

Fine of $70 Imposed on Alderman Who Threw Tumbler.

LONDON, Ont., Dec. 21.—When Ald. Adam Palmer picked up a glass tumbler at his desk in the City Council a few months ago and hurled it at a fellow-councillor, Ald. W. A. Wilson, the tumbler wounded Ald. Wilson, and also cost Ald. Palmer just $70, without costs. The case has been pending ever since.

Remember, girls, the season for snarling husbands is still open.

Women have a lot to say about model husbands, but they want the latest models.

Royal Theatre

Christmas Day And Holiday Week

We are arranging for a very fine program for the Royal Theatre for Christmas and the Holiday Week.

Watch for our announcement giving particulars in Sat's. Paper.

ROYAL THEATRE

Peterborough's Picture Play House that gives the biggest, best and most varied Film Program in Ontario.

THE LITTLE CANDY STORE ON CHARLOTTE STREET

Will be pleased to supply your wants for Christmas Candy.

We have Old Fashioned, Pure Home-made Candy for the Children, Chocolates and Bon Bons for your lady friends, to which we might add, when in doubt give a Box of Chocolates. Drop in to

THE LITTLE CANDY STORE
At 204 CHARLOTTE STREET

Whether coming up town or going home and get your Holiday Supply.

JAMES HAGGIS, Proprietor

10 Leading Books of the Year

YOUR literary friends who enjoy reading the new books as they appear, will certainly appreciate a copy of one of these new volumes, If you are particular about securing any Special Book, we advise prompt action, as our supply is limited.

THE WORN DOORSTEP
By Margaret Sherwood, N.Y. Times says: Best of all stories inspired by the war.. $1.25

TOLD IN A FRENCH GARDEN
By Mildred Aldrich. Author of "The Hilltop on the Marne".....$1.25

FURTHER FOOLISHNESS
By Stephen Leacock. Sketches and Satires of the Follies of the day.....$1.25

MR. BRITLING SEES IT THROUGH
H. G. WELLS
BIGGEST SELLING BOOK OF THE SEASON
$1.50

THE RED WATCH
By Col. Currie. A story of the 48th Highlanders at St. Julien.....$1.35

ORDERS TAKEN FOR ALL PERIODICALS, PAPERS, MAGAZINES, Etc. THEY RENEW YOUR GIFT DAILY, WEEKLY OR MONTHLY FOR ALL THE YEAR.

THE WORLD FOR SALE
By Gilbert Parker. Scene is laid in our own North West. One of the best books $1.50

A SUNNY SUBALTERN
Or Billy's Letters from France. Special.....$1.00

RHYMES OF A RED CROSS MAN
By Robert Service. It is a blow for lasting peace. One of the best service books $1.00

THE WATCHMAN
And Other Poems by L. M. Montgomery. Author of the Anne Books.....$1.25

Extra Special A Limited Number of Frederick Palmer's "My Year of Great War" 65c

TREBILCOCK BROS., 417 GEORGE STREET

Store Open Evenings -:- The Peterboro Book Store -:- Phone 285

ROBT. FAIR & CO., LTD.

A Beautiful Holiday Store Filled With Christmas Gift Suggestions

Ready is the word for the year's busiest Two Day's Selling.

From every angle, this store is ready to put every shopping moment to the best account and to assist you in filling up the list of gifts intended for your friends.

ROBT. FAIR & CO., LTD.

TO LIMIT SIZE OF HOUSES.

Toledo, Ohio, Plans to Prevent Congestion of Residences.

Effort will be made in Toledo, Ohio, in revising the city building code to limit the size of buildings that may be placed on lots, says the Blade.

Engineering Commissioner McClure, who is working out the engineering features of the new code, believes a house 28 feet wide should not be built on a 30-foot lot. This is being done every day in Toledo, he says, and it is causing too much congestion.

The new code may be patterned after that of Los Angeles. There no man can build on a lot in the residence district without first consulting 75 per cent. of the property owners on the street. They can dictate the character of residence or flat to be constructed. If there are all residences on the street, the property owners can prevent the construction of a duplex or flat.

Useful Christmas Presents

Hundreds of Beautiful Gifts to Choose From

FOR HER

MAY WE SUGGEST

A Bottle Exquisite Perfume from 25c to $5.00
A Box of Page & Shaw's Chocolates from 25c to $5.00
French Ivory Dressing Mirror or Hair Brush
Ivory or Ebony Manicure Pieces or Sets
A Dressing Case in Ivory or Ebony
A Writing Portfolio.....from 75c to $6.00
Genuine Leather Hand Bags, newest shapes $1.50 to $8.00
A Leather Music Roll
A Jewell Box in Ivory, Tortois or Leather
A Combination Toilet and Manicure Set in Ivory or Ebony.. from $8.50 to $25.00
A Brush and Comb Set from $1.50 up
A Thermos Coffee Pot or Water Jug
A Fountain Pen, regular or Safety
A Bottle of Toilet Water, etc., etc.

FOR HIM

MAY WE SUGGEST

A Genuine Rubber Set Shaving Brush
A Razor (Old Style or Safety)--Gillette, Auto-Strop, Ever-ready, etc.
A Shaving Mirror, a Shaving Set or a Razor Strop
A Pair of Military Brushes, Ivory or Ebony
An Ebony Hair Brush, Clothes or Hat Brush
A Thermos Bottle or Thermos Kit
A Flashlight
A Chamois Vest or Fountain Pen
A Cigar or Cigarette Case
A Leather Purse, a Wallet or a Money Belt, etc., etc.

SEE OUR LARGE DISPLAY
THE BEST ASSORTMENT IN THE CITY
HIGHEST QUALITY LOWEST PRICES

Warne's Cut-Rate Drug Store

351 GEORGE STREET PHONE 527

Bye-Elections On Jan. 16th

TORONTO, Dec. 21.—Writs have been issued in North Toronto and West Simcoe. The nominations will take place January 9th, and the bye-on the 15th.

WEDDING BELLS

ARMSTRONG—SALTER.

On Thursday, December the fourteenth, a quiet wedding was solemnized at the home of Mrs. Elizabeth Salter, 793 George street, when her daughter, Laura, was united in marriage to Mr. Robert C. Armstrong, of Vars, Ontario.

The ceremony was performed by the Rev. Mr. Robinson, of Lakefield.

The bride was the recipient of many handsome and useful gifts, showing the esteem in which she is held by a large circle of friends.

The happy couple left on an early train for Ottawa and other eastern points, after which they will reside at Vars, Ontario.

OBITUARY

STEPHEN McCARTHY.

Mr. and Mrs. John McCarthy, 274 Woodbine avenue, East City, are to be sympathized with in the death of their son, Stephen McCarthy, aged 13, who passed away at St. Joseph's Hospital at 2:30 on December 20th, 1916, after an illness of two weeks.

The funeral will take place to-morrow, Friday, Dec. 22, from the above address at 9 o'clock; interment at St. Joseph's church, Douro.

BUFFALO BILL BETTER.

DENVER, Colo., Dec. 21.—Col. W. F. Cody (Buffalo Bill), whose father once lived near Embro, Ont., is convalescing from a short but severe illness, following his return from a trip to Wyoming. The colonel's general condition is much better, although he is not yet entirely out of danger, according to Dr. J. H. East, his physician.

'DIAMONDS'

We carry the largest assortment of Diamonds in the city

Diamond Rings
Diamond Tie Pins
Diamond Brooches
Diamond Tie Clip
Diamond Cuff Links
Diamond Lavalliers
Diamond Match Safe
Diamond Cigar Cutter
Diamond Pendants
Diamond Sunbursts

Diamonds are worth their value at any time. Best values in the city.

Warne Bros
DIAMOND HALL
Next to Warne Drug Co.

City and General

Broken auto cylinders, machinery and stoves welded, by the new Oxy-Acetelyne Process. Anything in iron, steel or aluminum made as good as new, not patched up. Millard's Bicycle Shop, Hunter street, near Aylmer.

LOST — PARCEL CONTAINING pair slippers. Will the lady who picked them up in Fair's Wednesday, kindly return to Examiner. 2d-145-52f.

PROBABILITIES.

Moderate winds, becoming colder. Friday, fair and colder.

CHOIR PRACTICE.

All Saints' choir will practice to-night. A full turnout of members is expected.

PIANO TUNING.

'Phone 596, The Greene Music Co., Charlotte Street, when your piano requires tuning or regulating. All work guaranteed. dtf

KNOX CHURCH CHOIR.

There will be a rehearsal of Knox church choir to-night.

FINE POST CARDS.

Post Cards of Quaker Oats fine IN COLOURS, 10c each. See the specimens in the show case. Vincent Studio, George Street. 28d-243

FOR ICING.

Ask for Clamico's Almond Paste for Icing for fruit cake. For sale by Porter S. White, Grocer, George street.

TABLE APPLES.

Order a box of Jonathan or McIntosh apples for your Christmas table. —Porter S. White, grocer

U. OF T. STUDENTS ON SERVICE.

Over 2,000 students and ex-students of Trinity University, Toronto, are already on active service.

A GOOD PURCHASE.

We purchased a complete line of pipes before the advance in prices, real amber, extra good briar. We have also a very large stock for Christmas of cigars and tobaccos. We always give extra good value. Call and see us.—Yeates Bros, 339 George street.

CHRISTMAS MAIL IN.

Three large lock sacks, containing letters alone, were received this morning at the Post Office after having been held up on account of shipping difficulties. The parcel mail has not yet arrived.

E. S. CLEGG & CO.

Furniture purchased now as gifts, will be held until Christmas week if desired. Dining room furniture on sale this week. Some handsome styles to choose from. A collection of colonial art craft and modern style buffets. See our show window. A fine example of the William and Mary style.

CLEANING, PRESSING AND REPAIRING.

'Phone 1416 for Cleaning, Pressing and Repairing. Goods called for and delivered promptly. Mrs. Read, 150 Rubidge Street. dtf

EXPRESS AND BAGGAGE.

E. D. Cooney, a returned soldier, has taken over the express business of Eddie Reid and will give prompt and careful attention to all work entrusted to him. 'Phone 947. E. D. Cooney, 240 Aylmer street.

ST. JOHN'S CHOIR.

St. John's choristers are asked to assemble at 7.45 for the Evensong of St. Thomas, at which the memorial tablet to Lieut. Fife will be unveiled, and to remain for rehearsal of the music to be used at the festival of Christmas.

YOUR TYPEWRITER'S EFFICIENCY

Is enhanced by co-operation of the typewriter and this can only be, when the machine used is in good condition. A few dollars spent in this renovation of machines will repay you many times over, if you deal at Nelson's Typewriter Co. We sell ribbons, carbons and general office supplies as well as ALL MAKES OF TYPEWRITERS.
OPPOSITE ORIENTAL HOTEL.

FOR THE CHILDREN'S AID.

A special Christmas programme will be given on the New Edison to-morrow (Friday) evening at 8.15, in the Recital Hall of the J. M. Greene Music Co., Ltd., Charlotte street, at which a silver collection will be taken to buy Christmas cheer for the children at the shelter. Complete programme will appear in Friday's issue.

Gifts For Gentlemen

Signet Rings
Bracelet Watches
Cuff Links
Tie Pins
Tie Clips
Cigarette Cases
Waldemar Chains
Pipes
Military Brushes
Safety Razors
Umbrellas
Fountain Pens

A very large assortment at special prices.

Warne Bros
DIAMOND HALL
Next to Warne Drug Co.

Social and Personal

Miss Maud Leahy, Charlotte street, left yesterday for Rochester, where she is visiting friends.

A charmingly "Christmas" atmosphere prevaded the tea at the Oriental yesterday afternoon given by the Kitchner League. The tea room was attractively decorated in red, white and blue and Christmas candles reflected great credit on the taste of the hostesses, Mrs. Perry and Mrs. W. F. Hartley who were in charge. Those assisting attired in white, wearing aprons of the colours of the allies were Mrs. Emile Baumer and Mrs. Decker, the Misses Rilling, Stocker Helen Metheral, Gladys Patterson and Nimbethy. Amongst those who came in to tea were Mrs. Fortye, Mrs. Huston, Miss F. Hatton, Mrs. Aylmer, Mr. Rogers, Mr. Howden, Mrs. (Dr.) McNulty, Mrs. Elston, Mrs. McElderry, Miss M. Collins, Miss M. Rush, Mrs. A. E. Meeks, Miss Hallett, Mrs. W. R. Morris, Mrs. A. Stevenson, Mr. and Mrs. A. Spence, Mrs. E. J. Patterson, Miss Grace Patterson, Mr. and Mrs. Colson Patterson, Mrs. W. H. Dunsford, Mrs. Denne, Mr. Wm. Hartley, Mrs. Wm. Allan, Mrs. P. Fuller, Mrs. Clemens, Miss G. Mowatt, Mr. and Mrs. G. A. Smith, Mrs. A. E. Coulthard and Miss M. McGinnis.

Mr. Jack Tully, Queen's University, is the guest of Mr. A. E. Metheral, Reid street for the holidays.

Rev. A. W. MacKenzie, Lakefield was in the city to-day en route for Oshawa to attend the closing of Bishop Bethuen's School of which his daughter, Miss May is a student.

Mr. and Mrs. E. Stanley of Rosetown, Sask., have arrived in the city, and will spent the winter here. They are visiting Mr. Stanley's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Stanley, Stewart street.

Reeve and Mrs. Fitzgerald, Mrs. Marling and Mrs. F. J. Tate motored into the city from Lakefield to-day.

Mr. A. H. Dickey, special investigator, representing the Fire Marshall's Office, Parliament Buildings, Toronto, was in the city to-day.

Mr. Geo. Cross, Campbellford, was in the city this morning on business.

Mrs. J. R. Stratton and Mrs. Ormond went to Toronto to-day, where they will be the guests of Mr. and Mrs. Archie for Christmas.

Mr. Geo. Lundy returned yesterday to his home in Buffalo.

Mr. Ed. Huff, at present of Detroit, is in the city to spend the Christmas holidays at home, 460 Gilmour street.

The many friends of Mrs. James White, who, a few days ago was prostrated with a paralytic seizure, at her residence, 308 Charlotte street, and removed to Nicholls Hospital, will learn with sorrow that her condition is alarming and that she is not expected to last out the day.

Mrs. H. J. Dean went to Hamilton this afternoon, where she will be the guest of her daughter, Mrs. Anderson, for the holidays, thence to Detroit, where she will spend a month the guest of her daughter, Miss Lillian Dean.

Mrs. Claude Rogers and her two children leave to-day for Toronto, where they will visit Mrs. Rogers, mother, Mrs. Wells, for Christmas.

Mrs. Trebilcock and her two sons left to-day for Toronto, where they will spend Christmas and New Years.

Mrs. G. B. Hilliard and Miss Dorothy Hilliard, Lakefield, were guests in the city this morning.

Mr. G. W. White, Toronto and Mr. Earnest White, Manilla are the guests of Rev. Mr. White, the Rectory, East City.

Mrs. Frank Dela Fosse who has been a guest in the city for some weeks has returned to her home in Montreal.

Mr. John Colson, Guelph and Mr. Arthur Cox, Navan, are the guests of Mr. Wm. Colson, the Oriental.

Mr. R. Harstone, Water street, has returned from an extended visit in the North West.

BACHELORS GO A-WOOING.

Chicago, December 20. — Louis W. Hill's 600 North Dakota bachelors, who have arrived in Chicago on three special trains, seeking wives, are having a big time. The chairman of the Board of Directors of the Great Northern Railway, was reported going around Chicago in a automobile signing up ministers who are expected to convert the Cupid Special into the Honeymoon Special of six trains.

The wooing has become in a measure a city problem. A large amount of open air love making has been going on in Grant Park, overlooking the Michigan boulevard. Two policewomen have been assigned to stroll among the fashionable crowds and cast an unobtrusive but watchful eye over the couples grouped on the park benches.

CHARACTER.

We may judge a man's character by what he loves—what pleases him. If a man manifests a delight in low, sordid objects, the vulgar song and debasing language, the misfortunes of his fellows and animals, we may at once determine the complexion of his character. On the contrary, if he loves purity, modesty, truth—if virtuous pursuits engage his heart, and draw out his affections—we are satisfied he is an upright man. When we see a young man fond of fine clothes and making a fop of himself it is a sure sign that he thinks the world consists of outside show and ostentation, and he is certain to make an unstable man, without true affection or friendship, fond of change and excitement, and soon weary of those objects and pursuits which for a time gave him pleasure.

The great charm of marriage, as of life itself, is its unexpectedness. The only way to test a man is to marry him. If you live, it is a mushroom, and if you die, it is a toadstool.

FOWLER'S PEBLO GLASSES

OPTICAL GIFT LINES

There's a surprising list of gift suggestions to be found in a well stocked optical establishment, and they are the unusual kind that are always appreciated.

Little accessories like Eye-Glass Chains are a favorite. Reading Glasses Opera Glasses, Thermometers and our great leader, a pair of "Peblo" glasses in gold mounts which can be fitted after Christmas.

SEE OUR WINDOW

A. A. FOWLER DOCTOR OF OPTICS Phm. B. Toronto University
EYESIGHT SPECIALIST with NUGENT DRUG COMPANY

RESTORE THE NATURAL SIGHT

WARNE BROS. JEWELLERY

Visit Our Store and You May Get the Very Suggestion You Need to Solve That Gift Problem You're Worrying About

GIFTS FOR LADIES

Silver Thimbles, Cameo Rings,
Silver Hat Pins, Lingerie Clasps,
Silver Scissors, Cuff Pins,
Boudoir Clock, Pearl Rings,
Silver Mesh Bags, Diamond Rings
Silver Card Cases, Silvia Perfume
Ball, Cameo Brooches,
Cameo Lavalliers,
All at Moderate Prices

Warne Bros
DIAMOND HALL
Next to Warne Drug Co.

Omemee Items Of Interest

OMEMEE, Dec. 21.—Mr. Wm. Thompson, of Minneapolis is the guest of his parents, Dr. J. N. and Mrs. Thompson.

Miss Hilda Clarke, nurse-in-training at the Ross Memorial Hospital, Lindsay, visited her mother, Mrs. S. P. Clarke, during the past week.

The many friends of Miss M. Davidson will be sorry to hear she is suffering from an attack of pneumonia.

Mrs. T. C. Stephenson was in Lindsay on business last week.

Miss Helen James has gone to Toronto, where she has secured a position.

Mr. Albert Jones of Peterborough, was the guest of his sister, Mrs. A. Stinson, on Monday.

Mr. Fred Taggart of Port Perry, made a business visit in town the beginning of the week.

Mr. R. W. Wilson was a visitor to Lindsay on Tuesday.

Mrs. D. H. Cornell is the guest of friends out of town.

Mr. Ernest Sluggett of Ottawa, is the guest of his brother, Mr. Stanley Sluggett.

Miss Blanche Stinson of the Peterborough Normal school, is spending the vacation with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. S. Stinson.

Mr. D. Stinson has purchased a new Chevrolet car.

Miss M. Thornton of Peterborough, is visiting at the home of Mr. D. H. Cornell.

Messrs. Isaac Fee and Jos. T. Beatty attended the funeral of their cousin, Mr. James Graham, of Lindsay on Tuesday.

Mrs. Kelly of Toronto, is the guest of her sister, Mrs. O. G. Williamson.

Mrs. Joseph Bradley and daughter, Miss Elva were visitors to Peterborough on Saturday.

Mrs. C. L. Motcombe has gone to Whitby to spend the Christmas vacation with her parents.

Mrs. Stanley Sluggett was a visitor to Peterborough on Monday.

Miss Maye Watson of Peterborough, is visiting her aunt, Mrs. Kelly Mitchell.

Mr. Will Thompson of the West, is the guest of his parents, Dr. N. N. and Mrs. Thompson.

Brute—It was late afternoon, and time to get her husband's supper, but the woman sitting moodily by the fire never moved. Her heart was breaking. It was her birthday. She had been married only four years, but he had forgotten her birthday already. That morning he had given her no present, not even an extra kiss before rushing off to town. Presently there was the sound of a key turning in the lock. Into the room came her husband. Still she never moved. He bent over her head and whispered as he dropped a tiny parcel in her lap. "Many happy returns, darling!" Her heart was mended. She sprang to her feet and seized him in a frantic grasp as she realized that, after all, he still loved her. Then she opened the parcel. "Pipe-cleaners!" she gasped, as she displayed a little bundle of feathers. "Yes, sweetheart," said the man. "I knew that they'd please you, as you object to me using your hat-pins!"

All men are born free and unequal. We don't blame some men for refusing to take their own advice.

Photographs taken this week finished for New Year's

Postals of the fire may be had at the Studio

Open in the evenings 7.30 to 9.30

374½ George Street — The Moule Studio — Phone No. 46

A FEW SUGGESTIONS

Gifts For the Boys and Girls

Toy Irons each	15c	Childs Snowshovel	15 and 25c
Child's set cup saucer and plate	35c	Skate Straps per pair	15c
Child's Set-knife fork and Spoon	25c to $2.50	Express Wagons	$1.50 to $6.00
Baby Spoons	75c	Push Carts	$1.75
Silver Mug	$2.00 to $4.00	Wheel Barrow toy	$1.00
Pocket Knife	25c to $1.50	Hand Sleighs	35c to $3.00
Bob Skates per pair	75c	Velocipedes	$4.50 to $18.00
Hockey Sticks	25c	Skates	50c to $35.00
Hockey Pucks	15c and 25c	Manicure Sets	$2.00 to $9.00
Ankle Supports	25c	Sewing Sets	$1.75 to $7.50
		Scissor Sets	$2.75 to $4.50

Buster Brown Wagon $3.50 $4.00 and $4.50

OPEN EVENINGS

PETERBORO HARDWARE Co LIMITED

14 Pages

The Evening Examiner

VOL. LVII. No. 146 PETERBOROUGH FRIDAY, DECEMBER 22, 1916 PRICE TWO CENTS

LIVERY

FONTAINE'S LIVERY FOR BEST DRIVING HORSES IN THE CITY. AUTOS AND TAXIS FOR HIRE. CAREFUL DRIVERS AND GOOD SERVICE. 'PHONE 752 193 HUNTER

Local Views

We have a limited assortment of pretty local views suitably framed for Christmas giving.

Prices range from

$1.00 to $5.00

See them on display in show cases and the Studio.

Ivey

140½ Hunter Street

KAISER STILL SEEKING PEACE

SPECIAL TO THE EXAMINER:

AMSTERDAM, Dec. 22. — Despatches from Berlin say the Kaiser has asked United States Ambassador Gerard to talk over the United States peace note with him.

WILL MAINTAIN STRICT NEUTRALITY

SPECIAL TO THE EXAMINER:

WASHINGTON, Dec. 22—In a second statement yesterday afternoon, Secretary Lansing declared that the United States had no intention of abandoning strict neutrality.

British Capture German Trenches

SPECIAL TO THE EXAMINER:

BERLIN, Dec. 23.—War Office admits that the British captured German trenches north of Arras yesterday.

If you use a clean brick for an iron-stand the iron will hold its heat ever so much longer than when an ordinary stand is used

Wilson Peace Note Places Entente On German Level

Says Each Side Desires Safety and Security of the People of the Smaller Nations—Pleads That the United States Has Been Seriously Affected by the War—An Excuse For Haste.

CALLS FOR TERMS

WASHINGTON, December 22.—The text of President Wilson's note to the powers in both the European alliances, in which he makes suggestions in behalf of peace, was given out with this instruction by Secretary Lansing to the American Ambassadors:

"The President directs me to send you the following communication to be presented immediately to the Minister of Foreign Affairs of the Government to which you are accredited."

The text of the notes is the same with this exception—that to the Central Powers contains the phrase that he is embarrassed to offer it at this particular time, because it may now seem to have been prompted by a desire to "play a part in connection with the recent overtures of the Central Powers." This phrase becomes, "It may now seem to have been prompted by the recent overtures of the Central Powers," in the note to the Entente Allies.

ALLEGES UNITED STATES "SERIOUSLY AFFECTED."

The texts of the notes themselves follow.

"The President of the United States has instructed me to suggest to the (here is inserted a designation of the Government addressed) a course of action with regard to the present war which he hopes that the Government will take under consideration as suggested in the most friendly spirit and as coming not only from a friend, but also as coming from the representative of a neutral nation whose interests have been most seriously affected by the war and whose concern for its early conclusion arises out of a manifest necessity to determine how best to safeguard those interests if the war is to continue.

EXPLAINING HIS HASTE.

"The suggestion which I am instructed to make the President has long had it in mind to offer. He is somewhat embarrassed to offer it at this particular time, because it may now seem to have been prompted by a desire to play a part in connection with the recent overtures of the Central Powers.

"It has, in fact, been in no way suggested by them in its origin, and the President would have delayed offering it until those overtures had been independently answered but for the fact that it also concerns the question of peace, and may best be considered in connection with other proposals which have the same end in view. The President can only beg that his suggestions be considered entirely on its own merits, and as if it had been made in other circumstances.

CALLS FOR TERMS.

"The President suggests that an early occasion be sought to call out from all the nations now at war such an avowal of their respective views as to the terms upon which the war might be concluded and the arrangements which would be deemed satisfactory as a guaranty against its renewal or the kindling of any similar conflict in the future as would make it possible frankly to compare them. He is indifferent as to the means taken to accomplish this. He would be happy himself to serve, or even to take the initiative in its accomplishment, in any way that might prove acceptable, but he has no desire to determine the method or the instrumentality

(Continued on Page 6.)

SAYS WILSON'S NOTE IS AN INSULT

Special to The Examiner.

LONDON, Dec. 22. — Chronicle says that Wilson's note is an insult to the Allies.

Secretary Lansing May Resign

SPECIAL TO THE EXAMINER:

WASHINGTON, Dec 22—Lansing may resign as a result of his "Verge of war" statement yesterday.

HEAVY GAIN FOR RUSSIANS

SPECIAL TO THE EXAMINER:

PETROGRAD, Dec. 21.—War Office reports heavy gains in territory in the wooded Carpathians.

American Peace Note Witheld

SPECIAL TO THE EXAMINER:

LONDON, Dec 22—Publication of the American peace note withheld by the censor for the present.

Fierce Fighting In Dobrudja

SPECIAL TO THE EXAMINER:

LONDON, Dec 22.—Fierce fighting in Dobrudja. Russians are resisting the Teuton advance.

British Advance In Mesopotamia

SPECIAL TO THE EXAMINER:

CAIRO, Dec. 22.—British forces have laid siege to Kut-El-Amara.

Fluctuations in Wheat Markets

Wheat Opened With a Break and Closed Several Points Higher—The Cattle Markets

As a result of the latest Wilson episode, the wheat markets were extraordinarily jumpy yesterday going down with a rush at the opening, and later jumping up to 5c or 6c points above Wednesday's close. Winnipeg December showed a range of 11 9-4c between the high and low, and closing 5 7-8c above Wednesday's close. There was said to be heavy buying for foreign account on the early break.

Manitoba wheat, No. 1 Northern, $1.89 3-4, track bay ports; No. 2 $1.86 1-2, No. 3 $1.81 1-2; No. 4 $1.70 1-4; old crop 4c above new crop.

Manitoba oats—No. 2 C.W. 68c.

American corn—No. 2 nominal; No. 3, new, none offering owing to embargo.

Ontario oats—No. 2 white, 60c to 62c, No 3 white 59c to 61c.

Ontario wheat—No. 2 winter, per car lot $1.62 to $1.64, No. 3 $1.60 to $1.62.

Peas—No 2, nominal, car lots $2.40.

Barley—Good malting, $1.16 to $1.18; feed barley, nominal.

Buckwheat—Nominal, $1.25.

Rye—No. 1 commercial, nominal; No. 2, new $1.32 to $1.33.

Manitoba flour—First patents in jute bags, $9.20, second patents in jute, $8.80, strong bakers, in jute $8.50 Toronto.

Ontario flour—New winter $6.70 to $6.80, in bags, track, Toronto, prompt shipment.

Millfeed—Car lots, delivered Montreal, shorts, $37; bran, $32 feed flour per bag, $2.80.

Hay—Baled No. 1 track, Toronto, best grade new hay, car lots $12 to $13; No. 2 $9 to $10; straw $6 to $9.50.

CATTLE MARKETS.

Union Stock Yards—Receipts, 671 cattle, 62 calves, 1607 hogs, 320 sheep and lambs.

Latest quotations:

Heavy steers choice	$8 85	to $9 00
Choice butchers	8 25	8 50
do good	7 75	8 00
do medium	6 75	7 00
do common	6 00	6 25
Heifers, good to choice	7 00	7 25
do medium	6 25	6 75
Butcher cows, choice	6 25	7 00
do medium	5 75	6 25
Butcher bulls, choice	6 85	7 50
do good	6 50	6 60
do medium	5 00	5 50
Feeders 900 to 1,000 lbs.	6 50	6 75
do bulls	5 25	5 75
Stockers 700 to 900 lbs.	6 50	6 75
do med 650 to 750 lbs.	5 50	6 00
do light 600 to 650 lbs.	5 00	5 75
Canners	4 10	4 40
Cutters	4 50	5 25
Sheep, light	8 50	9 50
do heavy	7 50	8 50
Spring lambs	10 75	38 00
Calves	8 60	12 50
Hogs, fed and watered	12 00
do weighed off cars	12 25
do f.o.b	11 15

He Didn't Forget Her Xmas Candy

ON Xmas Eve, she may surely be pardoned for expecting her box of Liggett's.

Unfortunate indeed, is the man who allows absorption in mundane matters to drive from his mind this anticipated package of sweetness.

When she exhibits her presents on Christmas Day, she'll name with pride among the first, your gift of a box of Liggett's.

These Are the Favorite Packages:

The Red Feather Package—Chocolate Dipped Fruit, Novelty Creams, French Nougat, Nut Jellies, Cream Caramels.

The Elect—Rolled Cream Fruit Centres, Chocolate Dipped Whole Nuts, Whole Fruits, Honey Nougat, Pure Cream Caramels, Malted Milk Mellotes, and Caramel Nut Creams.

The Princess—Delicious Nut and Cream Centres.

The Thistle—Exclusively Nuts and Hard Centres.

Fruit Cordials—Peach, Cherry, Pineapple, Strawberry.

Cherry Cocktails—With the true Cherry flavor.

Liggett's Chocolates

Are put up in attractive but inexpensive boxes. When you buy Liggett's you receive full value in candy for your money. The candy is not skimped at the expense of the box.

Liggett's Chocolates are always fresh, wherever you buy them—in city or village. Each Rexall store stocks them in small quantities, and stocks them often, to ensure this constant freshness.

Prices: 60c., 80c., $1.00, $1.25

Sold exclusively at Rexall Drug Stores

McDERMID & JURY and E. L. PAYNE Peterboro

OPEN EVERY NIGHT UNTIL 10 O'CLOCK

ONLY A FEW LEFT!

UNCALLED-FOR SUITS

8 ONLY, BLUE SERGE

ALL ONE PRICE TO CLEAR, each $11

4 ONLY LEFT YOUR CHOICE, each $9

OVERCOATS FROM ..... EACH $9

GREATEST OFFER IN OUR HISTORY

MADE-TO-MEASURE GARMENTS

Your Great Opportunity to Buy below Cost

Wishing You a Merry Xmas & Happy New Year

GLOBE TAILORING CO.

439 GEORGE STREET -:- Cor. Brock & George

GERMANY'S FINANCIAL CRISIS CAN'T GET RID OF HER NOTES

Allies in Splendid Position Owing to Their Producing Seventy Per Cent of the World's Gold—The Fall of the the German Market

THE ECOMIC SITUATION

(Special Cable By Rene Arcos.)

BERNE, December 22.—A cursory glance at the economic situation of the central empires throws a curious light on the recent peace proposal. Austria's situation may suddenly become desperate, while Germany's cannot but grow worse. It is almost certain that Germany's civil mobilization, designed chiefly to impress the enemy, will precipitate the empire's financial crisis by stopping exportation.

One noteworthy incident which helped the fall of the German mark was the sale of German notes received for agricultural products by Turkey and Bulgaria, which both are in desperate need of gold. The following authentic incident shows the condition of Germany's credit. A German bank recently wished to invest in Switzerland 80,000 marks of German war loan, and requested various Swiss banks to negotiate the deal. All refused except two, which tried to pass the German notes to their clients, who, however, refused to take them. Thus 80,000 marks were returned to Germany.

Leading German capitalists, who are disinclined to invest their fortune permanently in German notes, exchange the latter for stocks, precious jewels, diamonds and silks, of which they have no need, and deposit them in Swiss warehouses, certain, it appears, that they will recover their fortune undepreciated when the war is ended and thus avoid loss of exchange, enormous taxes, and risks of bankruptcy in Germany. Bearers of Austrian notes are now losing fifty per cent. of the income.

In Switzerland the difference between the allies' financial situation and that of the central powers continues to increase, proof of which may be found in the fact that the British Empire last year alone furnished sixty-one per cent. of the world's gold. The allies' entire production represented more than seventy per cent. of the general total, whereas the central powers barely furnished one and one-half per cent. It is easy to understand the importance of this factor from an economic standpoint and its value as a weapon in the hands of the allies in financial warfare. Gold which Great Britain incessantly draws from her vast empire has assisted to maintain the normal rate of exchange. Despite the conquest of Wallachia, the food problem in Germany is still unsolved. "What shall we eat?" asks Taeglische Rundschau. "The potato crop was a disastrous failure and the introduction of public kitchens are indispensible."

Italian Commander Reported Drowned

Examiner Special:

BERLIN, Dec. 22. — It is stated here that Lieut. General Bandons, the Italian commander in Albania, was drowned when his vessel hit a mine in the Adriatic.

New Order For Canadian Units

SPECIAL TO THE EXAMINER:

LONDON, Dec. 22. — Hereafter Canadian Battalions broken up on arrival will only be drafted to units of the same province as they belong.

Sinn Feiners Are Released

SPECIAL TO THE EXAMINER:

LONDON, Dec 22—Six hundred Sinn Feiners in Ireland have been freed to return to their homes.

THREE MORE VESSELS SUNK

SPECIAL TO THE EXAMINER:

LONDON, Dec 22 — Two more British steamers and one from Argentine torpedoed.

PICTURES FOR GIFTS

Crayons, Oils, Water Colors, Sepias, Etchings and Paints

1000 PICTURES TO CHOOSE FROM

Loader & Co. have just received a Large Holiday Shipment. Come and see the Special Display and prices for Christmas.

Come Early and Secure First Choice.
OPEN EVENINGS

Loader & Co.
301 George Street

OUR SERIAL STORY

ADVERTISING RATES

Measurement, Agate, 14 lines One Inch

Transient Display ..... 25c per inch
Transient Reading ..... 40c per inch

Minimum Contract Rate for Display, 7,300 lines Contract, 15c per inch
Minimum Contract Rate for Reader, 30c per line.

Legal and other notices, 8c per line for first insertion; 4c per line for subsequent insertions.

CONDENSED ADVERTISEMENTS.

Minimum charge 10c. of 1c per word for first insertion; ½c per word for subsequent insertions. Add 10c to cover postage of replies, if out of town.

BIRTHS, MARRIAGES AND DEATHS

Daily Examiner 25c
Daily and Weekly Examiner 50c
All advertisements subject to the approval of the Management.
Address:

THE EXAMINER, PETERBOROUGH.

PERSONAL.

ADVERTISERS ARE REMINDED THAT IT is contrary to the provisions of the postal law to deliver letters addressed to initials only; an advertiser desiring to conceal his or her identity may accomplish this only by having replies directed to a Box at this office; ten cents added to the cost of advertisement will ensure the forwarding of letters to any out-of-town address.

GRAND TRUNK RAILWAY SYSTEM

Christmas And New Year Fares

SINGLE FARE—Dec. 23, 24, 25 good for return until Dec. 26th; also Dec. 30 31st, 1916 and Jan. 1st, 1917, valid for return until Jan. 2nd, 1917.

FARE and ONE-THIRD—Dec. 21, 22, 23, 24, good for return until Dec 27th; also Dec. 28, 29, 30 and 31st, 1916, valid for return until Jan. 3rd, 1917.

Above reduced fares apply between all stations in Canada east of Port Arthur and to Detroit and Port Huron, Mich; Buffalo, Black Rock, Niagara Falls and Suspension Bridge, N. Y.

Tickets now on sale at all G. T. R. Ticket Offices.

J. B. DORAN, 'PHONE 259

CANADIAN PACIFIC

Don't send your wishes by mail; present them in person. The folks will be happy to see you.

CHRISTMAS EXCURSIONS via CANADIAN PACIFIC

SINGLE FARE—Going December 23, 24 and 25th. Return limit Dec. 26th.

FARE AND ONE-THIRD — Going Dec. 21, 22, 23 and 24th. Return limit, December 27th.

Purchase in advance. Tickets on sale now Any Ticket Agent Can. Pacific Railway
JAS. BRINNER, Local Ticket Agent

Railway Time Tables

GRAND TRUNK RAILWAY.
CORRECTED JUNE 6, 1916.

7.00 a.m.—For Lakefield.
8.10 a.m.—For Port Hope, Cobourg and points east, connecting at Port Hope for Toronto, arriving at Toronto at 11.05 a.m.
8.35 a.m.—For Hastings, Campbellford, Sterling, Madoc, Belleville, Deseronto, Napanee, Kingston, Brockville, Montreal.
8.30 a.m.—For Lindsay, Orillia, Collingwood, Midland, Penetanguishene, North Bay, Toronto, Hamilton, Niagara.
11.40 a.m.—Mid-day express for Toronto, reaching Toronto at 3.15 p.m.
13.30 p.m.—For Lakefield.
11.40 a.m.—For Millbrook, Port Hope and all points on the main line, east and west. Close connections at Port Hope with International Limited for Toronto, Detroit and Chicago.
1.30 p.m.—For Hastings, Campbellford, Sterling, Madoc, Belleville, Deseronto, Napanee, Kingston and Brockville.
5.35 p.m.—For Lindsay, Orillia, Midland, North Bay, Toronto, Hamilton, Niagara Falls, Buffalo, New York.
8.10 p.m.—For Lakefield.
8.35 p.m.—Local for Lindsay.
9.05 p.m.—For Millbrook, Port Hope, Belleville, Kingston, Brockville, Montreal and Boston.

CANADIAN PACIFIC RAILWAY.
CORRECTED JUNE 5, 1916.

*10.30 p.m.—Indian River, Norwood, Havelock and Tweed.
*12.05 a.m.—Kingston, Smith's Falls, Ottawa, Montreal, Quebec, St. John, N.B., Boston, and New York.
*1.30 a.m.—Norwood, Havelock, Tweed Perth, Smith's Falls and Ottawa.
*10.15 a.m.—Norwood, Havelock, Tweed, Perth, Smith's Falls, Ottawa, Montreal and intermediate points, also all points west of Montreal.

GOING WEST—
*4.30 a.m.—Toronto, Owen Sound, Guelph, Goderich, Hamilton, Buffalo, New York, Galt, Woodstock, St. Thomas, London, Chatham, Detroit and Chicago.
*5.45 a.m.—Myrtle and North Toronto.
*7.30 a.m.—Toronto, Hamilton, Buffalo, Rochester and New York, intermediate points between Peterborough and Toronto.
*10.15 a.m.—Lindsay, Orillia, Port Mc-Nicoll and intermediate points.
*2.40 p.m.—Toronto, Hamilton, Brantford, Buffalo, New York, Guelph, Galt, Woodstock, London, Detroit and Chicago.
*10.45 p.m.—North Toronto and West Toronto and intermediate points.
*Daily. Daily except Sunday.

"Faulty Nutrition and Elimination"—these are the cause of the most of the ailments that afflict human beings. Too much indigestible food and lack of power to throw off the poisons that come from indigestion—these lead to a long line of distressing disorders. Avoid them by eating Shredded Wheat Biscuit—a simple, elemental food that contains all the body-building material in the whole wheat grain, including the bran coat which keeps the intestinal tract healthy and clean. Delicious for any meal in combination with sliced peaches or other fruits. Made in Canada

TELEPHONE 790
WHEN YOU WANT YOUR
Piano or Organ Tuned
ALL WORK GUARANTEED
W. H. Cunningham, 803 Water St.

Our Poultry Department

is now open and we are paying high spot cash prices for good plump birds (alive), delivered Peterborough.

We can supply turkeys and Poultry raisers with fattening coops at a small rent, to be returned us in good condition at the end of the season.

A premium paid on crops with foul chickens. For particulars apply to—

W. SCOTT Co., Ltd.
1126 Hunter Street
PHONE 765

"DESTINY"

By CHARLES NEVILLE BUCK

(Continued from yesterday)

He found himself often coming with a sort of start to the realisation of a discovery under whose influence he tingled. Theoretically he knew that in this city, in whose varying meeting places of extremes the unexpected was to be expected, one should never be astonished. He knew there were artists who shunned Bohemia, and once he had met a barber whose enthusiasms were all for cuneiform inscriptions. He had heard in a club of a hobo whose nails were clean, whose address was elegant and who had confounded surgeons on surgery, artists on art, poets on verse, and theologues on theology. He knew that the circles which had soothed his artistic snobbery with an admiration as grateful as soft fingers on a cat's back held no letters patent on charm or cultivation and yet his own mind had catalogued women of the stage, off-stage, under a general heading, in some way associated with cabaret places and false gaiety.

Here was one who called upon him to discard preconceived ideas and begin anew. On every topic he broached he encountered intelligent discussion and untrammelled originality of thought. In the back of his brain lurked the feeling that when he had broached all the topics upon which he could talk, he would still have touched on only a part of those at her command.

But between these moments of surprise were others of restful delight when she made him forget everything except that he was talking with a charming woman who saw in the opera a pleasure equal to his own.

And though he did not know it, Marcia Terroll, even this soon, saw in him a nature full of tuneful sweetness but very weak, and realized that he was an instrument upon which a strong hand could play to an end of harmony or discord—an instrument upon which his great brother had already played, and which his great brother did not in the least understand. Paul's frequent allusions, tinged with hero-worship, had given her that understanding.

"I saw you in your box," she told him with a smile.

"And I saw you in yours," he laughed back at her.

The girl raised her brows, and he explained. "I ran away from the chatterboxes and came up to your gallery." They had almost reached the arch when he earnestly said: "I wonder if you will go to the opera with me some evening? It would be wonderful to have someone who really cared for it."

Once more she laughed, but this time it was rather seriously. "We inhabit—rather different worlds, you and I."

"I want you to let me be an explorer into yours—and your guide into mine," he declared. After a moment's hesitation she gravely answered: "It might not hurt you to know something of my world after all. It's rather humanizing for an artist to free himself from a single environment. It is possible to suffocate on incense."

Paul Burton smiled. "But you know," he answered, "until I was twelve I never wore a pair of trousers that had not been bequeathed to me by my older brother—and when they reached me they were always liberally patched."

She was alighting from his car and her smile flashed on him as she held out a small, white-gloved hand. "And I," she retorted, "at that age was being tricked out in Paris finery. Time brings changes, doesn't it?" It was the first flash of self-revelation she had given him. But after that Paul Burton saw Marcia Terrol more than occasionally, and admitted to himself an interest which he did not seek to analyze.

• • •

J. J. Malone returned from the opera that evening for a consultation in his study with Harrison and Meegan.

"On the day after to-morrow," he remined them, "the stock holders' meeting of Coal and Ore is held. By use of the cumulative system of balloting we can concentrate our fire on Burton."

"Do you gather," questioned Meegan anxiously, "that our fears of a Burton raid are founded in fact?"

The older chief spread before his associates several sheets of closely written paper.

"On the contrary, I gather that Burton has not selected this time for his coup. I fancy we have forestalled him."

"Yet," sugested Meegan anxiously "we want to make sure."

Malone nodded. "Unless several men whom we trust prove to be traitors, we may feel sure. Gentlemen, I think we have soon enough, but not too soon, safeguarded ourselves against piracy. I hardly believe that what Gates did to L. and N. will be done to us by Burton.... I have been very busy and for some reason I do not feel quite myself. I think that I shall now beg you to excuse me." The man of mighty resource rose smilingly from the table and then suddenly rested both hands on its polished surface. His ruddy face became pallid and he lifted one hand with a bewildered gesture to his brow.

Harrison and Meegan sprang with a common impulse to his side.

As they helped him to a chair, his step was unsteady. "It will pass," Malone assured them. "It is an attack of indigestion." Yet within the half-hour his powerful frame was being racked by convulsions and two hours later specialists at St. Luke's were making those preparations which precede an operation for appendicitis. To-morrow when the Stock Exchange opened the newspapers would spread the news that J. J. Malone was out of the game and Wall Street would once more mirror an anxiety which any small thing might convert into a perilous situation.

At the same hour a special train with a guaranteed right of way was thundering along its roadbed with a wake of red cinders and black smoke trailing from its stack and a single passenger in its single coach. The Honorable Mr. Ruferton was going to call on the Honorable Mr. Hendricks.

In ignorance of what the morrow held the Honorable Mr. Hendricks was meanwhile sleeping peacefully in the quiet of his country house.

Shafts of sunlight came pleasantly through the dining room windows on the following morning as he breakfasted alone, and still in ignorance. The forests were decked with the first coloring of an early frost, and Mr. Hendricks strolled out for a cigar in the crisp air of his woodland. Physically he was fit and his conscience did not trouble him; since his conscience was both lenient and practical.

Then as he took pleasure in his life and his Havana, he saw a dilapidated buckboard laboring up the rutty trail. It halted at his gate to let out a man of whom chance had, on more than one occasion, made a colleague, and occasionally an adversary.

"Hello, Ruferton," he shouted amiably, "what brings you here?"

Mr. Ruferton's face wore an expression of deep concern. He consulted his watch. "I came on a special train, Hendricks," he bluntly declared, "and it is waiting to take us both back to New York."

Hendricks laughed. "My dear fellow, I've been speech-making until my throat is sore. The final days before election mean more hard work. In the meantime I am resting. It's the doctor's stern command."

Ruferton stood at the gate and faced his host. He spoke impressively. "An election eve scandal threatens you which will probably involve a grand jury investigation. If that is a matter of indifference, stay here, by all means, but if your future is in any degree important to you, pack your bag, and pack it quick."

For an instant the former State senator and present candidate stood bewildered. What traitor had betrayed a false step? His tracks were well covered, he thought. At last he found his tongue. "In God's name, what are you talking about?"

Mr. Ruferton held his portfolio tightly grasped in his hand. In it there were documents to which the other could hardly be indifferent — but unless all other arguments failed, he preferred reserving them for future use. He met the stupefied gaze of his protagonist with one of serious apprehension.

"I might as well be entirely candid with you, Hendricks. I don't know. I was sent by Hamilton Burton to bring you back to New York; with specific orders that you were to be at his house not later than nine-thirty this evening. There he will tell you what you should learn. I have come in person because he did not care to trust to such a message as could be telephoned or telegraphed."

"Hamilton Burton!" The Honorable Hendricks was more than ever at sea. "I have had many dealings with Mr. Burton, but wherefore this sudden and absorbing interest in my welfare?"

Ruferton smiled. "My dear fellow, perhaps you had better go and ask him. If Hamilton Burton has turned things topsy-turvy to act as your saviour in an eleventh-hour crisis, common sense compels me to infer that he has a reason to interesting to ignore."

Mr. Hendricks paced the path for a few minutes in the disquiet of intense nervousness, then he spoke with sharp accusation and distrust.

"You don't know what the matter is! You have come here by special train to warn me that I face ruin, and you pretend that you have no inkling of the nature of my peril! You speak of veiled threats. Are you lying to me, Ruferton?"

"Draw your own conclusions." The time had come for playing the card of offended sensibilities and Mr. Ruferton turned promptly on his heel. "Stay where you are—and read the newspapers. Burton's instructions were to bring you back, but I don't suppose that he expected me to kidnap you on your own behalf. I presume he anticipated your sane realisation that he did not send for you to smoke a cigar with him. He presumed you were interested in avoiding disgrace."

"Don't you understand," demanded Hendricks blankly, "how inconceivable it is that you should come on a mission like this without knowing its exact nature?"

The other nodded. "Burton didn't know that you were out of town. When last night, quite late, he learned of this matter he sent me to find you. There was no time for discussion or explanation."

"Wait until I pack my bag." The Honorable Hendricks, whose dignity on the bench would so honor the judicial ermine, rushed wildly into the house, while Hamilton Burton's envoy stood outside contemplatively kicking about among the fallen leaves.

With the flaming of that morning's headlines announcing J. J. Malone's illness a spirit of nervousness began stalking in the Street. Of this restlessness Hamilton Burton was duly apprised and while he scornfully laughed at blind luck he acknowledged the power of his Star, and gave thanks to his own unnamed gods.

His eye was brilliantly clear and his step resilient, but Paul, whose delicate nature possessed a quality approaching the clairvoyant, divined that his great brother was exalted by some prospect of portentous moment, and that it might mean triumph—or reverse. Timidly the younger questioned the elder.

That afternoon while Hamilton was outlining future and audacious strokes of finance Paul was with him. For hours they sat together, the younger man at the piano and the older listening, being soothed and softened by the magic touch upon the keys.

This was their custom when momentous events were brewing. At last Hamilton interrupted. "Paul," he questioned slowly, "can't you give me something that has the crashing of bugles in it; something like a hymn before action?" Abruptly his voice mounted, and he threw back his head. "By God, little brother, I want that sort of music that goes before the charge of an irresistible phalanx!"

The musician wheeled on the piano bench and his fingers left the keys. He rose impulsively and came over to where Hamilton stood with an unquenchable light blazing in his eyes. The dreamer laid a hand on each of the achiever's strong shoulders and gazed long and searchingly into the confident face. Hamilton read a fear in that gaze and affectionately smiled back his reassurance.

"What is it, little brother?" he asked.

"Hamilton," began the other in an awkward, diffident fashion, "you are planning something a little vaster than usual. I am frightened. Sometimes the end of empire is—St. Helena."

The financier laughed.

"It is not written that I can fail, Paul. It is not in my horoscope. You are right. I am planning something broader than I have done before." He paused only to add in a vibrant voice: "I told you that the day would come when above me there would be no man—that day will be to-morrow."

"Is there no chance of defeat?"

"I admit none. To me the influx of gold, and that attendant power which is its only worth, have become a tidal wave. Nothing can check it!"

"And the end of it all?" questioned the other.

"While there is game to play, Paul, no man has won enough. It is the splendid sense of growing power. It's the thrist that grows with the wine you drink. It's fighting and conquering. It is the magnificent dream of world mastery. The money itself!" He spread his hands contemptuously. "That is a beggar's reward—it's the symbol of Might that counts."

(To be continued.)

BE CURED TO-DAY OF BACKACHE

Your persistent back-ache can have but one cause—Diseased Kidneys—and they must be strengthened before the back-ache can be cured.

Your best remedy, and the quickest to act, is Dr. Hamilton's Pills; they cure kidney back-ache in a hurry. Simply wonderful is the action of this grand old medicine which for liver kidney and stomach disorders has no equal. Dr. Hamilton's Pills will surely cure your back weariness, they will bring you appetite, color, strength and good spirits. Being purely vegetable they are mild, not drastic. Get a 25c. bottle of Dr. Hamilton's Pills to-day.

The one absolutely satisfactory Christmas gift is a good selection of

Victor Records

They are the only records chosen by the world's greatest artists and should be chosen by you who wish your gift to be esteemed for its intrinsic worth.

But be sure. Look for "His Master's Voice" trade mark. It is your guarantee and protection.

Here are some new records sure to please. Ten inch, double sided at 90 cents for the two selections:

The Melody of My Dream I'm Going Over the Hills to Virginia	Morton Harvey M. Harvey	18151
Ma Li'l Starlight I'll Make You Want Me	Lillian Davis-Geoffrey O'Hara Davis-O'Hara	18166
Babes in the Wood (Duet) Bachelor Girl and Boy	Howard-Macdonough Alice Green-Ray. Dixon	18172
To-day. The Melody of Home	E[illegible] Baker John Bat[illegible] Wells	18122

Hear them at any "His Master's Voice" dealers'

Be sure to get a free copy of our 450 page Musical Encyclopedia listing over 6000 Victor Records

BERLINER GRAM-O-PHONE CO., Limited

115 Lenoir Street, Montreal

DEALERS IN EVERY TOWN AND CITY
ONE PRICE FROM COAST TO COAST
VICTOR RECORDS—MADE IN CANADA
LOOK FOR "HIS MASTER'S VOICE"
TRADE MARK

"His Master's Voice" Peterboro Dealers

HEINTZMAN & CO., Ltd. 421 George Street.
THE CRESSMAN CO., Ltd., 385-391 George Street.

FOR SALE

LOTS

On The Late Senator Doxtator Homestead

Beautifully Situated

Easy Terms of Payment

Apply—437 GEORGE ST.

Hot Water for Sick Headaches

Tells why everyone should drink hot water with phosphate in it before breakfast.

Headache of any kind, is caused by auto-intoxication—which means self-poisoning. Liver and bowel poisons called toxins, sucked into the blood through the lymph ducts, excite the heart which pumps the blood so fast that it congests in the smaller arteries and veins of the head producing violent, throbbing pain and distress called headache. You become nervous, despondent, sick, feverish and miserable, your meals sour and almost nauseate you. Then you resort to acetanilide, aspirin or the bromides which temporarily relieve but do not rid the blood of these irritating toxins.

A glass of hot water with a teaspoonful of limestone phosphate in it, drank before breakfast for awhile will not only wash these poisons from your system and cure you of headache, but will cleanse, purify and freshen the entire alimentary canal.

Ask your pharmacist for a quarter pound of limestone phosphate. It is inexpensive, harmless as sugar, and almost tasteless, except for a sourish twinge which is not unpleasant.

If you aren't feeling your best, if tongue is coated or you wake up with bad taste, foul breath or have colds, indigestion, biliousness, constipation or sour, acid stomach, begin the phosphated hot water cure to rid your system of toxins and poisons.

Results are quick and it is claimed that those who continue to flush out the stomach, liver and bowels every morning never have any headache or know a miserable moment.

When putting a poultice on a child, be sure it is hot enough to do good, but not too hot. Test it with the back of your hand. Covered with a double piece of thick flannel, a poultice will keep hot for two hours.

Good Results

Only can come from having your PROPERTY INSURED AGAINST LOSS BY FIRE in the Most Reliable Companies.

Settlement of Losses, to which we give Personal attention are

PROMPT AND LIBERAL

You will find in our office the Strongest of the British, American and Canadian companies doing business in Canada.

Davis-Thompson Co., Limited
INSURANCE & GENERAL AGENCY
638 GEORGE STREET Phone 40

"Satisfaction"

Not Like Other Gifts—This Razor Must Satisfy or It Need Not Be Kept

The AutoStrop Safety Razor will not find its way to the back of a shelf or into a drawer with discarded Christmas presents of former years. It must demonstrate its superiority as a Razor otherwise it goes back to the dealer.

What gift is more suitable? What method of giving is more sensible?

The price of the AutoStrop Razor is $5.00. This includes everything—a Razor which sharpens its own blades and a strop to sharpen them on. Before shaving you slip the strop through the Razor-head, then strop. That's all! Nothing to unscrew or take apart, no extras to buy, no dull blades, and no endless expense for new ones.

No matter what kind of razor any man uses, he will prefer the smooth-shaving comfort and the wonderful effectiveness of the AutoStrop Safety Razor.

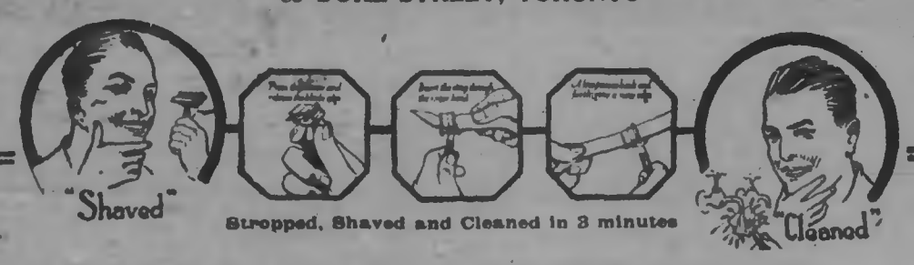
ON SALE AT ALL DRUG, JEWELLERY AND HARDWARE STORES

Ask to see a complete assortment. You will find an AutoStrop to satisfy your individual taste. Prices from $5.00 up.

"MADE IN CANADA"

AutoStrop Safety Razor Company, Limited

83 DUKE STREET, TORONTO



Stropped, Shaved and Cleaned in 3 minutes

Bowlers Never Get Appendicitis

TURKEY-WEEK

Prizes Will Be Given Daily

Make Your Christmas Dinner a Sure One by Winning a Turkey

THE WATER ST. ALLEYS

J. J. SOLOMON, Prop

EXAMINER PATTERN SERVICE

LADIES' FOUR-GORE SKIRT.

By Anabel Worthington.

Although we are nearly inundated with one piece frocks, there is a very choice collection of separate skirts for wear with tailored or dressy waists.

In the illustration is shown an unusually attractive new skirt, smart to the last degree, and suitable for walking, sports and general utility wear. It is cut in four gores, having the back gore gathered where an ornamental belt joins. Side pockets that are stitched to extended tabs of material, are braid bound to show Fashion's choice of trimming. The button decoration above the pockets, is strongly suggestive of the yoke effect—a fashion note in the majority of models.

To gain the fulness that every woman takes so readily to, an under box plait is introduced at each side, below the pocket. Develop this design in any of the fashionable fall fabrics—tweed, mannish melton, twill serge and the like—there are a number in rich warm tones for cool weather wear. This is a good chance for you to become convinced of the worth of patterns.

The skirt pattern, No. 8025, cuts in sizes 24-32 waist. Size 24 requires 3¾ yards 36 inch material, with 1½ yards braid to bind the pockets.

To obtain the pattern send 10 cents to the office of this publication.

When ordering remember to give your name and address as well as the number and size of pattern required, and age of a child.

Price 10 cents, or 2 for 25 cents.

Address—The Examiner Pattern Service, The Examiner, Peterborough.

Young Irish Beauty Loses Aged Banker At Last Moment

Notwithstanding John R. Manning, eighty-three-year-old millionaire, took his fiancee, Miss Honora May O'Brien twenty-eight years old, stenographer pianist, musician, and a pronounced beauty, to visit Cardinald Farley in the Archiepiscopal residence, New York on Sunday, and in the presence of two of the children made arrangements for their wedding early tomorrow (Tuesday), it was announced today (Monday) at his home, No. 81 Riverside Drive, there would be no marriage.

"You may say for me," said Miss Manning, an unmarried daughter of the aged millionaire, to a reporter, "there will be no wedding to-morrow, or any other day. It's all off—completely all off."

The decision of Mr. Manning to heed the advice of the six heirs to the banker's $15,000,000 fortune came after a continuous session of the family, arguing with him in relays, since Saturday afternoon.

It was not until newspapers were thrown to him containing a statement that he had settled $500,000 on Miss O'Brien, or was to do so that he capitulated.

His children at once took him for an automobile ride, and on his return to the house he called up Miss O'Brien, who is staying with her convent schoolmistress, the Misses Amy and Gladys O'Connor at No. 58 Riverside Drive. Miss O'Brien was highly indignant and declined to accept his withdrawal from their romance final.

Miss O'Brien at once called her brother, James S. O'Brien into conference. He has a bakery and cannery business at Newport, R.I., and went to New York on reports that Mr. Manning's children were interfering with the plans of their father and Miss O'Brien.

Miss O'Brien was located by a reporter at her apartment on Riverside Drive. She admitted that the wedding had been declared off, but would not discuss the matter. Miss O'Brien has a mass of golden, red hair and large brown eyes, with wondrous long lashes. Her complexion is pink and white, and her cheeks glow with perfect health. She is about five feet eight inches in height and weighs about 140 pounds.

"Yes," she said, "the marriage has been declared off, for the present, at least. The whole thing has been a terrible shock to me. I may have a statement later."

Earlier in the day, Mr. O'Brien said he had been pleased to learn that his sister did not need any help, as he was sure the marriage would take place as arranged with Cardinal Farley.

"I came here to see that my sister got a square deal after the publicity caused by the issuing of the marriage license," he said, when he was informed of the aged millionaire's change. "It looks as though I were needed. They will find out what it is to trifle with the O'Briens. It doesn't matter to me whether Manning is rich or poor. I have all I need. But he promised to marry my sister, and if he jilts her, the Manning family will regret their part in influencing him. I know nothing of any settlement of $500,000 he is said to have intended to make on my sister."

The statement of some members the Manning family, that Miss O'Brien came to the United States to enter a convent as a nun and changed her mind was untrue. Mr. O'Brien said. His sister was educated in an Irish school and finished at a convent in Ghent, Belgium, according to her brother, and came over the Atlantic with the definite purpose of being a business woman."

MILITARY HOSPITAL PATIENTS.

Lady Paget Stuck to Her Task to the Last Moment.

Wonderful devotion to duty on behalf of the sick and wounded Serbians at Uskub has been shown by Lady Paget, wife of Sir Ralph Spencer Paget, Assistant Under-Secretary for Foreign Affairs, and His Majesty the King has given his Royal license and authority to her to wear the Grand Cordon of the Order of Saint Sava, conferred by the King of Serbia in recognition of her valuable services.

According to an American correspondent now at Monastir, Lady Paget refused to leave, despite the pleadings of her friends, and even of her husband, who made a dash by automobile from Nish in order to effect her rescue before the capture of the city by the Bulgarians.

Details of her act of self-sacrifice were brought to Monastir by Dr. Edward Stuart, head of the American Sanitary Commission, who, with his wife and the other members of the Commission, left Nish two days before its fall, finally reaching Monastir by way of Albania. "As soon as it became apparent that the Bulgarians would surely capture Uskub," said Doctor Stuart, "Sir Ralph Paget started by automobile from Nish. As it was, he arrived at Uskub only three hours before the Bulgarians entered the city. Although overjoyed to see her husband, Lady Paget absolutely refused to abandon her work in the hospital, saying: 'I am going to stay here to take care of these poor men. It is useless to try to make me leave. I simply must stay.'"

The entire personnel of her staff including Drs. S. H. Osborne and C. E. Fox, of the United States, and Dr. Catherine Travis, of Canada, had gathered in the office of the hospital. They, too, endeavored to persuade her to accompany her husband to safety. But her determination could not be shaken, and all of the staff decided to remain with her.

In recognition of her bravery the retreating Serbians left 200 Austrian prisoners to act as attendants and servants in the hospital, as well as to protect her in the event of trouble with the Bulgarians."

A Princess in the Ranks.

A Petrograd despatch says: The startling discovery has just been made that a Russian "soldier" recently wounded in battle in Volhynia and now lying in a military hospital at Kharkoff is none other than Princess Volonsky.

The Princess is only twenty-two years of age, and her story is a tragic and romantic one.

Her husband, Prince Volonsky, was killed by the Germans early in the war, and not long afterwards her father and brother were killed also.

The Princess, who is sturdy in figure and possesses a character of great determination, thereupon resolved to join the army as a volunteer.

After cutting her hair short and dressing like a man she enlisted as an ordinary soldier.

Not until she had fought for some months on the southwestern front was her identity discovered.

She was then sent to Kieff to be discharged from the army, but the Princess succeeded in eluding the vigilance of her guards, and returned to the fighting line, where she was wounded.

Tender-hearted K. of K.

The popular conception of the late Lord Kitchener as a "man of iron with a heart of ice" is ridiculously wrong and unjust. As a matter of fact, he was one of the greatest and tenderest-hearted of men. Not many years ago his old nurse said: "People tell me that he has no heart and that everybody is afraid of him; but they are wrong. He is really one of the most tender-hearted men in the world; and whenever he comes to see me, as he often does, he is 'my boy,' just as he was in the old days in Ireland when he used to run to me in all his troubles and flies his arms around me and hug me. Ah, there is nobody left who knows the real Master Herbert' as I know him!"

Wants to Be a Soldier.

Samuel Third, a ten-year-old Toronto boy was taken from a Grand Trunk train recently at Windsor by the United States immigration officers because he was not very sure just where he was going. He told Chief Inspector Frick he ran away to be a soldier. He declared his father was a soldier, his grandfather was a soldier, and his father before that was a soldier, so he just simply had to join too. The lad will be given good care here until the Toronto authorities are heard from.

Well Soaped.

Salt boiled beef was the main item on the luncheon menu, and the flavor of this particular joint was so odd that the family laid down their knives and forks in unison.

"General" Mary Jane was sent for.

"There is something wrong with this beef, Mary," said the mistress of the house. "Did you soak it as I told you?"

"Oh, yes, mum," said the maid-of-all-work brightly. "I soaped it well all round."

IMITATED KAISER.

German Officer's Wit Saved Him—A Pre-War Story.

"Among the officers of William II.'s suite a certain young captain has an extraordinary gift for imitation. A few months before the war, this captain was in one of the rooms of the Imperial Palace at Potsdam with other officer friends. He began to amuse himself by imitating the Emperor with amazing exactitude; the timbre of his voice, the tone, the gesture, the demeanor, all were unmistakable.

"Suddenly there was a tense silence; William II. had just burst into the room where his aides-de-camp were. The officers saluted respectfully, and remained motionless.

"'Well! continue,' ordered the Emperor, addressing himself to the captain. 'I did not know that you had this gift.'

"The officer hesitated for a second, then, stretching out his arm, and reproducing the intonation of his Sovereign, he said in a loud voice:

"'Captain, you deserve to be dismissed from the army, but out of consideration for your youth, and because I know you to be a brave and gallant soldier, I forgive you.'

"That day William gave an example of marvelous leniency—he did not punish the captain."

"The Emperor had, until recently, a barber who was an expert at the business, but who always arrived late. In order to cure him of his want of punctuality, the Emperor presented him with a splendid gold chronometer. The barber, however, was no more punctual than before.

"'Have you still my watch?' William, losing patience, asked him at last.

"'Of course, your Majesty.'

"'Well, since it is no good, take this one instead.' And taking from the crestfallen barber the gold chronometer, he gave him in exchange a nickel turnip that may have been worth five marks."—The Two Williams: Studies of the Kaiser and the Crown Prince, by Paul Louis Hervier.

A Bishop's Hymn of Hate.

While official Germany loses no chance of berating England as the arch-enemy, German clericals illustrate their conception of Christianity by applauding murder. For instance, Bishop Kaftan of Kiel offers up the following blasphemous prayer of thanksgiving:

"Let us thank Him who is not only the God of the Germans but the God of other nations, too, for His merciful support, if He allows our submarines to torpedo all American vessels and others carrying supplies to our enemies, quite regardless of how many and how impudent the Americans on board may be. True, it is barbaric to sink merchantmen, but who drives the Germans to do it, and who makes us wish it to continue with still greater success? England. Thank God, England's insular security is gone forever. May a hundred more Zeppelins be visited upon her, and should they ever succeed in dropping bombs on the Bank of England, what a heartfelt cry of jubilation would resound throughout Germany, considering that it was for money that Great Britain started the war."

Nightmare.

Nightmare, according to one theory, is due to a suspension of power in the muscles of inspiration. The weight, the want of breathing and the sense of suffocation seem to prove this, and a still greater proof is that after the sufferer can speak only one syllable the paroxysm is at an end. The word cannot be spoken without breath. Breath cannot come out of the lungs until it is brought in nor brought in without the action of the muscles of the breast and ribs. Nothing can be more simple than the cause. It is the temporary paralysis of the pectoral muscles, through the medium of the nerves which supply them with feeling.

Napoleon's Bible.

An Italian journalist has the copy of the Bible which Napoleon used during his compulsory sojourn in the isle of Elba. It is a copy of a cheap popular edition, illustrated with rough wood-cuts, with the initial "N" and the imperial crown stamped upon its back. A number of texts are underlined, and the inference is that the exiled emperor searched the Scriptures for passages appropriate to his misfortune and his hopes. "I will smite the shepherd, and the sheep shall be scattered," is perhaps the most significant of them. The Bible was discovered in the sanctuary of the Madonna del Monte, in Elba.

British Farm Labor Situation.

The labor situation is quite as acute on farms in the United Kingdom as it is in Canada. Nearly all the sons of British farmers, as well as skilled laborers, have been called to the war and the only sort of labor available requires a lot of supervision. Nearly all the letters from farmers published in The Farmer and Stock Breeder (Eng.) deal with the situation and the general feeling is voiced in this extract from one letter: "Let us hope for an early cessation of hostilities and a quick return to normal conditions."

FILL YOUR BIN with the Only Genuine White Ash D. L. & W. SCRANTON COAL Automatically Screened

It's a well-known fact that there is as great difference between different kinds of coal as there is between any other two commodities and it ought to pay coal consumers to do a little experimenting on their own account. We claim that the D. L. & W. Scranton Coal is the cleanest coal known. We claim that it will do more heating than any other coal.

Robert Hicks Co.
LIMITED
Charlotte and Bethune Sts.
Murray and Bethune Sts.
PHONES 47-48

WHEN YOU WANT
COAL
CEMENT
Sewer Pipe
CONSULT
H. B. TAYLOR & SON
Cor. Aylmer & Wolfe
'Phone 209

LOW'S COAL

STOVE COAL, per ton..$8.50
NUT COAL, per ton....$8.50
PEA COAL, per ton....$7.25
No. 1 CANEL COAL $8.50

LOW & COMPANY
262 Simcoe St. and 385 Bethune St
Phone 697 Nights and Holidays 766

COAL
THAT IS ALL COAL
PROMPT DELIVERY
Peterborough Fuel & Transfer Co.
Charlotte St. 'Phones 270 261, 602
Truck and Transfer Business in Connection

THERE IS NO FUEL
so good as
ANTHRACITE COAL
and no better anthracite than
LehighValleyCoal
THE COAL THAT SATISFIES
ALSO
HARD AND SOFT WOOD
Cutting and Splitting Extra
J. E. A. FITZGERALD
PHONE 113

HEAT PRODUCING
COAL
Use Our
PITTSTON COAL
It Makes Warm Friends
Terms Positively Cash
Weir & McCarthy
Coal and Wood Dealers
111 Hunter St., East City. Phone 60

IF YOU want to BUILD UP YOUR BUSINESS, you must USE THE PAPER that goes into the Home.

When a soap has been in favor as long as N.P. has it MUST be good

N.P. SOAP 15¢

It is the economical way to buy soap—the big bar in the plain wrapper means more and better soap

Many Phases of the European War Described by Special Correspondents

War and General News from London and Other Points

Despatches from Liverpool, Berlin, Edinburgh, Paris and Rome Contain Items of Interest—Tragedy in London Would Make Good Material for Drama.

(Special Despatch).
LONDON, Saturday.

Broken in spirit and beside himself with grief, John James Gibbons, a youth of seventeen, finds himself in a lonely cell charged with the murder of his father. John, who was always a dutiful son, cries himself to sleep every night. His every thought is of his mother, for whose cause he is now confined in a felon's cell.

The unfortunate condition of the boy had its beginning in a domestic quarrel which ended in a tragedy. John's father, a rather shiftless sort of individual, quarrelled with his wife because the latter had pawned some dress material. In the course of the quarrel the elder Gibbons struck his wife and was about to administer some further punishment when the son intervened and struck his father with something he had in his hand. The irate father turned his attention to his son, but before the enraged man could lay hands on him the youth dashed from the house with his father in pursuit. They had not gone more than ten feet when the father gave a cry and, pitching forward, dropped dead in the yard of their home. The boy bent over his father's lifeless body, begging his forgiveness, and was in this position when the police arrived to lead him away to answer a murder charge.

(Special Despatch)
LIVERPOOL, Saturday.

According to the general officer commanding-in-chief the Western command, who spoke before an assemblage of military men here the other day, it has been decided by the government authorities that all men of thirty years or younger must join the army. Capable young men now sheltered in employment should, the officer declared, be relieved by men who have already served in the army and are incapacitated for the strenuous work at the front, but perfectly able to go into peaceful employment.

(Special Despatch).
BERLIN, Saturday.

Notwithstanding the fact that the government exercises strict control over the need for preserved foods, a very serious form of blood poisoning, called "tin sickness," has attacked thousands of persons in all the large cities of Germany. On account of the shortage of fresh foods the people have been compelled to subsist largely on canned goods, with the result that they have fallen victims of this remarkable disease.

(Special Despatch).
EDINBURGH, Saturday.

David P. Menzies, of Pleau Castle, Bannockburn, was charged with perjury in an interesting case just opened in the High Court. He submitted documents, upon which the charge is based, in a claim to the headship of the Clan Menzies and Menzies baronetcy.

According to evidence presented Mr. Menzies showed documents, mainly bills, dated some 200 years ago, backed with the words "Robert, son of Captain James Menzies, of Comrie." A copper plate engraver who examined the documents through a large magnifying glass said the words were obviously written with a steel pen, which did not come into existence until after 1810. A quill pen left a fine mark, it was testified, while a steel one left a perceptible space between when a wide mark was examined closely.

(Special Despatch).
PARIS, Saturday.—The poor people of France as well as the wealthy are taking advantage of the privilege recently granted by M. Meline, the Minister of Agriculture, to all sportsmen, of high or low degree, to shoot the wild game that since the war has become superabundant, doing great damage to crops. Hares, pheasants and wild ducks have been the chief offenders, and these are being killed in great numbers, thus not only saving growing vegetation but furnishing food for the people.

It was thought at first that the Minister's instructions included only rich sportsmen and owners of game preserves, but he made it clear in a subsequent statement that, in the interest of agriculture, the shooting privilege was extended to everybody in all departments.

(Special Despatch).
ROME, Saturday.

If one seeks evidence of Italy's financial stability he may find it in the announcement just made of an increase of [illegible],000,000, distributed over all departments, in the first three months of the financial year.

(Special Despatch).
LONDON, Saturday.

[illegible] prices have increased enormously since the beginning of the war. The average increase in retail prices is 68 per cent. The greatest increase has been in the price of potatoes, which has gone up 45 per cent.

[illegible] with one year ago the retail [illegible] showed an average increase of [illegible].

(Special Despatch).
LONDON, Saturday.

Of the 5,407 men now employed on the staff of the headquarters of the Ministry of Munitions only 400 are eligible for military service, either for general service or for garrison duty. The Director of Recruiting has appointed a strong committee to examine these men. Those that the committee pronounces "fit" will be released and sent out for military duty.

(Special Despatch).
LONDON, Saturday.—A wild elephant, emerging from the jungle on the island of Ceylon, was struck by a railroad train on its way to Colombo, according to news received here. It is said that the shock of the collision was almost as great as if the train had crashed into an engine or another train. Passengers were nonplussed, windows in the cars were broken and as a result there were many exciting moments.

The unusual accident occurred at night. There was much mystery about what had caused it, for the trainmen and engineer had failed to observe any lights ahead and knew that the locomotive had not ploughed head on into another train. Investigation cleared up the mystery. Lying across the tracks in front of the engine was a dead elephant.

Although able to proceed after a wrecking crew had removed the huge carcass, the train broke down after it had gone several miles beyond the scene of the accident. Several parts of the locomotive, it was discovered, had been misplaced in the collision with the elephant.

(Special Despatch).
LEEDS, Saturday.

Lord and Lady Cowdray have given the University of Leeds $50,000 for the endowment of a chair of Spanish language and literature, to be open to men and women on equal terms. The purpose is to make the new professorship a centre for a school of Spanish studies, to cover the large territory served by the Leeds University.

It is thought that the Leeds University was selected because of family connections of Lord and Lady Cowdray in Yorkshire. His Lordship is extensively interested in business ventures in South Africa, where Spanish is spoken.

A Russian chair has recently been endowed at the university.

(Special Despatch).
LONDON, Saturday.

A new army order has put an end to the compulsory military mustache, making the wearing of facial foliage above the upper lip optional. Needless to say, following this decree many a soldier who has been wearing a misplaced eyebrow to be within the army law is heaving a sigh of relief.

Rigid as was the order to grow a mustache, it still left to the taste and fancy of the wearer great latitude of choice as to the shape and style of mustache. A thousand varieties were grown, the two extremes being the soup-straining and moth-eaten kind.

Young men of artistic tastes were led to cubist and futurist experiments that often failed and eventually became Chaplinistic in appearance. When a mustache did not lie down at command it was pinched severely, being shaved off at the ends. Two single quotation marks of hair have often served as a mustache, bringing a question to the minds of army officers as to what could be done to stop the ferocious custom. Along came the new order, and the problem was solved.

(Special Despatch).
PARIS, Saturday.—"Skyscrapers" are doomed in Paris. Mr. Paul Escudier, Deputy, has issued warning that those builders who violate the dead letter law recently enacted will be dealt with severely. It is proposed by the Deputy that the Council of the Prefecture of the Seine be given full power to stop the construction of any building going above the regulation height. The law is disappointing, in some respects, as many of the residents had hoped for a city that would resemble, in a measure, New York, with its towering structures that seem to pierce the sky.

(Special Despatch).
LONDON, Saturday.

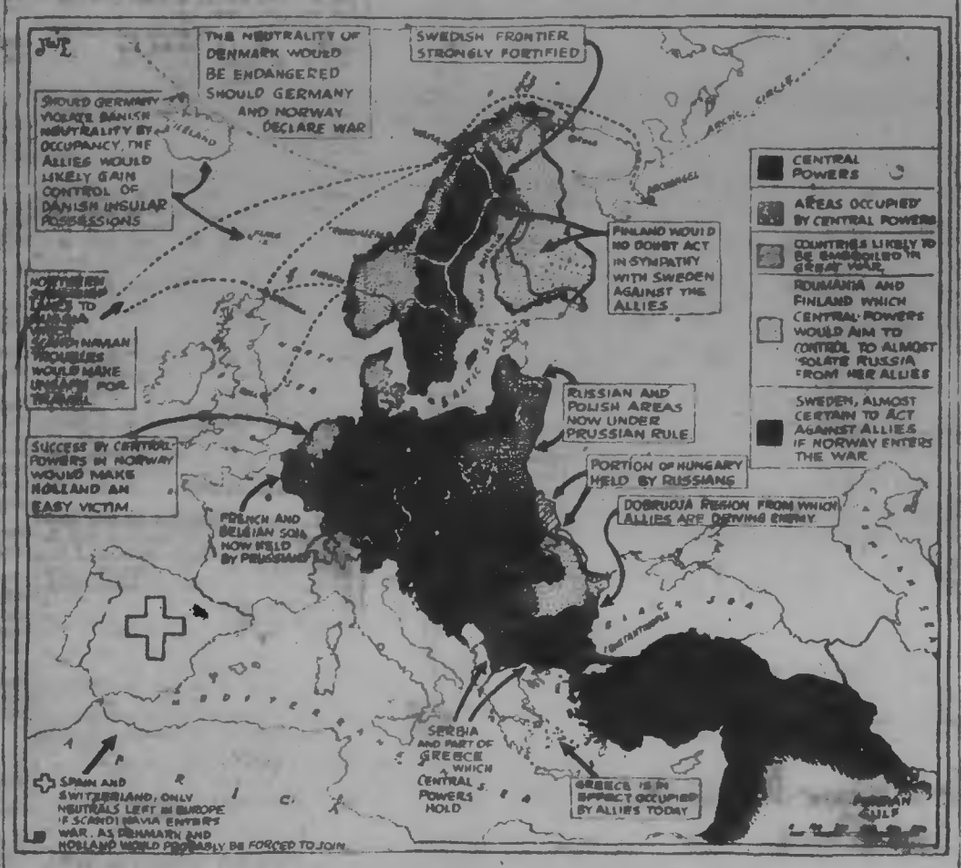
The fear of Zeppelins throughout England is felt not alone by humans, but by animals. So many cows, horses and sheep have been killed by bombs dropped from German airships that the survivors of these slaughters in the pastures will never forget the shock they suffered.

Cows have been affected to a greater extent than any of the other animals. Some farmers declare that the cows are giving poor milk, due to the Zeppelin fright. Three dairymen who were summoned to court for selling milk not up to the standard blamed the nervous condition of their cows. The cases were dismissed.

(Special Despatch).
LONDON, Saturday.—There have been all sorts of tricks resorted to by those who have been anxious to avoid military service, but the height was reached in a police court when two sturdy citizens were charged with falsely representing themselves as persons to whom military exemptions had been granted.

The prisoners pleaded guilty and admitted that they had obtained an unfortunate suffering from locomotor ataxia to represent them before the Medical Board. An effort was made to locate the subject who had offered his services for a paltry sum, but without avail. The two offenders were sentenced to six months at hard labor.

PRUSSIANS SEEK A SCANDINAVIAN BREAK, AIMING A BLOW AT RUSSIA



THE NEUTRALITY OF DENMARK WOULD BE ENDANGERED SHOULD GERMANY AND NORWAY DECLARE WAR
SWEDISH FRONTIER STRONGLY FORTIFIED
SHOULD GERMANY VIOLATE DANISH NEUTRALITY BY OCCUPANCY, THE ALLIES WOULD LIKELY GAIN CONTROL OF DANISH INSULAR POSSESSIONS
FINLAND WOULD NO DOUBT ACT IN SYMPATHY WITH SWEDEN AGAINST THE ALLIES
RUSSIAN AND POLISH AREAS NOW UNDER PRUSSIAN RULE
PORTION OF HUNGARY HELD BY RUSSIANS
DOBRUDJA REGION FROM WHICH ALLIES ARE DRIVING ENEMY
SUCCESS BY CENTRAL POWERS IN NORWAY WOULD MAKE HOLLAND AN EASY VICTIM
FRENCH AND BELGIAN SOIL NOW HELD BY PRUSSIANS
SERBIA AND PART OF GREECE WHICH CENTRAL POWERS HOLD
GREECE IS IN EFFECT OCCUPIED BY ALLIES TODAY
SPAIN AND SWITZERLAND, ONLY NEUTRALS LEFT IN EUROPE IF SCANDINAVIA ENTERS WAR, AS DENMARK AND HOLLAND WOULD PROBABLY BE FORCED TO JOIN
CENTRAL POWERS
AREAS OCCUPIED BY CENTRAL POWERS
COUNTRIES LIKELY TO BE EMBROILED IN GREAT WAR
ROUMANIA AND FINLAND WHICH CENTRAL POWERS WOULD AIM TO CONTROL TO ALMOST ISOLATE RUSSIA FROM HER ALLIES
SWEDEN, ALMOST CERTAIN TO ACT AGAINST ALLIES IF NORWAY ENTERS THE WAR
ARCTIC CIRCLE
BLACK SEA
ADRIATIC SEA
PERSIAN GULF

Rupture with Norway, It Is Believed by Military Observers, Is Sought—Position of Denmark and Sweden Involved—Situation Comparable to That in the Balkans, with Bulgaria and the Present Campaign.

The danger of a rupture between Germany and Norway in consequence of their present submarine crisis has been occasioned, military observers declare, by a determination on the part of the Prussians to block up the principal lines of communication between Russia and the Western World, and in the anticipation that Norway might be occupied after the fashion of Serbia they could force a crescent-shaped barrier against the Allies in the west extending from the Arctic Circle to the Persian Gulf.

Any hostile move between Norway and Germany is bound to bring Sweden, it is believed, into the fray. The Swedes, from the beginning of the war, have been and are now pronouncedly, it is declared, pro-German. The Swedish military system is closely patterned after the German idea, and in thought and business interests the Swedes, it is said, are closely identified with the Germans. It is for these reasons that the German general staff is understood to have every confidence that in the event of a Scandinavian crisis resulting in war the Swedes will be found occupying a similar place in the Scandinavian peninsula to that occupied by the Bulgarians in the Balkans.

With Sweden on the side of Germany the fate of Norway, it is declared, would be sealed. Prussian troops easily could be transported across Finland and Trelleborg over the ferry service that is now maintained, and with Sweden a belligerent country the passage of the Sound would be blocked. This latter contingency would necessitate use of the Great Belt or Little Belt in making a passage between the Kattegat and the Baltic, but since both the Great Belt and the Little Belt are wholly within Danish territory any use of those passages by hostile craft would be a violation of Danish neutrality. The thing could not be done, military men say, any more than could Germany send torpedo boats down the Rhine to the North Sea by way of Holland without violating Holland's neutrality.

Any acquiescence on the part of Denmark would mean in all probability the instant invasion of Danish territory by the Prussians and the extension of Schleswig-Holstein to the Skagens Horn and the absorption of Fünen, Seeland and Laaland. With Denmark in Prussian hands Sweden could be reached by traversing the one and one-third miles between Helsingor and Helsingborg or by following the Copenhagen-Malmo route. This last route is fed by the Rostock ferry line and by the railroad leading up from Prussia through Schleswig-Holstein and across Fünen.

Communication between the Allies in the west and the Russians in the east is either by the Scandinavian route or via Archangel on the north of Vladivostock on the east. Direct access to either Archangel or Vladivostock involves long journeys, and, as in the case of Archangel, there are only five months in the year when ships may enter the White Sea.

It is shown by military observers that the Russians are even now maintaining a full army corps in Finland for the purpose of keeping the Finns quiet. During the present war the Finns have not been compelled to enter the Russian service.

The Swedes for many years have maintained strong defensive positions in the north along the Swedish-Russian frontier, and any attempt on the part of Russian forces to cross would be met by the full resistance of the Swedes.

According to Prussian ideas, Sweden in the event of the Central Powers moving would be the dominant Power in Scandinavia, similar to the contemplated position held out to Bulgaria with relation to the Balkans.

Aside from breaking up the Russian communications with the west, the Prussian idea, it is said, is to confront the Allies, and especially the British, with added difficulties in the shape of a greatly extended coast line to blockade. On the other hand, destroyers and submarine craft of the Prussians, by utilizing the inland waterways of Norway, could, it is declared, practically nullify the Archangel carrying trade.

ROYAL BODYGUARD OF ROUMANIA DRAWN UP IN FRONT OF THE CHALET

The royal bodyguard of Roumania is here seen drawn up in front of the long portico of the royal shooting box. The bodyguard wears a glittering helmet with tall plume. The letters "R. E." figure on the shoulder straps of the tunic.

The Kaiser on the Somme Cheers Wounded Soldiers

Correspondent of Berliner Tageblatt Writes of Tonic Effect Emperor Has on Men in the Hospitals—Says the Ruler Is Looking Remarkably Well and Good Humored.

(Special Despatch).
BERLIN, Saturday.

A graphic description of the Kaiser's recent trip to the Somme is given in an article which Georg Queri, correspondent of the Berliner Tageblatt, contributes to that paper.

"The rain is coming down heavily," writes Herr Queri. "However, there is one consolation—no hostile aeroplanes will be harassing us during the day, as they will be obliged to remain in their hangars. Also, there will be no bombardment of the streets of Bapaume, where the Kaiser desires to make an inspection of the ruins from the recent British fire.

"Everything has been arranged for this day by the officers in clocklike order. The Kaiser will require about seven hours' time for his inspection, with a few hours' leisurely talk with the generals in command.

"The whole town is astir. Even the Frenchman and his wife and his children are looking forward to the Kaiser's coming with some degree of joyful anticipation. Despite the heavy rain the streets are crowded. At the railway station only officers are permitted to congregate. Upon my arrival I find Crown Prince Rupprecht of Bavaria and his staff already there. The train pulls into the station exactly on the minute. It has a new imperial engine driver, the Kaiser's own personal engine driver having been recently killed by a bomb thrown down on the train by a hostile airman.

"The Kaiser steps down from the platform of his private car looking remarkably well. He is in very good humor, and his greeting of the Crown Prince of Bavaria is most cordial. All enter waiting automobiles and are driven to the military hospital.

"As the Kaiser enters the main room he sees to the left of him a young soldier who is seriously wounded. His face has the pallor of death upon it and he lies like one lifeless, but when the Kaiser approaches his cot the wounded man shows his remarkable vitality by rising slightly and grasping the Emperor's extended hand. He answers the Kaiser's questions in a quick and firm voice and appears like a new man. The Kaiser walks on, stopping at the cots of all the wounded men. Some have been shot through the lungs, others have bayonet wounds in the stomach and the back, and all have suffered intensely. The Kaiser's presence acts like a marvellous tonic upon them all. The Kaiser laughs and jokes with them, and one soldier, a giant of a Bavarian, describes the battle in which he was wounded. The Kaiser listened intently to his story and remarked:—

"'Yes, when it comes to war, you Bavarians know your business.'

"After the Kaiser left the hospital he was driven toward Cambrai, where several regiments of men just from the trenches stood at attention. The military band played the Kaiser hymn, and, despite the inclement weather and foreboding skies, the whole made a thrilling picture.

"The Kaiser walked slowly toward a little stand and with uncovered head addressed the soldiers.

"'Comrades:—Following the dictates of my heart, I hastened from the east front to you. I bring you the greetings of your comrades there and the thanks of the Fatherland for your bitter and brave three months' struggle on the Somme, in which you have repeatedly defeated the enemy. The history of the world has no record of any battle that can be compared with this, nor has it any record of bravery equal to yours. For centuries to come the story of this battle on the Somme will stand as a glorious picture of the will to fight to victory by a whole nation. In you this indomitable will of the German people has its practical demonstration, a will that is invincible in the face of everything, a will that will throw back the French and British hordes no matter what happens. From all sections of Germany you have come to battle here, and you constitute a stone wall that will stand till the last breath. Germany is surrounded by enemies and is fighting half the world. And even if the struggle should become more bitter, and should last much longer, the God of all is with you. He has given you the needed strength and will to fight on. Your faith in God shows that you are fighting a worthy cause. I greet you, comrades. Do not falter. God will continue to be with you and give His blessing until the end.'

"After breakfast with Crown Prince Rupprecht the Kaiser made a tour of the trenches and spoke with the men individually, inspiring them with courage. The rain came down in torrents, but the Kaiser tramped through the mud and slush as if he enjoyed the experience. He was delighted when he saw the workings of a battery manned by handsome specimens of young manhood—tall giants of remarkable strength and agility. When he saw the earnestness, the calm and brave demeanor of the men under heavy fire he was overcome with emotion. He could not find words to express his inmost feelings. Only the soft expression in his eyes showed what was going on in his mind. Slowly and quietly he stepped into his automobile and was driven back to the railway station."

Raphael, England's Astrologer, Saw Death of Emperor Francis Joseph

(Special Despatch).
LONDON, Saturday.

England's well known astrologer, Raphael, whose predictions are always awaited with interest, has just issued his almanac for 1917, in which he predicts the end of the war in 1917. He says that the President of the United States will be in danger during the winter, as well as some notable citizens of the States. He predicts a serious naval disaster in the United States during the summer and the inauguration of a religious crusade against places of amusement.

In regard to the war, it is significant that astrologers in the United States have also predicted the end of the war in 1917, the majority of them fixing the date about July 27. Raphael says that in the fall and winter of the present year (1916) there is an ominous direction of Mars and Saturn, which portends the defeat of Germany, the overthrow of kingly power and the establishment of a German republic. 1917 will see the end of the war and the Kaiser, too.

Raphael also sees trouble in Great Britain after the war, and adds:—

"Our King's troubles will not end with the war, for his sun is leaving the place of Mars at birth, which threatens renewed troubles, serious disturbances in the land, strikes and bloodshed. The economic war will be coming on, the battle between capital and labor, or master and man. It will be a most anxious, harassing time, which will continue for some years. Troubles threaten His Majesty on every side."

Raphael also sees trouble for the Russian empire—sinister and seditious influences within the empire—and these will be augmented with the end of the war.

He predicts that the Archduke Charles Francis Joseph will occupy the throne of Austria before many months have passed.

In the horoscope of President Wilson Raphael sees trouble brewing also.

"President Wilson is a clever man," he says, "but trouble awaits him. His Jupiter is in Aries near our King's ascendant, which is decidedly favorable, and he cherishes no ill will against this country, but we must not overlook the fact that his Mars by progressive motion comes over our King's ascendant. There are strong indications that the President will make an effort to secure peace on a footing favorable Germany. We must watch, and give him to understand that we want no outside advice when the day of reckoning comes. It must be no 'give and take' but a clean, decisive job."

COUNTESS OF CARLISLE THROWS AWAY WINE

(Special Despatch)
LONDON, Saturday.

Quite a storm of excitement has been raised on the Castle Howard estates of the Carlisle family by the extraordinary action of Rosalind, Countess of Carlisle, in ordering the whole of the contents of the wine cellars of Castle Howard to be thrown away.

As is well known, the Countess holds strong temperance views, and has been president of the British Women's Temperance Association. During her sojourn at Castle Howard in the lifetime of the late Earl of Carlisle the wine cellars were said to have been walled up.

Last week the wine cellars were opened. A hole was dug in the grounds of the castle and the whole stock of wine, numbering, it is stated, more than one thousand bottles, was emptied therein. Naturally the waste of so much wine has created a sensation among the tenantry, some of whom saw the emptying of the wine.

Rosalind Countess of Carlisle, would not allow a tenant of hers to hold a license. There is a public house on the estate, but it is freehold property, and thus outside her control. She is the grandmother of the present Earl of Carlisle, who is an officer on board the New Zealand. The Earl is unmarried.

Many years ago the father of the late Sir Wilfred Lawson, M. P.—described by Sir Wilfred as "the wickedest old radical ever allowed to get loose"—did a similar thing. On the death of his father he had the family wine cellar at Brayton, near Carlisle, cleared out and all the "whiskey and its kin" poured into a pond.

(Special Despatch).
LONDON, Saturday.

How a corporal of the Eastern Ontario battalion successfully fought off twenty-two German soldiers who tried to recapture a trench is told in the following Canadian communique:—

"The battalion had successfully captured a line of German trenches when a party of the enemy, consisting of two officers and twenty men, began a counter attack. The corporal advanced alone against the whole party, emptied his revolver, picked up first one and then another German rifle, each of which he emptied, accounting for the two officers and sixteen of the men.

"While he was shooting one of the officers attacked him with a bayonet and pierced him in the leg below the knee, but the corporal shot him dead. The rest of the enemy attempted to escape. The corporal shot four of them and made the fifth a prisoner. Although wounded in two places he remained in the trenches until his battalion was relieved.

MONEY TO LOAN.

GORDON & WIDDIFIELD, Barristers, Solicitors, Notaries, Solicitors for the City of Peterborough.

MEDICAL

DR. BUCHANAN, F.R.C.S., Edin., M.R.C., Eng., L.R.C.P. London. Eye, Ear, Nose and Throat Specialist. Hours 9-11 a.m., 2-4 p.m., 7-8 p.m. 'Phone 419. Office: Corner of Water and Murray streets.

DR. E. E. HARVEY, Silver Medalist University of Toronto. Special attention to diseases of women and children. Office hours 1:30 to 5 p.m., 7-8 p.m. 'Phone 222. Office 213 Brock Street.

DR. C. F. W. ROSS, Ex-House Surgeon, Grace Hospital, Toronto. Residence:—Keene, Ont. 6mos46

M. McCLELLAND
M.D., L.R.C.P., & S., Edin., Etc.
Cor. Murray and Water Streets
Phone 119

BARRISTERS AND SOLICITORS

GORDON & WIDDIFIELD, Barristers, Solicitors, Notaries, Solicitors for the City of Peterborough.

BENNETT & GOODWILL—Barristers, Solicitors, etc. No. 376 Water Street, Peterborough. Telephone No. 194. J. W. Bennett; E. L. Goodwill.

RUDDY & BURNHAM—Barristers, Solicitors, Notaries. Money to Loan. Offices Rooms 440 Water Street, corner Water and Brock.
Robert Ruddy, K.C., J. H. Burnham, M.P.

G. W. HATTON, County Crown Attorney, Barrister, Solicitor. Trust Funds to loan at lowest current rates of interest on easy terms of repayment.

J. R. CORBERY, Barrister, Solicitor, etc., Commerce Building. Money to loan at lowest rates of interest.

PECK, KERR & McELDERRY—Barristers, Solicitors and Notaries. Office 415 Water Street, Peterborough. Money to Loan at lowest current rates of interest on easy terms of repayment.
E. A. Peck, F. D. Kerr, V. J. McElderry.

D. O'CONNELL—Barrister, Solicitor and Notary, Hunter street, two doors west of the Post Office. Daniel O'Connell.

DUMBLE & JOHNSTON—Barristers, Solicitors, etc. Office over Toronto Savings and Loan Company, 437 George street.
D. W. Dumble, K.C. W. F. Johnston.

A. E. DIXON—Barrister, Solicitor, etc. Offices Corner Hunter and George Sts. Entrance next Madill's Drug Store.

HALL & HALL—Barristers, Solicitors and Notaries Public, Hunter St., Peterborough. Next to St. John's Church. Money to loan at lowest rates of interest.
H. H. D. Hall Basil D. Hall

MOORE & WEARING, Barristers and Solicitors, 12½ Hunter Street (entrance first hallway west of post office.) Money to loan at lowest rates. W. H. Moore, K.C., Joseph Wearing, M.A.

O. A. LANGLEY—Barrister, Solicitor, Notary Public, etc. County Magistrate. Offices, Peterborough, Ont., 436 George St. 'Phone 114; Lakefield, Ont., (afternoons.) 'Phones, Office 21; Residence 36.

R. R. HALL—Barrister, Solicitor, etc. Peterborough, Ont. Offices, corner Hunter and Water streets over Canadian Bank of Commerce. Successors to Hall Madd & Davidson. Trust funds to loan on easy terms of payment.

ARCHITECTS

W. BLACKWELL, Architect and Civil Engineer. Plans and estimates made for churches, public buildings and dwelling houses. Buildings heating and plumbing a specialty. Office, 363 Water Street Peterborough.

OSTEOPATHY

DR. BRUCE E. MARSHALL—Osteopathic Physician. Office: 362 Hunter Street. Hours 9 to 11 a.m., 2 to 4 p.m., 7 to 8 p.m. 'Phone 116.

DR. ASA G. WALMSLEY—Osteopathic Physician. Office in Sun Life Building, Corner of Hunter and Water streets. Entrance, 134 Hunter street. 'Phones: Office, 649; Residence, 469. Office hours, 9 to 12 a.m., 2 to 6 p.m. Evenings by appointment.

DR. MARY E. DAVIDSON, Osteopathic Physician. Office—No. 6 over Bank of Commerce. Entrance on Hunter or Water streets. Hours: 10 to 12, and 2 to 5. Evenings by appointment. 'Phone 349.

EDWIN ELCOME
— TAXIDERMIST —
HEADS, ANIMALS, BIRDS, FISH, ETC. mounted artistically and permanently
HEADS OF MOOSE, CARIBOU AND DEER,
Heads, Animals, Birds, Fish, Artificial Eyes, Taxidermist Supplies, Bird and Nature Guide Books for sale
692 HARVEY STREET
PETERBOROUGH ONTARIO

Toronto Savings & Loan Comp'y

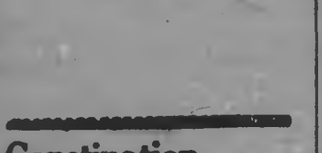
Notice is hereby given that a Quarterly Dividend of Two and One-half per cent, being at the rate of Ten per cent per annum for the (3) three months ending 31st December 1916 has been declared upon the capital stock of this Institution and the same will be payable at the offices of the Company in this City on and after the 2nd January, 1917

The transfer books will be closed from the 15th to the 31st December, both days inclusive.

By order of the Board
W. G. MORROW
Managing Director
Peterboro, Dec. 1st, 1916

CHINA PAINTING
Mrs. Langley McCarthy
Teacher Bisqu's Now and Beautiful Art Work on China Painting

Constipation Vanishes Forever
Prompt Relief---Permanent Cure
CARTER'S LITTLE LIVER PILLS never fail. Purely vegetable—act surely but gently on the liver.
Stop after dinner distress, cure both system—improve the complexion—brighten the eyes. Small Pill, Small Dose, Small Price.
Genuine must bear Signature
Brent Good



Ingersoll Watches
That Show the Time in the Dark from $1.25 up.
Automobile and Cycle Skates Re-lay Sticks and Supplies Jack Knives
MILLARD'S BICYCLE SHOP
Hunter St., near Aylmer

OUR DAILY SHORT STORY

A Double Elopement

It Ended Differently From What Might Have Been Expected

By F. A. MITCHEL

Walter Jones was standing on the deck of a steamer about to sail for Hongkong intently watching the gangplank. Belated voyagers were elbowing their way up the narrow passage against those who were going ashore in obedience to the call to do so. Jones was watching for Evelyn Smithson. They were lovers. The girl's parents objected to their union on the ground that she was too young to marry. Walter had been offered a position in a branch of the mercantile house he was with in Hongkong. He and Evelyn had agreed to go there together without their parents' knowledge or consent, be married on the steamer and after crossing the Pacific take up their residence in the orient.

The last passenger had hurried down the gangplank, and men were lining up on each side to pull it on to the dock. Jones made a dash to get ashore, but was stopped by a stewardess, who said to him:

"Are you the gentleman who was to meet a lady on the ship?"

"Yes. Where is she?"

The woman led the way to a stateroom, where he found a girl in a high state of excitement, but she was not Evelyn Smithson. The two stood looking at each other for a moment in a paralyzed condition.

"This is not my husband," said the girl to the stewardess.

"Nor my betrothed."

There was a brief explanation. There were two runaway matches, and only half of each couple seemed to have got aboard.

Jones ran up the companionway and found the ship out in open water. To get ashore would require a boat. He spent some time trying to get one, but the officers were so busy that they paid no attention to him. This gave him time to think. After all, wouldn't it be as well for him to make a virtue of necessity and go to China? Perhaps Evelyn had backed out at the last moment. Perhaps her intended flight had been discovered. In any event, the elopement had miscarried, and she would doubtless be prevented from seeing him or communicating with him. Better let the matter rest for a year or two. So he decided upon doing what he could not very well help doing.

The first thing he did after coming to this decision was to go down into the cabin to make inquiries whether the party of the first part in the other elopement had found her husband. She was in a state of terrible distress. He was to have come aboard secretly as she had done—she had been relied—and they were to meet the moment the ship left her moorings. It was now well out in the bay, and he had not appeared.

Here were two disappointed persons suffering from a like cause. Naturally the young bride, having no one else to sympathize with her, turned to Jones. She poured her story into his ears, and he listened to it as a fellow sufferer.

Mrs. Stanley was twenty years old. She had no fortune, but the man she had married an hour before the ship sailed was rich. His parents were opposed to his marrying a poor girl and had forbidden the match. They had decided to be married clandestinely and make a voyage to the Hawaiian Islands. By the time they returned the groom's parents would likely have decided to forgive him. The bride's parents were delighted with the match, and from them no forgiveness was required. Mr. Stanley, Sr., must have got on his son's track in time to prevent his sailing with his bride if not in time to prevent the wedding.

Mrs. Stanley's case was infinitely harder to bear than Jones'. He had not been married; he was going to China to assume a lucrative position and might be reunited in time with the girl of his choice. Mrs. Stanley was a bride separated from her husband immediately after her marriage, obliged to go to an island in the middle of the Pacific ocean where she had not a friend or acquaintance. She had very little money with her, her husband being expected to provide the necessary funds.

There are numerous crossroads in the domain of fate. Sometimes at these crossings there are collisions; sometimes parties expected to meet on one of them fail to connect. In any event, the changes that occur at such points are at times remarkable. The case of these two couples who aimed to sail by the same steamer was one of the most productive of results on record.

Jones and Mrs. Stanley were unexpectedly bound together, the man on the eve of a union with another woman, the woman very shortly after having taken another man as her wedded husband. If ever there was anything to produce sympathetic relations between two persons it was this similar misfortune. Mrs. Stanley was a very attractive woman. Jones was an excellent man, well educated, refined and possessed the faculty of leadership. He was going to China to carry out important plans of the firm with which he was connected. He was just the kind of man a woman distressingly situated would lean on for advice, aid and comfort.

Jones at once offered to supply Mrs. Stanley with all the funds she needed. This was no surprise or risk for him, for the lady told him that the moment she reached Honolulu she would cable back to America for money. But it put her under an obligation to Jones, and she was naturally grateful. The voyage to Honolulu is a long one, and the two, being without other friends or acquaintances on the vessel, spent much time together.

After the first shock at their unfortunate situation was over they subsided into encomiums upon their respective partners. Jones tired of this first and was glad when his companion gave over expatiating upon her husband's noble qualities. It soon seemed like a widow extolling the virtues of her first husband to her second.

The voyage was favored with pleasant weather, and the two, having nothing to do but idle away their time on deck in comfortable steamer chairs, were not long in becoming reconciled to the situation. Then came moments when they felt a shock in realizing that the frightful separation they were enduring was losing its frightfulness. One day when the water was rough and Mrs. Stanley was kept in her room by seasickness Jones walked the deck disconsolate, thinking of her instead of his Evelyn. On another occasion, when Mrs. Stanley, after seeing Jones strolling along the side when the ship was lurching, heard the cry of "Man overboard!" she paled, fearing that it might be Jones.

When the vessel reached Honolulu Jones decided that it would be neglect of a defenseless woman to leave his companion without seeing her comfortably started on her return journey. Since his ship spent but half a day there, to do this he must remain over and take another passage to Hongkong. In any event, Mrs. Stanley determined to wait the arrival of the next steamer from America, which would doubtless bring her advices from her husband and her family. In such a complicated case nothing could be decided upon cablegrams.

When the next mail from San Francisco came in it brought two letters for Mrs. Stanley—the one from her husband, the other from her parents, who had become aware of the contretemps. The latter inclosed a draft for funds and advised her immediate return, which was indeed what was to have been expected. The former letter contained a great shock for the bride.

Joseph Stanley wrote his newly made wife that his father, having suspected something was in the wind, had employed a detective to shadow him. Stanley had avoided the detective so far as to be married, but the detective had caught him just as he was about to enter the dockhouse to board the steamer. This was by way of explanation. The letter went on to say that, being taken to his father, he had been told that unless he consented to an annulment of his marriage the fortune that would be his—a million dollars—would be left to a cousin, Robert Stanley, whom Joseph hated.

Since he had not been brought up to earn his living, a due regard for his bride as well as himself compelled him to submit. His father had held a will he had made in his hands, ready to destroy it, waiting for his son's decision. When it was given he was required to sign an application to the courts for an annulment of his marriage.

Jones received a similar shock in a cablegram intended to intercept his voyage from Evelyn Smithson asking him to await advices at Honolulu. When the advices came they revealed a greater weakness on the part of Evelyn than Joseph Stanley had shown. The morning that Evelyn was to have sailed with Jones her mother, seeing that she was agitated, pressed her to tell her what was on her mind. Evelyn weakened and confessed what she was about to do.

Of course the confession was tantamount to a backdown. Mrs. Smithson, anxious to be rid of a man whom she did not wish her daughter to marry—at least not then—refused to send word to the steamer that Evelyn would not sail.

Jones and Mrs. Stanley having received their letters by the same steamer read them in the latter's private parlor at the hotel where she stopped. Jones finished reading his letter first and waited for his companion to do the same. When she did she handed her letter to him. He read it and looked up at her. Seeing something encouraging in her eye he went to her and—kissed another man's wife.

Now, had Mrs. Stanley not been a married woman Jones might have married her and the two could have continued this double intended wedding journey condensed into a single one. But Mrs. Stanley was tied to another man, and there was nothing for it but to return to America and procure an annulment of her marriage before they could be united.

Making a virtue of necessity, they made the long voyage from Honolulu to New York, contenting themselves with spooning on deck. But on reaching home they found that Stanley had taken time by the forelock, and it was no great interval between their arrival and their marriage.

When the law permitted the union of Jones and Mrs. Stanley they considered the matter of a wedding journey. But having had a courtship journey they concluded that they did not need anything more in that line. The tent had been taken off, and both agreed that they would prefer to go from the church to their own home. This they did, and both declared it preferable to the wedding journeys they had intended under different conditions.

To complete the housewarment narrated in this story Stanley should have married Evelyn Smithson.

Fish, if kept over night should be placed where the moon will not shine on them. The effect is as disastrous as the hot sunshine.

The more you know about coffee—and the more particular you are about aroma and flavour—the more you will appreciate "SEAL BRAND" COFFEE. Once you have tried it, your choice will always be Chase & Sanborn's "SEAL BRAND" COFFEE.

In ½, 1 and 2 pound tins. Whole—ground—pulverized—also fine ground for Percolators. Never sold in bulk. 184

CHASE & SANBORN, MONTREAL.

GIRLS IN SCHOOL OR AT BUSINESS who are delicately constituted, who have thin blood or pale cheeks, will find in a true tonic and a rich food to overcome tiredness, nourish their nerves and feed their blood. Start with SCOTT'S to-day—and say "NO" to substitutes.

SCOTT'S EMULSION

Scott & Bowne, Toronto, Ont. 15-20

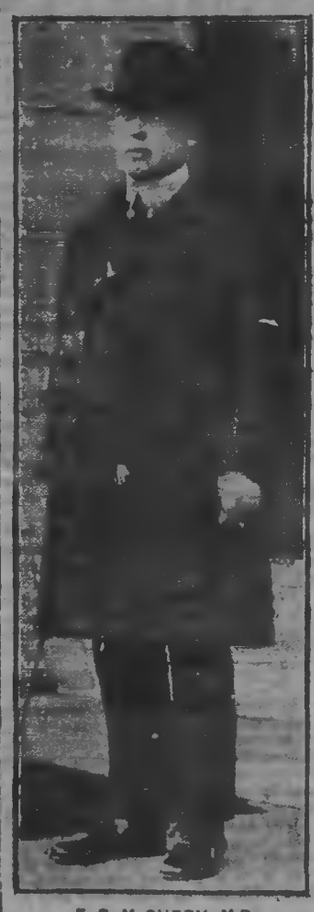
GERMANY IN GREECE

Plans of the Suez Canal in a German's Portmanteau

The Athens Patrie makes some sensational revelations concerning the contents of a portmanteau seized from a German officer at the German Legation at Larissa by secret police. Among the documents was a letter from the Athens Naval Attaché to the Minister of Marine in Berlin, which contained a detailed plan of the fortifications of the Suez Canal. Another envelope contained letters from King Constantine and the Queen to the Kaiser, and a communication from F. Theotopis to his brother, the Greek Minister in Berlin, making violent accusations against and offering gross insults to the allies.

Jack Cornwell's Father

Private E. Cornwell, of the Royal Defence Corps, father of Jack Cornwell, the boy hero of the battle of Jutland, died from bronchial catarrh after a short illness. He was an old soldier, who had been many years in the service and possessed the Egyptian medal and also the Khedive's medal and star. He was 68 years of age when he re-enlisted in April, 1915.



F. B. McCURDY, M.P.

The creation of the post of Parliamentary Under-secretary for the Militia Department, after the British manner, was followed by the selection of this eastern member of the Canadian Commons as first lieutenant. He has done other important war work.

Severe Headaches And Pains in the Back

Resulted From Deranged Kidneys and Constipation of the Bowels

It is in vain to try to regulate and restore the healthful action of the kidneys until the liver and bowels are set right.

And just here is where so many kidney medicines fail. Kidney derangements almost invariably begin with constipation and torpidity of the liver. The whole work of filtering the blood is thrown on the kidneys, and in time they fail to stand the strain. The poison in the system gives rise to severe headaches, pains in the back and tired, depressed feelings.

Because they act directly on the liver and bowels, as well as on the kidneys, Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills are eminently successful in the treatment of kidney derangements.

Mr. William Loney, Marysville, N. B., writes:—"I am glad to recommend Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills to anybody who is suffering from kidney trouble or constipation. I suffered for a long time from kidney disease and pains in the back, but have found that by using one pill a week the kidneys and bowels are kept in good order, and I do not have any more pains in the back or head like I used to have. I was also a great sufferer from piles, and could get no relief until I used Dr. Chase's Ointment. This ailment is entirely cured now, and we always keep both the pills and the ointment in the house for use when they are needed."

This statement is endorsed by Mr. F. Saunders, Town Marshal, who writes that Mr. Loney's letter is true and correct.

Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills, one pill a dose, 25 cents a box, all dealers or Edmanson, Bates & Co., Limited, Toronto.

Remember that imitations only disappoint. The genuine bear the portrait and signature of A. W. Chase, M.D., the famous Receipt oBok author.

GIRL FARM WORKERS

Doubting Farmer Was Converted by London Experiments

Four London girls, training in milking and general work on a farm where London's long arm reaches northwards, have converted the farmer—erstwhile doubtful—to the opinion that they are really useful. The Middlesex War Agricultural Committee, of which Lady Margaret Boscawen is honorary secretary, persuaded the farmer to allow the girls to train.

"Mr. Sherran," the farmer," said Lady Margaret, "has given the girls the use of a large cottage, with coal and light and vegetables, and has handed over 16 cows to them. The Cornwall County Council have loaned us one of their best instructresses, Miss Treges, for six months. We consider that with our four London girls we have made a splendid start, for, besides having surprised the farmer, the girls like the work and the cows like the girls."

The youngest is a rosy-faced girl of nearly sixteen from a high school, another is from the stationery department at Whiteley's, the third was an under-housemaid, and the fourth came from the middle class. Their day's programme is: 5.30—Get up and bring the cows in from the fields; 6 to 8—Milk the cows and clean the sheds; 8 to 10—Breakfast and housework; 10 to Dinner-time—Work on farm, unloading oilcake, carting manure, and spreading dressing; 1.30 to 3—Cleaning dairies, churns, and buckets (the farmer has 80 cows); 3 to 6—Bringing in cows and milking them until 8, clean up and finish.

PRAYER STOPPED SHELLS

French-Canadian Soldier Had a Hard Experience

Fred Lafrance, an Ottawa French-Canadian lad and one of six brothers who enlisted, had to write to his widowed mother of the death of her favorite son. Now, at Courcelette, Fred's letter to his mother is an intensely interesting on. It was dated from an English hospital. In part he said:

"I am AWAY from France and across in England in hospital. I am not feeling very well to-night, but I am glad to be away from the battlefield. I tell you, mother, we had a pretty hard time and rough fighting. We made attacks on the Germans three times. The first time we went over the parapet we had to take a big village, Courcelette. We had some fierce fighting to do to take it, but we took it all right and came back with 300 men left out of our battalion. We took 900 German prisoners. They certainly put their hands up and got down on their knees crying, 'Don't shoot, Kamerad.'

"When the battalion was relieved at 2 o'clock in the morning, I was lying in a shell hole and could not get out until five hours after the battalion was sent back. I was sick and the high explosives and shells were bursting all around me, millions of them. I tell you I thought I was going to be killed, but I took courage on myself and I was praying to God to protect me, so then the Germans stopped shelling with their big guns. Then I got down a slow as I could and dragged myself in the mud for about 400 yards. Reaching the trenches, I found a little holde to get in and I took a rest for an hour. Then I had to go about ten miles, all under shell fire, before I got back to the battalion."

To prepare horseradish quickly put through the meat chopper.

A WORD OF GRATITUDE.

"In justice to humanity I want to tell you that I was a great sufferer from itching piles, and have found Dr. Chase's Ointment the best treatment obtainable," writes Mr. Fred Hinz, Brodhagen, Ont. "It gave instant relief and I can recommend it to any sufferer from this dreadful disease."

LUMBER

BUILDERS MATERIALS of all kinds. Shingles, Scantlings, Joist and Bill Stuff, Mouldings, Casings, Base and all kinds of Finish. Boxes and Box Shooks. Slabs and Mill Wood.

Alf. McDonald Estate
POINT ST. CHARLES MILL

Before Buying be sure to hear the
COLUMBIA GRAFONOLA

Don't let the high cost of living deter you from getting a

Grafonola

Although costs of material and labor have increased, Columbia prices are lower in many instances than they were a year ago, because of the tremendously increased demand—and they are the best value in musical instruments obtainable.

Grafonolas $20 to $475.
Records 85c. up. Fit any machine.

LOCAL AGENTS:
The J. M. Greene Music Co., Limited
Greene Music Building, Charlotte Street

Taste!

You will heartily enjoy the taste and aroma of Cowan's Perfection Cocoa — and further, it is the most wholesome nourishing Canadian beverage.

A-2

WILSON PEACE NOTE PLACES ENTENTE ON GERMAN LEVEL

1 (Continued from Page 1.)

One way will be as acceptable to him as another, if only the great object he has in mind be attained.

HUN SOLICITUDE FOR WEAK ONES!

"He takes the liberty of calling attention to the fact that the objects which the statesmen of the belligerents on both sides have in mind in this war are virtually the same, as stated in general terms to their own peoples and to the world. Each side desires to make the rights and privileges of weak peoples, and small states as secure against aggression or denial in the future as the rights and privileges of weak peoples and small States now at war. Each wishes itself to be made secure in the future, along with all other nations and peoples, against the recurrence of wars like this and against aggression or selfish interference of any kind.

"Each would be jealous of the formation of any more rival leagues to preserve an uncertain balance of power amidst multiplying suspicions; but each is ready to consider the formation of a league of nations to ensure peace and justice throughout the world. Before that final step can be taken, however, each deems it necessary first to settle the issues of the present war upon terms which will certainly safeguard the independence, the territorial integrity, and the political and commercial freedom of the nations involved.

UNITED STATES INTEREST IN WEAK NATIONS.

"In the measures to be taken to secure the future peace of the world, the people and Government of the United States are as vitally and as directly interested as the Governments now at war. Their interests, moreover, in the means to be adopted to relieve the smaller and weaker peoples of the world of the peril of wrong and violence is as quick and ardent as that of any other people or Government. They stand ready, and even eager, to co-operate in the accomplishment of these ends, when the war is over, with every influence and resources at their command.

"But the war must first be concluded. The terms upon which it is to be concluded they are not at liberty to suggest; but the President does feel that it is his right and his duty to point out their intimate interest in its conclusion, lest it should presently be too late to accomplish the greater things which lie beyond its conclusion, lest the situation of neutral nations, now exceedingly hard to endure, be rendered altogether intolerable, and lest, more than all, an injury be done civilization itself which can never be atoned for or repaired.

PROPOSES COMPARISON OF VIEWS.

"The President, therefore, feels altogether justified in suggesting an immediate opportunity for a comparison of views as to the terms which must precede those ultimate arrangements for the peace of the world which all desire and in which the neutral nations as well as those at war are ready to play their full responsible part. If the contest must continue to proceed towards undefined ends by slow attrition, until the one group of belligerents or the other is exhausted, if million after million of human lives must continue to be offered up until on the one side or the other there are no more to offer, if resentments must be kindled that can never cool and despairs engendered from which there can be no recovery, hopes of peace and of the willing concert of free peoples will be rendered vain and idle.

WHY WAS WAR STARTED?

"The life of the entire world has been profoundly affected. Every part of the great family of mankind has felt the burden and terror of this unprecedented contest of arms. No nation in the civilized world can be said in truth to stand outside its influence or to be safe against is disturbing effects. And yet the concrete objects for which it is being waged have never been definitely stated.

"The leaders of the several belligerents have, as has been said, stated those objects in general terms. But stated in general terms, they seem the same on both sides. Never yet have the authoritative spokesmen of either side avowed the precise objects which would, if attained, satisfy them and their people that the war had been fought out. The world has been left to conjecture what definitive results, what actual exchange of guarantees, what political or territorial changes or readjustments, what stage of military success, even, would bring the war to an end.

DOESN'T OFFER MEDIATION.

"It may be that peace is nearer than we know; that the terms which the belligerents on the one side and on the other would deem it necessary to insist upon are not so irreconcilable as some have feared; that an interchange of view would clear the way at least for conference and make the permanent concord of the nations a hope of the immediate future, a concert of nations immediately practicable.

"The President is not proposing peace; he is not even offering mediation. He is merely proposing that soundings be taken in order that we may learn, the neutral nations with the belligerent, how near the haven of peace may be for which all mankind longs with an intense and increasing longing. He believes that the spirit in which he speaks and the objects which he seeks will be understood by all concerned, and he confidently hopes for a response which will bring a new light into the affairs of the world."

NOTHING LIKE IT FOR COLDS

Mrs. Holland Ferguson, Sheffield, N. B., writes: "Dr. Chase's Syrup of Linseed and Turpentine has cured my children and myself of severe colds. We are never without it in the house. There is nothing like it for colds and throat troubles and it is so soothing and pleasant to take, my children would drink a whole bottle if they were permitted."

It is what might be termed a "mad trick" to put clothes round the fire to dry and then go to bed and leave them. A spark may easily fly out of the fire and set them alight.

Good deeds speak for themselves, but we do not always hear them.

CHARMING

CHRISTMAS GIFTS

What can be more appropriate for a Christmas present than a manicure or toilet set? Your friends will surely appreciate such a gift.

There are twelve pieces, ivory or ebony, in each set, and the boxes which go with them are works of art in themselves.

If you are looking for military and clothing brushes here is the place to find them.

To be up to date this necessary to use a fountain pen. Look at our stock of "Swans" before you make a choice for Christmas.

Great variety of appropriate gifts for every member of the family.

A dainty Bottle or Box of Rouge, Face Powder or Toilet Water makes a very acceptable gift.

It would be difficult to find a more practical, useful or acceptable gift for a man than a Shaving Set or a Razor.

Christmas Confections are appropriate and desirable gifts.

Don't Fail to See Our Display.

"HAPPY CHRISTMAS TO ALL"

MISS E. M. COUGHLIN

Pharmacy—347 George Street Phone 836

Mayor Duffus' Message

To the Electors of the City of Peterborough:

LADIES AND GENTLEMEN,—I have been urged by many representative citizens to become a candidate for the office of Mayor of the City of Peterborough for the coming year, and hereby offer myself for re-election.

My record for the past year is before you, and I am willing to be judged by it as to my qualifications for serving the city's interests another term.

It is becoming that I should express my opinions of policy and the more pressing needs of the city.

CITY FINANCES

The finances of the city have been as carefully safe-guarded during the past year, as was possible under the circumstances. The policy of the new Council must continue to be one of strict retrenchment, and that no large expenditures be undertaken. We met with unforseen and difficult propositions, particularly due to the cancellation of taxes for licenses, together with the withdrawal of certain taxes hitherto forming part of the city's annual assets, as well as unusual heavy expenditures incurred through litigation. It will be found, however, that the city is to be congratulated upon the manner in which its finances have been handled this year, credit for this is due to the care and diligence of the chairman and members of the Finance Committee, and it is a matter of pride to the whole Council that every department has co-operated in the laudable desire of cutting down every possible expense. The details of the financial situation will be issued by the City Treasurer in a few days, and I am assured that when the figures of the year are completed, there will be a balance on the right side.

BOARD OF WORKS DEPARTMENT

During the present exceptional year, it was the policy of the Board of Works to do only such work as was essentially important and urgently necessary to keep faith with ratepayers and prevent undesirable deterioration and disrepair of roads and streets.

The same applies to surface drainage, which will have to be taken up systematically and in a comparatively elaborate manner. But having regard to financial and labour conditions, this is work that as far as at all possible and prudent, should be deferred till after the war. However, a more rigid inspection for the prevention of floods, particularly in spring, will have to be carried out.

Likewise, the matter of permanent pavements seems to be out of the question for the present.

In regard to sewers, I contend that on streets where they may be petitioned for by ratepayers, in the regular way, and where they are required, as on Romaine, Prince and Princess streets, in the south, and other equally needed streets in other sections, they should be built, since they are very largely paid for by the property owners by a frontage tax.

There are some stretches of sidewalk which will have to be built, but as sidewalks add to the debenture debt, only such as are urgently required should be constructed at present.

The foot-bridge to East City, to be attached to the C.P.R. bridge over the river, will be completed the coming year, and will meet a want long felt by the residents of the Southern and Eastern portions of the city, particularly those who live on one side of the river and work on the other.

The oiling of the streets to keep down dust is no longer an experiment. It is effective not only in exterminating the dust nuisance, but an important factor in preserving the street surfaces in good condition, and additional streets will have to be added to the oiled area.

FIRE PROTECTION.

In regard to the Fire Department, a subject that is properly engaging a good deal of public attention, I may say that I am convinced that it is not adequately equipped in every respect for a city of the size and importance of Peterborough. It is evident that the day of horse-drawn apparatus, and the matter of one or more pieces of motor-driven fire-fighting equipment, must be practically considered, more particularly on account of the present horses being unfit for much further useful service.

We have many valuable factories and buildings the loss of any one of which would be a serious one for the city. They are entitled to the most adequate protection from fire the city can provide. The distance of some of these is so great that good service in the matter of fire-fighting cannot be given with our comparatively slow-moving apparatus and equipment.

For the mercantile section of the city, I would favour an inspection even more rigid than the present, of back yards, lanes, alleys, hallways and basements, with a view of securing more prompt and thorough response to the demand to lessen the accumulation of dangerous, combustible material.

With such indicated improvement provided and with the new force main and auxiliary steam pumping unit, installed and completed in 1916 by the Utilities Commission, would provide reasonably complete facilities for dealing with fires, and for better protection to life and property.

HUNTER STREET BRIDGE.

Great as seemed to be the need of a new bridge last year, the need seems to be still growing; the present bridge may be safe enough but its traffic capacity is inadequate to the requirements and demands of the residential and business interests of East City. I am yet strongly of the opinion that one of the first large undertakings to receive attention is the construction of a new bridge, as soon as the financial circumstances of the city warrant.

Next year the city may have to take over the street railway in accordance with the understanding with the Hydro Commission; and then the extension of street car service across the river will inevitably involve the construction of a new bridge. These conditions may, unwilling as we are to face new expenditures, justify practical consideration of the problem.

WATER FOR NORTH SECTION.

The question of city water for fire protection and domestic use in the northern parts of East City, is one I have long been interested in, and one of the requirements spoken of in my message of last year. While this has not been completed a good beginning has been made, and had it not been for the large amount of work on the new force main for the western portion of the city, would have been carried out. Now, however, that a start has been made, no doubt the work will be completed the first thing in the Spring. One hydrant has already been placed and as soon as the Utilities Commission can get to work there will be no cause of complaint.

THE BOARD OF HEALTH.

It gives me pleasure to congratulate the Board of Health on what it has accomplished during the past year, and, especially, the good services given by the present Health Officer, Dr. Amyot. Cases that have required prompt attention have not been neglected, and the conservation of the general health has received adequate attention. One of the new features in this connection has been the inspection of school children.

NIGHT SOIL COLLECTION.

A satisfactory solution of the collection of night soil is one matter which interests a large portion of the community. This matter was not satisfactorily handled during 1916, owing to certain recommendations and arrangements not working out satisfactorily. It must be taken up vigorously by the new Council and a plan worked out which will ensure satisfaction. I feel confident that the work could be handled efficiently for a sum equal to about twenty cents per month or less.

THE SEWAGE DISPOSAL PROBLEM

The completion of the sewage disposal plant will require the careful consideration of next year's council. During the present year much time has been spent endeavouring to settle the question of a suitable location. The Provincial Board of Health, through its chief engineer, recommended what they claim to be the suitable location, having regard to all the circumstances, and gave the City an order and sufficient authority to take possession. Those living in close proximity to the location offered certain objections and the Council has been taking precautionary steps to overcome the objections, so as not to antagonize any one, at the same time safe-guard the City's interests.

A number of meetings has been held and the sewage question discussed from every angle in order to arrive at a satisfactory solution, which I believe if carefully handled, will terminate satisfactorily and in the best interests of all concerned. If the whole proposition could be deferred for a year or two, looking at it from a financial standpoint, it would be in the interests of the city. However, the present system of depositing sewage in the river is objectionable to the adjoining townships and the Provincial Board of Health, who cannot reasonably allow these conditions to exist much longer.

NEW INDUSTRIES.

The question of securing new industries will need the most careful consideration of the new Council. From now on, this is a matter upon which considerable time and energy must be spent. More advertising of the advantages of the City and all the influences that can be brought to bear should be exercised for the purpose of the City getting its full share of new industries that are likely to locate in Canada, to manufacture goods which were formerly manufactured in United States and in European countries.

Mr. S. B. Armstrong, our Industrial Commissioner, has worked faithfully during the past number of years and a great deal of preliminary work and negotiations with different firms have been going on, which should be followed up, and no stone left unturned to secure as many industries, on as favourable conditions as we possibly can do.

During the past year I have faithfully tried to serve the interests of the city and the citizens, and respectfully submit that in view of my past services, and the fact that my experience of the past year will fit me for giving better service another year, and that, conjoined with my assurance that if given the opportunity, I shall devote my best ability and efforts to giving Peterborough faithful and honourable service, justify me in claiming your vote and support in the coming election.

In wishing the electors and the city a New Year of happiness and prosperity, I trust that you will give me the opportunity to co-operate with you and your city council in giving effect to this wish, as Mayor of the City of Peterborough.

Yours faithfully

JOS. J. DUFFUS
MAYOR

Office of the Mayor
Peterborough, Dec. 21st, 1916

Danish Legislators Approve of Sale

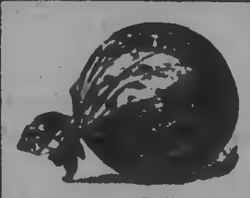
SPECIAL TO THE EXAMINER:

COPENHAGEN, Dec. 22.—Both Houses of the Danish Parliament now approve the sale of the Danish West Indies to the United States.

A clothespin bag made of bed-ticking, or something stout, in the form of a pocket with a slit on the front side is much easier to get at than a common bag.

Pudding cloths should not be washed with soap, but placed in a pan of cold water with a little soda and allowed to boil for ten minutes. Rinse in cold water.

When a man pays his way in he seldom has to pay his way out.



Last Call

Don't forget those Sunkist uniformly good Oranges for that Christmas Dinner. Order a box today. Phone your dealer.

Sunkist
Uniformly Good Oranges

California Fruit Growers Exchange

Sometimes the village dub migrates to a city and developes into a real man.

THE CANADIAN BANK OF COMMERCE

Statement of the result of the business of the Bank for the year ending 30th November, 1916

Balance at credit of Profit and Loss Account brought forward from last year		$ 461,892 25
Net Profits for the year ending 30th November, after providing for all bad and doubtful debts		2,439,415 17
		$ 2,901,307 42
This has been appropriated as follows:
Dividends Nos. 116, 117, 118 and 119 at ten per cent. per annum		$ 1,500,000 00
Bonus of one per cent. payable 1st June		150,000 00
do do do 1st December		150,000 00
War tax on bank-note circulation to 30th November		147,286 83
Transferred to Pension Fund (annual contribution)		80,000 00
Subscriptions:
Canadian Patriotic Fund	$50,000 00
British Red Cross Fund	5,000 00
British Sailors' Relief Fund	5,000 00
Sundry subscriptions, including Northern Ontario Fire Relief Fund and War Hospitals, etc.	11,700 00
		71,700 00
Balance carried forward		802,319 09
		$ 2,901,307 42

GENERAL STATEMENT

30th NOVEMBER, 1916

LIABILITIES

TO THE PUBLIC
Notes of the Bank in circulation		$ 19,299,347 68
Deposits not bearing interest	$ 62,484,072 27
Deposits bearing interest, including interest accrued to date	167,312,079 88
		229,896,152 15
Balances due to other Banks in Canada		141,317 12
Balances due to Banks and Banking Correspondents elsewhere than in Canada		5,021,842 49
Bills Payable		2,186,830 68
Acceptances under Letters of Credit		1,092,640 13
		$ 258,598,176 55
TO THE SHAREHOLDERS
Dividends Unpaid		2,084 12
Dividend No. 119 and bonus, payable 1st December		525,000 00
Capital Paid up	$ 15,000,000 00
Rest Account	13,500,000 00
Balance of Profits as per Profit and Loss Account	802,319 09
		29,302,319 09
		$ 288,427,579 76

ASSETS

Gold and Silver Coin Current	$ 20,973,529 83
Dominion Notes	19,818,476 00
Deposit with the Central Gold Reserves	6,500,000 00
		$ 46,291,005 83
Notes of other Banks	$ 1,630,360 00
Cheques on other Banks	9,668,098 74
Balances due by other Banks in Canada	1,389 86
Balances due by Banks and Banking Correspondents elsewhere than in Canada	7,201,798 13
		18,501,646 70
Dominion and Provincial Government Securities, not exceeding market value		2,781,960 25
British, Foreign and Colonial Public Securities and Canadian Municipal Securities		17,283,911 96
Railway and other Bonds, Debentures and Stocks, not exceeding market value		7,810,461 75
Call and Short Loans (not exceeding 30 days) in Canada on Bonds, Debentures and Stocks		14,725,133 07
Call and Short Loans (not exceeding 30 days) elsewhere than in Canada		21,141,335 85
Deposit with the Minister of Finance for the purposes of the Circulation Fund		806,964 47
		$ 129,341,420 42
Other Current Loans and Discounts in Canada (less rebate of interest)		133,718,131 21
Other Current Loans and Discounts elsewhere than in Canada (less rebate of interest)		16,504,418 24
Liabilities of Customers under Letters of Credit, as per contra		1,092,640 13
Overdue Debts (estimated loss provided for)		220,718 30
Real Estate other than Bank Premises (including the unsold balance of former premises of the Eastern Townships Bank)	$ 1,264,458 34
Less mortgage assumed	100,000 00
		1,164,458 34
Mortgages on Real Estate sold by the Bank		389,411 54
Bank Premises at cost, less amounts written off	5,139,457 26
Less mortgage assumed on property purchased	300,000 00
		4,839,457 26
Other Assets not included in the foregoing		126,904 34
		$ 288,427,579 76

B. E. WALKER, PRESIDENT — JOHN AIRD, GENERAL MANAGER

Report of the Auditors to the Shareholders of The Canadian Bank of Commerce

In accordance with the provisions of sub-sections 19 and 20 of Section 56 of the Bank Act, 1913, we report as follows:

We have audited the above Balance Sheet and compared it with the books and vouchers at Head Office and with the certified returns from the branches. We have obtained all the information and explanations that we have required and are of the opinion that the transactions of the Bank which have come under our notice have been within the powers of the Bank.

We have checked the cash and verified the securities representing the investments of the Bank at go their offices and principal branches at a date other than, and in addition to, the year's close at 30th November, 1916, and found that there were in agreement with the entries in the books of the Bank relating thereto.

In our opinion the Balance Sheet is properly drawn up so as to exhibit a true and correct view of the state of the affairs of the Bank according to the best of our information and the explanations given to us, and as shown by the books of the Bank.

T. HARRY WEBB, C.A., of Webb, Kent, Hogan, Callaghan & Co.
JAMES MARWICK, C.A., of Marwick, Mitchell, Peat & Co.
Auditors

14 Pages

The Evening Examiner

PETERBOROUGH FRIDAY, DECEMBER 22, 1916

GRANT SIX

If you are in the market for a six-cylinder car, be sure and see the Grant Six, at PULKINGHORN'S AUTO AND TAXI LIVERY.

'Phone 278. Res. 'Phone 1181

SOLDIERS' WIVES' AND MOTHERS' CLUB FLOWER DAY TO-MORROW

VIGOROUS PROSECUTION OF WAR MUST BE OUR SINGLE ENDEAVOUR UNTIL THE SECURITY OF EUROPE IS ESTABLISHED

King George Adds the Weight of His Words to the Allies' Stern Rejection of Germany-made Peace---"Rights So Ruthlessly Violated By Our Enemies Must Be Vindicated"---President Wilson's Note Strongly Condemned By the British Press---"Has Evoked a Step Which Will Create the Bitterest Resentment of All Those Who Are Fighting, Working and Dying For the Very Principles He Has at Heart."

LONDON, December 22.—Proroguing Parliament to-day, until February 7, King George added the weight of his words to the Allies' stern rejection of German-made peace. "The vigorous prosecution of the war must be our single endeavour,' he declared, "until we have vindicated the rights so ruthlessly violated by our enemies and established the security of Europe on a sure foundation." King George thanked the House of Commons for its "unstinted liberality" in providing funds to cover the burdens of the war. "In this sacred cause," the King declared, "I am assured of the united support of all my people. I pray God may give us his blessing."

"My government," the King continued, after summarizing the nation's aims in the war, "was reconstructed with the sole object of furthering those aims unshaken and unimpaired. I am confident that however long the struggle may be my army and my navy with those of my faithful allies aided by our subjects throughout the Empire, will achieve a victorious consummation of the aims for which I entered the war."

In the House of Commons the King's address proroguing Parliament was read by Speaker Lowther.

LONDON, December 22. — Editorial comment of to-day's evening newspapers followed the trend of public sentiment, condemning Wilson's note. The Evening News' head to the text of the Wilson note was a triple negative, in big type, "No, No, No," with the further caption, "This Is Britain's Answer, Given Without Hesitation to President Wilson's Surprising Note."

"President Wilson's zeal for humanity has evoked a step which will create the bitterest resentment of all those who are fighting, working and dying for the very principles he has at heart," declared the Pall Mall Gazette. "Wilson evidently doesn't realize the insult of suggesting a parallel between the claims of civilized races and the pretensions of the Huns."

Edinburgh Scotsman dismisses the topic of President Wilson by describing him as an "interlocutor for Germany."

The more Britain digests President Wilson's peace the more bitter it feels. That was the conclusion to be drawn from the newspaper editorials in the afternoon papers which went even farther than those of the morning editions in denunciation of the American executive's move. The afternoon press was a unit in its resentfulness. The bitternes was particularly manifested against Wilson's assertion that the objects for which all belligerents were striving were virtually the same. "It is singular indeed," the Evening Standard declared, "that a statesman of Wilson's perspicacity can labour under the delusion that any move of his toward peace would be welcomed by the Allies. The whole facts of the situation should warn him that intervention is not desired. Our feelings against outside action to stop the war before the essential objects have been attained are only that which President Wilson's great predecessor felt when threatened with European intervention in the middle of the Civil war," said the Westminster Gazette.

LONDON, December 22. — The Government's wisdom in allowing President Wilson's note to "soak' twenty-four hours was apparent to-day. It saved a torrent of violent denunciations of the United States. To-day the British press was practically unanimous in declaring President Wilson's intervention. The comments ranged merely from pained surprise to bitter resentment.

WASHINGTON, December 22.—Congress will let the President have a free hand in his attempt to find a common ground upon which European belligerents can meet to formulate plans for a lasting peace.

Both Houses to-day refused to endorse or take any action on the President's action in despatching his now historic notes to Europe's warriors. The Senate for the second time to-day refuse to act on a resolution of approval.

WASHINGTON, December 22.—President Wilson believes this morning that when the Allied nations get over the "first shock" of his peace move, they will feel more inclined to seriously and carefully consider his suggestions. Out of the mass of criticism, at home and abroad, of the President's proposition, this fact stands out clear and plain, the United States Government is determined to remain out of war if possible, but gives warning of the danger o funrestricted activities by belligerents, should the strife continue.

(Continued on Page 13.)

CHRISTMAS RECITAL TO-NIGHT

There Will Be a Recital Given on the New Edison in the Recital Hall of the J. M. GREENE MUSIC CO., LTD., CHARLOTTE STREET This Evening at 8.15, at which a Silver Collection will be taken to Buy Christmas Goodies for the Children at "The Shelter"

PROGRAMME

CHRISTMAS RECITAL TO-NIGHT.

There will be a Recital given on the New Edison, in the Recital Hall of the J. M. Greene Music Company, Limited, Charlotte Street, this evening at 8.15, at which a Silver Collection will be taken to buy Christmas Goodies for the children at "The Shelter":

PROGRAMME.

1. "Oh, Holy Night"—Christmas Song ..... Adam
   Baritone Solo by Thomas Chalmers.
2. "The Dorothy Three-Step" ..... Lampe
   Band
3. "Song of the Chimes" ..... Worrell
   Cornetto Solo, by Brent Collins.
4. "Under the Double Eagle March" ..... Wagner
   Band.
5. "Annie Laurie" ..... Lady John Scott
   Mixed Quartette.
6. "Absent" ..... Metcalf
   Tenor Solo, by Hardy Williamson.
7. "Woodland Songsters" ..... Zeehrer
   American Symphony Orchestra.
8. "Uncle Josh Buys an Automobile" .....
   Monologue by Cal Stewart.
9. "Elma Night" ..... Cruber
   Trio by Spencer, Fish and Chalmers.
10. "Hark, the Herald Angels Sing" ..... Mendelssohn
    Mixed Quartette.
11. "Crown Diamonds Overture" ..... Auber
    Band.
12. "Why do the Nations?" ..... Handel
    Bass Solo by Arthur Middleton.
13. "First Heart Throbs" ..... Eilenberg
    Bells.
14. "Home Sweet Home" ..... Payne
    Mixed Quartette.

GOD SAVE THE KING

HIS WORSHIP MAYOR DUFFUS, Re-elected by Acclamation To-day For 1917.

CAPT. GREER DECORATED

Peterboro' Officer, Son of Dr. T. N. Greer, Receives Military Cross For Attending Wounded Under Fire

OFFICIALLY ANNOUNCED

Another Peterboro officer has won the military cross for bravery at the front. The latest list of Canadian officers to receive decorations, cabled to-day, from London, contains the name of Captain Garnet Greer, of Peterboro, and son of Coorner T. N. Greer, of this city. Captain Greer, who before the war was medical officer of the 3rd Prince of Wales Dragoons, went overseas as medical officer of the 2nd Canadian Battalion, and was after the battle of Ypres transferred to a position with the Army Medical Corps. The official account says: Capt. Greer "attended the wounded for two hours (probably a cable error for two days) and was under fire for eight hours."

Captain Greer is the ninth Peterboro soldier to be decorated in the present war and the third Peterboro officer to receive the military cross. So far Peterboro soldiers have won three military crosses, four military medals, one D.C.M., and one Italian decoration.

CLEVER PICTURES AT THE EMPIRE

Blanche Sweet in "The Dupe" and Two Good Comedies To-night and To-morrow

"The Dupe" is a story of a young country girl who comes to New York seeking a position and is engaged as secretary to Mrs. Strong, a wealthy society woman. Mrs. Strong is involved in a love affair with a young multionaire, Jimmy Regan, who has flirted with her merely as a pastime. She, however, believing he is in love with her is anxious to secure a divorce from her husband but can find no cause.

Jimmy meets the young secretary, and attracted by her sweet, simple manner falls in love with her. He feels that he must have an understanding with Mrs. Strong before he asks Ethel to marry him.

Mrs. Strong gives an entertainment and Ethel who is anxious to look her prettiest before Jimmy and whose simple clothes are old-fashioned, takes money belonging to Mrs. Strong to buy a new dress. The theft is discovered. The girl begs Mrs. Strong not to disgrace her and promises to work until she pays back the money. The thought flashes through Mrs. Strong's mind that this girl can be used to help her get a divorce and promises not to publicly disgrace her if she will help her by permitting herself to be found dining alone with Mr. Strong. The events following form an exciting climax to this interesting story.

A good comedy, "The Detecters," and a special feature comedy "Mutt and Jeff."

TWO 93rd MEN LISTED

Pte. Sidney Allen of Peterboro' and Pte. Wm. Tanner of Apsley Are Officially Reported Wounded—Notes of the 247th Battalion

TO-DAY'S MILITARY NEWS

Two former members of the 93rd Battalion are officially reported wounded to-day, making a total of thirty-eight casualties among the 93rd men since they went overseas.

Mrs. L. Allen, 181 Rubidge street, has received official notice from Ottawa that her husband, Pte. Sidney Ernest Allen, Canadian Infantry, and formerly of the 93rd Battalion, has been admitted to the military hospital at Leicester, on Dec. 13th, suffering from a gun shot wound in the left thigh. Pte. Allen was one of the first half dozen men to join the 93rd Battalion, enlisting in the first week in August, 1915. When the Pioneer Section of the Battalon was formed Pte. Allen was made a member of it and was still in the Pioneers when he went overseas. He went to France in a draft to one of the Canadian battalions at the front. Pte. Allen was born in England, but had been a resident of Peterborough for a long period, and for a number of years was employed by Mr. Walter Stocker. His son joined the 236th Battalion last summer, but has since been discharged as too young for service.

Pte. Wm. Tanner, an Apsley boy, who enlisted in Peterborough in the early autumn of 1915 with the 93rd Battalion, has been wounded and admitted to No. 2 General Hospital, Latreport, on Dec. 15th, according to an official message received by his father, Mr. Chas. Tanner of Chandos to-day. Pte. Tanner was born in Chandos township and had a number of relatives in the ranks of the 93rd Battalion. Pte. Tanner was a member of A. Company, 93rd Battaliqu, and went to France with a draft for the Mounted Rifles.

TO-DAY'S ORDERS.

Peterborough, Dec. 21, 1916

Daily orders by Lieutenant-Colonel Ackerman, commanding 247th Battalion, C. E. F.

Orders for December 22, 1916.

Parade.

All officers, N. C. O's and men, except those specially employed, will parade in the drill hall at 9 a.m. and at 2 p.m.

Duties.

Orderly Officer for Friday, December 22, 1916, Lt. T. Quinn.

Orderly Officer for Saturday, Dec. 23, 1916, Lt. F. J. Hayes.

Next for duty, Lt. C. G. Shaw

Return from B. F. and F. T.

Q. M. Sergeant O'Hara has returned from B. F. and P. T. School, and reported for duty on December 20, 1916.

Recruiting Duty.

Lieutenant Dunsford replaces Lieut. Hayes at Recruiting Room. Lieut. Hayes returns to duty with A Company.

Leave of Absence.

Lieut. Col. C. H. Ackerman is granted leave of absence from Saturday, noon, Dec. 23, 1916, until 8.30 Wednesday morning, Dec. 27, 1916

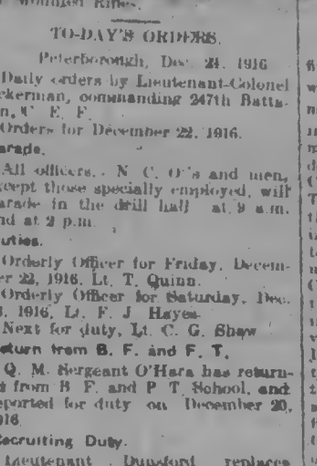
Lieut. R. G. Johnston is granted leave of absence from reveille, December 23, 1916, until noon, Dec. 27, 1916

Lieut. C. G. Shaw is granted leave of absence from Reveille, Dec. 25, 1916, until taps, Dec. 30, 1916

Lieut. T. Quinn is granted leave of absence from Retreat, Jan. 2, 1917, until reveille Jan. 8th, 1917.

R. B. Brooks,
Lieut. and Acting Adjutant
246th Bn., C. E. F.

(Continued on Page 13)



MR. ROBT. HICKS. Re-elected To-day by Acclamation as a Member of the Peterborough Utilities Commission.

Mayor Duffus Re-elected By Acclamation For Second Term

DO NOT OVERLOOK THE CHILDREN'S AID SOCIETY

A number of people have responded to the appeal for gifts on behalf of the Children's Shelter. Nine little children are anticipating a Christmas such as will fall to the lot of the majority of children in this city. Whether these children will have a real old-fashioned Christmas accompanied by a generous visit from Santa Claus will depend largely upon the generosity of the citizens of Peterborough. In any case the children will be well looked after, but then there are a lot of little extras which of necessity are outside the scope of the Society. Persons desirous of assisting in this worthy cause are invited to get in touch with the Shelter. The goods will be called for if you are not in a position to deliver them. Donations of money, toys, etc., will be thankfully received.

SIX MEMBERS OF COUNCIL SUPPORT MOTOR APPARATUS

Majority of the Aldermen, Including Mayor Duffus, Endorse a Proposal to Raise the Present Standard of the Fire Department Equipment---Will Ask the Legislature to Authorize the Expenditure of Ten Thousand Dollars ---Mayor Duffus Appreciates the Opinions Expressed in Yesterday's Examiner By the Manufacturers of the City

FIRE, WATER AND LIGHT COMMITTEE

Peterborough's horse and buggy fire equipment" will be threatened with extermination should the recommendation passed at last night's meeting of the Fire, Water and Light Committee, successfully withstand the ordeal of being submitted to the City Council at a meeting to be held on Tuesday evening next. Without any of the bickering that usually characterizes discussions relating to proposals to improve or supplement the equipment of the Fire Department, the Committee unanimously recommended that notice be given of the Council's intention to include in the city's private bill to be submitted to the Ontario Legislature, a request for permission to issue debentures for the sum of ten thousand dollars with which to make an initial purchase of motor driven fire fighting apparatus, unless the Council decide to take the money out of next year's taxes.

ALL HANDS UP

Not one member of the Committee raised a note of protest against the proposed expenditure. The resolution was carried with all hands up. Those present at the meeting were His Worship Mayor Duffus, Ald. Evans (chairman), Ald. Duncan, Ald. Edgar, Ald. Saunders, and Ald. Stratton.

Ald. Dobbin came in toward the close of the meeting and after casting a baleful eye over the strange looking gathering of converts retired to the solitude of the City Clerk's office. Ald. Dobbin is not a member of the Fire, Water and Light Committee and as a member of the City Council in the past is not credited with being very enthusiastic about spending money on motor driven fire apparatus.

Other members of the City Council who have yet to express their opinion of the Committee's action are Aldermen Langford, Weir and McIntyre. However, with the entire membership of the Fire, Water and Light Committee which in itself constitutes a majority of the Council in favour of the proposal and election day drawing near, it is hardly likely that any of the members will sidestep the issue.

VIEWS APPRECIATED.

Mayor Duffus expressed his appreciation of the views expressed by the manufacturers of the city in last night's issue of the Examiner. He did not approve of the method adopted, claiming that the opinions of the manufacturers as expressed in the Examiner would spread over the entire Dominion and not do any good from the standpoint of insurance and prospective industries which might locate here. This tribute to the circulation of the Examiner was not challenged by any other member of the Committee.

A letter was read from Mr. J. W. Worth of the Bonner-Worth Company and Secretary of the Peterborough Manufacturer's Association, urging on behalf of the Association, that steps be taken to motorize the Peterborough Fire Department and bring it up to a more adequate degree of efficiency.

COMMITTEE APPOINTED.

Ald. Edgar moved that a Committee of two be appointed to look into the matter and if necessary visit cities where motor driven apparatus is in use and report back to the Fire, Water and Light Committee. Ald. Edgar blended ignorance of anything pertaining to motor driven fire apparatus and opined that the best interests of the city would be served if a small committee was delegated with the duty of securing the necessary information with the understanding that the Council would back up their report in a practical way. On motion of Ald. Edgar and Ald. Duncan the Mayor and Chairman of the Fire, Water and Light Committee were selected for this task.

SERIOUS RESPONSIBILITY

Mayor Duffus expressed his approval of the formation of a small committee and stated that he was thoroughly convinced that the horses should be replaced at the earliest possible date. The horses at present in use were ready for the bone-yard and would have to be replaced in event of the fire department retaining the present form of propelling power. The Mayor also pointed out that a serious responsibility rests with those whose duty it is to prepare the report on the matter of motor-driven apparatus and that it is essential to purchase apparatus from firms

(Continued on Page 11.)

A GOOD IDEA

Is to give a pair of glasses to your parents or friends. They are always appreciated. The price is small and the quality as always there; the lenses or mount will be changed if they do not suit. There are also eyeglass chains and auto buttons, magnifyers, opera glasses, pencil, new frames and rose pieces, thermometers, sun glasses, auto goggles, cases readers and many others. Call and see them. Open every evening this week. see Dr Lacey and see better 419 George Street.

Robert Hicks Re-elected Utilities Commissioner and Ald. Dobbin is Unopposed in the Centre Ward—Six Candidates For Board o Education.

THIS MORNING'S ADDRESSES

FOR MAYOR.

Joseph James Duffus, nominated by C. Hewitt, Esqre., M.D., and seconded by Mr. W. H. Moore, K.C.

FOR ALDERMEN.

South Ward.

John Edgar, nominated by Andrew Graham and seconded by Joseph Picard.

William H. Taylor, nominated by H. S. Kingan and seconded by Geo. H. Savigny.

East Ward.

John Smith, nominated by Wm. Scott, seconded by Geo. Record.

George Evans, nominated by Harry Morgan, seconded by John Kylie.

Centre Ward.

F. H. Dobbin, nominated by T. E. Bridgburn, seconded by T. C. Elliott.

North Ward.

Jas. G. Graham, nominated by G. O. Cameron, seconded by Jas. Flynn.

G. Walter Green, nominated by Jos. Wearing, seconded by J. T. Braund.

A. A. McIntyre, nominated by J. J. Hartley, seconded by W. H. Meldrum.

West Ward.

Edgar Worth, nominated by W. G. Morrow, seconded by J. E. L. Goodwill.

G. Walter Green, nominated by R. Hicks, seconded by Wm. Lytle.

FOR UTILITIES COMMISSIONER.

Robert Hicks, nominated by John J. Turner and seconded by W. H. Moore.

FOR BOARD OF EDUCATION.

B. F. Ackerman, nominated by D. D. C. Daw, seconded by Geo. E. Elliott.

Roland Danne, nominated by W. G. Morrow and W. H. Moore.

George N. Gordon, nominated by G. A. Gillespie, M.P.P., seconded by W. G. Morrow.

V. Eastwood, nominated by F. W. Doan and seconded by G. A. Gillespie.

Freemont Walton Doan, nominated by W. H. Bradburn, seconded by R. Hicks.

Albert Allen Fowler, nominated by Wm. Scott and seconded by Daniel Taylor.

The re-election by acclamation of Mayor Duffus this morning was the headliner of the annual nominations for public office. After last year's spirited elections for the Mayoralty the present appointment passed quietly and without the least exciting element. It presents the public appreciation of Mayor Duffus' services and confidence in his administration as Chief Magistrate.

A similar honour was bestowed upon Mr Robert Hicks whose nomination for the vacancy in the Utilities

(Continued on Page 9.)

TO-DAY'S INDEX

Page 1—War news and market reports
Page 2—Serial Story
Page 3—General News
Page 4—The European War
Page 5—Daily Short Story
Page 6—A Message from Mayor Duffus.
Page 7—War and local Military News
Page 8—Editorial
Page 9—Nominations announced
Page 10—Tablet unveiled in St. John's Church.
Page 11—Large quantity of hose destroyed in the big fire
Page 12—Final meeting of Monaghan Council
Page 13—Sport Gossip and Military News
Page 14—Local news

Christmas Entertainment

THE ENTERTAINMENT TENDERED TO THE FAMILIES OF MEN ON SERVICE, IN ENGLAND AND AT THE FRONT, WILL BE GIVEN IN THE OPERA HOUSE, AFTERNOON OF CHRISTMAS DAY. DOORS OPEN AT 2.00 O'CLOCK. TO COMMENCE AT 2.30 O'CLOCK. COME EARLY. PRESENT TICKETS AT DOOR. ADMISSION BY THOSE TICKETS ONLY.

Evening Examiner

Phone—Editorial 1091, Business Office 1600 Private Branch Exchange to all Departments.

The Paid Circulation of The Daily Examiner is Over

5200 COPIES DAILY

SWORN TO AND GUARANTEED

The Daily Examiner, published every lawful evening by the Peterborough Examiner, Limited, Office, 419 George St.

The Weekly Examiner, published Thursday morning.

The subscription price of the Daily Examiner is $4.00 per annum; that of The Weekly, $1.00.

U. S. Representatives.—Stockwell Special Agency, People's Gas Bldg.—Chicago, Tribune Bldg.—New York.

Advertising rates on application.

R. M. Glover, Managing Director.

"Peterborough Presents Possibilities Unsurpassed."

FRIDAY, DEC. 22, 1916

CONGRATULATIONS.

The congratulations the Examiner cordially extends to Mayor Duffus on his unopposed election as Mayor for a second term, include congratulations to the citizens, inasmuch as it is evident that there is popular satisfaction with his past services and popular desire for them for another year. Though deference to the custom that gives a satisfactory Mayor the courtesy of a second term may have operated to a certain extent, yet there is reason to believe that he excellent nature of the services of Mayor Duffus, during the past year, and the feeling that he will give equally good, if not better, service for another term, in very large part explain his election by acclamation. The Examiner wishes Mayor Duffus and the large constituency he represents, a New Year of happiness and prosperity.

The re-election, by acclamation, of Mr. Hicks, as Water Commissioner, is another subject for congratulation, as it is evidence that his work has been satisfactory to the ratepayers, who have had the benefit of his good judgment and business ability, especially demonstrated in the recent improvements of the water supply system, in whose provision and installation he had a large part. The Utilities Commission has large responsibilities confronting it, and the retention of good, sound, business men in its personnel is an obvious essential.

ORDER YOUR

Victrola

FOR CHRISTMAS

The one best sound producing instrument made—makes a superb Christmas Present.

Easy Payments

To suit purchasers will solve the money problem.

You don't need to pay any more at a time than you can afford.

Great variety in Price, Size and style. See them.

Christmas Records

"Hark the Herald Angels Sing"

And many other Christmas Victrola Records are now on sale by us. They make pleasing gifts.

New Victor Records

By Famous Artists

OPEN EVERY EVENING TILL CHRISTMAS

CALL AND SEE THEM

B. H. BRITTON

DISTRICT MANAGER

421 GEORGE STREET, PETERBOROUGH, ONT.

Car of California Seedless Oranges at All Prices

Malaga Grapes California Grapes
Bananas Figs Dates
Grape Fruit Pomegranates
Apples Lemons
Hot House Tomatoes Potatoes
Hot House Lettuce Macaroni
Olives Olive Oil
Choice Groceries for Christmas
Fresh Fish, Haddies, Herrings and Select Oysters

JOE LONGO & CO.

2 Stores (216 George St., Phone 691; 230 Charlotte St., Phone 1013)

FIRE FIGHTING EQUIPMENT.

The need of modern, complete, adequate equipment for the fire department of Peterborough is emphasized in many ways. It is expressed in the opinions of those most interested in the material sense, in the best possible machinery, all round, for fighting fire, our manufacturers. It is expressed, in his address, by Mayor Duffus, who in this regard may be taken to represent the ratepayers of the city. It is expressed in the opinion of all who take the pains to give the subject of fire protection fair consideration.

The Examiner, consistently with its attitude in regard to the improvement and reinforcement of water supply facilities joins in the general demand for improvement in fire fighting effectiveness. We advocated the strengthening of the pumping capacity of the Waterworks, by the installation of an auxiliary steam plant. This is now available for any possible emergency; and, so far as the water supply part of the fire fighting problem is concerned, conditions could not be improved. It is logical to demand that the fire hall equipment should correspond in completeness and efficiency of equipment, to give prompt and effective support to the pumps. Without this, the large expenditure in the main object of providing increased pumping capacity will be money wasted. Complementary to this expenditure is expenditure upon the provision of fire hall equipment. This will cost money, and it will be money well invested. It is an obvious banality to urge that money spent in providing virtually perfect, and effective fire protection, is money well spent. To neglect such precaution would be worse than folly, a false economy comparable to that of a farmer saving money by neglecting to replace a leaky roof and exposing his stored crops to rotting and ruin by rains.

It seems to be the general opinion that the fire department force needs being strengthened in number, providing more men. It is also felt that means should be provided for more speedy access to a fire, a saving of time of a few minutes, sometimes even of seconds, making all the difference between an "inspiring blaze" and a disastrous conflagration. This seems to justify the demand of most of the manufacturers who spoke in yesterdays fire fighting symposium in the Examiner. As Mayor Duffus points out, our large factory buildings are nearly all distant from the fire hall, and this makes the need for speedy means of reaching a fire more urgent. The backbone of Peterborough are our industries. The destruction of any one of them by fire would be a civic calamity, and, if it is due to defective and inadequate equipment, it is a reproach and a crime against ourselves.

The question is a large one—in the matter of importance, in the matter of right decision as to the best equipment demanded and in the matter of expense. But if we give earnest attention to the matter, if we get the best advice; if we are willing to provide the best and meet a fairly liberal expenditure to secure it, a satisfactory solution of the problem is easily possible.

It will not do to let the subject grow cold. We must strike while the iron is hot, while the question is obtruded upon us and its importance so generally recognized. The first work of the City Council of 1917 will probably be in dealing with this question.

It appears that immediate action has been taken. At a meeting of the Fire, Water and Light Committee, last night, action was taken in a way that shows that the Aldermen are seized of the importance of the matter of fire protection improvement. Not only was there singular unanimity of sentiment, but it was translated into action. Action was taken to procure the 1,500 feet of hose needed, and, more than that, a proposal was made and adopted without a dissenting voice, to take steps to secure legislation to authorize the issue of debentures to the amount of $10,000 to be used in providing needed firefighting equipment, this, it is understood, to include two motor-driven trucks. This proposal will probably pass the Council at its special meeting on Tuesday night, next, for the six out of the ten comprising the Council voted in favour of it. By the way, the power of publicity was demonstrated. The opinions of leading manufacturers, printed in The Examiner yesterday—unanimous in favour of improved fire-fighting apparatus, evidently had their influence upon aldermanic opinion, one of the aldermen, who were opposed to, or lukewarm in, the matter of incurring large expenditure, being the one to name the substantial figure considered necessary to provide our Fire Department with the needed equipment to put it upon a satisfactory basis.

HOOPER'S REPAIR SHOP

NEVER TOO LATE TO MEND.

WHEN YOUR BICYCLE NEEDS DOCTORing, cutlery needs sharpening or grinding, sewing machine needs overhauling, household broiler needed or small brass or iron turning done, we know how. Gasoline engine work a specialty. 139 Charlotte street, opposite Separate Home.

PATRIOTIC LEAGUE CALL TO NATIONAL SERVICE IN THE NATIONAL INTEREST

The Speakers' Patriotic League is initiating a campaign, the object being to help in carrying out successfully the project for the National Registration which is to be taken during the first week in January, under the auspices of the Dominion National Service Board. The League is asking for the cooperation of the representative patriotic committees throughout Ontario, and in a letter which is being sent to the officers of these committees the following statement is made:

"While there may be differences of opinion as to the best method of taking the census, there can be no two opinions as to the desirability of its succeeding to the greatest extent possible. Everybody who has the welfare of the country at heart agrees that our great need at present is the organizing of our resources. Some favour one method of accomplishing this and some another, but all wish to attain the same result. We find that the method has already been decided on, and we must, therefore, bend our energies to bring about the best results possible. The crisis is grave, the country needs the information asked for on the cards to be sent out, the Government has required it, and everyone must hope that it will be forthcoming without any further steps. We, therefore, feel that it is incumbent upon us to make as good a showing as possible in our Province, and we trust that the showing will be as good as it was in the campaign for patriotic funds and recruiting. We recognize that as any success attained in reference to these campaigns was only possible through the splendid work done by the local committees, so any success which we may hope for in this campaign can be attained only through the same source. We are, therefore, again calling for your assistance."

The letter goes out under the signature of Sir John S. Hendrie, the Honorary President of the League, Sir John M. Gibson, Hon. W. H. Hearst, Sir Edmund Osler, Mr. N. W. Rowell and Col. C. A. Sweny, Vice-Presidents, and Mr. Justice Masten, Chairman of the Executive.

Canadian Bank of Commerce

Notwithstanding that the institution carried a larger proportion of its liabilities in the form of cash reserve, and in spite of the steadily rising expense of conducting the banking business in general, the directors of the Bank of Commerce have been able to present the stockholders with an annual report showing net profits $87,000 in excess of last year. Net results and appropriations or deductions compare as follows with 1915:

	1916	1915
Net profits	$2,439,000	$2,352,035
P. C. on Capital and Rest	8.56	8.25
Deductions—
Depreciation		$1,000,000
Circulation Tax	147,288	122,806
Pension Fund	80,000	80,000
Patriotic and other funds	71,700	5,000
	$ 298,988	$1,207,806
Dividends	$1,800,000	1,800,000

After providing for the dividend and bonus and for the various appropriations, there remained in 1916, a surplus of $340,000, which served to bring the profit and loss balance up to $902,000, a figure which has been only once exceeded in the bank's recent history. With reference to the appropriations for the Canadian Patriotic and other relief funds, it should be noted that there was in 1914 an appropriation of $50,000 for Patriotic Fund, the amount presumably being paid over during the fiscal year ended November, 1915. On the present occasion there is also a grant of $50,000; and the items making up the balance of the $71,000 shown in the table were: British Red Cross, $5,000; British Sailors' Relief, $5,000, Northern Ontario Fire Relief and War Hospitals, $11,700.

No appropriation was required in 1916 for depreciation of securities, etc., last year's deduction of $1,000,000 for this purpose apparently bringing the securities down to current values. In this connection it is to be noted that the high prices of agricultural products and the great activity of special lines of industry, have served to put the current loans and discounts of the banks in general on a better footing. Commercial failures are not so much in evidence; the large payments by farmers on account of obligations have improved the position of many classes of borrowers.

During the year just ended the banking power of the Commerce expanded to the extent of roundly $38,000,000, mainly through increase of deposits. The non-interest-bearing deposits rose from $53,900,000 to $62,000,000, and the interest-bearing deposits from $141,500,000 to $167,000,000. That so large a proportion of the total gain occurred in connection with the interest-bearing balances is a satisfactory feature. These deposits as a rule comprise the savings balances and special deposits of corporations, etc., and are generally of a more fixed or permanent nature than the demand deposits. Recognizing the times as peculiarly uncertain and unsettled, the management of the bank wisely reserved the bulk of the new deposit money in the form of cash and immediately available assets. The aggregate of the liquid reserve as at November 30, 1916, was approximately $129,000,000, as against $101,000,000 so carried at the end of the preceding fiscal year. This represents 56 per cent. of the deposit liability, and roundly half of the total liabilities to the public. Included in the quick assets as at the year-end, is the item of $18,500,000 in British treasury bills—representing part of the share of the Bank of Commerce in the credit granted by the associated banks to the Imperial Munitions Board to facilitate settlements for British purchases of war material in the Dominion.

The unusual strength of the cash reserves carried, did not necessitate liquidation of the Bank's commercial loans—commercial loans and discounts in Canada, as at November, 1916, stand at $134,000,000, against $131,000,000 a year ago. Although the marketing at high prices of the huge western wheat crop of 1915 (which was in process during most of the fiscal year) would lead to a very considerable voluntary reduction of customers' liabilities, the new loans and credits granted to other parties have fully offset these payments.

In expert circles the opinion prevails that the current year will offer numerous opportunities of employing bankers' funds at remunerative rates. There will apparently be extensive loans required by the Dominion and British Governments; and the continued activity of the industries specializing in war work should also lead directly and indirectly to large demands for credits. Owing to its strong reserves the Commerce is in good position for participating fully in prospective business of this nature. But notwithstanding the improved outlook bankers generally are very cautious in the matter of predicting higher earnings. Expenses are high and taxation, not only here in the Dominion, but also in England and the United States, shows a strong tendency to increase. Under the circumstances, it is most creditable to maintain profits at the level of the preceding year.

Wholesaler Must Not Dictate Retail Price

This Is Position Taken by the Minister of Labour—Case in Western Ontario.

OTTAWA, Dec. 22.—Hon. T. W. Crothers, Minister of Labour, takes the position that a wholesaler has no right to dictate the price at which a retailer shall sell his commodities. A case in point has arisen in Ottawa. A local dealer was refused a supply of sugar because he lowered the price set. When the matter was reported to the department the producer in western Ontario declared the information "absolutely false." The original letter however, intimated that no more sugar would be supplied because of the cut in price. The Minister has written to the refiners, enclosing the letters and demanding an explanation.

"I do not wish to take further action until you have had an opportunity of explaining the situation while you can," says the Minister.

MAYOR DID NOT OWN THE HORSE

For some time past rumour has connected Mayor Duffus with a horse purchased by the Fire Department, some time ago, and which is alleged to have a speed record of thirty-five miles an hour. At last night's meeting of the Fire, Water and Light Committee the Mayor asserted that he never owned the animal and had nothing whatever to do with the transaction concerning the Fire Department. Mayor Duffus said he was willing to take an affidavit to that effect.

NOTICE

TAXES FOR NORTH MONAGHAN.

NOTICE is hereby given that all taxes due to the Township of North Monaghan will be received on Saturday, Dec. 23rd, without any percentage or costs being added. After that date 5 per cent. will be added to all unpaid taxes.

Taxes may be paid at the Bank of Ottawa on Saturdays, from 9 a.m. to 2 p.m.

Norman Mencrief,
Tax Collector.
R. R. No. 3; 'Phone 989 R 2-4
6d-141

Tenders For Ashes

SEALED TENDERS addressed to Ald. J. Saunders, Chairman of the Property Committee," and endorsed "Tender for Ashes," will be received at the office of the undersigned up to 4 o'clock p.m., on Thursday, the 28th day of December, 1916, for the ashes from the incinerator during 1917. Particulars may be obtained from the Sanitary Inspector. A cash deposit or accepted bank cheque for the amount of the tender must accompany each tender. The highest or any tender not necessarily accepted.

S. R. ARMSTRONG,
City Clerk.
2d

Turkeys To-Morrow 33c Pound

At Alex Gordon's

In the course of shipping our turkeys, we reserved the choice birds for our home trade, and now have the finest lot of Christmas turkeys to be found anywhere, select young stock now at 33c a pound. Also selected geese and chickens, and a splendid premier barnyard lot, and

A. Gordon,
461 George St.
Phone 34
Open To-Night

LOST

LOST—SMALL PURSE CONTAINING A sum of Money, between Cryderman's and Bentley's, on Thursday night. Finder leave at Examiner 3d-146-530

SOLDIER'S WIFE LOST A CHEQUE AND purse Wednesday evening. Finder please leave at Examiner or at 63 Victoria st. 3d-145-513

LOST—THURSDAY BETWEEN HARVEY and Simcoe streets on George, a telephone lineman's test set. Finder please communicate with Bell Telephone Co. 3d-146-523

LOST — PARCEL CONTAINING pair slippers. Will the lady who picked them up in Fair's Wednesday, kindly return to Examiner. 2d-145-526

LOST—ON FRIDAY, DECEMBER 15TH, $110 in ten dollar bills rolled in handkerchief, tied with navy blue silk thread. Belonged to a soldier's wife to pay funeral expenses. Reward if either at Examiner or 872 Water street. 3d-144-472

FOUND

FOUND—ON CORNER CHARLOTTE AND George, black purse with sum of money. Owner may have same by applying at Police Station, proving property and paying for advertisement. 2d-145-517

FOR SALE

CANARIES, SINGERS FOR SALE—F. Rathbone, 709 George 3d-144-486

FOR SALE—LARGE CANARY BREEDING Cage (9 apartments). Apply 366 McDonnel Street. 3d-146-539

CLEARING OUT SALE OF GENT'S SUITS, overcoats, several good gent's fur collars, JAY'S store, Aylmer street. 6d-d

FOR SALE—CANADA MALLEABLE steel ranges and repairs. 206 Sherbrooke street. 'Phone 1686. 26d-133-228

FOR SALE—CANARY BIRDS, GOOD SINGers. Apply 344 Simcoe. 3d-145-517

FOR SALE—BABY'S WHITE CUTTER IN good condition. Apply 739 Water street. 3d-146-515

FOR SALE—SOLID OAK BUFFET, Almost new. Apply 118½, Hunter street. Call during day time. 3d-145-510

FOR SALE—COOK STOVE, SIDE BOARD chairs, beds, etc., also 6 hens. Apply 560 Albert street 3d-145-511

HOUSE AND LARGE LOT FOR SALE, 67 Morrow Street, comfortable house, good bargain for quick sale. Apply to H. Moore, 483 Albert Street. 6d-144-492

UNDERWOOD NO. 5 LATEST MODEL, two color ribbon, back spacer. For sale cheap to a quick buyer Apply to Box 4661 Examiner. 26d-108-4661

CHEAP LOTS—IN BLOCK N, ASHBURNham, on Dufferin, Roger, Elgin streets; $6 per foot, $10 down, $10 per quarter till paid for. Interest only 6 per cent. Land dry, sightly, healthy, also on McDonnel St., Peterborough. Apply to Dumble & Johnston. tues-wed-91-917

FOR SALE—TWO FRAME HOUSES AND two bricks, good warm comfortable houses between Romaine and Wemott on west side of Park street, will be sold cheap in making small cash payment and monthly payments thereafter. Apply to Robert Nicholls, 97 Park street south. 3d-144-491

TO RENT

GOOD OFFICE OR STORE WITH WATER connection and heated, possession at once. Apply 185 Charlotte St. d-tf-26-279

TO RENT—MODERN HOUSE, ALL CONveniences, very central. Apply Examiner Office for address. 26d-1-4-233

FOR RENT—NO. 167 WATER STREET, suitable for store or office, immediate possession. Apply 437 George street. d-tf-46

FOR RENT—STORE No. 173½ SIMCOE ST. Immediate possession. Apply 437 George Street. d-tf.

MIDDLE AGED MAN WITH LITTLE GIRL would like to get a good housekeeper, between 30 and 35 years with view to marriage. Apply Thos Sanders, Bethesboro P O 2d-146-1-w-522

HELP WANTED—MALE

MEN WANTED—$40 PER MONTH AND board. Apply Cavanagh, 359 Queen St 3d-145-504

HELP WANTED—Female

WANTED—TWO GIRLS APPLY 330 George street 3d-144-481

COOK WANTED—APPLY 336 McDONNEL street 3d-144-487

WANTED—A YOUNG GIRL TO ASSIST in general housework. Apply 437 Stewart street 3d-144-473

WANTED—GOOD GENERAL SERVANT AT once Apply 264 Stewart street. 12d-142-445

WANTED—A GIRL FOR GENERAL housework Apply 112 Aylmer street 3d-146-522

WANTED—GOOD CAPABLE GIRL. Apply Mrs. Dickson Hall, 26 Dennistoun Ave 12d-140-379

GIRLS WANTED—FOR POWER SEWING machines to work in Elec Department light, clean work. Experienced operators preferred. J. J. Turner & Son 3d-146-520

WANTED

WANTED—THREE OR FOUR ROOMS suitable for light housekeeping. Apply stating terms to Box 479 Examiner. 3d-144-476

WANTED—GOOD CAPABLE WOMAN good wages. Apply 21 Crescent street 3d-144-485

GRAND OPERA HOUSE Christmas Night at 8.15

The Tiffany Films Corporation Presents
DAVID BELASCO'S Powerful Story of the South
"THE HEART OF MARYLAND"
With America's Divine Emotional Actress
MRS. LESLIE CARTER
In the Role She Created and Made Famous.
—ALSO TWO OTHER SURPRISE REELS—
Prices—Reserved Seats 25c and 50c. Gallery 25c.
Seat Sale opens Friday morning 10 o'clock. Note new opening hour.

Complete Change To-day

The Girl From Frisco

ROYAL THEATRE

To-day we present The Gun Runners, a two reel episode in grandest drama ever produced

The Girl From Frisco

Thrilling two reel detective story

The Avenger

Strong Modern Drama

The Seventh Day

Selig's World's Pictorial

Good Comedies

The Guilty Ones

And others

Special For Children

During the holidays to enable children to get good, clean, cheap amusement, they will be admitted to Saturday Matinees for 5c.

Prices 10c

Sat. Evenings....15c

Which covers War Tax

PARAMOUNT EMPIRE THEATRE Fri. & Sat. Dec 21 & 22 PARAMOUNT

Daniel Frohman Presents Blanche Sweet in

THE DUPE

By Hector Turnbull

Also good comedy THE DETECTERS

Also to-day and to-morrow Mutt and Jeff

THE STRAND THEATRE

Presents a thrilling episode of the IRON CLAW entitled,

THE STROKE OF TWELVE

Also a well staged three part society drama entitled

THE WOLF UNMASKED

An interesting number of the British Gazette, and good comedies

Charles Chaplin in Dough and Dynamite

Lonesome Luke in Luke's Lost Lamb

10c Which Includes war stamp 10c

Holiday and Saturday Evening 15c 10c

TIZ-IT THEATRE

Maria Walcamp and Jack Holt, in the 6th episode of LIBERTY

The Desert of Lost Souls

Imp Feature THE DOCTOR OF THE AFTERNOON ARM

Big U feature, a smashing baseball comedy, Oh What a Whopper

Nestor Comedy Love Had Brass Buttons

Vaudeville for Fri. and Sat., The Jones Children in a new, first-class act

Monday a special programme including The Girl And The Game

VULCANIZING

NOW IS THE TIME TO HAVE YOUR Vulcanizing done. Reliable steam vulcanizing and tube repairing done promptly.—THE MANNING GARAGE, 339 Water Street. 'Phone 1347. d-tf-97-4064

HAIR DRESSING

MANICURING, HAIR DRESSING AND massaging. Hair bricks, switches, up-to-date line of hair ornaments. Make an appointment now.—MRS. E. SMITH, Opera House Block. 'Phone 1232 146-15-M

MONUMENTAL WORK

WE RESPECTFULLY SOLICIT YOUR ORder for Cemetery Work of any kind. Latest equipment; first class Scotch granite cutters.—Coughlin's Monumental Works, 254 Hunter Street. 'Phone 1241 d-tf-46-4066

PATENTS

GORDON & WIDDIFIELD, Barristers Solicitors Patent applications receive special attention Offices, Cor George and Hunter streets

H. J. S. DENNISON, 18 WEST KING ST. Toronto: Experts in Patents Trade marks, designs Copyrights and Infringements. Write us for Booklet. d-tf-4

BABCOCK & SONS

Patents, Trade Marks, Designs Registered Patent Attorneys. Established 1877. Formerly Patent Office Examiner. Master of Patent Laws. Representatives in all foreign countries Write for book, "Patent Protection." Tells All about and how to obtain Patents 70 St. James St., Montreal. Branches Ottawa, Washington

SOCIETIES

CHILDREN'S AID SOCIETY of Peterborough City and County For the care of neglected and ill-treated children C. A. G. SPENCE Assistant Secretary and Inspector 131 Simcoe Street. 'Phone 1344 Office Hours 2 till 5 Children for Adoption.

SECOND-HAND STORES

FURNITURE, STOVES, and Household Goods sold on Commission, Exchanged or Bought for Cash. Storage room to let at reasonable rates.

M. T. BUTCHER,
346 & 348 Water St

A. CHERNIKOFF

Will Buy and Sell New and Second-Hand Goods of all Kinds. Best Prices Paid. Big Bargains in Cook Stoves and all kinds of Heaters at Chernikoffs. Men's Suits and Overcoats at less than the cost of making.

433-435 George Street 'Phone 120

SECOND HAND

FURNITURE, STOVES, etc.

Bought and sold. Entire Household Furnishings or pieces bought. We know the value. Telephone and we will call.

S. COHEN 180 CHARLOTTE ST.; PHONE 1360

Are You Giving

An Afternoon Tea?
A Formal Dinner?
A Breakfast?
A Luncheon?
A Reception?

Then place your catering in experienced, reliable hands and be assured of a successful entertainment.

OUR TEA ROOMS

Always ready for dainty Luncheons, with Hot Tea Coffee, Chocolate, Borril etc. and a special menu.

T. H. Hooper

3 Stores { 327 George, Phone 169 / 613½ George, Phone 1342 / Geo. & Dublin, Phone 291

Sanitary Plumbing For Everybody

Ald. Edgar's Scheme Receives Further Impetus at Last Night's Meeting of Fire, Water and Light Committee

At last night's meeting of the Fire, Water and Light Committee it was moved by Ald. Edgar and seconded by Ald. Saunders, that notice be given of the intention of the Council to apply for legislation to authorize the Council or Utilities Commission to advance money for place sanitary plumbing in houses when requested to do so by the owners, or when so requested to have such plumbing installed and to pay for it and with authority to the Council to authorize the issue of debentures to provide the funds necessary, the cost to be repaid with interest or sufficient to pay interest and sinking fund, in quarterly instalments or payments, and to provide such payments shall be a lein on the land in the same manner as taxes, and to be collectable in the same manner as taxes if not paid.

Many a selfmade man tries to blame the job on his wife.

Open Evenings of Thursday, Friday and Saturday

SHOP EARLY!

Better Choice Better Service

Barrie's Limited

Furriers and Ladies' Ready-to-Wear

THE HOUSE OF THOUGHTFUL GIFTS

Our Gift Line has grown remarkably this year. You will find departures that are extremely interesting. We have made your Gift Problem our Gift Problem.

The lasting and therefore satisfying quality of our designing, manufacturing and selecting in Furs, Silk Dresses, Silk Waists, Skirts and Silk Sweaters make our productions unusually distinct and delightful. They are not fads—they last. In them are originality of thought, beauty and utility cleverly combined. Their money value is not the important thing—even those costing the least mean much.

Specials for Christmas in Furs.....$2.00 to $500
Specials for Christmas in Dresses .. ..$10 to $60
Specials for Christmas in Blouses ..... $1.50 to $20
Specials for Christmas in Silk Sweaters. ..$15 to $18
Specials for Christmas in Skirts ..... $3.50 to $20

Our range of Blouses and Dresses is known to be the choicest in the City.

Barrie's Limited FURRIERS

THE BARRIE BUILDING

Next Custom House, George St. Phone 340

A. A. FOWLER

— FOR —

BOARD of EDUCATION

New Blood Means New Energy

In selecting your candidates for the Board of Education, keep in mind that the keynote of progress is renewed life and vigor in the executive bodies that have to handle the business of this growing City.

In offering myself as candidate for a position on this board, I do so realizing that only a man's best service will meet the growing need for practical business methods in this most important branch of the City's business. My record as a business man for the last fourteen years and a lifelong resident in Peterborough, residing in East City for twenty-five years, is well known to a large number of our citizens, and I trust is sufficient evidence of my ability to warrant your support in my present candidature.

Should I be elected, I promise to weigh most carefully all matters involving expenditure of the City's finances, and to countenance only strictly business methods in undertaking any work being handled by this Board.

Soliciting the support of every progressive voter, I am,

Yours for progress,

A. A. FOWLER

Mayor Duffus Re-elected By Acclamation

(Continued from Page 7.)

Commission was unopposed. His election by acclamation is a further testimony of the ratepayers' regard for the faithful, efficient and far-seeing stewardship of the Utilities Commission to which triumvirate Mr. Hicks was elected three years ago.

An Election Here.

Six candidates were nominated for the four vacancies on the Board of Education, and it is expected that all six names will be presented to the electors on New Year's day. Messrs. Ackerman, Donne, Gordon and Eastwood are present members of the Board and Messrs. Doan and Fowler are prospective new blood.

In spite of the first real snow storm of the winter there was a fairly large attendance of ratepayers in the Council Chamber when the nominations for the Mayoralty, Utilities Commission and Board of Education closed at eleven o'clock. They were citizens who have always shown an active interest in public matters the few reliables who exert themselves when the rest of the community is content to cast their ballots on election day and forthwith forget civic matters until another new year rolls around.

Mayor Duffus' Appreciation.

City Clerk Armstrong presiding at this morning's public meeting first called upon Mayor Duffus who expressed his deep appreciation of the honour conferred upon him, and promised that in so far as it lay in his power he would endeavour during the coming year to follow a policy of economy consistent with the best interests of Peterborough. He reviewed the more important civic problems and works that are under way or pending, and particularly dwelt upon the necessity of a more vigorous campaign of advertising the city's resources and and advantages with a view to securing new industries. His Worship discussed the Fire Department, agreeing that its apparent needs should receive careful attention. To motorize two or three pieces of traction apparatus would cost some money, and the Council did not propose to submit this to the ratepayers. Mayor Duffus believed it inadvisable to entirely dispense with horses. In Toronto and other cities he had visited he had noticed that about half the appliances were drawn by horses.

His Worship touched upon the problem of surface drainage which would inevitably have to be dealt with, but might be laid aside for a time. The sewage disposal plant and the phases of its progress were also referred to. The Hunter street bridge might suddenly appear as an immediate problem influenced by the Quaker Oats Company's action, the Street Railway or the Government's aid. Perhaps it would be unfair under existing conditions to ask the Government to spend any money on a new bridge here, but if the city could secure an appropriation this question might be well worth going into.

The footbridge at the C.P.R. would be completed early in the year, a facility that would be appreciated by the South Ward and East City residents.

Mr. Hicks' Address.

After thanking the citizens for his re-election, Mr. Hicks reviewed in an interesting manner the work of the Utilities Commission during the past three years. He had adopted the attitude of assisting the Commission in every way possible and intended to maintain that method in future work. The revenue of the Water Works Department has grown from $62,000, in 1913, to practically $81,000, this year. The figures were submitted as follows:

1913—$59,000.
1914—$55,000.
1915—$66,000.
1916—$81,000.

Three years ago, two particular problems confronted the Commission. One was the provision of an auxiliary pumping plant, the other, the laying of new force mains through the west and south wards. The second problem was first grappled with. At the outset it was decided to install a steam pumping unit of three and one-half million gallons capacity. The Commission questioned whether this was building for the future, and increased the capacity to six million gallons. It has since been installed, costing over $70,000, and is ready for service. At the time of the Quaker Oats fire the Superintendent at the station had 100 pounds of steam pressure up, and had another fire affected the water pumps the auxiliary could have been called into service without any difference noticeable to the people or the firemen. It would have accomodated 12 to 15 lines of hose without any reduction of pressure.

Mr. Hicks then reviewed the work of laying the force main which would doubtless be completed down the Boundary road next year. A beginning has already been made in providing protection to Auburn and this would be extended in the Spring.

Discussing the hydro-electric department of the Commission's responsibilities, Mr. Hicks stated that there was a surplus of $8,170 last year. In addition $7,400 was written off for depreciation of appliances; and $8,000 added to the sinking fund.

The death of Mr. J. C. Anderson and the appointment of Mr. G. Henderson were events mentioned by the Commissioner, who said he hoped that early in the year Mr. Henderson's appointment would be made permanent. It indicated the action of the Commission in advancing one of the staff to the vacancy. The head of each department has the responsibility of appointing his assistants and general staff. Hence, there is nothing to be gained by applicants for such positions approaching the Commissioners.

Street Lighting.

Mr. Hicks finally discussed future improvement of the street lighting system. The Commission has prepared plans for the installment of nitrogen filled lamps, which will be submitted to the Council. It may be laid over on account of the high prices of materials.

If the Commission takes over the street railway and gas plant as public utilities, the Peterborough Commission will be one of the most comprehensive in the Province.

COME IN AND SEE OUR BEAUTIFUL SELECTION OF CHRISTMAS PRESENTS

IT "MAKES A DIFFERENCE" WHERE YOUR PRESENTS COME FROM. YOU WANT TO SEND GIFTS YOU KNOW WILL BE LIKED. WHEN ANYBODY GETS A PRESENT THAT COMES FROM OUR STORE THEY KNOW THE QUALITY IS GOOD.

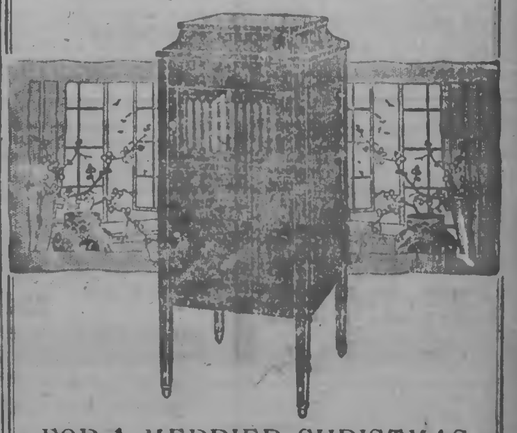
THERE IS ONLY ONE MORE DAY BEFORE CHRISTMAS TO DO YOUR BUYING. COME WITH THE CROWDS AS THE SELECTION IS STILL GOOD, AND PRICES VERY REASONABLE.

H. J. ZACKS

"BETTER GOODS FOR LESS"

422 GEORGE STREET OPP. EXAMINER

THE Aeolian-Vocalion



FOR A MERRIER CHRISTMAS

If you like vocal music, the astoundingly perfect reproductions by the Vocalion will thrill you like the original voices of the great singers who have given their art to the record makers.

And when you have tried the Graduola—when you have PLAYED your favourite records, modulating each tone, varying each measure as you choose, with this remarkable expression device—you will realize that this feature alone grants the Vocalion a distinction and a capacity for musical pleasure-giving unequaled by any instrument of the phonograph type.

OPEN EVENINGS

Frank Whitehouse District Representative

Crown Buildings, Ground Floor, 118 Hunter St. Phone 981

Get Your Boots For The Holidays at Feinbergs'

FOR

$4.29

FOR LADIES — This is positively the greatest value ever offered in boots for $4.29. These boots are the new ones and are in shades of tobacco brown, black, white, and some pleasing combinations such as champagne tops and patent vamps, and others that will please. Doller below the regular price 4.29

GIRLS' BOOTS — We will sell for to-morrow only a girls' boot which would be appreciated as a gift and would wear well. It is a lace boot, patent vamp and dull kid uppers with a neat perfor, sized toe, in sizes 11 to 1 only. Per 1.98

FOR MEN—Who have been wanting new boots, now is your chance. These men's boots are all goodyear welted. Some with oak-tanned leather soles, others with rubber and fibre soles and heels. There are gun metals, velours, glace kids and chocolate tops, with all shapes of toes and heels in the lot. While they last 4.29

MEN'S SLIPPERS—Everett style, in black and chocolate, with light soles and heels. While they last which won't be long, at... 89c

Other Specials in Ladies' Spats, Children's Moccasins, Etc.

WE WISH ONE AND ALL A MERRY XMAS.

FEINBERGS'

283 George Street :-: :-: New Lundy Block

BACK AFTER AN ABSENCE OF 32 YEARS

Mr. John Blanco and youngest son, Hurley, are visiting in Lakefield, the guests of Mr. Blanco's sister, Mrs. Pearson. Senior, after an absence of thirty-two years. Mr. Blanco was born in Smith Township and removed to Kansas, U.S.A., thirty-two years ago. He resided in Kansas for some twelve years, and in North Dakota four years, after which he moved to Sanford, Manitoba, about twenty miles south of Winnipeg, where he and three sons farm eighs hundred and twenty acres of land.

Mr. Blanco will remain in this vicinity about three months. Needless to say he notices a big difference after an absence of thirty-two years.

The Ford Car As A Christmas Gift

Encourage the Christmas gift idea and help to bring joy and happiness to the thousands of people who want Ford cars.

They have a special appeal to the man who wishes to make a useful gift, one that is sure of being appreciated by his wife or to some member of his family. Even if the weather conditions and the roads apparently are not suitable for use of a motor car at this time, the gift is just as much appreciated, because the recipient then is sure of having just the very thing needed to make life worth living and has time to plan many pleasant outings as soon as conditions permit.

The wide-awake proprietor of the Duffus Garage, Simcoe St., doesn't let many opportunities get away from him, so that it is no surprise that orders for Ford cars have recently been booked with delightful frequency.

Mr. Duffus has come through the year in the big civic chair with considerable satisfaction to himself and the ratepayers, but he never relaxed his grip on the Ford car. Conscious of duty properly performed, he keeps on smiling, and declares that no valuable gift can compare with the gift of a Ford car.

The Spirit of the Old Time Carol Singers Lives Again in the

For Christmas Come in and Hear Them

The J. M. Greene Music Co., Limited

Charlotte Street

FIRE SALE

Owing to the recent fire in our show room, thereby slightly damaging some of our fixtures, we have decided to place our entire stock of Fixtures and Portable Lamps on sale Dec. 18th to Jan. 1st.

This stock, as is well known consisted of many beautiful and exclusive designs, and owing to the necessity of repairing and remodelling our show room, we are sacrificing our profits. We can assure you of a reduction from 35 to 50%.

ALEXANDER & MILLER

Electrical Contractors, 438 Geo. St

Dawson Bros.

GROCERS

Cor. George & London Sts.

DON'T DELAY Placing Your Christmas Order With Us For Your Christmas Fruit

Currants, re-cleaned, pound ..... 25c.
Valencia raisins, choice, pound 10c
Mixed peel, lemon, orange, citron, pound ..... 25c.
Fresh dates, pound ..... 10c.
Cooking figs, 2 pound ..... 25c.
Allen's famous apple cider, per gal. ..... 60c.
Home-made mince meat, pound 15c
Cranberries for your Christmas turkey, quart ..... 15c.

SPECIAL.

Swift's premium bacon, put up expressly for boys at the front. Packed in sealtite and waterproof paper. Each piece sells at $1.00
White beans, fancy, picked, 2 pound. ..... 25c.
Prunes, large and meaty, 2 pound 25c.
Malaga grapes, pound ..... 20c.
Lemons, large and juicy, dozen 40c.
Auto brand salmon extra value 15c.
Turnips. We have a limited amount of real choice turnips. Your goose will taste better if you serve turnips. Per bag ..... 60c.
Oranges, large, sweet and juicy Doz., 30c., 40c. and ..... 60c.

Prompt Delivery . . 'Phone 1620

TABLET UNVEILED TO THE MEMORY OF A BRAVE SOLDIER

Impressive Service at St. John's Church Last Night When Mural Tablet Commemorating Death of Lieut. Stanley Fife Was Unveiled

A VERSE FROM BROOKE

The unveiling of the engraved brass mural tablet placed in St. John's church to the memory of Lieutenant Gordon Stanley Fife, P.P.C.L.I., born in Peterborough Feb. 15, 1889, killed in action June 2, 1916, took place last night during the Evensong of St. Thomas, Apostle and Martyr, whose festival is held on December 21. In addition to the name and dates, the following verse from Brooke's poems is inscribed on the tablet:

"These laid the world away, poured out the red
Sweet wine of youth, gave up the years to be
Of work and joy, and that unhoped serene
That men call age, and those that would have been
Their sons, they gave their immortality."

The beautiful liturgical evensong over, a procession of white robed choristers singing Wesley's hymn, "Let saints on earth on concert sing," preceded Canon Cornish to the tablet, who gave an inspiring address, pointing out a lesson from the life and death of Lieut. Fife. At the ascription, "In the name of the Father, and of the Son and of the Holy Ghost," Mr. W. F. Johnston unveiled the tablet by removing the Canadian flag.

The dedication prayer was as follows:

O Lord Jesus Christ, Son of the living God, bless what we do in unveiling this tablet to the memory of Gordon Stanley Fife. Thy servants; direct and bless our efforts by Thy divine presence, as we gather together in Thy house of prayer to dedicate this memorial tablet to the honour of Thy great name and service. Accept, O Lord, this service at our hands, and bless it with such success as may most tend to Thy glory, and the inspiration of those who see it, through Jesus Christ, our Blessed Lord and Saviour.

The Benediction was then pronounced and the procession moved to the vestry, while Mr. R. J. Dewey softly played on the organ, "I Know That My Redemer Liveth."

All during the day and immediately after service, people gathered round the tablet, and the inscription thereon appeared to appeal very strongly to them.

DUMMER COUNCIL RE-ELECTED TO-DAY

WARSAW, Dec. 22.—Dummer Council was re-elected by acclamation as the result of this morning's nominations, as follows:

Reeve — C. J. Darling.

Councillors—Albert Webster, Jas. Clifford, Garfield Crowe, David Nixon.

Porter S. White's Holiday Bill-Of-Fare

Good Things to Eat at Moderate Prices. Shop Early. Store Open Evenings. Good Service. Prompt Deliveries.

Seedless Oranges, per doz, 30c., 40c. 30c.
Deliciously Sweet Florida Oranges, 25c. 40c.
Grape Fruit, 3 for 25c. and 4 for 25c.
Choice Malaga Grapes, per lb. 25c.
Tangarines, doz. 30c.
Apples, including Jonathan and McIntosh for table use.
Extra Fine Dates and Figs, per lb. 15c.
Selected Malaga Raisins, per package 30c.
In cluster per lb. 25c.
A special assortment of Mixed Nuts, including Walnuts, Brazils, Almonds, Pecans, Filberts and Peanuts, per lb. 25c.
Special assortment of Christmas Mixed, lb. 15c.
Special assortment of Creams, per lb. 30c.
Extra special mixture of Nut Taffy, Chocolates and Creams, per lb. 25c.
Sharp's Kreemy Toffee, per lb. 40c.
Confections appropriately boxed, of various sizes and prices.
Allan's Sweet Cider, per quart 15c.
Christie's and McVittie & Price's famous Fancy Biscuits.
Christie Brown's Plum Pudding, 1 lb. tin 40c. each, 2 lb. bag, 80c. each.
Christie Brown's Christmas Cake, 1 lb. tin 40c. each, 2 lb. tin, 80c. each.
Choice Scotch Bread, per box, 15c. and 25c.
Imported Superior Preserved Ginger 60c.
Fresh P. F. Short Cake, at, per tin 50c.
Choice Olives at, per bottle, 15c., 15c., 30c. and 75c.

P. S. WHITE
384 George Street
Phone 208

ONLY ONE DAY MORE TO DO YOUR CHRISTMAS SHOPPING

These Good Bargains during the day and after supper To-night will help you.

WOMEN'S FINE WOOL UNDERWEAR
Women's Fine Wool Underwear. With just enough cotton to prevent shrinking. White only. Vests with high neck and long sleeves. Drawers in two styles. Saturday Bargain, garment 1.50

THESE ODD SIZES IN GOOD AXMINSTER RUGS WOULD MAKE A VERY ACCEPTABLE CHRISTMAS GIFT
1 Only Axminster Rug. Seamless. Size 13 ft. 1 in. by 9 ft. 10 in. Regular $47.50. Saturday Bargain 35.00
2 Only Axminster Rugs. Seamless. Size 11 ft. 6 in. by 8 ft. 3 in. Regular $37.50. Saturday Bargain, each .. 29.50
1 Only Axminster Rug. Seamless. Size 11 ft. 6 in. by 8 ft. 3 in. Regular $27.50. Saturday Bargain 19.50

NATURAL SHANTUNG SILK
34-Inch Natural Shantung Silk. Suitable for Waists and Dresses. Used for Men's Fine Shirts. Regular 50c yard. Saturday Bargain, yard 35c

BLACK DUCHESS SATIN
A Rich All Silk Duchess Satin. Used for Waists, Skirts and Dresses. In Black only. Saturday Bargain ..... Regular $2.25. ..... 1.79

INFANTS' CARRIAGE RUGS
Infants' Quilted Carriage Rugs. Made of heavy quality of Jap Silk. Hand embroidered, in a dainty rose pattern. In colours of Sky, White and Pink. ..... Saturday Bargain. 2.00

CAMISOLES
Made of Wash Satin and Fine Val Lace. Trimmed with beading and coloured ribbon. In White only. Saturday Bargain .. 2.00

KNITTED SETS
Women's and Misses' Knitted Sets, consisting of Cap and Scarf or Tam and Scarf. Made of heavy quality of Brushed Wool. Combination colours of Copenhagen and White, Rose and White, Kelly and White, or Scarlet and White. ..... Saturday Bargain.. 2.50

New York Dresses

Made of fine soft quality of Botany Serge. Pleated style. Embroidered in wool and gold thread. Broadcloth collar and cuffs. Saturday Bargain, each 25.00

$4.98 INGRAIN RUGS $3.69
Heavy quality Ingrain Rugs. Size 3 yards by 2½ yards. Several good patterns and colourings to choose from. Saturday Bargain, each 3.69

WOMEN'S COATS
Women's and Misses' Winter Coats. Made of heavy qualities of Zebbeline Tweed and Bolivia Cloth. From several of the latest models. With large collars, belted and flare backs. Body and sleeves well lined. ..... Saturday Bargain. 20.00

KABA CREPE
36-Inch Kaba Crepe. Suitable for Waists and Dresses. A fine Wash Silk. In colours of Ivory, Maize, Pink and Apple Green. Saturday Bargain, yard 1.50

WHITE HABUTAI SILK
36-Inch White Habutai Silk. Suitable for Waists or Dresses. All pure silk. Saturday Bargain 1.00

SKATING CAPS
Made of heavy quality of Brushed Wool. Fastened on the side with buttons. In colours of Copenhagen, Cardinal and White. .. Saturday Bargain .. 50c

We still have an excellent assortment of artistic chairs for the living room or bed room to choose from, something quite out of the ordinary---chairs that will show the artistic taste of the giver and be a pleasure to look at by the one who receives them. House Furnishing Dept., 2nd Floor

COTTON EIDERDOWN
An extra heavy quality of Cotton Eiderdown. 30 inches wide. Suitable for Kimonas, Dressing Sacques and Babies' Underwear. In colours of Cream and Pink. Saturday Bargain, yd. 35c

HUCK TOWELS
Extra heavy quality Pure Linen Huck Towels. Neatly hemmed. Size 22 x 42 inches. Saturday Bargain, pair 75c

BED SPREADS
A good serviceable quality of White Crochet Bed Spreads. Sizes 70 x 90 inches. Saturday Bargain, each 2.50

PILLOW COTTON
An extra heavy quality of Pure White Circular Pillow Cotton. 42 inches wide. Saturday Bargain, yard 25c

BATTENBURG CENTRES
Pure Linen Battenburg 8-inch Centres. In several dainty patterns. Saturday Bargain, each 15c

ROLLER TOWELLING
A heavy quality of Pure Linen Crash Roller Towelling. 20 inches wide. Saturday Bargain, yard .. 15c

LONG WOOL MITTENS
Children's and Girls' Long Wool Mittens. In colours of White, Navy, Scarlet, Cardinal, Grey and Castor. Saturday Bargain, pair 50c

FRENCH KID GLOVES
Women's Fine French Kid Gloves. In all white or white with black points. Or wash cape in shades of tan or Newport, with contrasting points. Saturday Bargain, pair 2.00

SWISS HANDKERCHIEFS
Ladies' Swiss Handkerchiefs, with dainty coloured border. In white with sky, pink or mauve. Saturday Bargain, ... 2 for 25c

TAPESTRY RUGS, $22.50
English Tapestry Rugs. Our best quality, seamless, in a splendid range of good designs and colourings. Sizes 9 ft. by 7 ft. 6 in. Saturday Bargain, ... each 22.50

TAPESTRY CHINTZ CHESTERFIELD, $69.00
Handsome Chesterfield, made throughout by our own expert upholsterers, and covered in a dark Tapestry Chintz to stand hard wear. Saturday Bargain. 69.00

AFTER SUPPER SALE

$3.50 NEW CHRISTMAS WAISTS, $2.69
Made of heavy quality of Jap Silk. In several of the latest styles. With large collars and Jabot or tucked fronts. Reg. $3.50. ..... After-Supper Sale 2.69

$2.00 CRIB COMFORTERS $1.59
Silk Crib Comforters. In Chintz pattern, with plain stripe of contrasting colour. Size 3 ft. by 4 ft. Regular $2.00. ..... After-Supper Sale 1.59

$3 NOVELTY CURTAINS, $1.69
Fine quality Voile and Marquisette Curtains. 2½ yards long. Some are hemstitched and edged with lace; others plain hemstitched. Regular up to $3.00 pair... After-Supper Sale, pr. 1.69

$1.25 CHINTZ DOILY SETS, 85c
22-Piece Daily Sets, comprising 2 large Centres, 8 of the second size and 12 of the small size. In colours of Rose, Blue and Gold. Regular $1.25 set. After-Supper Sale, set ... 85c

$2.50 MEN'S SILK SCARFS $1.50
Fine quality Men's Knitted Scarfs. In all silk or silk and wool mixtures. In fancy stripe or plain colours. Fringed ends. Reg. $2.50. After-Supper Sale. 1.50

$2.50 BASKETS, 98c
Fruit Baskets, Sandwich Baskets, Flower Baskets and Work Baskets. In dark fumed oak reed. Reg. $2.50. After-Supper Sale .. 98c

$1.25 RAG RUGS, 98c
Rag Rugs. Size 24 by 36 in. In several good colours. Regular $1.25 each. After-Supper Sale, each 98c

$4.50 KIMONAS, $1.98
Women's and Misses' Kimonas. Made in plain or floral Crepe and Wool Delaine. Hand embroidered and satin trimmed. Reg. $4.50. After-Supper Sale 1.98

UPHOLSTERED WING CHAIR, $19.50
All-Over Upholstered Wing Chair, covered in Golden Brown Chintz. After-Supper Sale 19.50

RICHARD HALL & SON LIMITED

DEATH FROM NATURAL CAUSES

Enquiry Into the Death of Mrs. Louise Kleemann, Was Concluded Last Evening

"Death from natural causes," was the verdict rendered last evening by a Coroner's Jury at the adjourned inquest to enquire into the death of Mrs. Louise Kleeman, which took place on December 9th, at the home of Mrs. Paul Loescher, 135 Hunter street, east.

The jury was composed of Messrs. R. C. Braund, F. Bowneombe, W. F. Nelson, C. Wood, R. J. G. Sutherland, W. R. Morris, C. Risbor, E. N. McWilliams, E. Evans, C. E. Hubbs and J. R. Bell.

Coroner Dr. Greer, who presided, said that the jury's duties would be very light as the only witnesses called were the doctors who performed the autopsy.

Dr. J. H. Eastwood, who was called, said that he was summoned to the Loescher home, but when he arrived Mrs. Kleemann was dead. He reported the woman's death to Coroner Dr. Greer. The autopsy showed an enlarged condition of the heart, and the brain was also effected. There were no external marks.

Death resulted from natural causes. The evidence of Dr. Eastwood was corroborated by Dr. C. H. Amye.

All house brushes should be soaked in cold water for several hours and laid aside until they are used. This prevents the hairs from coming out, and increases the life of the brush.

As you pack each article for moving make a note of where you put it, and when you want to reach a certain article you can do it without any difficulty.

TELESCOPIC RIFLE SIGHT

It is natural to expect, from any war, the invention and development of all weapons and instruments particularly adapted for warfare. Thus, in the present war a new type of bayonet has developed and, more recently, a really practical and simple telescopic sight. This new sight may be used equally well by the men of long experience and those of little experience. As its name denotes, it is a combination of telescopic and rifle sight, and acts on the same principle as though the sight were placed in a field glass through which the marksman would be looking. In other words, in place of the usual rear sight of the rifle is placed a simple telescope with the cross hairs near the front and the rear rifle sight near the rear. The telescope, of course, magnifies the target so that it appears much larger and, therefore, clearer and nearer, an object hardly discernable to the naked eye at one mile, appearing clear and distinct, and, apparently, about 100 yards distant. The intersection of the cross hairs is just above and in line with the tip of the rear sight. So, it is only necessary to get the magnified target on this intersection in order to make an accurate shot. There is nothing complicated about it, and no delicate parts to get out of order, or make trouble in repairs. It may be easily adapted to any ordinary rifle without appreciable change. It is of exceptional value for big game hunting. Like many other inventions resulting from the requirements of the war, it is also of great value for times of peace.

THE JURYMEN DONATED FEES

The coroner's jury, which was empanelled to investigate the death of Mrs. Louise Kleemann, at the conclusion of the investigation last evening, donated their fees as jurymen to the Children's Aid Society, amounting to two dollars each for eleven men. Each of the doctors present made a similar donation, so that the entire amount donated will be about twenty-five dollars.

CHRISTMAS DINNER

The Empress Hotel will be just like home on Christmas Day and will serve a special Dinner 12.30 to 2.30 p.m. Come and bring the family and give your wife a holiday. Tables may be reserved by Telephoning 121.

THE EMPRESS HOTEL

Now that the winter is before us it is very unwise to let children go about without hats. In fact it is always courting danger to expose sensitive little heads either to scorching heat or bitter winds.

Xmas Dinner at —AT— Oriental Hotel

BILL OF FARE

Club House Olives, Crisp Celery, Salted Almonds

SOUPS
Consommee Celestine, Chicken Printaniere

Blood Tomatoes, Mayonnaise
Oysters, a la D'Uzelles
Narragansett Bay Lobster a la Newburg

Baked Baby Lamb, Puree au Petit Pois
Oriental Cream Puffs

PUNCH APERCOTINE

Braised Crown Spring Chicken, a la Marengo
Stuffed Young Turkey, Cranberry Sauce, Chestnut Gravy
Baked Beef Tenderloin, Au Jus

Long Island Shrimp Salad

Snow Ball Potatoes, Sweet Potatoes Glace
Haricots Vert, Supreme, Spanish Queen Peas

Deep Apple Pie, Whipped Cream, Hot Mince Pie
Old English Plum Pudding, Allen Sauce

Canadian Cheese, Crisp Crackers
California Cluster Raisins, Florida Grapes
Mixed Nuts.

Neapolitan Ice Cream, Christmas Cake de Luxe

Tea, Cafe Noir, Demi-Tasse, Milk
After-Dinner Mints

MERRY XMAS TO ALL

"NEW MODEL" "FOR CHRISTMAS"

Bright Vici Kid Balmoral, eight inch top, small midget eyelets. Leather Louis heels. Goodyear Welt sewn soles: C. and D. Widths.

The Price is $6.00

C. E. Smith

("THE SHOE MAN").

THE BARGAIN ANNEX WILL BE OPEN ALL DAY TO-MORROW

A Few Of The Many Items From That Treasure Trove Of Bargains

Christmas Annex Leader
Dress Goods Mill Ends $1.25 per end

If you are a shrewd buyer these ends will appeal to you. Run in lengths from 1½ to 4 yards, and can be used for a multitude of purposes; the lot includes tweeds and light weight dress materials. Worth regularly up to $3.00 per end. Christmas Annex Leader, per end..... 1.25

Six Day Annex Leader
Two Lines of Great Value Flannelette Blankets

The qualities are the best Canadian makes and are good large sizes. Both lines are exceptional value, and each to be sold during the big Christmas Annex Event at less than to-day's cost of production. A most appreciated useful gift for any home.

Regular $1.40. Christmas Annex, pair..... $1.19
Regular $1.65. Christmas Annex, pair..... $1.49

Christmas Annex Leader
Men's Negligee Shirts 59c or 3 for $1.65

Our Annex buyer has made a fortunate and opportune purchase of shirts. Material is percale, negligee, coat style with deep laundred cuffs and smart stripe patterns. Sizes 14 to 18½. Regular 85c.
Christmas Annex Leader ..... 59c, 3 for 1.65

Christmas Annex Leader
50c Habutai Wash Silk 39c yard

Here is an opportunity to purchase a silk that will serve you in many ways. It will wash splendidly. Can be had in cream, black and white. Regular price is 50c yard. Christmas Annex Leader Price will be, yard 39c

Christmas Annex Leader
Men's and Big Boys' Coat Sweaters 99c

Rarely have we been able to offer such a sweater coat value. They are in grey only, heavy ribbed, storm collars and two pockets; sizes 34 to 42. For the Christmas Annex, and as a leader we are offering them at..... 99c

Christmas Annex Leader
Silk Embroidery Brown Cushion 25c each

A ten dozen shipment of 50c Silk Embroidered Brown Cushions complete with deep frill and back, ready for use. Made of splendid quality brown crash. See these on Saturday. They should be readily snapped up for a gift selection—a gift that will be appreciated because of its usefulness. Christmas Leader 25c

$18.00 CHINCHILLA COATS $9.90
ON SECOND FLOOR SATURDAY ONLY
No Woman Who is in Need of a Warm Winter Coat Should Miss This Opportuntty

Bought at a price that permits us to make this unusual reduction and yet they are in no way inferior to any $18.00 coat that has been on the market this season. They are in heavy soft chinchilla, full length and wide sweep around the bottom, high convertible collar and a good variety of sizes; colour of black and blue. Saturday price will be only..... 9.90

A BLOUSE SPECIAL $1.29

At this price we are showing a beautiful assortment of pretty styles and materials. This is a specially collected lot for the Christmas selling; all sizes You will find the values unusual. Snap price will be..... 1.29

Three Hundred Boxes CHRISTMAS STATIONERY
Saturday Big Annex Leader 11c Box

Six hundred boxes in the selection—fancy boxed Christmas stationery. Each box contains 24 sheets splendid quality linen finish paper and 24 envelopes to match. An excellent gift for young and old. For Saturday's Annex Leader Sale. Away less than regular prices at, box 11c
See window.

Ladies' 99c Japanese Crepe Dressing Sacques, Half Price 49c

A most acceptable ladies' gift at just half price. Excellent quality Japanese Crepe Dressing Sacques. Plain colours of red, sky, pink and mauve, with white crepe trimmings. Brand new garments that regularly sell at 99c.
Annex Leader 49c

Annex Leader. 50c, 65c and 75c Dress Goods 39c yard

Here is your opportunity. The lot contains both plain and fancy weaves and many pretty colourings. To buy them in the regular stock you would pay 50c, 65c and 75c yard. For a Christmas Annex Leader the price will be, yard 39c

Annex Leader. Ladies' and Misses' Tea Aprons 44c

Aprons are ever popular as Christmas Gifts, and this one should be—there is no lack of neatness in the making. Complete over aprons with belted waists; pockets bound with tape; all sizes; Ladies' 36 to 42; misses' 14 to 16. Mostly greys and blue greys. Annex 44c

Leader. "Delayed" Shipment White Flannelette Nightgowns 69c

A twenty-five-dozen shipment white flannelette gowns bought over one year ago, for delivery last August. Just received and are values that we could not begin to duplicate to-day. Two styles for your selection that regularly sell for 98c and $1.00. Great Annex Leader..... 69c

The CRESSMAN Company Limited

Large Quantity of Hose Destroyed in the Big Fire

Fire, Water and Light Committee is Confronted With the Necessity of Purchasing a Thousand or Fifteen Hundred Feet of Hose at Once---Will Reimburse Lindsay Fire Department--Street Lighting.

The destruction of from one thousand to fifteen hundred feet of fire hose at the Quaker Oats fire was reported to the Fire, Water and Light committee at a meeting held last evening. Fire Chief Howard said that he was unable to report the exact amount of hose destroyed owing to the fact that some of the hose was still in use and was intermingled with hose belonging to the Quaker Oats Company.

Ald. Duncan and Ald. Edgar immediately moved that the committee purchase fifteen hundred feet of new hose. Fire hose sells at about one dollar a foot.

Ald. Stratton was of the opinion that the department could get along with a thousand feet. Chief Howard reported that the hose belonging to the Quaker Oats Company had been placed in the fire station, bringing the amount of available hose up to about six thousand feet. Ald. Duncan did not think it was right to use the hose of the Quaker Oats Company. He thought it should be taken care of. Mayor Duffus did not think the Company would mind.

Ald. Stratton moved in amendment that sufficient hose be purchased to bring the amount up to the original quantity. "We are here to do business in a business way and do our duty," said Ald. Stratton with patriotic fervour.

No Delay.

"There should be no delay," put in Ald. Edgar.

Mayor Duffus thought the hose should be purchased at once. It was finally decided to secure prices on sufficient hose to bring the amount on hand up to the standard required by the Fire Underwriters, which is fifty-four hundred feet.

A length of hose belonging to the De Laval Dairy Supply Company was also destroyed in the fire. This will be replaced with a length from the Fire Department. A twenty foot ladder, a couple of pairs of rubber boots and a number of small articles were also lost. The rapidity with which the fire spread and the constant danger from falling walls was responsible for much of the loss.

The matter of reimbursing the Lindsay fire department for coming to Peterborough on the day of the fire was taken up by the committee. Chief Howard was instructed to write to the Lindsay fire chief and ask him to furnish the names of the eighteen or nineteen men that came down from Lindsay, also the name of the man who brought a motor truck with a number of extra firemen. The men who went from Peterborough to assist in the Playelle fire in Lindsay were reimbursed to the extent of ten dollars each. In all probability the Fire, Water and Light committee will take this is a basis rate for remuneration

Returned to Duty.

Fireman John Drummond, who has been laid up with a broken leg, has returned to duty. He will be retained for a month as watchman as his physical condition will not permit to engage in very heavy work

Ald. Duncan suggested that the Bonner-Worth Company be asked to place a fire escape on their building.

A number of changes in the street lighting system formed the subject of a recommendation that eventually will find its way to the Utilities Commission. It is the desire of the committee to have the G.T.R. crossings at Simcoe and Hunter streets better illuminated, and also improve the lighting system in the vicinity of St. Peter's Cathedral.

Agricultural Meeting

West Peterborough Board of Agriculture are holding meetings afternoon and evening at 4th Line Hall, January 4th, and at Bookhorn January 5th, 1917. Good speakers and programme at evening sessions. All interested please arrange to attend.

2d-144-Sw-4i

FRUIT DEALER SOLD GROCERIES AFTER HOURS

Antonio Strano, a fruit dealer, and sometimes grocer, was fined $2 plus $3.95 costs this morning for selling canned peas, soap, sugar, etc., in contravention of the early closing bylaw. The woman who acted for the police also tried to purchase various articles from D. M. Minnecola who sold her potatoes but drew the line at the other goods.

Magistrate Dumble reserved judgment while he decided whether potatoes were a grocery or not.

NORWOOD NEWS ITEMS

Mr. John Kelly who has been in poor health for a long time wandered from his home on Saturday evening, and after being out all night reached the home of Mr. Miles, near Hastings on Sunday morning. Mr. Miles treated him with great kindness and on Sunday afternoon had him brought home to his anxious friends, who had been eagerly looking for him.

L.O.L. No. 592 South Dummer held their regular meeting on Monday and elected the following officers.

Bros. A. Webster—W. Master, E. McDonald—D. Master, W. McMaster—F. Sec., E. Jenkins—Fin. Sec., B. McVaster—Treasurer, G. Andrews, R. Ferguson—Lecturers, F. Kavanagh Cons. R. Peters—Con., G. Barr Cons. J. Clendale Con., Chas. Brown, D. of C.

A baby was born on Wednesday to Rev. and Mrs. Irwin.

Mrs. John Weir and Miss Pauline Weir were in Peterborough on Saturday.

Mrs. Bruce Puffer of Havelock visited on Saturday at the home of Mrs. I. Puffer.

Miss Loretta Kelly of New York visited Miss Annie McDonnel this week.

A tepid bath is far more refreshing than a really cold one. If you have time to spare, you will find it an excellent plan to get into a warm bath and remain there till the water has dropped in temperature to tepid.

Salt should never remain in anything rubber—for instance, hot water bottles or syringes. Rinse them out thoroughly or the rubber will soon rot.

SIX MEMBERS OF COUNCIL SUPPORT MOTOR APPARATUS

(Continued from Page 7.)

doing business in that particular line and not consider such a thing as buying a cheap truck from a firm manufacturing pleasure cars and small delivery trucks with the idea of converting it into a fire fighting unit but to deal only with those whose business it is to manufacture the particular line of apparatus required.

Mr. C. Banks submitted a proposal respecting a fire fighting truck manufactured by the General Motors Company of Pontiac, U.S.A. which when equipped would cost in the neighborhood of $3,800 or a little over four thousand dollars for a larger sized truck laid down in Peterborough. That means that the city would be in a position to purchase two or perhaps three pieces of apparatus for a start which is in accordance with the proposal of Mayor Duffus. One small sized piece of motor driven apparatus could be used as a runabout and would carry a good sized chemical tank, the pulmotor and several hundred feet of small sized hose to be used in connection with the chemical tank.

The matter of purchasing a motor driven chemical engine has found a place in Fire Chief Howard's report for the past six or seven years.

Voice of The People

Correspondence under this heading, containing or involving attacks on individuals or violent or extreme statements, must to secure insertion, be signed with writer's real name, the owner of which thus assumes the responsibility.

Editor of The Examiner:

Sir,—A correspondent in your issue of Thursday proposes a Christmas tree for the wives and children of the men on service, instead of the entertainment as planned.

The suggestion is well meant but inconsiderate in view of the appropriation. There are 612 women and 1189 children on the list of the fund that would be entitled to participate from the city alone. To dress a Christmas tree and provide anything worth providing for the 'kids' would cost at least thirty cents individually over $350—and there would be, say, $50, of contingent expense besides.

As the original appropriation provided by the kindness of Captain Burnham, was $50, to have held the tree would have necessitated raising quite a sum and that did not seem to be practicable. However, if the correspondent wishes to carry out the suggestion there is ample time and opportunity during Christmas week, and we will all take a hand to make it a success. Respectfully,

F. H. DOBBIN.

THE WEATHER

The first snowstorm of the season arrived last night and has continued with more or less intensity all day. This should supply sufficient snow to make fair sleighing, and give the sound of tinkling sleigh bells for Christmas Day. Colder weather should follow, and from all appearances winter is now here to stay.—W. P.

When about to clean paint in a kitchen or other rooms where there is a stove heat a boiler of water and allow it to boil without a cover for a long time.

Some men work harder to get even than to earn money.

Let us suggest something nice for your friends for Christmas Gifts, in Fancy Boxed Caps, Handkerchiefs, Collars, Etc. Call and see them.

PETERBORO FANCY GOODS STORE
184 HUNTER STREET
OPEN EVENINGS

OUR CHRISTMAS STOCK

Is now most complete.
We consider this season's selections the choicest we have ever had in all our long experience as jewellers. You will find many unique and unusual gifts as well as all the newest novelties.
A particularly interesting line of new watches and jewellery. The designs are distinctive in character.
Shop early while the assortments are complete.
Any article will be reserved until Christmas.

SCHNEIDER
The Jeweller, George St.

Millinery Bargains

Ladies' newest velvet hat shapes, only 99c
Shapes in black and colors, regular values up to $3.00, only 99c
LADIES' TRIMMED HATS $2.49
A table of very desirable trimmed Hats at about half price, choice for..... $2.49

Miss McGIVERIN, 412 GEORGE ST.

Make Your Xmas Gift Furs

Imagine the pleasure derived from such a gift. Can't you see how proud and happy a gift of furs would make your friends?

Sensible, useful, comfortable. Come at once to us and let us help you make your selection.

You can count on values here.

W. E. LECH
Manufacturing Furrier and Hatter
208 GEORGE STREET NEAR SIMCOE ST.

COME & GET THE BARGAINS

TURNBULLS

COME & GET THE BARGAINS

Special HOUR SALE TO-NIGHT 7.30 to 8.30

Hour Sale on Main Floor
7.30 p.m. to 8.30 p.m.
Turnbull's Special Corsets, all sizes, 500 Pair To-Night 69c

Hour Sale Ready-to-Wear
7.30 p.m. to 8.30 p.m.
Fancy Tea and Matron Aprons, some 4 in. Hemstitched hem on Border 19c

Hour Sales in Toyland
7.30 p.m. to 8.30 p.m.
Books, Popular Fiction and Children's Books, & Henty's Books, each 25c

Hour Sale Carpet Floor
7.30 p.m. to 8.30 p.m.
Nottingham Lace CURTAINS To-Night pair 75c

Hour Sale in Basement
7:30 p.m. to 8:30 p.m.
Fancy Delicate Japanese China, assorted dishes To-Night 12c

Come and See the Xmas Display of

PRIME BEEF

AND OTHER CHOICE MEATS
TURKEYS, GEESE & CHICKENS AT

JOPLING'S

Ye Old Time Xmas Beef served up to the Kings and Barons of Old England has nothing to boast of compared with the Prime Quality we have prepared for the Christmas Festival.

What we say about our Beef is true about everything else in the meat line which we display in abundance on our Shambles, Counters and Refrigerators.

We will convince you that ours is the leading Xmas Market in the City and that we live up to our motto—Good Goods, Good Prices and Prompt Delivery. Order early and save the work on Saturday Night.

JOPLING & SON, 340 George Street
Merry Xmas To One and All - Phone 275

GREATEST NEED IS MOTOR-DRIVEN APPARATUS

Peter Hamilton Co. Agree With Other Manufacturers That Motorizing of Equipment in Fire Department is Necessary—Council Not Altogether to Blame—People Turned Down One By-law.

Peterborough, Dec. 21st, 1916

The Peterborough Examiner, City:

Gentlemen,—Replying to yours of the 18th, would say that in our opinion the City of Peterborough certainly needs the best fire fighting apparatus we can get. We have a great many fine buildings in the city, both manufacturing industries and public buildings, which should have the best protection it is possible to provide for them.

The greatest need at the present time seems to be for a motor driven equipment, so that the brigade can get to the fire at the earliest possible moment, because the bulk of the fires start with a small blaze which spreads very rapidly. We do not know that the Council is altogether to blame for not having motor driven apparatus, as we remember the people turned down a by-law providing for motor driven apparatus.

We have had two or three blazes at our plant in the last few years, and the brigade has always responded very promptly, but as far as we are concerned, we certainly would prefer to see the brigade provided with a good motor driven equipment.

Yours truly,
The Peter Hamilton Company, Ltd.
Per. P. Hamilton, Sec.

RESIDENTS OF DOURO PETITION FOR HYDRO POWER AND LIGHT

The Douro Council met at the Town Hall, Douro, on Friday, Dec. 15th. All the members were present.

On motion, the minutes of the two previous meetings were read and confirmed.

By-laws No. 832 and 833, fixing upon the time and place at which the nominations and elections shall be held, were passed.

Mr. R. B. Rodgers made application to the Council, requesting it to obtain from the Hydro Electric Power commission of Ontario a supply of power for lighting, heating and power purposes.

Moved by R. Moloney, seconded by George Hamilton, that the Clerk be authorized to forward the petition signed by R. B. Rodgers and other ratepayers in Ward No. 4 to the Hydro Electric Power Commission of Ontario, and that it is the wish of the Council that an estimate of the cost of furnishing light, heat and power to the parties petitioning be made, in accordance with the regulations of the Commission.—Carried.

Moved by M. Kennedy, seconded by R. Moloney, that the Treasurer's financial statement be received and adopted, and that the Clerk have 150 copies printed for distribution among the ratepayers.—Carried.

The following accounts were passed, viz.: Joseph Curtis, overcharge of statute labour, $2; Joseph Brown, gravel, $6.75; work on side road, $27.50; work on boundary, $4.75; Samuel Stewart work on road, $9.45; repairs to water tank, $1.50; E. W. Chamberlain, gravel, $13.35; R. A. Moloney, cost of wire fence for guard on river road, $8.35; Orin Campbell, placing guard on river road, $6; H. Girven, putting in culverts on river road $10; Joseph Garvey, half cost of wire fence, $8.10; Edward Riel repairing Hynes' bridge $1; Wm. Hayes, repairing culvert, $1.90; Edmund Allen, timber for culvert, $1.30; H. G Fitzgerald, two stone hammers $1.25; Robert Allen, repairing culvert, $1; placing railing on Allen's hill, $4.25; The Examiner Printing Co., printing contract, $80; tickets for drawing contest, $8; Peck, Kerr and McElderry, legal advice, $20.00; Clerk, postage, $2; Wm. H. Allen, repairing culvert, $1.50; Robt. Hicks, cement $12.65; Robt. Heffernan wor on boundary $13, John O'Leary, commissioner on boundary, $40.50; C. W. Garbutt, work on road, $9; Catherine Mahoney, caretaker of town hall, $9; M. Walsh, sessional allowance and commission, $10; M. Kennedy, sessional allowance and commission, $16; Geo. Hamilton, sessional allowance and commission $10, R. A. Moloney, sessional allowance and commission, $10; M. P. Coughlin, sessional allowance and commission, $10; F. W. Leahy, balance of salary as clerk $50; Frank McMurray part salary as collector, $40; George Towns work in connection with basket social $1.50; Mrs. Ann Allen, damages to organ at social, $1.

Moved by R. Moloney, seconded by M. Kennedy, that Council adjourn.

WAR HAS SERIOUS EFFECT ON TEA MARKETS.

Although the far-reaching influences of the war have added enormously to the cost of tea, the recent advance of five cents a pound in the cost of "SALADA" only means that you will now get eight cups for a cent, instead of nine, and then you will get that unique flavor, absolutely unchanged.

PIANO TUNING.

'Phone 595, The Greene Music Co., Charlotte Street, when your piano requires tuning or regulating. All work guaranteed. dtf

FINAL MEETING OF NORTH MONAGHAN'S 1916 COUNCIL

Reminder to City That it Has Failed to Make Move to Clear Park St. Drain of Sand.

ACCOUNTS PASSED

The North Monaghan Council met in Mr. W. H. Bradburn's office Dec. 15th, all the members being present and the reeve presiding. The minutes of the last meeting were read and confirmed.

The following communications were read: From Pec, Kerr & McElderry, asking for $100 on account. From F. E. Wilson, application for position of tax collector. The National Sanitarium Association asking for a grant. Dr. T. N. Greer, re salary and duties. British Red Cross Society appealing for a grant from N. Monaghan. Hydro Electric Power Commission, re tax bill. Peck, Kerr & McElderry, re dog tax and sheep act. The City Clerk, re the opening of Park street drain. The Peterborough Review, re election supplies. Peterborough branch of the Red Cross Society, re grant.

The clerk reported that he had been informed by the treasurer that he paid $100 on account. F. E. Wilricultural Society. Mrs. F. A. Thomas complained of an error in her assessment.

On motion, Messrs. Dobbin and Robson, Peck, Kerr & McElderry will be paid $100on account. F. E. Wilson's application was too late.

On motion, Messrs. Rye and Bell, Dr. Greer's salary for 1916 will be $90, and the by-law appointing the M. C. H. will take effect Jan. 1, 1917.

The city clerk's letter re the Park street drain will be replied to as follows: Since receiving your letter a meeting took place between the township council and the city board of works. The township has cut and burned the weeds as agreed to, but as yet the city has not made a move to remove the sand from the drain.

By-law No. 736 was introduced, read, and finally passed.

By-law No. 735, granting one mill on the dollar on the total assessment of the township to the British Red Cross Society was introduced, read, and finally passed.

By-law No. 737, appointing deputy returning officers and poll clerks was then introduced, read and finally passed. The following are the appointments: Wm. B. Anderson, D. R.O.; Walter Byers, P.C., P. S. D. No. 1. Wm. Lang, D. R. O.; James Fowler, P. C., P. S. D. No 2 (town hall). Geo. Evans, D. R. O.; Andrew Kent, P. C., P. S. D. No. 3 (W. J. Grady's store).

The township treasurer read his annual statement for the year from Dec. 15, 1915, to Dec. 15, 1916. It was accepted as read and was ordered to be published.

The following bills were presented for payment:

James O'Keefe, labour on Park St. bridge, $37.11; Fred Levasseur, use of storehouse, $3; J. D. Manley, coal oil, 45c.; James O'Keefe, 9 arches, $9; Thos. A. Rehill, cement, $54.45; George Ward, putting in culverts, $12.38; R. A. Payne, 125 yards gravel, $18.75; J. C. Waldron, 28 yards gravel, $4.20; Taylor & Hall, culvert tile, $64.40; Bruce Johnston, postage and publishing minutes, $30.43; Peck, Kerr & McElderry, law costs, 1916, $27.50; John McIntosh, lumber for crusher, $2; Richard Moncrief, three sheep killed by dogs, $28; K. M. Denoon, two sheep killed by dogs, $20; Robt. Waterman, one sheep killed by dogs, $8. Total, $329.67.

The following salaries and sessional allowances were made:

Wm. Robson, half year's sess. allowance, $15; J. H. Bell, sess. allowance, $15; John McIntosh, sess. allowance, $45; H. B. Rye, sess. allowance, $15; R. A. Dobbin, sess. allowance, $15; Bruce Johnston, half year's salary, clerk, $137.50; W. H. Bradburn, half year's salary, treasurer, $62.50, Dr. T. N. Greer, M. O. H., 1916, $90, W. B. Anderson, sanitary inspector, 1916, $50; Bert Sanderson, caretaker town hall, $7.50; Bert Sanderson, half year's salary, assessor, $62.50, Peck, Kerr & McElderry, solicitors retaining fee, $20. Total, $505.00.

David McRoberts, British Red Cross grant for 1915, loan on note, $945; County Treasurer, county rates, 1916, $5637.42. Treasurer S. S. No. 1, $625, Treasurer S. S. No. 2 $500.00, Treasurer S. S. No. 3, $650, Treasurer S. S. No. 4 $385, Treasurer Separate School Board, Peterborough, $820. Total, $13,274.42.

DENTAL.

Dr. McKenty, Dentist, 370 George Street, on the ground floor, first door north of Peterborough Hardware Company. Nitrous oxide and oxygen administered for painless operations. 283-128

Photographs taken this week finished for New Year's

Postals of the fire may be had at the Studio

Open in the evenings 7.30 to 9.30

374½ George Street — The Moule Studio — Phone No. 46

Arrival of New Fruits, etc From Foreign Lands

Sunkist Oranges	Spanish Grapes
California Pears	Hot House Tomatoes
French Dates	Messina Lemons
Choice Apples	Cranberries
Pomegranites	Fresh Lettuce
Bananas	Crisp Celery, etc
Nuts, Shelled & Unshelled	Canned Goods
Table Raisins	Shrimps, Sea Salmon,
Cluster Raisins	Salmon Trout, White Fish
New Figs & Dates	Sea Herring, Salt Herring
California Cucumbers	Gaspe Salmon, Halibut
	Oysters Received Daily

DOUROS & GETTAS
375 George St. 'Phones 18 and 19

Win His Admiration Of Your Good Judgment

By remembering him with a practical gift that he will find of daily value. PRACTICAL MEN LIKE PRACTICAL GIFTS. LeBrun's are practical. The entire store is brimfull of helpful Christmas suggestions of every kind—and the prices are unusually low. So when you buy something for one, you should turn to this store the same as he does, then you know he'll be pleased with his gift.

This list will make choosing easy and you can be sure your gift will be especially acceptable.

Mufflers	Handkerchiefs	Hosiery
Umbrellas	Night Shirts	Shirts
Cuff Buttons	Collars	Sweaters
Dress Gloves	Cravats	Garters
Arm Bands	Suspenders	Pyjamas
Hats	Caps	Underwear
Suits	Overcoats	Rain Coats
Scarfs	Mitts	Etc.

You will surely enjoy a visit to our store to-morrow, you are cordially invited to inspect our magnificent showing of HOLIDAY GOODS whether you come to buy or to look. If you don't buy, we'll not urge you, that's positive. Come, even if you only have time to shake hands and say "Hello, Merry Christmas."

H. LeBrun & Co.
396 George Street 143-145 Hunter Street

Xmas Cheer

By The

Peterboro Grocery Co.

Simcoe Street, Next Turnbulls

WE have secured the choicest of the markets on every line we offer. All orders will be promptly filled whether in personal, by phone or letter. We assure our patrons best of good service. Don't fail to order early We are specializing in the following:—

Turkeys and Geese	Fancy Boxes of Biscuits
Oranges and Lemons	Peanut Butter in Bulk
Nuts, Candies and Figs	Shelled Almonds and Walnuts
Dates and Prunes
Unfermented Wines	Muscatel Raisins

Peterboro Grocery Co.
Simcoe St., Next Turnbulls — Fred Walker, Manager

We Wish You All The Season's Greetings

THE WORLD OF SPORT

HOCKEY GOSSIP

The 247th Battalion team had another lively practice at Brock Street Rink, last night, and the soldiers are beginning to round into shape. They open their season on January 2nd, with Lindsay and Sergt. Bill Lane should have them in the pink of condition by that time. Coughlin and Thornton worked on the defence in last night's practice, and proved a hard pair to get around. The next 247th practice will be held on Tuesday night next.

Junior hockey players are reminded of the practice to-night at 7 o'clock. The following players are expected out: Murray, Carney, Montgomery, McIntyre, Graham, Cherratt, Bartley, McKee, Frost, Park, Scott, Moore. The Juniors will also practice on Christmas morning, at 9.30 o'clock. Players are requested not to miss either of these practices.

Leo. Dercosher worked out with the 247th Battalion team, last night. Another old Peterborough player, who was out was "Buck" O'Connell, the former Junior right wing player, who has been in New York for some time.

Jerry Coughlin and Jimmy McMartin are looking after the physical condition of the Juniors, while the former is also coaching the players. Grover Halpin is also helping the Juniors along, and took charge of Wednesday's practice.

The Montreal Herald says: — You can't keep a good man down, as instance the fact that Capt. "Coo" Dion will play with Laval in the Quebec City League this season. Capt. Dion went overseas with the second Canadian contingent and one night he headed a bombing party, which reached and "cleaned out" the enemy's trenches. Dion was wounded in several places and his escape from death proved miraculous. His right arm was almost perforated with machine gun slugs and for a long time he had to carry it helpless. He was ordered home, took the Hesperian, and that ship was torpedoed. It was "women and children first." Capt. Dion, though crippled, was one of the last to leave the ship. The lifeboat in which he left the mortally wounded liner, swamped and "Coo" again went down. But he wouldn't stay there. He grabbed something, stayed afloat, helped some companions up and was finally put ashore.

A few years ago, the Ottawas offered Dion $2,500 for one season. Later George Kennedy sent him the following telegram:

"Report to Canadiens and you can name your own terms. The sky is the limit."

But Dion stayed amateur.

The Lindsay Post says: The first hockey practice of the season was held last night at the skating rink. About twenty players turned out. Most of last year's juniors and a number of players who have figured in the O. H. A. were on the ice, and the boys had a good workout. Lindsay has plenty of material for a good Intermediate team and they should make a good showing in the O. H. A.

Hockey fans will be glad to learn that Harold Knapman, the clever little right wing of the Peterborough juniors in the season of 1913-14 and 1914-15, has been promoted Sergeant-Major of the 33rd Battery in France. He is one of the small army of Peterborough hockey players who are making good overseas.

BOWLING

Last night at the Water street alleys, the Canadian General Electric and the Wholesale Grocers, the two teams of the Peterborough Bowling League, played their last match of the year, but will continue their games after the New Year. The Canadian General Electric won two out of the three games, but the Grocers are a team that never say "take it," and in the two games they lost it was only by a few pins that did it. In this game there were two of the bowlers who had to slow down owing to having their fingers badly torn, but they deserve great credit for staying in the game and helping their team along. These gentlemen were Mr. Ross of the Grocers and Mr. Bishop of the Canadian General Electric. There were also two very hard spares pulled off by Mr. Nicholls and Mr. Outram. The high bowlers of the evening were Mr. Nicholls of the C.G.E. with a total of 523 and Mr. Gillespie of the Grocers with 501, with all the others well up together in all. This match caused great excitement and a large crowd turned out to see the game and went home satisfied that both teams will be fighting hard at the finish.

This week so far Mr. Carter and Mr. Fielder have each won the prize for getting nine spares in one game. The turkey goes to Mr. Cairns for Wednesday's and Thursday's three high consecutive games. It will be remembered that Mr. Cairns rolled his record score on Wednesday night and as his total score of 600 pins appears on the score board of the alleys, the other bowlers do not care to look upon it.

To-night's game will be the last for this year, when the Left Overs will play the Printers. This should be the great game of the season, as the Printers are a good team and three of their bowlers have held high scores for the ball. The game will start at 7.30.

Grocers—
Heard	129	167	150	472
Ross	186	137	158	481
Gillespie	184	175	147	506
Outram	130	153	169	451
Fitzpatrick	161	140	142	443
Totals	798	772	762	2332
G. G. E.—
Nicholls	154	177	198	529
Langley	156	150	128	442
Jardine	192	172	145	509
Mills	156	143	101	400
Bishop	159	168	101	428
	816	830	673	2330

BROCK STREET RINK

Skating To-night, 57th Band in attendance. Skating every afternoon and evening this week. Band every night. Admission to skate 15c and 1c war tax. Bring your copper with you.

You will be Well Served if you entrust your

Christmas Fruit Orders

TO

PRINGLE'S

Sanitary Fruit and Fish Store

Corner George and Charlotte Street

Merry Christmas To All

Dear Mary: —

I'll tell you how to quit worrying about 'what to give.' Just go down to the furniture store and buy Tom a nice easy chair. I've already told him how we women dearly love to primp, and to give you a new dressing table.

I've already found suitable presents for our children at the Zacks, furniture store.

Furniture makes such a sensible gift. Don't you think that everybody ought to go to the furniture store to hunt for Christmas presents? I do. Merry Christmas—HELEN.

P. S. Take advantage of the last day of the sale of furniture, and get the low prices at

Harry Zacks

420 George St. Opposite Examiner

MILITARY NEWS

(Continued from Page 7.)

It was announced a short time ago that Mr. W. H. Dunsford, local manager of the Bank of Commerce, was arranging to secure a supply of French five franc notes for the accommodation of local people who wish to send money to their friends at the front. These notes have now arrived and may be secured at the Bank of Commerce at cost price—95c.

Brig.-Gen. Hemming, the General Officer Commanding Military District No. 3, writes as follows on recruiting:

"It is my ambition to raise in Military District No. 3, 10,000 men for all branches of the service before the spring of 1917. To attain that I must express upon all ranks the great necessity of united effort. I am of the opinion that Military District No. 3, can raise the above number provided we all work together for the good of the service. It will require the greatest possible effort and untiring energy on the part of all, nothing must be left to chance. Officers who neglect to play the game to the very best of their ability will be removed without the slightest consideration.

"It must be remembered that a unit on organization is like a new hive of bees. The officers who are the first to be appointed represent the swarm who have been allotted a new hive and are responsible for the filling up of their unit during the season, otherwise they perish for want of nourishment.

"A good motto for all officers to adopt and one that should always be kept fresh in the memory is: 'The Bee that gathers the honey doesn't hang around the hive.'

"It is expected all officers will govern themselves accordingly and better results will follow."

Bandmaster J. W. Chadwick of the 247th, recently composed a snappy march which he has named the "G. O. C." march and which has been dedicated to Brigadier General Hemming, general officer commanding No. 3 District. A copy was sent to General Hemming and Bandmaster Chadwick has received an appreciative letter from Col. Ogilvie, the A.A.G. of the district, accepting the march. Col. Ogilvie writes: "I wish to thank you on behalf of the General Officer Commanding Military District No. 3 for the interest displayed by you."

Mr. J. S. Knapman has received word that his son, Harold, who enlisted in the 33rd Battery, has been promoted in France to the responsible position of battery sergeant-major. Sergt.-Major Knapman is only twenty-one years of age, which makes his promotion the more remarkable.

Two more Apsley boys have joined the ranks of the 247th Battalion, their attestation papers having been received at headquarters to-day. They are Osborne Wm. Edwards and Theodore Luscombe.

Pte. Wm. M. Duncan one of the 93rd boys, who was sent back from England because he was under age, has enlisted with the 253rd Battalion, Queen's Highlanders. He has reached his eighteenth birthday and is, therefore, eligible to re-enlist.

OAK HALL FOR XMAS GIFTS

HOUSE COATS

Balance of our Men's Coats. Prices up to $7.50. To clear

$4.95

DRESSING GOWN

Balance of our gowns and they are nice ones. To clear

$3.95 $4.95

If you have racked your brains to think what to give "somebody" and can't decide. Come to Oak Hall, we'll help you and please you with our assortment and reasonable prices.

ALL GIFTS BOXED TO YOUR WISH

OAK HALL SPECIALS

Silk Ties	25c, 35c, 75c, $1.00
Garters	25c & 50c
Arm Bands	25c & 50c
Braces	25c, 50c, 75c, $1.00
Brace Sets	50c to $1.50
Handkerchiefs	25c, 50c, 75c
Shirts	$1.00 to $5.00
Silk Reefer Mufflers (Special)	$1.50
Silk Italian Bandana Mufflers	$1.25 to $2.50
Umbrellas	$1.00 & $1.50
Pyjamas	$1.50 & $2.50
Night-Shirts	75c & $1.00
Gloves	$1.00 to $3.50
Hosiery	25c to 75c

Underwear Specials

Buy him a Suit of Combination Underwear. We are showing fifteen different lines from $1.00 a suit to D Jager's at $6.75

Don't forget we have the two pieces. Shirt and Drawers, from 50c to $3.50 each.

MEN'S DRESS SHIRTS

We are proud of our Shirts, showing stiff cuffs and soft cuffs and collar, to please the most particular. Choice patterns and colourings. ..... 75c to $5.00

FANCY VEST, $3.95

Fancy Vest. Latest thought out. Worth $5.00 for $3.95

CHILDREN'S SUITS

Fancy Tweed Norfolk styles. Ages 2½ to 7. ..... $2.95

Fine Wool Blue Serges. Norfolk style. Ages 2½ to 7 years. $4.35

BOYS' SUITS

Norfolk styles. Tweed patterns. Bloomer pants. Ages 8 to 11 years. $5.50

Tweed Norfolk Suit. Full cut bloomers. Ages 12 to 17 years. $6.95

MEN'S HATS, $1.95

A real nice sensible gift. All hats were $2.50, for $1.95

MEN'S SUITS, $15.00

25 Broken sizes and patterns, our best grade workmanship. Worth up to $20.00 for $15.00

BOYS' OVERCOAT, $6.45

Diagonal Grey Tweed. Convertible collar, button belt. Ages 11 to 18 years. To clear $6.45

YOUNG MEN'S COATS

Smart Short Stylish Coat. Very latest styles and cuts: Special $12.90

When making purchases ask salesman to give you one of our "WALL MIRROR CALENDARS." Come on in. Again we say thank you.

OAK HALL

M. J. MAHER, MANAGER

TO-DAY'S WAR NEWS

(Continued from page 7.)

PARIS, December 22.—The German submarine U-45 has been sunk by destroyers, according to a Nantes despatch. The U-45 recently sank steamers off St. Nazaire.

LONDON, December 22.—(By Ed. L. Keen)—In midst of a tirade of bitterness against President Wilson as expressed in London evening newspapers is this importantly suggestive paragraph in the Westminster Gazette. "If President Wilson has knowledge hitherto denied us that our enemy is willing to acknowledge our claims he well knows we would be the last to reject his good offices." The London Globe sincerely hopes Wilson is not ill, but says it has grave doubts of his physical well-being.

PETROGRAD, December 22.—The greater part of a Bulgarian detachment advancing eastward to Lake Babadag from Emisal, in Dobrudja, was forced into Lake Ibolota ad many were drowned, to-day's official statement declared. The Russian troops took 115 prisoners.

THE HAGUE, December 22.—Germany will disclose her chief peace terms immediately, if the forthcoming note from the Entente Powers, in reply to Bethmann-Hollweg's peace proposals leaves the peace door open, German despatches said, it was semi-officially announced to-day.

OTTAWA, Ont., December 22.—The permanent boycotting of Germans, Austrians, Bulgarians and Turks by the Canadian Government, was foreshadowed to-day by the announcement that in future no subjects of these nations would be allowed to homestead on Dominion lands.

LONDON, December 22.—The attitude of the British Government on President Wilson's peace note cannot be defined until after England has consulted with the Allies, Chancellor of the Exchequer Bonar Law announced in the House of Commons to-day. He spoke in reply to a question seeking the exact definition of Britain's position on the note.

PARIS (French Official), December 22. — Violent cannonading last night in the region of Louvemont, north of Verdun, was reported in to-day's official statement. Elsewhere along the western front it was quiet. The statement also detailed an artillery duel yesterday north of Monastir, which is still continuing to-day. Patrol engagements on the Struma front were also reported.

LONDON, December 22.—After two years' occupation by the enemy British forces have taken El-Arish, according to a War Office announcement to-day.

El-Arish is a fortified Egyptian town on the Palestine border at the mouth of the River "Wady El Arish" or "River of Egypt," on the Mediterranean sea. It is ninety miles east of the Suez Canal.

Acclamation Also For Douro Council

Douro township council was re-elected by acclamation to-day as follows:

Reeve—M. Walsh.

Councillors—Martin Coughlin, Geo. Hamilton, Michael Kennedy, Roger Maloney.

Otonabee Council Re-elected For 1917

SPECIAL TO THE EXAMINER:

KEENE, Dec. 22.—Otonabee Council was re-elected as follows, to-day:

Reeve—W. A. Anderson.

Deputy-Reeve—F. A. Eason.

Councillors — Gilbert, Howson, David Lowrie and John O'Leary.

Throwing Stones ..... sc.

Election Will Be Needed in Ennismore

Ennismore nominations to-day, were as follows:

For Reeve—John Young and John Holland.

For Council—Clayton Telford, J. Sullivan, N. Sullivan, F. Scollard, T. Y. Crowley, M. Perdue.

SMITH TOWNSHIP.

Reeve—Fred McKee by acclamation.

Deputy-Reeve — Geo. Nicholls, by acclamation.

For Council—J. A. Middleton, C. E. Moore, Jas. Grant, Peter Nicholls, (three to be elected). Wm. Brown also was nominated, but withdrew.

TROUBLES FOR TOURISTS.

No more Cheap Continental Trips—War Has Raised Prices.

VIENNA, Dec. 21.—The troubles of the "See Europe" travellers are piling up, according to the opinion of qualified observers. Cheap tours will be out of the question, and the days in which a dollar doubled and trebled in value crossing the border have gone forever. The war has brought high taxes and spread ruin everywhere, and travel in Europe after the war will be more expensive than the United States, it is believed. There is no such thing as an empty room in a Vienna hotel at present and rooms have to be reserved a long time in advance, while the rates are constantly increased.

Constantinople, boasting of but two first-class and three second-class hotels, has become impossible for the ordinary traveller, and the Balkans are practically closed.

A YULETIDE SUGGESTION

No substitute has yet been found for flowers as Gifts of Beauty and thoughtfulness.

In Cut Blooms, Flowering or Foliage Plants we have a most complete and varied assortment.

PETERBORO FLORAL CO.

WATER STREET PHONE 1395

CHESLER'S

XMAS LIST OF BARGAINS

CHILDREN'S WOOL PULL-OVER SUITS—A special manufacturer's clearance. All colours. Some two-piece, some in combination style. Pure wool. Very Special for Saturday ..... 1.49 & 1.98

GIRLS' SWEATER COATS—Also a part of our clearance of a manufacturer's balance. All shades. Sizes 8 to 14. Saturday Only 1.98

BOYS' SUITS—An extra bargain in all sizes, from 8 to 10 years, in good heavy tweeds. Pinch back and Norfolk styles. Only 3.98

BOYS' PULL-OVER SWEATERS — In Grey only. Special 39c

LADIES' HANDKERCHIEFS—100 dozen, with fancy embroidered corner. Hemstitched. Christmas Bargain 5c

MEN'S HANDKERCHIEFS—60 dozen. An assorted lot. Choice 5c

WHITE SILK WAISTS — All sizes 98c

MEN'S FINE SHIRTS—In all sizes. Regular $1.25. Saturday 69c

MEN'S SWEATER COATS—All Wool. All shades. Heavy weight. For Saturday 2.98

LADIES' HAND-BAGS—All fittings 39c

SKIRTS—Special line of All Wool Serge. Navy and Black 1.98

SILK WAISTS — A lot of travellers' samples in White, Black, Maize, and Brown. Very Special Bargain for Saturday 1.98

BOYS' COATS—In heavy Chinchilla Cloth. Grey and Navy. All new styles, with belt and high collar. Sizes 4 to 10 years. Saturday 3.98

FURS—6 Only Black Wolf Muffs. Regular $10.00 ..... 4.98

GIRLS' COATS—All Wool Heavy Chinchilla Cloth. Grey Blue, cuffs, and collar. Sizes trimmed. Regular $6.00. Saturday 2.49

LADIES' TEA APRONS—Nice styles 12½c

NOTE.—Every article in our store not included in the above list is greatly reduced for Christmas Eve shopping.

B. CHESLER

289 George St. New Lundy Block

NEXT TO PETERBORO SHOE STORE

Useful Christmas Presents

Hundreds of Beautiful Gifts to Choose From

FOR HER

MAY WE SUGGEST

A Bottle Exquisite Perfume from 25c to $5.00
A Box of Page & Shaw's Chocolates from 25c to $5.00
French Ivory Dressing Mirror or Hair Brush
Ivory or Ebony Manicure Pieces or Sets
A Dressing Case in Ivory or Ebony
A Writing Portfolio ..... from 75c to $6.00
Genuine Leather Hand Bags, newest shapes $1.50 to $8.00
A Leather Music Roll
A Jewell Box in Ivory, Tortois or Leather
A Combination Toilet and Manicure Set in Ivory or Ebony.. from $8.50 to $25.00
A Brush and Comb Set from $1.50 up
A Thermos Coffee Pot or Water Jug
A Fountain Pen, regular or Safety
A Bottle of Toilet Water, etc., etc.

FOR HIM

MAY WE SUGGEST

A Genuine Rubber Set Shaving Brush
A Razor (Old Style or Safety)--Gillette, Auto-Strop, Ever-ready, etc.
A Shaving Mirror, a Shaving Set or a Razor Strop
A Pair of Military Brushes, Ivory or Ebony
An Ebony Hair Brush, Clothes or Hat Brush
A Thermos Bottle or Thermos Kit
A Flashlight
A Chamois Vest or Fountain Pen
A Cigar or Cigarette Case
A Leather Purse, a Wallet or a Money Belt, etc., etc.

SEE OUR LARGE DISPLAY
THE BEST ASSORTMENT IN THE CITY
HIGHEST QUALITY LOWEST PRICES

Warne's Cut-Rate Drug Store

351 GEORGE STREET PHONE 527

Gifts For Gentlemen

Signet Rings
Bracelet Watches
Cuff Links
Tie Pins
Tie Clips
Cigarette Cases
Waldemar Chains
Pipes
Military Brushes
Safety Razors
Umbrellas
Fountain Pens

A very large assortment at special prices.

Warne Bros
DIAMOND HALL
Next to Warne Drug Co.

City and General

Broken auto cylinders, machinery and stoves welded, by the new Oxo Acetelyne Process. Anything in iron, steel or aluminum made as good as new, not patched up. Millard's Bicycle Shop, Hunter street, near Aylmer.

PROBABILITIES.

Fair and colder to-night and on Saturday.

SANTA CLAUS AT KNOX CHURCH.

Santa Claus will visit Knox church lecture hall this evening. All who wish to see him should be present.

FOWL PROBABILITIES.

If this storm continues some farmers who may fight their way to market will want $10 for a Christmas turkey.

CARD OF THANKS.

Mr Wm. Kemp and family wish to thank the Canadian Order of Foresters, Quaker Oats Co., Nicholls Hospital staff and others for their kindness and sympathy on the occasion of their recent sad and sudden bereavement in the death of John Kemp, in the Quaker Oats disaster.

FINE POST CARDS.

Post Cards of Quaker Oats fire IN COLOURS, 10c. each. See the specimens in the show case. Vincent Studio, George Street. 28d-843

NOTICE.

Nice sweet oranges, 20c a dozen or two dozen for 35c., at Porter B. Fisher's

A GOOD PURCHASE.

We purchased a complete line of pipes before the advance in prices, real amber, extra good briar. We have also a very large stock for Christmas of cigars and tobaccos. We always give extra good value. Call and see us.—Yeates Bros. 339 George street.

E. B. CLEGG & CO.

Furniture purchased now as gifts, will be held until Christmas week if desired. Dining room furniture on sale this week. Some handsome styles to choose from. A collection of colonial art craft and modern style buffets. See our show window. A fine example of the William and Mary style.

CLEANING, PRESSING AND REPAIRING.

'Phone 1416 for Cleaning, Pressing and Repairing. Goods called for and delivered promptly. Mrs. Read, 150 Rubidge Street. dtf

EXPRESS AND BAGGAGE.

E. D. Cooney, a returned soldier, has taken over the express business of Eddie Reid and will give prompt and careful attention to all work entrusted to him. 'Phone 847. E. D. Cooney, 340 Aylmer street. 28d-44

YOUR TYPEWRITER'S EFFICIENCY

Is enhanced by co-operation of the typewriter and this can only be, when the machine used is in good condition. A few dollars spent in this renovation of machines will repay you many times over, if you deal at Nelson's Typewriter Co. We sell ribbons, carbons and general office supplies as well as ALL MAKES OF TYPEWRITERS.
OPPOSITE ORIENTAL HOTEL.

WEDDING BELLS

JONES—BRISBIN

Yesterday at the parsonage of the Park Street Baptist Church, Clarence Melville Jones and Rosamond Irene Brisbin, both of Peterboro, were united in marriage by Rev. D. Brown. The attendants were Neill F. Porter and Miss Gladys Brisbin. The happy young coulpe left for Lindsay after the ceremony. They will return

'DIAMONDS'

We carry the largest assortment of Diamonds in the city

Diamond Rings
Diamond Tie Pins
Diamond Brooches
Diamond Tie Clip
Diamond Cuff Links
Diamond Lavalliers
Diamond Match Safe
Diamond Cigar Cutter
Diamond Pendants
Diamond Sunbursts

Diamonds are worth their value at any time. Best values in the city.

Warne Bros
DIAMOND HALL
Next to Warne Drug Co.

GENERAL WANTS RECALL?

Berlin Says British and French Officers Leave Roumania.

BERLIN, via Sayville wireless, Dec. 21.—The French General Berthelot, commanding the allied troops in Roumania, has asked for his recall, according to the newspaper Hamburger Fredemblatt, yesterday. The same paper is authority for the statement that a majority of the British officers attached to the Roumanian general staff have started for England.

If some of your cows waste good feed because they are not possessed of ability to make milk economically find it out.

WARNE BROS. JEWELLERY

Visit Our Store and You May Get the Very Suggestion You Need to Solve That Gift Problem You're Worrying About

GIFTS FOR LADIES

Silver Thimbles, Cameo Rings, Silver Hat Pins, Lingerie Clasps, Silver Scissors, Cuff Pins, Boudoir Clock, Pearl Rings, Silver Mesh Bags, Diamond Rings Silver Card Cases, Silvia Perfume Ball, Cameo Brooches, Cameo Lavalliers.

All at Moderate Prices

Warne Bros
DIAMOND HALL
Next to Warne Drug Co.

PLEADED GUILTY TO SMUGGLING CHARGE

Tip to Police Results in Capture of One of Gang—Claimed That Much Goods is Brought over River During Night

SARNIA, Dec. 22.—The police received a tip that a number of men were making their way across the river from Port Huron in a rowboat, and surmising the most probable landing place they journeyed there, secreted themselves and waited. Presently the boat hove in sight and a landing was made.

As soon as this was accomplished the officers sprang from their hiding place and confronted the men, of whom there were three, and they immediately took to their heels. Two managed to get away successfully, but the third member of the party, Wm. Syphers, was taken in charge by the officers and appeared in court Tuesday, charged with smuggling dutiable goods into the country. These were found in the boat.

Collector of Customs C. S. Ellis stated that upon payment of a deposit equal to the value of the goods, the customs department would be willing to drop the charge, which might include a term of imprisonment. Syphers was remanded for sentence until the other members of the party, whom he claimed had purchased most of the goods, are located. However, he later pleaded guilty to the charge, and will be released upon payment of the costs of court and making a settlement with the customs officials.

It is stated that this method of evading the customs, by bringing goods across in a boat under cover of darkness, has been going on for some time, but until now the officials have been unable to locate the offenders.

A bag of oatmeal is a good thing to keep by you if you have to wash your hands often and can't always dry them perfectly. Instead, plunge them into your oatmeal bag, and dry them quickly afterwards. They will never chap if you do this

Social and Personal

Great success attended the tea held yesterday at the Masonic Hall by the Mth Chapter I.O.D.E. The rooms were charmingly decorated with huge bunches of holly, Christmas bells and red shaded candles, and in spite of the busy season a large number found time to come in to tea. Among whom were: Mrs. Fred Roy, Mrs. W. J. Green, Mrs. (Dr.) Eastwood, Mrs. (Dr.) Boucher, Montreal; Mrs George Boucher, Miss Belcher, Mrs. Fortye, Miss L. Rubridge, Mrs. Gerald Wood, Mrs. Campazzi, Mr. Abbott, Miss J. Kingan, Mrs. W. H. Hill, Miss Ruth Robertson, Mrs. Northedge Birks, Master Robertson Birks, Miss Powel, Miss F. Routley, Miss Reid, Mrs. H. E. Courthard, Mrs. Goodwill, Mrs. Langford, Miss D. Langford, Mrs. Shooks, Lieut. D. Shooks, Mrs. Arthur Bellaghem, Mrs. Sedgwick, Mrs. Renwick, and Miss Maisie Armstrong.

Mr. and Mrs. T. A. S. Hay and Miss Hay left to-day for Marmora, where they will spend Christmas the guest of Dr. and Mrs. Crawford.

Pte. Cyril Tarte, 235th Battalion, Hamilton, is expected in the city this evening to spend Christmas.

Mr. and Mrs. Geo. Rogers are spending the holidays the guests of Mrs. Rogers' parents, Dr. and Mrs. Simmons.

Miss M. Rogers is in Toronto for the holidays visiting Mrs. Wells.

Miss Josephine McNichol of Oshawa, is spending a few days with her sister, Mrs. W. J. Grady, Lock street.

Miss Hilda Bonnycastle of Campbellford, a well known vocalist and musician, who has been doing a good deal of professional patriotic work in Toronto, was in the city today on her way to her home to spend the Christmas holidays.

Lieut. C. W. McDermid, 227th Battalion, Mrs. N. L. McDermid, Collingwood, and Miss Jean Aitken, Collingwood, are the guests of Mr. and Mrs. McDermid, for Christmas.

Mrs. Lithroy Goulet, Weller street, leaves to-morrow for Montreal to spend Christmas.

Mrs. F. M. Dela Fosse, who has been the guest of her daughter, Mrs. Frewer, Toronto, returned home last night.

Mr. Core, Bank of Montreal, leaves this evening for Montreal, where he will spend Christmas.

Sergt. W. F. Derry of the 74th Battery, Kingston, is home for the Christmas holidays.

Lieut. A. R. Laing of the Canadian Army Service Corps, Halifax, is home for Christmas.

Mr. W. Curtin of Sandford, Man., is visiting in Peterboro, the guest of Mr. J. H. Morrison, 179 Dublin St.

Cadet Donald Cameron, Royal Medical College, Kingston, is the guest of Dr. and Mrs. Cameron, Charlotte Street.

The Hearth Association hope that everybody will contribute to the success of the tea, card party and dance to be held at the Empress on Friday, the 29th, by being present. Tables may be reserved for either afternoon or evening by notifying Mrs. Aylmer, Weller Street. The announcement is the only form of invitation to be extended.

Mr. and Mrs. Gerald Eaton of Toronto, are the guests of Mr. and Mrs. Alex Eaton, Park street.

Messrs. M. A. Santell and C. H. Moore of Kingston, are guests of the Oriental.

Mrs. E. R. Wood and her family, are spending the winter in California.—Toronto World.

Mr. J. G. Belleghem, Bank of Montreal, Mount Forest, is the guest of his parents, Hunter street.

SUDDEN DEATH OF MR. MACKENZIE

Foreman of C. G. E. Controller Department Dies this Morning

John Mackenzie, 310 Maitland avenue, went to work this morning as usual at seven o'clock and at 8 was pronounced dead from heart failure by Dr. Cameron, the physician of the C.G.E. Such are the facts briefly of the tragic death of Mr. Mackenzie, foreman of the controller department of the C.G.E. He came to Canada forty years ago at the age of 21, from Edinburough and resided in the United States, coming to Peterborough when the Canadian General plant was first brought here. He was a Mason and a consistent member of Knox church. He leaves to mourn his loss his wife, formerly Mary Adams of Montreal, and five daughters, Mrs. T. Clarke of McCrimmon, Helen, Mary Grace and Ruth at home.

The funeral will take place on Sunday at 1.30, under the auspices of the I.O.O.F., of which he was a member.

SALE OF CHURCH IS COMPLETED

Christian Scientists Have New Quarters in Bank of Commerce Building

The Christian Scientists have completed the sale of their property known as First Church of Christ Scientist, 378 Aylmer street, to Mr. G. A. Gillespie, M.P.P., for a garage. This property has been a paying investment for the Christian Scientists. They have now a neatly furnished hall in the Bank of Commerce building, just opposite the post office, with a good Sunday school, library, all accounts paid and a very substantial sum as a building fund for the purpose of getting a lot and building a new church in the near future.

MASCULINE DENTISTRY.

A woman may be a fool, a sleepy fool, a too awfully noxious fool, and she may even be simply stupid But she is never dense. She's never made of wood through and through as some men are. There is in woman, always, somewhere, a spring. Whatever men don't know about women (and it may be a lot or it may be little), men and fathers do know that much. And that is why so many men are afraid of them.

FOWLER'S PEBLO GLASSES

OPTICAL GIFT LINES

There's a surprising list of gift suggestions to be found in a well stocked optical establishment, and they are the unusual kind that are always appreciated.

Little accessories like Eye-Glass Chains are a favorite. Reading Glasses Opera Glasses, Thermometers and our great leader, a pair of "Peblo"s glasses in gold mounts which can be fitted after Christmas.

SEE OUR WINDOW

A. A. FOWLER DOCTOR OF OPTICS
Pupil R. Toronto University
EYESIGHT SPECIALIST with NUGENT DRUG COMPANY

RESTORE THE NATURAL SIGHT

New York Stock Market

Summary of To-day's Activities on the New York Stock Exchange

NEW YORK, Dec. 22.—Markets here and in Chicago opened much stronger to-day.

New York Stocks.

Air Brake 104 7-4, 144 3-4; Atch. 102 1-2, 103 5-8; B. and O. 83, 83 3-8; C. P. R. 164, 166; New York Central 103 1-2, 103 3-4; Erie 34 1-2, 34 3-4; Erie Preferred 48 3-4, 49; Pennsylvania 55 7-8, 56 1-4; U. P. 148 1-2, 147 1-2; Rep. Steel 75, 75 3-4; U. S. Steel 104, 106 1-2; Anaconda 79 3-4, 82 1-2; Beth. Steel 500, 506; Loco. 73, 75 1-4; Inter. Nickel 41 1-4, 42 3-8.

Canadian Stocks.

Dom. Steel 65, 65 3-8; Steamers 33, 34; Steel of Can. 61, 62; Smelters 31, 33; Gen. Elec. 110 1-2, 112; Cement 60 1-2, 61 3-4.

Twin Fireplaces.

We peeped through the glass doors. "Two fireplaces! What luxury?" she exclaimed. "You see," said I, "whenever I get tired of reading philosophy at the east fireplace, I'll just come round the corner and read 'Alice in Wonderland' at the west chimney nook." Double fireplaces—twin fireplaces—twin fires! That's it, Twin Fires. That ought to be the name of your house." "You're right," I cried, delighted. "I've never been able to think of a name. That's the inevitable one—that's Flaubert's one right word: — From "The Idyl of Twin Fires," a delightful story by Walter Pritchard Eaton, just published by Hodder & Stoughton.

NOT DELIVERED YET.

"Naturally," said the minister, "I take a deep interest in this force at Salonika. Are you aware, Mrs. X., that these Salonicans are the Thessalonians to whom St. Paul sent a letter?" Mrs. X. looked up. "Well, he may have written there, I'm not saying he didn't. But I'm sorry for him if he sent parcels. I sent two to my boy months since and they haven't been delivered yet."

A MILLION Dollars

WE MUST RAISE THIS WEEK.

So we are selling our stock at 99½% less than cost. You don't believe it? Well, we know you wouldn't.

So we'll tell you the truth. We are really trying to keep the high cost of living down by the Lowest Prices, the Highest Quality, and Best Service.

Everything for Xmas.

Candies, from	15c lb. to 50c lb.
Oranges, Navel, Seedless,	30c, 40c, 45c, 50c doz.
Choice Nuts, all kinds, from	20c lb.
New Dates	15c lb.
Choice Black & Green Teas from	30c lb.
Cooked Ham	45c lb.
Roast Pork	40c lb.
Bologna Sausage	15c lb.
Head Cheese, 1-lb. moulds	13c
Smoked Ham, from	28c lb.
Sugar-Cured York Breakfast Roll Bacon	32c lb.

THE ONLY ADDRESS:

A. W. PASKINS
CASH GROCERS
Cor. Hunter and Aylmer Sts
PHONE 317

Give Them Something Useful

With just one more shopping day left and for those who have not solved the problem "What to give" we prepared the following list that will surely help you. Any article mentioned will make an appreciated

Electric Iron $4.00

Christmas Gift

1847 Rogers Bros. "Silver Plate That Wears"

Sugar Shell	$1.00	Tea Spoons, dozen	$4.50
Pickle Fork	$1.00	Dessert Spoons, 1-2 dozen	$4.00
Olive Fork	$1.00	Table Spoons, each	75c
Butter Knife	$1.00	Coffee Spoons, 1-2 dozen	$2.25
Cold Meat Fork	$1.25	Orange Spoons, 1-2 dozen	$2.50
Berry Spoon	$2.00	Fruit Knives, 1-2 dozen	$3.00
Pie Knife	$2.50	Knives and Forks, ¼ doz. case	$5.50

Casseroles $2.50 and $3.00

Brass Goods

Fern Pots, $1.25 to	$2.00
Kettles, $1.50 to	$2.50
Jardinieres, $1.25 to	$6.00
Vases, $1.25 to	$2.50
Candlesticks per pair, $3.50 to	$3.00
Fire Sets, $7.00 to	$11.50
Coal Hods, $13.50 and	$16.00
Ash Trays, 30c to	$2.25
Smoking Sets, $1.25 to	$4.00
Tobacco Jars, $1.25 to	$1.75
Pedestals	$3.50
Umbrella Stands, $4.75 to	$5.75

Carvers in Cases 3.00 to 17.00. Carvers Per Pair 1.50 to 6.50

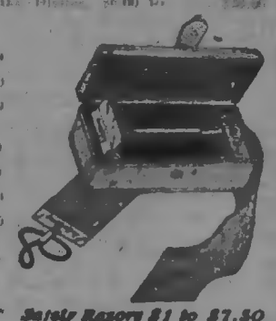
Hollow Ware

Pie Plate, $2.50 to	$4.00
Biscuit Jar, $3.50 to	$5.75
Pickle Stand, $2.75 to	$3.00
Butter Dish, $4.00 to	$6.00
Sugar Bowl, $4.50 and	$4.75
Cake Plate, $3.75 and	$4.50
Bread Trays, $3.00, $4.00 and	$4.00
Dessert Set (cream and sugar)	$6.50
Marmalade	$3.50
Gravy Boat and Plate, $6.00 and	$7.00
Bake Dishes, $6.00 to	$10.00

Carpet Sweepers $3.00 to $4.75

Vacuum Sweeper	$11.50	Rayo Hanging Lamp	$4.00
Sad Irons, per set	$1.50	Alarm Clocks, $1.35 to	$2.50
Express Waggons, $1.50 to	$5.00	Spark Guards $1.75 to	$ 2.00
Hand Sleighs, 75c to	$3.00	Wash Machine, New Century Jr.	$12.00
Velocipedes, $4.50 to	$16.00	Wringers, $4.75 to	$6.00
Skates, per pair 50c to	$5.00	Wringer Stands	$2.50
Rayo Lamp	$3.50	O'Cedar Mop, $1.00 to	$1.50
Food Choppers, $1.50, $2.00, $2.75



Safety Razors $1 to $7.50

See Our Windows With Every Article Priced

Peterboro Hardware Co., Limited

18 Pages

The Evening Examiner

VOL. LVII. No. 147 PETERBOROUGH SATURDAY, DECEMBER 23, 1916 PRICE TWO CENTS

LIVERY
FONTAINE'S LIVERY FOR BEST DRIVING HORSES IN THE CITY. AUTOS AND TAXIS FOR HIRE. CAREFUL DRIVERS AND GOOD SERVICE. 'PHONE 782. 198 HUNTER

Local Views

We have a limited assortment of pretty local views suitably framed for Christmas giving

Prices range from

$1.00 to $5.00

See them on display in show cases and the Studio.

Ivory

140½ Hunter Street

LINER REPORTED SUNK BY SUB.

SPECIAL TO THE EXAMINER:

NEW YORK, Dec. 23. — It is rumoured here that the 11,000-ton liner Voltaire, with 140 men, has been sunk by a submarine in the Atlantic.

ARE YOU SATISFIED

To suffer day in and day out with lame back, rheumatism or kidney trouble with the prospect of these diseases becoming chronic, when you can secure a medicine at small cost that will cure you, Dr. Banta's Kidney and Rheumatic Pills are so reliable and satisfactory in the treatment of these diseases, that if you are a sufferer you will be well advised if you secure a box of them at once and give them a trial. We know what the result will be. They are sold and recommended at Lynch's Drug Store, 168 Hunter street, Peterborough.

Lakefield Council In By Acclamation

LAKEFIELD, Dec. 23.—The Lakefield Council was re-elected by acclamation as follows: H. G. Fitzgerald (Reeve), Councillors J. Hull, W. Madill, S Charlton and A. E. Kennedy.

The following three candidates were re-elected to the School Board: C. S. Tanner, J. Redpath, and J. Waldron.

The following three members were already in: Dr. J. R. Fraser, E. Galvin, and Dr. Gibson.

EVERY MONTH MANY WOMEN

Take ZUTOO Tablets and are free of the Griping Pain and Sick Headaches.

Read what Mrs. Wright says: "I received your sample of Zutoo Tablets, and took them for severe pain (monthly) and headache. At the end of 30 minutes, I was entirely free of pain and experienced no more throughout the period. I suffer a great deal at these times and feel grateful that I have a remedy which affords quick relief. Every woman in the land should know about Zutoo Tablets and what they will do."

Mrs ALLEN WRIGHT, Fulford, Que.

TAKE ZUTOO

Cardinal Mercier's Stern Protest On Hun Slave Raid

Full Text of Message He Sent to German Authorities on Raids Made on Civilian Belgians and Then Deportation To Germany.

TORN BY FORCE FROM HOME

NEW YORK, December 23.—Cardinal Mercier's protest against the deportation of Belgians to Germany, only brief excerpts of which came in the cable despatches, has been received here in its full text, as follows:

Malines—Every day the military authorties deport from Belgium into Germany thousands of inoffensive citizens to oblige them there to perform forced labour.

As early as October 19 we sent to the Governor-General a protest, a copy of which was handed to the representatives of the Holy See, of Spain, the United States and Holland, in Brussels, but the Governor-General replied to it that nothing could be done.

At the time of our protestation the orders of the occupying power threatened only the unemployed; to-day every able-bodied man is carried off, pellmell, assembled in freight cars, and carried off to unknown parts, like a herd of slaves. The enemy proceeds by regions. Vague rumours had come to our ears that arrests had been made in Tournau, Ghent and Alost, but we were not aware of the conditions under which they had been made. Between October 24 and November 2 it occurred in the region of Mons, Quievran, St. Guislain, Jemappes, in bunches of 800 to 1,200 men a day. The next and the following days it occurred in the Arrondissment of Nivelles. Here is a specimen of the announcement concerning the proceedings.

"By order of the Kreischef every male person over 17 years old shall present himself, Place St. Paul, in Nivelles, on November 6., 1916, at 8 o'clock (Belgian time), 8 o'clock (Central time), bringing with him his identification card and eventually his card from the Meldeamt.

"Only small hand baggage is permitted.

"Those not presenting themselves will be forcibly deported into Germany, and will besides be liable to a heavy fine and to long imprisonment.

"Ecclesiastics, physicians, lawyers, and teachers are exempt from this order.

"The mayors will be held responsible for the proper execution of this order, which must be brought immediately to the knowledge of the inhabitants."

Between the announcement and the deportation there is an interval of only 24 hours.

Under pretext of public works to be performed on Belgian soil, the occupying power had attempted to obtain from the communities the lists of workingmen out of work. Most of the communities proudly refused.

Three decrees from the General Government prepared the way for the execution which is in force to-day.

Under date of August 15, 1915, a first decree imposes, under penalty of imprisonment and fine, forced work on the idle, but adds that the work is to be executed in Belgium, and that non-compliance will be adjudged by Belgian tribunals.

NUMEROUS WAR LEVIES.

A second decree, dated May 2, 1916, reserves the right of the German authorities to supply work to the idle, and threatens a fine of three years' imprisonment and 20,000 marks impossible on anybody executing or ordering to be executed work not approved of by the General Government.

Under the same decree, the right to judge infractions which had remained with the Belgian tribunals passes from the Belgian to the German tribunals.

A third decree, dated May 13, 1916, "authorizes the Governors, the military commanders, and the chiefs of arrondissements to order that the unemployed be conducted by force to the places where they must work." This was already forcible working, although in Belgium.

Now it is no longer a queston of forcible working in Belgium, but in Germany, and for the benefit of the Germans.

To give an appearance of plausibility to these violent measures, the occupying power insisted in the German press, both in Germany and Belgium, on these two pretexts—the unemployed constitute a danger to public order and a burden on official benevolence.

To this we replied in a letter addressed to the Governor-General and to the head of the Political Department on October 16, as follows:

"You are well aware that public order is in no wise threatened, and that all influences, moral and civil, would support you spontaneously were it in danger. The unemployed are not a burden on official benevolence; it is not from your funds that they receive assistance."

In his reply the Governor-General no longer urges these two first considerations, but he alleges that "doles to the unemployed, from whatever source they may come at present, must finally be a charge upon our finances, and that it is the duty of a good administrator to lighten such charges"; he adds that "prolonged unemployment would cause our workmen to lose their technical proficiency, and that in the time of peace to come they would be useless to industry."

True, there were other ways in which our finances might have been protected. We might have been spared those war levies which have now reached the sum of one billion francs, and are still mounting up at the rate of forty millions a month; we might have been spared those requisitions in kind, which amount to several thousands of millions, and are exhausting us."

There are other ways of providing for the maintenance of professional skill among our workpeople such as leaving to Belgium industry; its machinery and accessories, its raw materials, and its manufactured goods, which have passed from Belgium into Germany. And it is neither to the

(Continued on Page 8.)

MAGIC
BAKING POWDER
CONTAINS NO ALUM.
The only well known medium priced baking powder made in Canada that does not contain alum and which has all its ingredients plainly stated on the label.
E.W.GILLETT COMPANY LIMITED
TORONTO, ONT.
MAGIC BAKING POWDER
CONTAINS NO ALUM

"Examiner" of Dec. 14, 1882, Recalls Old Times, Prices and Persons

A copy of The Examiner (Weekly) of Thursday, December 14, 1882, recalls a past that knew little of the high cost of living, judging from the following market quotations, supplied by W. H. Wrighton, general grocer, George Street:

Flour, per cwt.—$3.50.
Beef (hinds) per cwt.—$5 to $6.50.
Beef (fore), per cwt.—$5 to $5.50.
Lamb, per lb.—6c to 8c.
Hogs, per cwt.—$7.50 to $7.75.
Butter, roll, per lb.—20c to 25c.
Butter, tub, per lb.—17c to 20c.
Eggs, per doz.—24c to 25c.
Lard, per lb.—13c to 14c.
Potatoes, per bag—75c to 80c.
Apples, per bag—60c to $1.25.
Turkeys, each—60c to $1.00.
Geese, each—40c to 50c.
Ducks, per pair—40c to 60c.
Chickens, per pair—35c to 50c.
Hay, per ton—$10 to $11.
Hardwood, per load—$3.50 to $4.
Fall wheat—86c to 92c.

Among the Advertisers.

Macfarlane Wilson announced in big type, "direct from Germany" 1,200 pairs of vases and 1,000 fancy cups and saucers.

C. B. Routley's was, even then, the headquarters of Santa Claus.

Alex. Graham conducted an 8 cent store, and Thos. Kelly was a prominent dry goods merchant.

Long Bros. were prominent confectioners and R. W. Errett specialized in pianos and organs. Poussette and Roger were leading barristers, and Thos. E. Pope conducted a store, selling men's and women's dress goods and boots and shoes. 'Quack' medicines were extensively advertised.

W. A. Vanderwood, jeweller, carried a half-page Christmas "ad." Other merchants were T. Dolan & Co., ready-made clothing, overcoats, etc.; Geo. W. Rubidge, cigars and tobaccos; McKee and Davidson, hardware merchants; Mills Bros., furriers; M. McFadden, furniture dealer, Butler's grocery shop; Foot and McWhinnie, boot merchants, and others.

Two columns were devoted to Rev. Wm. Bennett's sermon at the anniversary of Springville Presbyterian Church.

The Grand Jury for the December sessions was composed of John Findlay, Jos. Brodie, Paul Costello, J. Gillespie, W. Millan, J. Hunter, J. Lockhart, D. McNevin, J. Cardwell, J. A. Fife, R. Graham, G. A. Harvey, H. Long, Jos. McKee, John Telford and John Beavis. The jury regretted to see so many stalwart prisoners without employment.

A bazaar at the Convent was announced for Dec. 21 and 22, and reports were given of the election of officers of Diamond Loyal Orange Lodge and McWilliams' Lodge of True Blues.

Local town topics included the following:

The first skating carnival will be held on Dec. 29th.

Work on the Missing Link is progressing in spite of the weather. The steam shovel stops for neither storm nor snow.

'Rock Island boots, hand made, just the thing for fall wear. R. Stenson and Son.

Don't be too hard on the bakers for keeping up the price of bread. Recollect that hops are dear, wood is money and labour demands high wages.

Messrs. A. Elliott and F. G. Birney arrived home from the Northwest on Saturday.

Rev. Father Conway of Toronto arrived on Thursday to take the duties of Rev. Father Lynch at St. Peter's church.

Mr. Wm Cresswell, Antrim street, presented this old copy of the Examiner as a reminder of conditions obtaining 34 years ago.

London Estates With An Annual Rent Roll of $250,000 To Go Under Hammer

LONDON, Dec. 21.—Lord Alington's great London estates, which produce a rent roll of about $250,000 a year, with important reversions in five years' time, are to be put up for auction next spring. Engineering works, factories and wharves on the Regent's Canal off the City road and more than 2,500 houses are included in the sale, which has been intrusted to Messrs. Knight, Frank & Rutley, in conjunction with Messrs. Vigers & Co., agents for the estate.

The sale will end the prospect that the "Mobbs millions" may ever go to any of the "rightful heirs" who have turned up at intervals during the last eighty years.

After the passing of the Real Property Limitation Act in 1847 there never was any prospect of success in the pursuit of the glittering bubble, but when the Alington estate has been sold in market overt the purchasers will be the only persons who will ever enjoy the "Mobbs millions."

John Mobbs was a Northamptonshire coachman, who in 1757 married the daughter of his old master, a rich London distiller, and thus became owner of a large agricultural estate in Hoxton and Islington. Building over this land had long been restricted, because the citizens of London possessed the ancient rights of "free archery" over them, and there were stone "archer's marks" dotted over the fields when John Mobbs became their owner.

The estate which he purported to bequeath by his will ran from Old street to the Rosemary Branch Tavern and Tea Gardens—now in Shepperton road, Islington—and then to Frog farm and Frog lane. The latter is now represented by the populous thoroughfare called Queen's place. Popham road, Rheidol terrace and Danbury street.

The Sturts were descended from a family of London merchants, one of whom, Humphrey Sturt, married in 1756 Miss Mary Pitfield, only daughter and heiress of Mr. Charles Pitfield, of Hoxton. Mr. C. B. Sturt, his grandson, thus became the owner of the land on which Pitfield street was built, and this land adjoined the Mobbs estate.

Building began on the southern part of the Mobbs meadows in 1820, and by 1842 they were all covered with houses except the Rosemary Branch Tea Gardens.

The construction of the Regent's Canal had added to the value of Lumping Will's field, Spice Island field, Botany Bay field and the other grazing lands which John Mobbs owned, and wharves and coal yards and canal basins and timber yards have occupied those acres ever since.

Slums grew up there, too, which the ratepayers had to buy up at high prices in order to replace with more healthful dwellings.

The greater part of the Mobbs meadows fell into the hands of the Sturts, the head of whom is now Lord Alington, and as London increases in value the value of the estate grows up. Various descendants of John Mobbs carried on lawsuits and seized empty houses, but aways failed. Many of the original leases did not fall in until 1870, and there was then a recrudescence of hostilities. Pugilists were employed to garrison the empty houses, but Lord Alington won in the end and the Mobbs meadows are now to be dispersed under the auctioneer's hammer.

THE H-3 TO BE "LOGGED OUT."

Proposal Made to Move Grounded Submarine by Method Used with Big Trees.

EUREKA, Cal., Dec. 23.—The submarine H-3, nine feet deep in sand, where she grounded last Thursday, may be "logged out," just as the giant redwood trees of California are moved.

The Navy Department is considering a proposal for a lumber crew to build a skid road down the beach to the vessel, pull her out with a donkey engine and across half a mile of sand to Humboldt Bay, where she may be overhauled and relaunched. Thirty days would be required for the work, it is said.

Views On The Wilson Note

SPECIAL TO THE EXAMINER:

NEW YORK, Dec. 23.—Prominent Republicans asserted that the peace moves of President Wilson and Secretary Lansing showed hypocrisy and incompetency.

PARIS, Dec. 23.—French views re Wilson similar to Britain's. There is feeling, however, that he may have the German back-down in his pocket.

CINCINNATI, O., Dec. 23.—Representative Gardner of Massachusetts says President Wilson blunderingly is helping Germany to escape penalty of her wickedness.

FIFTY MILLIONS FOR SHIPPING

SPECIAL TO THE EXAMINER:

WASHINGTON, Dec. 23.—The United States may spend fifty million for building, purchasing and leasing vessels for merchant marine.

Two Norwegian Steamers Sunk

SPECIAL TO THE EXAMINER:

COPENHAGEN, Dec. 23. — The Norwegian steamers Avona and Murata were both sunk on the way from the United States to Norway.

Premier Gets Big Reception

Examiner Special:

TORONTO, Dec. 23.—Sir Robert Borden and R. B. Bennett, M.P., got big reception here in a plea for national service.

Russians Are On the Offensive

SPECIAL TO THE EXAMINER:

PETROGRAD, Dec. 23.—The Russians continue on the offensive. The Bulgars are being driven back all along the line.

British Very Active at Ypres

SPECIAL TO THE EXAMINER:

LONDON, Dec. 23.—The British are very active in the Ypres-Messines section.

ELECTED BY ACCLAMATION

SPECIAL TO THE EXAMINER:

HASTINGS, Dec. 23.—The Hastings Council was re-elected by acclamation.

ACTIVITY ON VERDUN FRONT

SPECIAL TO THE EXAMINER:

PARIS, Dec. 23. —Intense artillery bombardment continued through yesterday on the Verdun front.

GERMANS ARE BEING DISENFRANCHISED

SPECIAL TO THE EXAMINER:

KITCHENER, Ont., Dec. 23.—Two hundred and forty-six Germans have been disfranchised.

"Why, Tommy," exclaimed the Sunday school teacher, "don't you say your prayers every night before you go to bed?" "Not any more," replied Tommy. "I used to when I slept in a folding bed, though."

Iron Acts Wonders on a Week, Run-Down Nervous System

Puts Roses in Pale Cheeks

Give you pep, vigour, and 100 p.c. more strength in 14 days.

Dr. Mainprize of Saskatchewan, advises people who are weak, run-down, anaemic and nervous, to start to-day to strengthen themselves by taking Iron for their blood. It has always been an undoubted fact that Iron was an excellent remedy for the blood, but owing to its constipating, nauseating effect it has been eliminated from use. Doctors have overcome this by combining the iron with phosphorus which forms a new iron and at the same time the phosphorus used acts as one of the greatest nerve tonics known to medical science. You now have what is known to your druggist as Ironized Phosphorus with Iron. Dr. Mainprize finds this tonic to be four fold in action. It charges the system with new blood, stronger nerves, greater strength and a new Digestion. Your stomach will now be ready for good, big hearty meals that will be thoroughly digested. Start to-day and take Ironized Phosphorus with Iron if you are thin, pale, weak, tired, run down, anaemic, nervous, etc., and in two days you will be full of pep, bright, vigorous, alert, attaining the glow of happiness. Stop taking all sorts of worthless patent medicines, cheap laxatives, for what you long for will cure kidney troubles, stomach pains, rheumatism, etc. What you want is good strong pure blood and strong nerves, making your system immune to all these everyday complaints.

Ironized Phosphorus with Iron, as most of us here does not contain one atom of arsenic or strychnine, which is found so harmful in almost every tonic. Arsenic and strychnine act only as a temporary stimulant, making you feel better only for the time you are taking them; while Ironized Phosphorus with Iron goes to the root of the trouble, builds you up, strengthens your nerves, giving you a new lease of life. It is dispensed only by one druggist in each city. Agent for Peterborough is F. C. Weber, Charlotte Street.

CANADA

NATIONAL SERVICE

PUBLIC NOTICE is hereby given under the authority of the "War Measures Act, 1914," that during the first week in January, 1917, an inventory will be made by the Post Office Authorities, of every male between the ages of sixteen and sixty-five, residing in Canada.

National Service Cards and addressed envelopes for their return to Ottawa have been placed in the hands of all Postmasters for distribution amongst the persons required to fill in such cards. Every male person of the prescribed ages is required to fill in and return a card enclosed in an envelope within ten days of its receipt.

Any person who fails to receive a card and envelope may obtain the same upon application to the nearest Postmaster.

R. B. BENNETT,
Director General.

Ottawa, 15th December, 1916.

GOD SAVE THE KING.

NATIONAL SERVICE WEEK : 1st to 7th JANUARY.

Huyler's AND Liggett's Chocolates

We have a nice fresh stock of Christmas packages each containing a special assortment of chocolates.

We make it easy to select the very package you require.

Prices from

25c TO $4.00

Per Box

McDERMID & JURY
The Safe Satisfactory Druggists
COR. GEORGE & CHARLOTTE

"There's Mrs. Merrygirl's husband over there. Somehow he doesn't look like a very bright chap to me. Does he know anything?" "Know anything, my dear! He doesn't even suspect anything."

The Associated Board of the Royal Academy of Music
Royal College of Music
LONDON, ENGLAND.
for Local Examinations in Music
PATRON: His Majesty the King.

Calendar Examinations 1917
Open to the Pupils of all Teachers of Music.

The Annual Examinations in Practical Music and Theory will be held throughout Canada in May and June, 1917. An examination in Theory only will be held November 11th 1916, application to be made by October 1st 1916.

An exhibition value about $100 offered annually; also a Gold and 2 Silver Medals. Syllabus, Music for the examinations and all particulars may be obtained on application to
H. WARING DAVIS, 777 Hunter Street, Montreal. (Resident Secretary for Canada.)

Parents and Teachers wishing to enter their pupils for these examinations should communicate with the secretary at once and have their names placed on mailing list.

Looking Ahead

To be a success in this world you must plan ahead. The person who just takes things as they come, never gets anywhere. PLAN AHEAD, decide what you are going to be and then PREPARE. No matter what line of business you select you NEED a Business Training.

There are no boundaries to the financial future and success of the young man or woman who has a Business Education.

Winter Term Opens Tuesday, January 2nd

PETERBORO BUSINESS COLLEGE LTD
J. A. McKone, Prin.
PHONE 588-1441

PICTURES FOR GIFTS

Crayons, Oils, Water Colors, Sepias, Etchings and Paints

1000 PICTURES TO CHOOSE FROM

Loader & Co. have just received a Large Holiday Shipment. Come and see the Special Display and prices for Christmas.

Come Early and Secure First Choice.
OPEN EVENINGS

Loader & Co.
301 George Street

OUR SERIAL STORY

ADVERTISING RATES

Measurement, Agate, 14 lines One Inch
Transient Display ..... 35c per inch
Transient Reading ..... 40c per inch
Minimum Contract Rate for Display, 100 inch Contract, 12c per inch
Minimum Contract Rate for Readers, 20c per inch.
Legal and other notices, 8c per line for first insertion; 4c per line for subsequent insertions.

CONDENSED ADVERTISEMENTS.

Minimum charge 15c, of 1c per word for first insertion; ½c per word for subsequent insertions. Add 10c to cover postage or agents, if out of town.

BIRTHS, MARRIAGES AND DEATHS

Daily Examiner 25c
Daily and Weekly Examiner 50c
All advertisements subject to the approval of the Management.
Address:
THE EXAMINER, PETERBOROUGH

PERSONAL.

ADVERTISERS ARE REMINDED THAT IT is contrary to the provisions of the postal law to deliver letters addressed to initials only; an advertiser desiring to conceal his or her identity may accomplish this by having replies directed to a Box at this office; ten cents added to the cost of advertisement will ensure the forwarding of letters to any out-of-town address.

GRAND TRUNK RAILWAY SYSTEM

Christmas And New Year Fares

SINGLE FARE—Dec. 23, 24, 25 good for return until Dec. 26th; also Dec. 30 31st, 1916 and Jan. 1st, 1917, valid for return until Jan. 2nd, 1917.

FARE and ONE-THIRD—Dec. 21, 22, 23, 24, good for return until Dec 27th; also Dec. 28, 29, 30 and 31st, 1916, valid for return until Jan. 3rd, 1917.

Above reduced fares apply between all stations in Canada east of Port Arthur and to Detroit and Port Huron, Mich; Buffalo, Black Rock, Niagara Falls and Suspension Bridge, N. Y.

Tickets now on sale at all G. T. R. Ticket Offices.

J. B. DORAN, 'PHONE 259

CANADIAN PACIFIC

Don't send your wishes by mail; present them in person. The folks will be happy to see you.

CHRISTMAS EXCURSIONS via CANADIAN PACIFIC

SINGLE FARE—Going December 23, 24 and 25th. Return limit Dec. 26th.

FARE AND ONE-THIRD — Going Dec. 21, 22, 23 and 24th. Return limit, December 27th.

Purchase in advance. Tickets on sale now Any Ticket Agent Can. Pacific Railway

JAS. SHINNES, Local Ticket Agent

Railway Time Tables

GRAND TRUNK RAILWAY.
CORRECTED JUNE 6, 1916.

7.00 a.m.—For Lakefield.
8.10 a.m.—For Port Hope, Cobourg, and points east, connecting at Port Hope for Toronto, arriving at Toronto at 11.05 a.m.
8.25 a.m.—For Hastings, Campbellford, Sterling, Madoc, Belleville, Deseronto, Napanee, Kingston, Brockville, Montreal.
8.30 a.m.—For Lindsay, Orillia, Collingwood, Midland, Penetanguishene, North Bay, Toronto, Hamilton, Niagara.
11.40 a.m.—Mid-day express for Toronto, reaching Toronto at 3.15 p.m.
12.30 p.m.—For Lakefield.
11.00 a.m.—For Millbrook, Port Hope and all points on the main line, east and west. Close connections at Port Hope with International Limited for Toronto, Detroit and Chicago.
1.30 p.m.—For Hastings, Campbellford, Sterling, Madoc, Belleville, Deseronto, Napanee, Kingston and Brockville.
3.35 p.m.—For Lindsay, Orillia, Midland, North Bay, Toronto, Hamilton, Niagara Falls, Buffalo, New York.
5.40 p.m.—For Lakefield.
6.45 p.m.—Local for Lindsay.
9.05 p.m.—For Millbrook, Port Hope, Belleville, Kingston, Brockville, Montreal and Boston.

CANADIAN PACIFIC RAILWAY.
CORRECTED JUNE 5, 1916.

*10.30 p.m.—Indian River, Norwood, Havelock and Tweed.
*11.27 a.m.—Kingston, Smith's Falls, Ottawa, Montreal, Quebec, St. John, N.B., Boston, and New York.
*1.20 a.m.—Norwood, Havelock, Tweed, Perth, Smith's Falls and Ottawa.
11.27 a.m.—Norwood, Havelock, Tweed, Perth, Smith's Falls, Ottawa, Montreal and intermediate points and all points east of Montreal.

GOING WEST—
*8.40 a.m.—Toronto, Owen Sound, Guelph, Goderich, Hamilton, Buffalo, New York, Galt, Woodstock, St. Thomas, London, Chatham, Detroit and Chicago.
*5.05 a.m.—Myrtle and North Toronto.
*7.30 a.m.—Toronto, Hamilton, Buffalo, Rochester and New York, Intermediate points between Peterborough and Toronto.
3.15 p.m.—Lindsay, Orillia, Port Nelson and Intermediate points
3.45 p.m.—Toronto, Hamilton, Brantford, Buffalo, New York, Guelph, Galt, Woodstock, London, Detroit and Chicago.
*6.05 p.m.—North Toronto and West Toronto and intermediate points
*Daily. Daily, except Sunday.

ALLAN LINE

ST. JOHN, N.B. TO LIVERPOOL
Grampian ..... Dec. 27th
Scotian ..... Jan. 6th
Scandinavian ..... Jan. 20th
Grampian ..... Jan. 27th
Scotian ..... Feb. 10th
Scandinavian ..... Feb. 24th

ST. JOHN, N.B. TO GLASGOW
Pretorian ..... Dec. 27th
Pretorian ..... Jan. 17

For full information apply local agents or
THE ALLAN LINE
95 King St., West, TORONTO

CANADIAN PACIFIC OCEAN SERVICES LIMITED
MANAGERS AND AGENTS

ALLAN LINES

Lv. Liverpool Lv. St. John
Dec. 16 Grampian Dec. 28
Dec. 23 Scotian Jan. 6
Jan. 3 Scandinavian Jan. 20
Lv. GLASGOW Lv. ST JOHN
Dec 9 Pretorian Dec. 27

CAN. PAC. LINES

Lv. Liverpool Lv. St. John
Dec. 7 *Lake Manitoba Dec. 27
Dec 15 Metagama Dec. 6
Dec. 29 Missanabie Jan. 13
*Cabin only.

For Rates, Reservations, Etc. Apply Local Agents, or ALLAN LINE—85 King St. W.
D. E. SUCKLING—1 King St. E.
General Agents, Toronto

PASSPORTS
Application Forms Furnished to Passengers on Request.

TELEPHONE 790
WHEN YOU WANT YOUR
Piano or Organ Tuned
ALL WORK GUARANTEED
W. E. Cunningham, 303 Weller St.

Our Poultry Department

is now open and we are paying high spot cash prices for good plump birds (alive), delivered Peterborough.

We can supply farmers and Poultry raisers with fattening crates at a small rent, to be returned us in good condition at the end of the season.

A premium paid on crate milk fed chickens. For particulars apply to—

W. SCOTT Co., Ltd.
1126 Robinson Street
Phone 264

"DESTINY"

By CHARLES NEVILLE BUCK

(Continued from yesterday)

Their mother entered the room as he spoke and paused at the threshold. Her two sons went forward to meet her, and for a moment, she stood looking into Hamilton's eyes. Under her gaze their heat of conquest softened into tenderness and she brushed back the hair from his forehead as she shook her head and her eyes became misty.

"My egotistical boy," she said in a low voice. "My dear, egotistical boy!"

Yamuro appeared in the doorway, bearing a telegram, which Hamilton Burton swiftly opened.

"I am bringing in the pelt," were the highly informative words. "Hendricks accompanies me. Ruferton."

The financier crumpled the slip in his hand and smiled.

"It's fortunate," he murmured half aloud, "very fortunate for Ruferton that he didn't fail."

CHAPTER XVI

When Mr. Ruferton and Mr. Hendricks presented themselves at the door of Hamilton Burton's house, the clock was striking nine. After divesting himself of his overcoat the politician stood awaiting before the open fire with the manner of one who faces a doubtful half hour and who faces it with grave anxiety.

Ruferton meanwhile made opportunity to slip his portfolio to the butler with the request that Mr. Burton should run through its contents before he came downstairs and that was a request with which his employer fully complied.

Yet within a few minutes the financier entered the library, his face lit with a sunny smile of cordiality. Hendricks took a hasty step forward.

"Mr. Burton," he questioned tensely, "in heaven's name, what is this menace of which you sent me warning?"

"It is grave enough," came the prompt response, "to warrant my asking you to come at whatever inconvenience. But, first may I put to you a question? Will you sell to me your holdings of Coal and Ore stock—at a price well above the market?" The question came casually at a moment when Hendricks burned for personal information and it took him off his feet. Incidentally it informed him subtly that whatever Hamilton Burton was willing to do for him would be predicated on what he was willing to do for Hamilton Burton. Burton bargains were rarely charities.

"My Coal and Ore is not for sale," he answered vaguely.

"Though I offer your own price?"

"No. The question is not one of price, but of loyalty."

"Loyalty to Malone and Harrison?"

Among others, yes. To the heads of the Consolidated group. Now will you please give me the news for which I have come a long distance?"

Hamilton Burton's eyes grew flinty. "Do you not recognize in me one of the heads of Consolidated?" he curtly inquired.

Already the active mind of this successful and tricky manipulator of politics was piecing together fragments and glimpsing the connection between the threatened scandal and Burton's anxiety to buy. He became wary, covering himself with an assumption of boldness.

"To be candid, Mr. Burton, your effort to augment your holdings so largely and suddenly on the eve of the annual meeting might indicate that the interests of yourself and Malone run counter each to each. Why should I antagonize those in supreme power?"

"I shall be equally frank," Hamilton Burton came close and his lips drew themselves in a taunt line. "Tomorrow I shall wrest from the Malone gang this supreme power in which you speak. I mean to force Malone and Harrison to their knees and to assume complete mastery."

The state senator lifted his brows ironically. "It's a large contract," he commented. "So you call on me to ship you the ace you need to fill. Well I can't see it."

"Then I'll ask you. I expect you to remain, as you have shown yourself in the past, a practical man. I expect to realize that you have more to gain by allying yourself with a victorious leader than in walking the plank at the heels of Malone and Harrison."

"I am so practical," the other reminded him, "that I want stronger evidence than mere assertion that you can overthrow these men."

"At all events I can overthrow you." The words were suddenly fierce.

Hamilton Burton stood on the table several sheets of paper, drawn from the breast pocket of his evening coat and previously from Ruferton's portfolio. "That memorandum in the hands of certain civic-reform societies would sound the death knell of your political future. You talk of what evidence you want—that would satisfy a grand jury."

The master schemer glanced hurriedly at the too-familiar contents of the typed pages and gasped.

"A half-million dollars!" he exclaimed weakly.

"Incontrovertible evidence," Hamilton assured him, "as to how you, while a member of the state senate spent five hundred thousand dollars to secure the Coal and Ore charter. Malfeasance, bribery—you know the legal terms in which such conduct might be defined better than I."

For a moment Hendricks laughed—then with a well-simulated coolness he retorted, "A weapon hardly available to your hand, Mr. Burton. You will recall that I acted for you. To accuse me as agent would be to convict yourself as principal."

But Hamilton's laugh was the more confident.

"Think again. I may have erred in granting you to free a hand as an agent, but I left the details to you. My only offense was over-confidence in you. It was not I who debauched a senate. Moreover, this accusation will not come from me—ostensibly. It will come through the press tomorrow morning—and come hot."

Hendricks drew back a step and his face paled.

"By God!" he exclaimed in a voice of betrayed bitterness. "There is only one name for this—sheer blackmail."

"In that case," warned Burton ominously, "I would in your position, refrain from using any name. I have neither the time to bargain nor the inclination to plead. The bill that charges my railroad train must take his chance. The engine will not stop. You can rise with me to power and rely on my stanch friendship, or—well, there won't be much left to go down with Malone."

The two men stood facing each other, one implacably resolute, the other in a torture of quandry. At last, Burton added:

"You may believe me when I tell you that I cannot be legally touched in this matter, and that you can be sent to Sing Sing. Choose your course—and choose quickly. I offer you a fair chance between uniting your fortunes with a rising dynasty and shackling them to one which is tattering."

Hendricks took a step in the direction of the door. "From here," he said, "I go direct to the district attorney."

Burton stretched a hand toward the telephone and smiled as he suggested. "Whom you will find so busy with preparations for prosecuting you that he will not at once find leisure to prosecute for you."

Hendricks sought to veil his terror under a seeming of bluster.

"Will you buy the district attorney, too? Some men are not purchasable."

"That may resolve itself into a matter of price. I am shopping in tenement stores, Mr. Hendricks."

The politician had been thinking fast as he walked. Suppose Burton had the strength of which he boasted? His own interest was to stand with winners, not losers, but before he changed flags he wished to be sure that he jumped toward victory. That determined, the rest was expediency.

"Let's come to a decision." Hamilton Burton showed just a glow of brick red on his cheekbones that argued an early break in his over-strained temper.

"If I am a tyrant at least I do not call myself a lord-protector. Will you sell at your own price and go with me to the top—or refuse and take your chances of substituting the state-prison for the bench?"

An abrupt change came over Mr. Hendricks. He smiled through his pallor. "Are you prepared to show me that if I make common cause with you, there is no chance of defeat?"

"I offer you my personal and positive assurance—and access to my papers within an hour—during which time you will not be bound." The reply was prompt, the voice hypnotic in its persuasiveness.

Hendrick's lighted a cigar, and nodded. "Very well," he announced shortly. "But understand this. If I jump to you I jump with all four feet. It happens that certain other proxies have been put into my hands—by Malone interests. Had I not come to town I should have mailed them today—as it is I still have them. I shall vote them as you direct."

With this chameleon turn of complexion, the astute contriver realized that he had scored. To Hamilton Burton's eyes came a quick flash of gratification and he held out his hand. "If I can be implacable in battle," he said quietly, "I can also be a friend to my friends. I told you that in an hour I could guarantee victory—or release you. I am awaiting two men with whom I have yet to deal. Will you also wait?"

Mr. Hendricks bowed. "This—this evidence—" he questioned suddenly. "Has any other possible enemy access to it?"

Hamilton Burton smiled as he shook his head. "No, it is in my sole keeping. I shall not surrender it to other possible enemies."

With the two bankers, whom Tarring shortly ushered in, Hamilton came even more promptly to conclusions.

"Malone is ill," he began. "Any alarms thrown into the Street just now would start pandemonium. If tomorrow should bring such conditions, would your banks suffer?"

Fairley of the Metallic shook his head gravely. "If a panic developed just now many institutions would go to the wall. As to how many or which ones, I could not answer off-hand."

Henry of the Depot supplemented with added detail. "The national mind is hysterical beyond the usual and this is a time of heightening danger. It's the period when $200,000,000 are needed for crop-transportation and delivery. That means financial equinox."

(To be continued.)

Off for the Front!

Men and munitions are needed—munitions of every kind. Not alone shells and guns and trappings, but

WRIGLEY'S

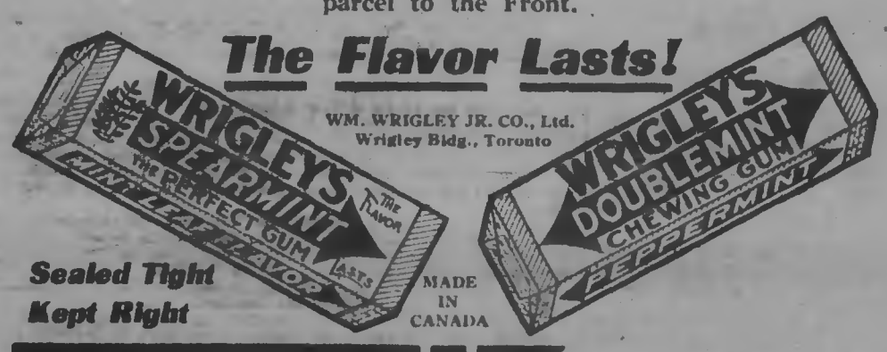
Every mail from the forces at the front brings urgent requests for more and more of this sustaining, refreshing sweetmeat. It relieves thirst and fatigue. It is a delicious antiseptic and often avoids the necessity of drinking impure water.

Helps appetite and digestion.

Send a few bars, a packet or a box with every parcel to the Front.

The Flavor Lasts!

WM. WRIGLEY JR. CO., Ltd.
Wrigley Bldg., Toronto



Sealed Tight Kept Right

MADE IN CANADA

UNION BANK OF CANADA

Are Your Children Learning to Save Money?

Each maturing son and daughter should have a personal Savings Account in the Union Bank of Canada, with opportunities to save regularly, and training in how to expend money wisely. Such an education in thrift and saving will prove invaluable in later life.

PETERBOROUGH BRANCH C. H. PENNEFATHER, Manager
NORWOOD BRANCH . . . D. B. CUTCLIFFE, Manager
HASTINGS BRANCH J. M. THOMSON, Manager.
STIRLING BRANCH W. S. MARTIN, Manager

FOR SALE

LOTS

On The Late Senator Cox Homestead

Beautifully Situated

Easy Terms of Payment

Apply—437 GEORGE ST.

DR. DeVAN'S FRENCH PILLS A reliable Monthly Regulating Pill for Women. $5 a box or three for $10, sold at all Drug Stores, or mailed to any address on receipt of price. THE BOBELL DRUG Co., St. Catharines, Ontario.

PHOSPHONOL FOR MEN. Restored Vim and Vitality; for Nerve and Brain; increases "grey matter"; a Tonic—will build you up, $3 a box, or two for $5, at drug stores, or by mail on receipt of price. The Scobell Drug Co., St. Catharines Ontario.

Sold by all drug stores.

Corns Drop Out INSTANT RELIEF

Paint on Putnam's Corn Extractor tonight, and corns feel better in the morning. Magical the way "Putnam's" a corn for all time. No pain. Cure guaranteed. Get a 25c. bottle of "Putnam's" Extractor to-day. eases the pain, destroys the roots, kills

Good Results

Only can come from having your

PROPERTY INSURED AGAINST LOSS BY FIRE

in the Most Reliable Companies.

Settlement of Losses, to which we give Personal attention are

PROMPT AND LIBERAL

You will find in our office the Strongest of the British, American and Canadian companies doing business in Canada.

Davis-Thompson Co., Limited

INSURANCE & GENERAL AGENCY
435 GEORGE STREET Phone 40

A PAGE OF SPECIAL INTEREST TO EVERY WOMAN

The Great Body-Builder—

BOVRIL

On sale at all DRUGGISTS and STORES. Call for it at the FOUNTAIN or RESTAURANT.

THE HOME CIRCLE COLUMN

Pleasant Evening Reveries—A Column Dedicated to Tired Mothers as They Join the Home Circle at Evening Tide consider that your visitors come to see you, and not your pantry.

CRUDE THOUGHTS FROM THE EDITORIAL PEN

• • •

Let the children have a good time—childhood does not last long. Age is incapable of the fine enthusiasm of youth.

• • •

A hovel is often more a home than a palace. If the spirit of congenial friendship links not the hearts of the inmates of a dwelling it is not home.

• • •

Times are not near so hard with some men when they want a plug of tobacco as when their wives ask for a pair of shoes.

• • •

In a world where God lets the sun shine, the birds sing and the flowers grow happy love to each other, man should not be the only saddened object.

• • • • •

Let the path of life start whence it may, and let the way be steep and stony if it must, there are sunny fields far up the heights for those who have faith and resolution to climb them.

• • • • •

Parents often say, "I live for my children." They should do more than that—they should live with their children, letting their boys and girls feel that their interests are their parents' interests also.

• • • • •

What is needed most of all in training up children is example. What they see and hear and take in by absorption in their young years, will, in most cases, become the ruling traits of their lives.

• • • • •

How many hungry hearts there are in the world hungering for recognition, for a word of praise! The hungriest heart in this world is an unmarried woman whose husband never gives her a word of praise.

• • • • •

A man thinks he knows it all, until a woman begins to enlighten him.

• • • • •

We often wonder why it is so many young men can be seen loafing upon the streets until a late hour of night. Many of them are from our best homes. The fathers of these young men, many of them at least, are numbered among our best citizens. Is their cow or their horse or even their favourite dog was away from home after dark they would be out in a search, but their own children may roam the town all night with apparently no effort being made to find them.

When young people go into an engagement for life as carelessly as they go to a picnic, they must expect to pay for their folly with their bitter experience. With thousands, a marriage engagement is a matter of boyish or girlish caprice. If wise marriages are made in heaven, then the hasty, loose selfish sort are the handwork of the devil.

• • • • •

Henry Ward Beecher once said "I think I am more grateful to God for mother and sister of the substantial purity, purity and nobility of womanhood, than for almost anything else in this world. After a long life I can say that I have not lost faith in woman. The longer I live the more invaluable is my regard for [illegible]. I should look upon it as a fatal canker in my soul if I fell from my confidence in the general trustworthiness, honesty, honour and charity of womanhood. Therefore, when I hear young men, or men in middle life, or old men, cast gross aspersions on the character of women, I feel as if I were in a den of hissing serpents.

• • • • •

Have you noticed how large a number of persons with whom you stop to have a little chat, speak of the dark blotches of human nature in the lives of someone? We will not except the person of the highest moral standing in the community. Nine out of every ten persons in a ten minutes' talk will bring up the defects in some one's life, and one out of a hundred may possibly startle you by speaking of the good that may be found in most every individual. There is no life without its defects, neither without its excellencies, and what a different colouring it would give to humanity if the rule was reversed to what it is. And, reader, it rests with you and us to start the reform, and with such a good start as we may be able to give it, we are sure it will be contagious if we persevere. For when neighbours speak naught of ill and only laud the good that is in us we will not be far from that glorious period dominated the millennium.

• • • • •

Don't let the sunshine in nature become cloudy since you are growing older.

• • • • •

The strength of a nation is in the intelligent and well-ordered homes of the people.

• • • • •

No one is useless in this world who lightens the burdens of it for another.

• • • • •

How much of your success do you owe to your wife? It is only just to own this fact before her day by day. It will make her happy and keep her youthful.

• • • • •

He is a selfish being who having trouble in his trade or calling or profession, always brings his troubles home for the purpose of making everyone else miserable.

To Keep Skin Healthy, Youthful, Wrinkleless

Now that the cold season is here, be especially careful to keep your skin in fine condition. You know how conspicuous complexion defects appear under the bright light of the drawing or ball room. Also how very evident are some makeups when similarly illuminated. I have myself discarded cosmetics entirely, using a process which gives far better results, and which leaves no trace on the skin. At night I smear on a thin coat of ordinary mercolized wax, washing it off next morning. This gradually absorbs the devitalized particles of surface skin just as gradually the more youthful skin beneath comes forth providing a complexion as clear, smooth and delicately tinted as a young girl's. Get an ounce of mercolized wax at your druggist's and try this remarkable treatment.

Remember, too, that wrinkles, even the finer lines, are not easily concealed in a brilliantly lighted room. You can quickly obliterate these hateful marks by bathing your face in a solution of powdered saxolite, one ounce, dissolved in witch hazel, one-half pint. And your face won't look sticky, as after using pastes.—Aunt Sally in Woman's Realm.

Tips For The Housewife

Every wise housewife knows that there is a distinction between the processes of "baking" and "roasting" meats. Baking means cooking with indirect heat (in the upper oven of the gas range), while roasting means cooking with direct heat and is done in the broiling oven by placing the meat directly under the flame.

Veal, in contrast with other meats, needs slow baking, but all other meats can be roasted, although for chicken and fresh ham it is well to begin in the broiling oven, searing well, and then finish by baking.

When roasting meat in the lower oven the door should be left open for the circulation of air through the oven. This prevents smoke and odors. Meats, whether roasted or baked, should be tasted occasionally. A little water can be put into the pan when starting to roast fresh ham, but in the searing no other meats. However, a little water can be poured into the pan with chicken after the fowl has been thoroughly seared with the flame.

A piece of meat weighing over six pounds is considered by many good cooks as too big for roasting. The most successful method of cooking a broiler and then bake it in the upper oven.

Cotson's
WHICH OF THESE DO YOU PREFER?
On the dressing table of most Canadian women you will discover one of these three Talcums. Alike in their smooth lasting, their purity and unvegetable content—they differ only on the perfume question. Which do you prefer?
IDEAL ORCHID
POMANDER
VIOLET
25c.
For Sale by all druggists
SOVEREIGN PERFUMES Limited
146-148 Brock Ave., Toronto

An Afternoon Tea

THOUGHTFUL GIFTS.

At this season the wild and frantic giver of gifts hastens abroad to seek what she may purchase. In the mad race to get the most for the least money, to just "complete the list," small thought is given to the needs and wants of the recipients. There is a story running in one of the current magazines called "The Stingy Receiver." It shows the lack of appreciation of the persons who were loaded with gifts, and who thanked the giver en bloc, so to speak instead of appreciatively of the individual objects she had presented. So being an invalid and full of whimsies and with plenty of money, she began to give everybody gifts notoriously inappropriate and unwished for, and then laid back and enjoyed their dismay.

There are no doubt every Christmas many stingy receivers. The reason is not hard to find, there are so many careless givers. The slapdash gift has no worth to it, unless thought and affection go with it, and with how very few gifts any of the last named quality is associated. This year more than any other during the life time of the readers of this page, the Christmas list should be cut down. Those gifts which are merely "give and takes," and which are quickly put in the passalong class should be rigorously cut out. There is such crying need for every penny which can be spared to keep alive and barely covered those sufferers across the ocean that any many that can be devoted to their care should be.

THE INDIVIDUAL TOUCH.

Taking then, the idea that this year it will be wise to put more time and thought into your gifts, and less money, look about for what will give real pleasure. Let there be no stingy receivers on your list. There are to be found, or if you have skillful fingers you can make, charming and artistic things which will make charming gifts. Sofa cushions offer a wide field of decorative interest and many opportunities to achieve individual effects. Sometimes they are absolutely plain, of velvet, corded silk, linen, denun, in bright modern colourings. They may be batiked, block printed or stencilled, or they may be embroidered in wool, in cotton, or silk, but their value lies in their decorative groupings and colourings far more than in their individual conception.

But be sure you select the colouring and design which will go suitably with the room where it is to be placed, which will be a joy, not an eyesore.

Brilliant bits of modern or antique glass lend great interest to a room decoration. One piece of Bristol glass of superb amethyst, deep blue, wine red or Venetian green, has many times more piquancy and distinction if judiciously selected and placed, than the universally coveted art treasures of European loot. Royal purple muslin glass, baccarat glass in red and green and old Dorflinger are standard makes of American glass which can be effectively used and are very moderate in price. They may be used purely decoratively or as receptacles for flowers.

"THE NEW INTERIOR"

A book with this name has recently been published, and gives many helpful hints with regard to the small touches which add so much to the effectiveness of a room. Many of these "touches" will bring beauty to almost any room.

The use of lamps has given a wide range of objects to choose from. Here are some ideas which can be varied to suit taste.

"An interesting table reading lamp had a mirror black pottery base and a dome shaped shade of tightly stretched orange silk outlined and edged with a narrow black cord. Another had a drum shaped shade of thick black paper with a bright modern painted decoration. While the light could not filter through, a brilliant orange-lining forced it strongly downward. It had a slender dark pottery base touched with green and red. Delightful lamp shades may be made on wire frames of shirred silk in two or three colour varieties. The various colours are used individually to form broad stripes, and if one of the colours chosen is yellow the shades need not be lined. Soft rose, blue and yellow, black, green and yellow or yellow, orange and gray give striking effects. Silk fringe composed of the three colours in the shade is an excellent finish. A black and white lamp shade often gives snap to a room, or a deep coral one lined with yellow and touched with black."

FASHION TURNS HER THOUGHTS TO MISSES' CLOTHES

The One-Piece Dress Peculiarly Becoming to Youth

GIRLISH STYLES FOR EVENING

New York, December 22.

The time has long since passed when fashions for misses were of secondary importance in the scheme of things. The fashioning of clothes for young people now receives as much attention as those of their elders, and certain French designers have of late been specially concentrating their efforts on producing modes for young girls and small children.

Whether for school, college or the various social and outdoor activities which enter in the lives of all young people, we find an unlimited variety of styles.

One-Piece Box-Pleated Dress for Misses.

At present there is a distinct relation between the styles for grown-ups and those reaching the grown-up stage. The slim silhouette, to which women have taken with so much zest, is reflected in misses styles, and certainly there is nothing more befitting the slender grace of youthful figures than the modes which now prevail.

THE ONE-PIECE DRESS PECULIARLY ADAPTED TO YOUTH.

In one-piece style are the majority of dresses, whether they are to be slipped over the head or closed at the centre back or front. Especially becoming are those that hang from a deep square yoke, and of these there are many varieties, for below the yoke the material may be side-pleated, box-pleated with groups of large or small pleats, or just simply gathered. To define the waistline, a leather belt, a regulation cloth belt, or a long, narrow girdle is considered correct with this type of frock. The belt being just an important factor, then, it is not surprising to find many novelties in that line. One of the latest is a belt which starts out by being made wide in front, but finally becomes divided into two narrow strips at the sides and the back. The upper halves fasten at the back and the lower halves are knotted loosely and hang down the back. Exceedingly attractive, also, are the pockets which give added charm to these dresses. Pointed, square, draped, gathered or plain, they appear in every conceivable form.

HER PRACTICAL AND FORMAL DRESSES

For practical wear, the young girl wears dresses of the popular wools, such as serge, gabardine velours, broadcloth, checks and plaids. There is little trimming on these frocks; perhaps a touch of bead or wool embroidery, a contrasting collar, soutache braid, or flat braid applied in rows. The large assortment of fashionable colors, including burgundy, plum, taupe, brown and green, has not ousted navy blue, which is still a favorite.

For her social activities, sweet sixteen may have her choice of soft chiffon, velvet, velveteen, taffeta, satin, charmeuse, silk-poplin of Georgette crepe, depending on the occasion for which her dress is intended. For dance frocks, tulle, silk net, chiffon and Georgette are particularly girlish, while for a very elaborate dress nothing is more charming than the silver tissue cloths. Her slippers are of satin to match the color of her dress, or else of silver or gold tissue.

HOUSEHOLD HINTS

If the lacquer wears off your brass bedstead it is advisable to scrub the bedstead to be relacquered by a competent man who does this sort of work, because the old lacquer will probably have to be taken off before the new lacquer is put on.

To rectify damp walls strip the wall and give two coats of varnish in which resin has been dissolved; or, better still, though rather expensive, line them with lead-paper or tinfoil. The walls may then with safety be decorated with gold, bronze, or delicately tinted paper.

To remove marks on lavoratory basins caused by water dripping from the taps, nothing is better than powdered chalk mixed with a little liquid ammonia. An old tooth brush is an excellent thing with which to apply it. Rub till these marks disappear, and then well rinse.

Do Not Worry About Pimples

Cuticura Soap to cleanse and purify; Cuticura Ointment to soothe and heal. For pimples, redness, roughness, dandruff, falling hair and red, rough hands these fragrant super-creamy emollients are most effective.

Sample Free by Mail With 32-p. Skin Book. Address post-card: "Cuticura, Dept. 20, Boston, U.S.A." Sold throughout the world.

Cuticura Will Remove Them

Baker's Cocoa

stands all tests of laboratory and home.

It is pure, it is delicious, it is healthful.

Walter Baker & Co. Limited

ESTABLISHED 1780

MONTREAL, CANADA · DORCHESTER, MASS.

"I see your neighbour, the banker, is looking for a cashier." "What! Again! He only engaged a new one a little while ago." "Yes; that's the one he's looking for."

Thomson — "See that portrait of Brown? Isn't it a speaking likeness?" Johnson — "Yes, it is — so speaking that it might be asking one of us to lend him a dollar!"

EXAMINER PATTERN SERVICE

GIRL'S DRESS.

By Anabel Worthington.

In the designs of children's dresses we see more and more of a splendid simplicity—the simplicity that it takes genius to achieve in giving a diversity of style.

To capture your fancy, the little dress in the illustration, which slips on over the head, is very much "middy style," with its laced front, shield and sailor collar. The long sleeve may finish with a flare cuff or without a cuff as preferred. When plaided or checked material makes the dress it will be best to have the collar, cuffs and shield of plain goods.

A bought belt is arranged over the joining of the skirt, which has six plaits in each half, arranged to give a panel front.

Tub fabrics are good for play wear when a coat is worn. Among the fabrics are repp, chambray, linen, gingham and St. Nicholas cloth. These, however, are hardly warm enough to be cosy when autumn days grow chill; serge, gabardine and the wool plaids and checks are better for school dresses. To get the maximum of worth, buy the pattern and copy the model.

The dress pattern, No. 8,030, cuts in sizes 4, 6 and 8 years. To make in the medium size will require 2½ yards 36 inch material and ½ yard contrasting goods. Or 3 yards 36 inch material—in all one.

To obtain the pattern send [illegible] to the office of this publication.

When ordering remember to give your name and address as well as the number and size of pattern required, and age of a child.

Price 15 cents, or 2 for 25 cents.

Address—The Examiner Pattern Service, The Examiner, Peterborough.

Two Cases of Eczema and How They Were Cured

Further Proof That Dr. Chase's Ointment is a Positive Cure For Chronic Eczema

If you read these letters you will find that Dr. Chase's Ointment is not to be classed among ordinary salves and ointments.

By actual curing itching, stinging eczema in many thousands of cases it has stood the most severe test to which any ointment can be put.

Mr. J. Brice, Temperance road, Parry Sound, Ont., writes: "Just a line to praise Dr. Chase's Ointment for what it has done for my wife. She has been suffering from eczema in her head for two years, and has spent no end of money with doctors and for ointments, which did her no good. She had about given up hope of ever being cured, when someone told her to try Dr. Chase's Ointment. By the use of this Ointment the trouble has left her entirely, so we have unbounded faith in it. I have told several people about the Ointment."

Mrs. W. G. Dowden, Greenspond, Bonavista Bay, Nfld., writes: "I suffered with eczema on my hands, and for eighteen months was so bad that I could not use a needle to sew or do anything. I could scarcely dress myself. Though I had lots of salves from doctors, I could never get much benefit from them. Then I sent for a sample of Dr. Chase's Ointment, and found it very different in action. It was not long before my hands began to heal, and four 60c. boxes made them well. I cannot praise Dr. Chase's Ointment too highly, and frequently give some to others to get them using it, for I know that it will cure."

In the home Dr. Chase's Ointment is of almost daily usefulness, for by relieving chafing and irritation of the skin it prevents eczema and similar itching skin diseases. Applied to all cuts and wounds, it prevents blood poisoning and heals the skin. Dr. Chase's Ointment, 60 cents a box, all dealers, or Edmanson, Bates & Co., Ltd., Toronto.

THIS IS A FACT!

Dr. Banta's Kidney and Rheumatic Pills Will Cure Lame Back, Rheumatism & Kidney Trouble.

JUST TRY THEM

☞ 3 very Prevalent, Troublesome and Dangerous Diseases.

If you suffer from any one of three troubles, get a box and give them a FAIR TRIAL—and you will be astonished at the improvement that will follow.

—RECOMMENDED AND SOLD AT—

Lynch's Drug Store

168 Hunter Street - Peterborough

THE CHIEF CHARM OF LOVELY WOMAN

Soft, Clear, Smooth Skin Comes With The Use Of "FRUIT-A-TIVES".

NORAH WATSON
86 Drayton Ave., Toronto.
Nov. 10th, 1915.

A beautiful complexion is a handsome woman's chief glory and the envy of her less fortunate rivals. Yet a soft, clear skin—glowing with health—is only the natural result of pure Blood.

"I was troubled for a considerable time with a very unpleasant, disfiguring Rash, which covered my face and for which I used applications and remedies without relief. After using "Fruit-a-tives" for one week, the rash is completely gone. I am deeply thankful for the relief and in the future, I will not be without "Fruit-a-tives".

NORAH WATSON.

50c. a box, 6 for $2.50, trial size, 25c. At dealers or sent postpaid on receipt of price by Fruit-a-tives Limited, Ottawa.

Wheat Markets Reacted Yesterday

Renewed Buying For Export—Cattle Prices Show a Slight Decline

Wheat markets reacted yesterday with renewed buying on more reassuring talk as to the Wilson note. There was also some buying for export. Manitoba flour, first patents, quoted 20c higher.

Manitoba wheat: No. 1 Northern, $1.80 3-4, track, bay ports; No. 2 $1.87 3-4; No. 3, $1.83 3-4; No. 4, $1.79 3-4; old crop, 4c above new crop.

Manitoba oats—No. 2 C.W., 66 3-4c.

American corn — No. 2, nominal; No. 3, new, none offering owing to embargo.

Ontario oats — No. 2 white, 60c to 62c; No. 3 white, 59c to 61c.

Ontario wheat—No. 2 winter, per car lot, $1.62 to $1.64; No. 3, $1.60 to $1.62.

Peas—No. 2, nominal, car lots, $2.40.

Barley — Good malting, $1.16 to $1.18; feed barley, nominal.

Buckwheat—Nominal, $1.35.

Rye—No. 1 commercial, nominal. No. 2, new, $1.32 to $1.33.

Manitoba flour — First patents in jute bags, $9.40; second patents, in jute, $8.80; strong bakers, in jute, $8.50, Toronto.

Ontario flour—New winter, $6.70 to $6.80, in bags, track, Toronto, prompt shipment.

Millfeed—Car lots, delivered Montreal: Shorts, $37; bran, $32; feed flour, per bag, $2.80.

Hay—Baled, No. 1, track, Toronto. Best grade new hay, car lots, $12 to $13; No. 2, $9 to $10; straw, $9 to $9.50.

CATTLE MARKETS.

Business at the cattle markets this week was not of the same large volume, nor so brisk as last week, when the bulk of the Christmas beef cattle were marketed. Prices eased off slightly in the Monday market, but held steady at the decline for the balance of the week. There were fewer cattle in of the extra choice quality. The larger proportion were of the poor, medium, warmed-up class, and the demand for these was at times decidedly slow. Anything of first quality and well finished found a fairly ready market, but at a little less than the fancy prices for the earlier deliveries. The stocker trade was comparatively quiet.

Sheep and lambs held firm throughout the week at enhanced prices.

Hogs were firm at an early advance to $12 fed and watered and $12.25 off cars.

Cattle Market Receipts.

Union Stock Yards: Total receipts this week, 580 cars, with 7,635 cattle, 1,175 calves, 13,043 hogs, 2,761 sheep and lambs, and 1,341 horses.

City Cattle Market: 60 cars, with 998 cattle, 875 sheep, 443 hogs, 88 calves, and 29 horses.

Toronto latest quotations:

Heavy steers, choice	$8.75 to $9.00
Choice butcher	8.25 8.50
do. good	7.75 8.00
do. medium	6.75 7.00
do. common	6.00 6.25
Heifers, good to choice	7.00 7.25
do. medium	6.25 6.75
Butcher cows, choice	6.25 7.00
do. medium	5.75 6.25
Butcher bulls, choice	6.85 7.50
do. good	6.50 6.60
do. medium	5.60 5.80
Feeders, 900 to 1,000 lbs.	6.50 6.75
do. bulls	5.25 5.75
Stockers, 700 to 800 lbs.	6.50 6.75
do. med., 650 to 750 lbs.	5.50 6.00
do. light, 600 to 650 lbs.	5.00 5.75
Canners	4.10 4.40
Cutters	4.60 5.25
Sheep, light	8.50 9.50
do. heavy	7.50 8.00
Spring, lambs	10.75 12.00
Calves	8.00 12.50
Hogs, fed and watered	12.00 ....
do. weighed off cars	12.25 ....

CARDINAL MERCIER'S STERN PROTEST ON HUN SLAVE RAID

(Continued from Page 6)

quarrier nor to the lime kilns to which the Germans themselves declare they will send our unemployed, that our specialists will go to complete their professional education.

The naked truth is that every deprived workman is another soldier for the German army. He will take the place of a German workman, who will be made into a soldier. Thus the situation which we denounce to the civilized world may be reduced to these terms: Four hundred thousand workmen have been thrown out of work by no fault of their own, and largely on account of the regime of the occupation. Sons, husbands, and fathers of families, they bear the unhappy lot without murmuring, respectful of public order; national solidarity provides their most pressing wants; by dint of unselfish thrift and self-denial they escape extreme destitution, and they await with dignity and in a mutual affection which our national sorrows have intensified, the end of our common ordeal.

TORN BY FORCE FROM HOME.

Groups of soldiers introduced themselves forcibly in the homes of these people, tearing the young people out of the arms of their parents, the husband from his wife, the father from his children; at the point of the bayonet they block the entrances to the homes, preventing wives and mothers from rushing out to say a last farewell to them; they align the captives in groups of forty or fifty and push them forcibly into freight cars; the locomotive is under pressure, and as soon as a trainload is ready, an officer gives the signal and they depart. Thus another thousand Belgians reduced to slavery, without previous trial, condemned to the penalty which comes next in cruelty to the death penalty—deportation. They don't know how long their exile is going to last, neither do they know where they are going. All they know is that their work will benefit the enemy. Several of them have been brought to sign—by coercion or by threats—an engagement which they dare to call "voluntary."

While they certainly take the unemployed, they also take a large number—in the proportion of one-quarter for the Arrondissement of Mons—of men who were never out of work and belonging to diversified professions—butchers, bakers, tailors, brewery workers, electricians, farmers; they even take the youngest men, college and university students, or young men from other high schools.

This in spite of the fact that two high authorities of the German Empire had formally guaranteed the liberty of our compatriots.

The day after the capitulation of Antwerp the frightened populace asked itself what would become of the Belgians of military age or those which would arrive at that age before the end of the siege. Baron von Huene, military governor of Antwerp, authorized me to reassure in his name the frightened parents. However, as rumours were running that in Antwerp, Liege, Namur and Charlario young men had been seized and forcibly carried off to Germany, I asked Governor von Huene to confirm to me in writing the verbal guarantees which he had given me. He replied that the rumours pertaining to deportations were without hesitancy, the written declaration which was read on Sunday, Oct. 18, 1914, in all the parochial churches of the Arrondissement of Antwerp: "Young men need have no fear of being carried off to Germany, either for enrollment in the army or for forcible employment."

Immediately after the arrival of Baron von der Goltz in the capacity of Governor General of Brussels, I went to ask him to ratify the guarantees given by Governor von Huene to the Province of Antwerp, extending them to the whole country, without any time limit. The Governor General retained my petition in order to consider it at his leisure. The following day he was good enough to come in person to Malines to express his approval and, in the presence of two aides de camp and of my private secretary, to confirm the promise that the liberty of the Belgian citizens would be respected.

In my letter of October 16 last to Baron von Bissing, after reminding him of the undertaking given by his predecessor, I concluded: "Your Excellency will understand how painful the burden of responsibility I should have incurred toward families would be if the confidence they placed in you through me and at my earnest entreaty should be so lamentably disappointed."

GOVERNOR'S EVASIVE REPLY.

The Governor General replied: "The employment of the Belgian unemployed in Germany, which has only been initiated after two years of war, differs essentially from the captivity of men fit for military service. Moreover, the measure is not related to th conduct of the war, properly speaking, but it is determined by social and economic cause."

As if the word of an honest man was terminable at the end of a year or two! As if the declaration confirmed in 1914 did not explicitly exclude both military operations and forced labour! As if, in fine every Belgian workman who takes the place of a German workman did not enable the latter to fill the gap in the German army!

We, the shepherds of these sheep who are torn from us by brutal force, full of anguish at the thought of the moral and religious isolation in which they are about to languish, impotent witnesses of the grief and terror in the numerous homes shattered or threatened, appeal to all souls, believers or unbelievers, in Allied countries, in neutral countries, and even in enemy countries, who have a respect for human dignity.

When Cardinal Lavigerie embarked on his anti-slavery campaign, Pope Leo XIII., as he blessed his mission, remarked: "Opinion is more than ever the queen of the world. It is on this you must work. You will only conquer by means of opinion."

May Divine Providence deign to inspire all who have any authority, all who are masters of speech and pen, to rally around our humble Belgian flag for the abolition of European slavery.

May human conscience triumph over all sophisms and remain steadfastly faithful to the great precept of St. Ambrose: Honour above everything! Nihil praeferendum honestati!

In the name of the Belgian Bishops.

(Signed) D. J. CARDINAL MERCIER,
Archbishop of Malines

PROVES POSSIBILITY OF DEFEATING THE ENEMY

Verdun's Commander Says Great Victory in Unfavourable Circumstances Removes All Doubt.

PARIS Dec. 23.—In an army order addressed to the men of his command after Friday's success, General Mangin, who was in direct command of the troops which forced back the Germans on the Verdun front, said in part:

"After the battles of October 24 and December 15, fought on ground offering exceptional facilities to the defence, with further advantages owing to the weather, none can doubt any longer that it is possible to defeat the enemy. Superior in numbers and disposition of formidable artillery, with minute preparation of the ground by good artillery, and the assistance of vigilant aviation, a brave and well-trained infantry can break through and then manoeuvre under the high command of General Nivelle."

Christmas

As "the time draws near the birth of Christ," the dominating thought is, for the third time, the terrible incongruity between the condition of the world and the spirit of the great festival of the Nativity of the Prince of Peace. How fondly we hoped last year that ere the blessed season again came around the spirit of strife and destruction and slaughter would have passed by, and would have been succeeded by a peace which the war-harried nations would prize as never before in the history of the world! Alas, not only has this hope been disappointed, but, so far as human foresight can pierce the future, there seems but little ground for entertaining it in regard to the season of our Saviour's birth a year hence. Yet we know that He who stilled the heaving waters of Galilee can dispose the minds of men to peace; and we can still hope and pray.

Meanwhile there is for each of the children of His Church who truly seek it, that peace which the world cannot give—nor take away—the true peace of union with Him. The prevalence of strife in the world should but make us, if possible, all the more eager to possess that peace, which is happily possible even to the soldier in the thickest of the conflict.

That great and priceless blessing of peace with God, without which a truly happy Christmas is not possible, and with which the essential happiness of the festival will always be experienced. The Catholic Register sincerely wishes each and all of its readers. —Catholic Register.

SIGNS OF KIDNEY TROUBLE.

In the early stages kidney troubles are known by backache and urinary disorders. Later come dropsy, nose, rheumatic pains and perhaps diabetes. But don't wait for them. Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills will help you in a few hours. Their thorough action on the liver, kidneys and bowels will clear away the pains and the aches and make you well again.

Nothing in the Way.—An advocate was one day arguing before a Scottish judge, when the judge pointed with one forefinger to one of his ears and with another finger to another ear. "Younger thy Mr. ——?" he said. "I do my lord," said the advocate. "Well, it just goes in here and comes out there," said the judge, smiling as if he had made a very clever remark. The advocate smiled also, and quietly retorted, "I do not doubt it, my Lord: what is there to prevent it?"

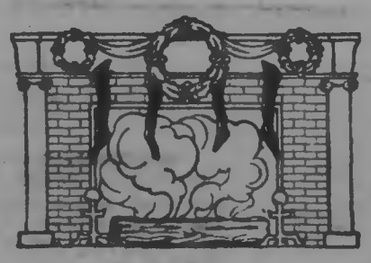
MERRY CHRISTMAS

The night is still, the bells have ceased,
Sweet carols sound afar;
And darkness retreats, for in the east
A new and radiant star!
For 'tis Christmas! Christmas! Christmas!
Breaks again the blessed morn,
While the joyful bells are ringing,
And the children-all are singing:
"Christ is born!"

Deepens the gathering gloom of night
Above the wintry snow;
The frosty stars are all alight,
The fireside is aglow.
For 'tis Christmas, merry Christmas!
Hark! the sound of little feet
Ants our palace all a-tingle
As we hear the sleigh-bells jingle
On the road!

The long year darkness to its close,
The fields are white and bare;
Loud rides the sun, the day is done,
But joy is in the air;
For 'tis Christmas! Christmas! Christmas!
Though the skies be dark and drear;
And in snowy bellries swinging
All the Christmas bells are ringing,
Far and near!

The Significance of Xmas



finds expression in the giving of some token of appreciation. During the past few days the thought of what best to give has no doubt been foremost in your mind. Have you considered a Monthly Income Policy? If anything should happen to you before the anniversary of another festive season, your loved ones would not be forgotten, as a policy of this kind guarantees your beneficiary a monthly income for life, or twenty years certain. Thus your memory would be kept green by those you love, long after you had passed away. Let us tell you more about it.

The Manufacturers Life
Insurance Company
HEAD OFFICE, - TORONTO
Thomas Mark, General Agent, Peterboro

Sunday Sermon For Those Who Do Not Go To Church

(By JAMES SUTHERLAND)

St. John, 11th chap., from the 11th to the 16th verses: Our friend Lazarus sleepeth but I go that I may awake him out of sleep.

He calls him friend. True friendship consists of mutual confidence — each willing to sacrifice for the other. We love their society best, we unburden our bosom secrets to them. We enjoy their presence more than anyone else. True friendship continued lasts for life, and what God has formed here will be continued in eternity, if we are His. Enoch was the friend of God, and walked with Him for three hundred years. He held a long fellowship with God, blessed friendship between God and man. Dr. Andrew Bonar, the sainted divine and the author of some most beautiful hymns, when speaking about Enoch and his walking with God, says that he took a long walk one afternoon and never came back. We have the record of Enoch's birth and life on earth recorded in the 5th chapter of Genesis from the 18th to the 24th verses. So God called Abraham His friend. Moses spoke to God face to face, as a man speaketh unto his friend. God said to him: My presence shall go with thee and I will give thee rest. Jesus' disciples were His friends. His beloved disciple leaned on His breast at supper, while He told them of His Father's love and His Father's glory. So he says Our friend Lazarus. He remembered that they had sat beneath the spreading fig tree at the cottage of Bethany, while He had opened up to them the glories of the eternal world. This is what you are invited to, dear friends, to become the friends of Jesus. When men choose friends they seek out the wealthy, the great, the noble, men of influence. They ask those who can ask them back. Jesus makes friends with the poor, the despised, those of whom the world is almost ashamed to own, the outcasts of society, the homeless, the friendless will always find in Him a friend. He knows your circumstances and your wants and waits to help you. He stands knocking at your door. If a rich friend becomes poor or is in adversity, worldly friends like butterflies in rain fly quickly home. But Jesus is the friend that sticketh closer than a brother. Jesus said, Our friend Lazarus, even when dead; death does not separate us from Christ. His love is the same; it is a deathless love. The world soon forgets its dead. The place that knows them now shall know them no more forever. Who remembers the silent graves in desolate countries — Babylon, Assyria and others—where is there one to remember their name or to shed a tear over their memory. Christ's dead are never forgotten and death makes no change in the love of Christ. He remembered His faithful martyr, Antipas, when all the world had forgotten him. He remembers all His sleeping saints and will bring them with Him.

The disciples said: If he sleep he shall do well. Sleep was a common expression in the Old Testament for death. God said to Moses, Thou shalt sleep with thy fathers, and to Daniel. Many of those who sleep in the dust shall awake; to King David, Thou shalt sleep with thy fathers. The disciples were afraid of being stoned, they did not understand Christ. They wanted to have their own way; many are like them. O, pray for a pure heart that you may be filled with the knowledge of His will that you may walk worthy of the Lord, to all pleasing. Jesus explains the reasons of His absence to the disciples thus: I am glad I was not there, for your sakes. Had Christ been there He would have healed Lazarus; had He been there Lazarus had not died.

Christ could not have stood in the cottage of Bethany and looked on the face of His dying friend, and seen the tears of Mary, and heard the imploring words of Martha without granting their desires. See the amazing love of Christ to His own. He cannot deny their prayer. Therefore, He says: I am glad I was not there for your sakes, to the intent that ye might believe." "For your sakes." All things are for your sakes. (2 Cor. 4th chap., 15th verse).

This world was created, the sun to rule the day and the moon to rule the night. Every shining star and bright constellation was made for you, seedtime and harvest, day and night "All for your sakes." O let us learn to show our gratitude to Him who has done all these things for our happiness and comfort. May we help to bear one another's burdens, and so fulfil the law of Christ.

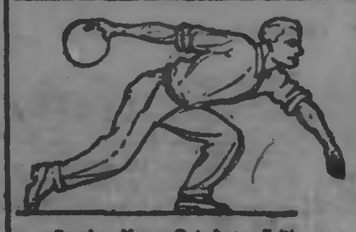
"There's not a plant that grows below,
But makes His glory known.
And thunders roll and tempests blow,
By order from His throne."

Yours Sincerely,
James Sutherland.
352 1-2 Water Street, Peterborough.
December 13rd, 1916.

"Young man," said a rich and pompous old gentleman, "I was not always this. I did not always ride in a motor-car of my own. When I first started in life I had to walk." "You were lucky," rejoined the young man. "When I first started I had to crawl. It took me a long time to learn to walk."

$1,000.00 REWARD

For information that will lead to the discovery or whereabouts of the person or persons suffering from Nervous Debility, Diseases of the Mouth and Throat, Blood Poison, Skin Diseases, Bladder Troubles, Special Ailments, and Chronic or Complicated Complaints who cannot be cured at The Ontario Medical Institute, 263-265 Yonge St., Toronto. Correspondence invited



Bowlers Never Get Appendicitis

TURKEY-WEEK
Prizes Will Be Given Daily
Make Your Christmas Dinner a Sure One by Winning a Turkey
THE WATER ST. ALLEYS
J. J. SOLOMON, Prop

FILL YOUR BIN with the Only Genuine White Ash
D. L. & W.
SCRANTON COAL Automatically Screened

It's a well-known fact that there is as great difference between different kinds of coal as there is between any other two commodities and it ought to pay coal consumers to do a little experimenting on their own account. We claim that the D. L. & W. Scranton Coal is the cleanest coal known. We claim that it will do more heating than any other coal.

Robert Hicks Co.
LIMITED
Charlotte and Bethune Sts.
Murray and Bethune Sts.
PHONES 47-48

WHEN YOU WANT
COAL
CEMENT
Sewer Pipe
CONSULT
H. B. TAYLOR & SON
Cor. Aylmer & Wolfe
'Phone 209

LOW'S COAL
STOVE COAL, per ton.. $8.50
NUT COAL, per ton.... $8.50
PEA COAL, per ton.... $7.25
No. 1 CAMEL COAL $8.50
LOW & COMPANY
242 Simcoe St. and 385 Bethune St
Phone 697 Nights and Holidays 786

COAL
THAT IS ALL COAL
PROMPT DELIVERY
Peterborough Fuel & Transfer Co.
Charlotte St. 'Phones 270 201, 402
Truck and Transfer Business in Connection

THERE IS NO FUEL
so good as
ANTHRACITE COAL
and no better anthracite than
LehighValleyCoal
THE COAL THAT SATISFIES
ALSO
HARD AND SOFT WOOD
Cutting and Splitting Extra
J. E. A. FITZGERALD
PHONE 111

HEAT PRODUCING
COAL
Use Our
PITTSTON COAL
It Makes Warm Friends
Terms Positively Cash
Weir & McCarthy
Coal and Wood Dealers
111 Hunter St., East City. 'Phone 96

IF YOU want to BUILD UP YOUR BUSINESS, you must USE THE PAPER that goes into the Home.

MONEY TO LOAN.

GORDON & WIDDIFIELD, Barristers, Solicitors, Notaries, Solicitors for the City of Peterborough.

MEDICAL.

DR. BUCHANAN, F.R.C.S., Edin., M.R.C., Eng., L.R.C.P. London. Eye, Ear, Nose and Throat specialist. Hours 9-11 a.m., 1-4 p.m., 7-8 p.m. 'Phone 89. Office: Corner of Water and Murray streets.

DR. E. E. HARVEY, Silver Medalist University of Toronto. Special attention to diseases of women and children. Office hours: 1.30 to 5 p.m., 7-8 p.m. 'Phone 222. Office 212 Brock Street.

DR. C. P. W. ROSS, Ex-House Surgeon, Grace Hospital, Toronto. Residence:— Keene, Ont. 6sun 66

BARRISTERS AND SOLICITORS

GORDON & WIDDIFIELD, Barristers, Solicitors, Notaries. Solicitors for the City of Peterborough.

BENNETT & GOODWILL—Barristers, Solicitors, etc. No. 375 Water Street, Peterborough. Telephone No. 191. J. W. Bennet; E. L. Goodwill.

RUDDY & BURNHAM—Barristers, Solicitors, Notaries. Money to Loan. Offices 448 Water Street, corner Water and Brock.
Robert Ruddy, K.C., J. M. Burnham, M.P.

G. W. HATTON, County Crown Attorney, Barrister, Solicitor. Trust Funds to Loan at lowest current rates of interest on easy terms of repayment.

J. R. CORKERY, Barrister, Solicitor, etc., Commerce Building. Money to loan at lowest rates of interest.

PECK, KERR & McELDERRY—Barristers, Solicitors and Notaries. Office 415 Water Street, Peterborough. Money to Loan at lowest current rates of interest on easy terms of repayment.
M. A. Peck, F. D. Kerr, V. J. McElderry.

D. O'CONNELL—Barrister, Solicitor and Notary, Hunter street, two doors west of the Post Office. Daniel O'Connell.

DUMBLE & JOHNSTON—Barristers, Solicitors, etc. Office over Toronto Savings and Loan Company, 437 George street.
D. W. Dumble, K.C. W. F. Johnston.

A. E. DIXON—Barrister, Solicitor, etc. Offices Corner Hunter and George Sts. Entrance next Madill's Drug Store.

HALL & HALL—Barristers, Solicitors and Notaries Public, Hunter St., Peterborough. Next to St. John's Church. Money to loan at lowest rates of interest.
E. R. D. Hall Basil D. Hall

MOORE & WEARING, Barristers and Solicitors, 12½ Hunter Street (entrance first hallway west of post office.) Money to loan at lowest rates. W. H. Moore, K.C., Joseph Wearing, M.A.

O. A. LANGLEY—Barrister, Solicitor, Notary Public, etc. County Magistrate, Office, Peterborough, Ont.; 425 George St. 'Phone 114; Lakefield, Ont., (afternoons.) 'Phone, Office 21; Residence 56.

R. H. HALL—Barrister Solicitor, etc. Peterborough, Ont. Office, corner Hunter and Water streets over Canadian Bank of Commerce. Successors to Hall Madd & Davidson. Trust funds to loan on easy terms of payment.

ARCHITECTS.

W. BLACKWELL, Architect and Civil Engineer. Plans and estimates made for churches, public buildings and dwelling houses. Buildings heating and plumbing a specialty. Office, 373 Water Street Peterborough.

OSTEOPATHY

DR. BRUCE E. MARSHALL—Osteopathic Physician. Office: 248 Hunter Street. Hours 9 to 12 a.m., 2 to 4 p.m., 7 to 8 p.m. 'Phone 114.

DR. ASA G. WALMSLEY—Osteopathic Physician. Office in Sun Life Building, Corner of Hunter and Water streets. Entrance, 194 Hunter street. 'Phones: Office, 649; Residence, 669. Office hours, 9 to 12 a.m., 2 to 6 p.m. Evenings by appointment.

DR. MARY E. DAVIDSON, Osteopathic Physician. Office—No. 6 over Bank of Commerce. Entrance on Hunter or Water streets. Hours: 10 to 12, and 2 to 5. Evenings by appointment. 'Phone 1478.

EDWIN ELCOME
— TAXIDERMIST —
HEADS, ANIMALS, BIRDS, FISH, ETC.
mounted artistically and permanently
HEADS OF MOOSE, CARIBOU AND DEER,
Heads, Animals, Birds, Fish, Artificial Eyes, Taxidermist Supplies, Mud and Flower Guide Boxes for sale.
692 HARVEY STREET
PETERBOROUGH ONTARIO

Toronto Savings & Loan Comp'y

Notice is hereby given that a Quarterly Dividend of Two and One-half per cent, being at the rate of Ten per cent per annum for the (3) three months ending 31st December 1916 has been declared upon the capital stock of this Institution and the same will be payable at the offices of the Company in this City on and after the 2nd January, 1917

The transfer books will be closed from the 15th to the 31st December, both days inclusive.

By order of the Board
W. G. MORROW
Managing Director
Peterboro, Dec. 1st., 1916

LUMBER
BUILDERS' MATERIALS of all kinds. Shingles, Scantlings, Joist and Bill Stuff, Mouldings, Castings, Base and all kinds of Finish. Boxes and Box Shooks, Slabs and Mill Wood.
Alf. McDonald Estate
POINT ST. CHARLES MILL

OUR DAILY SHORT STORY

Samuel the Third

There Was Good Luck In the Name

By CLARISSA MACKIE

There being no schools near their home, the Arnolds concluded to employ a tutor.

The first tutor engaged for the Arnold children was Samuel Warmouth, a divinity student. Mrs. Arnold's sister Anne, who was gifted with an unusual amount of beauty, set off by numerous accomplishments, sent him away in six weeks "with a flea in his ear." Anne declared that it was not her fault; that she could not help the reverend gentleman from falling in love with her, and she could not marry every man who wanted her.

Mrs. Arnold, who, being a woman, was versed in the tricks and manners of her sex, knew better. She saw at once that Anne was as much bent on bringing down Mr. Warmouth as he was willing to be brought down. However, the children must have a tutor, so after the first had departed another was engaged. Mrs. Arnold was opposed to the second one on the ground that his surname was Samuel, and there was bad luck in the name. She had not mentioned to her husband that she blamed his sister for captivating the tutor, and Mr. Arnold naturally considered her reason absurd, and, as he expressed it, "woman's logic."

Whether Mrs. Arnold's reason was the correct one or not, the result was that the second Samuel met with the same fate as the first.

"I told you so," said Mrs. Arnold to her husband.

"Told me what?"

"That there was bad luck for us in the name of Samuel."

"Nonsense! More likely it was because his other name was Green."

"Maybe that's the real reason," replied the lady demurely.

Mr. Green had given as a reason for his going that he had found his studies would require more time than he could spare for his duties as tutor. He had recommended a friend for his successor. Whether he had an object in recommending the man he did, whether he told his friend his real reason for leaving the Arnolds, does not appear. There may have been revenge in his recommendation.

When Mr. Arnold reported to his wife that the new tutor's name was Samuel Newman she was overwhelmed with consternation.

"Not another Samuel?" cried Mrs. Arnold, aghast.

"It's a fact. This makes the third tutor to bear that name. Sounds harmless enough, doesn't it?" returned her husband dryly.

"They are quite inoffensive. It is Anne who makes all the trouble. I shall send her away before Mr. Newman arrives. We simply cannot have her flirting with him. You know when Mr. Green went away he recommended Mr. Newman for the position."

"I know," nodded Mr. Arnold.

"Both the other Samuels resigned broken hearted, and we must keep Mr. Newman during the summer. The boys are not making any progress in their studies. It is settled now. If Anne cannot behave herself she must go away and give the children a chance to absorb a little learning." Mrs. Arnold's plump countenance settled into lines of severity.

"Too much gooseberry," said Mr. Arnold thoughtfully. "Max and Bobby didn't make much headway in their studies with Sam Green murmuring German poetry in Anne's pink ears. I don't know what we shall do, Maud. Your sister is an arrant little flirt, and the only cure is for her to fall violently in love herself."

"I wish she would," sighed Mrs. Arnold, "but she won't. I never saw another girl with her propensity for changing a perfectly agreeable young man into a pestiferous, lovesick ninny."

"Who is a ninny?" inquired Anne's fresh young voice from the doorway. "I hope you and William are not quarreling," she added in a shocked tone.

William Arnold grinned at his sister-in-law.

"You know Maud and I never quarrel unless we are discussing your faults."

"Have I any faults?" inquired Anne saucily. "Well, you may as well mark one for me now. I listened to what you were saying about the Samuels!"

"Anne Cummings!" exclaimed her shocked sister.

"I did. Really, it interested me more than it possibly could either of you."

"In what way?"

"Why, I am likely to fall in love with any one of the tutors. It really is William's fault for selecting such perfectly fascinating tutors, as if it mattered to Max or Bobby what a tutor looked like. Now, Mr. Robinson was chargable looking, and Mr. Green was a poet's dream!" cried enthusiastic Anne. "Now, dear brother William, is the new one nice?"

"I haven't seen him," returned Mr. Arnold, with an amused smile. "As a matter of fact, Anne, I engaged all of these young men by letter. I've engaged Newman for the summer months. In the fall he is to take a secretaryship in Washington. All I ask is that you let the poor fellow alone."

"Of course I shall," said Anne, with dignity.

Mrs. Arnold looked over her eyeglasses. "If you don't, Anne, dear, away you go to Aunt Rebecca's."

"Horrors! I will be good," promised Anne, and she tripped away, only to poke her pretty head inside the door again. "I do hope he is musical," she flashed at them before she disappeared.

That evening the new tutor arrived. He was not very tall and rather stockily built. He had a clean cut face tanned by sun and wind, lighted by keen, dark eyes. Anne liked the way he wore his clothes, and she liked his brown, capable looking hands. She also liked the direct glance of his eyes, but there was nothing softening in his glance when it rested upon her lovely face.

Therein lay the oddity of the new tutor. Mr. Newman was politely indifferent to Anne's charms, even when she played the harp, which was her chief accomplishment. When accompanied by her clear, sweet soprano the results had been disastrous indeed to the other Samuels.

"Well, Anne, how do you like him?" asked her brother-in-law one morning as they stood on the veranda watching Newman and the little boys racing across the lawn to the boathouse. When the three white clad forms had disappeared Anne shrugged her shoulder impatiently.

"He's perfectly hateful!" she flared and then ran away to the rose garden to hide the telltale tears that filled her starry eyes.

Mr. Samuel Newman had been quite frank in explaining to Anne that the rowboat would not safely carry more than three persons, and as he was teaching her nephews how to row and manage a boat, her presence among them would be exceedingly awkward.

Anne had tossed her dark head and turned away, but there was a bewildered look in her pansy brown eyes, for she was not accustomed to receiving rebuffs.

"I wonder why he doesn't like me?" she asked herself for the hundredth time since breakfast. Anne leaned over the artificial pond and stared at her reflection in the still water. "Certainly I am not homely," she smiled vainly, and lost her balance.

She would have tumbled ignominiously into the pond had not a strong hand grasped her arm and drawn her back to safety.

"The mirror in the music room is less hazardous," advised Mr. Newman with a quizzical glance, and Anne blushed hotly.

"Please don't do that again," she said rashly.

"Do what? Rescue you from danger?"

"Yes. I would rather fall in and be drowned than be saved by you!" she cried fiercely.

"I will remember," he said gravely, and passed into the house.

Instantly poor Anne was smitten with shame. She flew to her room and battled with a new, strange misery, for retribution had come upon gay, light hearted Anne Cummings. She had fallen in love with the new tutor, and he evidenced not the slightest interest in her—indeed, appeared to disapprove of her.

Verily, it would appear that the third Samuel was to avenge the wrongs of his predecessors.

Mr. Newman was gracious to Mrs. Arnold, quite chummy with her husband and devoted to his small charges, who adored him in return. But it was apparent to the entire household that he was indifferent to Anne.

The Arnolds were amused at the situation until Maud guessed Anne's pitiful secret. "I am glad he is going next week," she said one September day.

"I believe I will take Anne on that coaching trip Monday," said William, with strange gruffness.

"William, you're a dear," and his wife kissed him.

"Poor little Anne!" he murmured. "It's a pity." I really like Newman better than the other two. He is more manly and independent and has boundless ambition. You never can tell where a chap like that will stop. Not short of the top, anyway. Just the cool, firm hand to guide Anne."

"I suppose it is just as well for Anne to learn that she can't play with fire," sighed Anne's sister, "but these life lessons are so hard and leave such a bitter tang."

The next morning Anne went tiptoeing down to the water's edge. She was a trim figure in her bathing dress. The water was warm and inviting, and Anne was a fearless swimmer.

Max and Bobby were digging in the sand, and Newman and William Arnold were playing tennis.

"I will swim out to the float and rest awhile," she thought.

Her white arms cut the water with long, even strokes. The tide was running swiftly, and Anne felt strangely tired. There came a sudden chill, and then the agonizing cramp that rendered her helpless. Her arms flew up, and she cried out once before she sank. "Samuel!"

When she came to the surface she saw a white clad form plunging madly through the water toward her. Down, down, down she went.

When she came to the surface, weak and helpless, a pair of strong arms were ready to bear her safely to land.

"Dear little Anne!" murmured the third Samuel as he staggered across the lawn with her wet head pressed against his trembling lips.

After awhile, when dry and warm again, they met on the veranda. Samuel Newman took Anne's little hands in his and sought her shy eyes with his own grown very tender. "I tried hard not to fall in love with you," he groaned. "Sam Green warned me."

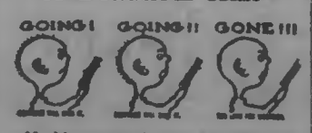
"It's different when — people — love each other, isn't it?" whispered Anne softly.

A farmer may have first-class buildings and first-class stock, but the farm is not complete without a first-class dog.

This is "Told On" Rockefeller. — A man was impressing upon a son of Erin what a marvellously rich person Mr. Rockefeller was, but the Irishman did not seem to grasp the idea of such riches at all. "Why, look here," exclaimed his friend, "see that clock over there? Every time that clock ticks Rockefeller gets another hundred pounds!" "Is that really so?" asked Pat, light suddenly dawning upon him. "Fact, I assure you," was the reply. "Then," said Pat, scratching his head, "why not stop the clock?"

Willie—"Did the baby come from Heaven, nurse?" Nurse—"Yes, dear." Willie—"Silly kid! He didn't know when he was well off."

You can have a wealth of Beautiful Hair



Nothing equals an aureole of beautiful hair as a frame for a pretty face. Without a background of nice hair a really pretty face frequently becomes plain but, with it, unattractive features assume life and beauty.

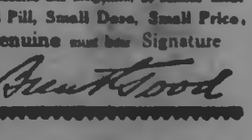
Every woman can increase her natural charm by using Newbro's Herpicide. Herpicide makes hair beautiful. Dandruff saps the vitality of the hair. Herpicide applied intelligently and regularly, checks this destruction of hair life and prevents the hair from falling out, giving it a snap and luster, a soft silky fluffiness which can be acquired in no other way.

Applications may be obtained at the best barber shops and hair dressing parlors.

It is guaranteed by The Herpicide Co. Sold everywhere.

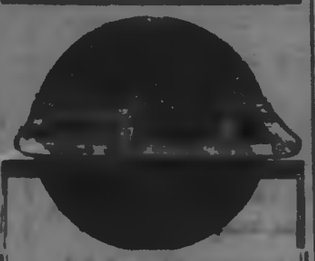
Don't Persecute your Bowels

Cut out cathartics and purgatives. They are brutal—harsh—unnecessary. Try
CARTER'S LITTLE LIVER PILLS
Purely vegetable. Act gentle on the liver, eliminate bile, and sweeten the delicate membrane of the bowel.



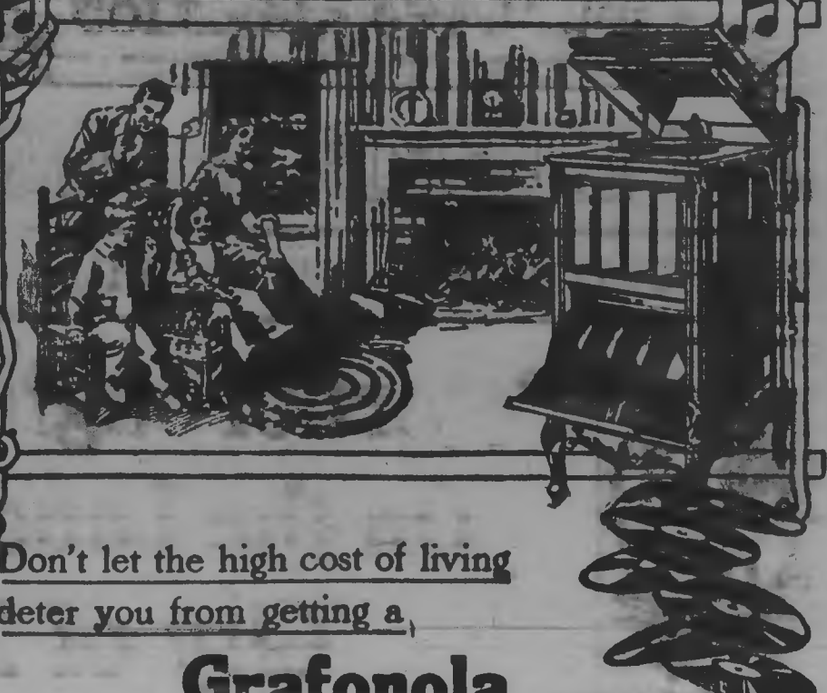
Cure Constipation, Biliousness, Indigestion, Sick Headache and Indigestion, or millions know.
Small Pill, Small Dose, Small Price.
Genuine must bear Signature
Brent Good

CHINA PAINTING
Mrs. Langley McCarthy
Teaches Bisnif's New and Beautiful Art Work in China Painting!



Ingersoll Watches
That Show the Time in the Dark from $1.25 up.
Automobile and Cycle Skates
Hockey Sticks and Supplies
Jack Knives
MILLARD'S BICYCLE SHOP
Hunter St., near Aylmer

Before Buying be sure to hear the
COLUMBIA GRAFONOLA



Don't let the high cost of living deter you from getting a
Grafonola

Although costs of material and labor have increased, Columbia prices are lower in many instances than they were a year ago, because of the tremendously increased demand—and they are the best value in musical instruments obtainable.

Grafonolas $20 to $475.
Records 85c. up. Fit any machine.

LOCAL AGENTS:
The J. M. Greene Music Co., Limited
Greene Music Building, Charlotte Street

What do the men in the trenches need most?

Ask a returned soldier. His answer will be "munitions, munitions, and ever yet more munitions."

The only power that can do this is the Force behind the Man---Behind the Gun---that is, the Munition's Worker.

Every Shell is a Life Saver

MARK H. IRISH,
Director of Munitions Labor,
National Service Board,
Canada.

PETERBOROUGH'S PROSPERITY PAGE

THE FOLLOWING FIRMS WILL GIVE YOU PROMPT AND SATISFACTORY SERVICE

Peterborough's Transition from a Blot On the Landscape to a Flourishing City of 22,000 Inhabitants

Eighty Years Ago wandering Hordes of Indians Roamed over what is Now Recognized as one of the Best Inland Manufacturing Cities in Ontario. City is surrounded by a Country that Abounds in Natural Resources, many of which are being Developed

THIS flourishing city of Peterborough, now possessing twenty-two thousand inhabitants, stands on a site which, eighty years ago, was an unbroken wilderness. Over its seven hills and the undulating slopes between them, wandering hordes of Indians of the Algonquin and Chippewa tribes once roamed. As late as 1825, the then town of Peterborough was inhabited by but one family, that of Adam Scott, who, with a few workmen, operated a grist mill. It was in the fall of the year mentioned, that Hon. Peter Robinson paid a visit to England, and, while there, was approached by Sir Wilmot Horton as to the advisability of directing a large tide of emigration to this country. This large and important immigration was the true foundation of the city of Peterborough, from which results the prosperity of the surrounding townships.

Charles Rubidge, the noted friend and coadjutor of Peter Robinson, was for many years, one of the chief promoters of the rising interests of the town. In the year 1827, it was resolved to adopt as the name of the future city Peterborough, in well deserved honour of its founder, the Honourable Peter Robinson.

Peterborough Abounds In Natural Resources Which Are Being Developed

Peterborough is surrounded by a richly settled country that is abounding in natural resources. The county of Peterborough is not only one of the largest in Ontario, occupying an almost central position between the eastern and western counties, but is one of the finest agricultural counties in the Province.

In all of its fifteen townships, with the exception of three or four in the south, are found picturesque lakes, large and small. The mineral deposits in the northern section of the county comprise gold, iron, lead, copper ore, mica and white and grey marble. These have been extensively developed, and with the advent of the iron horse into this territory, have become the scene of promising mining industries.

From an agricultural standpoint, Peterborough county is admirably suited to mixed farming, and statistics show that the annual production of dairy products is only equalled by one or two counties in Ontario. To the agricultural interests of the county, Peterborough owes much for what has so far been accomplished.

The City Has Become a Manufacturing Centre of Limitless Proportions

From 1825 to the present is far cry. The city is fast coming to the front, and with an increase in population of sixty-three per cent. for the past ten years, may be very properly called one of the best inland manufacturing cities in Ontario. The facts and figures of the city's growth fully justify such an appellation. Nature has done all and everything for Peterborough, and up to now the money expended upon it, has been a mere bagatelle compared to its growing trade and future possibilities. Peterborough has risen from the status of a small town to a manufacturing centre of limitless proportions. Its natural advantages, mineral wealth and commercial position, all go to substantiate her claim, as an industrial city of great importance.

Peterboro' Has More Than Doubled Her Population In the Past Ten Years

During the past ten years, Peterborough has never looked back. She has done what few other cities in Ontario have accomplished--more than doubled her population. The very fact that this city has proven such a magnet to manufacturers, is in itself, a sufficient recommendation as to its stability. The payrolls of the big manufacturing concerns of the city run well over six figures yearly. Peterborough is the home of the following industries and products: Electrical goods and equipment, cereal, flour and feed mills, canoes and boats, book binderies, boots, vehicles, bakeries, bricks, brooms, dairy products, drugs, fireproof building material, gasoline engines, gas, harness, furriers, dynamos, motors, office furniture, roofing and sawmill supplies, agricultural implements, pumps and portable sawmills, worsted goods, carpets, dairy machinery, woven goods, twine, tents, awnings and sails, pork products, porcelain goods, castings, shovels, tools, wood products, mats, woollen goods, gum, and marble products, etc.

Customs House Receipts For the Past Year Show Phenomenal Growth

The Customs House receipts for the past year show a phenomenal growth. The receipts for the year 1915-16 totalled $821,070, or more than double that of the year 1914-15, when the total receipts amounted to $400,765. The year just coming to a close will do even better than that. Contrast the above figures with those of 1893-4, when the total receipts for the year amounted to $57,483. Since that time the Customs receipts have been gradually getting bigger, until last year the receipts reached the high water-mark of $821,070. Last month the receipts totalled $115,192.59, an increase of $35,500.01 over the corresponding month for last year, and a gain of $20,813.03 over the month of October of this year.

MERRY XMAS TO ALL

Wanted!
TURKEYS, GEESE, DUCKS, FOWL AND CHICKENS. HIGHEST MARKET PRICES PAID FOR CHOICE STOCK
W. Scott Co., Ltd.
24 Robinson St. Phone 264

Quaker Oats
Quaker Flour
THE BEST MADE
Peterboro Daily Capacity:
Oatmeal - 2500 Barrels
Flour - 4000-98 lb. Sax

Attend the PETERBORO BUSINESS COLLEGE That institution which is reinstating and finding positions for such a large number of young men and women. Circulars Free.
Phone 589-1441 J. A. McKone, Prin.

There's a Reason
why our growth is so apparent. QUALITY, SERVICE, VALUES are the big factors, because of our exceptional advantages in manufacturing all Furs offered to the public and knowing them to be just as represented.
BARRIE'S Limited
PETERBORO REGINA
SASKATOON MOOSE JAW

E. Wand Manufacturer and Dealer in Doors, Sash, Blinds
Frames, Etc., Etc.
641 Hunter St., East Phone 339

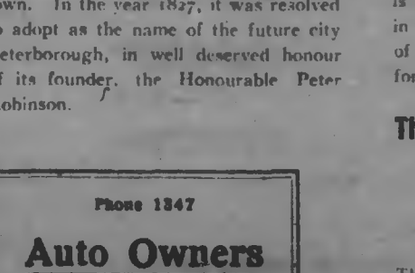
Pleasant Temperance Beverages
Trent Valley Lager
— Dublin Porter —
Calcutt Brewing & Malting Co.
"Patronize Your Home Town"

Wholesale and Retail
LAVOIE'S WOOLEN GOODS
Made in Peterboro
Lavoie Knittery, 82 Hunter

"We Sell the Earth"
M. H. QUINLAN
Dealer in Choice City, Village and Farm Properties
372 Water St. Phone 822

J. T. O'Connell & Co.
Can give you reliable information regarding Peterborough City Property, Houses, Lots or Mf'g Sites.
Office: 136 Hunter Street Phone 376
Real Estate Insurance Loans

Phone 1347
Auto Owners ATTENTION!
As we can take only a limited number of cars to be overhauled and cleaned we would appreciate it if you would see us about it at once.
The Manning Garage
388 Water Street

SAWMILL MACHINERY


This concern has been making sawmill machinery longer than anyone else in Canada. The experience gained is built into every piece of machinery we turn out, a fact appreciated by most of the largest lumbering companies. We can give you exactly what you need, when you need it.
Literature upon request.
Leath Mill
WM. HAMILTON COMPANY PETERBOROUGH

W. R. TURNER
—Sheet Metal Work—
Heating and Pipe Fitting
206 Simcoe St. Phone 591

PETERBOROUGH MATTRESS CO.
J. L. ELLIS, Manager
Manufacturer of Mattresses, Bed Springs, etc.
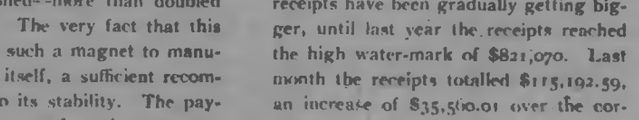
214 Hunter St. Phone 1384

Vermont Marble Co.
Canadian Branch
MARBLE for all Purposes

PETERBOROUGH CANOES


MADE HERE. USED EVERYWHERE.
Get our Catalogue on Row Boats, Motor Boats, Etc.
The Peterborough Canoe Co. Ltd.

The Peterboro Show Case Co
Manufacturers of Store Interiors, Show Cases and Store Fixtures. Dealers in Plate and Plate Glass Mirrors.
709 WATER ST. PHONE 1159
W. Theobald, Manager

Cars
Banks' Garage

Cream of the West Flour That is Guaranteed for BREAD
MONARCH For PASTRY
The Campbell Flour Mills Co. Peterboro and West Toronto

SIDNEY W. MIDDLETON
SUCCESSOR TO R. GIBBS
Hacks, Livery, Taxi and Auto Service
421 WATER ST. BOTH PHONES 80

This Name Means Quality in Motor Cars
McLAUGHLIN
A. Brown & Co., Local Agent, Phone 12

GOURLAY PIANOS Every one recognizes the tonal beauty of the Gourlay. Hear the Gourlay—its enthralling beauty will convince you
WHOLESALE REPRESENTATIVE
J. O. FIFE 274½ WATER STREET Phones 713 and 750

In friendly appreciation of another year of pleasant business relations we wish to send The Season's Greetings to all our many customers
GEO. A. BRENTON
PLUMBING AND HEATING
99 HUNTER STREET

THE F. R. J. McPHERSON CO. LTD.
PLUMBING, HEATING, TINSMITHING AND ELECTRICAL CONTRACTORS
STOVES AND MANTLES
PHONE 386 341 GEORGE ST.

The Empress Hotel
"A Home on the Road"
Tea Room Open Every Day
— From 4 to 6 p.m. —
GEO. H. GRAHAM, Prop.

The Auburn Woolen Co. Ltd.
Manufacturers of all Classes of WOOLEN GOODS

Oriental Hotel
Peterborough's Better Hotel
J. E. COLLINS, Manager

I Wish You All
A Merry Christmas
The Aching Hearts a Balm.
Our Soldier Boys Good Luck
Hughson Johnstone.
Decorator

GIVE YOUR SHOES A CHANCE
CAREFUL SHOE REPAIRING will in many cases double the life of your shoes.
S. WHATLEY 84 HUNTER ST.

When we say it's the Best—You'll Want It!
When we say it's "Ahead of the Rest" you'll get it!
And you'll get what you want when you "Get It"!
KNOX'S GINGER ALE

The Bonner-Worth Co., Limited
Worsted Yarn Spinners
Weaving, Knitting and Domestic
PETERBOROUGH, ONTARIO

Don't go out of town for your GREETING CARDS. SEE THE EXAMINER Sample

ILLUSTRATED SECTION

The Evening Examiner

PAGES One to Four

VOL. LXIV., NO. THE EVENING EXAMINER, PETERBOROUGH, SATURDAY, DECEMBER 23, 1916. PRICE TWO CENTS.

WITH THE CANADIANS ON THE WESTERN FRONT

1. Canadian troops returning from the trenches pass pack mules loaded with ammunition on their way to the trenches.

2. Canadians carrying a wounded comrade through the mud

3. A Canadian exhibiting his trophy.

4. Canadian Artillery horses on way to water.

5. Watering Canadian Artillery horses at the front.

A Mother of France Pays Tribute to Britain's Indian Soldiers.

When England's colonial troops passed through one of the main streets of Paris a woman sprang out from the crowd of onlookers, and before anyone could interfere, succeeded in fastening a boutonniere in the straps holding a private's haversack. (Upper photo.)

Candling eggs before shipping to war front. (Lower photo.)

On a Mountain Crag Italian Officers Survey the Battle Lines.

Grecian Revolutionary sailors on the "Hydra."

Italian officers observing the enemy.

What War Did Near Verdun -- Back to the Front After Leave

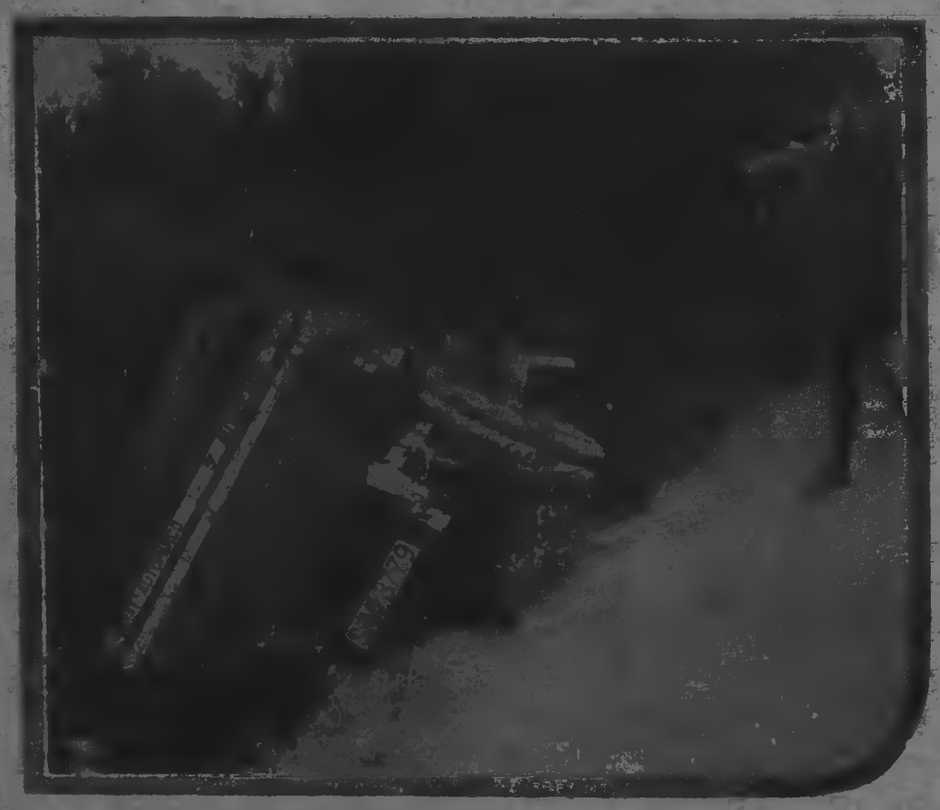
SUPPLY AND AMMUNITION DEPOT NEAR VERDUN. A locality in the Verdun region near the front where are the barracks repair houses and an ammunition depot. The heavy bombardment of the Germans is evident from the shell holes spattered over the roofs.

CROWDS OF "PERMISSIONAIRES" RETURNING TO THE FRONT. Large numbers of "permissionaires" or soldiers on short leave taking train back to the fighting line. The men after their brief vacation eagerly return to their duties feeling quite at home in their trenches.

Camera Glimpses From Scenes of Latest Activities

View of ambulance workshop.

German dead lying in trenches after capture of Combles.



Motor transport upset while transporting troops across the mountains during night.

A column of French 75's passing through village enroute to the Somme front. These guns are doing their share toward holding the lines gained by the great Allied Drive.

Russians in advance trench on western front reading letters from home during lull in fighting.

Russia troops meet poilus for first time in communication trench on French front.

GENERAL VIEW OF NO. 7 CANADIAN GENERAL HOSPITAL, SENT BY QUEEN'S UNIVERSITY, KINGSTON.

VIEW SHOWING OUTDOOR TREATMENT PRACTISED DURING FINE WEATHER.

NURSING SISTERS IN DINING TENT.

IN THE SURGICAL WARD.

GROUP ON THE MEDICAL SIDE, WITH DR. EDWARD KIDD, TRENTON, IN CENTRE

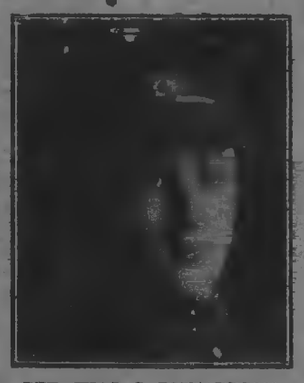
OPERATING ROOM STAFF. Dr. John F. Kidd, Ottawa, in centre. Nursing Sister Annie Bailey, Kingston, on his right.

First row—Capt. W. H. Ballantyne, Kingston; Capt. G. Platt, formerly of Kingston; Capt. Tower. Top row—Sergt.-Major Pilkey; Capt. G. E. Kidd, Kingston; Capt. Grahams.

SAPPER J. B. KENNEDY,
Who went overseas with the 93rd Battalion, and has been transferred to the Signal Co.

PTE. H. COIT,
384 McDonnell St., who was with the C. A. S. C., and Petty Officer Albert Miller, of Peterboro, with the Canadian Navy.

GUNNER FRED LEBAR,
Well known Peterboro boy, who is a prisoner in Germany.



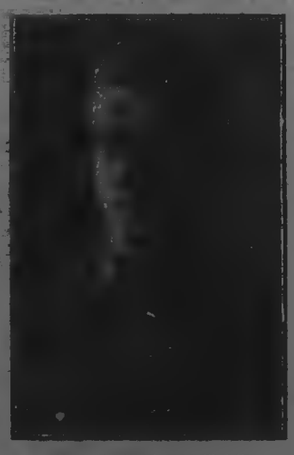
PTE. CHAS. G. RICHARDSON;
Overseas with Queen's Field Ambulance, and son of G. B. Richardson, 580 Aylmer Street.

PTE. THOMAS NEEDHAM,
Of Peterboro, with 223th Forestry Battalion.

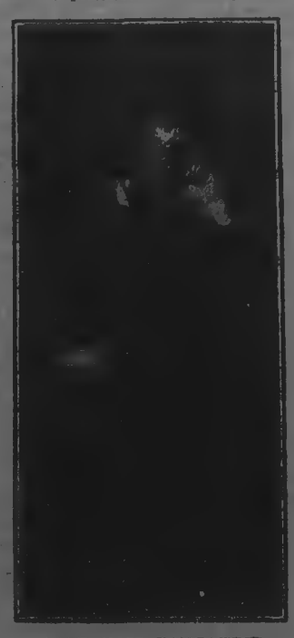
PTE. A. WAGSTAFF,
Now with the 20th Battalion, France. He enlisted with the 59th on June 15, 1915.

PTE. GEORGE CAILE, of the 72nd Royal Highlanders, killed in action somewhere in France.

SERGT. W. WAGSTAFF,
Who enlisted with the 93rd, and is now with the 21st Batt. in France.



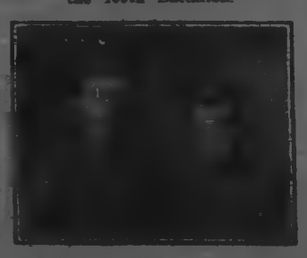
PTE. LEWIS BIGELOW,
A student at the Peterboro Normal School, who went overseas with Queen's Field Ambulance.



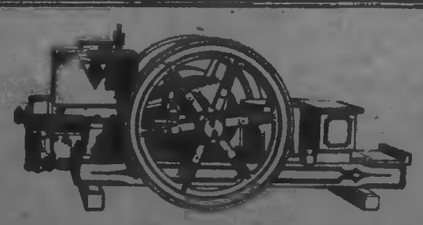
CAPT. V. W. LANCASTER,
A Peterboro officer overseas with the 109th Battalion.

PTE. ROY LITTLE,
Overseas with the 93rd Battalion.

PTE. THOMAS SMAIL,
Who went overseas with the 93rd Battalion, and is now in France with the 1st Battalion.



PTES. J. H. CRIDLAND AND R. GREEN,
Who went overseas with the 93rd Battalion, and are now in France.



You Get the Biggest Engine Value For Your Money When You Buy an

Alpha Gas Engine

YOU should measure the value you receive for the money you pay for a gas engine by what the engine will do for you.

Possibly you can buy an engine for less money than you can an Alpha, but you cannot buy an equal amount of good service in any other engine for so little money.

In the Alpha you get for your money more years of service, the lowest fuel cost, exceptional freedom from the need of repairs and the easiest engine to operate and care for.

The Alpha is a simple engine, with plenty of power, perfectly controlled by a Governor that keeps it running steadily and smoothly under light, heavy or varying loads. This engine has no complicated, delicate parts to require constant attention—not even batteries. It starts and operates on a single low speed magneto. You can use either kerosene or gasoline for fuel.

You need a gas engine on your farm. In a very short time the saving resulting through its use would pay for an Alpha. Buy an Alpha now. That is the quickest and best way to save the money that is to pay for the engine. Ask for a copy of the Alpha Engine catalogue. It contains a lot of valuable information about engines.

DE LAVAL DAIRY SUPPLY CO., Limited
PETERBOROUGH, ONTARIO

A SUPERB GIFT FOR THE HOME

A Piano worthy of the most attractive surroundings is

The Nordheimer

The price is but a little more than the cost of ordinary pianos.

The Nordheimer Human Touch Player-Piano

Can be played and enjoyed by every member of the family. Have an interview with

FRANK WHITEHOUSE
District Representative for the Nordheimer and Steinway Pianos.
118 Hunter St. - - Peterborough
Telephone 981.

ROYAL THEATRE
GEORGE ST. : Next the Market
THE BEST MOTION PICTURE PLAYHOUSE IN THE CITY
Prices: 5c and 10c.
Afternoon and Evening
M. PAPPAKERIAZES, Proprietor

Our Piano Leader

To many people a low price is the important feature when buying an instrument.

We have a Special Piano for this trade, and the surprise is in the fine quality at our low price.

Ask us about it.

The J. M. Greene Music Co.
Limited
Greene Music Bldg., Charlotte St.

FLOWERS
For Christmas

It is not too early to place your order for Christmas flowers.

Potted Plants, Ferns, Palms, Cut Flowers.

PETERBORO FLORAL CO.,
Phone 1288.

18 Pages

The Evening Examiner

GRANT SIX

If you are in the market for a six cylinder car, be sure and see the Grant Six, at PULKINGHORN'S AUTO AND TAXI LIVERY.

'Phone 278. Res. 'Phone 1187

PETERBOROUGH SATURDAY, DECEMBER 23, 1916

A Royal Christmas Greeting to Health and Happiness or Any Good Deed

T. WALKER & COMPANY Wish You Great Speed

The Examiner Wishes Its Readers A Merry Christmas

UNITED STATES MAY HAVE TO ENTER AN "ENTANGLING" ALLIANCE

May Link Up With Pan-American Nations as Well as Probably Joining Certain European Countries---Paris Editorial Comment is Almost United in Suggesting Wilson's Note Be Answered in Lincoln's Words.

WASHINGTON, December 23.—The United States may have to enter what has previously been regarded as an "entangling alliance" if the present peace negotiations go down to the point of international enforcement of peace guarantees. The State Department announced this officially to-day for the first time. In the matter of the possible alliance it was held that the United States would naturally link itself with the Pan-American nations, at the same time probably joining with certain European nations in an agreement which this country might have previously considered "entangling."

LONDON, December 23.—The Pall Mall Gazette came out frankly to-day with the suggestion the President withdraw the note. "Whether it was a simple oversight or a case of over subtlety.' The editorial asserted that the President has gravely blundered and unless the blunder is revoked it will bear evil and irrevocable fruit.

PARIS, December 23.—Paris editorial comment is almost united in suggesting M. President Wilson's peace plea be answered in the same words with which President Lincoln rejected European interference in the middle of the Civil War. The Petit Parisien declared to-day that the Entente reply to Germany's peace proposals was nearly completed, being a fairly lengthy document listing the Allies' "Grievances and the heavy responsibilities of the German Powers."

LONDON, December 23.—Serious food riots at Dresden this week in which police and military forces were used by the German authorities to quell the attack of a hundred women were reported in Rotterdam despatches to the Exchange Telegraph Co. The women stoned the shops and marched past the Palace shouting for food.

NEW YORK, December 23.—Terrific storms of recent days have caused apprehension as to the fate of the liner Voltaire, but officials denied the reports, that the company feared the vessel had succumbed to the submarine attack. The Voltaire is two weeks overdue from Liverpool.

Russian Forces Press Back German Invaders

SPECIAL TO THE EXAMINER:

PETROGRAD, December 23.—Russian forces have pressed back the German invaders in Roumania northwest, west and southwest of Kimnikser to-day's official statement declared. Lively battles were reported around advanced posts in the region of Rakovitchino, Vadul and Soressoi.

In the region of Balatchenul, Balatchenul, in the Carpathians, one of our companies penetrated to Rochiaru and damaged four horse artillery guns and bayonetted a sleeping squadron which they surprised.

PRESIDENT MAY HAVE "SOMETHING UP SLEEVE"

LONDON, December 23.—The London press took a new tack to-day in figuring out why President Wilson sent his peace note. The first outburst of indignation having died down somewhat, the editorials to-day began speculating on the belief that the American President has something up his sleeve. All the newspapers expressed the hope that the President's hint that peace may be "just around the corner" might have been based on secret information from Germany.

Canadians and Britishers Cheerful and Optimistic

SPECIAL TO THE EXAMINER:

LONDON, Eng., Dec. 23.—(Special cable).—"Christmas finds Britishers and Canadians here and in France cheerful and more optimistic than for many months. Weather both here and in France decidedly unChristmassy when compared with the crisp, bright Canadian climate, but Canadians absolutely refuse to be unhappy despite the rain and mud.

There is a general spirit of "Let's make the best of it this Christmas Day. We have to be here to watch Fritzie. But next Christmas we'll be home in Canada and the war all over." Canadians both here and in France are simply inundated with parcels and letters from home.

MAYOR DUFFUS TAKES ACTION

Mayor Duffus sent a wire to the Militia Department at Ottawa to-day, urging that the home-coming of all Peterborough soldiers who have reached Canada from overseas be facilitated so that they, including the 93rd Band, may be home for Christmas.

Every animal on the place should be your friend. If the critters run when they see you coming you have mistaken you calling.

Christmas Entertainment

THE ENTERTAINMENT TENDERED TO THE FAMILIES OF MEN ON SERVICE, IN ENGLAND AND AT THE FRONT, WILL BE GIVEN IN THE OPERA HOUSE, AFTERNOON OF CHRISTMAS DAY. DOORS OPEN AT 2.00 O'CLOCK. TO COMMENCE AT 2.30 O'CLOCK. COME EARLY. PRESENT TICKETS AT DOOR. ADMISSION BY THOSE TICKETS ONLY.

93rd BAND MAY NOT GET HOME FOR CHRISTMAS AFTER ALL

Officials, Relatives and Citizens Generally Still Anxiously Waiting For News of the Band's Arrival--Peterboro' Bandsman With the 38th Battalion Said to Have Won the D. C. M.---To-day's Military News.

It begins to look as if the 93rd Band may not get home for Christmas Day after all. The musicians are still at Quebec, and apparently will be examined by the Medical Board before they are sent home. If this is the case, it usually means four or five days' delay. It was hoped that with the bandsmen in Halifax on Monday night that they would get home for Christmas, and they may still do so, although no definite word has yet been received of their coming.

Mrs. W. H. Peryer, wife of Bandmaster Peryer, of the 39th Battalion, has received a letter from her husband, in which he stated that while playing at the Beechborough Hospital, he heard that Bandsman Stuart Langford, of Peterborough, had won the Distinguished Conduct Medal for bravery in carrying off wounded during a battle on the Somme front. Bandsman Langford, before enlisting was a member of the Band of the Salvation Army here, and went overseas as a bandsman with the 39th Ottawa Battalion.

The majority of the members of the 93rd Battalion are on Christmas leave.

Among the numerous Christmas greetings received by the Examiner is a very artistic card from Major C. G. Thomson of the Royal Army Medical Corps, and D.A.D.M.S. of the 31st Division, B.E.F. Major Thomson is a Peterborough County boy, who is well known in the city.

Master Dannie Tebarr has received an interesting letter from his brother, Pte. Harold Tebarr, who went overseas with the 93rd Battalion, and is now in France. He says in part "I am well and having a good time. Jack Cavanagh and the rest of the boys are all "jake." You asked me to tell you something of our life out here. Well we do our turn in the front line, then and have a good time. It is very sametime, and then we come back to a small French town about four miles back for a rest. We get a little pay thereand have a good time. It is very quiet on this front. We have hot meals right in the front line. There are bunks in the dugouts and we get a brazier and coalbe coke and it is real comfortable. I am in the Lewis gun section. There are six in a crew. The fellows on our section are fine fellows. The corporal, Russell his name is, is a prince. The rest of the bunch are from the 93rd, Lemay, Manley, Johnston and Stuart. We sure have some great time knocking around. We don't give each other much chance to get homesick.

A member of the Examiner staff has received the following from Lieut. L. J. Stuart, formerly of the 93rd Battalion, and now in France with the 1st Canadian Battalion:

"The following Peterborough boys in my platoon of the 1st Battalion, along with myself, wish you the compliments of the season. Clappinson, Cook, Cridland and the Coates twins.

J. J. (Hed) Stuart, Lieut.
1st Battalion, Canadians,
B.E.F.

Pte C. Robinson, who went overseas with the 93rd Battalion, writes to a

(Continued on page 17).

ARRANGEMENTS ARE COMPLETE FOR THE ENTERTAINMENT

Soldiers' Families Will Be Entertained at the Grand Opera House on Monday Afternoon

BIG TIME EXPECTED

Arrangements have been completed for the entertainment in the Opera House, Christmas afternoon, to the families of the men on service and in England getting ready to take the field. The doors will be open about 1.45 p.m., in order to allow of getting seated in time. The programme will commence at 2.30.

It is expected that Capt. Burnham may reach the city by the afternoon on Christmas Day and if so will be asked to make a brief address to the audience. Mayor Burns, as President of the Patriotic Fund Association will extend a greeting to those present. As the programme of pictures will be extremely interesting and very ample it is not the intention to take up time otherwise.

Miss Bonnycastle, a talented lady of Campbellford, has written a spirited patriotic song "The Recruit." This song she has published and it is being widely used at all patriotic gatherings. Miss Bonnycastle will come here during the afternoon, and it will no doubt add to the interest of the entertainment.

As the proposition to finance the event was handed to the Reception committee of the Council, and as there was no fund from which the expense, outside of Capt. Burnham's contribution, could be taken, the matter has been cheerfully arranged. Messrs. Matthews, Abbott, Hill (W.H.), Gillespie, Hazelton, Halliday, Ackerman, Turner (W.) Hall, (Richard), making up the required amount, and supplementing the acceptable grant of $25.00 from the coroner's jury, as already noted.

A large number of tickets have been issued, quite sufficient to fill the house, and it is hoped all will attend. Baby sleighs and carriages will be checked in Turner's store during the time of the entertainment.

Christmas Mail Reaches the Front

Trucks Fairly Bulging With Presents For Canadian Troops Have Arrived at the Firing Line.

DECORATED WITH HOLLY

With the British Armies in France, Dec. 23.—In these last days before Christmas it is a strange procession, indeed, that winds its way on the travel-scarred roads of northern France, to where the greatest armies the world has ever known are locked in a life and death struggle.

Vieing with the seemingly endless train of motor trucks groaning under capacity weights of powder, shells, and all the varied and sinister material of war, are numberless other trucks fairly bulging with presents and greetings of the Yuletide. Oddly enough both types of truck are decorated gaily with holly and mistletoe. It appears now that no soldier, regardless of how humble his station will be forgotten.

The handling of the vast amount of mail for the English, Canadian and Australian troops is fraught with great difficulties for powder and shell assert their prerogative of preference and the holiday season will bring no lessening of the gun pressure on any part of the front. Despite the complex problems connected with the task the organization behind the British front makes it possible for letters and parcels to reach the men in the front line trenches 48 hours after their posting in London. One reason for this is that the mail is being handled and distributed by "Tommies" who formerly were postal employees.

The Canadians received the bulk of their mail last week, most of the soldiers obeying with childish impatience instructions not to open the parcels until Christmas.

The mail for the Australasian troops, necessarily, was posted six or seven weeks ago and naturally there were many casualties in that period, so that the authorities are confronted with a number of parcels which never will reach their intended owners.

Outgoing Post Heavy.

A feature of the Christmas army mails is that the outgoing post is almost as heavy as the incoming, with a strange cross-current of money orders going home and coming out. Some idea of the army postal problems may be gained from the fact that normally the British army send 1,000,000 letters and postcards and 11,000 parcels daily. This number is being doubled and trebled during the Christmas rush. Another interesting fact is that a soldier receives an average of four letters a week and writes one.

The packages being sent from the front contain all manner of souvenirs, from the battlefields and trenches. Letters and parcels for the men on the very front line are sent to them with their rations. The favourite Christmas card that the "Tommies" are sending home is one on which loving mottoes are woven with vari-coloured silk threads.

DETERMINATION OF THE BRITISH GROWS STRONGER

Evident That Country Has Regained Its Self-Confidence Under the Spell of a Small But United and Energetic Ministry

LLOYD GEORGE'S SPEECH

by T. P. O'Connor

London, December 23rd. The narrow partisans of former Premier Herbert Asquith, who had been denouncing Premier Lloyd George as a selfish intriguer, were grievously disappointed on Tuesday, when Asquith rose in the House of Commons and after congratulating Lloyd George on his address, volunteered the statement that there had never been a personal quarrel between the two men during their long years of association. Further heartbreaks were caused when the former Premier pledged his hearty support to the Lloyd George ministry.

The speech of the new Premier was everywhere regarded as a splendid exposition of England's case, the passage in his address rejecting Germany's overtures being especially applauded, except by a small group of pacifists. There was scarcely even a ripple of excitement when Premier George announced that the Government would take over the control of all the mining and shipping resources of the country, and would proceed to enroll all the civil as well as the military life of Great Britain in one final effort to bring the struggle to a victorious end. It is now perfectly evident that the country has regained its self-confidence under the magic spell wrought by a small but united and energetic Ministry, and that the determination of the British pupblic to go on and on, until victory is won, has grown stronger and stronger with each succeeding day.

THE ONLY MISTAKE.

The only mistake in Premier Lloyd George's speech was the lack of definiteness in his announcement of a determination on the part of the Government to settle the Irish question. The real truth of the situation is that Premier George was more ill than was generally known, and was unable to leave his bed or see anybody for several days. He particularly wanted time to consult with such discordant elements as Sir Edward Carson before making a definite announcement as to the Irish question. Just what form this announcement will take is somewhat obscure but it is believed the next few days will do much to clear the air. In the meantime, in Tory speeches, and in Tory newspapers as well as Liberal, with the single exception of the Morning Post, there is expressed a ferrent wish that a settlement of the question be hastened.

I have already informed you of the curious relations which existed between the two most powerful figures in the Ministry—Mr. Asquith and Mr. Lloyd George. As I anticipated, these relations ended in the Ministerial earthquake which we have had. Up to the last moment—indeed almost up to midnight—on the fateful Sunday which was to decide the fate of the Ministry, the separation of the two seemed inevitable. Lloyd George owes his extraordinary position apart from his gifts as orator, his powers as a negotiator, his instinctive knowledge of political work, Lloyd George owes his position to a courage that is always ready to face any dangers or difficulties, to go out into the wilderness of opposition, if that were necessary. And he had got to such a state of exasperation and despair with regard to the dilatoriness with which the war was being conducted, that if he had not got his way he made up his mind not only to leave office, but also to go to the country, and plead before them for a more vigorous prosecution of the war.

A PECULIAR POSITION

His position in the Cabinet has been peculiar and unhappy for some time. In this particular moment of British history you had one of those paradoxes which so often occur in human history, that is to say, that

(Continued on page 17.)

BODY IN CISTERN OF VACANT HOUSE

Special to The Examiner.

KITCHENER, Dec. 23.—The body of James G. Wing, real estate agent, who disappeared mysteriously Dec. 11th, was found in the cistern of a vacant house. His coat, hat and box were found in the cellar. Deceased had been ill for a year and was 60.

TO-DAY'S INDEX

Page 1 to 4—Illustrated section.
Page 5—Cardinal Mercier's Protest.
Page 6—Serial Story.
Page 7—Woman's Page.
Page 8—A Sunday Sermon.
Page 9—Daily Short Story.
Page 10—Peterborough's Prosperity Page.
Page 11—War and Local Military News.
Page 12—Editorial.
Page 13—The Crown Prince in Town.
Page 14—Chancery Sambles. Mayor Duffus' Christmas Greetings.
Page 15—Lieut. Stuart Endorses Y.M.C.A. Work at the Front.
Page 16—The Churches.
Page 17—Short Gossip. O'Connor's Letter. Continued.
Page 18—Local News.

Band at Street Railway Rink Christmas Afternoon. Good Skating.

Evening Examiner

Phones—Editorial 1026, Business Office 1025
Private Branch Exchange to all Departments.

The Paid Circulation of The Daily Examiner is Over
5200 COPIES DAILY
SWORN TO AND GUARANTEED

The Daily Examiner, published every evening except Saturday by the Peterborough Examiner, Limited, Office, 416 George St.

The Weekly Examiner, published Thursday morning.

The subscription price of the Daily Examiner is $4.00 per annum; that of The Weekly, $1.00.

U. S. Representatives,—Stockwell, Special Agency, People's Gas Bldg.—Chicago, Tribune Bldg.—New York.

Advertising rates on application.

R. M. Glover, Managing Director.

"Peterborough Prosperity Position Unsurpassed."

SATURDAY, DEC. 23, 1916

CHRISTMAS.

Another Christmas has come; and the war drums are beating, the war guns roaring in direful chorus as loudly, and more loudly than they did last Christmas and the Christmas before that. This does not seem in tune with the hallowed spirit of peace and good will to men, that the Christmas season represents. But this spirit is with us still. It has been intangibly and pervasively in the air of the past week. It is mighty in the hearts of our people today, animating and inciting to tender and thoughtful manifestations towards our fellow men around us and our defenders in far-away France and Flanders or other points of the far-flung battle lines. The Christmas spirit too, is in the awful areas of war. It heats the heart and nerves the arm of the soldiers, fires the guns that help him win the battle in the interests of all that Christmas and its Christianity stands for. The ways of Providence are beyond our understanding, and lead to the end through ways that are dark and tortuous, by terrific agencies. This good old solid earth was fitted for the use and service of man, ripped up, riven, shaken, kneaded into fertile plain and valley and gold ribbed mountains, by monstrous and destructive or disruptive forces, coordinated to make the firm set earth the abode and instrument of man.

Our Christmas tide this year seems dark, but its recurring presence has brought us nearer victory. The forces ranged under the banners of the King of Christmas, fighting for the great principles he came to establish as the foundation of national and individual human welfare and happiness, are stronger than a year ago; while the enemies of all these things is growing weaker in the resistance which has replaced their aggressing, to the point of suing for peace. The cheer of this Christmas amidst all the lowering gloom, lies in the fact that it holds the promise, in the forerunner, of a brighter, a triumphant Christmas, when the bells ring it in a year from now.

Hope, like a gleaming taper's light
Adorns and cheers our way;
And still as darker grows our night,
Emits a brighter ray.

COLD STORAGE OUTRAGE.

We don't positively know in Canada, but we have a shrewd suspicion, that cold storage accumulation of food supplies — withholding them from market—is one of the causes of the high price of living. In the United States there is an example published of the way in which cold storage is used to commit outrage upon the public—commit robbery by the extortion of artificially swollen profits on a necessity of life. It is stated that John E. Wets, the Chicago "egg king," has 72 million, six million dozen, eggs in cold storage. Six months ago he bought them at, or under 24 cents per dozen. He will not sell a dozen for less than 75 cents per dozen. That is to say, he paid 2 cents a piece for the eggs and will sell them at 6 cents and a quarter each. That is a profit, or a robbery of 300 per cent. in six months and at the rate of 600 per cent. a year. While Wets's investment and manipulation of a staple food article has lessened the intrinsic—food or taste—value of the eggs he has hoarded, he stands to clear two and a half million dollars (allowing half a million as the expense of his piratical enterprise). The community and country that permit the perpetuation of such robbery, such cruelty to humanity has something rotten in its constitution. To think of such a man who has his essential duplicates all through the United States and Canada, recalls the Kaiser, whose mind and soul and spirit are different from those of the cold storage robbers only in degree and capacity of malefident manifestation, and to think of either is to weep for the Christmas spirit. Everybody will say that cold storage Wets of Chicago does not deserve a Christmas box. Those Asiatic hordes and his brigand breed richly deserve a Christmas box of steel—made permanent for the term of their natural or rather, unnatural, lives.

MEN OF THE RIGHT SPIRIT.

There is certainly "some class," as the profane would say, to the freshman class of the Royal College of Dental Surgeons, Toronto. On Monday the whole first year—"freshman" —class, to the number of one hundred, enlisted in a body for overseas service. When the class met on Monday they were wild with war-like enthusiasm. A motion was put, and unanimously carried that the whole class volunteer in a body. It is thought that at least seventy-five will be physically fit.

This is a splendid record and example of patriotic service that is, perhaps, unique, though it had something like a precedent in 1866, on the morning of June 2nd, of that year. A military school was conducted on the old Parliament Building grounds, under the 47th regular regiment, then stationed in Toornto. When the news came of the Fenian invasion, instant mobilization was begun. The commandant of the School paraded the cadets, about seventy-five in number, and asked those who were willing to go to the front to take one pace to the front. The whole two ranks took the step; and though they were not sent to the front, being kept for garrison duty to permit the despatch of the 47th regiment, they did their best. The same spirit was in them as in the Dental College "freshies," types of thousands of young Canadians, some of whom have not yet been seized of the seriousness of the situation, one aspect of which, according to Lloyd George, is the urgent need in the present and immediate future, of men.

One thing that stands in the way of recruiting in Canada is the failure of the Canadian people, especially those by age and physique, eligible for enlistment, to appreciate the tremendous seriousness of the national and imperial situation and the imminence of the dire menace to all the conditions of living that make Canada to-day the most favoured country in the world, and its free citizens the most envied of peoples. We are, it is true, far from the scenes of actual and awful carnage, outrage and suffering; but our danger is none the less real and threatening than if we were across the ocean alongside the war stricken and struggling nations—unless we do our share to avert the danger and destroy the German menace to national autonomy, to human liberty. Its success in its devilish ambition of world-domination would mean the triumph of military autocracy and destruction of all the liberty, all the good that Canadians, and other civilised communities, hold dear. World domination by Germany will come if the spirit is not broken that is behind the force that is arrayed in terrible potency and diabolical ingenuity of organization, against the peace and liberties of the world and humanity.

CIVIC GOVERNMENT BY THE PEOPLE.

Peterborough's civic nominations passed very quietly, as if in sympathy with the peaceful atmosphere of the season. This is all very well from a sentimental point of view, but it is an unhealthy sign—a disquieting indication of the passive attitude of the ratepayers towards the problem of effective city government. These conditions show a lack of interest that would explain—furnish reasons for—ineffective civic service we sometimes complain of.

Elections by acclamation, except, perhaps, in the case of a mayor or alderman of tried and approved service, are unhealthy indications of, public lack of interest in civic affairs. Yesterday, at the city hall nominations, there were present a bare half dozen of ratepayers—if they were, indeed, ratepayers—besides the other half dozen necessary to nominate candidates. As far as personal attendance was concerned the ratepayers of the city took as much interest in the selection of their governing powers during the coming year as the soldiers in the trenches. There seemed to be a disposition to take everything for granted, and no disposition to know how the civic business stood. The excellent address of Mayor Duffus, with its explanation of some of the causes of a high rate of taxation fell on a virtually empty hall; and Commissioner Hick's remarks upon a live topic of public interest, might have been delivered in the tonneau of an auto, which would have held his audience.

These conditions do not, perhaps, indicate as great a lack of public interest as would appear. The fact is, too many other interests, personal and urgent, for the moment, absorb the public attention at the holiday season. This means that the municipal nominations and elections are held at quite the wrong time of year. If, as an ex-Mayor, in comment on yesterday's skeleton platoon at the nominations said, the elections were held a month earlier, say, in November, they would not be overshadowed and dwarfed by the commercial rush and busy-ness of the Christmas week and the New Year season.

Gird Up Your Loins For National Service Week

National Service Week is drawing very near and the fact that the first week of the New Year bears that title is something in which everyone in Canada has an interest. The men are interested because it is obligatory upon each of them, between the ages of 15 and 65 years, to fill out one of the cards which the Government is sending to them through the Post Office authorities. The women are interested because their co-operation is being invited, in seeing that their men-folk attend to this important duty. The children are interested because their school teachers have explained to them the meaning of National Service, and the way in which father and the big brothers at home have to reply to the various questions."

To write in the answers and return the card promptly is a good New Year's resolution for every man throughout the Dominion, and it has the advantage of being easy of fulfilment. It only means a few minutes' careful thought. The postman in the cities gets the hard work to do, for he has not only to deliver the cards; he is responsible also for their proper return. Prompt mailing of the answers will make the postman's work very much easier.

National service means that we are to get into that frame of mind which will cause us to think of the needs of the country, to realize that the interests of the State have a greater claim on us than our self-interest. This applies to everyone, from the highest in the land to the lowest. The Prince of Wales' motto "I serve" may well be the motto of every citizen of the British Empire at this time.

There are many ways of serving the nation besides going to the front. The men on the farm and the mechanic in a workshop may be serving the nation as usefully as the man in the trenches. Every man should be doing the work which represents the most efficient service to his country.

The war is teaching us, or should be teaching us, great lessons. Terrible as are its effects, those who have faith in Canadian manhood hope and believe that the nation will emerge from this experience a stronger and a better people. If the meaning of a National Service is thoroughly grasped and properly understood, if the Government's call for information is responded to in the right spirit, the coming year will be the banner year in Canada's history.

The result of the present conditions is that the public can't or won't take an interest in the selection and election of candidates; that candidates offer themselves and are either elected automatically, by acclamation, or are voted for because there may be, in some cases, nobody else to vote for. In many cases candidates virtually nominate themselves and all the electors have to do is to choose, many times, the least of two or three evils. The evils that people complain of in the matter of the results of government in national, provincial or public matters is not so much the fault of the elected representatives as of the people who elect them, or, in effect, as far as public interest is taken in the matter, allow them to virtually elect themselves. If we, speaking in a general term, wish to secure better civic, provincial, or national government, we must organize public sentiment and personnel in a way to permit of the fact, as we now have the election, of civic and other government by the people.

VARSITY
MAGAZINE SUPPLEMENT

"Varsity" Magazine Supplement is, without doubt, one of the finest publications of its kind ever issued in Ontario. This applies especially to its typographical, illuminated and illustrated features. It is Canadian all through, in art, work and spirit. It consists of 170 large quarto pages, and the quality of paper hints not at all of a paper famine. The front cover page, bears the title, and in the lower foreground a picture in colours of a Canadian soldier, one hand grasping the flag, and the other his raised rifle, with his cap on the muzzle, surrounded by a design of autumn leaves of the maple. Above him and in the back ground is a medallion picture of that grand old Norman pile, the well known and often pictured university buildings.

The supplement is offered "as an humble tribute to those members of our Alma Mater who, at the call of duty, have surrendered their prospects in chosen professions, and left the happy associations of Varsity's old gray tower for the risks and turmoils of war."

The book is studded with portraits, the general class including pictures of the monarchs of the entente allies and of their prominent statesmen and generals, as well as of Canadian men of moment prominent in council and camp.

But the most striking and saddest gallery of pictures is those "of 110 of our valiant men—'Varsity's Honour Roll—dead on the battle fields of France and Flanders," the pages containing them constituting at once a necrology and a cenotaph. Then follow several pages containing approximately two thousand portraits of students and graduates of the University on active service, both at home and abroad.

The letter press of the supplement is composed of splendidly written and splendidly illustrated special articles on themes associated with the war, by British and Canadian cabinet ministers, college professors, military experts, war correspondents, etc. A note explains that two of the contributors to this number, Capt. Edward Kylie, of the History Department, and Capt. T. G. Brodie, of the Medical Faculty, "have since been numbered with the honoured dead."

Altogether the work is one of which "The Editorial and Bureau Board" may very well be proud — with the group of bright, "brainy" pictured faces—Miss Dorothy Ferrier, B.A., Associate Editor, University College; Herbert Turney, B.A., Art Editor, University College; Sidney Childs, B.A., Managing Editor, Trinity College; Colher C. Grant, B.A., Business Manager, University College, and A. R. Wilmott, B.A., Editor in Chief, "Varsity," Victoria College.

The University supplement should be in the hands—to stay, for its intrinsic and souvenir and patriotic value—and in the hands of all those who value the greatness of our collegiate institutions, and would know more, of the part the play in the benefit of all the higher interests, intellectual, martial, patriotic, civic and social, of Canada, and especially Ontario.

THE RECRUIT

The Examiner has received from the publisher, Miss Hilda Bonnycastle, Campbellford, a copy of a most timely and inspiring song, "The Recruit." The words and music are composed by Charlotte Bonnycastle, also of Campbellford, the composer of several popular song successes.

A sample verse of the words, supposed to be spoken by the recruit, reads thus:

Soon to reach the danger zone,
Foes below, above,
My heart will turn to you alone
And the land I dearly love.
And if, perchance, somewhere in France,
Wherever I meet the foe,
You bet I'll hit and do my bit
For Old Ontario.

These stirring words have a splendid setting in the swinging and martial march-time music, with a most fetching refrain that would stir patriotic enthusiasm in the tamest heart, and would make a rousing chorus. Miss Hilda Bonnycastle, the publisher, is a singer of fine voice, and to hear her sing "The Recruit" with catching spirit, would, as has often been the case when she sang it at patriotic gatherings in Toronto, "bring down the house." She sang it there with instant success to the accompaniment of the 48th Highlanders Band. It is harmonized to piano and orchestra and band. It would make a splendid hit at recruiting rallies in Peterborough, and it is understood that Miss Bonnycastle's services can be secured gratis—for the good of the cause. It is written in a mezzo key and is well adapted to voices of average compass, and should have large demand and popularity.

German Women Workers

4,783,472 EMPLOYED IN THE EMPIRE AND THOUSANDS MORE SEEKING JOBS

As the result of the scarcity of male workers in Germany due to war the number of women employed in industries covered by the sick and death benefit societies has risen from 3,606,164 in 1914 to 4,783,472 in 1916, according to data furnished by these organizations. The women now form almost half of the persons covered by the insurance system, as is shown in the following table:

Year	Men	Women
1914	6,160,912	3,606,164
1915	5,254,170	3,889,671
1916	5,388,923	4,783,472

In several branches of industry, including textiles and paper production, there are more men than women at work and the number of women seeking employment is constantly increasing. The latest figures show that the demand for women workers, although large, is only about half as big as the supply. Of 100 women seeking work only 66 were able to find it. Since 1914, the number of women registered at the employment agencies had increased by 60,000, and of the 185,126 women out of work in May, 1916, approximately 100,000 could not be placed.

German newspapers point out that in view of the comparatively small pensions paid by the Imperial Government or its subdivisions, to the survivors of the soldiers who have fallen in battle, there will be hundreds of thousands of widows and female orphans after the war who will be compelled to seek work in order to live at all comfortably. Consequently as the Reichs and Staats-Anzeiger remarks it is only natural that the problem of women in industry after the war is already occupying the serious attention of broad circles of the German people.

In showing the steady increase of the percentage of women in industry before the war began, the Statistical Bureau goes back to 1895, when of the 7,340,739 industrial workers in the Empire, 26.5 per cent. were workmen, and gives figures down to 1907, when 24.6 per cent of the 14,436,738 persons so employed were women.

German papers cite the case of the daughter of Louis Unkel, a boss butcher of the City of Biedenkopf, as an illustration of the way in which women are invading the trades formerly limited to men. Franklin Unkel has just finished her apprenticeship in her father's trade, and has been allowed to take the examination necessary to qualify as a journeyman butcher.

In Munich the women insurance agents have organized a society for the purpose of uniting a union with the existing organizations of German insurance agents.

The Munchner Post says there are now 400 women street car conductors in Munich, and praises the way in which they handle the travelling public. They work six hours a day for 68 cents.

Back to Solid Earth.—The attorneys for the prosecution and defence had been allowed fifteen minutes each to argue the case. The attorney for the defense had begun his arguments with an allusion to the old swimming-hole of his boyhood days. He told in flowery oratory of the balmy air, the singing birds, the joy of youth, the delights of the cool water. And in the midst of it he was interrupted by the drawling voice of the judge. "Come out, Chauncey," he said, "and put on your clothes. Your fifteen minutes are up."

Accepted By Cable
He Hurries Home
To Wed in Person

"Have I Made Good?" Albert Weaver's Proposal of Marriage—Answer Is "You Have."

NEW YORK, Dec 20. — "Excuse me; I'm in a hurry; I'm going to get married."

Reporters who had fired a broadside of questions at Alfred Weaver when he arrived here on board the steamship Munamar, of the Munson line, stepped aside and allowed Mr. Weaver to proceed without further delay to the train for Norristown, Pa., where Miss Mabel Taggart has been waiting his arrival.

She had been waiting for five years—small wonder that Mr. Weaver was in such a hurry! When he went away from Norristown five years ago to work for the Spanish-American Iron Company, at Woodford, near Nipe Bay, Cuba, he told Miss Taggart that he hoped to be able to come back some day and ask her to be his bride.

"I want to make good first," he said, as he set out in quest of fame and fortune.

Recently the Bethlehem Steel Company acquired possession of the Woodford plant, and two weeks ago made Mr. Weaver its general superintendent, in charge of 1,500 men. He immediately wrote to Miss Weaver, telling her of his good fortune, and asked, "Have I made good?"

He begged her to cable if the reply was favourable.

The cabled assurance was, "You have."

If ants bother the ice chest set a pan of water under each leg and move away from wall. You will be immune.

WANTED

WANTED—GOOD CAPABLE WOMAN, good wages. Apply 31 Ormond street. 12d-143-555

WANTED—NURSE FOR TWO CHILDREN at once, references. Apply to Mrs. Oliver Milburn, 631 George Street. Phone 465. 3d-147-567

INTELLIGENT MAN OR WOMAN TO travel and appoint local representatives for leading house. Nine months contract guaranteeing expenses and $18.00 a week. Winston Co., Toronto 4d-ws-136-30

Notice To Creditors

IN THE SURROGATE COURT OF THE COUNTY OF PETERBOROUGH IN THE MATTER OF THE ESTATE OF SARAH FITZGERALD, LATE OF THE CITY OF PETERBOROUGH, WIDOW, DECEASED.

NOTICE is hereby given pursuant to R. S. O. 1914, Chapter 121, Section 56 that all Creditors and others having claims against the estate of the said SARAH FITZGERALD, deceased, who died on or about the ninth day of February, 1916, are required to deliver or send by Post prepaid on or before the Fifth day of January, 1917, to the undersigned Solicitors for James Edgar and E. L. Goodwill the executors of the Estate, their names and addresses and a full description and particulars in writing of their claims and statement of their accounts and the nature of the securities (if any) held by them duly verified by statutory declaration.

AND TAKE NOTICE that after the said fifth day of January, 1917, the executors will proceed to distribute the assets of the estate among the parties entitled thereto having regard only to the claims of which they shall then have had notice and the said executors will not be liable for the said assets or any part thereof to any person or persons of whose claims notice shall not have been received by them at the time of such distribution.

DATED this 1st day of December, 1916.

BENNETT & GOODWILL,
375 Water Street, Peterborough.
Solicitors for Executors.

2-9-16-23-30

Notice to Creditors

IN THE MATTER OF THE ESTATE OF THOMAS SHEEHAN, LATE OF THE CITY OF PETERBOROUGH IN THE COUNTY OF PETERBOROUGH, MECHANIC, DECEASED.

NOTICE IS HEREBY GIVEN, pursuant to Chapter 121 of the Revised Statutes of of Ontario 1914, and amendmtes Acts, that all creditors and other persons having claims against the above named THOMAS SHEEHAN, who died on or about the 26th day of September, 1916, are required to send by post prepaid, or delivered to the undersigned Solicitors before the 30th day of December, 1916, full particulars of their claims, their names and addresses, duly verified by Statutory declaration, and the nature of the security (if any), held by each of them, and that after the said 30th day of December, 1916, the Executors will proceed to distribute the assets of the said deceased amongst the persons entitled thereto, having regard only to the claims of which they shall then have had notice, and they will not be liable for any part of the said assets to any person of whose claims they shall not then have had notice.

DATED at Peterborough this 16th day of November, 1916.

GORDON & WIDDIFIELD,
PETERBOROUGH, ONTARIO.
SOLICITORS FOR THE EXECUTORS AND TRUSTEES.

THE TRUST & GUARANTEE CO., LTD., EXECUTORS AND TRUSTEES OF THE ESTATE OF THE SAID THOMAS SHEEHAN.

Notice to Creditors

IN THE SURROGATE COURT OF THE COUNTY OF PETERBOROUGH

IN THE MATTER OF THE ESTATE JOHN THROOP, LATE OF THE CITY OF PETERBOROUGH, GENTLEMAN, DECEASED.

NOTICE IS HEREBY GIVEN pursuant to R. S. O. 1914, Chapter 121, Section 56 that all Creditors and others having claims against the estate of the said JOHN THROOP, deceased, who died on or about the sixth day of November, 1916 are required to deliver or send by Post prepaid on or before the Fifth day of January, 1917, to the undersigned, Solicitors for Cyrus T. Throop and Andrew H. Kent the executors of the Estate, their names and addresses and full descriptions and particulars in writing of their claims and statement of their accounts and the nature of the security (if any), held by them duly verified by Statutory Declaration.

AND TAKE NOTICE that after the said Fifth day of January, 1917, the executors will proceed to distribute the assets of the estate among the parties entitled thereto, having regard only to the claims of which they shall then have had notice and the said executors will not be liable for the said assets or any part thereof to any person or persons of whose claims notice shall not have been received by them at the time of such distribution.

BENNETT & GOODWILL,
375 Water Street, Peterborough.
Solicitors for Executors

DATED this 1st day of December, 1916.

2-9-16-23-30

Car of California Seedless Oranges at All Prices

Malaga Grapes — California Grapes
Bananas — Figs — Dates
Grape Fruit — Pomegranates
Apples — Lemons
Hot House Tomatoes — Potatoes
Hot House Lettuce — Macaroni
Olives — Olive Oil
Choice Groceries for Christmas
Fresh Fish, Haddie, Herrings and Select Oysters

JOE LONGO & CO.
2 Stores (416 George St., Phone 931; 230 Charlotte St., Phone 1013)

Farm For Sale By Tender

TENDERS will be received until the 1st day of January, 1917, for the purchase of the West Half of Lot Six, in the Sixth Concession of the Township of Douro, owned in his lifetime by Michael Mahoney of the said Township of Douro, Farmer.

THIS PROPERTY CONTAINS about one hundred acres, and has good well, one barn, and a house. Between sixty and seventy acres are said to be cleared.

OFFERS may be sent to Gordon & Widdifield, Peterborough, Solicitors for the executors of the estate of Michael Mahoney. 5d e 129

NOTICE

Notice is hereby given that Thomas Edwin Jory, formerly of the Township of Douro, in the County of Peterborough, and Province of Ontario, Farmer, and now of Rocton P.O., in the Province of Saskatchewan, Farmer, will apply to the Parliament of Canada at the next session thereof for a Bill of Divorce from his wife, Elisa Jory, whose present address is unknown, but who was last heard of from Toronto, Ontario on the grounds of adultery and desertion.

Dated at Peterborough this 15th day of September, 1916.

PECK, KERR & McELDERRY,
415 Water Street, Peterborough, Ont.
Solicitor for the said Applicant.

14d-s-70-3710

LOST

LOST ON THE MARKET ON SATURDAY morning a $10 bill. Finder please leave at the Examiner 1d-147-566

LOST—SMALL PURSE ON SATURDAY a.m., with sum of money and keys, between Market and Simcoe Street. Finder please leave at the police station and receive reward. 1d-147-560

LOST — SMALL PURSE CONTAINING A sum of Money, between Crossman's and Routley's, on Thursday night. Finder, leave at Examiner 3d-146-536

SOLDIER'S WIFE LOST A CHEQUE AND purse Wednesday evening. Finder please leave at Examiner or at 55 Victoria St. 3d-146-545

FOUND

FOUND IN CRESSMAN'S STORE ON Thursday evening, a small purse, containing sum of money. Owner may have the same by applying to 131 Lock street. 1d-147-546

FOR SALE

FOR SALE—LARGE CANARY BREEDING Cage (9 apartments). Apply 264 McDonnel Street. 3d146-559

FOR SALE—FOX TERRIER PUPPY DOG Apply 121 River Road, Auburn. 2d147-562

CLEARING OUT SALE OF GENT'S SUITS, overcoats, several good gent's fur collars. JAY'S store, Aylmer street. 6d-d

FOR SALE—CANADA MALLEABLE steel ranges and repairs. 286 Sherbrooke street. 'Phone 1466. 20d-133-522

FOR SALE—CANARY BIRDS, GOOD SINGers. Apply 344 Simcoe. 3d-146-547

FOR SALE—SOLID OAK BUFFET, almost new. Apply 118½ Hunter street. Call during day time. 3d-146-510

FOR SALE—COOK STOVE, SIDE BOARD chairs, beds, etc., also 6 hens. Apply 560 Albert street 3d-146-511

HOUSE AND LARGE LOT FOR SALE, 67 Morrow Street, comfortable home, good bargain for quick sale. Apply to H. Moore, 484 Albert Street. 6d-144-492

FOR SALE—A CLOSED MILK SLEIGH—1 set single harness and 1 cutter. Apply Peterborough Creamery, Aylmer St. 3d-147-558

UNDERWOOD NO. 6 LATEST MODEL, two color ribbon, back spacer. For sale cheap to a quick buyer. Apply to Box 4661 Examiner. 20d-103-4661

GREAT LOTS—IN BLOCK B, ASHBURNham, on Dufferin, Roger, Elgin streets; $4 per foot, $10 down, $10 per quarter till paid for. Interest only 5 per cent. Land dry, sightly, healthy, also on McDonnel St., Peterborough. Apply to Rumble & Johnston 6mos-91-917

TO RENT

FOR RENT — UNFURNISHED ROOMS — Apply 460 Rogers St. 3d-147-564

GOOD OFFICE OR STORE WITH WATER connection and heated, possession at once. Apply 185 Charlotte St. d-f 26-2791

TO RENT—MODERN HOUSE, ALL CONveniences, very central. Apply Examiner Office for address. 20d-4-t-e-131

FOR RENT—NO. 387 WATER STREET, suitable for store or office, immediate possession. Apply 437 George street. d-f-26

FOR RENT—STORE No. 1734, SIMCOE ST. Immediate possession. Apply 437 George Street. d-f.

HELP WANTED—MALE

MEN WANTED—$40 PER MONTH AND board. Apply Cavanagh, 309 Queen St. 3d-146-564

HELP WANTED—Female

WANTED—GOOD GENERAL SERVANT AT once. Apply 234 Stewart street. 12d-142-433

WANTED—A GOOD KITCHEN GIRL AT once. Apply to the Montgomery House, Simcoe street. 3d-146-561

WANTED—A GIRL FOR GENERAL housework. Apply 112 Aylmer street. 3d-146-522

WANTED—GOOD CAPABLE GIRL. Apply Mrs. Dickson Hall, 25 Dennistoun Ave. 12d-140-379

GOOD GENERAL SERVANT WANTED AT once. Apply Mrs. Duffus, 346 Hunter street. 3d-147-544

GIRLS WANTED—FOR POWER SEWING machines to work in Flax Department. Light, clean work. Experienced operators preferred. J. J. Turner & Sons. 3d-136-540

OVER 6$ DAILY EASILY EARNED AT home on Auto-Knitter machine. War Socks, experience unnecessary, distance immaterial. Inclose three cent stamp to day for contract form. Dept. 350 Auto Knitter Co., College street, Toronto. 26d-e-1020

ORDER YOUR Victrola FOR CHRISTMAS

The one best sound producing instrument made—makes a superb Christmas Present.

Easy Payments

To suit purchasers will solve the money problem.

You don't need to pay any more at a time than you can afford.

Great variety in Price, Size and style. See them.

Christmas Records

"Hark the Herald Angels Sing"

And many other Christmas Victrola Records are now on sale by us. They make pleasing gifts.

New Victor Records

By Famous Artists

OPEN EVERY EVENING TILL CHRISTMAS

CALL AND SEE THEM

B. H. BRITTON
DISTRICT MANAGER
421 GEORGE STREET,
PETERBOROUGH, ONT.

PERSONAL

CUT THIS OUT FOR LUCK—Send birth date and 10c. for wonderful horoscope of your entire life. Prof Rasheal, 499 Lexington Ave., New York. 13d-e-321

HOOPER'S REPAIR SHOP

NEVER TOO LATE TO MEND. WHEN YOUR BICYCLE NEEDS DOCTORing, cutlery needs sharpening or grinding, sewing machine needs overhauling, household breaks mended or small brass or iron turning done, we know how. Gasoline engine work a specialty. 193 Charlotte street, opposite Snowden House. 26d-97-4488

VULCANIZING

NOW IS THE TIME TO HAVE YOUR Vulcanizing done. Reliable steam vulcanizing and tube repairing done promptly.—THE MANNING GARAGE, 362 Water Street. 'Phone 1347. d-f-47-3884

HAIR DRESSING

MANICURING, HAIR DRESSING AND massaging. Hair braids, switches, up-to-date line of hair ornaments. Make an appointment now.—Miss E. SMITH, Opera House Block. 'Phone 1182. 130-d-30

MONUMENTAL WORK

WE RESPECTFULLY SOLICIT YOUR ORder for Cemetery Work of any kind. Latest equipment; first class Scotch granite cutters—Coughlin's Monumental Works, 624 Hunter Street. 'Phone 1363. d-f-46-3844

PATENTS

GORDON & WIDDIFIELD, Barristers, Solicitors Patent applications receive special attention. Offices, Cor. George and Hunter streets

H. J. S. DENNISON, 10 WEST KING ST., Toronto: Experts in Patents, Trade marks, designs, Copyrights and Infringements. Write us for Booklet. d-f-4

BABCOCK & SONS

Patents, Trade Marks, Designs.
Registered Patent Attorneys.
Established 1877
Formerly Patent Office Examiner.
Master of Patent Laws.
Representatives in all foreign countries.
Write for book, "Patent Protection." Tells All about and how to obtain Patents.
99 St. James St., Montreal.
Branches: Ottawa, Washington.

SOCIETIES

CHILDREN'S AID SOCIETY of Peterborough City and County
For the care of neglected and ill-treated children
C. A. G. SPENCE
Assistant Secretary and Inspector
121 Simcoe Street.
Phone 1044 Office Hours 3 till 5
Children for Adoption.

SECOND-HAND STORES

FURNITURE, STOVES, and Household Goods sold on Commission, Exchanged or Bought for Cash. Storage room to let at reasonable rates.
M. T. BUTCHER,
346 & 348 Water St.

A. CHERNIKOFF

Will Buy and Sell New and Second-Hand Goods of all Kinds. Best Prices Paid. Big Bargains in Cook Stoves and all kinds of Heaters at Chernikoff's. Men's Suits and Overcoats at less than the cost of making.

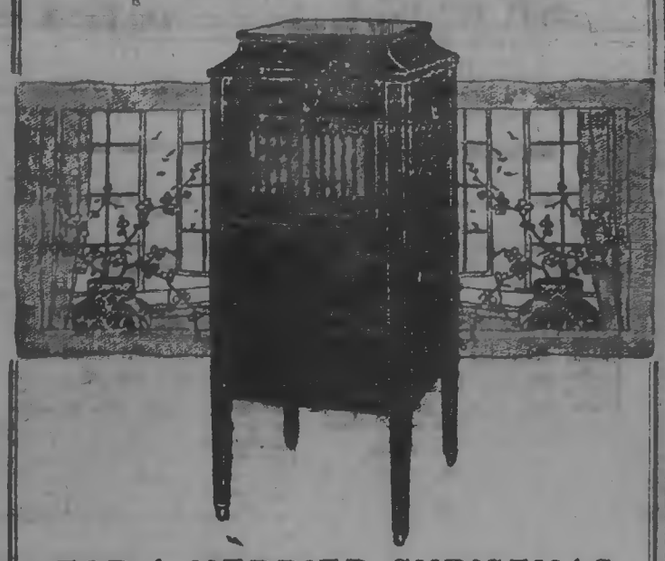
220-222 George Street 'Phone 820

SECOND HAND
FURNITURE, STOVES, etc.

Bought and sold. Entire Household Furniture or pieces bought. We know the value. Telephone and we will call.

S. COHEN 180 CHARLOTTE ST 'PHONE 1349

THE Aeolian-Vocalion



FOR A MERRIER CHRISTMAS

If you like vocal music, the astoundingly perfect reproductions by the Vocalion will thrill you like the original voices of the great singers who have given their art to the record makers.

And when you have tried the Graduola—when you have PLAYED your favourite records, modulating each tone, varying each measure as you choose, with this remarkable expression device—you will realize that this feature alone grants the Vocalian a distinction and a capacity for musical pleasure-giving unequaled by any instrument of the phonograph type.

OPEN EVENINGS

Frank Whitehouse District Representative

Crown Buildings, Ground Floor, 118 Hunter St. Phone 981

NOTICE!

he undersigned grocers of the City of Peterborough, have placed our orders for grocery stock, in accord with, and are selling to the public, goods that conform to the regulations as set out by the Pure Food Law of Canada. The following stores will be found satisfactory stores at which to buy:

A. W. PASKINS, 233 Hunter St.
W. J. BYERS, Byersville.
D. B. NICHOLLS, 209 Stewart St.
MITCHELL'S GROCERY, 239 Reid St.
BERT. HUNTER, 235 McDonnel St.
EDGAR PUTTICK, 531 Park St.
JUBY BROS., 242 Charlotte St.
N. ROUTLEY, 392 Brock St.
W. ROUTLEY, Lake and Aylmer Sts.
A. DAVIDSON, 133 Benson Ave.
BERT. HEARD, 239 George St
GOHEEN & MATCHETT, 196 Ruhidge St.
DAWSON BROS., 559 George St.
F. DARLING, 521 George St.
E. J. McDONELL, 233 Lake St.
F. LYNCH, 465 Park St.
R. S. GOHEEN, 481 Aylmer St.

EDDY'S MATCHES

Although somewhat increased in price owing to the continued high cost of Potash, Glue and other raw material, are of the usual high standard of quality which has made them famous for over two-thirds of a century.

Always Ask For

EDDY'S MATCHES

COPPERS

The bulk of the Copper output for 1917 is now under contract. Producing properties are earning two or three times present dividends. Many smaller companies will shortly become producers and their shares will show sharp gains marketwise. Get our market letters and keep posted on these issues.

CHAS. A. STONEHAM & CO.
(Est. 1903)
23 MELINDA ST., TORONTO
41 BROAD ST., NEW YORK

THE CROWN PRINCE IN TEARS

BY A CANADIAN OVERSEAS

It has long been obvious that the Crown Prince is a simpleton, with brutal instincts. We did not expect him to make a public confession of his folly. But now there is no going back. Through many a long year of peace he was regarded as the hope of the military caste in Prussia. He held a place midway between politics and the army, where neither tact nor respect seemed necessary. He did not hesitate to cheer those who attacked his august father, and he deemed it not inconsistent with his Imperial dignity to congratulate the miserable hero of Zahern.

At manoeuvres he prayed ardently that the sham fight might soon become a reality. He had his way at last, and now finds that the reality is not what he expected. The war for which his father and his nation had sedulously prepared was designed by them to be a short one.

They were to choose the moment of attack, hurl their legions upon an unarmed, unsuspecting world, and to return home before the leaves were off the trees. What pastime, indeed, could be more pleasant than to loot a castle here and there and send the spoils to Berlin, to murder women and children, and to destroy such marvels of architecture as Germany, barren in art, could never boast? To Prussian fancy, the scheme appeared prudent and profitable, and if her enemies had not had the effrontery to oppose her advance the Crown Prince might long ago have been at home, with his wife and family, counting his leisure hours on a French timepiece, the proper spoils of his bow and spear.

Two years of hardship in the field have given him a sad distaste for war. He laments aloud that the battle should cease, that he should be allowed to go back to the manoeuvres which once his ambition found dull and profitless.

"We are all tired of bloodshed," he murmurs. "We want peace." He babbles sadly of green fields, laments that he may not spend next Christmas in the serene happiness of his home, looks back with regret to the days when his chief care was to dance the tango, and displays in the face of the world a futility which history cannot parallel.

In the brave days of his fire-eating, he wanted nothing more than warfare without tears for himself. He cared not how bitterly defenceless Belgium might weep. But eight months of Verdun have proved to him that Germany may not have it all her own way. And so he takes to sobbing in the presence of Mr. Hearst's emissary. "Have you had a chance," he asks in a voice broken by emotion, "to see enough of this dreadful business? Does not your heart already ache enough over the sorrows which have descended upon this region of the earth? What a pity, what a pity it is."

Hypocricy cannot be carried farther than this. Truly it is a pity: but whose is the fault? The Kaiser and his son willed the war. Misled by a superhuman conceit they counted on a walk-over, and now that the tide is turning the Crown Prince has the impudence to murmer in the reporter's ear, "What a pity, what a pity it is!"

The Kaiser's heart bled for Louvain. The Crown Prince bursts into tears when he thinks of the terrible extinction of human life which is "blasting the hope and epectancy of youth." If he could only engage in some peaceful pursuit he would be perfectly happy, and all his soldiers are of one mind with him. "Every general, every officer, every man would far rather see all this labour, skill, education . . . devoted to the task of upbuilding and lengthening life, subduing the common enemies of man—disease and material obstacles to the progress of mankind—than devoted to the destruction of other men."

The Crown Prince's whine comes too late. He should have pondered over these things long ago; he should have forgone the military arrogance which won him the frenzied applause of his comrades. It is too late for him to deplore the waste of life and energy wrought by his own ignorance and ambition.

So in tearful terms, the Crown Prince laments the decay of chivalry. Truly if a spark of humour ever burned in his soul, it is utterly extinguished. "It is a pity," he says, "that all cannot be gentlemen and sportsmen, even if we are enemies." For once we are in complete agreemen with him. It is a pity; yet we cannot assume responsibility for our enemy's dishonour.

The Crown Prince is amiable enough to pretend that he has had, and to hope that he still has, friends in England. Vain is his hope. However heavy a load of years fate puts upon his back, they will not be heavy enough for forgetfulness. Never again shall he call an Englishman a friend. He may weep as he will and he will have no mercy here.

And moreover let not Germany be deceived that it is England alone which is determined to continue the struggle. The Allies are of one mind and one resolution. If truth and justice are not to be extinguished, Germany must be beaten to her knees. It is not for the criminal to shout "peace" when the hour of punishment approaches.

Two years ago, in the pride of his strength, the Crown Prince and his fellow-countrymen demanded war. They have had enough, and now they demand peace with equal insistence. The moment of war was their choice; the moment of peace is ours, and all the tears that the Crown Prince is shedding will not bring him a mile nearer to his peaceful home.

J. E. H.,
Canadian Overseas.

FIRE SALE

Owing to the recent fire in our show room, thereby slightly damaging some of our fixtures; we have decided to place our entire stock of Fixtures and Portable Lamps on sale Dec. 18th to Jan. 1st.

This stock, as is well known consisted of many beautiful and exclusive designs, and owing to the necessity of repairing and remodelling our show room, we are sacrificing our profits. We can assure you of a reduction from 35 to 50%.

ALEXANDER & MILLER
Electrical Contractors, 438 Geo. St

Porter S. White's Holiday Bill-Of-Fare

Good Things to Eat at Moderate Prices. Shop Early. Store Open Evenings. Good Service. Prompt Deliveries.

Seedless Oranges, per doz, 30c., 40c.	50c.
Deliciously Sweet Florida Oranges, 20c.	40c.
Grape Fruit, 3 for 25c. and 4 for	25c.
Choice Malaga Grapes, per lb.	25c.
Tangarines, doz.	30c.
Apples, including Jonathan and McIntosh for table use.
Extra Fine Dates and Figs, per lb.	15c.
Selected Malaga Raisins, per package	30c.
In cluster per lb.	25c.
A special assortment of Mixed Nuts Including Walnuts, Brazils, Almonds, Pecans, Filberts and Peanuts, per lb.	25c.
Special assortment of Christmas Mixed, lb.	15c.
Special assortment of Creams, per lb.	20c.
Extra special mixture of Nut Taffy, Chocolates and Creams, per lb.	25c.
Sharp's Kreemy Toffee, per lb.	40c.
Confections appropriately boxed, of various sizes and prices.
Allan's Sweet Cider, per quart	15c.
Christie's and McVittie & Price's famous Fancy Biscuits.
Christie Brown's Plum Pudding, 1 lb. tin 40c. each, 2 lb. bag, 80c. each.
Christie Brown's Christmas Cake, 1 lb. tin 40c. each, 2 lb. tin, 80c. each.
Choice Scotch Bread, per box, 15c. and	25c.
Imported Superior Preserved Ginger	60c.
Fresh P. F. Short Cake, at, per tin	30c.
Choice Olives at, per bottle, 10c., 15c., 30c. and	75c.

P. S. WHITE
334 Georgie Street
Phone 208

GIFTS TO SHELTER

The following gifts for the children at the Shelter are acknowledged: A cheque for five dollars from Mr. Robert Hicks for toys, Mr. H. Stock a bag of flour, Mr. E. A. Peak two dollars. Other gifts of candy, fruit and toys will be acknowledged later.

A SPLENDID WAY TO REDUCE ONE'S WEIGHT

There is, perhaps, no one thing that shows the passing of our youth so much as the horrible tendency of some of us to put on too much weight after we have reached the age of 25 or 30. However young our face may appear, our figures "give us away".

The cause of this ever-stoutness is that our stomachs convert the food we eat into fat because there is not enough oxygen in the blood to produce a proper combination to destroy the fatty tissue. To reduce your weight go to a good druggist and get oil of orilene in capsule form, and take one after each meal. It is sold only in original sealed packages. Oil of orilene taken at meal-time gives you all the benefit of the food you eat, and at the same time dissolves the fatty tissue from any part of the body where there is excessive fat. In this way many have reduced their weight at the rate of about a lb. a day, and no flabbiness is left.

Any druggist can supply you or a large size box will be sent on receipt of $1.00 postal note or money order. Addre s D. J. Little Drug Co., Box 1303, Montreal, Can.

PROSPERITY AND DIVORCE.

Judge Blames High Price of Cotton for Southern Domestic Troubles.

Jackson, Miss., Dec. 21.—Chancellor J. W. Ross, who has 76 divorce cases on his docket, gives it as his opinion that the high price of cotton is responsible in a measure for the unconjugal relations between married couples. The judge says that in most cases this is the first year the parties have had money enough to go into the courts. In some instances unusual prosperity causes a husband to conclude he wants a more attractive wife, while in other instances the abundance of money has caused one or the other of the parties, generally the husband, to seek entertainment elsewhere than at home, and a suit for divorce based on unfaithfulness, is the result.

Millionaire Cop Cleaning Up City Of Detroit, Mich.

DETROIT, Dec. 21.—James Couzons, Detroit's millionaire police chief who is distributing his own money at the rate of $10,000 a year in bonuses for "the good of the service" is credited with working wonders with the force in the clean-up that started with his installation and is still under way.

Some say Henry Ford taught Couzons the Ford standard of efficiency, others say that it was Couzons who taught it to Ford. In all events it is applied to the force. Couzons believes in discipline, the enforcement of every law on the books and in rewards for merit. His $5,000 salary and $5,000 additional out of his own personal fortune will go into those rewards yearly.

That Couzons' system has worked in his own life is apparent when it is recalled that he started his commercial career as $2 a week bookkeeper in a Detroit coal office. Now he is a millionaire. Couzons does not now within one million or so just what his wealth is.

Couzons was appointed just before the recent mayoralty campaign when the cry for a clean-up was strong. His first ukase was at the saloons which had been violating the closing hour law. "Obey the law," was his order, and it went. The closing law is now faithfully obeyed.

Gambling Joints Closed.

Gamblers who behind closed doors, had been violating the law almost at will, were driven out, and gambling joints closed.

"Blind pigs, organized under the guise of social clubs, must go," was another dictum. Thirty of such places were closed at once and have not been reopened.

Couzons listened to thousands of protests when he forbade the parking of automobiles in downtown streets, but he stuck to his guns saying: "We can't sacrifice the safety and convenience of the general public for the mere convenience of automobile owner." His order still stands.

Couzons' philosophy on the bonus system is brief. "Honourable mentions written after an officer's name may be all right, but a reward that will buy shoes for the children or pay the family doctor bill goes a bit further" he says.

Carrying of Flask Still Open Question

TORONTO, Dec. 21.—Darkness still shrouds the question as to the legality or otherwise of carrying a flask with spirituous contents. It was thought to have been settled by the decision of Chief Justice Falconbridge in the case of Rex. v. William Williams, but his Lordship this morning handed out the following memorandum with regard to his judgment, which was published ten days ago:

"As there seems to be some misunderstanding regarding the judgment in this case, it is proper to state that the decision was based on the particular facts appearing in the evidence and that it was not intended to lay down any general rule as to the liability of any person to be prosecuted under Section 41 of the Ontario Temperance Act merely because he was carrying a flask or small bottle of liquor."

The Section.

Sub-section 1 of Section 41, referred to above, reads as follows:

"Except as provided by this Act, no person, by himself, his clerk, servant or agent shall have, or keep, or give liquor in any place whereso ever, other than in the private dwelling house in which he resides, without having first obtained a license under this Act authorizing him so to do, and then only as authorized by such license."

The Former Judgment.

Of this section, Chief Justice Falconbridge said in his judgment confirming the conviction in Rex v. Williams:

"The language of section 41 (e. s. 1) of the Ontario Temperance Act is as wide as language can well be, and by s. 85 the burden of proving the right to have or keep or sell or give liquor shall be on the accused of improperly or unlawfully having, etc., such liquor. This was a question for the magistrate. He has convicted, and it cannot be said that there was no evidence on which he could convict. I was rather anxious to give a judgment on the substantial question argued, so before disposing of the case as above I took the opportunity of consulting some of my brother judges, who agree with the view which I have expressed. Motion dismissed with costs."

Had it for Cramps.

Williams was a resident of Hamilton who was searched on his return from Niagara Falls, N. Y., and was found by the police to have a flask upon him. Attention had been attracted to him by the inebriate condition of a companion whom the police were arresting when Williams endeavoured to smooth things out by explanations. Williams said he had the liquor for cramps.

During the trial in the police court Magistrate G. T. Jelfs said: "The whole question is whether he had a right to have that in his possession." At the conclusion of the trial the magistrate said: "I find that the defendant had no legal excuse or justification under section 43 as a common carrier or otherwise to have intoxicating liquor in his possession in a public place where it is not allowed to be kept under the act, and I find him $200 or three months."

Though the judgment of Sir Glenholme Falconbridge seemed to decide the flask question, the memorandum issued to-day throws doubt on it.

A. A. FOWLER

— FOR —

BOARD of EDUCATION

New Blood Means New Energy

In selecting your candidates for the Board of Education, keep in mind that the keynote of progress is renewed life and vigor in the executive bodies that have to handle the business of this growing City.

In offering myself as candidate for a position on this board, I do so realising that only a man's best service will meet the growing need for practical business methods in this most important branch of the City's business. My record as a business man for the last fourteen years and a lifelong resident in Peterborough, residing in East City for twenty-five years, is well known to a large number of our citizens, and I trust is sufficient evidence of my ability to warrant your support in my present candidature.

Should I be elected, I promise to weigh most carefully all matters involving expenditure of the City's finances, and to countenance only strictly business methods in undertaking any work being handled by this Board.

Soliciting the support of every progressive voter, I am,

Yours for progress,

A. A. FOWLER

Your Vote is Respectfully Solicited by

G. N. GORDON

For the Board of Education

Science Halts Death March of Bright's Disease

NEW YORK, Dec. 21.—A report issued yesterday by the Post Graduate Hospital, at Second avenue and Twentieth street, says that a new method developed by physicians of that institution has made it possible to discover incipient cases of Bright's disease, and that such a discovery, followed by a restricted diet and careful living, will result in greatly prolonging the lives of many persons.

"The importance of any step forward in the battles of science with kidney disease is readily apparent," said a member of the hospital staff yesterday, "when the rapid increase of that malady throughout the United States during the last fifteen years is considered.

"The mortality statistics for 1914, recently issued by the Department of Commerce, show that in 1914, 101 persons to each 100,000 population in the registration area in the United States succumbed to some form of kidney trouble. In 1900 only 80 persons to each 100,000 in this country died from kidney trouble. Since then kidney disease has been causing a rapidly mounting number of deaths. In 1904 the rate per 100,000 population went up to 103.4."

The report, which is published in the Journal of the American Medical Association, says that until an efficient method of blood examination made it possible to determine the exact proportion of certain waste of products in the blood, the chief means of ascertaining whether a patient had Bright's disease was by analysis of the excretions of the kidneys. Those waste products now are known to be present in the blood in excessive quantities when a person is afflicted with kidney disease. Analysis of the kidney's excretions, the report says, did not always disclose the presence of Bright's disease. However, it is stated, the blood almost invariably tells the story of one's physical condition.

The extensive research work which the Post Graduate Hospital laboratories conducted with the blood of sufferers of kidney disease disclosed that when a substance in the blood called creatinine exists in abnormal proportions death invariably follows in a short time. Since blood analysis now also discloses the exact amount of uric acid, it is possible to begin treatment before the patient has developed chronic kidney disease, which generally results in death.

BOARD OF EDUCATION

To the Electors of the City of Peterborough:

Ladies and Gentlemen,—I have again nominated as a candidate for the Board of Education, and if my services in the past have been satisfactory to you, and it is your desire that I represent you for another two year term, I will deem it a pleasure to give you my very best service on the Board. Wishing you the compliments of the season, I am,

Yours faithfully,

B. F. ACKERMAN

A Vote For

F. W. DOAN

Board Of Education

Means Preparedness by Better Technical Training

CARD OF THANKS

Ladies and Gentlemen

Please, as ratepayers of the [illegible] Ward of the City, to accept my thanks for the honour done in my election by acclamation. It may not be a wrong assumption to receive it as an indication of confidence. And for that consideration, renewed thanks.

As your representative one may endeavor and yet not accomplish. Honest effort is not invariably successful, for fellow-workers of the Council see with a different eye and other perceptions. The combined effort should, and does, make for the greater good.

But rest assured that for the ensuing term that which makes for the best interests of the city, its people, its welfare, ambitions and progress will have my undivided and earnest attention.

The season brings its expressions of good will, and may with pleasure, determine to all others.

Respectfully and hopefully,

F. H. DOBBS

Just An Old-Time Merry Christmas to You and Yours

Just an old-time Merry Christmas to you and yours we wish.

Just a Merry Christmas, the merriest of them all.

Just the Christmas full of joy, for papa, mama, the girls and boys.

Just the Christmas we all like best—a real old-time Merry Christmas—you know the rest.

May the day be a happy one for each of our patrons, friends and employees, and may the cup of health, happiness and prosperity be filled to the utmost for each and every one of you in the year ahead.

RICHARD HALL & SON LIMITED

Mayor Duffus' Xmas Greeting

To The People

LADIES AND GENTLEMEN:—

With the approaching end of the Old Year and before becoming engrossed in the affairs of the New, I desire to thank you all most sincerely for your kind co-operation and good-will and pledge myself to endeavour to prove more worthy of your confidence and support.

Christmas should be a day of gladness. It is the day of reflection as well as realization. To the young and care-free, Christmas is a joy unalloyed. But to those of riper years, in many cases, it invariably brings memories that forbid festivity.

Let me, however, give expression to the wish that the Spirit of Christmas may possess all of us. Your good-will during the passing year has been warmly appreciated, and equally warm and sincere is my wish that the coming year may shine more brightly on all our homes and businesses.

Probably never before in the history of Peterborough was there seen such hearty co-operation between our public-spirited citizens on behalf of the urgent military and patriotic schemes with which they have been confronted during the year. Volunteer workers on behalf of recruiting, patriotic and other funds, have rallied to the work with splendid enthusiasm and devotion. And, if there has been one thing more than another which has made me feel proud of being Mayor of Peterborough, it is the record made by our citizens on behalf of every movement pressed upon them for support. The consciousness of such public service having been so generously bestowed is sufficient reward to me for any service I may have given on behalf of the city.

In the hope, therefore, of encouraging further public service of like character as must still be required from every good citizen during 1917, I desire to make this grateful recognition. We have a right to be proud of what Peterborough has already done. But there must be no halting action, no compromises, no timidity for the future.

While it may be necessary that there shall be a still more economic and clear-sighted civic administration under these war conditions, than last year, the city must not be allowed to retrograde. We should shut down on big expenditures; and my advice to the incoming Board of Aldermen is: to make greater efforts in retrenchment than ever. In view of our heavy responsibilities—Civic, Military, Patriotic—I would urge that only urgently essential expenditures be embarked upon. Let us save our dollars that the war may be won.

I appeal for an all-round co-operation on the part of the citizens for increased interest in Municipal Government, as well as for sacrifices for war purposes. Exert every influence, give every aid to make Peterborough a bigger, broader, better city to live in. Peterborough should attest its deep interest in our civic as well as national affairs, even at this busy Christmas season. We have passed through severe periods during the present year; who knows but we may be called upon to pass through even more severe tests next year.

But why should we not have a joyous Christmas? Why should we restrain our generous impulses? It is the Children's Festival. What do wars and all the haunting fears that lurk in their wake matter to the child with Christmas morning ahead? Give practical gifts—

"Ceasing to give we cease to have Such is the law of Love."

It is sad—sadder than words can tell—that in this immense strife between the powers of light and darkness, so many homes will keep their Christmas sadly—with many a vacant chair and many a loved one absent. But while our sympathies go out to the hundreds of thousands at home and far away whose family circles have been broken, may we still know that the Star of Bethlehem is the Star of Peterborough, and that "His hand is not shortened that it cannot save."

JOS. J. DUFFUS, Mayor.

Peterborough, Dec. 23, 1916.

DISTRICT NURSES MADE 163 VISITS DURING THE MONTH

Sixteen Were Paid Visits and the Remainder Free Visits

The visiting nurses who operate under the auspices of the Peterborough Health Association made 236 visits during the month of October, and 163 during November.

The general work for October show a list of thirty-one patients. One hundred fifty-nine visits were made in connection with the general work. Sixty-four of these were paid visits, and seventy-five free visits. Apart from the above eighty-seven visits were made to tubercular patients, making a total of 236 visits.

Month of November.

Twenty-seven patients were on the list for November. A total of 163 visits were made during the month made up as follows: Sixteen paid visits, one hundred and forty-seven free visits, and twenty-three visits to tubercular patients.

Deported Belgians Sing National Airs

"We Did Not Sign," Men Shout, to Signify Rebellion Against Prussians.

HAVRE, Dec. 28.—The Belgian government has been advised that deportations have begun at Wôluwe St. Etienne, a short distance northeast of Brussels, but that up to December 4 none had been made from the capital itself.

The advices to the government say that the villages in the province of Luxemburg are being swept of able bodied males. The larger part of the membership of the National Food and Aid Committee at Arion, the chief town of the province of Luxemburg, are declared to have been arrested and deported, although they had certificates given for their protection by the military authorities. It is asserted that the members of the committee deported were not out of work, but, with other men, were engaged in the iron, stone and wood industries.

The government reports say that sorrowful groups of country people were at the railway stations and witnessed the deportation. The men were singing national airs and shouting, "We did not sign," meaning that they had refused to sign the registers averring that they were going willingly.

$400 FOR THE EMPLOYEES OF CRESSMAN CO.

To-day the employees of the Cressman Co. Ltd., each received an extra envelope. Every employee, both regular and those employed as extra help for the holiday season was remembered.

About four hundred dollars was distributed to help make the Christmas season brighter.

CATHEDRAL, PALACE, CONVENT BURNED.

QUEBEC, Dec. 23.—The Roman Cathedral at Clarke City, Seven Islands, on the north shore, with the Bishop's palace and the convent of the French Nuns were destroyed by fire early yesterday after the explosion of a gasoline tank at the bishop's convent. One nun lost her life in the convent. News of the disaster was confirmed yesterday afternoon at the cardinal's palace in this city.

Xmas Dinner at
—AT—
Oriental Hotel

BILL OF FARE

Club House Olives Crisp Celery
Salted Almonds

SOUPS
Consommé Celestine Chicken Printanière

Sliced Tomatoes, Mayonnaise
Oysters, a la D'Uzelles
Narragansett Bay Lobster a la Newburg

Baked Baby Lamb, Puree au Petit Pois
Oriental Cream Puffs

PUNCH APRICOTINE

Braised Creste Spring Chicken, a la Marengo
Stuffed Young Turkey, Cranberry Sauce
Chestnut Gravy
Baked Beef Tenderloin, Au Jus

Long Island Shrimp Salad

Snow Ball Potatoes Sweet Potatoes Glace
Haricots Vert, Supreme Spanish Queen Peas

Deep Apple Pie, Whipped Cream Hot Mince Pie
Old English Plum Pudding, Allies Sauce

Canadian Cheese Crisp Crackers
California Cluster Raisins Florida Grapes
Mixed Nuts.
Neapolitan Ice Cream
Christmas Cake de Luxe

Tea Cafe Noir, Demi-Tasse Milk
After-Dinner Mints
MERRY XMAS TO ALL

LITERARY RAMBLES

(By F. M. DELA FOSSE)

There are very many different classes of readers in the world, just as many in fact, as there are classes of literature. Some read along certain specific lines, such as Philosophy, Theology or Technology, others again read nothing but fiction and the newspapers. But there is a class that indulges in every sort of reading that it can manage to get hold of and devours with as much relish articles on the Higher Criticism or Palaeontology as it does the latest novel by the popular writer of the day. There is no intention to deal in this article with the merits of all these different branches of literature. People are to be found who would say a good deal against every one of them, and against none so acrimoniously perhaps, as against Fiction. We are all very prone to do so with Fiction especially when we find ourselves face to face with a particular rank specimen of a novel. But, if we set ourselves calmly to lay all the good fiction on one side and all the bad fiction on the other, I think we should find that there was a considerable preponderance in favour of the former. We have to remember also, that the reading of fiction, is the best means available of obtaining a true perspective of the age in which we live. There is nothing to be compared with it in this particular. We have the authority of no less a person than the late Robert Louis Stevenson for the statement that the most influential books and the truest in their influence are works of fiction—"they repeat, they rearrange, they clarify the lessons of life, they disengage us from ourselves — and they show us the web of experience." But there is a class of reading that is on a totally different plane, viz., Natural Science. This is a study that brings one face to face always with truth. Nature cannot lie, because, as Longfellow once said, it is a revelation of God. It is a matter that strikes me with the greatest regret, that, having had throughout advantages for many years of studying, Nature under many aspects I allowed such golden opportunities to slip away. It is only within the last few years, when my association with books has brought me so intimately in connection with works dealing with Natural Science that I have realised how much I have missed in life. Take for instance, the study of the habits of birds. Ornithology is only one of many branches of Natural Science and yet how full of interest it is. In one of Nathaniel Hawthorne's works he says that hens are well worthy of study on account of the rich variety of their manners. He was perfectly right, for anybody who has had anything to do with hens will testify that they not only evince great variety, but also considerable individuality in their manners. And if hens are so interesting what shall be said of all the wonderful feathered tribe? How can we account for the wonderful faculty that enables the carrier pigeon to return through the pathless sky hundreds of miles to its proper home? How shall we account for the migration of birds, or for the marvellous skill displayed in the building of the nest or in hiding from a predatory enemy? Years ago, when hunting for partridges I observed one flying from a neighbouring tree to a thick-branched spruce right above my head. In a few seconds it was followed by a hawk which also descended into the tree and commenced a wild attempt to locate the whereabouts of the partridge. He must have hopped on every limb of that spruce-tree peering about for his quarry, but his effort was unsuccessful. The bird had become so much part and parcel of the tree that even the keen eyes of the hawk could not discover it. In a few seconds it flew away, and two or three seconds afterwards I had the satisfaction of seeing the partridge fly off too. My regret was that I had been so interested in seeing the bird-hunt that I had utterly forgotten to shoot the hawk. And what a strong maternal instinct there is in birds! Who that has been engaged in duck hunting has not noticed the beautiful way in which the mother duck will swim right in the way of the hunter to take off his attention from her offspring. Likewise the partridge, when discovered with her young brood will fly right at the intruder and do all she can to draw him away from them. Even the most casual of observers can tell many tales to illustrate the cleverness and instinct of birds.

A very interesting book that has just been added to the library shelves is one by Frank Chapman, the well known American ornithologist. The book is entitled, "The Travels of Birds," and deals in large measure with the migrations of some of the better known American species. It is a book that might well whet the appetite of the bird lover to know something more concerning them than can be learned from his own cursory observations. It tells of how they prepare for their journey and of the dangers that beset them on their way. It also attempts to solve the problem of why birds travel, and gives valuable information about the day fliers and the night fliers. Perhaps the most interesting chapter is on the Bobolink. The unlearned reader will be thunder-struck to learn that the Arctic Tern flies half way round the earth and back again each year, the distance between its winter and summer home being close on eleven thousand miles. It sees more hours of daylight than any animal on the globe. To quote Mr. Chapman, "At the northern nesting site the midnight sun has already appeared before the birds' arrival, and it never sets during the entire stay at the breeding grounds. During the two months of their sojourn in the Antarctic the birds do not see a sunset and for the rest of the time the sun dips only a little way below the horizon and broad daylight is continuous. The birds, therefore, have twenty-four hours of daylight for at least eight months in the year, and during the other four months have considerably more daylight than darkness." But there, enough has been said to show that to anyone interested in birds the book referred to has plenty within its covers to recommend it favourably to his notice.

ELECTION CONTESTS IN HAVELOCK AND BELMONT

Wm. Mathieson Elected Reeve of Havelock by Acclamation

The nominations were held at the Town Hall, Belmont, on Friday at 1 o'clock.

Nominated for Reeve—James Ketchen and Wm. Griffith.

Nominated for Councillors— Gilbert Steemberg Marcenne Rylott, Wm. Anderson, Frank Breckenridge, Coleman Elliott, Jack Scott and Edward Hubble. Mr. Rylott resigned at nomination meeting.

In the year of 1916 the Reeve was James Ketchen and the Councillors were Gilbert Steemberg, Marcenne Rylott, Wm. Anderson and Frank Breckenridge.

The candidates for Reeve will be strongly contested as Wm. Griffith defeated James Ketchen two years ago by a few votes and James Ketchen defeated Wm. Griffith last year by a few votes. This election will also likely be closely contested.

The nominations were held in the Town Hall on Friday evening, Dec. 22 at 7.30. Those nominated were as follows.

For Reeve—Wm. Mathison, nominated by Thos. McMullen, seconded by E. Yeomans.

For Councillors — Alex. Mathison, nominated by E. Yeomans, seconded by T. McMullen.

Harrison Wing— Nominated by E. Yeomans, seconded by T. McMullen.

H. W. Roche—Nominated by I. Barlow, seconded by H. F. McNicholl.

John Howe—Nominated by W. Mathison, seconded by W. H. Jones.

Thos. Wright—Nominated by I. Barlow, seconded by Jas. Barlow.

S. S. Joyce— Nominated by J. W. Stillman, seconded by W. Mathison.

W. H. Jones— Nominated by F. Coon, seconded by H. T. Andrews.

P. Haig —Nominated by W. H. Jones, seconded by H. T. Andrews.

Wm. Davidson— Nominated by F. Coon, seconded by D. Butters.

For Trustee—

Jas. Barlow—Nominated by W. Mathison, seconded by W. H. Jones.

T. Wood—Nominated by John Howe, seconded by Jas. Barlow.

I. Barlow—Nominated by Jas. Barlow, seconded by John Ovenand.

F. J. Squire—Nominated by F. Coon, seconded by D. Butters.

1904-1916

God speed the day when strife shall cease.
And guide our ships from war to peace.

With Our Sincere Wishes for Peace and Good will at Christmastide
and
Happiness During the Coming Year

The J. M. Greene Music Co., Ltd.
Peterborough, Xmas, 1916

Voice of The People

Correspondence under this heading, containing or involving attacks on individuals or violent or extreme statements, must to secure insertion, be signed with writer's real name, the owner of which then assumes the responsibility.

73 Bramblebury Road,
Plumstead,
London, S. E.,
England.
Dec. 6th, 1916.

To the Editor of The Examiner:

Sir,—At this season of the year one's thoughts naturally turn to home, although I have only been in Peterborough twelve years, I feel that most I have in life is there, and one's thoughts turn especially to my many friends that I have there. I feel proud to know that our city has done so well for the cause of the Empire, and what's more, for the cause wider and grander than Empire. The efforts we are making on the battle fields and in the workshops to-day will have results which, not only decide where the British and our allies' flags shall fly, but which will decide for many generations, if not as long as the world lasts, what kind of liberty, what kind of freedom people shall enjoy. It's a big price and one's thoughts turn at once to all those families who have been so hardly hit, whose brave boys have answered the call and gave their all in order that we may make this world better by our lives, and if we do not intend to do that, then they have fallen in vain. I think of many Peterborough boys, and my thoughts go to those who are left to mourn their loss. I can assure you I am not here in England because I like it. I feel prouder than ever to-day to know that I am a Canadian. I am sure the future of Canada is something to be proud of. And now is the time to see that our young people are fitted for the great and glorious responsibility which is theirs and on which the future of Canada rests. Nothing is truer in life than whatsoever a man sow that shall he reap. The same applies to nations, so we must be careful of the seed we sow.

With best wishes for Christmas and may New Year's sun bring more cheer

Yours faithfully,
Chas. E. Coleman.

To the Editor of The Examiner:

Dear Sir,—In last night's Examiner I saw a letter signed "A Soldier's Wife," finding fault with the way the Mayor was suggesting to give the soldiers' dependants an entertainment. Surely they don't have to canvass the city with regard to finding a suitable way in which to entertain the soldiers' wives. For my part I know of quite a few ladies who would not care to attend such an entertainment as was suggested in last night's paper.

Hoping that the mayor will stick to his own judgment in the entertainment that he has proposed, and thanking you, Mr. Editor, for your space in your valuable paper, I beg to remain a soldier's wife with two small children. Mother.

Donations To Children's Shelter

A liberal response has been made to the appeal on behalf of the Children's Shelter. A donation of one dollar was received by "K" and one dollar from Miss Edwards. A number of parcels was also received.

CHARGED WITH INTENT TO DEPRIVE LONDONER OF HIS LAWFUL CHILD

CHATHAM, Dec. 23. — Charged with intent to deprive Jacob Fox of London, Ont., of his lawful child, Helen Fox, aged seven, who shortly after birth was placed in the Catholic Orphanage Hospital, in London, and was subsequently adopted by Thos. Woods of this city, the latter appeared in city police court, pleaded not guilty, elected to be tried by a jury, and was sent up for trial.

During the preliminary hearing, W. G. Richards for the crown intimated to the court that the child had been spirited away by the defendant following the first visit of the father to this city a few weeks ago, after he had learned the whereabouts of the infant from the authorities at the London institution.

The child is supposed to be in Chicago, now in the care of a third party. The infant has been in the care of the Woods family for nearly six years, and it is understood they were not aware until recently that their protege was supposedly a daughter of the complainant, Jacob Fox.

CHRISTMAS DINNER

The Empress Hotel will be just like home on Christmas Day and will serve a special Dinner 12.30 to 2.30 p.m. Come and bring the family and give your wife a holiday. Tables may be reserved by Telephoning 121.

THE EMPRESS HOTEL

Open Evenings of Thursday, Friday and Saturday

SHOP EARLY!

Better Choice Better Service

Barrie's Limited

Furriers and Ladies' Ready-to-Wear
THE HOUSE OF THOUGHTFUL GIFTS

Our Gift Line has grown remarkably this year. You will find departures that are extremely interesting. We have made your Gift Problem our Gift Problem.

The lasting and therefore satisfying quality of our designing, manufacturing and selecting in Furs, Silk Dresses, Silk Waists, Skirts and Silk Sweaters make our productions unusually distinct and delightful. They are not fads—they last. In them are originality of thought, beauty and utility cleverly combined. Their money value is not the important thing—even those costing the least mean much.

Specials for Christmas in Furs.....$2.00 to $500
Specials for Christmas in Dresses .. ..$10 to $60
Specials for Christmas in Blouses ..... $1.50 to $20
Specials for Christmas in Silk Sweaters. ..$15 to $15
Specials for Christmas in Skirts ..... $3.50 to $20

Our range of Blouses and Dresses is known to be the choicest in the City.

Barrie's FURRIERS
THE BARRIE BUILDING
Next Custom House, George St. Phone 340

TO-NIGHT!

Main Floor Special

$1.50 STATIONERY $1.19

Beautiful Papeteries, containing 2 and 3 quires, handsomely boxed and sold in the regular way at $1.50. To-night, price per box 1.19

TO-NIGHT

ANNEX OPEN

TO-NIGHT

TO-NIGHT!

Main Floor Special

$1.90 PAPETERIES $1.39

Large papeteries in an elegant large box specially designed for Christmas giving. Contains 4 quires. To-night's Special price will be per box 1.39

LIEUT. L. J. STUART ENDORSES WORK OF Y. M. C. A. AT FRONT

Peterboro' Officer Also Tells of the Death of Lieut. S. Laing—Was Killed by Stray Machine Gun Bullet

The following interesting letter from Lieut. L. J. Stuart has been received by the General Secretary of the local Y.M.C.A.

France, Dec. 2, 1916

Dear Mr. Meserve,—I have received a few Peterborough papers lately, and I have read with interest the doings at the good old Peterborough 'Y.' I also read an account of the campaign that was being launched to secure funds, and that was what prompted me to write this letter. I just wanted to let you know, in a small way, the great work that the Canadian Y. M. C. A. is doing for the boys out here. Before I came out I had heard much about the 'Y,' but I had no idea of the great amount of good it was doing.

As you know, it is almost impossible for the units to have canteens owing to the fact that they are moving all the time. The Y.M.C.A. takes the place of these. In every village (and these villages are very numerous) throughout the Canadian Corps area there is a branch of the 'Y' usually conducted in a large khaki-coloured tent. Here is sold everything a "Tommy" desires in the way of "eats" and smokes and at remarkably reasonable prices. In connection with all of the larger branches there is a recreation tent where concerts are held almost nightly. In some of them they even manage to produce a movie show or as they are called over here, a cinnema. The recreation tent is also used as a 'writing room,' stationery being supplied free.

The work is not confined to the villages back of the line, but is also carried on to some extent right up under shell fire. On one occasion at least, when we came out we were given a cup of coffee and a cigarette from a 'Y' dugout still within range of the Hun 5.9's. You can imagine what new life it put into all of the fellows who were so tired they could hardly drag one foot past the other, and still had several miles to go. Although I didn't see it, I have been told of a case that happened up in the Ypres Salient, where a shell actually lit in an advanced 'Y' dugout.

In this matter we have left the Imperials very much in the shade. They have the Church army huts, but these are few and far between.

After the war the 'Y' will have many supporters that it never had before. Chaps who were never members before the war are the loudest in their praises of the great work that is being done by the Association out here.

Poor Stuart Laing was killed the other night. I don't now whether you knew him or not, but he was always a great 'Y' worker before the war, and his brother Jack was formerly Boys' Secretary at Peterborough. I believe Jack is in the work now in some part of Canada.

The circumstances surrounding Stuart's death are particularly sad. He had been out here so long and then for him to be caught as he was. He was quite a distance from the line, standing on a piece of high ground, watching a show (the occupying of a crater) that was being put on by the 14th Battalion, when he was hit by a stray machine-gun bullet. These are quite common especially where the land back of the line is level, but most of them just hand out nice "blightys."

Well, Mr. Meserve, it won't be long till Christmas, so I will take this opportunity of wishing you and all of any friends in the Association a Merry Christmas and a Happy New Year.

Yours sincerely,
L. J. ('Hod') Stuart,
Lt 1st Bn., Canadians; B.E.F.

Victor Records for Christmas

Wherever there's a Victor or a Victrola, some new Victor Records will be a most appropriate gift.

They will add to the enjoyment of the instrument and make it practically new again.

Come in and hear some of the latest records. We'll gladly give you a list of them and play any you wish to hear.

May Happiness be Yours This Christmastide and Prosperity and Health Attend You Throughout The Year.

The CRESSMAN Grocery Limited

MANY COUNCILS ARE RETURNED BY ACCLAMATION

NORWOOD, Dec. 23—There will be no municipal elections in Norwood this year. At the nominations last evening Reeve B. W. Squires and Councillors Robert Tedford, Thos. Elliott, Chas. Puffer and J. R. McKelvie were all returned by acclamation. The Board of Education were also re-elected.

MILLBROOK, Dec. 23—Reeve R. J. Doak and this year's Millbrook Council have all been returned to office by acclamation. The councillors are: George Burnham, G. W. Sills, J. H. Bingham, Eascotte.

The Cavan Council Board was also re-elected as follows:

Reeve—A. J. Henderson, Millbrook.

Deputy Reeve — Harold Baptie, Springville.

Councillors—Clarke, Bale, McCamus.

Otonabee—The entire Council of Otonabee has been re-elected by acclamation as follows:—

Reeve—W. A. Anderson

Deputy Reeve—F. A. Eason.

Councillors—John O'Leary, Gilbert Howson, David Laurie.

At the nomination meeting a committee was formed to assist in the National Service registration. The Otonabee Council will assist in the work.

South Monaghan.

There will be a contest for the reeveship in South Monaghan, where Reeve Waterman is being opposed by Mr. John Greer, of Bailieboro.

MUNICIPAL RINKS WILL BE MADE READY AS SOON AS POSSIBLE

Time and again our hopes run in opposite directions. This is shown in the case of those municipal skating places to be fitted up. The endeavor was made to have them ready for the boys and girls to start in on Christmas Day. That was one hope, based on real good, cold freezing weather. The other hope came from people, who at the price of fuel, hoped the weather would be what we call soft. And so far the "softs" have had the better of the circumstances.

Mr. Harry Evans, looking after the rinks, got the places all ready. Ready to pour water on and raise ice. Some water was applied to get a bottom and to cover up the grass and rough places. The weather man seemed indifferent and the water soaked through the ground about as fast as applied. So Mr. Evans gave up that effort in irrigation.

Telephoned last night, he said that if we had a good, sharp freeze, or prospect of one, on Saturday, the rink at the corner of Stewart and Wolfe streets could be ready for Christmas Day. Perhaps it will. Any way the small people can go over and see and if ready get on and slide to heart's content. So soon as the places are in skating order some one will be appointed to see after things, and especially to observe that roughness is suppressed and that the little ones have more than a fair show. In such regard further announcement will be made.

The hardware men tell us that there is a shortage of skates. The hardware men are honest. About the only people who, finding a shortage, do not blame it on the war. Possibly such an explanation would hardly stand up. Say that in American cities, with artificial ice rinks, skating is all the rage and that Canadian shops that formerly made skates are making shells. So get out the old ones. Take them to be sharpened or borrow an old file. The file will put an edge on the skate and Heaven's pity it, but dad will supply a new pair.

Skating for Christmas has, in years past been a national observance. Let us hope for the sake of the winter and Canadian pastime, that it will be the case this time, even if coal is climbing and boards off the neighbour's fence are getting scarce.

CHRISTMAS DAY AT BROCK ST. RINK

An Excellent way to Spend the Holiday—Good Clean Healthy Sport

The probabilities are that there will be good skating weather on the holiday, and with renewed interest in skating the Brock street rink will be open for skaters, with a good band, both afternoon and evening. Afternoon from 2 until 5, and evening 7.30 to 10 o'clock. There is no better way to enjoy the holiday than to attend Brock street rink. Don't forget to-night. Good band in attendance.

CHRISTMAS IN MURRAY ST. BAPTIST CHURCH

Christmas Sunday will be a high day at the Murray Street Baptist church. Both services will be in keeping with the thought of the Saviour's coming into the world. The music promises to be equal to anything that has been presented on such an occasion in our city. The choir committee have had one of the pianos tuned to the pipe organ and both will be used in the services. Among the numbers will be heard "Overture to the Shepherds," "The First Christmas Morn," "For thee my dear, dear country," and a ladies' sextette will give from "The Holy City," "List ye Cherubic Host." At the morning service the Sunday school will join in an early "Echo Hymn," "Hark, the Herald Angels Sing." The pastor will preach at both services, and the expectation is that the day will be one of gracious and helpful influences.

Gym. Party Was a Success

The Gymnasium Class and the different clubs of the Y.W.C.A., held a very successful evening in the "Gym. Room" at the Y., which was appropriately and tastefully decorated with bells, Christmas trees and flags, last night. The evening opened with a waltz in which all took part, and was followed by folk dances and basket ball games. Mrs. Dr. Wilson's violin selections were a feature of the evening and greatly appreciated, Miss Gwen. Smith being her accompanist. The evening was concluded with refreshments provided by the board and broke up at about eleven with the singing of God Save the King.

OUR CHRISTMAS STOCK

Is now most complete.

We consider this season's selections the choicest we have ever had in all our long experience as jewellers. You will find many unique and unusual gifts as well as all the newest novelties.

A particularly interesting line of new watches and jewellery. The designs are distinctive in character.

Shop early while the assortments are complete.

Any article will be reserved until Christmas.

SCHNEIDER
The Jeweller, George St.

THROWING STONES

A Criticism of the Canadian Patriotic Fund That Is Poorly Based

Too extravagant, of course!

These wives of soldiers are living better than when their husbands were at home! They are wearing better clothes! Their children are more warmly clad! They are actually in comfortable circumstances! Clearly, the Canadian Patriotic Fund is at fault. Clearly it is time for us to tighten our purse-strings. Why should we pay to make women comfortable, or their children warm, when their own husbands or fathers did not keep them either comfortable or warm? The idea of helping these people to be extravagant is preposterous! The men who administer the Patriotic Fund have no business judgment.

And so on, and so on. It is the criticism of the Fund most commonly heard. And yet behind it lurks the fact that for every case where a soldier's wife betrays a taste for little things not wholly necessary to existence, there are a score who are saving every cent they can against that day, certainly coming to thousands of them, when the breadwinner is reported dead or wounded, or the day coming to every other one, when he arrives home, and goes out to look for a job.

In every town the workers for the Fund are preaching the gospel of Thrift. In most cases successfully. But they are handicapped, sadly handicapped, by the absolute failure of the richer classes to show any example in this regard. The Fund does not tolerate deliberate and continual extravagance, but it certainly hesitates to withhold assistance from the woman who, by her consent, has placed a man in our firing line, and who may yet be taught to see the wisdom of economy and saving.

But more than this: Are we stay-at-homes, we "gentlemen of Canada now abed"—to paraphrase Shakespeare—in a position to criticize severely the woman whose husband may any hour lose his life fighting our battles in France? Rather should it not be a matter for pride that we have it in our power to keep the wolf from her door and relieve her from all anxiety except that which must be ever with the woman whose man is "Somewhere in France?"

COURCELETTE

Written by a Member of the Elgin Battalion

In front of them the German fire
Rained down upon the way,
And yonder 'neath the evening star
The battered village lay.
The order came for them to start
And so with features set
The pride of Elgin's heart marched on to Courcellette.

Into the barage they went
(As if upon parade)
Each hero's steady gaze was bent
Beyond the cannonade.
What though he fell upon the way
His pals would not forget
To strike a blow for him that day
In battered Courcellette.

On on they went those noble boys,
Though faster still they fell—
And high above the awful noise
Rang out the British yell.
From trench and dugout came a band
Of Huns, and so they met,
'Twas face to face and hand to hand,
In battered Courcellette.

But never can the foeman fight
Against the British steel,
And so the baffled German might
Began to blanch and reel.
And then the rising harvest moon
Beshed down with but regret
To see the Huns go flying soon
Through battered Courcellette.

Our heroes drove them from the place
And 'neath the hillock's crest
They dug their lines in steady haste.
Then took triumphant rest;
Each soldier was the other's friend,
They vowed with spirits set
That they would hold until the end
The town of Courcellette.

of Commerce have gone to their homes
(But something else is there)
We think of pals like Dicky Brooks,
And others hard to spare.
We think of mothers by the score,
Whose gentle eyes are wet,
For on their hearts are aching sores
Because of Courcelette.

HIGH PRICES BRING FORTUNE TO GROWERS WHO SAVED TOBACCO

BLENHEIM, Dec. 23.—Shipments of tobacco are being made from this point, two days this week. The quantity is not so large as in former years, but the price is better. It is understood that from 11 cents to 16 cents is being paid per pound and some who had a good crop and got it harvested before the frost, have a little fortune coming their way.

RYE AND McINTOSH NOMINATED FOR MONAGHAN'S REEVESHIP AND MUDDLE THREATENS THE COUNCIL

The weather stormed around North Monaghan's town hall yesterday afternoon, and within, the municipal nominations stirred up quite a tempest for the electors who grouped themselves around the old box stove and sank back in an expressive silence that invited the stalwarts to go to it. And they went, especially Robert Dobbin and Harold B. Ryle so 'tis generally reported to-day. And after all the verbal smoke had cleared away it began to dawn upon some of the keener ratepayers that another nomination day might have to be authorized. For in the beginning Mr. Tom Hunter and others had renominated last year's Council to continue its work without an election, but other men who were out for excitement filled up the slate, perhaps not wisely, but too well.

The nominations were as follows:

For Reeve—John McIntosh and H. B. Rye.

For Deputy-reeve — Wm. Robson, Jos. Bell and Robert Dobbin.

For Council—John Williams, Tom Henry, H. B. Rye, Jos. Bell and Robert Dobbin.

Some one noted that John Williams is a servant of the municipality being keeper of the dump it was said, and was thereby eliminated. Then if Mr. Rye, Mr. Bell and Mr. Dobbin contest the deputy's seat that will leave only Mr. Henry as councillor, and three must be elected. There are other possibilities, any of which would require further nominations, and there is considerable criticism among the ratepayers this morning directed at this oversight. At that the weather restrained many of the usual crowd from attending yesterday's affair, and besides the town hall is altogether too convenient for the residents nearer the city. But elections must be held in the town hall, it seems, for the reason that in the long ago they held elections there before Byersville or "Gradyville" were heard of.

But getting back to the doings at the meeting the main fact reported by the farmers was that the debate waxed warm and even decidedly personal at times. All the pent up differences that have been more or less passed in silence during the year's work burst out in the Rye-Dobbin argument, and it is said that the cleavage was simply another expression of the gathering trouble between the two sections of the township, the farmers and the residents who enjoy the industrial advantages of the city, and the assessment advantages of the county. It is evident that most of those who braved the snow storm yesterday to attend the nominations were primed for action and set at half-cock. Hence the reports were probably not exaggerated that Monaghan provided the only semblance of old-time nominations in the municipalities adjacent to the city.

Santa Claus At Protestant Home

Yesterday afternoon was a happy time at the Protestant Home, for Santa Claus was calling there and he did not forget a single person; everybody got gifts from his bountiful hand. He said he was extra busy this year, because there is so much sorrow and sadness all over the world, so he is trying very hard to overlook no one, for Santa is welcomed by one and all. He has to go to all the soldiers, their wives and children as well as the Children's Aid, and the hospitals and lots of other places. God is very good to put it into people's hearts to send Santa lots of money so that he can make every one a little bit happier. Before Santa arrived, Rev. Canon Cornish gave a very helpful address, pointing out how each must live so as to fulfill the best purposes of life, remembering and helping one another, and above all remembering God. This war was caused by forgetting Him, and so we were being purged by suffering in order to attain a higher and nobler conception of life.

Mr. John Allan, organist of St. Paul's Church, provided the musical portion of the programme, which commenced with the grand old hymn, "Hark! the Herald Angels Sing!" which was heartily joined in by all. Mrs. Cameron Wilson, Miss Dorothy Allan, Miss May Nelson and the Rev. Mr. McKenzie contributed violin and vocal numbers.

Mrs. Rodger, Miss Lancaster and every member of the Board did their utmost to make the occasion a bright and happy one for those living at the Home. The proceedings closed with the singing of the National Anthem. —Com.

BOOZE PARADES ITSELF BELLIGERENTLY IN THE EAST OF THE COUNTY

While License Inspector Stewart was in Havelock on Wednesday, serving county police court papers on William Anderson, who will appear before Magistrate Langley in the Village on Thursday, on a charge under the Temperance Act, he gathered in James Hodgins, under the influence of liquor, and brought him to Peterborough. This morning Hodgins was remanded until next Wednesday. The charge against him is of assaulting an officer of the peace.

Mr. Stewart was standing on the sidewalk when along came Hodgins, a former Torontonian, who has been residing in Havelock only a short time, and who, it was stated, had recently received a case of liquor. The Inspector hailed him, and Hodgins replied abusively, and did not change his tone when informed of Mr. Stewart's official duties. Eventually the prisoner was placed under arrest by Constable Hill and the Inspector, but not before he had landed a nasty blow on Mr. Stewart's left eye and several minor clips on the head. The usual black eye thus becomes the Inspector as a badge for duty performed. It is more or less known that in the east end of the county the Temperance Act is openly flaunted, and that drunks are by no means as scarce as Dodo birds or that drinking has disappeared. In short, public opinion has been aroused to the necessity of cleaning up a certain element, and it is felt that county temperance workers who are interested in the effectiveness of the new Act can materially assist in striking at this evil the Havelock and Belmont people complain of.

A LUMBER AN'S OPINION.

"I was troubled with palpitation of the heart and sleeplessness," writes Wm. Pritchard, Lumber Inspector, Lansdowne Mills, Ont., "and used Dr. Chase's Nerve Food with very great benefit, as my whole system was strengthened and built up." Dr. Chase's Nerve Food forms new, rich blood and restores the feeble wasted nerve cells.

The popular fancy that the richness of cream may be increased by adding it or adding new to old is erroneous.

"What man soweth that shall he also reap." You cannot get a good yield of grain from immature or shrunken seed.

APPEAL WILL BE HEARD ON DECEMBER 28TH

Special to The Examiner.

BUFFALO, Dec. 23. — Justice Wheeler has set December 28 to hear a motion of appeal in the case of John Edward Teiper, prominent locally, who was yesterday found guilty of murder in the second degree, for slaying his mother. The penalty is not less than twenty years, and might be life imprisonment.

Make Your Xmas Gift Furs

Imagine the pleasure derived from such a gift. Can't you see how proud and happy a gift of furs would make your friends?

Sensible, useful, comfortable. Come at once to us and let us help you make your selection.

You can count on values here.

W. E. LECH — Manufacturing Furrier and Hatter

256 GEORGE STREET . . . . NEAR SIMCOE ST.

Millinery Bargains

Ladies' newest velvet hat shapes, only 99c

Shapes in black and colors, regular values up to $3.00, only 99c

LADIES' TRIMMED HATS $2.49

A table of very desirable trimmed Hats at about half price, choice for $2.49

Miss McGIVERIN, 412 GEORGE ST.

A MILLION Dollars

WE MUST RAISE THIS WEEK.

So we are selling our stock at 90¾% less than cost. You can't believe it? Well, we know you wouldn't.

So we'll tell you the truth. We are really trying to keep the high cost of living down by the Lowest Prices, the Highest Quality, and Best Service.

Everything for Xmas.

Candies, from	15c lb. to 50c lb.
Oranges, Navel, Seedless,	30c, 40c, 45c, 50c doz.
Choice Nuts, all kinds, from	22c lb.
New Dates	15c lb.
Choice Black & Green Teas from	30c lb.
Cooked Ham	45c lb.
Roast Pork	45c lb.
Bologna Sausage	15c lb.
Head Cheese, 1-lb. moulds	13c
Smoked Ham, from	28c lb.
Sugar-Cured York Breakfast Roll Bacon	32c lb.

THE ONLY ADDRESS:

A. W. PASKINS

CASH GROCERS

Cor. Hunter and Aylmer Sts

PHONE 317

DELICACIES

For the Christmas Table at

Douros & Gettas

376 George Street

Our large number of customers will be pleased to know that we have provided abundantly for the Christmas season.

NEW FRUITS.

Malaga Grapes	Oranges
Grape Fruit	Lemons
Table Raisins	Bananas
Pineapples	Apples
Pomegranates	Cranberries
Figs and Dates	Prunes, etc.

NEW NUTS

Shelled Walnuts	Brazils
Shelled Almonds	Pecans
Peanuts	Filberts

TABLE DAINTIES

Preserved Fruits	Catsup
Roquefort Cheese	Allan's Cider
Oka Cheese	Extra Olives
Clover Honey	Marmalade
Canned Goods	Sweet Pickles

OYSTERS, FISH

From Ocean, Sea and Lake — Fresh and in splendid condition.

A YULETIDE SUGGESTION

No substitute has yet been found for flowers as Gifts of Beauty and thoughtfulness.

In Cut Blooms, Flowering or Foliage Plants we have a most complete and varied assortment.

PETERBORO FLORAL CO.

WATER STREET PHONE 1395

Come and See the Xmas Display of

PRIME BEEF

AND OTHER CHOICE MEATS

TURKEYS, GEESE & CHICKENS AT

JOPLING'S

Ye Old Time Xmas Beef served up to the Kings and Barons of Old England has nothing to boast of compared with the Prime Quality we have prepared for the Christmas Festival

What we say about our Beef is true about everything else in the meat line which we display in abundance on our Shambles, Counters and Refrigerators.

We will convince you that ours is the leading Xmas Market in the City and that we live up to our motto -Good Goods, Good Prices and Prompt Delivery. Order early and save the rush on Saturday Night.

JOPLING & SON, 340 George Street

Merry Xmas To One and All - Phone 275

A Flock of Sheep Worried By Dogs

Two Eanismore Farmers Suffer a Severe Loss

Messrs. Michael Perdue and Geo. Boath of the Township of Eanismore, had the misfortune to have, between them, forty-six fine sheep worried by dogs a few days ago. Some of them are dead; others are dying, and the majority will either die or have to be destroyed. One of the dogs (a hound) was caught and shot. The owners of the dogs which are said to live in Smith, will likely be presented with a bill for the sheep. The sheep industry was just beginning to come to the front again in this district, having been practically destroyed by dogs some years ago and unless something is done to protect the farmer in this branch of farming industry it will receive another serious set back.

Large Supply Of Fowl on the Farmers' Market

Never was a more startling Christmas spirit shown than that which the farmers (necessarily) showed when they lowered their prices for turkeys from 38 to 35c per lb. to 25c., as they did before the market closed.

Geese sold at $2.15 to $2.65.

Chickens, $1.25 to $1.45.

Eggs, 55c to 60c per dozen.

Butter, 43c to 45c.

One of the largest fowl markets ever seen in Peterborough was held this morning.

CANDY FOR THE EMPLOYEES OF AUBURN MILLS

Every employee of the Auburn Woollen Company was presented with a box of Edith Cavell chocolates as a Christmas gift yesterday. The appreciation of the recipients has been evidenced by a letter of thanks signed by the employees which is being sent to the office of the company.

The most precious things in the world are those which cannot be bought—the tender touch of a little child's fingers, the light in a woman's eyes, and the love in a woman's heart.

PRIZE-WINNERS AT IMMACULATE CONCEPTION BAZAAR LAST WEEK

The following persons won prizes at the bazaar of the Church of the Immaculate Conception:

$10.00 in gold, presented by the Misses O'Connell, East City, won by Mrs. John Corkery, 487 Gilmour street.

Suit of clothes presented by H. Le Brun & Co., won by Wm. McMahon, Otonabee.

Green plush couch, presented by B. Begley, Water street, won by George Ray, Norwood.

Table, presented by M. McFadden & Sons, won by Mrs. John Kerr, 85 Hunter street.

Chair, presented by Lane & Eano, won by Mary Halpin, 39 George street.

Electric iron, presented by F. R. J. McPherson Co., won by the House of Providence.

Silk umbrella, presented by Merrell & Meredith, won by J. A. Butler, 9½ Dufferin street.

$5.00 in gold, presented by Oak Hall, won by Mrs. Jas. Gordon, 253 Stewart street.

Barrel of flour, presented by Campbell Milling Co., won by Wm. Lynch, 526 Cedar street.

Fancy rug, presented by R. Fair & Co., won by C. T. McCrae, Stayner, Ontario.

Pair of pillows, presented by Mrs. Thos. Moloney, won by Mrs. Guno, Elm street.

Mahogany clock, presented by Mrs. F. J. Daly, won by F. Wittaker, Montreal, Que.

Leather rocking chair presented by Mrs. P. Dwyer won by Mary Ryan, 275 Reid street.

Fancy quilt, presented by Mrs. John Monogue, won by Chas. Edwards R. R. No. 6.

Silver knives and forks, presented by Rev. Father Scott, won by Stephen O'Connor, R. R. No. 9.

Ton of coal, presented by Weir & McCarthy won by J. Jones, Rogers street.

The committee in charge sincerely thank all donors of gifts, and kind friends who so generously assisted them in making the bazaar so great a success.

Toronto Aviator Describes Raid On Enemy Steel Works

Target is Seen Through Trap Door in Bottom of Machine—Ticklish Job To Drop Bombs and Keep Machine on Course

At the front, Dec. 23.—With us who are definitely set aside for bombing raids, every day is not a war day. If we average one suitable day a week it is as much as can be expected. I have known us to wait for two weeks for an opportunity in the meantime occupying our time with enjoying life. For raiding better weather conditions are required than for any other form of air work at the front. We do not go so long as the sky is overcast or even half overcast, since if we flew below the clouds we should be an easy mark for anti-air craft guns, and if we flew above them the chances are we should not find our objective. It frequently happens that the wind blows from a different direction above the clouds to where it is blowing from below them. In such a case we would be blown a great distance off our course.

So it is that if one of us looks out of the window at daybreak and sees it raining or cloudy, he remarks 'Cheer up, no raid to-day," rolls over and goes to sleep again. But should it appear bright, he will shout "Come on now, you chaps, get up, there's a war on." Then a voice from another cabin sings, "I never raised my boy to go to war."

However, along comes word officially from the commanding officer for an early breakfast, and we know what that means. After breakfast all pilots and officers are ordered to report at the C.O.'s office, where we are given maps for a journey over the lines, the particular place to bomb being pointed out.

How Maps Are Made.

If it has not already been done by the map office, we mark the line to be followed from our aerodrome to the objective, also writing the course to be steered going, as well as on the return journey. Other places of interest, such as the position of enemy anti-aircraft guns and enemy aerodromes are clearly known. And next of importance to the objective, the position of the lines or military boundary. The maps we use are ordinary road maps, three miles to the inch, but are particularly good ones, showing in addition to roads, rivers, and railways, the size and shape of all forests and woods, with contour lines showing hills. They are cut eight inches wide to fit our map cases, and of such length as necessary depending on distance between our aerodrome and objective. Our map cases are fitted with two rollers so that the map rolls up or unrolls like a window blind. Only about six inches of the length is exposed to view at any one time.

In addition the exact position of our objective is pointed out on a large scale map, and this position it is best to memorize. In one instance it was some steel works which were on the west side of the town, between the river and the railway, just before the railway crossed the river over a bridge. Having memorized this, it is easy to pick out the exact spot to bomb after reaching the town.

Then the order comes, "A flight; be ready to start in half an hour." Since daybreak the mechanics have been getting the machines out and testing the engines, putting in a new sparkplug here, or an ignition wire there, as the test may show necessary.

When everything else is ready you make sure that the safety pins in the bombs have been removed by insisting on the armorer handing the pins to you. Then the first machine in "A" flight pushes off, quickly followed by the other machines in the flight. After one circuit of the aerodrome, they get into their formation and set off for the objective. The fact that our aerodrome is twenty-five miles behind the lines is no detriment, as it takes that distance to climb to the necessary height.

Five minutes later "B" flight is in the air, followed at a like interval by "C" flight, and so on, the number of flights depending on how many machines are in good order that morning. Each flight of bombing machines has its quota of "fighters," machines which do not carry bombs but an extra gun with gunner.

Keeping together this way in flights, with fighting machines accompanying, in our best protection against enemy machines, for although each bomber has a gun for protection, he is liable to get into difficulties if separated from the rest.

Spread Out If Shelled.

Naturally the thought occurs that keeping together in this way makes an easier mark for the anti air-craft guns. Well, as soon as we are being shelled we tend to spread out, for the gunners are not likely to shell us if any of their own machines are near. And then they naturally spread their shots around among the lot, whereas, if they only had to concentrate on one at a time their fire light be more effective.

Well, here we are at the lines. Suddenly a little black puff appears on the right, but 1,000 feet below, then more; then some up above us and behind. We are being shelled, but as the black little clouds are not near enough for us to hear the noise of the exploding shell, we pay very little attention to them. Then they get on about the same level with us, but still behind. However, you can hear the bark the explosion makes, so you change height, or zig-zag in your course. Presently we are out of range and need expect no more shell fire until we reach objective.

However, this is the time to look out for enemy machines. I see two a couple of miles ahead and higher. Instinctively I edge in toward the machine ahead. They are losing height—no doubt they intend to come at us. I test my gun—it is working smoothly. The enemy machines are now on our level but still losing height. What does it mean? Suddenly it dawns on me that they don't intend to fight, and are going down as fast as they can! I let go a few rounds at one just for fun, not with any thought of hitting him, as he is too far away.

Small Door is Opened.

We keep straight on our course and presently are approaching the objective. At a signal from the leader we form into our positions for bombing.

I am alone in my machine, so have to pilot the machine and drop bombs at the same time. Having opened a small door in the bottom of the machine, I can see the ground directly underneath. Over the side of the machine I see the target ahead. Yes, there is the river, and the bridge, and now I see the railway. The tall chimneys from which smoke is issuing confirm me that there are the steel works to blow up.

Having come far enough I turn up into the wind and over the target, seeing it in the opening in floor. Then I take a look at my instruments to see that the machine is level both ways, and, keeping my eyes glued on the chimneys, wait until they are in the correct position in the sight (which position depends upon the height I am above them) when I pull the bomb release wires. One, two, three, four, just as though I were counting seconds, and the four bombs are gone. The machine takes a jump, the tail going up, giving one the feeling of being on a horse.

All this time, in addition to the above attentions, I have had to keep the machine ahead in view, as now I am supposed to follow it and form up into position again for the return journey. Should I have lost sight of it and cannot find it or any of the others (which not infrequently happens) the enemy machines have their best opportunity of picking me off.

Foe Marksmanship Poor.

However, I have kept my position in the line, but once more we are being shelled. This time they are sending up shrapnel which bursts white in addition to the high explosive shells. But they are coming nowhere near us, so we go on our way rejoicing.

Once back over the lines we seem to lose interest in keeping our formation, and each one hikes for our aerodrome as fast as his machine will take him; losing height on the way in order to increase his speed.

When back on earth again we compare notes. One or two may have lost the others while at objective, and got into a fight. Visible signs of their encounters are not lacking. Bullet holes in the planes or fuselage, and one got a bullet in his engine which "cut out" one cylinder. But all the machines have returned, and the fighters report having seen the damage done by the bombs, and so we consider we have had a successful raid.

THE CHURCHES TO-MORROW

ANGLICAN

St. John's Church

REV. J. C. DAVIDSON, RECTOR.

FOURTH SUNDAY IN ADVENT.

8 a.m., Holy Communion.
11 a.m., Matins and Sermon.
Processional 55, Hark, a thrilling Voice is Sounding
Venite 98. Benedicite 34.
Office Hymn 56, Lo, He Comes with Clouds Descending.
Before Sermon 58, The Advent of Our King.
Anthem, O Come let us Worship—Mendelssohn.
God Save the King.
Recessional, Hymn 71, Part 4, At length with Trumpet Sound.
3 p.m., Sunday School and Bible Classes
7 p.m., Choral Evensong and Sermon.
Processional 662, Thy Kingdom Come, O God.
Psalm Chants 123, 127.
Responses to Tallis.
Magnificat 174.
Nunc Dimittis 76.
Office Hymn, 680, Come, O Come Emmanuel.
Before Sermon 527, Joy to the World the Lord is Come.
Anthem, Hark, the Glad Sound—Hall.
God Save the King.
Vesper 564, Be with all the Dear Ones
Recessional Carol 741, Hark, what mean those Holy Voices.
The Rev Canon Cornish will officiate.
Richard J. Dewar, organist and choirmaster.

CHRISTMAS DAY.

8 a.m., Holy Communion.
10.30 a.m., Morning Prayer, Holy Communion and Sermon.
Processional 708, Come all ye Faithful.
Venite 98. Te Deum, Woodward in E flat
Jubilate 66. Kyrie, Palmer.
Gloria Tibi 133.
Hymn 73, Hark, the Herald Angels Sing
Anthem, While Shepherds Watched — Turner.
God Save the King.
Hymn 77, God from on High hath Heard
Sursum Corda—Woodward.
Sanctus 139.
Benedictus and Agnus—Woodward.
Gloria in Excelsis 133.
Post Communion 261, Jesu, Gentlest Saviour.
Nunc Dimittis—Barnby.

All Saints' Church

REV. R. B. GROBB, M.A., RECTOR.

FOURTH SUNDAY IN ADVENT.

11 a.m., Morning Prayer and Sermon
Hymn 68, 'The Advent of our King.'
Venite 8. Psalms 28. Benedicite 34.
Benedictus 40.
Anthem, 'Lo, He Comes with Clouds Descending.'
Hymn 622, 'Thine for ever, God of Love.'
Alma Presentation 389.
Hymn 46, 'Hark, the Glad Sound, the Saviour Comes.'
Amen 139.
3 p.m., Sunday School.
Mrs. Stevenson's Bible Class for Ladies.
The Rector's Bible Class for men.
7 p.m., Evening Prayer and sermon.
Hymn 454, 'Fierce Raged the Tempest.'
Psalms 87. Cantate 85. Deus Misereatur 104.
Hymn 463, 'Hark, 'tis the Watchman's Cry.'
Anthem, 'All this Night my Heart Rejoices.'
Alma presentation 389.
Hymn 597, 'Rejoice, all Ye Believers.'
Amen 141; Vesper 44.
Choirmaster, Mr. George B. Chandler.
Organist, Miss Flowers.

There will be two services in All Saints on Christmas Day:
8 a.m., Celebration of the Holy Communion.
11 a.m., Morning Prayer and Holy Communion.

CHRISTMAS DAY.

8 a.m., Holy Communion.
11 a.m., Morning Prayer and Holy Communion.
Hymn 72, 'O, Come all ye Faithful.'
Venite 10. Psalms 61.
De Deum (Jackson).
Jubilate 60.
Anthem, 'Celestial.'
Hymn 75, 'While Shepherds Watched.'
Alma Presentation 389.
Hymn 73, 'Hark, the Herald Angels Sing.'
Amen 139.

St. Luke's Church

ASHBURNHAM—EAST CITY.

REV. W. H. WHITE, M.A., RECTOR.

FOURTH SUNDAY IN ADVENT.

8 a.m., Holy Communion.
11 a.m., Morning Prayer and sermon
3 p.m., Children's Lenten Service.
7 p.m., Evensong and Address.
Carol at Offertory, 'Holy Night.'
Carols after Benediction:
'Carol, Sweetly Carol'
'See amid the winter's snow'
'While shepherds watched'

CHRISTMAS DAY, DEC. 25th.

7 a.m., Holy Communion.
8 a.m., Holy Communion.
11 a.m., Holy Communion.
Processional Hymn 73, 'Hark, the Herald Angels Sing.'
Kyrie 128 by Mendelssohn.
Gloria Tibi 133, Plaine.
Hymn 72, 'Come all ye Faithful.'
Shortened Sermon.
Offertory Anthem, 'Sing, Oh Heaven'—Gounod.
Soprano solo—Miss Ada Norris.
Hymn 238, 'Bread of Heaven.'
Gloria in Excelsis 133.
Nunc Dimittis 99.
Superintendent of Sunday School, J. J. Turner, Jr.
Organist and Choir Leader, Mrs. W. A. Cromelade.

St. George's Church

South Peterboro', Lock and Braidwood

REV. J. PRICE, RECTOR.

11 a.m., Matins and sermon.
3 p.m., Sunday school.
7 p.m., Evensong and sermon.

CHRISTMAS DAY.

8.30 a.m., Holy Communion.
10.30 a.m., Matins and Holy Communion.
Wednesday 8 p.m.—Choir Practice.
Organist and Choirmaster Mr. Turner.

St. Alban's Mission

Church of England, Business Street, Brownton.

Mr. C. A. G. Spence in charge.

11 a.m.—Sunday School.
7 p.m.—Evening Service and Sermon.
Preacher—Mr. C. A. G. Spence.
Tuesday 7 p.m.—Boys' Brigade.
Thursday 7 p.m.—Mission Band.

METHODIST

George Street Methodist

REV. R. G. PREVER, B.D., PASTOR.

10 a.m.—Society Class Meeting and Junior Epworth League.
11 a.m., Morning Service.
Subject, Christmas and Its Guiding Star to Bethlehem.
Prelude, Festival Music—Custer.
Hymn 153, Christ the Light of the World —Rose Stella.
Anthem, It came upon the Midnight Clear, Stralenthal. Solo parts Mrs. J. H. Renwick, Mr Edward Jones.
Hymn 143, Hark, What Means these Holy Voices—Tune Cornell.
Solo, The Gift, Behrend. Miss Emma Worth.
Hymn 69, O, Worship the King—Tune Houghton.
Postlude, Festival March—Calkin.
3 p.m.—Sunday School and Bible Classes
7 p.m., Evening Service.
Subject, The Peace of the Kaiser, or the Peace of Jesus, which will you have?
Prelude, Angelis Vesper—Wely.
Doxology, Benediction.
Hymn 708, Angels from the Realms of Glory—Tune Regent Square.
Anthem, The First Christmas Morn, Newton.
The Lord's Prayer—Chanted.
Solo, O'er Bethlehem's Plain—Adams
Miss Charlotte Hannon.
Duet, Sweetly the Songs of Angel Choirs Pearls.
Miss Rita Kemp, Mr. Edward Jones.
Hymn 144, Come Thou Long Expected Jesus—Tune St. Oswald.
Solo, The Angel's Song—Dressler. Mrs J. H. Renwick. Violin obligato, Miss Mignon Telgmann.
Violin Solo, Berceuse—De Serv. Miss Mignon Telgmann.
Anthem (unaccompanied) There shall be Night No More—Turner.
Hymn 111—Joy to the World—Tune Antipole.
Postlude, March of the Magi—Esterbrook
Good Music. All Welcome
Mr. J. H. Renwick, Organist and Choirmaster.

Trinity Methodist Church

SIMCOE STREET.

REV. J. P. WILSON, B.A., PASTOR.

11 a.m.—Morning Service.
Morning Music:
Voluntary, 'Pastorale,' 'Messiah,' Handel
Anthem, 'Sing O Heavens,' Tours.
Solo, 'Star of the East,' Coombs.
Mrs. George Sherry.
Violin obligato, Mrs. Dr. Wilson
Postlude, 'Hallelujah,' 'Messiah,' Handel.
3.30 p.m.—Sunday School Rally.
7 p.m.—Evening Service.
Evening Music:
Prelude, 'Minuetta,' Thirker
Anthem, 'O, Holy Night,' Adams.
Duet, 'Hark, Hark, My Soul,' Nevin.
Messrs. Lee and Hartshorn.
Violin Solo, 'Salut de Amour,' Elgar
Mrs. Dr. Wilson
Solo, 'I Know that My Redeemer Liveth, Messiah,' Handel. Miss Taylor.
Solo and chorus, 'The Birthday of a King,' Neidlinger Mr. Fred Hartshorn and the choir.
Recessional Anthem, 'First Christmas Morn,' Newton.

St. James' Methodist

REV. R. GREATRIX, PASTOR.

10 a.m.—Fellowship Meeting.
11 a.m., Morning Service.
Subject, Humanity's Cry.
Anthem, Sing, O Heavens (Simper.)
Offertory solo, Miss C. Hanson.
3.30 p.m.—Sunday School and Bible Classes.
7 p.m., Evening service.
Subject, God's Answer
Anthem, Nazareth, (Gounod.)
Quartette, Calm on the Listening Ear of Night (Jeffers.)
Misses E. Young, A. Lee; Messrs. H. Turner, A. Farr.
Anthem, The Anthem Celestial (Adams)
Solo part by H. Turner.
Organist and choirmaster, Mr. H. Hill
Monday—Epworth League.
Wednesday—Prayer Service.
Thursday—Choir Practice.
Friday—Boys' Guild 7.15 p.m.
Everybody Welcome.

Mark Street Methodist

PREACHER, REV. R. A. WHATTAM

11 a.m., Morning Service.
Subject, 'Through War to Peace"
Organ, 'I Know that My Redeemer Liveth,' (From the Messiah)
Solo, 'The Star of Bethlehem.' Mrs. E. Wand.
Anthem, 'The Heavens are Telling,' C Simper. Solo part, Mrs. Wand.
3 p.m., S. S. and Bible classes.
Subject, "A Saviour which is Christ the Lord."
Organ, 'He Shall Feed His Flock,' Messiah.
Solo, 'Thou Shalt Break Them'—Wesdith. Mr Harold Lee.
Postlude, Processional March—Batiste
3 p.m.—Sunday School.
Mr. Waller's Adult Class.
7 p.m. Evening Service.
Prelude, organ and piano, Adoration. — Saul.
Anthem, Celestial, Adams.
Tenor solo part, Mr. Harold Lee.
Carol, While Shepherds Watched, Smart.
Solo part by Miss Clara Kidd.
Offertory, Trombone solo, (a Thou Sublime Sweet Evening Star—From Tannhauser. Mr Asa Huycke.
Anthem, God from on High Hath Heard —Turner
Solo parts by Misses Kidd and Rathbone.
Ladies' Octette, List, the Cherubic Host—From the Holy City.
Misses Eastwood, Scott, Emmerson, Gillespie, Rathbone, Hartshorn, Telford and Rathbone.
Baritone obligato part, And I Heard the Sound of Harpers—Mr. Asa Huycke
Chorus—A Perfect Day—Bond. Choir
Postlude—March Irresistible—Huycke.
Organist Miss Ida Sanderson.
Pianist—Miss Cora White.
Choirmaster—Mr. Asa Huycke.
All seats free and strangers are cordially welcome.

Park Street Baptist Church

PASTOR REV. DOUGALD BROWN.

235 Reid Street.

Rev. Dougald Brown will preach at both services.
11 a.m., Morning Service.
Anthem, 'Christians Awake; Salute the Happy Morn." J. H. Maunder.
Offertory, In the Fields.—J. Farmer.
3 p.m., Sunday School. Supt. Mr. F. A. D. Fry. Men's Bible Class, Teacher Rev. Dougald Brown. Ladies' Bible Class, Teacher, Mrs. A. Nicholls.
7 p.m., Evening Service.
Anthem, God from on High, Hath Heard—Edmund Turner
Soloist, Mrs. Hunt.
The ordinance of Baptism will be observed at the close of the Evening Service
Monday 8 p.m.—B.Y.P.U.
President—Mr. Wm. Saunders.
Wednesday 8 p.m.—Prayer and Praise Service.
Thursday, 8 p.m., Choir Practice.
Mr. A. Nicholls, Organist and Choir master.
Seats free. Everybody welcome

ROMAN CATHOLIC

St. Peter's Cathedral

There will be two masses celebrated.
At 8 a.m.—Low Mass. At 10:30 a.m.—High Mass. At 7 p.m.—Vespers and Sermon.

MISCELLANEOUS

Bethany Tabernacle

PASTOR, A. G. DOREE.

Services at 11 a.m. and 7 p.m.
11 a.m.—Plain, earnest, heart-talks to Christians by the pastor.
3 p.m.—Sunday School. Supt. H." A. J. Johnson; Adult Bible Study Class, Romans, Pastor; Young Women's Class Miss Nellie Jones, graduate of Nyack Institute.
7 p.m.—Special lectures by Pastor on Illustrated Dispensational Chart.
Spiritual, congregational singing led by Miss N. Jones, soloist and dancellone.
All requests for special prayer or visitation will be promptly and faithfully attended to.
All inquirers gladly met at close of any service
A cordial welcome to all.

Salvation Army Temple

8 a.m.—Prayer Meeting.
10 a.m.—T. P. Directory Class.
Open Air 10.15—Tire Hall.
11 a.m.—Holiness Meeting.
2 p.m.—Sunday School.
2.15 p.m.—Open Air George and Hunter street.
3 p.m.—Free and Easy.
6.15 p.m.—Senior Open Air Hunter St.
6.15 p.m.—Junior Open Air Snowden House.

Assembly Hall

(George Street. First Floor Old Opera House Building.)

Meetings on Lord's Day.
11 a.m.—Breaking of Bread.
3 p.m.—Sunday School and Bible Class.
7 p.m.—Gospel Meeting.
A hearty welcome to all.
"Christ died for the ungodly."

Gospel Hall

Corner Sought and Brock Sts

GOSPEL SONG SERVICE

10 a.m.—Sunday School.
11 a.m.—The Lord's Supper.
7 p.m.—Gospel Meeting.
8 p.m. Wednesday—Prayer Meeting.

City Mission

(EMPIRE THEATRE)

P. A. CONNERS, MINISTER.

Mr. P. A. Conners of the City Mission will not hold any services to-morrow.

Free Methodist

Aylmer Street, Between Charlotte and King Streets

REV. B. SNYDER, PASTOR.

Sunday Services—
9.45 a.m.—Sunday School.
11 a.m.—Preaching.
7 p.m.—Preaching.
Tuesday 8 p.m.—Prayer Meeting.

One Save Us, Omnone. Miss Dorothy Allan.
Anthem, "Grant us Thy Peace," Emerich.
Solo parts by Miss Allan, Mr H. F. McGowan and Mr. Arthur Milton.
Hymn 31, As with Gladness Men of Old.
Solo (tenor), "Night of Nights," Van der Water. Mr. Arthur Milton.
Carol, "Sleep, Holy Babe," —Pinkells.
Anthem, "Sweetly through the Night," —Shelley
Solo obligato by Miss Allan
Duet and quartette by Mrs Lloyd, Mrs. Ferguson and Miss Mulligan.
Hymn 287, 'God the All-Terrible."
Organ Postlude, 'Folk Song," op. 7 — Wiedo
Organist and choirmaster, Mr John Allan.

St. Andrew's Church.

CAPT. JAMES ROLLINS, MINISTER.

Rev. T. H. Mitchell, Minister in charge.

11 a.m.—Divine Service
Rev. T. H. Mitchell will occupy the pulpit at both services.
3 p.m.—Sunday School.
7 p.m.—Divine Service.
Evening Music:
Prelude, Andante—Salome.
Anthem, Arise, Arise, Shine—Maker.
Offertory—Quiet in the Valley—Engelmann.
Duet, Hark, a Burst of Heavenly Music —Herbert C. Tresser
Misses Helen McLaren and Mr. Walter Evans
Postlude, Triumphal March from Naaman—Costa
Herbert C. Tresser, Organist and Choir Master.
Strangers Welcome. Seats Free.

BAPTIST

Murray Street Baptist Church

REV. J. R. WEBB, PASTOR

Residence 104 Louden S.

11 a.m.—Morning Service.
Prelude, Chorus of Angels, Smart.
Anthem, The First Christmas Morn — Newton.
Double Quartette, For Thee, O Dear, Dear, Country (Saul.
Misses Eastwood, Rathbone, Hartshorn, and Rathbone, Messrs. Lee, Graham, Irvin and Fitzgerald.
Tenor solo, 'Thou Shalt Break Them'— Wesdith. Mr Harold Lee.
Postlude, Processional March—Batiste
3 p.m.—Sunday School.
Mr. Waller's Adult Class.
7 p.m. Evening Service.
Prelude, organ and piano, Adoration. — Saul.
Anthem, Celestial, Adams.
Tenor solo part, Mr. Harold Lee.
Carol, While Shepherds Watched, Smart.
Solo part by Miss Clara Kidd.
Offertory, Trombone solo, (a Thou Sublime Sweet Evening Star—From Tannhauser. Mr Asa Huycke.
Anthem, God from on High Hath Heard —Turner
Solo parts by Misses Kidd and Rathbone.
Ladies' Octette, List, the Cherubic Host—From the Holy City.
Misses Eastwood, Scott, Emmerson, Gillespie, Rathbone, Hartshorn, Telford and Rathbone.
Baritone obligato part, And I Heard the Sound of Harpers—Mr. Asa Huycke
Chorus—A Perfect Day—Bond. Choir
Postlude—March Irresistible—Huycke.
Organist Miss Ida Sanderson.
Pianist—Miss Cora White.
Choirmaster—Mr. Asa Huycke.
All seats free and strangers are cordially welcome.

Park Street Baptist Church

PASTOR REV. DOUGALD BROWN.

235 Reid Street.

Rev. Dougald Brown will preach at both services.
11 a.m., Morning Service.
Anthem, 'Christians Awake; Salute the Happy Morn." J. H. Maunder.
Offertory, In the Fields.—J. Farmer.
3 p.m., Sunday School. Supt. Mr. F. A. D. Fry. Men's Bible Class, Teacher Rev. Dougald Brown. Ladies' Bible Class, Teacher, Mrs. A. Nicholls.
7 p.m., Evening Service.
Anthem, God from on High, Hath Heard—Edmund Turner
Soloist, Mrs. Hunt.
The ordinance of Baptism will be observed at the close of the Evening Service
Monday 8 p.m.—B.Y.P.U.
President—Mr. Wm. Saunders.
Wednesday 8 p.m.—Prayer and Praise Service.
Thursday, 8 p.m., Choir Practice.
Mr. A. Nicholls, Organist and Choir master.
Seats free. Everybody welcome

ROMAN CATHOLIC

St. Peter's Cathedral

There will be two masses celebrated.
At 8 a.m.—Low Mass. At 10:30 a.m.—High Mass. At 7 p.m.—Vespers and Sermon.

MISCELLANEOUS

Bethany Tabernacle

PASTOR, A. G. DOREE.

Services at 11 a.m. and 7 p.m.
11 a.m.—Plain, earnest, heart-talks to Christians by the pastor.
3 p.m.—Sunday School. Supt. H." A. J. Johnson; Adult Bible Study Class, Romans, Pastor; Young Women's Class Miss Nellie Jones, graduate of Nyack Institute.
7 p.m.—Special lectures by Pastor on Illustrated Dispensational Chart.
Spiritual, congregational singing led by Miss N. Jones, soloist and dancellone.
All requests for special prayer or visitation will be promptly and faithfully attended to.
All inquirers gladly met at close of any service
A cordial welcome to all.

Salvation Army Temple

8 a.m.—Prayer Meeting.
10 a.m.—T. P. Directory Class.
Open Air 10.15—Tire Hall.
11 a.m.—Holiness Meeting.
2 p.m.—Sunday School.
2.15 p.m.—Open Air George and Hunter street.
3 p.m.—Free and Easy.
6.15 p.m.—Senior Open Air Hunter St.
6.15 p.m.—Junior Open Air Snowden House.

Assembly Hall

(George Street. First Floor Old Opera House Building.)

Meetings on Lord's Day.
11 a.m.—Breaking of Bread.
3 p.m.—Sunday School and Bible Class.
7 p.m.—Gospel Meeting.
A hearty welcome to all.
"Christ died for the ungodly."

Gospel Hall

Corner Sought and Brock Sts

GOSPEL SONG SERVICE

10 a.m.—Sunday School.
11 a.m.—The Lord's Supper.
7 p.m.—Gospel Meeting.
8 p.m. Wednesday—Prayer Meeting.

City Mission

(EMPIRE THEATRE)

P. A. CONNERS, MINISTER.

Mr. P. A. Conners of the City Mission will not hold any services to-morrow.

Free Methodist

Aylmer Street, Between Charlotte and King Streets

REV. B. SNYDER, PASTOR.

Sunday Services—
9.45 a.m.—Sunday School.
11 a.m.—Preaching.
7 p.m.—Preaching.
Tuesday 8 p.m.—Prayer Meeting.

Whatever Else You Forget Don't Forget To Renew Your Examiner Subscription

Our Greetings

We want everyone of the Friends and Patrons of the Store to accept our

Merry Christmas

as a personal one! We wish it were possible for us to take each and everyone of you by the hand and extend the Compliments of this Season. We can't do this—but we have a--

Hearty Christmas Greeting For All

May this be the best Christmas, you have ever had and the worst you ever will have.

OAK HALL

M. J. MAHER, Mgr.

DETERMINATION OF THE BRITISH GROWS STRONGER

(Continued from Page 11.)

while the mass of the people of the country were one way, the men who had the control and the power were in another way. Lloyd George is looked upon by all the masses as the embodiment of the energy, the courage and the promptitude with which the war should be carried on; and if it had been left to a plebiscite, there is is little doubt but that he would be the choice of the masses. But on the other hand, he has many enemies among the rulers; and in the House of Commons he is looked upon with some suspicion by many Liberals, especially by the anti-conscriptionist group—by many Labour men, by of course the little knot of pacifists; and the attitude of the Irish toward him, though personally friendly, is one of vigilant observation. With this result (which explains how all his energies have been obstructed and embarrassed) that any policy of his, if opposed by the military or other authorities, was turned down; and he was left helpless.

Anybody outside the inner life of politics might well think such a state of things impossible—especially in the midst of a great war. But human nature with its jealousies, its appetites its narrowness, prevails even in war time; and small men are constantly able to overcome the best efforts of the biggest men. I will give you an extraordinary example from an earlier stage of this war: Within a couple of months after the opening of the war, Lloyd George expressed to me the opinion that this war would be ultimately won by big guns and big shells. He preached the gospel in vain for some months. One morning when I was breakfasting with him he expressed it again with such vehemence, that I went down to my constituency to a St. Patrick's Day banquet, and raised the note of alarm in a speech, the heading of which was "Shells, Shells Shells." The warnings of Lloyd George once again remained without an wer. The little men and the stupid men resisted him.

THE COALITION MINISTRY.

At last there came the Coalition Ministry, which I now believe was brought abons by Lloyd George among others, in order to meet this shells difficulty. The first result was the creation of the Ministry of Munitions. Do you suppose that Lloyd George's difficulties were now at an end? Not a bit of it. As the scheme was originally planned, the Ministry of Munitions had the right to manufacture but not to invent shells or any other weapon of war; they simply awaited the orders of the War Office. Lloyd George wanted this or that kind of weapon, which his instinct for war problems recommended to him; he asked for them in vain; until he again contemplated resigning and consulted his friends as to whether he was not bound to do so. But he gained his way in the end, after weeks, if not months, of unnecessary and perilous delay; and he became master of the whole munitions problem. The thousands of munitions works all over the United Kingdom and the cyclones of shells on the Somme front are the best justification of his action.

It will probably be asked why it is that Lloyd George, being thus the darling of the masses, did not ask for the Premiership. I say sincerely and confidently that I do not believe he wanted the Premiership; and I think he would have been a fool if he had. First, he would have had against him all the friends of Mr. Asquith; and Mr. Asquith has few enemies outside the violent press. Once at a banquet at which Mr. Asquith was present, I made the observation that he and I were always on good terms, because, like Goethe and his mother, we had been young together; for I have known him since he was a slim, fair-haired young man at the junior bar. Everybody who has ever been brought close to Asquith not only respects but loves him; though he is not a man easy to get near; he is aloof; he never sees journalists; he hates deputations; if you seek to penetrate through the thick armour-proof reserve and shyness with which he guards his inner self you cannot penetrate a little bit. I once asked him to write a chapter of autobiography for a publication of mine; he said that he would just as soon run in Adam's vesture before the Fall, through Hyde Park, in words to that effect.

In addition, Lloyd George therefore, if he had striven to force himself into the Premiership, would have been confronted by the feeling—the unjust feeling, doubtless—that he had intrigued to drive out of office one of the most honourable, high-minded and ablest men that ever held the British Premiership. If he could have formed a ministry at all—which is doubtful—he would have had to fight for his life constantly; in short, he would have been so beset and so worried that he could not have given his whole mind to the war.

THE FINEST MIND IN PUBLIC LIFE.

Mr. Asquith has the finest mind in public life to-day. When it comes to weighing arguments there is no brain has such a wondrous power of getting at once to the central issues, and of pronouncing a judgment upon them. In addition, there is no man who has the incomparable gift of reconciling men and opinions, and in a war it is as necessary to maintain a united front as much as on the battlefield. To have substituted for such a man even so powerful a genius as Mr. Lloyd George would have been a very perilous adventure. Thus it was that we had to arrive at the compromise which has eventuated.

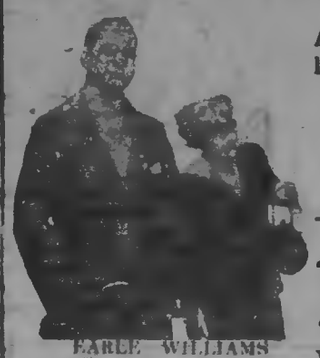
Both men are held to be equally indispensable; but each man has been left to the department for which his best gifts suit him, and more or less removed from the department for which his special temperament unfits him. The one man has still the leadership which composes and unites; the other man is given practically dictatorial powers in the active conduct of the war. It is not an ideal arrangement; it is contrary to all the traditions of our methods of government, and our theories of ministerial responsibility; but it is far and away the best settlement that could have ben arrived at in the very difficult conditions.

ROYAL THEATRE

Wishes its many Patrons A Merry Xmas

SPECIAL FOR MONDAY & TUESDAY

CHARLIE CHAPLIN in the "POLICEMAN"



EARLE WILLIAMS in "The Mysterious Motor Car" from "THE SCARLET RUNNER"

Another Episode in Million Dollar Serial—THE

SCARLET RUNNER

10c PRICES AFTERNOONS EVENINGS 10c-15c

Which covers the War Tax: best in the City for the money.

Don't Miss This Show, the Everyone admits this.

THE WORLD OF SPORT

Personnel of the Rinks Arranged By Curling Club

The first draft of the rinks for the season's games arranged by the Curling Club has been drawn up, as follows, the names appearing in the order for each rink, as follows, skip, vice, second, and lead:

A. W. Archibald, M. C. Tooley, J. F. Linton, O. A. Moore.

R. P. Best, P. D. Fitzgerald, C. G. Graham.

Thos. Brightman, J. W. Brightman, L. A. Potvin, J. Comstock.

W. D. Campbell, R. L. Dobbin, H. W. Cook, Ira D. Moore.

D. Davidson, G. H. Logie, R. Grant, H. Johnston.

W. H. Denham, W. H. Bradburn, R. Doble, G. A. Macdonald.

F. M. Dela Fosse, Geo. Boucher, R. J. Munro, W. B. Warne.

J. R. Ferguson, W. G. Read, A. MacNab.

W. G. Ferguson, R. Hurston, J. C. Read.

H. F. Foote, W. R. Widdess, A. J. Grant, G. Copping.

Geo. Giroux, W. J. Oke, W. R. Turner, B. F. Ackerman.

Dr. T. N. Greer, Jas. Skinner, C. E. Smith, J. W. Lowes.

Robt. Hicks, E. L. Bowes, W. J. Henry.

Alex. C. Kay, E. G. Patterson, J. T. McCabe.

W. M. Lang, D. E. Eason, A. M. Laidlaw, J. K. Parkins.

T. F. Matthews, W. P. Adamson, A. H. Webb, T. O. Donaldson.

W. G. Morrow, W. J. Thompson, L. A. Turner, R. B. Allen.

J. W. McDermid, J. H. Metheral, F. Brownscombe, G. W. Green.

R. G. Sturgeon, C. J. Seymour, G. A. Benor, J. K. Costain.

W. H. Taylor, C. C. Parsons, M. Counstock, Dr. A. M. Weldon.

R. M. Waddell, C. H. Pennefather, C. C. Abbott, J. H. Parsons.

Dr. H. Wightman, J. Wiley, C. S. Brown, S. J. Graham.

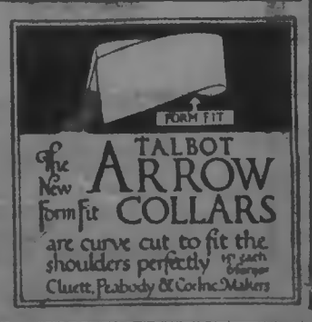
Unattached members—John Crane, J. A. Cameron, J. E. A. Fitzgerald, H. R. H. Kenner, R. Neill, W. J. Thompson.

HOCKEY GOSSIP

Writing from the trenches Sapper "Bill" Crowley, who played on the defence of Peterborough's last champion O. H. A. team, sends Christmas greetings, and says he is alive and well. The old Peterborough defence star is with the Canadian Engineers.

The recruiting sergeants will not find much material in Peterborough's junior O. H. A. team this year. Six of the squad are below the age for military service. Incidentally three of the youngsters have brothers overseas.

Coach Jerry Coughlin chased the Juniors through a hard practice last night. All the regulars were out, including Cherrett, who has been an absentee for a week, through illness. The team is rounding into shape and should be fit for a game in another week. They are not scheduled to play until January 9th, when they tackle Bowmanville, here. The next practice will be on Christmas morning, at 9.30 o'clock, when all players who have received membership tickets are expected out.



The New Form fit TALBOT ARROW COLLARS are curve cut to fit the shoulders perfectly 2 for 25c Cluett, Peabody & Co Inc Makers

BOWLING

Last night at the Water street alleys, the Left Overs played the Printers in a League game, and it was quite a surprise to all, as the Left Overs succeeded in winning two games out of the three. The Printers were off colour last night and the only reason given for them was that they must have been saving up all their strength to tackle the turkey on Christmas Day. The Left Overs played a good game, also a little off colour, having the same attack as the Printers. Thomas was high man for the Left Overs with a score of 519, Cairns high man for the Printers with a score of 528. Mr. Soloman pulled off a hard spare. In all the match was a good one, and as usual a good crowd attended, as the match ends the League games for the year as nearly all the players will be away for the holiday. Mr. Soloman wishes to thank his many patrons for their patronage in the past and also wishes them all a merry Christmas and a bright and prosperous New Year.

Left Overs—
Thomas	160	182	168	510
Hughes	144	138	135	417
Ross	144	153	120	417
Routley	129	158	122	409
Soloman	142	212	137	491
Totals	7228	843	682	2363
Printers—
Henderson	153	151	158	462
Myland	115	110	174	408
Miller	125	121	104	350
Wilson	114	157	137	408
Cairns	167	168	193	528
Total	674	767	710	2151

MILITARY NEWS

(Continued from Page 11)

member of the Examiner staff as follows:

Just a line for the Examiner. I guess it is old news to you about the 93rd being disbanded. It certainly did seem a shame after the people of Peterborough doing what they did for the battalion. But I can assure you the Colonel did everything he could to try and keep us together, and even now he is always ready to do any of the boys a good turn. Another officer of the battalion was Captain Burnham. He was always ready to help any of the boys, financially especially. I have not been to France yet, but hope to go some time before it is over. Of course you remember I was with the 7th Worcesters (Eng.) the first seven months of the war, and after getting hurt was discharged and returned to Peterborough and re-enlisted with the good old 93rd. I may say the accident I got won't allow me to go to France again as a fighting man, but I may go over on base duty. I have been sent to the Canadian Army Service Staff of the Railway Supply Depot. You should see the provisions, etc., we handle. Of course it is the A. S. C. who feed the army. Well, I think this is all I can say this time. But wait, there is one thing this time. But wait, is just to be in Peterborough for Christmas. Believe me,

Yours
C. Robinson.

P.S.—I am in the 'pink' of condition at Shorncliffe. Hope you are the same at Peterborough.

Miss M. Colquhoun, 599 Patterson Street, has received a very interesting letter from her brother, Corp. G. Colquhoun, of the 4th Battery, at present in the Wharncliffe War Hospital, Sheffield, Eng. He says in part:

"The Sister told me that I might be in hospital until after Christmas and I thought I might have Christmas on leave. There is no use in looking at the black side of it. I may have it yet but not in Canada. I may have Christmas in Canada two years from now, if God spares my life to get there. I really don't think the war will end to let me there any sooner. I have seen the pictures of the Somme battle and was there to see it in reality, and would ten times sooner have taken part in the battle that was shown on the screen. When you see what we call a curtain of shell fire, you stop and think, and also say your prayers, for it is shells bursting on a line for a distance of a mile or more, with shells bursting every eight of ten yards on the ground, and some are bursting in the middle of that, so that a rat could not live. We put that ahead of the infantry so that the enemy cannot get men up to help their comrades in the front line. I am sure you did not see that in the pictures."

Pte. Willis Richardson, a former employee of The Examiner, who enlisted with the 84th, and who has been invalided home, is in the city, visiting friends.

To-day's Orders.

Peterborough, Ont., Dec. 23, '16.

Daily orders by Lieut.-Col. C. H. Ackerman, Commanding 247th Batt., C.E.F.:

Orders for Saturday, December 23rd, 1916:

1. Parade—

All officers, N.C.O.'s and men, except those specially employed, will parade in drill hall at 9 a.m. and at 2 p.m.

2. Duties—

Orderly officer for Saturday, December 23rd, 1916, Lt. F. J. Hayes; orderly officer for Sunday, December 24, 1916, Lt. C. G. Shaw; next for duty, Lt. A. H. Cameron.

3. Passes—

In future all passes must bear the Orderly Room stamp.

4. Promotion—

No. 1063055, Pte. W. H. Musgrave is struck off "A" Co'y and appointed to Regimental Staff as pioneer corporal with effect from December 22, 1916.

5. Allotment of Officers—

All officers except Regimental Staff, when not on duty outside of the city, will be attached for discipline to 'A' Co'y.

R. B. Brooks, Lieut.
And Acting Adutant 247th Bn., C.E.F.

Pte. C. S. Wynne, cousin of Mrs. E. D. Lewis of Peterborough, has been recommended for the Victoria Cross. He is a native of Leamington, and is the son of the late J. B. Wynne, of Alberta Ave., Toronto. He had taken his M.D. and spent a year in the General Hospital as one of the house surgeons before war was declared.

Plant pedigrees are kept with the same exactness as applies to animals and years of the closest study are undertaken to eliminate weakness in habit of growth, or colour in flowers, and impart to them certain favourable features that are presented in others.

BROCK STREET RINK

Skating To-night, 57th Band in attendance. Skating every afternoon and evening this week. Band every night. Admission to skate 15c and 1c war tax. Bring your copper with you.

You will be Well Served if you entrust your Christmas Fruit Orders TO PRINGLE'S

Sanitary Fruit and Fish Store

Corner George and Charlotte Street

Merry Christmas To All

Goes To Ellis Island To Be With Fiance

Baroness Pappenheim Here to Wed After 13,000 Mile Trip From Java Aboard Freighter.

NEW YORK, Dec. 23.—Refusing to be separated from her husband Baroness Constance Theodora Pappenheim, of the Island of Java, who arrived here on board the Dutch freight steamship Madioen, went to Ellis Island voluntarily. Wallace Saunders, the man to whom she is engaged, was sent to the Ellis Island hospital by a Public Health surgeon because he appeared to be suffering from a nervous breakdown.

Mr. Saunders had been employed as chief drill master by the Batavia Oil Company, of Java, and his illness was said to have been caused by heat and overwork. He met Baroness Pappenheim in Java and they were on their way to visit his mother at Watford, Ont., before the wedding.

Baroness Pappenheim told the customs officials that she had lived for thirteen years in Java, where her family has large plantations. The Madioen, she said, left Java on October 21 and had steamed 13,00 miles by the way of Cape Town.

Immigration officials were surprised to learn that the Madioen carried four other passengers. These were American seamen being sent home by United States Consuls.

The best fertilizer for sandy soil is barnyard manure, since the principal thing needed to make such soil productive is organic matter and hydrogen.

Band at Street Railway Rink Christmas Afternoon. Good Skating.

GRAND OPERA HOUSE Christmas Night at 8.15

The Tiffany Films Corporation Presents
DAVID BELASCO'S Powerful Story of the South
"THE HEART OF MARYLAND"
With America's Divine Emotional Actress
MRS. LESLIE CARTER
In the Role She Created and Made Famous.
—ALSO TWO OTHER SURPRISE REELS—
Prices—Reserved Seats 85c and 50c. Gallery 25c.
Seat Sale opens Friday morning 10 o'clock. Note new opening hour.

STRAND THEATRE

— SPECIAL HOLIDAY SEASON PROGRAMME —

MONDAY

PAS PATRIA

Grand 6 part Patriotic Drama, done in the famous Pathe colour process, shows all scenes in natural colors, finest film ever shown in Peterboro.

WEDNESDAY

The Lure of Heart's Desire

From R. W. Service's Poem "Tales of the Yukon"
Splendid "Metro" Play featuring Edmund Breese

PARAMOUNT

EMPIRE THEATRE Fri. & Sat. Dec 21 & 22

Daniel Frohman Presents Blanche Sweet in

THE DUPE

By Hector Turnbull

Also good comedy THE DETECTERS
Also to-day and to-morrow Mutt and Jeff

PARAMOUNT

TIZ-IT THEATRE

Maria Walcamp and Jack Holt, in the 6th episode of LIBERTY

The Desert of Lost Souls

Imp Feature THE DOCTOR OF THE AFTERNOON ARM
Big U feature, a smashing baseball comedy, Oh What a Whopper
Nestor Comedy Love Had Brass Buttons
Vaudeville for Fri. and Sat., The Jones Children in a new, first-class act
Monday a special programme including The Girl And The Game

EVERYWHERE

At home, on the street, at the club or in the field they all

SMOKE Master Mason "IT'S GOOD TOBACCO"

The tobacco you cut fresh from the plug, so as to get all the fragrance and aroma.

Equal by test to the very best, Much better than all the rest.

Say MASTER MASON to your dealer—he knows.

THE ROCK CITY TABACCO CO. LIMITED

ROBERT FAIR

AND COMPANY

Desire, at this Happy Christmas tide, to most cordially thank their many customers, whose kind patronage has brought a year of gratifying prosperity to the firm and to wish them one and all, at home and abroad, in city and country a very

Merry Christmas and a Happy and Prosperous New Year

Peterboro, Dec. 23, 1916

Gifts For Gentlemen

Signet Rings
Bracelet Watches
Cuff Links
Tie Pins
Tie Clips
Cigarette Cases
Waldemar Chains
Pipes
Military Brushes
Safety Razors
Umbrellas
Fountain Pens

A very large assortment at special prices.

Warne Bros
DIAMOND HALL
Next to Warne Drug Co.

Inquest Opened This Morning

Investigation Was Adjourned Until After Christmas

A coroner's jury to enquire into the circumstances surrounding the death of Howard James Clarke was opened this morning in Belleghem's Undertaking Parlours, following a post mortem. After the usual formalities had been disposed of, the inquest was adjourned until Tuesday evening, January 9th. Deceased passed away last evening. He was the only child of Mr. and Mrs. Edward Clarke, 468 Park Street, and was a little over ten years of age.

The funeral will be held on Monday morning from the family residence, Park Street, at eight o'clock, to the G.T.R. Station, thence to Corbyville for interment. A service will be held at the house on Sunday evening at 8.30 o'clock, and will be conducted by the Rev. J. P. Wilson.

Band at Street Railway Rink Christmas Afternoon. Good Skating.

THE WARNE DRUG CO., LTD.

Wishes You

A Merry Xmas

and

A Happy New Year

New York Stock Market

Summary of To-day's Activities on the New York Stock Exchange

New York Stocks.—During the first half hour the changes showed by the general list were slight, but generally had a downward trend.

NEW YORK, Dec. 23.—Airbrake, 148; Atcheson 104 3-8, 104 1-4; B. and O., 53 3-4, 54; C.P.R. 165, 166 1-2; N.Y.C. 104 1-4, 103 3-4; Erie, 34 1-8, 34 3-8; Reading, 104, 103 3-4; U.P. 147 1-2, 147 3-4; Beth. Steel, 501, 503; Rep. Steel, 77 1-4, 76 3-8; Anaconda 83 1-2, 82 1-2. Int. Nickel 43 1-2, 43 3-4.

Market Opinions of New York Houses.

Post & Flagg—There are many indications that Thursday was about the climax of the great break, temporarily at least.

Edmund and Charles Randolph—I am disposed to look for a rally.— W. W. Price.

J. S. Bache & Co.—We are confident that the coming of peace will be heralded by a peace full movement in stocks of substantial proportions.

Shearson, Hammill & Co. — The money situation is becoming easier. Look for a sharp rally all through the market before the week is out.

Bryant, Dunn & Co.— It is rather unfortunate, just to put it that way at any rate, that Mr. Lansing's explanation or modification, what you like, was several hours forthcoming. Newspapers are full of comment on the great smash. Mr. Schwab is quoted as having stated that the period of depression in this country will not become acute until three years after the war is ended. Mr. Bonar Law's speech is not likely to be regarded as very important. Peace is on the horizon and is almost sure to come after considerable fencing of all kinds. If precedent is worth anything at all, Thursdays' demoralization should be followed by a substantial recovery.

SANTA CLAUS AT THE TEMPLE XMAS NIGHT

Santa Claus will visit the S. A. Temple on Monday evening at 8 o'clock and give presents to all the little kiddies, together with some fruit and candy. The larger boys and girls of the Sabbath School will bring presents for some of the more unfortunate boys and girls of the city, made so by circumstances over which they have no control. A splendid programme has been prepared to precede the arrival of Santa Claus, which no doubt will be enjoyed by all.

Byersville and Brealey will be visited next week.

THE "ARABIA" WAS NOT IN ADMIRALTY SERVICE

Special to The Examiner:

WASHINGTON, Dec. 23. —Contradicting Germany's contentions that the steamer Arabia was a British transport, the British government to-day informed the State Department that the Arabia was not in the Admiralty service when she was submarined nor had she ever been in such service.

S. A. SERVICES, BYERSVILLE.

Sergeant Cunningham will take the Salvation Army services at Byersville to-morrow.

OTONABEE GOT $3,400.00.

In the Otonabee Council's report it should have read that Reeve Anderson secured for the township from the Government $3,400.00, instead of $35.00.

WATCH NIGHT SERVICE.

Brigadier and Mrs. Southall, who are in charge of the new social operations, at Montreal, and an old officer of Peterborough Corps, will visit Peterborough Saturday and Sunday next and conduct the watch-night service.

City and General

Broken auto cylinders, machinery and stoves welded, by the new Oxo Acetelyne Process. Anything in iron, steel or aluminium made as good as new, not patched up. Millard's Bicycle Shop, Hunter street, near Aylmer.

PROBABILITIES.

Fair and cooler to-night and on Sunday.

PIANO TUNING.

'Phone 805, The Greene Music Co., Charlotte Street, when your piano requires tuning or regulating. All work guaranteed. dtf

FINE POST CARDS.

Post Cards of Quaker Oats fire IN COLOURS. 10c each See the specimens in the show case Vincent Studio, George Street. 29d-343

A MERRY CHRISTMAS.

Dr Lacey takes this opportunity of wishing his many patrons the Compliments of the Season, also those who will visit him in the coming year.

DENTAL.

Dr McKenty, Dentist, 370 George Street, on the ground floor, first door north of Peterborough Hardware Company. Nitrous oxide and oxygen administered for painless operations 28d-128

CLEANING, PRESSING AND REPAIRING.

'Phone 1416 for Cleaning, Pressing and Repairing. Goods called for and delivered promptly. Mrs. Read, 159 Rubidge Street. dtf

CHRISTIAN SCIENCE SERVICES.

Bank of Commerce Building. Entrance Hunter Street, directly opposite Post Office. Sunday, 11 a.m. and 7 p.m. Wednesday, 8 p.m. The public welcome to any of these services. 2d-23-30

EXPRESS AND BAGGAGE.

E. D. Cooney, a returned soldier, has taken over the express business of Eddie Reid and will give prompt and careful attention to all work entrusted to him 'Phone 847. E. D. Cooney, 340 Aylmer stree. 29d-41

COOK BOOK.

The revised and enlarged edition of The Summer Fair Cook Book for sale at Belleghem's, and Alexander and Miller's; at reduced prices, 25c. These make a useful Christmas gift. 4d-12-15-19-22

NOTICE.

Any person having picture frames at M. R. Hoover's framery, 136 Hunter street, if they are not called for by January 1st, they will positively be sold as unclaimed goods.

STREET RAILWAY NOTICE.

To-night the street cars of the Peterborough Radial Railway will run cars until midnight, last car leaves corner George and Charlotte street at 11.40 p.m.

YOUR TYPEWRITER'S EFFICIENCY

Is enhanced by cooperation of the typewriter and this can only be, when the machine used is in good condition. A few dollars spent in this renovation of machines will repay you many times over, if you deal at Nelson Typewriter Co. We sell ribbons, carbons and general office supplies as well as ALL MAKES OF TYPEWRITERS.
OPPOSITE ORIENTAL HOTEL.

A GOOD PURCHASE.

We purchased a complete line of pipes before the advance in prices, real amber, extra good briar. We have also a very large stock for Christmas of cigars and tobaccos. We always give extra good value. Call and see us.—Yeates Bros, 339 George street.

E. B. CLEGG & CO.

Furniture purchased now as gifts, will be held until Christmas week if desired. Dining room furniture on sale this week. Some handsome styles to choose from. A collection of colonial art craft and modern style buffets. See our show window. A fine example of the William and Mary style.

NOTICE.

The members of Court Langton No. 344 are requested to meet at the Foresters' Hall, Simcoe street, to-morrow at 1 p.m. sharp to attend the funeral of the late John McKenzie.
W. Stevens, Rec.-Sec. R. Lockie, C.R.

NOTICE.

Will the woman who sent the communication to the Examiner a few days ago remit the amount paid for the pail of lard, together with a sum sufficient to return it and 50c for this advertisement to the Examiner Office it will be handed over to the purchaser who has made this request to the Examiner. 1d-147-1w52

'DIAMONDS'

We carry the largest assortment of Diamonds in the city

Diamond Rings
Diamond Tie Pins
Diamond Brooches
Diamond Tie Clip
Diamond Cuff Links
Diamond Lavalliers
Diamond Match Safe
Diamond Cigar Cutter
Diamond Pendants
Diamond Sunbursts

Diamonds are worth their value at any time. Best values in the city.

Warne Bros
DIAMOND HALL
Next to Warne Drug Co.

SUCCESSFUL ENTERTAINMENT

Santa Claus Visited Knox Church Sunday School Last Evening

Knox Sunday School held a very successful Christmas entertainment in the School-Room last evening, Friday, December 22. At the close of the programme, every boy and girl in the audience was treated to candy and oranges by Santa Claus, and even the absentees were not forgotten. The programme was excellent and was as follows:

Opening remarks by the Superintendent, M. N. Clark
Piano solo—Gwen. Donnelly.
Song—Jean McCannan
Cooks' Drill—A number of girls.
Song—Sam Thompson
Dolls' Drill—A number of girls.
Santa Claus Dialogue—Three boys
Recitation—Alvina Welsh.
Vocal duet—Grace McCannan and Margaret McCulloch.
Song—Rev. J. A MacKenzie.
Piano duet—Alex. Seger and John King.
Chorus—The McCannan Family
Dialogue — Boys of Mrs. Watt's Class.
Song—Marion Byers.
Song—Herbie Read.
Violin solo—Kathleen Grose.
Song—Earl Waterman.
Wand Drill—A number of girls.
Distribution of gifts by Santa Claus.
"God Save the King."

WEAVING DEPARTMENT EMPLOYEES REMEMBER MR. J. S. HETHERINGTON

The employees of the weaving department of the Auburn Woollen Mills surprised their foreman, Mr. John S. Hetherington, last night, and presented him with an address and a shaving set and clock. Miss Beatrice McGill read the address as follows:

Dear Mr. Hetherington, — Once more we find ourselves at the closing of a year and on the eve of a new one; in the midst of Christmas greetings and happy New Year's. We find no time so opportune as this in which to show you in a tangible way our appreciation of your services among us interwoven with a genial, kindly spirit and an ever-readiness and willingness to help us on all occasions.

We would ask you to accept this shaving set and clock, and may they carry with them our very best wishes for a happy Christmas and mark the beginning of long years of prosperity and happiness for you and yours.

Signed on behalf of the Weave-Room Employees.

Mr. Hetherington expressed his appreciation of the kindly spirit that prompted the remembrance and hoped their friendly relations would continue.

VILLA IS IN POSSESSION OF TORREON NOW

SPECIAL TO THE EXAMINER:

EL PASO, Dec. 23.—Villa to-day is in undisputed possession of Horreon, the most important railway centre in Northern Mexico. At one o'clock yesterday his bandit forces marched

A BLAZE ON CHAMBERS ST.

A boy, a match, and a clothes closet were the ingredients in a blaze at the home of Mr. John Watson, 425 Chambers street, at 2.30 o'clock today. The youngster in looking for a pair of hockey boots dropped a lighted match which set fire to a quantity of clothing and the result was a blaze which required the contents of four a five tanks of chemicals to extinguish.

A CANDIDATE WHO SHOULD BE SUPPORTED

One of the likely men in the field for municipal honours this year is A. A. Fowler, who is a candidate for a seat on the Board of Education. Mr. Fowler has proved by his strict attention to and success in his own business, his sterling value as an advisor on a board that has to deal with so much of the city's finances. As a rising young business man, whose success has all been achieved right in our midst he is certainly entitled to strong recognition when he offers himself as a municipal servant.

The city wants its governing done by the strongest men it can procure, and the prospect of gaining such an accession of young, aggressive blood, as the introduction of Mr. Fowler to the Board would mean, is too good to lightly pass by. By all means see that Mr. Fowler is elected with such a safe majority as will show that his complying to the wishes of his friends in coming out for the Board of Education has been appreciated.

Social and Personal

Miss Helen Kearns and Mr. Francis Kearns, of 402 Elm street, are visiting friends in Toronto.

Miss Mary Grady, Kingston, and Mr. Fred Grady, St. Michael's College, Toronto, are home for the Christmas holidays.

Mr. and Mrs. J. L. Wood of Toronto are down from Toronto.

Mr. and Mrs. J. G. Campazzi and family left last evening for Montreal and New York.

Mr. G. T. Chapman and son from Carlton Place are visiting his sister, Mrs. John Bickell until after Christmas.

Messrs. A. E. Lee and Deyell, Bank of Commerce, have gone to their homes in Millbrook for Christmas.

Mr. Jack Stephenson left to-day to spend the holidays at his home in St. John, N.B.

Mr. and Mrs. D. J. Lundy are the guests of Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Clarkson, until Tuesday.

Mrs. Frank Cross and children are the guests of Mr. and Mrs. Aylmer, Weller street.

Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Bradburn are in London, the guests of Mrs. Fry for Christmas.

Mrs. M. E. Hartley is spending Christmas in Toronto.

Miss Kathleen Moore of the Civil Service Dept., Ottawa, is at home for the holidays.

Mrs. Chas. Ackerman is spending the holidays as the guest of her parents, Picton.

Mr. Perry Elliott, of the Bank of Commerce, Forest, Ont., is in the city for Christmas.

Miss Dorthy Harstone, nurse-in-training, Toronto General Hospital, is in the city on a two weeks vacation.

Miss Elsie Mowatt, Queen's University, Kingston, is the guest of her parents, George street.

Miss Littlefield, physical director of the Y.W.C.A., left last night to spend Christmas at her home in London.

Miss Douglas, general secretary of the Y.W.C.A., is spending Christmas with friends in Perth.

Miss Kathleen O'Connell and Mr. Gregory O'Connell, Toronto, are spending the holiday, the guest of their parents, Mr. and Mrs. Dan O'Connell, Downie street.

Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Morris are the week end guests of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Dench, Toronto.

Mr. L. A. Law left on the 1.28 a.m. train for Watertown, N.Y., to spend the winter with his sister, Mrs. A. F. H. Shearman, accompanied by his father and mother. Mr. and Mrs. John Law, who are going to spend Christmas with their daughter.

Mr. and Mrs. J. G. Robinson, Toronto, are the guests of Rev. J. P. Wilson.

Mrs. John Barr, Toronto, is a guest of the Trinity Methodist Parsonage for Christmas.

Mrs. Sherry (nee Miss Helen Davies), Winnipeg, will sing at Trinity Methodist Church to-morrow morning.

Mr. T. F. Matthews left on Thursday to meet Mrs. Matthews who arrives in Montreal this morning from England.

Trooper Milton Griffin, of the C. M. R., Hamilton, is spending the holiday with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Fred Griffin, 473 Bolivar street.

Mrs. J. Rodman and Mr. C. Rodman of Toronto are spending the holidays in the city, visiting Mrs. E. Rodman, Sheridan street.

Mr. and Mrs. J. Wallace Wood of Toronto are in the city over the holiday.

Mrs. J. T. Wright, East City, is spending Christmas in Campbellford.

Miss Dorothy Allan and Mr. John Allan have been engaged to go to Stirling on Christmas Day for a concert.

Mr. and Mrs. M. Clarke and family of 577 Gilmour Street, are spending the Christmas holidays in Toronto.

Mr. Gordon M. Clarke, of the De Laval Office, is spending the Christmas holidays in Toronto.

Mr. W. G. Yelland, of the Land Titles Office, Osgoode Hall, Toronto, is in the city for the Christmas holidays.

Mrs. Janet Huycke left to-day for Mitchell, the holiday guest of Mr. and Mrs. Denys.

Miss Lillian Somerville and Mr. Lind Somerville, are the week end guests of Miss Jenkins, Brock street.

Mr. Morton, Bank, of Ottawa, is spending the holidays at his home in Richmond.

Mr and Mrs. Moir are spending Christmas, the guests of friends in London.

WARNE BROS. JEWELLERY

Visit Our Store and You May Get the Very Suggestion You Need to Solve That Gift Problem You're Worrying About

GIFTS FOR LADIES

Silver Thimbles, Cameo Rings,
Silver Hat Pins, Lingerie Clasps,
Silver Scissors, Card Pins,
Boudoir Clock, Pearl Rings,
Silver Mesh Bags, Diamond Rings
Silver Card Cases, Silvia Perfume
Ball, Cameo Brooches,
Cameo Lavalliers.
All at Moderate Prices

Warne Bros
DIAMOND HALL
Next to Warne Drug Co

FOWLER'S PEBLO GLASSES

OPTICAL
GIFT
LINES

There's a surprising list of gift suggestions to be found in a well stocked optical establishment, and they are the unusual kind that are always appreciated.

Little accessories like Eye-Glass Chains are a favorite. Reading Glasses Opera Glasses, Thermometers and our great leader, a pair of "Peblo" glasses in gold mounts which can be fitted after Christmas.

SEE OUR WINDOW

A. A. FOWLER DOCTOR OF OPTICS
Pharm. B. Toronto University
EYESIGHT SPECIALIST with NUGENT DRUG COMPANY

RESTORE THE NATURAL SIGHT

Miss Gertrude Crowley and Miss E. Grady of Midland, are in the city for the holiday.

Mr. Loftus Amys is the guest of his parents Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Amys, Gilmour street.

Dr. Ray Scott, of Peterborough, who recently took his M.D. at Toronto University, has been successful in passing the examinations of the Ontario Medical College of Physicians and Surgeons.

Col. Mills and his two sons, Lieut. Bruce and Sergt. Sam, are the guests of Mr. and Mrs. B. D. Hall.

Mr. Messins, Bank of Montreal, is in Cobourg for Christmas.

Mr. Jack Eastwood, Toronto, is home for Christmas.

Mrs. Widdifield returned last night from Toronto.

Mr. Tom McGrath, who has been in England, employed by the Imperial Government on munitions, is home for a time.

Mr. and Mrs. Ford Turner, Charlotte street, left to-day to spend Christmas with Mrs. Turner's parents, at Norham, Ont.

Mr. Jack Eastwood is down from Toronto over the holiday.

CHRISTMAS DAY AT THE EMPIRE

A Good Programme—See It Either Afternoon or Evening

On the holiday Myrtle Stedman will appear in the picture "The American Beauty." The following is the story:

In the panic created by the burning of an ocean liner at sea, the Ellsworths become separated from their infant daughter. The babe is rescued and grows to beautiful womanhood as Ruth Cleave—a fisherman's daughter.

Paul Keith, an American artist, is seeking the ideally beautiful woman, whose soul will inspire him to a great picture; this picture is to compete in an international contest of feminine loveliness. Keith paints several disappointing pictures before he discovers in Ruth Cleave, in a most unexpected way, the beauty of soul that he has been seeking.

The love story of the beautiful model and the young aristocratic painter has many tangles and unwonted turns. Ruth becomes enmeshed in the snare of Lorrimer, multi-millionaire art patron, in the latter's Orientally magnificent studio-palace.

This leads Keith to cast aside all the barriers of his aristocratic upbringing and propose to Ruth. Ruth most unexpectedly refuses him.

Why, and of the results—this story relates with a thrilling charm

BAFFLING.

Ezra Haskins, constable of an Eastern Ontario village, had an exalted opinion of his ability as a detective. He read everything that he could find on the career of Sherlock Holmes, until he imagined that he had thereby acquired wonderful deductive abilities.

"Now, gentlemen, said he on one occasion to his assistants in a particular case, "we have traced these cities, the footprints of the horse and the footprints of the man, right here to this stump. From the stump on there is only the footprints of the horse. Now, gentlemen, the question arises, What has become of the man?"

DIED.

OHOWEN.—In Nicholls Hospital, Dec. 22, Richard J. Ohowen, in his [illegible]th year.

The funeral, which will be private, will take place on Sunday afternoon at 2 o'clock. Service at the house at 2.30 o'clock. Interment at the Little Lake Cemetery.

EAST WARD

Ladies and Gentlemen:

Vote For J.H.Smith

For Alderman in East Ward for 1917. Wishing you the Compliments of the Season

Photographs taken this week finished for New Year's

Postals of the fire may be had at the Studio

Open in the evenings 7.30 to 9.30

374½ George Street — The Moule Studio — Phone No. 46

Kind thoughts for your Happiness at Christmas and Sincere Wishes for Your Prosperity throughout the Coming Year.

PETERBORO HARDWARE Co
LIMITED

10 Pages

The Evening Examiner

VOL. LVII. No. 148 PETERBOROUGH TUESDAY, DECEMBER 26, 1916 PRICE TWO CENTS

LIVERY
FONTAINE'S LIVERY FOR BEST DRIVING HORSES IN THE CITY. AUTOS AND TAXIS FOR HIRE. CAREFUL DRIVERS AND GOOD SERVICE 'PHONE 782. 193 HUNTER

Local Views

We have a limited assortment of pretty local views suitably framed.

Prices range from

$1.00 to $5.00

See them on display in show cases and the Studio.

Troy

140½ Hunter Street

ANOTHER VICTORY FOR THE BRITISH FORCES

1130 Turk Prisoners Captured

BRITISH TAKE 1130 PRISONERS

Special to The Examiner.

CAIRO, Dec. 26. — Maghdabah, ninety miles east of the Suez Canal, has been taken by the British with 1,130 Turk prisoners, two guns and large stores.

Ferdinand Confident

SPECIAL TO THE EXAMINER:

LONDON, Dec. 26.—King Ferdinand tells Roumania he looks to the future with absolute confidence.

BOARD OF EDUCATION

To the Electors of the City of Peterborough:

Ladies and Gentlemen,— I have again nominated as a candidate for the Board of Education, and if my services in the past have been satisfactory to you, and it is your desire that I represent you for another two year term, I will deem it a pleasure to give you my very best service on the Board. Wishing you the compliments of the season, I am,

Yours faithfully,

B. F. ACKERMAN

A Vote For

F. W. DOAN

Board Of Education

Means Preparedness by Better Technical Training

Eighty Aeroplanes In One Battle On The Western Front

As High as 96 Separate and Distinct Fights In a Single Day —Three British Machines Deliberately Dived Into Formation of Seventeen German 'Planes.

WITH THE BRITISH ARMIES IN FRANCE, December 24. — When the history of aviation in the present war is written it will contain some of the most thrilling chapters of the strange world conflict.. The British Flying Corps, which knew from almost nothing at the beginning of the war, has already established records of daring and attainment which even in the colourless official reports of the corps read like fiction. Recently there have been fights on the British front in which from sixty to eighty machines were engaged. Such fights begin with individual fights and gradually develop into what the aviators term a "general melee" as reinforcements arrive from both sides.

There have been as high as 96 separate and distinct fights in a single day on this front alone. Near the point where the British and French lines join there have been fights in which the French have come to the assistance of the English and the English to the assistance of the French to help defeat the Germans.. There have been numerous engagements in which British aviators have closed within twenty yards of their adversary, firing point blank into him. There have been both English and French instances of aviators, as a last resort, deliberately crashing into a German and sending him down. After one instance of that sort a British aviator brought his machine down with only one wing. He could only effect a landing with his engine going, and had deliberately to collide with a tree, seriously injuring himself.

DIVED INTO SEVENTEEN.

There was one memorable occasion when three British machines deliberately dived into a formation of 17 German machines, destroying two of the hostile planes and themselves escaping unhurt. Another time two British aviators attacked 33 Germans, and once a second lieutenant of the British corps attacked five hostile machines. He in turn was attacked from behind, but turned and got in the rear of the hostile craft and, keeping "on its tail," drove it down.

The British aviators take great satisfaction at the result of a recent fight when they attacked a German bombing squadron which was trying to cross the British lines. In the heat of the aerial combat the Germans let go bombs which well into their own lines.

An aerial battle presents a spectacle which a few years ago could have lived only in the imagination.. One such occurred yesterday. Out at the distance there came early in the day a series of black specks which gradually grew until they took the form of German airplanes. From points of telescopic observation their approach had been signalled long before even the first tiny dots were visible to the naked eye. British guns were ready and British planes were already climbing above the ruins of the shell-torn Flemish town to challenge the invaders.

While the German machines were still over their own lines the British anti-air craft cannon, known as "archies," began to speak. There was a sharp, angry crack. A moment later a shrapnel shell burst into a white puff ball just in the path of the on-coming aeroplanes. At first, the white fleck of powder smoke seemed no larger than a pin-head, but it soon spread until it appeared as an exaggerated toy balloon and floated as lazily against the sky. Then there was another puff, and then another, until it seemed that half a hundred "archies' must be going and the sky became a fret-

(Continued on Page 4.)

THE TERMS OF THE HUNS

Rome Report Has It That They Were Contained in a Sealed Packet Which Was Handed to Neutrals With Peace Proposals

TO BE FORWARDED

SPECIAL TO THE EXAMINER:

ROME, Dec. 26.—Germany handed to the neutral nations whose services she asked in forwarding peace suggestions to her enemies, a sealed packet containing the specific terms upon which she was willing to make peace, according to a report in circulation here to-day.

The report had it that this packet was sent with instructions that it was only to be read and forwarded to Germany's enemies of the Entente in case those powers, answering Germany's proffers,. actually requested terms. Otherwise it was to be returned unopened.

Sir Sam Now In Favour Of Conscription

Special to The Examiner:

LINDSAY, Ont., Dec. 26.—Sir Sam Hughes advocates conscription in Canada and thinks Quebec would respond.

Canadians' Good Work In Trench Raid

Special to The Examiner:

LONDON, Dec. 26.—Canadians did great work in a trench raid near Arras.

AN ECONOMIC CELEBRATION IN ENGLAND

SPECIAL TO THE EXAMINER:

LONDON, Dec. 26.—There was rigid economy in the Xmas celebrations in England

When buttons are taken from an old dress they should be strung on a string before putting them into the button box.

Switzerland Has Endorsed Appeal of The U.S. President

Swiss Federal Council Sends a Note to All the Warring Powers—Wilson's Initiative Will Find a Mighty Echo in Switzerland, Says the Message.

WASHINGTON, December 24.—Switzerland in a note to all the warring powers has announced its support of President Wilson's appeal for a discussion of peace terms, saying "it would consider itself happy if it could act in any, no matter how modest a way, for the rapprochement of the peoples now engaged in the struggle, and for a lasting peace."

The note was sent to the belligerents Friday by the Swiss Federal Council, and Dr. Paul Ritter, Minister of Switzerland here, sent a copy to the White House yesterday. Secretary of State Lansing made it public to-night. The translated text follows:

"The President of the United States of America, with whom the Swiss Federal Council, guided by its warm desire that the hostilities may soon come to an end, had, for a considerable time, been in touch, had the kindness to apprise the Federal Council of the peace note sent to the Governments of Centrol and Entente powers. In this note President Wilson discusses the great desirability of international agreement for the purpose of avoiding more effectively and permanently the occurrence of catastrophes such as the one under which the peoples are suffering to-day. In this connection he lays particular stress on the necessity for bringing about the end of the present war. Without making peace proposals himself or offering mediation, he confines himself to sounding as to whether mankind may hope to have approached the haven of peace.

DEEP LONGING FOR PEACE.

"The most meritorious personal initiative of President Wilson will find a mighty echo in Switzerland. True to the obligations arising from observing the strictest neutrality, united by the same friendship with the States of both warring groups of powers, situated like an island amidst the seething waves of the terrible world war, with its ideal and material interests most seriously jeopardized and violated, our country is filled with a deep longing for peace, and ready to assist by its small means to stop the endless sufferings caused by the war and brought before its eyes by daily contact with the interned, the severely wounded and those expelled, and to establish the foundations for a beneficial co-operation of the peoples.

"The Swiss Federal Council is therefore glad to seize the opportunity to support the efforts of the President of the United States. It would consider itself happy if it could act in any, no matter how modest, a way for the rapprochement of the peoples now engaged in the struggle, and for reaching a lasting peace."

FRANCE WILL NOT NEGOTIATE.

PARIS, December 24.—The unanimous vote of the Senate affirming that France cannot conclude peace with an enemy who occupies French territory, coming at the same times as the peace note of the Swiss Government, has stirred anew the French press and public. The action of the Senate gave further indication of the attitude of the allies towards President Wilson's proposals, while confidence voted in the Briand Ministry was regarded most favourably.

The Foreign Affairs Committee of the Chamber devoted a large part of the session yesterday to an examination of President Wilson's note

The Petit Journal suggests that President Wilson, in sending the note know he would have the support of Switzerland and says: "France pities its neighbour, menaced like Belgium perhaps, but France, which did not want war, knows that there are suggestions that honour and interest prevent it from hearing."

The Petit Parisien says that the Swiss note confirms one of the declarations of President Wilson, referring to discussions engaged in five weeks ago between Berne and Washington. It adds: "The note deserves the same courteous examination and reserve. France will not forget the treatment by the Swiss of the interned and repatriated people, but has a right to recall that as to the war the Entente allies cannot be placed on the same footing as the Central powers."

SWITZERLAND'S DANGER.

The Echo de Paris says: "Our resolution will demonstrate once more that the Federal Council would be mistaken as to the feeling of the allies, and the French in particular, if it believed them disposed to negotiate with Germany. Germany has attempted the same effort in Switzerland as in the other European neutral countries to procure benevolent intervention. Switzerland needs the victory of the allies to prevent her own absorption by Germany."

The Matin says: "It must be remarked that the Federal Council supports the efforts of America without associating herself with regard to the questions. Instead of asking the Governments to make known the objects of the war, it limits itself to the very honourable wish that peace be concluded now, and homage is to be rendered to the sentiments dictating the note."

The Rexall

Huyler's AND Liggett's Chocolates

We have a nice fresh stock of Holiday packages each containing a special assortment of chocolates.

We make it easy to select the very package you require.

Prices from

25c TO $4.00 Per Box

McDERMID & JURY

The Safe Satisfactory Druggists

COR. GEORGE & CHARLOTTE

SCHOOL REPORTS

S. S. NO. 9 SMITH

Senior III Class—Marjorie McConkey, Dorcas Nixon,, Olive Sweeting, Ira Branch, Herman Branch, Lloyd McConkey, Norman McConkey

Junior III Class—Chalmer Sweeting, Clarence Bell.

Senior II Class—Elsie McConkey, Sherman Sweeting, Olive Preston, Max Tully, Jennie Tully.

Junior II Class—Vera Mellmoyl, Olive Mellmoyl, Clarence Mellmoyl, Velma Mellmoyl, Burwell McConkey, Max Mellmoyl, Everett Nicholls, Clifford Mellmoyl, Stanley Davis, Hazel Nixon, Grace Mellmoyl, Claxton Branch, Gerald Newnham.

I Class—Viola Rossborough, Gordon Davis, Geo. Mellmoyl, Karl Branch.

Senior Primer — Doreen McConkey, Helen McConkey, Audrey Mellmoyl, Clarence Davis, Pearl Newnham, Cora Tully.

Junior Primer — Bertrice McConkey, Pearl Elliott, Marietta Elliott, Walter Mellmoyl, Alice Nichols.

Teacher, E. M. Webster

S. S. NO. 4, SOUTH MONAGHAN

The average mark of each pupil is given

Senior IV — Helen Whittington 74, Jim Wood 74, Millie Nurse 68, Mary Wood 65.

Junior IV—Edwena Wedlock 89

Senior III—Luella Pugh 70.

Junior III—Willie Collins 84, May Wood 70, Harold Thorne 69, Clifford Emberson 61.

Senior II — Orville McClelland 73, Junior II—Vincent Powers 79, Lloyd Whittington 73, Joseph Powers 70, Lemuel Pamment 69, Elwood McAlister 68.

E Class — Willan Wood 77, Joe Wood 75, Kingsley Nurse 70

Perfect attendance: Helen Whittington, Millie Nurse, Lloyd Whittington, Lemuel Pamment, Willan Wood, Joe Wood

I. G. Matchett, Teacher

Examination report for Chemong Indian day school Christmas, 1916.

Primer Class — Perry Knott 77, George Irons 74, George McCue 73, Sidney Irons 69, Maria Blaker 58, Ethel Jacobs 56.

First Class—Edna McCue 71, Wiley Taylor 70, Emma Knott 66, Dollea McCue 64, Gertie Taylor 63, Ashley Taylor 60, Viola Johnson 55, Lavina Taylor 46, Walter Blaker 51.

Second Class — Stratford Jacobs 84, Mary Knott 83, Elijah Taylor 81, Bertrain McCue 73, James Johnson 72, Willie McCue 60, Clayton McCue 54.

Third Class —George Wheatung 83.

Fourth Class — Austin McCue 71, Stephen Taylor 70.

Mrs. W. J. Hanes Teacher

Following is the report of Warsaw school for December, the percentage of the total marks taken by each pupil being given

Senior Room.

Class V.—Alice Wason 71

Class Sr. IV.—Arthur Morgan 72, Milton Helps 67, Helen Morgan 67, Birdie Greenstock 66, Lula Ball 66, Hilliard Hamblin 57, Blanch Pollock absent for examinations.

Class Jr. IV.—Helen Rowen (present for only two examinations) 86, Stella Ellis 76, Clifford Selkirk 57, Hilliard Edwards 43.

Class Sr. III.—Hector Munro 71, Elsie Tucker 71, Fred Gunn 67, Frankie Payne 66, John Morgan 55.

Class Jr. III—May MacDonald 73, Margaret Clark 73, Norman Crupp 66, Laura Wilson 62, Gordon Bowen 62, Melville Gunn 62, Russel Payne 59, Elzara Anderson 54, Archie Lonsberry 50.

Average attendance for the month, 26.

Report of Junior Room.

Second Class — Viola McQuaig 80, Evelyn Hawthorne 77, Lily Lonsberry 52, Tommy Harding 47

First Class—George Wilson 92, Florence Clare 91, Donald Davis 81, Beatrice Clifford 81, Laura Bowen 82, Gwendoline McQuaig 80, Donald Anderson 65, Roy Moore 45

Sr. Primer Class—Kenneth Bell 88, Florence Twiford 87, Milton LaRush 81, Marion Payne 67, Leonard Hawthorne 54, Jean Bowen 35

Jr. Primer (no exam. given)—Allan Moore, Leona Gunn, Ruthie Wasson.

No. enrolled—31

Average attendance—30

MARYLAND IS SINKING

SPECIAL TO THE EXAMINER:

NEW YORK, Dec. 26. — United States steamship Maryland is reported sinking about 160 miles off Sandy-hook. Several vessels are rushing to her assistance.

May Take Over Liquor Traffic

SPECIAL TO THE EXAMINER:

LONDON, Dec. 26. — All liquor traffic may be taken over by the Government on January 1st.

COST OF TEA RAPIDLY INCREASING

The recent advance of five cents a pound by no means represents the increased cost of the fine tea used in "SALADA." The markets have advanced from six to ten cents a pound, and the freight rates jumped two and one-half cents a pound in the past two months. Whatever prices these uncontrollable conditions may warrant however, you may rely on the quality of SALADA remaining exactly the same as ever.

When using a bottle of gum the stopper may be prevented from sticking by rubbing a fresh one with a little lard or grease of some kind and using that

Are You Giving

An Afternoon Tea?
A Formal Dinner?
A Breakfast?
A Luncheon?
A Reception?

Then place your catering in experienced, reliable hands and be assured of a successful entertainment.

OUR TEA ROOMS

Always ready for dainty Luncheons, with Hot Tea Coffee, Chocolate, Boeril etc. and a special menu.

T. H. Hooper

3 Stores { 327 George. Phone 169 / 413½ George. Phone 1342 / Cor. & Dublin. Phone 391

A. A. FOWLER

— FOR —

BOARD of EDUCATION

New Blood Means New Energy

In selecting your candidates for the Board of Education, keep in mind that the keynote of progress is renewed life and vigor in the executive bodies that have to handle the business of this growing City.

In offering myself as candidate for a position on this board, I do so realizing that only a man's best service will meet the growing need for practical business methods in this most important branch of the City's business. My record as a business man for the last fourteen years and a lifelong resident in Peterborough, residing in East City for twenty-five years, is well known to a large number of our citizens, and I trust is sufficient evidence of my ability to warrant your support in my present candidature.

Should I be elected, I promise to weigh most carefully all matters involving expenditure of the City's finances, and to countenance only strictly business methods in undertaking any work being handled by this Board.

Soliciting the support of every progressive voter, I am,

Yours for progress,

A. A. FOWLER

Destroyers Are Sunk In a Collision

SPECIAL TO THE EXAMINER:

LONDON, Dec. 26.—Two British destroyers collided and sank in a fierce storm and 55 of the crew were lost.

EAST WARD

Ladies and Gentlemen:

Vote For

J.H.Smith

For Alderman in East Ward for 1917. Wishing you the Compliments of the Season

Your Vote is Respectfully Solicited by

G. N. GORDON

For the Board of Education

OUR SERIAL STORY

ADVERTISING RATES

Measurement, Agate, 14 Lines One Inch.
Transient Display ..... 75c per inch
Transient Reading ..... 10c per inch
Minimum Contract Rate for Display, 2,500 inch Contract, 15c per inch
Minimum Contract Rate for Readers, $1 per inch.
Legal and other notices, 8c per line for first insertion; 4c per line for subsequent insertions.

CONDENSED ADVERTISEMENTS.
Minimum charge 10c, of 1c per word for first insertion; ½c per word for subsequent insertions. Add 10c to cover postage on replies, if sent to town.

BIRTHS, MARRIAGES AND DEATHS
Daily Examiner 75c
Daily and Weekly Examiner 50c
All advertisements subject to the approval of the Management.
Address:
THE EXAMINER, PETERBOROUGH

PERSONAL.
ADVERTISERS ARE REMINDED THAT IT is contrary to the provisions of the postal law to deliver letters addressed to initials only; an advertiser desiring to conceal his or her identity may economically do so by having replies directed to a Box at this office; ten cents added to the cost of advertisement will ensure the forwarding of letters to any out-of-town address.

GRAND TRUNK RAILWAY SYSTEM

NEW YEAR'S FARES

SINGLE FARE—Dec. 30-31st, 1916 and Jan. 1st, 1917, valid for return until Jan. 2nd, 1917

FARE-AND-ONE-THIRD—Dec 28-29 and 31st, 1916, valid for return until Jan. 3rd, 1917.

Above reduced fares apply between all stations in Canada east of Port Arthur and to Detroit and Port Huron, Mich; Buffalo, Black Rock, Niagara Falls and Suspension Bridge, N. Y.

Tickets now on sale at all G. T. R. Ticket Offices.

J. B. DORAN, PHONE 259

Railway Time Tables

GRAND TRUNK RAILWAY.
CORRECTED JUNE 8, 1916.

7.00 a.m.—For Lakefield.
8.10 a.m.—For Port Hope, Cobourg and points east, connecting at Port Hope for Toronto, arriving at Toronto at 11.03 a.m.
8.35 a.m.—For Hastings, Campbellford, Sterling, Madoc, Belleville, Deseronto, Napanee, Kingston, Brockville, Montreal.
8.40 a.m.—For Lindsay, Orillia, Collingwood, Midland, Penetanguishene, North Bay, Toronto, Hamilton, Niagara.
11.00 a.m.—Mid-day express for Toronto, reaching Toronto at 3.15 p.m.
17.20 p.m.—For Lakefield.
11.40 a.m.—For Millbrook, Port Hope and all points on the main line east and west. Close connection at Port Hope with International Limited for Toronto, Detroit and Chicago.
1.30 p.m.—For Hastings, Campbellford, Sterling, Madoc, Belleville, Deseronto, Napanee, Kingston and Brockville.
5.35 p.m.—For Lindsay, Orillia, Midland, North Bay, Toronto, Hamilton, Niagara Falls, Buffalo, New York.
5.40 p.m.—For Lakefield.
6.55 p.m.—Local for Lindsay.
8.06 p.m.—For Millbrook, Port Hope, Belleville, Kingston, Brockville, Montreal and Boston.

CANADIAN PACIFIC RAILWAY.
CORRECTED JUNE 8, 1916.

8.20 p.m.—Indian River, Norwood, Haysock and Tweed.
*12.12 a.m.—Kingston, Smith's Falls, Ottawa, Montreal, Quebec, St. John, N.B., Boston, and New York.
*1.25 a.m.—Norwood, Havelock, Tweed Perth, Smith's Falls and Ottawa.
11.17 a.m.—Norwood, Havelock, Tweed, Perth, Smith's Falls, Ottawa, Montreal and intermediate points, and all points east of Montreal.

GOING WEST.—
*4.38 a.m.—Toronto, Owen Sound, Guelph, Goderich, Hamilton, Buffalo, New York, Galt, Woodstock, St. Thomas, London, Chatham, Detroit and Chicago
*3.55 a.m.—Myrtle and North Toronto.
7.35 a.m.—Toronto, Hamilton, Buffalo, Rochester and New York. Intermediate points between Peterborough and Toronto.
9.15 a.m.—Lindsay, Orillia, Port Mecnicol and intermediate points
3.43 p.m.—Toronto, Hamilton, Brantford, Buffalo, New York, Guelph, Galt, Woodstock, London, Detroit and Chicago.
9.05 p.m.—North Toronto and West Toronto and intermediate points.
*Daily Daily except Sunday.

Our Poultry Department

is now open and we are paying high spot cash prices for good plump birds (alive), delivered Peterborough.

We can supply farmers and Poultry raisers with fattening crates at a small rent, to be returned us in good condition at the end of the season.

A premium paid on crate milk fed chickens. For particulars apply to—

W. SCOTT Co., Ltd.
1124 Robinson Street
Phone 26-1

"DESTINY"

By CHARLES NEVILLE BUCK

(Continued from Saturday.)

The young Titan glanced seriously from one to the other. "I know of influences coming to a head to-morrow, which are calculated to throw the Street and Exchange into panic condition unless we devise means of averting that catastrophe. For that reason I asked you to come here to-night."

The bankers stood silent, but upon their faces was stamped the shock of the news. Coming from so authoritative a source, it required no actual proof.

"We may gather then," suggested Henry at last, "that you stand with us in our desire to avert this calamity?"

"Gentlemen," Burton's voice again became compelling and crisp—but very hard. "On certain conditions I shall avert this panic—on others I shall cause it. The alternative is for your decision."

Farley and Henry drew a little closer together by common impulse as if for alliance in danger. A longer silence, weighted with tensity, followed until Farley inquired in a stunned voice: "Please explain."

With the crisp impersonality of a prosecutor Hamilton Burton talked. He outlined his plans, gave a glimpse of his tremendous levers of power; let them see the engines of destruction he controlled and finally made his demand. When he was through neither of his visitors could doubt his might or his intent. At the end he said:

"You hold among the securities of your two banks just the margin of Coal and Ore which I need for complete safety. Turn your proxies over to me to-night and to-morrow will pass quietly. I will support every market depression caused by Malone's efforts. There will be no panic. Fail to do that and ten minutes after the gong sounds on the floor I shall be tipping the entrails out of the Street. Full-page advertisements in every paper in town will feed the general uneasiness into an orgy of terror. Frightened mobs will clamber about the doors of your banks. Other things will happen which it is not now necessary to enumerate. It will be the blackest day in Exchange history and one that will reflect itself in all the bourses of Europe."

After eleven o'clock when Mary Burton and Jefferson Edwards returned from the theatre, the girl caught a glimpse of a strange picture as she passed in the hall.

Six silent men stood or sat about the brightly lighted library with blue wreaths of cigar smoke drifting up ward above them. It was plain that this silence had fallen upon them only as they heard the door slam, and that, like their attitudes, it was strained and artificial.

Hamilton Burton stood before the hearth with his face set as unyielding and immobile as chiseled granite. Burton eyed the two bankers with a defiance stare between drooping lids and Hendricks, at the window, presented to view only his back. But the postures of the bankers themselves were haggard and miserable, like the faces of men making a last desperate stand, yet fronting inevitable defeat. Such faces one might imagine in a nightmare, staring on a passer-by and failing to see him, from a rack of torture.

Mary Burton shuddered a little, though she did not know why, and the eyes of Jefferson Edwardes compressed themselves as he followed her to the music-room on the second floor. He had caught the tigerish cruelty and power-lust in the eyes of Mary's brother, and he knew that for their satisfaction someone must pay very dear.

Paul sat at the piano as they entered the music-room and the emotion which he expressed upon the keys were emotions of deep unrest. They ran in strains of folklore plaintiveness and rhythmic solo of wailing cadences. When Mary spoke the musician turned with a start. He had not heard their entrance.

"I didn't know we should find you here, Paul."

He nodded as he rose from the instrument. "Hamilton asked me to wait," he explained. "He's having some tremendously important conference—and after a trying fight he always likes me to play for him."

The three sat for a time unaccountably silent. Mary could not forget the impression of those conquered faces, and Edwardes, with the same thought, forebore from comment. Within a half-hour Hamilton himself joined them. His eyes were glowing beacons of triumph and his lips wore a smile of victory.

"To-night I have met and defeated Malone's attempt to crush me," he announced with a half-savage elation. "To-morrow the financial world will recognize in me the actual and unchallenged head of Coal and Ore." Then, turning to Jefferson, he added: "You know what that signifies, Edwardes."

The visitor nodded, but no words of enthusiastic congratulations came to his tongue. "It means," he replied slowly, "that you hold a mightier financial power than any other business man in New York."

"And now that you have all that," Mary put the question slowly and gravely, "to what use will you put it?"

Hamilton bent upon her a gaze of tense visioning and his answer came in rapt eagerness. "To build a greater structure of power than any man before me has ever reared.

After a moment's pause he went on: "Edwardes, have you no word of congratulation? It was you who first kindled my dreams into a blaze, you know."

The visitor spoke with his eyes fixed on those of the man who had out grown him in financial stature and he came a Colossus.

"I was thinking of that," he responded "and I was wondering at what cost you had won this victory."

"Conquest," retorted Hamilton Burton shortly, "can take no thought of cost."

"I wonder!" Edwardes spoke reflectively, then with a straightforward honesty he went on: "It rather seems to me that once in a while there rises in the world a marvel-man. To such a spirit the impossible is possible and opportunity is plinth. He may become the greatest boon or the greatest scourge of his generation—such a man uses or prostitutes his great gifts in just so far as he uses or fails to use a conscience."

For an instant Hamilton's cheeks flamed, then he laughed.

"A very pretty golden rule of finance, Edwardes," he observed quietly, "and since I suppose you feel in a way responsible for me it's a homily you have the right to read. Does it carry a personal implication?"

Edwardes smiled and held out his hand. "You are the best judge of that," he replied. "Good night."

But as the door closed upon him the smiles died on the guest's lips and and a premonition of evil settled upon his mind. No one had ever defied this man and come through unscathed. His power held lashed lightnings that might destroy and Edwardes had been prank to a point which might stir that wrath. To his direct manner of thinking his answer had been unavoidable yet to put Hamilton Burton among his enemies was a dangerous thing. His love for Mary and the very endurance of the business which had stood so long in honor and prosperity might have to suffer for the over-frankness of his words. For a moment before entering his car he stood on the curb and looked back at the house he had just left.

"The man is a tyrant—and conscienceless," he exclaimed. "He is as destructive as a sawed-off shot gun!"

CHAPTER XVII

If Hamilton Burton had been one of the most picturesque figures in finance before he was now a flaming meteor of public interest. He had come out of the dark and raided the directorate of a giant corporation and gathering into his strong hands reins that the world believed to be held beyond the possibility of filching. Moreover, this corporation was the key stone and crowning pride in the firmly cemented arch of Consolidated's power.

The world of business was stunned. It went to bed one night, believing certain forces immutable and awoke to find them overthrown and a ministry changed. Along the chasms and canons that debouch from lower Broadway, one question was insistently asked and went unanswered: "What will he do next?" Perhaps the nearest approach to a reply was the prophecy of a cynical curb-broker:—"Whatever he does pleases." One thing was definite. While Hamilton Burton had forced the admiration of the world, he had forced it by the audacity of a strong grip on its throat and by bending it to its knees.

Such admiration is accorded a tyrant and carries scant love. When the long sounded in the Stock Exchange it was an alarm and the faces on the floor were faces that mirrored fear of the day. Yes the first transactions showed Hamilton Burton's brokers standing like pillars under the shaky market. As the day wore on these same lieutenants met and stemmed very tendency towards receding prices.

Several banks announced incipient runs and at once from the Burton treasury came a tide of gold, so that reassured depositors turned away smiling.

When the actual meeting of Coal and Ore stockholders was called to order both Burton and Harrison were present in person.

"Before this vote is taken," said Harrison, rising with a face upon which was indelibly stamped the grim determination of one so long victorious that defeat was unspeakably bitter, "I wish to be heard. Though the registry of transfers tells the story in advance, I know as Hamilton Burton knows, that it is a victory for traitors. If there is a chance that some of these may yet turn back from their treason, I want them to listen to me."

Burton glanced about the table, where the mastery was his own.

"When I attend a meeting of this character," he curtly announced, "we vote first, and whoever wishes to talk after I have gone."

Outside as the two men left the room, waited the batteries of reporters. On the threshold, the appearance of each was noted and flashed in first page stories wherever news went. The new One-man-power stood slender and strong, and tigerish; an incarnation of dominant youth and triumph. Harrison might have been passing into exile, but he walked with his head high, and eyes that met every questioning gaze with the forbidding glitter of a newly trapped and caged lion. There was something about the man so suggestive of a broken warrior that the scribes whose duty it was to interrogate refrained and stood respectfully silent as he passed between them.

But they questioned Burton, and Burton smiled. "Gentlemen," he said in that velvety voice that fitted in so charmingly with the winning quality of his smile, "you know my rule. I am never interviewed—but you may announce that the Coal and Ore directorate will be reorganized."

At the curb Paul was waiting in the car and around it pressed an inquisitive mob, which the police were already beginning to push back, and stir into motion. As the cleared a path for him through the idle humanity the man who had come from an abandoned farm went to his machine with an unconcern which took no note of their interest. To his brother, he commented in a low and musical voice: "They aren't so different from Silvers Martin. I bought those lambs for seven and sold them for ten. But it's only the first transaction, Paul, that gives one the real thrill."

When he reached his library he found Mary there. "I have been reading the papers, Hamilton," she said quietly. "As near as I can make it all out, it was a famous victory," but why do all the papers call it a raid?" Her brother looked at her and a flash of pride kindled fondly in his eyes for the face which a shaft of the sun lighted into vivid beauty.

"I told you once," he said, "that we should reign together. This is for me a glorious day. I am glad that you are the woman to whom I come fresh from the field I have won and the frontier I have pushed forward." He turned away from her and stood for a moment at the window in a flood of yellow radiance. The solarity of his eyes and lustre of his dark hair and the hue of his cheeks were all declarations of gladiatorial perfection of condition. His brow was unclouded.

He began to speak at first with a modulated voice that mounted with his words to a fiery eloquence.

"Many marches follow, Mary toward vaster victories. To me a certain memory lives clear in every detail. I see a small girl with her thin little body shaking with sobs because her life seemed doomed to drudgery and emptiness. I see my mother and my aunt and my father suffering like beasts of burden under the goad and the yoke of poverty. I see a boy ragged and rebellious, declaring war on the world and swearing to wrest from it every good thing that those he loved might ever covet—and for himself unparalleled power. He paused and spread his hands apart with a gesture of dismissing the abstract. I have proven myself able to realize my dreams. I shall go on. My aspirations of empire look far ahead; my horizons are limitless. There are few people to whom I can express my ambitions. But you——" He came across and took her hand. "You can understand. Tell me, Mary, if there is anything in the world that you want. Because, by heaven, if there is it shall be yours."

The girl's eyes, as she met his gaze were deeply grave.

"In all this dream of power, Hamilton," she said softly, "you have never spoken of any strain of trust or stewardship, and what you call a victory, the papers call a raid. Has it ever occurred to you, my dear brother, that perhaps you've dreamed after all, one of colossal selfishness?"

The rippling ease of his muscles stiffened and his smile faded.

"Is it selfishness to give back to those one loves the things of which one has robbed them?"

She shook her head. "No—but there is such a thing as suffocating the souls in them with material kindness and bodily luxuries," she answered.

"You have been spending a good deal of time of late with Jefferson Edwardes." The manner of the man underwent one of its swift changes, and grew cold and aged. "Perhaps he has been talking to you as he undertook to talk to me last night."

A light as dominant as that in her brother's came to Mary Burton's pupils.

"Perhaps," she replied.

"I am not at all sure that I care for this intimate association with Mr Edwardes," he curtly announced. "I am not enamored of the vaporings of visionary and self-ordained preachers."

"Possibly it is not necessary that you should be," the girl suggested. "Maybe for the purpose of my own friendships it is enough that I like him. I hardly think you would understand his type, Hamilton."

(To be continued.)

SKIN SOFT AS A CHILD'S.

"I was a great sufferer from eczema and salt rheum for years," writes Mr. John W. Nass, Lunenburg, N. S. "Five years ago three boxes of Dr. Chase's Ointment cured me and the old trouble never returned. My skin is as soft as a child's now, and I shall always say a good word for this Ointment."

Naga Worship.

The hooded cobra, or Naga, still has his devotees in Bombay city, and from Kashmir to Nepal in the Deccan and Southern India, and on the West Coast in particular, this curious veneration of snake gods survives, says The Times of India. An interesting account of the worship is given in an annual report of the Archæological Department. The usual form of Naga worship is the vow taken by childless wives to install a snake stone if they are blessed with offspring. Closely allied with this idea is the worship of trees, and pipal and margosa trees planted together—"married," as the saying goes—come in for a share of the devotion paid to the snake stones set up in their shade. It is believed says this account, that women will bear children if they walk round the married trees one hundred and eight times every day for forty-five days consecutively. Unfortunately no authentic case is cited of the efficacy of this prescription, but the offerings brought in gratitude by women to the shrines may be taken as favorable evidence.

What Might Have Been.

Rosemary—Isn't it wonderful how prolific some of the old novelists were when it is taken into consideration that they had to do all their composition with pen and ink?

Thornton—Yes; I shudder to think of what they might have turned out if they could have had the advantage of typewriters.—London Answers.

N.P. SOAP

N.P. Soap surely gets out the dirt without injuring delicate fabrics. Best for the laundry; best for all household purposes

N.P. SOAP

As a matter of thrift you should buy the big bar soap. It costs only 15 cents at all dealers. Buy it! Try it!

N.P. SOAP

TELEPHONE 790
WHEN YOU WANT TO TUNE
Piano or Organ Tuned
ALL WORK GUARANTEED
W. E. Cunningham, 563 Weller St.

No More Corns

CURE GUARANTEED

Never known to fail; acts without pain in 24 hours. Is soothing, healing, takes the sting right out. No remedy so quick, safe and sure as Putnam's Painless Corn Extractor. Sold everywhere 25c per bottle.

THE TRANSCONTINENTAL

NEW ROUTE TO WESTERN CANADA

LV. TORONTO 10.45 P. M. TUESDAY, THURSDAY AND SATURDAY
AR. WINNIPEG 4.30 P. M. THURSDAY, SATURDAY AND MONDAY

CONNECTING AT WINNIPEG FOR ALL WESTERN CANADA AND PACIFIC COAST POINTS

Time Table and all information from any Grand Trunk, Canadian Government Railways, or T. & N. O. Railway Agent.

The MODEL SHOE SHOP

Is noted for QUICK as well as SATISFACTORY Shoe Repairing. My new Electric Finishing and Polishing Machine does better work and in quicker time. Come in and see it running by electricity.

Goodyear Rubber Heels to keep you from slipping—the best wearing heels to be had.

Fashionable Shoes Made to Measure in a First-Class Manner. Cripples' Shoes a Specialty

M. VENERANDA
Practical Shoemaker and Repairer
SIMCOE STREET
WEST OF KINGAN'S HARDWARE

The three words that tell the whole story of a perfect cup of coffee, from plantation to breakfast table——— "SEAL BRAND" COFFEE.

In ¼, 1 and 2 pound tins. Whole-ground, pulverized—also fine ground for Percolators. Never sold in bulk.

CHASE & SANBORN, MONTREAL.

Too Ingenious.—A young man, who had acquired the art of ventriloquism went to stay with his widowed mother a few days after a parrot in a cage had been presented to her. The mother and son spent many tedious hours trying to teach the parrot to talk. At length they gave it up in despair. Then a happy idea occurred to the son. Using his ventriloquial powers, which his mother did not know he possessed, he made it appear that the bird had really begun to talk, and the old lady was very much disappointed when, upon her son leaving her, the bird relapsed into its obstinate silence. Some months later the son paid her another visit, and at once began to carry on a conversation with the parrot. Noticing his mother's look of consternation, he inquired what was the matter. "Why," she said, "the parrot died while you were away, and I had it stuffed and put back in the cage."

The Right Breed.

A British sentry had considerable trouble with a batch of German prisoners who behaved in a high-handed and insolent manner. On being reprimanded one of the latter, drawing himself to his full height, exclaimed—"Don't you know I vos a Pomeranian?"

"It disna matter if ye were a Newfoundland," was "Tommy's" answer, "ye've got tae gie in tae the British

Best Nerve Specialist In England Was Consulted

But Nervous System Failed to Respond to Treatment Prescribed

Nervous disorders frequently result from injury to the nerves in accidents or because of the shock to the system.

The writer of this letter was injured in a mix-up with some colts, remained unconscious for three weeks, and in spite of continued treatment in hospital could not obtain restoration of the internal nerves which control the action of the digestive and other vital organs. He travelled to Europe and consulted England's greatest nerve specialist. Relief was only temporary, in spite of many treatments used.

His letter gives the facts briefly and tells how he was finally cured by using Dr. Chase's Nerve Food. Can you imagine any more severe test of this great nerve restorative?

Mr. Henry F. Venn, Cefn Ranch Malakwa, B. C., writes: "Dr. Chase's Nerve Food has restored my nervous system and given me new health. Having met with a severe accident seven years ago, from which I was unconscious and which left my nerves in a very sore plight, I was treated by doctors galore and consulted one of the greatest nerve specialists in England, but nothing seemed to do me much good. Hypophosphites and, in fact, all and every kind of nerve mixture in almost every form was used, but never with more than temporary benefit.

"But Dr. Chase's Nerve Food has acted very differently, for it has built up my nervous system until I feel like my old self again. If this medicine will do for others what it has done for me, I shall not regret having written this letter. I have recommended the Nerve Food personally to many, and shall always esteem its great restorative value."

Dr. Chase's Nerve Food, 50 cents a box, all dealers, or Edmanson, Bates & Co., Ltd., Toronto.

FOR SALE

LOTS

On The Late Senator Cox Homestead

Beautifully Situated

Easy Terms of Payment

Apply—437 GEORGE ST.

Good Results

Only can come from having your PROPERTY INSURED AGAINST LOSS BY FIRE in the Most Reliable Companies.

Settlement of Losses, to which we give Personal attention are

PROMPT AND LIBERAL

You will find in our office the Strongest of the British, American and Canadian companies doing business in Canada.

Davis-Thompson Co., Limited
INSURANCE & GENERAL AGENCY
428 GEORGE STREET Phone 40

MONEY TO LOAN.

GORDON & WIDDIFIELD, Barristers, Solicitors, Notaries, Solicitors for the City of Peterborough.

MEDICAL.

DR. BUCHANAN, F.R.C.S., Edin., M.R.C., Eng., L.R.C.P. London. Eye, Ear, Nose and Throat Specialist. Hours 9-11 a.m., 2-4 p.m., 7-8 p.m. 'Phone 619. Office: Corner of Water and Murray streets.

DR. E. E. HARVEY, Silver Medalist University of Toronto. Special attention to diseases of women and children. Office hours: 1-30 to 5 p.m., 7-8 p.m. 'Phone 222. Office 212 Brock Street.

DR. C. P. W. ROSS, Ex-House Surgeon, Grace Hospital, Toronto. Residence:—Keene, Ont. 6mos-40

BARRISTERS AND SOLICITORS

GORDON & WIDDIFIELD, Barristers, Solicitors, Notaries, Solicitors for the City of Peterborough.

BENNETT & GOODWILL—Barristers, Solicitors, etc. No. 375 Water Street, Peterborough. Telephone No. 191. J. W. Bennett; E. L. Goodwill.

REDDY & BURNHAM—Barristers, Solicitors, Notaries Money to Loan Office 440 Water Street, corner Water and Brock.

Robert Reddy, K.C., J. H. Burnham, M.P.

G. W. HATTON, County Crown Attorney, Barrister, Solicitor. Trust Funds to loan at lowest current rates of interest on easy terms of repayment.

J. R. CORKERY, Barrister, Solicitor, etc., Commerce Building. Money to loan at lowest rates of interest.

PECK, KERR & McELDERRY—Barristers, Solicitors and Notaries. Office 415 Water Street, Peterborough. Money to Loan at lowest current rates of interest on easy terms of repayment. E. A. Peck, F. D. Kerr, V. J. McElderry

D. O'CONNELL—Barrister, Solicitor and Notary, Hunter street, two doors west of the Post Office. Daniel O'Connell.

DUMBLE & JOHNSTON—Barristers, Solicitors, etc. Office over Toronto Savings and Loan Company, 437 George street. D. W. Dumble, K.C. W. F. Johnston.

A. E. DIXON—Barrister, Solicitor, etc. Offices Corner Hunter and George Sts. Entrance next Madill's Drug Store.

HALL & HALL, Barristers, Solicitors and Notaries Public, Hunter St., Peterborough. Next to St. John's Church. Money to loan at lowest rates of interest. E. H. D. Hall Basil D. Hall

MOORE & WEARING, Barristers and Solicitors, 132½ Hunter Street (entrance first hallway west of post office.) Money to loan at lowest rates. W. H. Moore, K.C., Joseph Wearing, M.A.

O. A. LANGLEY—Barrister, Solicitor, Notary Public, etc. County Magistrate. Office, Peterborough, Ont., 436 George St. 'Phone 114; Lakefield, Ont., (afternoons.) 'Phones, Office 21; Residence 56.

R. R. HALL—Barrister, Solicitor, etc., Peterborough, Ont. Office, corner Hunter and Water streets over Canadian Bank of Commerce. Successors to Hall Madd & Davidson. Trust funds to loan on easy terms of payment.

ARCHITECTS

W. BLACKWELL, Architect and Civil Engineer. Plans and estimates made for churches, public buildings and dwelling houses. Buildings heating and plumbing a specialty. Office, 372 Water Street Peterborough.

OSTEOPATHY

DR. BRUCE E. MARSHALL—Osteopathic Physician. Office: 248 Hunter Street. Hours 9 to 11 a.m., 3 to 4 p.m., 7 to 8 p.m. 'Phone 116.

DR. ASA G. WALMSLEY—Osteopathic Physician. Office in Sun Life Building, Corner of Hunter and Water streets. Entrance, 134 Hunter street. 'Phones: Office, 649; Residence, 469. Office hours, 9 to 12 a.m., 2 to 4 p.m. Evenings by appointment.

DR. MARY E. DAVIDSON, Osteopathic Physician. Office—No. 6 over Bank of Commerce. Entrance on Hunter or Water streets. Hours: 10 to 12, and 2 to 4. Evenings by appointment. 'Phone 1498.

EDWIN ELCOME
— TAXIDERMIST —

HEADS, ANIMALS, BIRDS, FISH, ETC. mounted artistically and permanently

HEADS OF MOOSE, CARIBOU AND DEER,

Heads, Animals, Birds, Fish, Artificial Eyes, Taxidermists Supplies, Skull and Flower Guide Books for sale

692 HARVEY STREET
PETERBOROUGH ONTARIO

Toronto Savings & Loan Comp'y

Notice is hereby given that a Quarterly Dividend of Two and One-half per cent, being at the rate of Ten per cent per annum for the (3) three months ending 31st December 1916 has been declared upon the capital stock of this Institution and the same will be payable at the offices of the Company in this City on and after the 2nd January, 1917

The transfer books will be closed from the 15th to the 31st December, both days inclusive.

By order of the Board

W. G. MORROW
Managing Director

Peterboro, Dec. 1st., 1916

LUMBER

BUILDERS' MATERIALS of all kinds. Shingles, Scantlings, Joist and Bill Stuff, Mouldings, Casings, Base and all kinds of Finish. Boxes and Box Shooks, Slabs and Mill Wood

Alf. McDonald Estate
POINT ST. CHARLES MILL

OUR DAILY SHORT STORY

A Sacrifice

A Girl Made It Without Being Known

By ETHEL HOLMES

Wilbur Burnes as a scholar was not a success. Two afternoons out of five he was sure to be kept after school for not knowing his lessons. His teachers were all the more severe with him because they knew that if he would study he might be one of the best scholars in his class.

The reason Wilbur did not study was that he possessed a gift for that which absorbed his attention from his lessons. If his teachers had examined his books instead of examining him at the end of the term they would have learned the secret of his failure. The fly-leaves and margins were covered with little sketches. If Wilbur fancied a particular subject there were few pictures on the book; if he disliked it there were many. He detested grammar, and the book from which he studied this subject was literally covered with sketches of faces and figures.

When it was finally proved that no one could beat what is commonly called education into young Burnes and his predilection for art became noticeable he was advised to go to an art school and learn to illustrate books. This was easier said than done, for his mother was a widow, and there was no money in the family to pay his tuition. However, he was so captivated with the idea of being an artist that he concentrated his efforts upon making a sum by hard work and saving to put him through the school. This was the only period in Wilbur Burnes' life in which he ever worked, for, though he afterward spent much time at his easel, he could not be said to be at work. Indeed, so absorbed was he that he often found it difficult to drop his brushes.

In the same town where Wilbur went to school was a girl, Miriam Trask, who seemed to understand him and had a great admiration for him. When he was spoken of as a dunce she would retort that the day would come when those who decried him would be glad to stand in his shoes. When Wilbur was graduated from the art school she wrote him asking if there was not some way by which she might earn money connected with his profession in the city. He replied that the only way he knew of was by being a model. Miriam possessed a beautiful neck—indeed, this feature was considered artistically perfect—and Wilbur suggested that she might earn something by permitting artists to use it for a model, explaining to her that no one person combines perfection in the different parts of the body and artists are obliged to get a hand, a foot, a bust, from different persons.

Miriam concluded to go to the city, and Wilbur soon succeeded in securing her engagements sufficient to give her a bare living. She did not associate with other models, nor did she enter socially into that bohemian life for which artists and those associated with them are famous.

One reason especially that she kept to herself had induced Miriam to go to the city. She was absorbed in Wilbur Burnes and wished to be near him. Wilbur and she had been chums as boy and girl, but when he went to the art school he was so absorbed in his profession that she passed out of his mind. On her arrival in the city this intimacy was renewed. Wilbur could not paint at night and found her companionship just what he wanted. He had little taste for bohemian life and spent many of his evenings with her.

Beauty is one thing, and its recognition is another. There are artists who have produced beautiful things that they have kept unsold for years and then have parted with them for a song, while an ordinary picture or statue or story or poem may secure an enormous fictitious value. Wilbur Burnes modeled in clay, and his works were highly commended by those who knew their value; but, being forced to rely on their intrinsic value, they remained unsold.

Miriam recognized the merit of his productions and wondered why others did not recognise it as well as she. The fact that he could produce such beautiful things heightened her interest in him, and the fact that he could not sell them strengthened her love for him. This sympathy, which was very apparent to Wilbur, drew him toward the girl who gave it, and, while a man's love is not so deep as a woman's, it was generally understood that only the want of the wherewithal to build a home prevented the couple from marrying.

Wilbur Burnes, having a studio full of his art productions that he could not sell, became discouraged. He had so far concentrated his attention upon ordinary work to make money enough to pay his way through the art school, and he began to think that he must drop what he considered a pleasure and take up what was real work in order to avoid starvation. He was really hungry, sometimes not having the wherewithal to pay for a meal. Miriam was making a modest living not only by sitting to have her neck and head copied, but by her needle, and would have been glad to relieve whatever of his wants she might be able to do, but whenever he was hungriest he kept away from her.

One day he told her that he was thinking of giving up art and seeking a position in commercial life. Miriam was aghast at such a proposition and endeavored to prevent its adoption. She told him that he would never permanently succeed in business; that as soon as he had satisfied his immediate wants he would begin to pine for his profession, thus interfering with his business career, but if he would stick to his artistic work he would ultimately succeed.

Whether it was discouragement or the want of proper food, Burnes fell ill. Between a male chum and Miriam he was cared for. Miriam produced the funds that were absolutely necessary, and Wilbur was induced to accept them through Miriam's colleague. He could not bring himself to accept money from a girl, but would take it as a loan from a man. In this way he was kept from being turned out of his room, and what little food he could take was provided.

But his illness lasted too long for Miriam's slender purse. The day came when she was obliged to go hungry and run behind in her rent. This she kept from Wilbur. What she feared was that she would not be able to provide his necessaries.

There was another matter that perplexed Miriam. Even if she were able to provide the needful she knew that if Wilbur became aware of what she was doing he would prevent her doing any more for him on account of pride and an unwillingness that she should deprive herself on his account. Therefore she had managed to persuade him that the sums expended were from his own funds. But this could not go on indefinitely, and there was need for far greater expenditures than before.

One day Wilbur's male chum, Cunningham, brought him a number of articles that had been greatly needed, besides certain delicacies. He told Wilbur that an aunt of his had died and left him a legacy. Wilbur, as usual, protested against the obligation he was incurring, but Cunningham declared that he would soon be up and could make it good if he saw fit, though the lender might some day become the debtor.

But the principal result of this legacy from Cunningham's aunt was a doctor, who was called in and under whose care Burnes began to improve. Miriam continued to nurse him, and, though he was ignorant of the pecuniary obligation he was under to her, he was drawn still closer to her by these attentions. A professional engagement prevented her being with him till after 11 o'clock in the morning, but by noon she was preparing his luncheon. Indeed, all his meals were prepared by her.

Within a few weeks after Cunningham received his legacy Burnes was on his feet again. Miriam had exacted a promise from him that when he got well he would resume his artistic occupation, and after being kept from it for so long an interval he renewed his efforts with a keener interest. Before his illness he had submitted a design for a statuary group to be placed on the facade of a public building. The award had been given by political influence, but while Burnes was on his back a protest had been made by parties interested, and a committee of artists was appointed to select the best intrinsic design. Burnes' group had been selected, and he was to be paid a handsome sum for it.

About this time a painting of St. Cecilia, something after the style of Raphael, was exhibited, which attracted especial attention among lovers of the higher grades of art. Certain artists who were intimate with the producer of the picture, not recognizing the model as that of any of those obtainable and, noticing its remarkable Madonna-like expression, endeavored to learn who had posed for the picture. But the artist refused to satisfy them. Since only he and the model herself knew of her identity the secret never got out. One artist, who was sadly in need of a model for a Madonna, probed the matter so far as to learn that the painter of "St. Cecilia" had given a check for $1,000 to a man named Cunningham. The investigator asked Cunningham what the thousand dollars he got from the artist was for, and he replied that an aunt had died and left him a legacy and that it had been paid through the artist. But the identity of the model for "St. Cecilia" was never discovered.

The selection of Wilbur Burnes' group as the design for the public building made his fortune. Within a week after the fact was announced that he was the successful candidate for the order all the choice bits that had been accumulating in his studio for years were removed by purchasers. There was one statuette that was not sold. It was given to Miriam.

The first thing that Wilbur Burnes did after receiving pay for his successful competition was to reimburse Cunningham for his expenditures while Burnes was ill. Cunningham proposed to turn the amount over to Miriam, but she declined to receive it, and it was given to a charitable fund for destitute artists.

The second occurrence of moment after Burnes' pecuniary good fortune was his marriage with Miriam. On their wedding day Miriam, in the fullness of her love, told Wilbur the whole story of her conspiracy with Cunningham and his great kindness and of how the expenses of his illness had brought her almost to her last cent and despair when by a lucky chance she engaged to pose as St. Cecilia, and earned enough to tide them over all their troubles to health and happiness and prosperity.

And Wilbur ever after called her his "little saint."

Good Old Home-Made Family Cough Remedy

Much Better than the Ready-Made Kind—Easily and Cheaply Prepared.

If you combined the curative properties of every known "ready-made" cough remedy, you would hardly have in them all the curative power that lies in this simple "home-made" cough syrup which takes only a few minutes to prepare.

Get from any druggist 2½ ounces of Pinex (50 cents worth), pour it into a 16-oz. bottle and fill the bottle with plain granulated sugar syrup. The total cost is about 54 cents and gives you 16 ounces of really better cough syrup than you could buy ready-made for $2.50. Tastes pleasant and never spoils.

This Pinex and sugar syrup preparation gets right at the cause of a cough and gives almost immediate relief. It loosens the phlegm, stops the nasty throat tickle and heals the sore, irritated membranes that line the throat, chest and bronchial tubes, so gently and easily that it is really astonishing. A day's use will usually overcome the ordinary cough and for bronchitis, croup, whooping cough and bronchial asthma, there is nothing better.

Pinex is a most valuable concentrated compound of genuine Norway pine extract, combined with guaiacol and has been used for generations to break up severe coughs.

To avoid disappointment, be sure to ask your druggist for "2½ ounces of Pinex" with full directions, and don't accept anything else. A guarantee of satisfaction or money promptly refunded, goes with this preparation. The Pinex Co., Toronto, Ont.

Constipation Vanishes Forever

Prompt Relief---Permanent Cure

CARTER'S LITTLE LIVER PILLS never fail. Purely vegetable—act surely but gently on the liver. Stop after dinner distress—cure indigestion—improve the complexion—brighten the eyes. Small Pill, Small Dose, Small Price

Genuine must bear Signature

Carter's Little Liver Pills

CHINA PAINTING

Mrs. Langley McCarthy

Teaches Hough's New and Beautiful Art Work in China Painting

Ingersoll Watches

That Show the Time in the Dark from $1.25 up.

Automobile and Cycle Skates Hockey Sticks and Supplies Jack Extras

MILLARD'S BICYCLE SHOP
Hunter St., near Aylmer

DR. DeVAN'S FRENCH PILLS A reliable Regulating Pill for Women. $5 a box or three for $10. Sold at all Drug Stores, or mailed to any address on receipt of price. THE SCOBELL DRUG CO., St. Catharines, Ontario.

PHOSPHONOL FOR MEN. Restores Vim and Vitality; for Nerve and Brain; increases "Energy Matter"; a Tonic—will build you up, $5 a box, or two for $9, at drug stores, or by mail on receipt of price. THE SCOBELL DRUG CO., St. Catharines, Ontario.

Sold by all drug stores.

TWO LONG YEARS HE SUFFERED

"Fruit-a-tives" Made Him Feel As If Walking On Air

OSHAWA, ONT., Nov. 28th, 1914.

"For over two years, I was troubled with Constipation, Drowsiness, Lack of Appetite and Headaches. One day I saw your sign which read "Fruit-a-tives make you feel like walking on air." This appealed to me, so I decided to try a box. In a very short time, I began to feel better, and now I feel fine. I have a good appetite, relish everything I eat, and the Headaches are gone entirely. I recommend this pleasant fruit medicine to all my friends".

DAN McLEAN.

50c. a box, 6 for $2.50, trial size, 25c. At all dealers or sent postpaid by Fruit-a-tives Limited, Ottawa.

BAD COLD IN THE CHEST.

"I am happy to tell you that I used Dr. Chase's Syrup of Linseed and Turpentine, and was promptly cured of a very bad cold in the chest." writes Mrs. Josephine Gauthier, Dover South, Ont. You can depend on Dr. Chase's Syrup of Linseed and Turpentine to relieve and cure all inflammations and irritations of the throat and bronchial tubes.

Posted on Autographs.

During an interval in London W. C. Scully, so he tells in "Further Reminiscences of a South African Pioneer," had rooms in Pimlico with a landlady of snobbish tendencies, who made a cult of "superior persons." He tells this amusing experience:

"I had been for a short visit to Rudyard Kipling at Rottingdean and had brought back a bunch of roses from his garden. Seeing that Mrs. Wand was so proud of her celebrities, I thought I would let her know that I, too, knew a celebrity, so when she came to set the breakfast table next morning I pointed to the flowers and said:

"'There, Mrs. Wand, you would never guess where these roses came from. They came from the garden of the great Mr. Kipling.'

"'Mr. Kipling? 'Oo's 'e?'

"'Good gracious!' I exclaimed. 'Surely you know who Mr. Kipling is. Why, his autograph is worth a guinea!'

"Mrs. Wand left the room without replying. She returned a few minutes later with a look of skepticism on her face and, as she put down the toast rack, remarked:

"'Well, 'e ought to be good lookin' at that.'"

Monument to a Quack.

"That the men who make great medical discoveries and who perform wonderful surgical operations are honored in life and that imposing monuments to their memory are reared when they have passed away seems only fitting," says a writer in the Hamburg Fremdenblatt, "but that a quack whose name as such has for generations been known in Germany should be thus honored is remarkable. There are not many children in Germany who do not know the song which begins thus:

"I am the Dr. Eisenbart.
Zwillewillewillkomossa!
I cure the people by my art.
Zwillewillewillkomossa!
The blind I treat so that they walk,
And the lame I teach to talk.
Zwillewillewillkam—heirassa,
Zwillewillewillkon—bom!

"A stately monument showing Dr. Eisenbart extracting a tooth from a writhing boy, the work of Professor Eberlein, has been erected at Hannoversch-Munden, where the 'wonder doctor' was born."

New X-Ray.

The British Medical Journal announces that a remarkable scientific discovery is now on trial at one of the casualty clearings stations in France. It takes up the task of producing pictures of structures, hidden far below the surface of the body just at the point where X-ray photography ceases to perform it effectively. It is possible in broad daylight to obtain detailed pictures of any organ or body, brain, liver, kidney, and spleen, and to see at a glance by what gross lesions they are affected. In one case a concretion in the appendix was seen clearly.

The miracle is achieved by utilizing the currents of electricity which the body is believed to generate. Two electrodes, each ending in a perforated zinc plate or zinc wire screen, are employed. These are connected with batteries, but are not placed in contact with the patient's body. One screen stands on a pedestal in a vertical position, the other is hung horizontally at right angles to it. The patient is placed with the part to be examined quite close to the first screen and directly under, but at a distance from the second. The current from the patient's own organs is made to operate a sensitive needle, which works upon a revolving cylinder carrying a waxed paper. The so-called hammer needle moves across the cylinder, tapping out little holes in the wax, and when later the wax is held up to the light a diagram is seen which "precisely resembles the outline of the living tissues, lying vertically below the second screen." This diagram can be converted into an ordinary photograph by processes familiar to the applied arts. The inventor is James Shearer, a Scotchman, aged 20, a sergeant in the medical corps.

MOTHER'S REMEDY FOR BRUISES

Children's Bumps, Sprains and Minor Hurts Quickly Relieved by Sloan's Liniment

It is the very nature of children to hurt themselves—to come crying to mother with little fingers bruised, with heads bumped, with sprained ankles and wrists.

They are painful hurts, too. But their pain and sting can't survive the gentle use of this liniment. A single application of Sloan's Liniment and—the little fellow's bravely kept back tears give way to smiles. His hurt is relieved.

In every home where there are children a bottle of Sloan's Liniment is a necessity.

Aching muscles, rheumatism, lumbago, stiff neck, backache, chilblains, etc., can be effectively relieved with Sloan's Liniment. Cleaner than mussy ointments or plasters.

Sloan's Liniment can be obtained at all drug stores. 25c., 50c. and $1.00.

Sloan's Liniment KILLS PAIN

HOW TO KEEP WELL

BY JOHN W. S. McCULLOUGH, M.D., D.P.H., CHIEF OFFICER OF THE PROVINCIAL BOARD OF HEALTH.

JEWELS—GOOD TEETH.

ONLY THE RICH can adorn themselves with rare and costly jewels, but the finest, most useful, and most attractive of all jewels—good teeth—are within the reach of everyone. Good teeth are not only a factor of personal adornment, but their value is much greater as a means of protection against disease.

Why does one never see a poor, grouchy dyspeptic with a set of good teeth? Poor, broken-down teeth cannot properly masticate food. If the food is not properly chewed the stomach has too great a burden placed upon it, the digestion is imperfect, the entire system becomes disarranged, and the person becomes nervous, irritable, and dyspeptic.

But this is not all. The ragged roots and the cavities in teeth harbor putrefying food and germs which slowly but surely poison the body, causing Tonsilitis, Rheumatism, and Heart Disease.

About 5t per cent. of school children have defective teeth. If a child has an aching tooth, or a painful gumboil do you think it possible that he can learn his lessons or progress in school as he should? Destructive changes in teeth start in early life, long before the child reaches an age where he can realise the value of good teeth.

The responsibility for good teeth is thus placed upon the parent. So the ignorant or careless parent is to blame for this 50 per cent. of children who are hampered physically and mentally because of poor teeth.

Parents must learn the value of good teeth. If they have neglected their own teeth or if their teeth have suffered from their parents neglect, should they not try and do better by their own children? Let the parents realize that a few dollars paid to the dentist early in life will purchase for their children the priceless jewels and ensure their children's health.

Where parents fail in their duty to their children the municipality, the school, the public health authorities, and the state should step in and assume the responsibility! The children are our future citizens, and upon their individual health and efficiency depends the welfare of the nation.

Why are the Greeks degenerated from the intellectual, athletic, and warlike nation of early history, to the miserable people of the present day? Disease such as malaria is said by competent authority to be the cause.

At no former period in the history of the British nation was there greater need of ensuring the mental and physical efficiency of our people. Nothing is of greater importance in this regard than the care of Nature's jewels.

School teachers, school medical inspectors, and school nurses can and do exercise an invaluable good in discovering defects in children's teeth. School dentists can do the rest.

The work of preserving children's teeth should be promoted as follows:

(1) Locate children with defective teeth.
(2) Notify careless and indifferent parents of existing trouble.
(3) Provide dental attention for neglected children.

These lines are not directed so much to the public health departments of well-managed cities, but more particularly to the authorities of towns and rural communities where knowledge of such matters may not be so well disseminated.

Parent and teacher who read this column, will you do your duty?

The early care of the teeth is one of the greatest of public health problems.

Every child should be taught to use a tooth brush in a proper manner. The brush should not be too stiff nor too large. The teeth should be brushed not across their surfaces but up and down, so as to remove substances between the teeth. Any food particle that sticks between the teeth and cannot be reached by the fibres of the brush, may be removed by a thread of silk run between the teeth. The brush should be used at least twice a day: on rising in the morning and on retiring at night. The retention of bits of food between the teeth during the night is most injurious to the teeth. The kind of tooth paste used does not matter. The chief fault with pastes of all kinds is that they are altogether too expensive. A little powdered borax is a cheap and simple substance to use for cleansing the teeth. Do not allow tartar to accumulate on the teeth. It not only promotes decay but is apt, if neglected, to cause destruction of the teeth from pyorrhoea. By all means see a first-class dentist about every six months. It is cheaper and better to prevent decay of the teeth than to cure the results of neglect.

Come and See the Holiday Display of

PRIME BEEF

AND OTHER CHOICE MEATS

TURKEYS, GEESE & CHICKENS AT

JOPLING'S

Ye Old Time Beef served up to the Kings and Barons of Old England has nothing to boast of compared with the Prime Quality we have prepared for the Holidays.

What we say about our Beef is true about everything else in the meat line which we display in abundance on our Shambles, Counters and Refrigerators.

We will convince you that ours is the leading Market in the City and that we live up to our motto—Good Goods, Good Prices and Prompt Delivery. Order early and save the work on Saturday Night

JOPLING & SON, 340 George Street

Happy New Year To All - - Phone 275

EXAMINER PATTERN SERVICE

CHILD'S DRESS.

By Anabel Worthington.

A number of the little beauty dresses for a "Dotty Dimples" or for the kinder garten graduate. All the models for them are alike in their simplicity but different in detail, so that each little miss may have a style all her own.

The little frock pictured is in one piece from the shoulder to lower edge, and so, easy to make, to adjust and to remove features of interest to the home dressmaker. The sleeves are cut comfortably full and long, cuffed with contrasting goods, the slip of the short sleeve is not cut, so use it if you prefer. The collar finishing the "V" neck is also of contrasting goods—it may outline a shield to be worn on winter days. At a lowered waistline a belt draws in the fulness of the skirt section.

Although contrasting goods plentifully trims this type of dress one may have smocking, or embroider the collar and cuffs with scalloping, or in other ways make such practical little frock an adorable one. Any one can put it together by following the pattern guide.

8 requires 2⅞ yards of 36 inch material with ½ yard 36 inch contrasting goods.

The dress pattern, No. 8043, cuts in sizes 4 to 10 years. To make in size ... To obtain the pattern send ... to the office of this publication.

When ordering remember to give your name and address as well as the number and size of pattern required, and age of a child.

Price 15 cents, or 2 for 25 cents.

Address—The Examiner Pattern Service, The Examiner, Peterborough.

THIS IS A FACT!

Dr. Banta's Kidney and Rheumatic Pills

JUST TRY THEM

Will Cure Lame Back, Rheumatism & Kidney Trouble.

☞3 very Prevalent, Troublesome and Dangerous Diseases.

If you suffer from any one of three troubles, get a box and give them a FAIR TRIAL—and you will be astonished at the improvement that will follow.

——RECOMMENDED AND SOLD AT——

Lynch's Drug Store

168 Hunter Street - Peterborough

FOR SPORTING NEWS READ THE EXAMINER

Fortifications Of Bucharest

Bucharest, the Capital of Roumania, captured by the Germans has a population of about 300,000 and covers, including the outlying parts, about 20 square miles. It lies in a hollow, traversed from the north-west to the south-east by the River Dimbovitsa, and is built mainly on the left bank. A range of low hills affords shelter on the west and south-s ... ns on every other side there are drained through still unhealthy marsh es, stretching away to meet the Walla chian plains.

The city is picturesque through its multitude of gardens, turrets and metal-plated or gilded cupolas of many churches. In the older districts, one-storied antique houses, the brightly colored native dress and pedlars with their doleful street cries render Bucharest unlike any other western Capital. Yet Bucharest is modern.

PLAGUES WERE PREVALENT

Around 1738, 1793 and 1813 plagues were common and in the latter year 70,000 inhabitants died in six weeks. Since 1906 conditions have been improved and where buildings were once composed mostly of wood, through the prevalence of earthquakes, to-day the principal ones are of stone.

Bucharest has been called the "Paris of the East" through supposed social resemblance and its many boulevards and avenues. The main thoroughfares skirt the left bank of the river while the Elisabeth Boulevard and the Calea Victorei or the "Avenue of Victory" which commemorates the Rumanian victory of 1877 radiate east and north. Drives lead to the Banasa race course where autumn and spring meets are held. The city has also botanical and zoological gardens.

THE MANY CHURCHES.

Churches in the city are many but the Greek orthodox churches are small, built of brick and usually surrounded by two or three towers. The main place of worship is the Cathedral or Metropolitan church, which has four entrances and is situated on a high ground overlooking all Bucharest and the Carpathians. Protestants, Armenians and Lipovans worship in their own churches while the Jews have several synagogues. The Roman Catholics though large in number, possess only three churches.

Bucharest is a great educational centre. Besides the ordinary ecclesiastical seminaries, lyceums, gymnasia and elementary schools it possesses schools of commerce, science and art institutes and training colleges for engineers and veterinary surgeons while the university, founded in 1864, has faculties of theology, philosophy, literature, law, science, medicine and pharmacy. Students pay no fees for board.

The national library contains many precious Oriental documents, and with the meeting-hall of the Rumanian senate, is included in the university buildings, which, with the Athenaeum, used for literary conferences and music, and the central girls' school, are regarded as the best example of modern Rumanian architecture. There are also other libraries. There are two theatres, the National and the Lyric, the latter being mainly patronized by foreign players.

SOCIAL PROGRESS.

Socially, the progress of Bucharest has been remarkable, its political, literary and scientific circles being on a level with those of most European capitals. It is the winter residence of the royal family, the meeting place of parliament and the seat of an appeal court, of the supreme court, of the ministries, of the National Bank, the Bank of Roumania and other lesser credit establishments. Railway lines give access to all parts while the telephone system is internally complete and also connects with outside places.

CENTRE OF INDUSTRY.

Bucharest has a large transit trade in petroleum timber and agricultural produce, above all, wheat and maize. Industries include petroleum refining, extraction of vegetables oils, cabinet making, brandy distilling, tanning, manufacture of machinery, wire nails, metalware, cement, soap, starch, paper, leather goods, glucose, army supplies, preserved meats and vegetables, etc., etc. The mercantile community is large, and is composed of Austrians, French, Germans, Greeks and Swiss who form exclusive colonies.

FIRST CLASS FORTRESS.

Bucharest is the headquarters of the II army corps, and is a fortress of the first rank. The fortifications were constructed in 1885-1886 on a project drafted by the Belgian engineer, General Brialmont, 1883. The mean distance of the forts from the city is four miles, and the perimeter of the defences is about 40 miles, this perimeter being defended by 36 armoured forts and batteries. There are barracks for over 30,000 cavalry and infantry, an arsenal, a military hospital, and three military academies.

A skit on "The Conscientious Objector":—The Germans are supposed to have landed at L——s on the Fife coast, and to have captured the village worthy, Jock M'Phee, who had not the sense to make himself scarce. Herr Lieutenant:—"Vot is it dot der brisoner calls himself?" Orderly:—"Vun conscientious objector." H. L.—"Und vot is dot?" Orderly—"He no vlay nor pe slain." H. L.—"Himmel! Go und ask him how he vould like to die, by der bullet, zord, or rope." Orderly—(dragging Jock into the room) —"He say dot if he must die he vould like to pe poisoned mit a pottle of Scotch visky." H. L.—"You pe von dom clever rascal Shock Macafee. (To Orderly)—"Gif him vun good refresher of rum, and see that he goes out of der town.—J. B. F., in the Glasgow Herald.

ROMANCE OF QUININE.

The Drug That Built Up the British Empire.

Nearly three hundred years ago the Countess Chenonta, the young and beautiful wife of the Spanish Viceroy of Peru lay at death's door of a fever.

After the regular doctors had done their best—and worst—by cupping, bleeding and so forth—she was cured by a bitter decoction of the bark of a tree given her by an Indian servant.

She took some of the bark to Spain. Gradually the use of it as a medicine spread throughout Europe and Linnaeus, the great Swedish botanist, named the tree from which it came, Cinchona, in her honor.

The tree is still so called, but the drug prepared from the bark is now known as quinine, from the old Peruvian name, "quina quina," which means "bark of bark."

It is the literal truth that this marvellous medicine built up the British Empire. Quinine won us India, because without its aid in conquering fevers, British troops could not have lived and fought there.

Still more did it win us Africa. There are vast districts in the heart of that continent where even now no white man dare venture without taking with him a plentiful supply of the precious drug. Quinine was almost food and drink to Kitchener's army on the toilsome march to Khartoum. Without it the Sudan could not have been won to civilization.

The reason, of course, is that malarial and other fevers, the curse of most tropical countries, are spread by mosquitoes, and quinine kills the disease germs that the insects introduce into the blood.

The Man Who Came Back.

All England is singing with the story of Lieut.-Colonel John Ford Elkington—one of the strangest romances of this strange world war. It is the ever-appealing human story of another man who "came back." Pinned on his breast are two of the coveted honors of France—the Military Medal and the Military Cross—but most valued possession of all is a bit of paper which wipes out the errors of the past—a proclamation from the official London Gazette announcing that the King has "graciously approved the reinstatement of John Ford Elkington in the rank of Lieutenant-Colonel; with his previous seniority, in consequence of his gallant conduct while serving in the ranks of the Foreign Legion of the French army." Not only has Colonel Elkington been restored to the army, but he has been reappointed in his old regiment, the Royal Warwickshires, in which his father served before him.

Colonel Elkington's fighting days are ended. His knees are shattered, and he walks heavily upon his sticks.

"They are just 'fragments from France,'" he said of those wounded knees, and smiled in happy reminiscence of all they meant.

"It is wonderful to feel," he added, "that once again I have the confidence of my King and my country."

"Getting the Wind Up."

This is a common phrase at the Front, and is applied to a soldier who develops jumpiness and alarm in circumstances where coolness and resource are valuable above all things. It is believed to have originated in pre-war days when a soldier had to obtain a certain number of points at musketry practice in order to qualify for proficiency pay. To a highly-strung man, who was also but a medium shot, this implied a genuine nervous strain, which was reflected in somewhat erratic shooting. As drowning men will clutch at straws, so would the soldier keep feverishly adjusting the wind-gauge on his rifle, hoping that the inaccuracy of his shots was due to fitful gusts of wind across the range, and that a slight adjustment of the wind-gauge would put things right. This manoeuvre would be observed by "old hands," who would be watching with sympathetic interest the struggles of a comrade "shooting for his pay." And when the manipulation of the wind-gauge displayed extra agitation, they would mutter anxiously, "He's getting the wind up."

Romance of the Cocoa-Nut.

Cocoa-nuts generally grow at the edge of seas or rivers, and many of the nuts as they become ripe fall into the water. The nuts are covered with a thick husk, which has a waterproof covering, so that they will float. As they float, writes a naturalist, the three eyes, which are all at one end of the nut, are always on top. Once in the water Nature goes to work. From one of the eyes there comes a shoot that sends forth broad leaves that act as sails. The wind catches these sails and wafts the cocoa-nut on a journey that may be many miles long. As it sails the other two eyes send out roots, which at first grow among the fibres of the woody husk. In time the cocoa-nut is swept on another shore, perhaps on another island. The roots embed themselves in the soft earth, the sail becomes the trunk, and very shortly a thrifty cocoa-nut palm is growing where none grew before.

Contraband.

An English lady was taken in to supper at a private party a few nights ago by a young Scotsman who had a high estimate of his own mental capacity. They drifted on the subject of the Scot abroad.

"I've often heard," said the lady, "that Scotsmen who leave their country are, generally speaking, much cleverer than those who stay at home."

"Oh, yes," replied the Scot, with an attempt at wit. "You see, the reason is that at every outlet there are persons stationed who examine all who pass, so that, for the honor of the country, no one is allowed to leave who is not able to uphold his own and his country's dignity."

"Oh, then," she said, with a bright smile, "you were smuggled, were you?"

Mrs. Cuthbred—"Is my husband improving in golf?" Caddie—"Well, I should say so. When he started he used to say 'Oh, fudge,' when he missed. Now he can cuss like a man."

EIGHTY AEROPLANES IN ONE BATTLE

(Continued from Page 1)

work of white smoke balls, each one marking a spot where a bursting shell had showered its laden bullets upon the fast travelling Germans.

CLIMBED EAGERLY TO THE FIGHT

Plugging on and out among the exploding shrapnel, the approaching aeroplanes left a trail of these decks and powder puffs in their wake. Up and up, through the danger zone of their own guns, the British aviators climbed eagerly to the fight. The distant hum of the hostile motors could now be heard, mingled with louder, bee-like drone of the English machines and between the scarcely perceptible intervals of the "archies" fire came the staccato notes of the machine guns. The British airmen had opened fire before reaching the level of their adversaries.

Now the British machines began to close in from various directions and the invaders turned suddenly and started for their own lines. Their somewhat precipitate retreat was marked by the same trail of shell-fire as had been their approach. The British aviators pursued, but having in this instance the distinct advantage of height and a diving start for home, the Germans temporarily got away.

This was the first phase of the day's battles in the air—a prelude to the later fighting, when two German machines came crashing to earth in spinning nose-dives.

LIKE FEATHERED WARRIORS.

Aeroplanes are never so much like birds as when they meet in an aerial combat. They dart, dash, circle, turn and swoop like so many feathered warriors and often the battles rage at such high altitudes that the machines become all but invisible. Again there will be a fight among the clouds, when the more daring aviators make startling plunges through the intervening mist to catch their opponents unawares. Always there is great manoeuvring for position, and spectators are filled with wonder at what the modern aeroplane can do, even to excelling the birds in their own element by flying upside down.

Most of the fighting aviators endeavour to "geth on the other fellow's tail." This means a position above and slightly behind the adversary where, one can fire down into him. Others, however, prefer to attack from a position almost directly underneath, thinking they have a steadier firing platform in climbing than in diving.

The latter day machines have such wonderful stability that they can only be brought down by direct hits, killing the pilot or piercing the petrol tank, in which the latter event the aeroplane generally catches fire and falls in a blazing spiral. "Archie" shells often blow aeroplanes out of the line by making many punctures in their wings, but the machines thus damaged generally are brought safely home.

STONEHAM BLEW HIMSELF.

New Yorker Having Made Killing in Panic Passed Some of it on.

A New York despatch says that Charles A. Stoneham, the well-known curb broker in New York, went through the east side Wednesday and Thursday spreading Christmas cheer. It was estimated by his friends that he gave away between $10,000 and $15,000.

With his pockets filled with cash Stoneham began his east side tour at Fourteenth street. He met a man shivering from cold, "I say, my friend, you need an overcoat," said Stoneham. "Come in and have one on me." And so it continued through out the afternoon. Men in need were given money, clothing or shoes. Many little children were bought warm gloves, Stoneham settled the bills for those who were hungry and saw them eat to their fill in restaurants. Going to Jack's restaurant the broker gave cash to a number of his old friends and the old-timers who frequent the place "Jimmy" Keller, once special officer, received $300. A roll of 'greenbacks' was presented to Charlie Davis, an octogenarian.

Stoneham, in recent stock operations is said to have made a fortune. He already was rated as a wealthy man.

Old Gent—"So you want to become by son-in-law?" Youth—"No, I don't; but if I marry your daughter I don't very well see how I can get out of it!"

NOTICE!

The undersigned grocers of the City of Peterborough, have placed our orders for grocery stock, in accord with, and are selling to the public, goods that conform to the regulations as set out by the Pure Food Law of Canada. The following stores will be found satisfactory stores at which to buy:

A. W. PASKINS, 233 Hunter St.
W. J. BYERS, Byersville.
D. B. NICHOLLS, 209 Stewart St.
MITCHELL'S GROCERY, 239 Reid St.
BERT. HUNTER, 235 McDonnel St.
EDGAR PUTTICK, 531 Park St.
JUBY BROS., 242 Charlotte St.
N. ROUTLEY, 392 Brock St.
W. ROUTLEY, Lake and Aylmer Sts.
A. DAVIDSON, 133 Benson Ave.
BERT. HEARD, 239 George St
GOHEEN & MATCHETT, 196 Rubidge St.
DAWSON BROS., 559 George St.
E. DARLING, 521 George St.
E. J. McDONELL, 233 Lake St.
F. LYNCH, 465 Park St.
R. S. GOHEEN, 481 Aylmer St.

ARMY INSPECTION

For the French Government will be held at

The Old Dickson Co. Barn,

LONDON ST., PETERBORO

FRIDAY, DECEMBER 29th.

SATISFACTORY and LIBERAL PRICES WILL BE PAID for all Horses accepted, Grays included. Do not be afraid to bring in your horses as we will guarantee a square deal and FAIR INSPECTION FOR EVARYBODY. Ages 5 to 9 years, weight 1100 to 1500 pounds, from 15.1 to 16.2 hands high and serviceably sound. ☞ CASH PAID for Horses accepted.

GREEN & CRUIKSHANK, Peterborough

Injuries Never Get Appendicitis

TURKEY-WEEK

Prizes Will Be Given Daily

Make Your Christmas Dinner a Sure One by Winning a Turkey

THE WATER ST. ALLEYS

J. J. SOLOMON, Prop

FILL YOUR BIN with the Only Genuine White Ash

D. L. & W.

SCRANTON COAL

Automatically Screened

It's a well-known fact that there is as great difference between different kinds of coal as there is between any other two commodities and it ought to pay coal consumers to do a little experimenting on their own account. We claim that the D. L. & W. Scranton Coal is the cleanest coal known. We claim that it will do more heating than any other coal.

Robert Hicks Co.

LIMITED

Charlotte and Bethune Sts.

Murray and Bethune Sts.

PHONES 47-48

WHEN YOU WANT

COAL
CEMENT
Sewer Pipe

CONSULT

H. B. TAYLOR & SON

Cor. Aylmer & Wolfe

'Phone 209

LOW'S COAL

STOVE COAL, per ton..$8.50
NUT COAL, per ton....$8.50
PEA COAL, per ton....$7.25
No. 1 CANEL COAL $8.50

LOW & COMPANY

262 Simcoe St. and 385 Bethune St

Phone 697 Nights and Holidays 766

COAL

THAT IS ALL COAL

PROMPT DELIVERY

Peterborough Fuel & Transfer Co.

Charlotte St. 'Phones 270 241, 882

Track and Transfer Business in Connection

THERE IS NO FUEL

so good as

ANTHRACITE COAL

and no better anthracite than

Lehigh Valley Coal

THE COAL THAT SATISFIES

ALSO

HARD AND SOFT WOOD

Cutting and Splitting Extra

J. E. A. FITZGERALD

PHONE 111

HEAT PRODUCING

COAL

Use Our

PITTSTON COAL

It Makes Warm Friends

Terms Positively Cash

Weir & McCarthy

Coal and Wood Dealers

111 Hunter St., East City. 'Phone 96

IF YOU want to BUILD UP YOUR BUSINESS, you must USE THE PAPER that goes into the Home.

10 Pages

The Evening Examiner

GRANT SIX

If you are in the market for a six cylinder car, be sure and see the Grant Six, at PULKINGHORN'S AUTO AND TAXI LIVERY.

'Phone 278. Res. 'Phone 1187

PETERBOROUGH TUESDAY, DECEMBER 26, 1916

Canadians Victorious In New Method Of Trench Raiding

Western Troops Penetrate German Trenches in Broad Daylight, Taking 58 Prisoners, Killing 150 Germans and Destroying Their Dugouts ---Artillery Activity Reported at Several Points on Western Front and Also in the Cerna Region on the Macedonian Front.

A SUMMARY OF TO-DAY'S WAR CABLES

SPECIAL TO THE EXAMINER:

WITH THE BRITISH ARMIES IN FRANCE, December 24.—(Via London, December 25.)—(From a Staff Correspondent of the Associated Press.)—North of Arras certain Canadian troops have just accomplished what the British officers declare marks a new phase in modern trench warfare. In a raid, which, however, was much more than a raid, they succeeded in putting out of action, temporarily at least, an entire battalion of German infantry. They took fifty-nine prisoners including one commissioned officer, and estimated that they killed 150 Germans in dugouts, which were blown to atoms after their occupants refused to surrender. The Canadian losses were extremely light.

The "raid' took place at three o'clock in the afternoon on a front of 400 yards. The German prisoners admit that they were taken completely by surprise. The officer captured said he was convinced that something was about to happen, but believed that the attack was coming on Christmas Eve. He reported to the higher command, but received no support.

"THEY'RE OFF; THEY'RE IN."

The Canadians, mostly stalwart men from the plains of Manitoba, Saskatchewan and Alberta, had skilfully established themselves well forward, so that when the artillery had ceased the preparatory fire they were in the German front line trenches in less than two minutes. The officer in command, who was reporting the raid to brigade headquarters by telephone, said that he had hardly uttered the words "They're off" before he had to say "They're in." Consternation reigned among the Germans, who scrabled for the saps and dugouts leading to the rear trenches while the Canadians pelted them with hand granades. Caught absolutely unprepared many Germans in the front line offered no resistance, but threw up their hands with cries of "kamerad." Others were taken as they fled for the second and third lines, for the Canadians pushed on quickly to the second trenches.

TWENTY DUGOUTS DESTROYED.

About twenty dugouts were destroyed by the Canadians, several with bombs captured from the Germans. One of the officers engaged said:

"As we entered the trenches many Germans broke for the dugouts. All who did were subsequently well cared for. Each of our men was given definite instructions for his precise task and a map of the enemy's trenches, which proved absolutely correct. Each man knew every detail of the proposed operation. They were delighted at this and entered the fight with great cheers. When they came out two hours later they were singing and as happy as school boys on a holiday. The neatness and despatch with which the raid was carried out were unique. The artillery co-operation of the British guns was perfection. Beautifully placed curtains of fire prepared our advance, and, creeping forward, protected us as they proceeded to absolutely demolish the enemy trench and dugouts. The programme had given the men an hour and a half for their work, but the clean-up was accomplished in an hour and ten minutes and the raiders signalled they were ready to return to their own trenches."

No attempt was made at a counter-attack until the following night, when the Germans bombarded and raided their own first line, or what was left of it, thinking that the raiders were still there. As a matter of fact the Canadians who carried out the operation were miles away. They were not part of the fighting line but on rest and had gone forward for this particular piece of work which was planned weeks ago.

BRITISH OFFICIAL REPORT.

LONDON, December 25.—Further official details are given in the War Office statement issued under Sunday's date of the daylight raid conducted by British troops on the Franco-Belgian front north of Arras last Wednesday.

"Further particulars regarding the raid by us north of Arras, and reported in the communications of the 20th and 21st, show the operations were more successful than at first reported. The raid took place in the afternoon, in broad daylight, after careful preparation. Two lines of enemy trenches were penetrated on a 400-yard front, and all the objectives aimed at were reached. Our troops remained in the enemy's trenches, which were badly damaged, for a period of half an hour. All his dugouts were methodically searched and blown in before returning. One German officer and fifty-seven men of other ranks were made prisoner."

GERMANY PROPOSES MEETING OF DELEGATES

Formal Reply to American Peace Suggestion Made To-day—Proposal is to Hold an Immediate Meeting of Delegates of the Belligerents at a Neutral Place.

BERLIN, via Sayville, December 26. — Germany to-day proposed a meeting of delegates of belligerents in answer to President Wilson's peace note.

Her formal reply to the American peace suggestion was made in a note handed to United States Ambassador Gerard at Berlin, and at the same time to the American diplomatic representatives at the capitals of the other Central Powers—Vienna, Sofia, Constantinople.

The note also hints that the "great work of the prevention of future wars can be begun after the end of the present struggle of nations," and declares when this moment shall have come, "Germany will be ready with pleasure to collaborate entirely with the United States at this exalted task."

The German note holds the "most appropriate road to reach the desired result is an immediate meeting of delegates of belligerent States at a neutral place."

The text, as transmitted over Sayville wireless by the official press bureau in Berlin, does not contain any peace terms. Whether this is the entire text of the note was not made clear in the wireless despatch.

The text of Germany's latest peace note read: "The high-minded suggestions made by the President of the United States of America in order to create a basis for the establishment of lasting peace has been received and considered by the Imperial Government in the friendly spirit which was expressed in the President's communication.

"The President points out that which he has at heart and leaves open the choice of the road.

"To the Imperial Government the immediate exchange of views seems the most appropriate road in order to reach the desired results. It therefore begs, in the sense of its declaration, made on December 12, which offered its hand for peace negotiations, to propose immediate meeting of delegates of the belligerent States at a neutral place.

"Also the Imperial Government is of the opinion that the great work of prevention of future wars can be begun only after the end of the present struggle of nations.

"It, (namely the German Government), when this moment shall have

(Continued on Page 8.)

DEATH LIST IN QUAKER OATS FIRE GROWS TO TWENTY

Mr. John Tettro, Who Was Taken Out of the Building Badly Burned Two Weeks Ago, Succumbed to His Injuries in the Hospital

AN OLD RESIDENT

The terrible toll of the Quaker Oats fire was augmented yesterday when William John Tettro died at seven o'clock at St. Joseph's Hospital, after two weeks of patient suffering. Mr. Tettro was born in Kingston fifty-six years ago, where he resided until coming to Peterboro twenty years ago. He was a member of the Ancient Order of Hibernians. He leaves to mourn his loss his wife, formerly Julia Murray, and three brothers, two residing in Kingston, and one in Cleveland; and two sisters, one in Cleveland and one in Kingston.

The funeral will take place on Wednesday morning at 8:30 to St. Peter's church, thence to St. Peter's cemetery

COUNCILLORS FOR MONAGHAN ARE IN BY ACCLAMATION

North Monaghan's councillors are officially reported elected by acclamation as follows; Robert A. Dobbin, John Williams and Thomas Henry, the two latter men being new members, replacing Messrs. Rye and Bell of the 1916 Council. There will be an election on Monday next, however, for Reeve and Deputy-Reeve. The candidates for Reeve are Harold B. Rye and John McIntosh, and for Deputy-Reeve, Joseph Bell and Wm. Robson. Probably Mr. Williams will terminte in his contract with the township, thereby avoiding questions of his future eligibility.

Poultry Show On Jan. 9-11 Near at Hand

The annual exhibition of the Peterborough Poultry Association will be held in the Market Hall on January 9th, 10th and 11th. From the present inquiries for prize lists the directors anticipate a bigger show than ever. Many outside exhibitors have inquired for information, and the interest is developing earlier and broader than in past years.

Miss Yates, of Guelph, will be present to give addresses on the handling of poultry.

Their Lamps Like Those of the Five Foolish Virgins

Stanley Kennedy and John Savage, chauffeurs for J. J. Truner and Sons, and Mr. James Kendry, respectively, recently neglected to have the rear lamps burning on the cars they were driving. Unhappily, this oversight occurred while the police were looking, and this morning the "cheuffs" paid $5 and costs, amounting to $7.60, to the City Treasurer, through Chief Thompson and Magistrate Dumble, this morning.

Contest in Burleigh And Anstruther Tp.

The nominations for Burleigh and Anstruther returned the following candidates, showing that Reeve Lean has a contest on his hands:

For Reeve—D. Brown, merchant, and Norman Lean, farmer.

Councillors—Wm. Earnshaw, Norman Wilson, Jack Tucker, Geo. Mathews, W. C. Seone, and Hilliard Reid.

93rd MEN TO REPORT

All members of the 93rd Battalion Band are ordered to report at 9 o'clock to-morrow morning at the armouries.

CONFIDENT THEY WILL BE HOME NEXT XMAS

WITH THE FRENCH AND BRITISH ARMIES IN TRENCHES, via Paris, December 24.—The soldiers of France and Britain celebrated Christmas with absolute conviction that they will spend December 25th, 1917, at home. They were all certain that their victories along the Ancre, the Somme and at Verdun have established such an ascendency over the enemy that will make for the Allies' "peace on earth, good will to men" a reality next Yuletide. From the humblest private to the highest general there is positive feeling of moral and material superiority over the Teutons.

THE 93rd BATTALION BAND REACHED CITY ON CHRISTMAS MORNING

Warm Welcome For Bandmaster Hughes When They Arrived Home Yesterday---Sailed From England on December 8th---Band Will Be Taken on the Strength of the 247th Battalion---Pte. Oliver White, 21st Battalion is Home From Front--To-day's General Military News

The Band of the 93rd Battalion arrived home in time for Christmas after all, and the result was a number of very happy households throughout the city. Bandmaster Hughes and his musicians, twenty-eight in all, reached the city via the G.T.R. at 9 o'clock yesterday morning, and were very warmly received. An ideal Canadian winter's morning greeted the returning bandsmen, bright sunshine, clear frosty air, and a dazzling mantle of snow over everything. But if the air was cold, the welcome was hot and as they stepped from the train, the khaki-clad musicians were engulfed in a sea of friendly figures. Embraces, handshakes and chorus of "Glad to see you back" and "Merry Christmas" made the returning men realise that every one was glad to see them safely home. The members of the Salvation Army and with Regiment bands played "Home Sweet Home" as the train drew in. Mayor Duffus, Ald. Dobbin, chairman of the Reception Committee, City Clerk Armstrong, Fire Chief Howard, and other city officials, members of the Speakers' Patriotic League, and other organizations, were on hand to greet the band and led a hearty round of cheering after the musicians had reached the platform.

Mayor Duffus realized that the bandsmen would prefer to get home as soon as possible, and after the officials had shaken hands all around, the word was given that the band might disperse instead of proceeding to the Armouries as at first intended. The men lost no time in obeying the order.

The bandsmen who returned yesterday were: Bandmaster W. Hughes, Sergt. F. Barnes, Sergt. R. Naples, Lance-Corp. W. T. Dyer, Bandsmen Fred Walno, H. Payton, T. Blunt, W. Layfield, C. Breadman, F. Foy, J. Miller, Vic. Dallin, P. Grange, R. Dyer, J. French, A. Clarke, D. Loader, H. Loader, R. Wood, W. Badley, J. James, E. Keale, F. Wells, T. Smith, R. Morris, H. Worrall, H. Miles, W. Dyer.

Three other members of the band, Bandsmen J. Blaker, R. A. Browne and A. Briscoe, have been home for some time, and five others, Bandsman H. Gilbert, H. Wood, P. Doughty, W. Harkness and H. Boyler, who were on duty in other camps in England, are still overseas, but are expected home shortly. In addition authority has been given to recruit other bandsmen, and the Peterborough Band will soon be larger than ever. The bandsmen are to report to Lt.-Col. Ackerman at the Armouries at 9 o'clock to-morrow morning, after which it is expected they will be given leave until after the New Year.

The band sailed from England on December 9th and had a stormy passage, the weather being bad nearly all the way over. On the second night out they had an exciting experience when their steamer struck some object off the coast of Ireland. The shock shook the steamer badly, and the scraping of the object along the bottom of the vessel could be plainly felt. The crew of the steamer were of the opinion that they had run down a submarine.

Halifax was reached at the beginning of last week, and then the band came to Quebec where they were medically examined by a board. They arrived in Montreal on Saturday and were very comfortably housed at the Khaki Club on Dorchester street for the night. Leaving Montreal at 10:15 Sunday morning they reached Kingston late in the afternoon and left at midnight for hime. When Belleville was reached the bandsmen found motor cars awaiting them and they were taken up-town to lunch, the little surprise having been arranged by Lt.-Col. Ackerman of the 247th Battalion.

The band has done very little playing since they were moved from Otterpool to West Sandling Camp. A number of the bandsmen were in the Canadian massed band which played several concerts in London, but the 93rd was not represented in the recent trip to Paris, the massed band leaving for France the same day as the 93rd started for home. Some of the 93rd men played with the 39th Band at Sandling, but the majority of the men were on other duties.

Mr. John Kemp, of the C.P.R. Telegraph office staff, has enlisted in the Colbourg Heavy Battery.

Hon. W. H. Hearst, on Saturday cabled the following message to London for transmission to the officers and men of the Ontario forces in England and France:

"The government and people of the Province of Ontario, join with one heart and voice in wishing you a most happy Christmas, a bright and glorious New Year and a speedy and triumphal return home. We unite with you in renewing our pledge of devotion to the cause which you have gone forth to defend. We reverse the memory of those who have fallen and to you who stand to-day at the post of honour we give the assurance of our pride and confidence in your loyalty and achievements. Though separated at this time one sentiment binds us in a common fraternity, looking forward to the day of your homecoming with joy and gratitude for work well done and a reward justly earned.

"W. H. HEARST.
"Prime Minister."

To-day's Orders.

Peterborough, Ont., Dec. 25, '16.

Daily orders by Lieut.-Col. C. H. Ackerman, Commanding 247th Battalion, C.E.F.:

Orders for Tuesday, December 26th, 1916:

1. Parade—

All officers, N.C.O.'s and men except those specially employed will parade in the drill hall at 9 a.m. and at 2 p.m.

2. Duties—

Orderly officer for Tuesday, December 26th—Lieutenant T. Quinn.

Orderly officer for Wednesday, December 27th—Lieutenant F. J. Hayes.

Next for duty— Lieutenant A. H. Cameron.

R. S. Brooks, Lieutenant,
And Acting Adjt. 247th Batt., C.E.F.

Pte. Oliver White, son of Mrs. A. White, Charlotte street, reached Peterborough on Sunday morning, having been invalided home from the front. Pte. White, whose two brothers went overseas with the 2nd Battalion, enlisted in Peterobrough in October, 1914, with the 57th Regiment's quota to the 21st Battalion. Pte. White had been at the front for many months, going through the battle of St. Eloi and other actions, but was finally wounded at Zillibeke in June last, since which time he has been in a hospital in the old country. He was close beside Lance Corp. Robt. Gifford and Pte. Geo. Mehew, of Peterborough, when they were killed.

Lieut. Douglas Huycke is home from Kingston for the Christmas vacation.

Lieut. A. B. Mills and Sergt. S. C. Mills of the 255th Battalion, Belleville, are spending Christmas leave at their home here.

Sergt. Hicks of the School of Signalling, Kingston, was among the Peterborough soldiers home for Christmas.

Pte. Frank Seaton, formerly of the 93rd Battalion, is home from the Kingston Convalescent Home for the holiday season.

Corp. Ernest Watson, formerly of the 93rd Battalion signalling section, is up from the Kingston Convalescent Home for the Christmas vacation.

Lt.-Col. Ackerman, O. C. of the 247th Battalion, and Capt. O'Flynn, second in command, are both away for Christmas, the former at Picton and the latter at Belleville.

Capt. J. M. Thomson, paymaster of the 247th Battalion, is joining the ranks of the Benedicts to-day.

(Continued on Page 6.)

PETERBORO' HAS OVERDRAFT OF $7,109 IN PATRIOTIC FUND

Sir Herbert Ames, Honorary Treasurer, Appeals to City and County to Immediately Forward Overdue Contributions—Delinquent Subscribers Requested to Heed This Matter.

FUND INSISTS ON PAYMENT

With an overdraft of $7,109 at the head office of the Canadian Patriotic Fund, the Peterboro branch is taking steps to collect unpaid subscriptions, which are needed, and upon which the local branch depended for the balancing of their account with the Ottawa Office.

Mr. J. A. Aylmer, president of the Peterboro Patriotic Association, has received a letter from Sir Herbert Ames, requesting that a special effort be made to forward slightly over $10,000 before Jan. 3rd, the date on which the fund books are closed for 1916.

The letter follows:

Dear Mr. Aylmer:

I have been looking over Peterboro's record in the matter of contributions to the Patriotic Fund, and according to our figures, your branch sent in during 1915 contributions amounting to $46,372 and thus far during 1916 you have sent us further remittances amounting to $42,000, making a total to date of $88,372. I was wondering whether you could bring this up to $100,000, or to a round sum of $90,000 between this and the end of the year.

While we close our books on the 31st of December, any cheque which reaches us by the 3rd of Jan. will be regarded as a 1916 contribution.

I know you are doing your best to get in contributions due, and I thought perhaps if attention were called to the exact figures it might help you with some of the dilatory ones. We would like to have Peterboor standing at, at least, $90,000, when we send our manuscript to the printers.

Yours truly,
HERBERT B. AMES.

RECEIPTS AND EXPENDITURES

During the past two years, the city and county of Peterboro, have together contributed $112,415.00 to the Patriotic Fund. This money was forwarded to the head office, but Ottawa has distributed through the Peterboro office $119,524.00 as allowances to the wives and the children of soldiers. It has therefore been found necessary by the Finance Committee of the Peterboro branch to insist on the immediate payment of all arrears in subscriptions in order that the existing overdraft may be covered.

It is hoped that these payments will be made without the execution of measures used as a last resort in methods of collection. The fund has depended upon them, has in fact distributed this promised money to soldiers' dependents, and for that reason delinquent subscribers are respectfully requested to respond at once to the fund's earnest appeal.

Sir Herbert Ames mentioned in a postscript that a county contribution for one month was due.

MR. EDGAR WORTH AND ALD. McINTYRE BY ACCLAMATION

Only Two Ward Contests For the City Council—Board of Education Has Six Entries For Four Seats

EX-ALDERMEN HOLD BACK

Elected By Acclamation
North Ward—Ald. McIntyre.
West Ward—Mr. Edgar Worth.

Aldermanic elections by acclamation in two more wards are announced by City Clerk Armstrong from the fact that two nominees in these wards virtually defaulted. Ex-alderman Green was proposed in both these wards, and ex-alderman Graham in the north, but neither took the necessary steps to qualify as candidates.

The 1916 Chairman of the Board of Works thus returns to the Council for a two year period thereby strengthening his position among the patriarchs in civic service. Recent years have developed something of a sentiment that an alderman should finish his work by a term in the Mayor's chair and this unwritten law has been amended with an accepted understanding that the Mayor should reign two years. Following that course Ald. McIntyre will be ready for blooming as a mayoralty candidate probably when his present lease expires. In the meantime George Duncan will be due for consideration. In many quarters he is regarded as a likely successor to Mayor Duffus. This is his second year representing the west ward and he has a long record as a south ward alderman.

Mr. Edgar Worth is a newcomer to the Council but his election is regarded with undiluted satisfaction with the possible exception of the retirement of a candidate of Mr. G. W. Green's ability. Here the ward system operated against the best interests of the city. But Mr. Worth brings a complete business training, the experience of travel and an intimacy with large problems as his passports into the Council. He has also youth in his favor and the broader vision and deeper optimism of his years. Alderman Worth has extensive material and personal interests in Peterborough and will be jealous for the city's future prosperity and advancement.

Two Contests

Thus, two contests remain for Council positions. Alderman John Edgar and Mr. W. H. Taylor are the candidates in the south ward, and Ald. Evans and John Smith in the east ward.

Board of Education.

There have been no scratches from the first town sheet of entries in the Board of Education race. Six candidates have been called and four will be chosen. The six are once more R. F. Ackerman, chairman of the 1916 Board, Mr. Vincent Eastwood, chairman of the Finance committee, Mr. Roland Denne, chairman of the Property committee, Mr. G. N. Gordon, member of the Board, and Mr. A. A. Fowler, optician, and Mr. F. W. Dean, district manager of the Bell Telephone company.

HUSBAND CHARGED WITH NON-SUPPORT

Domestic infelicity was the background to a case of non-support charged against Mr. Thomas McClennan in Police Court this morning. Magistrate Dumble heard the evidence, and finally gave husband and wife a friendly talking to and advised them to make another effort to harmonize their household. Hence, the case against the husband was adjourned for a month.

East City Open Air Rink Has Busy Day

The East City open air rink had a fine sheet of ice yesterday and accommodated a big crowd throughout the day. The rink is located at the corner of Mark and Hunter streets, and has an ice surface of 150 feet by 175 feet.

The Chimes Were Rung

The chimes were rung on Christmas Eve, on Christmas Day, on the arrival of the 93rd Band, and in the afternoon Mr. R. J. Dovey played a selection of Christmas hymns and patriotic airs from 3:30 to 4 o'clock.

A CANDIDATE WHO SHOULD BE SUPPORTED

One of the likely men in the field for municipal honours this year is A. A. Fowler, who is a candidate for a seat on the Board of Education. Mr. Fowler has proved by his strict attention to and success in his own business, his sterling value as an adviser on a board that has to deal with so much of the city's finances. As a rising young business man, whose success has all been achieved right in our midst he is certainly entitled to strong recognition when he offers himself as a municipal servant.

The city wants its governing done by the strongest men it can procure, and the prospect of gaining such an accession of young, aggressive blood, as the introduction of Mr. Fowler to the Board would mean, is too good to lightly pass by. By all means see that Mr. Fowler is elected with such a safe majority as will show that his complying to the wishes of his friends in coming out for the Board of Education has been appreciated.

WHEN IN DOUBT

About your Eyes call and see Dr. Lacey. Bring him your broken lenses to duplicate. This can be done without your prescription. Also have him repair your broken mounts. 410 George street.

Good skating at East City Rink afternoons and evenings. Admission 10c.

Evening Examiner

Phones—Editorial 101, Business Office 102
Private Branch Exchange to all Departments.

The Paid Circulation of The Daily Examiner is Over

5200 COPIES DAILY

SWORN TO AND GUARANTEED

The Daily Examiner, published every week-day by the Peterborough Publishing Co. Limited, Office, 410 George St.

The Weekly Examiner, published Thursday morning.

The subscription price of the Daily Examiner is $4.00 per annum; that of The Weekly, $1.50.

U. S. Representatives—Stockwell Special Agency, Tribune Bldg., Chicago; Tribune Bldg., New York.

Advertising rates on application.

R. M. Clegg, Managing Director.

"Peterborough Presents Possibilities Unsurpassed."

TUESDAY, DEC. 26, 1916

PUBLIC INTERESTS FIRST.

A spirit of rather bitter local journalistic hostility to the re-election of Mr. G. N. Gordon has developed. The Examiner holds no brief for Mr. Gordon, nor needs to come to his defence; he himself is capable of looking after that. But a system of attack, whose animus and object are not perhaps so much inspired by considerations of the public interests as by solicitude for other interests, not at all public, suggests that a candidate for public office should be judged more on his merits than by prejudice. During his term on the School Board, Mr. Gordon has made a good representative. The chief fault urged against him has been in respect of his unprecedented activity in protecting public interests by the establishment of the recognition of a very proper principle in the management of public affairs—a principle broadly described by the phrase, "independence of Parliament." On this action there is no public complaint and it furnishes no plea against Mr. Gordon's re-election. His experience on the board, taken in connection with his other qualifications, should make him an excellent Board member. The Board of Education has always been a good representative body, largely because the public has selected its membership on broad principles, uninfluenced by petty local politics—village politics—and the continuance of this attitude—the selection of men on the grounds of their ability to give faithful and intelligent service, will keep that body up to the high standard.

PARTIZANSHIP AND PATRIOTISM.

In one sense the family troubles of the Conservative party are entirely its own affair, but since the Conservative party has the governing power in the Dominion its fortunes or misfortunes are a matter of concern to all the people. And, especially in view of the fact that the present government is so devoted to the promotion of party interests as apparently the primary, not merely incidental, consideration, do party movements assume a popular interest. It is inevitable, that with this consideration an influence in governmental and administrative activities, individual party coteries or cliques, should become assertive, out of proportion to the general claims of party interests to recognition. It is also inevitable that in a great party containing some of the best minds of the country, some should decline to submit to leading strings; refuse to permit their principles to be put into the party straight-jacket; refuse to subordinate their patriotism and their loyalty to national interests, to a sordid and minor consideration—involving the theory that independence of thought and expression, that does not straitly square itself with the party policy, is a crime.

Mr W. F. Maclean, M.P. for South York, is a conspicuous sinner in the latter regard. While faithful to the principles and policy of his party in other things, he refuses to be ground fine in the party machine. He is a firm believer in the "national policy" of protection the main guy rope of the party standard. In fact he was known to it: his father first suggested and advocated protection as a national policy and panacea. Out of Mr. Maclean's belief in this policy arises his advocacy of the corollary of that policy—Canada for Canadians. Mr. Maclean in the last session of Parliament, "dared to be a Daniel," and with Andrew Broder of Dundas, actually voted against his party and with the Liberals in the matter of the base contract scandals. Mr Maclean's long-time wobbling, his wandering from the well beaten party track were bad enough, but concrete display of it on a division in the House was the last straw. Mr. Maclean's strong and manly stand on the nickel question, in his newspaper, the World, widened the rift—he must be disciplined. On Saturday, Dec. 16th, the South York Conservatives held their annual meeting in Toronto; and they had Mr. Maclean "on the carpet." He stood his ground, and had the best of the argument, for the facts were on his side. He exposed the sophistries of Meighen and Ferguson and Cochrane, who pleaded that "an understanding" binds a company that Mr. Maclean maintains is simply the representative of Germany and the medium through which Canadian nickel finds its way to Germany. Mr Maclean's independence may get him into party hot water, but the temperature will be reduced by the cooler judgment of the people, who are behind him on the nickel question, as they will in the long run, stand by the public man who places national interests above the claims of party and stands for the peoples' rights as against self-seeking politicians.

Mr. Maclean is only one man, but he is a prominent man in his party, and there are evidences that many in the ranks of the party are beginning to think his thoughts, and take kindly to his opinions, even when they are divergent from the official and general party view, and the feeling is gaining ground every day, that partisanship is working the undoing of the party; that the government is too much for party and too little for the state.

When the Borden government came to power it had a narrow margin of straight Conservatives, perhaps ten or a dozen on a division. The government made itself safe in the matter of support by making a bargain for the support of the Nationalist party—the anti-British anti-Imperial party, whose followers the Conservative party had helped elect. The bargain has been faithfully kept by the Borden government. There has always been three or four Nationalists—disloyalists—in the cabinet holding the fattest departmental portfolios. One would have thought that when the war called Canadians to the colours that the cabinet element that didn't believe in Canada helping the Mother country with soldiers or arms, would be kicked out and only loyal advisers of the King given high office. Not at all: party interests first. Nationalist votes on a division counted as much as the votes of loyal members; and party interest—keeping office—involved keeping the votes. One would have also thought that when Canada's whole resources in manhood and material were called for; when there should be only one party — a war party—that partizan interests would have been subordinated to national efficiency—that the Liberal party would, for the purposes of the war, have been taken into partnership. This was done to a limited degree. The Liberals were generously allowed to vote to a man for the immense sums of money needed to prosecute war measures. But when it came to spending the money, the party trough was disregarded. Contracts for war supplies were given out on party lines, appointments were made in party lines, and even the crime of partizanship crept into the official organization of the country's forces; and even in the organization of the national service campaign the party spirit ruled—out of eleven members of the Commission only one is a recognized Liberal. It is indeed, a sad seeming in this agonizing time of Canada, that the party spirit should be so strongly exploited.

The most hopeful outlook is that the evil will cure itself; that the spoils spirit will work its own undoing. When within the party there is quarrelling over the spoils, honest methods may come to their own. Mr. John Stanfield, Colchester, Nova Scotia, the chief Conservative whip, has resigned his office because a cabinet minister interfered with the patronage of the constituency the whip represented—the division of the party spoils. Things must have been pretty bad when the highest custodian of party interests, who guides the votes of the government's followers in the House, who ranks next in importance and influence in the party, to a cabinet minister, takes the bit in his teeth.

The party of partizanship, or, rather, its partizan elements—for the party is loyal and not in sympathy—seems to be writing for a fall.

MILITARY NEWS

Continued from Page 5.

Mrs. Leonard Dunstan, of 216 Woodbine avenue, Peterborough has received the following letter from her husband. Private Leonard Dunstan, formerly of the 83rd Battalion, who is now with the 4th Battalion in France.

My Dear Mary,—Just a few lines to let you know I am in the best of health and hope you are the same. I am sorry I didn't write to you before now but as I have been very busy, and as I have been in a trenches for quite a long spell, and came out without a scratch. I think I sent you an active service card last week. I haven't received any mail from you in a long time. I sent you a registered parcel for Christmas, so you can be expecting it any time now. I think the war is drawing to an end, but it may be some time yet before we get back to Canada. I am not very far away from the Somme. It is very quiet where we are now. I have reserved two boxes of cigars so far since I came to France and I got another big box last night, but don't know who sent it. How is everybody in Peterborough. I suppose everything is just the same as when I left. I am sorry I am not home to spend Christmas with you, but hope to be home by next Christmas. I hope you have a very pleasant Christmas and a happy New Year, and enjoy yourself the very best.

Well, dear Mary, I think I have told you all the news for this time. Hoping to hear from you soon. With best wishes from your loving husband.

Leonard.

OTTAWA, Dec. 25.—General Sir Sam Hughes' advocacy of compulsory military service has created much interest at Ottawa. It is the first public utterance of the ex-Minister of Militia since he donned civilian clothes.

National service directors and government officials here are not inclined to comment upon the declaration at the present time.

THE LOSSES AND THE GAINS OF THE BATTLE OF ARMAGEDDON

Yes, the losses to the world through the war have certainly been appalling. In two years of fighting five or six millions of soldiers have been killed, over eleven millions have been wounded, and there are from three to three and a half millions who have been made invalids; a large proportion of them for life. It is difficult even roughly to estimate the number of the prisoners, because the Teutons always lie about the prisoners they and their Allies have captured. How many women and children and non-combatants have been murdered by the Huns it is hard to say. The damage done to property will have to be calculated in hundreds of millions of dollars. Much of it is irreparable. The injury to the trade, commerce and industry of Germany in particular is incalculable. If Germany were to be victorious to-morrow, the Germans would be a ruined nation, bankrupt in purse, in credit and in honour. The direct losses of some of the neutral nations have been very great, and some of them have lost notably in prestige.

But there is another side to the debtor and creditor account. The United States, chief of the neutral nations, has lost some citizens whose murders are still unavenged, but she has grown fabulously rich in dollars by the war. So rich and so certainly rich by the war, that the vaguest rumour of peace precipitates a crisis on the New York stock market. The somebody who kept our American friends out of the war kept them out of the advantages as well as the disadvantages of war, and are much worse things than war. Character and prestige are more to be desired than much gold. But for what it is worth the United States is incalculably richer in money for the war.

Great Britain, on the other hand, has lost money heavily by the war but her people like those of Belgium, France and Russia, are immeasurably the better for the suffering they have endured, for the sacrifice they have made, and even for the lovers they have lost. For the first time in hundreds of years Great Britain has become sober and thoughtful. Her people have a sense of responsibility of which they never dreamed before the war. It is claimed that the complete suppression of the liquor traffic would save Great Britain $30,000,000 a day, directly and indirectly (more than the war has cost), to say nothing about the loss of thousands of lives, and in Great Britain they are moving rapidly in the direction of sobriety. Certainly there are not half as many convictions for drunkenness as there were before the German devil broke loose.

Women are doing nearly all the work that men should long ago have been ashamed to do, and much work that men might be proud to do if they were not better employed just now at the front. The indications are that when peace is restored Great Britain will become much more nearly self supporting than it is to-day. The reign of extravagance, ostentation and luxury will be greatly weakened if not destroyed. It will be bad form to indulge in ostentation, and the example of the rich will elevate the standard of taste among the poor. There is a more cordial relationship established between the classes; they are less distrustful of each other. The British Empire to-day is one undivided and indivisible. The military and naval prestige of the Empire was never so great. By the end of the war the German peril will be overpast. France has been regenerated. Russia has become sober and free. Belgium will be restored; the Balkans will be emancipated from a reign of terror centuries long. Already Europe has visions of a new heaven and a new earth. Armageddon will not have been fought in vain.—Montreal Herald.

Voice of The People

Correspondence under this heading, containing or implying attacks on individuals or violent or extreme statements, must to secure insertion, be signed with writer's real name, the owner of which thus assumes the responsibility.

To the Editor of The Examiner:

Dear Sir,—I would like to say a few words at this season of the year when we are busily engaged in giving gifts to our friends. I would say that the best friends citizens of this city have at present are those dear brave boys who are now offering up their lives in the bloody battlefields of Flanders and France, that we may enjoy liberty and freedom, and I would say to those fathers and mothers who are holding back their boys from doing their duty, to send them forward to become members of the 207th Battalion under the command of Lt.-Col. Ackerman. And I am sure if you do that it will be a gift which the King of Kings asks of you at this season of the year to defend his Empire not yours. I have noticed the lack of interest our returned soldiers are taking in the interest of recruiting. They must not loose sight of the fact that they are still in the fighting line, and ought to exert every nerve and ounce of energy to support the boys they left behind in the trenches, by standing by Col. Ackerman and the 207th Battalion, and use their influence in the workshop, on the street, and wherever they go. One motto the returned soldier should have in mind at all times when he sees a young men in civilian clothes is: "Why are you not doing your duty?" The slacker is not the soldier's friend. Remember the future of this country now lies in the hands of the men who fought for it, after this great conflict is over. I am a

RETURNED SOLDIER.

To the Editor of The Examiner:

Dear Sir,—Will you kindly give me space in your valuable paper, as I would like to ask those who had charge of the entertainment for the soldiers' wives and children, why the widows and the little fatherless children were not given a ticket of admission as the others, or do they think that they are not worthy of one—those who have given up all that they held dear for their country's sake, and the little kiddies that have no daddy left to send them a letter of cheer, at this time of the year. They are told that they cannot be admitted as they have no ticket, and how can they get one when those in charge did not send them one. Why did they not get one? Thanking you, Mr. Editor, I remain, one who knows and cares for those who are left sad and lonely.

J. B.

Ald. Dobbin, when asked about the above complaint, said that the tickets were given to all the families on the Patriotic Fund list, and the total of all that had turned up was well above the capacity of the house. He also said that the Grand Opera House people had been notified that if there was room available inside no one was to be refused admission whether in possession of a ticket or not.

Peterborough, Ont., Dec. 26, 1916.

To the Editor of the Examiner:

Dear Sir,—In an editorial of the Review it was suggested that Mr. John Smith, at one time a member of the Board of Education, gave me ammunition to fire when I attacked the method of the Board in allowing members of it to deal with it and have business relations with it. Mr. Smith had nothing to do with the matter whatever, so far as I was concerned. I believe his views were that a member of the Board of Education should not have business relations with it or make any money out of it, by reason of any dealings with it, but so far as I know he did nothing more and he certainly was not responsible for the information which I gathered from the books of the Board of Education and from other sources which were available to me. I assume the whole responsibility for the criticism I have offered to certain members of the Board, and the editorial in the Review was not correct, inasmuch as it charges Mr. Smith with being associated with me in launching the criticism I offered.

Mr. Smith has not spoken to me in the matter, and has not suggested I should correct the wrong impression created by the Review editorial, but I think it is my duty to write this letter in justice to Mr. Smith.—Yours truly,

G. N. Gordon.

A creep should be provided in the pasture so that calves may have access to grain without being disturbed by cows, and it is very important to start beef calves on grain before they are needed.

FOUND

FOUND — FOUND IN MY STORE ON Saturday night a sum of money. Will the owner please call and get it and oblige.—S. Fleming, 198 Charlotte street. 3d-146-571

FOUND IN THE VICINITY OF LOCKS Bridge on Saturday, a sum of money. Apply to Thomas E. Rose, R. R. No. 6, Peterboro. 2d-146-565

FOR SALE

FOR SALE—LARGE CANARY BREEDING Cage 70 apprtments. Apply 256 McDonnel Street. 3d146-539

FOR SALE—FOX TERRIER PUPPY DOG Apply 181 River Road, Auburn. 2d147-562

CLEARING OUT SALE OF GENT'S SUITS overcoats, several good coats for sale. JAY'S store, Aylmer street. 6d-6

FOR SALE—CANADA MALLEABLE steel ranges and repairs. 295 Aberbrooke street. Phone 1644. 30d-135-222

FOR SALE—A CLOSED MILK SLEIGH 1 set single harness and 1 cutter. Apply Peterborough Creamery, Aylmer St. 3d-147-566

UNDERWOOD NO. 5 LATEST MODEL, two color ribbon, back spacer. For sale cheap to a quick buyer Apply to Box 556 Examiner. 2d-146-563

CHEAP LOTS—IN BLOCK H, ASHBURNham, on Dalhousie Square. Right situation for lots. $50 down and one quarter $10 paid for. Interest only 7 per cent. Lots dry, sightly, healthy, close to Electric car. Peterborough. Apply to Hunter & Johnson. 30d-141-491

TO RENT

FOR RENT — UNFURNISHED ROOMS — Apply 440 Rogers st. 3d-147-564

GOOD OFFICE OR STORE WITH WATER connections and heated, possession at once. Apply 393 Charlotte St. 4d-146-570

FOR RENT—NO. 387 WATER STREET, suitable for store or office, immediate possession. Apply 49 George street. 4d-6

FOR RENT—STORE No. 224 ALDOUS ST. Apply 49 George St. 3d.

LOST

LOST — SMALL PURSE CONTAINING A Sum of Money, between Oreamuno's and Bentley's, on Thursday night. Finder leave in Examiner. 3d-146-570

LOST—BLACK FUR GAUNTLET IN SATurday, between Weller, Homewood, and Gilmour. Finder please leave at the Examiner Reward. 3d-146-566

LOST—ON SATURDAY IN CENTRE OF the city a Friendship Bracelet. Finder please leave at this office and oblige. 3d-146-567

LOST—WEDDING RING ON SATURDAY evening, between Gilmour and George street. Finder please leave at the Examiner office 3d-146-568

LOST—BLACK LEATHER PURSE, STEEL Chain, containing three $5 bills, and change Charlotte street or Park car. Kindly leave the same at the Examiner office 2d-146-577

LOST—ON SATURDAY, MESH BAG, INfinite S.J.F. inside, on Prudential office steps or on George street. Finder will please leave at the Examiner office. 2d-146-568

HELP WANTED—MALE

DRIVER WANTED TO DRIVE A RIG FOR the Peterboro Laundry. 3d-146-572

HELP WANTED—Female

WANTED—GOOD GENERAL SERVANT AT once. Apply 254 Stewart street. 12d-142-433

WANTED—NURSE GIRL TO TAKE BABY out. Apply 451 George St. 3d-146-567

WANTED—A GOOD KITCHEN GIRL AT once. Apply to the Montgomery House, Simcoe street. 3d-147-561

YOUNG GIRL WANTED FOR LIGHT Housekeeping. Apply Examiner for address. 2d-146-565

GOOD GENERAL SERVANT WANTED AT once. Apply Mrs. Duffin, 345 Hunter Street. 3d-147-564

WANTED — A WOMAN TO DO WASHing. Apply to Mrs Milburn, 58 George street. 3d-146-569

WANTED — AN EXPERIENCED STENographer and office assistant — young lady. Apply Box 1167, Examiner office. 3d-146

OVER $1 DAILY EASILY EARNED AT home on Auto-Knitters making War Socks, experience unnecessary, distance immaterial. Enclose three cent stamp to-day for contract form. Dept. 35C Auto Knitter Co., College street, Toronto. 26d a w-340

WANTED

WANTED — GOOD CAPABLE WOMAN, good wages. Apply 81 Dunbrent street. 12d-144-456

HOOPER'S REPAIR SHOP

NEVER TOO LATE TO MEND.

WHEN YOUR BICYCLE NEEDS DOCTORing, cutlery needs sharpening or grinding, sewing machine needs overhauling household breaks mended or small brass or iron turning done, we know how. Gasoline engine work a specialty. 199 Charlotte street, opposite Snowden House. 26d-97-442

VULCANIZING

NOW IS THE TIME TO HAVE YOUR Vulcanizing done. Reliable steam vulcanizing and tube repairing done promptly.—THE MANNING GARAGE, 238 Water Street. 'Phone 1347. 4tf-97-426

HAIR DRESSING

MANICURING, HAIR DRESSING AND massaging. Hair braids, switches, up-to-date line of hair ornaments. Make an appointment now.—MISS E. SMITH Opera House Block. 'Phone 1162 180-95-36

MONUMENTAL WORK

WE RESPECTFULLY SOLICIT YOUR ORder for Cemetery Work of any kind. Latest equipment; first class Scotch granite cutters—Considine's Monumental Works, 214 Hunter Street. 'Phone 1561 4tf-45-220

PATENTS

GORDON & WIDDIFIELD, Barristers Solicitors Patent applications receive special attention. Office, Cor. George and Hunter streets

H. J. S. DENNISON, 10 WEST KING ST. Toronto: Experts in Patents, Trade marks, designs, Copyrights and Infringements. Write us for Booklet. dtf-4

BABCOCK & SONS

Patents, Trade Marks, Designs Registered Patent Attorneys. Established 1867. Formerly Solicitor Office Examiner. Master of Patent Laws. Representatives in all foreign countries Write for book, "Patent Protection." Tells All about and how to obtain Patents. 99 St. James St., Montreal. Branches: Ottawa, Washington

SOCIETIES

CHILDREN'S AID SOCIETY of Peterborough City and County For the care of neglected and ill-treated children C. A. G. SPENCE Assistant Secretary and Inspector 121 Simcoe Street. 'Phone 1866 Office Hours 8 till 9 Children for Adoption

SECOND-HAND STORES

FURNITURE, STOVES, and Household Goods sold on Commission, Exchanged or Bought for Cash. Storage room to let at reasonable rates. M. T. BUTCHER, 346 & 348 Water St.

Car of California Seedless Oranges at All Prices

Malaga Grapes, California Grapes, Bananas, Figs, Dates, Grape Fruit, Pomegranates, Apples, Lemons, Hot House Tomatoes, Potatoes, Hot House Lettuce, Macaroni, Olives, Olive Oil, Choice Groceries for Christmas, Fresh Fish, Haddie, Herrings and Select Oysters

JOE LONGO & CO.

2 Stores (416 George St., Phone 721, 250 Charlotte St., Phone 1013)

GRAND OPERA HOUSE, 3 DAYS Com. NEW YEARS DAY

One Matinee Only 2.30 Monday, Jan. 1

BASIL S. COURTNEY PRESENTS D. W. GRIFFITH'S

THE BIRTH OF A NATION

8th WONDER OF THE WORLD

18,000 PEOPLE
3,000 HORSES
COST $500,000

SAME BIG SYMPHONY ORCHESTRA

PRICES Matinee 25c, 50c, 75c Night 25c, 50c, 75c, $1

Seat Sale Opens 10 a. m. Friday Mail Orders Now

10c TO ALL 10c

ROYAL

LAST CHANCE TO-NIGHT To See CHARLIE CHAPLIN IN POLICEMAN

Million Dollar Serial — THE SCARLET RUNNER

EPISODE EIGHT

Other Dramas and Comedies

EARLE WILLIAMS in "The Mysterious Note No." from "THE SCARLET RUNNER"

Commencing To-Morrow, the Royal will present the features of the Fox Film Corporation—the Best Pictures obtainable—All-Star Castes. To-Morrow, William Farnum in "The Battle of Hearts" in Five Parts

ALSO COMEDIES AND WESTERNS

STRAND THEATRE

Pathe Film Co. Presents

PRO PATRIA

a grand spectacular production, in natural colours, by the Pathe-colour process. Also a thrilling episode of the exploits of Elaine entitled THE VANISHING MAN on view to-morrow. Edmund Bruse in Lure of Hearts Desire Metro production

10c Which includes War Tax 10c

PARAMOUNT EMPIRE THEATRE DECEMBER 26 & 27 PARAMOUNT

Pallas Pictures present

The American Beauty

In Five Parts

Also Good Comedy Orral Humphrey in SLICKING THE SLICKERS

TIZ-IT THEATRE

Maria Walcamp and Jack Holt, in the 6th episode of LIBERTY

The Desert of Lost Souls

Imp Feature THE DOCTOR OF THE AFTERNOON ARM

Big U feature, a smashing baseball comedy, Oh What a Whopper

Nestor Comedy Love Had Brass Buttons

Vaudeville for Fri. and Sat., The Jones Children in a new, first-class act

Monday a special programme including The Girl And The Game

A. CHERNIKOFF

Will Buy and Sell New and Second-Hand Goods of all Kinds. Best Prices Paid. Big Bargains in Cook Stoves and all kinds of Heaters at Chernikoffs. Men's Suits and Overcoats at less than the cost of making.

420-422 George Street 'Phone 80

SECOND HAND FURNITURE, STOVES, etc.

Bought and sold. Entire Household Furniture or pieces bought. We know the value. Telephone and we will call.

S. COHEN 169 CHARLOTTE ST.; PHONE 1365

5 ONLY FIVE DAYS MORE 5

OF THE BONAFIDE, CLOSING OUT

SALE OF JEWELLERY

— AT —

E. V. WARNE'S

Owing to the Tremendous Stock we have left, we are forced to run the Auction Five Days More

Not a Solitary Article to be Reserved or Held Back. Everything in the Store must go at Auction Prices. Necessity Knows no Law. We Must Clear Every Vestage of this Big Stock.

Astounding Bargains During The Last Five Days

SALE STARTS AT 2.30 EACH DAY

New Year Gifts Galore

H. H. HARRISON, Auctioneer

THE WORLD OF SPORT

RESULTS OF THE OLD COUNTRY SOCCER GAMES

The English soccer calendar was again upset by weather conditions on Saturday, four games in the Midland League and one in the Lancashire section having to be abandoned. On the Scottish side of the border the full schedule was played and provided at least one big surprise. This was the defeat of the Rangers at Motherwell. The Fir Parkers were not expected to have a look in with the Hampden "Princes," but the results proved once again that the "schemes of mice and men gang aft agley." The defeat of Rangers gives their aspirations to at least keep at the heels of the champion Celtics a nasty setback. Greenock Morton improved their position at the expense of Hamilton Academicals but Airdrieonians lost ground by drawing with Dundee.

In the Lancashire League Blackpool gave Blackburn Rovers a bad jolt and both of the Liverpool clubs climbed up the league table, Everton trouncing Stoke and the Anfielders waltzing away with the game against Burslem. It was a disastrous afternoon for the Sheffield Clubs, Wednesday falling to Birmingham and United to Grimsby Town. Notts County had the honour of taking the polish off Leeds City, and back-seating the leaders of the Midland League, while Notts Forest carried off the spoils at Huddersfield. Appended are the results:

The Scottish League.

Patrick Thistle 0, Celtic 2.
Motherwell 2, Rangers 1.
Falkirk 0, St. Mirren 2.
Hearts 1, Ayr 2.
Queen's Park 4, Hibernians 1.
Clyde 2, Dumbarton 2.
Airdrieonians 2, Dundee 2.
Greenock Morton 3, Hamilton Acad 0.
Aberdeen 0, Third Lanark 1.
Kilmarnock 3, Raith Rovers 0.

The English Combinations.

Lancashire Section.

Blackpool 1, Blackburn Rovers 1.
Burnley 3, Preston N. End., 1.
Bury 1, Rochdale 2.
Liverpool 5, Burslem P. Vale 1
Manchester U., 3, Oldham Athletic 2.
Southport Central 0, Manchester City 0.
Stoke 0, Everton 2.
Stockport County vs. Bolton Wanderers, abandoned.

Midland Section

Grimsby Town 2, Sheffield United 0.
Huddersfield Town, Notts Forest 2.
Lincoln City vs. Hull, abandoned.
Leicester Fosse vs. Bradford City, abandoned.
Notts County 1, Leeds City 0.
Rotherham 2, Barnsley 3.
Sheffield Wed 0, Birmingham 2.
Bradford vs. Chesterfield, abandoned.

London Combination.

Millwall Athletic 3, Tottenham Hots 3.
Fulham 8, Southampton 1.
Watford 1, West Ham Unit 3.
Woolwich Arsenal 2, Chelsea 1
Portsmouth 2, Crystal Palace 2.
Clapton Orient 2, Queen Park R., 1.
Luton Town 5, Brentford 2.

Northern Union.

Hull 10, Batley 0
Hunslet 17, Brighouse Rang 0.
Barrow 13, Broughton Rang., 0.
Rochdale Hornets 0, Halifax 0
Oldham 6, Wigan 3.
Other games were postponed.

HOCKEY GOSSIP

The Peterborough juniors are rounding into good shape and should be right on edge by the time they have to show their wares against Bowmanville here on January 9th. The "kids" worked out yesterday morning with a squad from the 247th intermediates and the two teams had a lively practice. The soldiers got into action better the juniors do as they play their first game here a week from to-night against Lindsay.

McKee, the right wing player of the junior team, will be an absentee from the practices this week, as he is spending the vacation at the home of his parents in New Liskeard. The big youngster from the north looks very promising and will add weight to the junior forward line.

The 247th intermediates will practice at Brock street rink to-night between 7 and 8 o'clock.

The next junior practice will be held to-morrow, Wednesday night, at 7 o'clock.

There were enough "old boys" from the Peterborough juniors home over the week end to form a pretty fair team. Among those who gathered from far and near to participate in the holiday festivities were Leonard Girvin from Winnipeg, Joe Dwyer from Sarnia, Ray Rose from Toronto, Frank Barrie from Cobourg, Art Hall from Rochester, Roy Smyth from Beaton, and Leo Kennealey from St. Michael's College, Toronto. The latter is eligible to play here this season and will be out to practice with the juniors while he is home.

Harold Lees, who once upon a time played goal for Jack Thornbeck's Chieftains and for the Peterborough Collegiate team, is playing in the nets for the Queen's-Ue University team.

Frank Heffernan will play in New York again this winter.

As a fan pointed out yesterday, the Peterborough hockey club representatives who are overseas could turn out a pretty nifty line-up. And when you figure it out a team something like this would be hard to beat:

Goal, Driver "Skid" Janes, 40th Battery; defence, Sergt. Fred Denison, Infantry and Gunner Orme Cavanagh, C.F.A.; rover, Sergt.-Major Harold Knapman, 33rd Battery; centre, Capt. M. H. Park, Royal Flying Corps; right wing, Lieut. W. W. Stratton, Royal Flying Corps; left wing, Gunner Cyril Giroux, Borden Armoured Battery. And with the other Peterborough hockeyists overseas, together with the 83rd Battalion team, there would be plenty of spares available.

MORGAN BACK

Labour's Income More Than Meets Increased Living Cost, According to W. M. Acworth.

NEW YORK, Dec. 26.—J. Pierpont Morgan, banker and fiscal agent of the British Government, who has been away two months in England and France on a business trip, arrived here on the American liner Finland. He was accompanied by Mrs. Morgan and Miss Frances Tracy Morgan, his daughter, and appeared to be in the best of health.

Beyond remarking that financial conditions in England were very good Mr. Morgan declined to discuss business, but said he might give out a statement at his office in a day or so when he had had time to look things over and consult with his partners. He was very optimistic on the chances of the Allies in the war, and said emphatically:

"There is not a doubt as to the outcome. It is a certainty that the Allies will win. The English people feel that the war is won."

Every one in England and France said Mr. Morgan, was asking when the war would end. He said he did not hear anything about the retirement of General Joffre when he was in Paris and did not think that it was likely.

He denied the report from London that he had been ill in England and said his health was very good and he had enjoyed some pheasant shooting in the Midlands at the time he was supposed to be in bed. He added that he called at Buckingham Palace at the invitation of the King and had a long talk with him. The Ministers of the British and French Governments, he said, were busy men, and there was very little time spent in banqueting these days.

The construction of four twenty-five knot liners for the American Line is a question to be decided by President P. A. S. Franklin, according to Mr. Morgan, but he added that if the liners were built they would have to be constructed in the United States, because there was no room in the shipyards on the other side. These are reserved for British vessels.

Mr. Morgan was met at the pier by his son, Junius Morgan, who went home with his mother and sister, while Mr. Morgan drove downtown to attend a meeting of the directors of the Internation Mercantile Marine Company. He will go to London again next February on the Finland.

Sir William T. White, the Canadian Minister of Finance, was a passenger on the Finland returning from a trip to London on official business which he said he could not discuss. J. W. Flavelle, Canadian Minister of Munitions, who was also on board, was equally uncommunicative.

Wm. M. Acworth, a leading railway expert in Great Britain, arrived from Liverpool as Chairman of the Provincial Royal Commission consisting of three members appointed to investigate the condition of the Canadian railways. The other members are Albert H. Smith, President of the New York Central, and Sir Henry Drayton of Canada. Mr. Acworth explained that he had been sent over in place of Sir George Paish, who had broken down from overwork.

He said the Canadian Northern and the Grand Trunk Railways were not paying and had applied to the Government for assistance. The commission had been appointed to determine the best way to assist the railways.

"There is very little shortage of food in England," Mr. Acworth asserted, "and the working classes receive more than enough to compensate for the increase in the cost of living. The only ones who have really felt the pinch are the old-age pensioners, and the Government has had to increase their allowance. You hear fruit growers in England complain that they cannot get sugar to make jam, but the big manufacturers have it and the jam is served on your table."

George Mcl.. Brown, European manager of the Canadian Pacific Railway, also arrived on the Finland. The ship brought a big consignment of Christmas mail.

T. R. AND A. A. SENIORS PLAY HERE ON THURSDAY

The fans of Peterborough will get an opportunity of seeing the first hockey game of the season, and incidentally to get a line on the 247th Battalion intermediates on Thursday night when the fast senior T.R. and A.A. team of Toronto, will play an exhibition game with the soldiers. The latter have a well balanced team, with some new faces as well as some favourite old time stars to present for public approval, and they should give the well known Toronto seniors a rattling good game. Ack Hunter, Bud McLean and other players well known in Peterborough, will be on the line-up of the T. R. and A. A. team. It will be a fitting opener to what promises to be a good hockey season.

Church League Hockey Meeting At "Y" Thursday

A meeting of all those who are interested in Church League hockey will be held in the Y.M.C.A. on Thursday evening next, when the prospects of organization will be discussed. It is hoped that a League will be immediately formed, and a schedule be run off during the winter months. The League has been quite representative in recent winters and it is hoped that this will be continued during the present season.

Sells Second-Hand Railroad To Allies

New York, December 26. — When Great Britain appealed recently to Canada for supplies of railway rails to be laid behind the firing lines in France, the Canadian railway companies undertook to supply 1,000 miles of track, but according to the announcement of Herman Sonken to the National Association of Waste Material Dealers in the Hotel Astor, it remained for the United States to conceive the shipment of a whole railway, tracks, switches, bridges, locomotives, and cars. Mr. Sonken is the president of the Chicago, Anamoot & Northern Railway, and it is his road which is to be sent abroad.

Mr. Sonken's road is frequently known as the "Can" and the president is quite ready to acknowledge this is a fair designation. In fact its name is about the biggest thing about his road. It is 35.3 miles long and has three locomotives, two combination passenger and baggage cars, and six freight cars. It once has ten freight cars but the four others sort of petered out.

The road was chartered under the laws of Iowa in 1903 to run from Anamosa to Quasqueton, and to connect with the Chicago and Northwestern Railway, the Chicago, Milwaukee and St. Paul, and the Illinois Central. Once it made as much as $7568 in one year. That was in 1910 but several passengers quit riding regularly and the profits fell off. In 1914 it showed a dead loss of $876 and a judgment was foreclosed against it. Then President Sonken came into possession of it.

Mr. Sonken said that he had three steel bridges all ready for use, together with his tracks and the rolling and just as soon as he can get his road nicely boxed up he is going to send it abroad. Mr. Sonken is the president also of the Iowa Short Line, which is all of 15 miles long, but has twelve freight cars, although only one locomotive and one caboose.

With the recent advance in the price of old rail material Mr. Sonken could sell his second pocket edition road to advantage by shipping it abroad, but he said regretfully yesterday that it was "practically disposed of" already.

GRAND OPERA HOUSE SATURDAY Dec. 30

Matinee 2.30 Evening 8.15

The United Producing Co. present—"Still Running"

CHARLEY'S AUNT

From Brazil—Where The Nuts Come From 1000 Laughs—Not One Tear

PRICES—Matinee, Adults 50c, Children 25c
Evening, 50c to $1.00, Gallery 25c

Seat Sale Opens 10 a. m. Thursday

Pittis, of Plainfield, Saved by Treatment.

NEW YORK, Dec. 23.—That the eight transfusions of blood which have been made will save the life of Dr. Albert Pittis, of Plainfield, N. J., was the opinion of physicians in charge of the case. Dr. Pittis had been delirious from blood poisoning since Thanksgiving Day, when his left hand became infected. In a final effort to save his life blood transfusions were resorted to and Dr. Edward Lindeman, of this city, was placed in charge.

Transfusions from six persons, four members of Dr. Pittis' family, and two firemen of Plainfield, were made, a total of six quarts being transfused. Yesterday morning, for the first time in nearly three weeks, he showed signs of consciousness, and last night became rational in his speech. It is believed now that his recovery is only a matter of time, as the physicians say that the poison is completely eliminated.

"CHARLEY'S AUNT" IS WELCOMED IN TORONTO

As Amusing as Ever This Ever-green Farce That Maintains Its Appeal

Patrons of the Grand Opera House last night rocked with mirth at the immitable farce, "Charley's Aunt," as presented by the United Producing Company, comments the Toronto World of Dec. 12th. Though not by any means new to Toronto theatre-goers, the play is just as funny as ever and judging by its reception last night, is even more popular. From beginning to end, it was a case of one laugh following another with machine-gun rapidity.

The play is built around the love of two Oxford boys for the wards of a solicitor and anticipating the arrival of the aunt of one from Brazil, the girls are invited to the boys' rooms to meet the aunt. The girls arrive, but the aunt is delayed and a chum, on the spur of the moment, is induced to impersonate the aunt. From then on, one laughable situation follows another without a break until all ends well with everyone but the solicitor engaged and waiting for wedding bells.

Thomas Gilbert as Lord Fancourt Babberley and Charley's Aunt, pro tem, carries his part with an ability that so appeals to the humour of the audience that he gets every possible laugh from the screamingly funny situations. Jack Milton and William Phelps, as the undergraduates in need of an aunt and who find their own creation a difficult one, are pleasing and boyish. Miss Jane Neshfield and Miss Dorothy Mitchell, in the roles of the two girls, are winsome and show ability in their acting.

Miss Ruth Dettin was charming in her portrayal of the orphan friend of the real aunt who, since meeting Lord Fancourt Babberley, has cherished him as her idol. Val Howland, as the father of Jack Chesney, gives a good depiction of a retired officer with broken fortunes. Stephen Spettigue, the crusty solicitor, who is induced to give his consent to his wards' engagements by the wiles of the pseudo aunt, is cleverly presented by Charles Bates.

Miss Gwen. Delany is charming and womanly in the part of the real aunt, who finds in the father of her nephew's chum her girlhood lover.

"Charley's Aunt" is a rapid fire farce that cannot be witnessed without laughter, and is a sure cure for "blues."

DIXIE PROSPEROUS NEGROES BUY GEMS

New York, December 26.—Prosperity throughout the South has extended in a material form to the negroes, according to Oscar F. Uhl, of St. Louis, a member of the firm of Furstenworth-Uhl Company, who is at the Claridge. As a result the purchases of novelty jewelry and "ladies'" novelties, which his firm sells, have about depleted its stock.

Thousands of dollars' worth of orders from the "black belts" of the South for cheap jewelry of a hectic design, which delights the African soul, have been torn up, said Mr. Uhl, because the jewelry has been sold out, and it is impossible to get any more until after the holidays.

"We supply the south, mainly Texas, Arkansas, Oklahoma, Mississippi, and Alabama," said Mr. Uhl, "and the present prosperity has been business so good that it has emptied our warerooms. The negro who has a patch of land on which he grows cotton is indeed a titled person of wealth these days for cotton is selling at unprecedented prices and there is a wild scramble for all that can be purchased.

The negro who works by the day is also fortunate, for the exodus of the negroes to the North has created a demand for labour that even excites the torpid African to steady labour, because of the unusual pay that is received."

St. Louis and all of Missouri are deeply interested in the wet and dry question, he said, and the brewers in St. Louis are doing all in their power to hold off prohibition by demanding strict fealty to the law on the part of the saloon keepers. The brewers themselves, he added, had paid inspectors throughout St. Louis on election day to see that the law regarding closing as observed.

When the winter winds rattle the windows and the ground is covered with snow and everything outside is frozen up tightly, we turn to the new seed catalogues. They remind us of the glories of the season to come.

Eat Oysters And Fruit Now

After Christmas most people feel like enjoying something light and nutritious after the heavy meat and plum pudding dishes.

OYSTERS are a valuable food. They are the tenderest of meats and easily digestible, useful in regulating nutrition.

FRUITS contain delicious cooling and refreshing salts, as stimulating and active in regulating the stomach, liver and other organs.

Nothing nicer this week than our Selshipt Oysters and Fresh and Domestic Fruits and Vegetables.

PRINGLE'S

Sanitary Fruit & Fish Market
Cor. George & Charlotte St.
Phone 197

WEDNESDAY BARGAINS

Plaid Dressgoods

An extra heavy quality of plaid dress goods, suitable for children's school dresses, or ladies' skirts. 40 inches wide. Wednesday Bargain 85c

Colored Dressgoods

Extra heavy qualities of poplins, amures, and serges. Suitable for dresses or skirts. A large range of new colourings. Wednes. day Bargain 75c

Stripe Tweeds

An extra heavy quality of stripe tweeds. Suitable for skirts or dresses. 40 inches wide. A good range of colours. Wednesday Bargain, yard 47c

Women's Flannelette Drawers

Made of heavy quality of flannelette. Drawn in at the knee with elastic and finished with button-hole stitch. Wednesday Bargain 50c

Women's Flannelette Gowns

Made of extra heavy quality of flannelette. With double yoke. Neatly trimmed around the neck and sleeves with self frill. In colours of white and pink. Wednesday Bargain 1.00

Maids' Aprons

Made of fine lawn, and cambric. Neatly hemstitched. In pointed and square styles. Each 60c

White Voile Waists

Made from several of the latest styles, with large collars and surplice and jabot fronts. Daintily trimmed with filly and Val. laces. In white only. Wednesday Bargain 3.00

Lounging Robes

Made of heavy quality of Jap. silk. Neatly quilted and silk lined throughout. Stitched collar, pocket and cuffs. In colours of cardinal, rose, Copenhagen, black and navy. Wednesday Bargain 6.00

Women's ½ Misses' Serge Dresses

Made of heavy quality of English serge, from several of the latest models. Neatly trimmed with silk. In colours of navy and brown. Wednesday Bargain 8.00

Children's Knitted Sets

Consisting of cap and scarf. Made of heavy quality of brushed wool. In combination colours of white and felon, khaki and Kelly, Copenhagen and white. Wednesday Bargain 1.50

Women's Sweater Coats

Made of good heavy quality of yarn. In plain and fancy stitch. With belted or sash back. In colours of grey, Copenhagen, cardinal, and khaki. Each 3.50

Knitted Petticoats

Made of good heavy quality of yarn. In fancy stitch. In plain or striped colours. Each 2.00

Silk Waists

Made of heavy quality of Jap. silk. Made from several of the latest styles with large collars and jabot fronts, or plain fronts with large pearl buttons. In colours of flesh white, and black. Each 3.00

Overall Aprons

Large overall aprons. Made of heavy quality of percale. Neatly piped around neck, sleeves, and pockets. In dark and light colours, and coloured checks. Each 50c

RICHARD HALL & SON LIMITED

TO-DAY'S WAR NEWS

(Continued from Page 5.)

come, will be ready with pleasure to collaborate entirely with the United States at this exalted task."

The answer finishes with the usual terms of international politeness.

WASHINGTON, December 26.—A hasty examination of Germany's reply to-day to President Wilson's peace suggestions, led one of the foremost administration officials to-day to state his belief that the Entente Allies will not be satisfied to meet the Teuton's fresh proposals. He held that Germany had directly dodged the request of the United States for something specific in the way of peace terms.

Italian Patrol Boats Are Sunk

SPECIAL TO THE EXAMINER:

BERLIN, December 26.—Four Austro-Hungarian destroyers in a raid on the night of December 22, sank two armed patrol boats in the Otranto Straits, and on their way back fought through the enemy destroyers, according to a Vienna official report received here to-day.

Artillery Active On The Somme Front

SPECIAL TO THE EXAMINER:

PARIS, December 26.—Active artillery action on Christmas night, on the Somme front in the Lihons region, was reported in to-day's official statement.

Artillery Duels In German Regon

SPECIAL TO THE EXAMINER:

PARIS, December 26.—Artillery duels, unaccompanied by infantry operations in the Cerna region, at Monastir, was reported in to-day's official statement.

Berlin Reports The British Patrol Active

Special to The Examiner:

BERLIN, via Sayville, December 26.—Repeated repulse of British patrols was reported in to-day's official statement, detailing fighting activity on the western front.

Artillery activity has increased at some sectors of the Ypres front, on both sides of the Canal La Bassee and west of Lens.

War Must Be Fought Out To A Finish

Examiner Special:

PARIS, December 26.—In addresses at the National Congress of the French Socialist party, Arthur Henderson, the British Cabinet Minister, and C. H. Roberts, member of the British Parliament, both affirmed, amidst enthusiastic cheers, that the war must be fought out until full guarantees have been obtained for a lasting peace.

"In my opinion," said Mr. Henderson, "if France and ourselves were to enter into negotiations under existing conditions, we should be nations in bondage. Nothing less than that is the price our enemies would exact for peace to-day."

No Let Up n The Fighting For Christmas

SPECIAL TO THE EXAMINER:

LONDON, December 26.—So far as fighting is concerned, Christmas, 1916, was just December 25, to Britain's warriors. The fighting continued in precisely the same way. German efforts to fraternize were discouraged by grenades and trench mortars. One one occasion the Germans in an opposite trench lifted up over their parapet a Christmas tree—and as the Tommies facing it remarked—"We hung oranges, apples and bon-bons on it," or, in other words, they deluged it with grenades.

Troops resting in billets at the rear had special celebrations. There were amateur theatricals, music, and Christmas trees at the field Y. M. C. A. huts.

LONDON, December 26.—Lieut.-General Sir Sam Hughes, formerly Minister of Militia for Canada, will speak to the Canadian Club, in New York city, on "Preparedness and Mobilization," on January 8th, and at an open meeting under the auspices of Toronto Masons, in Toronto, January 9th, on the same subject.

NEW YORK, December 26.—The crew and sixty pasengers of the Swedish steamer Skiffet were drowned when that vessel was mined off Finland, says Lloyd's to-day. The same message told of the burning and submarining of Norwegian and British ships with a total tonnage of 12,378.

LONDON, December 26.—"Practical destruction of the enemy's force in the engagement Saturday at Maghdabah, Egypt," was specially announced by the War Office to-day, that 1,350 prisoners were taken. Enemy defences at Kitia Pass also were destroyed.

PETROGRAD, December 26.—Fierce fighting is in progress at the sources of the River Sahitza, in the region of Dragostatze, where Roumanian troops, by counter attacks, repelled German advances and captured three machine guns.

At the source of the River Riouik advanced Russian posts were pressed back to main positions.

Evacuation of the Roumanian town of Fillipesci after it had been set on fire by artillery was announced.

THE BELLS OF MALINES.

Henry Van Dyke, in Harper's

The gabled roofs of old Malines
Are russet-red and gray and green,
And o'er them in the sunset hour
Looms, dark and huge, St. Rombold's tower.

High in that rugged nest concealed,
The sweetest bells that ever pealed,
The deepest bells that ever rung
The highest bells that ever sung
Are waiting for the master's hand
To fling their music o'er the land.

And shall they ring to-night, Malines?
In nineteen hundred and fourteen,
The frightful year, the year of woe,
When fire and blood and rapine flow
Across the land from lost Liege,
Storm-driven by the German rage?
The other carillons have ceased:
Fallen is Hasselt, fallen Diest,
From Ghent and Bruge no voices come
Antwerp is silent, Brussels dumb!

But in the belfry, O Malines,
The master of the bells unseen
Has climbed to where the keyboard stands,—
To-night his heart is in his hands!
Once more, before invasion's hell
Breaks round the tower he loves so well,
Once more he strikes the well-known keys,
And sends aerial harmonies
Far-floating through the twilight dim
In patriot song and holy hymn.

O listen, burghers of Malines!
Soldier and workman, pale beguine,
And mother with a trembling flock
Of children clinging to thy frock,—
Look up and listen. Listen all!
What tunes are these that gently fall
Around you like a benison?
"The Flemish Lion," "Brabanconne,"
"O brave Liege,' 'and all the airs
That Belgium in her bosom bears.

O brave bell-music of Malines,
In this dark hour how much you mean!
The dreadful night of blood and tears
Sweeps down on Belgium, but she bears
Deep in her heart the melody
Of songs she learned when she was free.

She will not falter, faint, nor fall
But fight until her rights prevail.
And all her ancient belfries ring
"The Flemish Lion," "God Save the King."

BROCK ST. RINK TO-NIGHT

Grand Ice for Skating. Best of the season so far. Band in attendance. Admission 15c and 1c war tax. Bring a copper please.

SYMPATHY FOR MRS. HALL

The letter-carriers of Peterborough sent a number of gifts to the home of Mrs. Hall, Brownstown, whose husband, Pte. W. W. Hall, of the 92nd Highlanders, was killed in action. Accompanying them was the following letter:

Dear Mrs. Hall,—On behalf of the letter-carriers of this city, I desire to express the deep sympathy of the boys in your hours of trial and trouble. We are very sorry indeed to lose your dear husband from our midst. We assure you he has done his duty nobly, and has died a hero in the cause of justice, liberty and freedom.

As a slight token of our respect for your late husband, we desire to in some way keep his memory green with the carriers. We ask you to accept these small gifts for the children, hoping it will in some way lighten the load which you are called to bear at this time.

Wishing you a Merry Christmas and a Happy New Year.—I remain, your friend,

Robt. Reid.

CARD OF THANKS

TO THE ELECTORS OF THE NORTH WARD

Ladies and Gentlemen:—I desire to thank you for for electing me by acclamation for another two year term as your representative in the City Council, and I wish to thank especially my host of friends who came to me and gave their personal assurance of their hearty support. I will do my utmost during the term to serve the City of Peterborough to the very best of my ability.

Wishing you all the compliments of the season, I beg to remain.

Yours faithfully,

A. A. McIntyre

TO THE ELECTORS OF WEST WARD

Let me thank you for my election, and I hope and trust that my record for the next two years will show that your confidence in me has not been misplaced. Wishing you the compliments of the season.

Yours respectfully,

EDGAR WORTH

TO THE ELECTORS OF SOUTH WARD

Ladies and Gentlemen:—For the past two years I have been one of your representatives, and during that time I have endeavored to serve your interests to the best of my ability.

My policy has been to serve the masses rather than the individual, to make no distinction as to race or creed, but to treat and legislate for the benefit of all.

I have given your interests a great deal of time and careful consideration, and have not missed a single meeting either of committee or council. My actions may not suit you all, however I have no regrets to make or apologies to offer, believing that what I did, I did in your interests.

The proposed foot bridge over the Otonabee river in connection with the C.P.R. bridge will mean a great convenience to the residents of the South Ward as well as others. This is something for which I am claiming the whole credit. My action in support in the Bank of Montreal should appeal to every one. Had that financial institution not come to the assistance of the city there would have been no way in which to give employment to the working man, and the depression thus created would have been felt by all.

I have been a strong supporter of proper appliances for the Fire Department, and believe it should be brought to a much higher degree of efficiency by the installment of motor driven appliances. This I am fully prepared to support.

My scheme, endorsed by the Utilities Commission for sanitary plumbing, is something that should appeal to those not in a position to meet the payment in one instalment. Special legislation is being asked for along this line.

As it will be impossible for me to see you all before election day, I ask you for your vote and influence on my behalf and on my past record, assuring you that if elected I will endeavour to serve not only the South Ward, but the citizens generally, to the best of my ability, believing that my experience of two years will very materially assist me in so doing.

Wishing you all the compliments of the season, I have the honour to be,

Your obedient servant,

JOHN EDGAR

Board of Education

To the Electors of the City of Peterborough

Ladies and Gentlemen:—I have been again requested to allow my name to go before you as a candidate for your Public School Board.

As a member of the Board I have endeavoured to give as my best services and if my work has been satisfactory and you deem me to act as one of your representatives for a further term, I will be very pleased to give you my best efforts.

With best wishes for a Happy New Year.

Yours faithfully,

Roland Denne

PRESENTATION MADE TO MR. WM. HARTLEY

Superintendent of Auburn Woollen Company Presented With a Gold Watch, Chain and Charm and a Signet Ring.

APPRECIATIVE ADDRESS

Shortly before closing time on Saturday, Dec. 23rd, Mr. Wm. Hartley, Supt. of the Auburn Woolen Co'y, was waited on by the department heads and other employees, when Mr. Jas. Grisdale, electrician, read the following address, and Mr. F. J. Redpath, foreman carpenter, in behalf of the employees, presented Mr. Hartley with a gold watch, chain and charm, and signet ring, suitably engraved.

Mr. Hartley, though taken completely by surprise, in a few well chosen words, thanked the donors for their handsome gifts. He wished also to take the opportunity of expressing to the employees his appreciation of their support in the daily work which, from the heads of departments down, he had at all times found most loyal. Thanking them for their good wishes for the meaning year for himself and family, he wished one and all a merry Christmas and a bright and happy New Year.

The address was as follows.

Dear Mr. Hartley,—We, your fellow employees of Auburn Woollen Mills, feel that we cannot allow this festive season to pass without expressing in some small degree our appreciation of your many kindnesses to us during the closing year. Your genial disposition is never warped nor your temper twisted, and we can assure you that it is a great pleasure to be associated with you day by day. As a slight mark of our gratitude to you, we ask you to accept this watch with our sincere good wishes, and we hope that each hour it ticks off will serve to weave our associations with you still closer and that it will spell only happy hours for you and yours.

In closing, we unite in wishing you and your family a joyous Christmas and the happiest of New Year's.

Signed by the Foremen and Employees of Auburn Woollen Mills.

Peterborough, Dec 23th, 1916.

Men Wanted at Quaker Oats Elevator. Apply at office near elevator. 3d-148

JOURNAL UNDAUNTED BY FINE

Withholds Workers' List Under Penalty of 20,000 Marks a Day.

In the face of a fine of 20,000 marks a day which the German military authorities have imposed on the Belgian city of Tournai for refusing to furnish a list of men able to work, the Tournai municipal authorities have refused to supply that list, according to a cable message received here yesterday by Pierre Mali, Belgian Consul in New York, from the Belgian Government at Havre.

The despatch was made public by the committee of American citizens which is arranging a Carnegie Hall meeting here Friday night in protest against "enslavement of Belgians."

Further details regarding Belgian deportations by the Germans are set forth in the message, which says that a fine of 200,000 marks against Tournai was imposed on Oct. 3, and that the daily fine of 20,000 marks followed. "List was not delivered and will not be delivered," the despatch yesterday asserted.

The German authorities, after seizing men, the despatch continues, "then obliged municipal administrations to post bills almost invariably drawn up in same terms requesting work men and women aged between 17 and 46 to enroll on lists at the work office opened at the Municipal Building, with offers of salaries of 4 francs 50 centimes a day for qualified workmen, and 3 francs 50 centimes a day for others, working hours ten, adding that, if not enough voluntary workers would present themselves, civilians would be obliged to. Coercive measures announced in case of refusal to work were fine and imprisonment, reduced food, and also punishment of the municipalities through limiting trade, fines, etc."

Through military control lists and electoral lists, the despach says, the Germans looked up "a certain number of people," some of whom were deported to Germany or northern France when they still refused to work. From these latter news has been received, says the message, which continues:

"The regime to which they are subject is terrible and they are crying for help. As they still refuse to work, they are being struck or hit with bayonets. They are almost completely deprived of food and are obliged to stay standing during long hours at a time, face turned toward wall."

The despatch concludes by saying that the Germans have prohibited Tournai from conducting important works on which the daily employment of any large number of workmen is required.

WRIT GUARDS BABY CARRIAGE

Albert Reese Gets Injunction Suspending Rule Against Using the Front Entrance.

NEW YORK, Dec. 23 — The daughter of Albert Reese, now four months old, may ride as much as she pleased in her baby carriage through the front entrance of the Roger Morris apartments, No. 400 West 160th street, by reason of a decision by Justice Greenbaum, in the Supreme Court.

Mr. Reese, who is a lawyer, obtained an injunction temporarily setting aside the rule of the apartments that babies in carriages must leave by the second floor "baby carriage exit." He said the exit was on a steep walk, which was dangerous in winter weather. The rule was made after he signed his lease, he said, there being no reference to it in his agreement.

Soldiers' Wives And Children Were Entertained

Hundreds of children and scores of mothers gathered at the Grand Opera House yesterday afternoon for the entertainment arranged for the wives and families of Peterborough soldiers who are overseas. Seldom has the Grand contained so many youngsters as gathered yesterday, and they seemed to enjoy themselves, even if the details of the feature film shown, "The Heart of Maryland," was undoubtedly over their heads. His Worship Mayor Duffus briefly addressed the little folks, while Miss Hilda Bonnycastle, of Campbellford, sang the new patriotic song, "The Recruit," composed by Charlotte Bonnycastle. Tickets were issued to 612 mothers and 1,660 children.

WAS DRUNK AND HAD THREE BLACK BOTTLES BURDENING HIS POCKETS

He took a drink of "G. and W." before leaving home on Saturday, and not long afterwards his mind became woolly and misty, according to his story in the police court this morning, and remembered nothing of having refused to pay the Dominion Cafe Christmas for a meal. But the worst was yet to come for this young man, who quite freely admitted in the police court that he was drunk. When the police arrested him they found three tall black bottles in his pockets, one of them sealed and full, another empty, and the third partly gone. It was another whiskey betrayal. While intoxicated the young man, in refusing to pay for a meal, had attracted the police. Then followed the disclosure of the whiskey bottles. Hence, instead of facing one charge of being drunk in a public place, there is the additional and more serious alleged offence of having liquor in his possession, in a place other than his own home.

The defendant asked for an adjournment until he could engage counsel. Mr. Hattin scanned the last week of his 1916 diary and reported an engagement for every day except Saturday next. Hence both charges will be considered on December 30th.

"It's Confidence That Does It"

If The Pantry

Has been depleted by the Holiday Festivities, our stock of TABLE NEEDS such as Groceries, Fruits, Confectionery etc., is fully prepared to meet the requirements of customers.

Porter S. White

294 George St. Phone 208

VOTE FOR TAYLOR IN THE South Ward

Board Of Education

Peterborough, Ont., December 20th, 1916

To the Electors of the City of Peterborough

I am a candidate for the Board of Education, and if elected will give my time and attention to the Board's business as far as I am able to do so. For sometime past I have been handicapped by the fact that my partner, Capt. Widdifield, and my clerk, Lieut. John New, were overseas, having enlisted with Battalions that left Canada many months ago, and I was not able to attend some meetings of the Board when I wished to be present. However, I have made some business arrangements which will give me the necessary time to give to the Board's business.

I still adhere to the policy that no man who is a member of a representative body, should himself sell to that body, or which he is a member, because he has no right to be in a position where he is offering something for sale and fixes the prices, and at the same time orders payment of his own bills out of other people's money. I have been blamed for taking this position, but I stick to it unreservedly, and say that it is unbusinesslike, illegal, and not to be excused, to conduct business in methods of that kind.

I ask the ratepayers to support me in this election for a further term.

Wishing you the compliments of the Season, I remain,

Yours faithfully,

G. N. GORDON

Vincent Eastwood

Respectfully Announces His Candidature for Re-Election to

Board of Education

Industrial Day Schools for Peterboro

582 Bargain Annex Event | Wednesday, Dec. 27, 1916

Rapid Selling Is The Slogan For The New Year's Annex Event--To-Morrow

The Annex Wishes Every Customer a Happy and Prosperous New Year

The New Year's Annex Event—the last Annex Sale of the greatest year's business that this department has ever experienced—business that only remarkably value giving makes possible. The last 1916 event offers an even greater than usual price saving opportunity.

Many Christmas Gift Lines to clear at Remarkable Price Reductions

New Year's Wednesday Annex. Buyers will find many lines of gift specials at a quick clearance far below regular prices, and gifts that will be most suitable to remember a friend at New Years. Selection of Books. Stationery, Basket Wear, Men's Wear, etc.

New Year's Annex Leader. Men's Dollar Scotch Wool Underwear 79c garment

Heavy Scotch knit and nearly all wool. Vests are double breasted. The quality is excellent, and if you seek warmth you will find it in these garments. Sizes in shirts 36 to 46; drawers 34 to 44 ..... New Year's Annex Leader, garment 79c

New Year's Annex Leader. Last of the Present Lot of Dress Goods "Mill Ends" $1.19 each

These lengths have been found useful by many women in the city. They run in length from 1¾ to 4 yards. The lot includes light weight Dress Materials and Tweeds, and are worth regularly up to $2.50. The price is special for the New Year's Annex. Each 1.19

New Year's Annex Leader. 27 inch Corduroy Velvets 44c yard

A late arrival shipment of New Corduroy Velvets for the New Year's Annex at less than to-day's cost of production. Splendid quality. Full 27 inches wide. In colours of green, navy, Copenhagen and brown. New Year's Annex Leader, yard 44c

Women's Fleece Lined Hose 22c pair

A warm Stocking for the cold weather, and one can make great cash savings on this line. Heavy black macco, double fleece lined and deep garter ribbed tops. ..... Wednesday Annex, pair 22c

Ladies' and Misses' Overall Tea Aprons 44c

Mostly in colours of grey and blue grey. Belted at waist. Edge of pocket bound with tape. All sizes; ladies' 36 to 42; misses' 14 to 16. Overall style, Price 44c

$1.25 2 & 3 ply Canadian Fac. Yarn 95c lb.

Splendid quality 2 and 3-ply Canadian Factory Yarn. Colours are black, light grey and dark grey. A yarn that is costing more at the mill than the price quoted for Wednesday. Lb. 95c

Odd Lines 35c Dress Goods 24c

Plain colours and fancies are in this clearing lot. Colours are brown, green, navy, pink, sky, cerise and black; also black and white shepherd's checks ..... New Year's Annex price, yard 24c

Last of the Men's and Ladies' $1.00 and $1.25 Silk Mufflers, to clear 29c

You will buy them at a great price reduction. They are new Silk Scarfs with shaped necks and lining mostly of contrasting shades. New Year's Annex, each 29c

30 inch Striped English Flannelette 13¼c

An excellent weight striped Flannelette (English make). 30 inches wide. Light and medium striped patterns. Four hundred yards for Wednesday selling. ..... New Year's Annex, yard 13½c

Women's 65c Grey Underwear 49c garment

Splendid quality 2 and 3-ply Canadian Factory Yarn. Colours value. A cold weather weight. Worth coming early for on Wednesday. The New Year's Annex price will be, garment 49c

40c Bleached Table Linen 33c yard

To-day you will not find a linen on the market to equal this line we are offering on Wednesday. Regular 40c value and 52 inches wide. New Year's Annex, yard 33c

New Year's Annex Leader. 300 yards 15c White Flannelette, 27 inches wide, 10½c yard

This Flannelette to be sold away less than the cost of production. A good strong, substantial cloth. No 'phone orders and not more than 10 yards to a customer. New Year's Annex Leader price will be, yard.. 10½c

Annex Leader $1.55 Flannelette Blankets $1.33 pair

Eighty pairs only of a splendid quality Blanket. Good size; measures 64 x 76. White only, with pink or blue borders. Worth regularly $1.55. ..... New Year's Annex Leader, pair 1.33

New Year's Annex Leader. Girls' & Women's $2.50 Hockey Boots $1.98

Our Special Imperial $2.50 Hockey Boot, for Misses and Women. Strong box calf. Full round toe and warm wool lining. Come early while sizes are complete. A Great New Year's Annex Leader 1.98

Men's & Women's Finest Quality Rubbers

"Shefford Brand" Rubbers for men and women. The quality rubber that we always sell. Fully guaranteed. All sizes.
Men's $1.40 value. Pair 79c
Women's 69c value. Pair 53c

Men's & Big Boys' Coat Sweaters. Annex only 95c

Positively only for the New Year's Annex Leader Sale at this price. Heavy Ribbed Grey Coat Sweaters, with high button storm collars and two side pockets. Sizes for big boys and men. Away less than to-day's cost of production. New Year's Annex Leader 95c

Men's Negligee Shirts 59c or 3 for $1.65

This lot of Shirts has enjoyed great popularity. Material is Percale, made in coat style, with deep laundered cuffs and smart stripe patterns. Sizes 14 to 16½. Regular 85c. Annex, 59c, ... 3 for 1.65

The CRESSMAN Company Limited

THE ANNUAL MEETING OF THE EXPERIMENTAL UNION

Arrangements have been completed for holding the 38th annual meeting of the Ontario Agricultural and Experimental Union at the Ontario Agricultural College, Guelph, on the 9th and 10th of January.

Owing to the peculiar weather conditions of the past year, the results of the co-operative experiments conducted throughout Ontario on between three and four thousand farms will be of peculiar interest and value. Since the last meeting, co-operative experiments have been conducted throughout Ontario with varieties of farm crops; quantities of seed per acre; mixed grains for grain production and for fodder; farm yard manures and commercial fertilizers with winter wheat, potatoes, mangels and rape; the eradication of weeds; the reforesting of waste places; bee-keeping in Ontario, etc.

Not only will the results of the co-operative experiments be presented, but several agricultural subjects of importance will be discussed at the annual meeting, some of which are as follows: "What Ontario should do in regard to Potato Production," "Potato Growers' Co-operative Associations," "The Farmers' Apple Orchard," "The Home Vegetable Garden," "Best Sources of Seed for 1917." "The Production in Ontario of Foodstuffs, 1, Vegetable Products, 2-Meat Products, and 3, Dairy Products," "Cultivation of the Soil," "Management of Soil Fertility," etc. Some of the speakers are Henry G. Bell, Chicago, Dr. G. C. Creelman, Andrew Elliott, Hon. Nelson Monteith, Prof. James Murray, Prof. H. H. Dean, F. C. Hart, Prof. G. E. Day, R. S. Duncan and A. H. McLennan.

All sessions of the union meeting to be held on Tuesday and Wednesday, January 9th and 10th, are open to any person interested in agriculture, and everyone welcome to take part in the meeting. Cheap railway rates have been arranged on the certificate plan. For further particulars and a copy of the programme apply to G. A. Zavitz, Ontario Agricultural College, Guelph, Ontario.

Potatoes a Grocery and Tom Minnicola's a Grocery Shop

Potatoes are a grocery, according to Magistrate Dumble's interpretation of the meaning of that term in the statute under which Mr. Tom Minnecola was charged with selling groceries after hours. And this interpretation cost Mr. Minnecola $2 and costs, amounting to $4.60. The Magistrate delivered his judgment this morning another feature of it being the defining of the Minnecola store as a grocery shop, not merely a fruit store.

A female stool pigeon visited Mr. Minnecola in the evening of December 13th, and after being refused canned goods and other generally accepted groceries, was sold a quantity of potatoes, which Mr. Minnecola said he did not regard as a grocery. It was this point that the Magistrate cleared up in his judgment.

"Groceries," he said, "were sugar, tea, coffee, spices, country produce, light household supplies for the table and similar goods.

"I find nothing in the bylaw or the statute limiting the meaning of the word groceries, and I accept the broad word 'supplies for the table,' as a correct definition of 'groceries,' such supplies; the defendant sold to the customer."

Mr. O'Connell urged that the by-law might apply to the other goods but not to the potatoes. The bylaw in question makes no distinction between shelf goods and other goods, as vegetables, commonly sold by grocers, or that permits him to keep his shop open for the sale of one class of goods but closed as to the sale of other goods. Groceries is a very comprehensive word and covers every edible thing that the defendant had in his shop.

"I find that Minnecola's shop was a grocery shop and that it was not closed on the evening of December 13th, within the definition of the word given by the statute, but that it was open for business during the prohibited hours."

MR. P. T. WEARING'S DEATH A LOSS TO BARRIE DISTRICT

The following notice of the death of Mr. Joseph Wearing, father appeared in the Barrie Examiner:

Last Thursday morning Peter Thomas Wearing of the Fifth Concession, Oro Township, passed away quietly after a sudden and severe attack of pneumonia. He had been at a sale with W. Jermey and was unable to proceed further than the latter's home because of the sudden illness.

The services were held at the home of Mr. Jermey, Fourth Line, and at Guthrie Presbyterian church on Saturday, Dec. 16. The Rev. Neil Campbell referred in feeling terms to the activity of the deceased in the church and community.

The family came from Liverpool, England, in 1893, and three years subsequently settled on the Oro farm. Mr. Wearing leaves a wife, three sons; a daughter, and an adopted son and daughter to mourn his loss. The eldest son, Joseph, is practising law at Peterborough. Thomas is in attendance at the University of Chicago, Lily M. lives at home James P. is an N.C.O. with the Canadian Engineers at the Front, Lilian G. is a nurse in the R. V. Hospital, Barrie, and Norman, a B.C.I. boy, is also in France with the Canadian Engineers. Mrs. Wm. Jermey of the Fourth Concession, is a niece.

The bearers at the burial service were neighbours of the deceased, viz., Messrs. T. C. Ross, Alex. Campbell, Andrew Graham, James Stoddart, Henry Gilchrist, all of Guthrie, and Robt. Robertson of Shanty Bay.

Mr. Wearing has left behind him the monument of an active and useful Christian life and his loss is keenly felt in the neighbourhood. Mrs. Wearing and the family have the sincere sympathy of the community in their sorrow.

Cholera Spreads To Korea---Fishing Industry Crippled

Tokio, December 23. — Although cool weather has brought a decrease of the cholera at Tokio, the malady continues to spread at Osaka. Up to October 10, the cases at Tokio had reached 548, at Osaka the total was 2,001, with an increase of twenty each day.

At Tokio there have been 151 deaths already. The authorities believe that by the end of the month the epidemic will be entirely wiped out here. No foreigner has been attacked by the disease so far as known.

The spread of the cholera to Korea has had a serious economic effect there as the authorities have prohibited fishing extending in a zone along 200 miles of coast. Cholera is believed by many physicians to be easily circulated from fish tissue and the fishermen of Korea are said to have failed to comply with the sanitary measures ordered by the health department.

Some 270,000 fishermen, commanding 40,000 boats, are thus thrown out of work at the most fruitful fishing period of the year. Fear of fish as a microbe carrier has reduced the consumption of fish throughout the Japanese Empire, and as fish next to rice is the chief food of the people the ban placed upon it has caused misery among both the fishermen and the distributors.

The One As Bad As the Other.

"My daughter is taking singing lessons, and she keeps up such a terrific row that I never go home except to eat and sleep."

"You're in luck. My daughter is taking cooking lessons, and I don't even dare to eat at home."

Annual Concert of Lakefield Methodist S.S.

Good Programme Rendered Last Night—Visitors Over the Holidays

Mr. R. Gloyn Madill, of Queen's University, is spending the holiday at his home in the village.

Miss C. Park is spending the holiday at her home in Peterborough.

Miss S. MacDonald is spending the holiday at her home in Belleville.

Miss K. Simpson, of Kew Beach, Toronto, has arrived in the village to spend the holiday at her home.

Mr. Alex. Fraser, of McGill University, is spending the holiday at his home here.

Mr. Holton J. Madill, of Belleville, spent Christmas at his home in the village.

Miss Louise Brown, of Toronto University, is spending the holiday at her home here.

Mr. Arthur Murduff, of Hamilton, is spending Christmas at his home here.

Mr. Hilliard Millar, of Port Hope, is spending the holiday at his home here.

Mr. Henry Battan, of Dummer, spent Sunday in the village.

Miss Elsie Sherin, of Dummer, is spending the holiday at her home in the village.

Mr. P. Edwards, of Peterborough, spent Christmas at his home here.

Mr. James Graham, of Peterborough, spent Christmas at his home here.

Mr. John Sabatino spent Monday at his home here.

Messrs. Thomas and Vandal Simpson, of Peterborough, spent the holiday at their home here.

The annual concert given by the children of the Lakefield Methodist Sunday School was held on Monday night, Dec. 25th, in the basement of the church. The following programme was rendered, which was greatly enjoyed by the record audience which attended:

Chairman's address, Rev. C. W. Barrett.
Recitation, Miss Zeta Nixon.
Chorus, Primary Class.
Song, Miss Hannah Webster.
Recitation, Master Elwood Northey.
Song, Master Sam. Spence.
Recitation, Miss Jean Webster.
Recitation, Master Garnet Graham.
Duet, Misses Candie and Mary Kennedy.
Recitation, Master E. Dunsford.
Brownie Chorus, Six Boys.
Recitation, Miss Edna Frankish.
Recitation, Miss Ora Dunsford.
Solo, Miss Maude Nixon.
Recitation, Miss Muriel Boyce.
Motion song, Six Girls.
Recitation, Gordon Barrett.
Trio, Misses Doris Hill, Bessie Madill and Elva Nugent.
Instrumental, Miss Lela Waldon.
Hoop drill, Twelve Girls.
Recitation, Master Frank Erskine.
Chorus, Six Girls.
Recitation, Master H. Dunsford.
Chorus, Eight Girls.
Recitation, Master George Sherin.
Solo, Mr. Henry Battan.
Intermission.
Instrumental, Miss G. Simpson.
Drill, Sixteen Girls.
Dialogue, "Woman's Rights."
Duet, Misses Alice and Mary Hill.
Recitation, Miss Alice Hill.
Recitation, Miss Vera Hendren.
Solo, Mr. H. Batten.
Dialogue, "Interrupted Gossip."
"God Save the King."

Miss G. Everett, of Norwood, is spending the holiday at her home here.

Mr. Fred Graham, of Peterborough, spent Christmas at his home here.

Mr. and Mrs. W. Nicholls and children, of Smith, spent Christmas in the village, the guests of Mrs. T. Simpson.

Men Wanted at Quaker Oats Elevator. Apply at office near elevator 3d-148

NEW BOOKS AT THE PUBLIC LIBRARY

The following new books have just been placed on the shelves at the Public Library:

Scylla or Charybois?, Broughton.
Not Wisely But Too Well, Broughton.
Alas! Broughton.
Second Thoughts, Broughton.
A Beginner, Broughton.
The Barbary Coast, Edwards.
Cuba, Wright.
Statesman's Year-Book 1916, Scott, Kettle edition.
Coin Types, Macdonald.
Soul of Russia, Stephens.
Songs in Time's Despite, J. L. Milligan.
Come Out of the Kitchen, Miller.
Ethnology of The Tewa Indians, Smithsonian Institute Pres.
Worn Doorstep, Sherwood.
Rocks of Valpré, Dell.
Lady Connie, Mrs. H. Ward.
Arcadian Adventures of the Idle Rich, Leacock.
Sunshine Sketches of a Little Town, Leacock.
Wild Animals I Have Known, Seton.
Poems, L. M. Montgomery.
Chums.
Empire Annual for Boys.
Chatterbox.
Keeper of the Door, Dell.
Boys' Own Annual.

A. O. H.

Members of div No 1 Ancient Order of Hibernians will meet this evening in their hall at 8 p m to make arrangements for the funeral of Bro. W. J. Tetro

John J. Devlin, President

Ladies' Fur Setts

In case you have failed to remember some of your friends at Christmas, just come and see some of the exquisite styles we are showing in Muffs and Neck Pieces. Nothing can be more acceptable as a Christmas or New Year's Gift.

W. E. LECH Manufacturing Furrier and Hatter
258 GEORGE STREET . . . NEAR SIMCOE ST.

THE WEATHER

The lowest temperature of this winter, up to the present time, was experienced last night, the thermometer being down to 7 degrees below zero. Yesterday was an ideal Christmas day as far as the weather was concerned—sharp and bright, with good sleighing. Lowest temperature 3 above zero, highest 22.—W. P.

Gross Darkness.—Not long ago a local preacher, officiating in that capacity in a mining village not very far from Newcastle, announced as his text: "And gross darkness covered the earth." He proceeded as follows: "My dear friends, we all know the darkness that there is down in the pit, but as may tell ye that that's not the darkness in the pit by fower, that wadden't be it either. Three times fower times fy three, even that wadden't be the darkness mentioned in the text."

Something For Your Table

New Year Presents that look well and WEAR well are a source of lasting satisfaction to the giver as well as to the recipient.

BRITISH-MADE SILVERWARE
The Standard of the World

In this line we offer some specially pleasing articles.

A cheerful welcome to all shoppers whether to look or to buy.

SCHNEIDER The Jeweller, George St.

Holiday Fruits

Sunkist Oranges
California Pears
French Dates
Choice Apples
Pomegranites, Bananas
Nuts Shelled-Unshelled
Table Raisins
Cluster Raisins
New Figs & Dates
California Cucumbers
Fresh Lettuce
Crisp Celery, etc

FISH
Shrimps, Sea Salmon, Salmon trout White fish
Sea Herring, Halibut
Oysters Received Daily

Dumont & Gelitas
375 George St. Phone 18 & 19

Robert Fair & Company Ltd.

Wednesday Bargains

To-morrow will be a day of very special reductions in every department, particularly the deep cuts that have been made in---

Scarfs, Handkerchiefs, Fancy Linens,
Bathrobes, Comforters, Blankets
and all Classes of Knitted Woolen Wear

The most drastic cut in prices will be found in the
READY-TO-WEAR SECTION, 1st FLOOR UP
Every Suit and Coat and Silk Blouse must be cleared out and the prices we have named on each garment bear evidence of this determination.

While our usual list of bargains do not appear to-day you will find our values very unusual.

City and General

Good skating at East City Rink afternoons and evenings. Admission 10c.

PROBABILITIES.

Strong easterly winds, occasional sleet snow or sleet to-night and on Wednesday. Milder on Wednesday.

Broken auto cylinders, machinery and stoves welded, by the new Oxo Acetelyne Process. Anything in iron, steel or aluminum made as good as new, not patched up. Millard's Bicycle Shop Hunter street, near Aylmer.

ENGLISH MAIL.

A small amount of English mail came in this morning. The parcel post has not yet arrived.

PIANO TUNING.

'Phone 898, The Greene Music Co., Charlotte Street, when your piano requires tuning or regulating. All work guaranteed. dtf

CHRISTMAS TEA AND CONCERT.

Don't forget the Christmas tea and concert in Mark street Methodist church to-night. Songs, dialogues, etc. A good time promised. Admission, 15c.

FINE POST CARDS.

Post Cards of Quaker Oats fire IN COLOURS, 10c. each. See the specimens in the show case. Vincent Studio, George Street. 2nd-24-3

REGULAR MEETING.

The regular monthly meeting of the Canadian Kitchener League will be held on Wednesday afternoon, Dec. 27th, at the Y.W.C.A. at 3.30. Every member is requested to be present.

DENTAL.

Dr. McKenty, Dentist, 370 George Street, on the ground floor, first door north of Peterborough Hardware Company. Nitrous oxide and oxygen administered for painless operations. 26d-128

PURSE WAS STOLEN.

A lady who travelled from Dallis, Texas, and is visiting in East City with friends had the misfortune to have her purse stolen in the intense crowd at St. Louis, Mo.

CLEANING, PRESSING AND REPAIRING.

'Phone 1416 for Cleaning, Pressing and Repairing. Goods called for and delivered promptly. Mrs. Read, 150 Rubidge Street. dtf

EXPRESS AND BAGGAGE.

E. D. Cooney, a returned soldier, has taken over the express business of Eddie Reid and will give prompt and careful attention to all work entrusted to him. Phone 847. E. D. Cooney, 340 Aylmer street. 24d-44

FUNERAL TO-MORROW.

The funeral of the late W. J. Fetro will leave his late residence, 506 Bethune street at 8.30 a.m. on Wednesday, 27th inst., and proceed to St. Peter's Cathedral, thence to St. Peter's cemetery for interment.

YOUR TYPEWRITER'S EFFICIENCY

Is enhanced by co-operation of the typewriter and this can only be, when the machine used is in good condition. A few dollars spent in this renovation of machines will repay you many times over, if you deal at Nelson's Typewriter Co. We sell ribbons, carbons and general office supplies as well as ALL MAKES OF TYPEWRITERS. OPPOSITE ORIENTAL HOTEL.

A GOOD PURCHASE.

We purchased a complete line of pipes before the advance in prices, real amber, extra good briar. We have also a very large stock for Christmas of cigars and tobaccos. We always give extra good value. Call and see us.—Yeates Bros, 339 George street.

E. B. CLEGG & CO.

Furniture purchased now as gifts, will be held until Christmas week if desired. Dining room furniture on sale this week. Some handsome styles to choose from. A collection of colonial art craft and modern style buffets. See our show window. A fine example of the William and Mary style.

CARD OF THANKS.

Mrs. J. MacKenzie and Family, 310 Maitland Ave., wish to express their sincere thanks to Court Langton, C.O.F., the employees of the C.G.E. and the many friends generally for the kindness and sympathy extended to them in their recent bereavement, also for the beautiful flowers that were sent.

WEDDING BELLS

DUNK—WILDMAN.

On Friday, Dec. 29, Miss Etta Wildman and Stephen Dunk, both of this city, were united in marriage at St. James' Methodist Parsonage, the Rev. B. Greatrix officiating. Mr. and Mrs. Dunk will reside on Lock street.

FARR—STEWARD.

A pretty wedding was solemnized on Christmas day at the residence of Mr. Thomas Farr, when Miss Caroline Steward became the bride of Mr. Walter Farr, the Rev. Mr. Greatrix performing the ceremony. Mr. and Mrs. Farr will reside in the city.

FOWLER—HAYTON.

A quiet but very pretty wedding was solemnized on Christmas night, December 25th, at eight o'clock, at the George street parsonage, by Rev. R. G. Peever, when Miss Laura Hayton of 503 Sherbrooke street, was united in the holy bonds of matrimony to Mr. Elmer Fowler, of 240 Murray street. The bride was attired in a suit of black velvet with hat to match. The groom's gift to the bride was a handsome black muff. Mr. and Mrs. Fowler will reside at 240 Murray street.

SAUNDERS—TULLETT.

On Christmas Day, at the home of Mr. and Mrs. George Whatley, 20 Stewart Street, a very pretty wedding was solemnized, when Mr. William Saunders and Miss Mary Tullett were united in marriage. The bride, attired in white silk, carried a bouquet of white roses. Miss Carrie Saunders, sister of the groom, who was dressed in pink silk, acted as bridesmaid, while the groom was attended by Mr James Whatley. The house was beautifully decorated for the occasion, while the wedding couple stood under a pretty white arch. The ceremony was performed by the Rev. Donald Brown, their pastor, both being active members of the Park Street Baptist Church. The guests numbered about twenty-five, consisting of the intimate friends of the bride and groom. They were the recipients of many beautiful gifts. The young couple will reside temporarily at 20 Stewart St.

THOMPSON—STEER.

A very pretty wedding took place in All Saints Church on December 25th, 1916, when Miss Bertha Amelia Steer, the eldest daughter of Mr. Harry Steer, High Street, Peterboro, was united in the holy bonds of matrimony to William James Thompson, eldest son of Mr. Wm. Thompson, of 166 Stewart street, city. The bridal party entered the church to the strains of a popular wedding march played by the organist of All Saints' church. The bride leaning on the arm of her father, was attended by Misses Flora and Ada Steer, sisters of the bride. The groom was supported by Mr. Wm. Wheeler. The bride looked charming in a silver gray suit trimmed with plush with a hat to match, while the bridesmaids wore navy blue suits trimmed with fur and hats to match.

The bride having been presented for marriage by her father the ceremony was performed by the Rev. Mr. Grohl of All Saints' Church. After the ceremony the bridal party proceeded to the home of the bride's parents, where a sumptuous repast was served, the table being beautifully decorated with lilies and brides blossoms. Over 20 guests were present. The groom's gift to the bride was a silver tea set, silver chest, and to the bridesmaids gold wrist watches. The young couple received many costly and beautiful presents showing the high esteem in which they were held. Amid showers of confetti the happy couple left on the 3.38 C.P.R. train for Toronto and points west. The bride's travelling suit included a beautiful Hudson seal coat trimmed with fox fur, with furs to match. On their return Mr. and Mrs. Thompson will reside at 323 Simcoe street.

GROUP PICTURES

Good time now when the visitors are at home for the holidays to have a group Picture taken. Make arrangements to sit at—

374½ George Street — The Moule Studio — Phone No. 46

New York Stock Market

Summary of To-day's Activities on the New York Stock Exchange

NEW YORK, Dec. 26. — Stocks stronger to-day. U. S. Steel mounted to 107 during the morning.

Chicago Grain—

Wheat 188 3-4, July wheat 178 1-2, December corn 91 1-2.

New York Stocks—

Airbrake, 146, 147 3-4; Atchison, 104, 104 7-8; B. & O., 84, 85 7-8; C.P.R., 167, 167 3-4; N.Y. Central, 104, 104 1-2; Reading, 104 3-4, 105 5-8; U. P., 148, 147 3-4; U. S. Steel, 107 3-8, 107 1-4; Anaconda, 83, 82 3-4; Inter. Nickel, 42 5-8, 44; Amn. Loco., 76 3-4, 76; Rep. Steel, 77 1-2, 78 1-4; Erie, 35, 35 3-8; Erie 1st Pfd, 53 3-4, 56; Pa. Steel, 540.

Canadian Stocks—

Steamers, 35; Steel of Canada, 65, 65 1-2; N. S. Steel, 113; Smelters, 33; Cement, 63 1-4, 63 3-4; Gen. Elec., 111 bid; Can. Loco., 88 bid.

LIVE STOCK MARKET

TORONTO, Dec. 26.—Live stock receipts very light, trade quiet. Choice heavy steers, $8 to $8.50. Hogs, f.o.b. $11.15 and $11.25, others steady.

BIRTH.

CALLADINE—On Friday, Dec. 22, 1916, to Sgt.-Major and Mrs. Calladine, 549 Elm street, a son.

Social and Personal

Mr. Alec. Spence, Downie street, spent Christmas with the guest of his mother, in Ottawa.

Miss Lenore Sanderson, Collingwood, is the guest of her mother, Mrs. W. A. Sanderson, Brock street, for the holidays.

Lieut. Douglas Huycke, Kingston, spent Christmas at his home, East City.

Miss Grace Elston, Toronto University, is spending the holidays in the city.

Mr. and Mrs. Chas. Perry, American House, spent Christmas with friends in Toronto.

Mrs. A. G. Lawless, Lakefield, is a visitor in the city.

Mr. and Mrs. Fred McCluskey, Toronto, came down for over the holiday.

Mr. and Mrs. Jas. S. Arnott, and daughter Louise, of Otonabee, are spending the Christmas holidays in Port Hope, the guests of Sergeant and Mrs. J. N. Lawrie.

Mr. Jas. S. Arnott spent Sunday in Trenton with his cousin, Mr. A. B. Arnott.

Mr. Jack Kennaley is home from St. Michael's College, Toronto, for the holidays.

Mr. Tom Carson was home from Saginaw, Mich., for Christmas.

Mr. Roy Smyth, of the Royal Bank staff, Beaton, was a Christmas visitor at his home here.

Mr. Harry Hook was down from Toronto for the holiday.

Mr. Arthur Bartley of Toronto, spent the Christmas week-end at his home here.

Messrs. Arthur Primeau and Frank Barrie were up from Cobourg to spend Christmas at home.

Mr. Ray Rose was down from Toronto for the holiday.

Mr. Joe Dwyer, the former Peterborough player, and now goalkeeper for the Sarnia team, spent Christmas at his home here.

Mr. Art Hall of Rochester, N.Y., was in Peterborough on Saturday, going on to Montreal Saturday evening.

Mr. and Mrs. E. R. Wotten of Belleville, spent Christmas with the former's parents, 175 Rubidge street.

Miss Biggs and Mrs. Howe, of Pembroke, sisters of Mrs. (Rev.) R. G. Peever, are guests at George street Methodist parsonage for the holiday season.

Mr. Will Abraham of the Examiner mechanical staff, has been called away by the death in Toronto of his brother Leonard Abraham, who passed away yesterday from an attack of pneumonia.

Mr. W. G. Cochrane, who is with the Quaker Oats Company at Houston, Texas, is home on a ten day holiday. When Mr. Cochrane left Houston it was 76 in the shade, quite a change in climatic conditions to 5 below here. Mr. Cochrane states that there was an extraordinary Christmas traffic all the way home.

Mrs. F. J. A. Hall has returned from Edmonton.

Mr. and Mrs. Norman Montgomery of Brighton, spent Christmas with friends in the city.

Mr. Norman A. Rae returned to Ottawa this morning, after spending Christmas with his parents, Sherbrooke Street.

Lieut. Gordon Grahame left on Saturday for Morrisburg, where he will report for duty on the canal guard. Mrs. Grahame will join him soon.

Miss Mattie Robertson, Fenelon Falls, was the guest of friends in the city for the week end.

Mr. Lennox McLaren spent the holiday at his home in Renfrew.

Misses Maragret and Agnes Neill and Miss Ethel Morrison spent Christmas in Toronto, the guest of Miss Madeline Morrison nurses-in-training at the Sick Children's Hospital.

Miss Kathleen Baker Lindsay is the guest of Miss Agnes Lynch, Park street.

Mrs. John Coughlin, 466 Rubidge street spent the holiday in Toronto, where she went to say good-bye to her nephew, Lieut. J. G. Murphy of the Canadian Engineers.

Mr. and Mrs. D. D. C. Dawe spent the holiday at Napanee.

Mr. Thos. McNamara came up from Marlee to spend Christmas at home.

Sergt. Instructor Lorne L. Hicks of the wireless branch of the training for signallers at Kingston, is spending the holidays with his parents, 411 Downey street. Sergt. Hicks has charge of the only military wireless class in Canada.

Mr. Harry Evans of Detroit, was home for the holiday.

Messrs. Art. Primeau, and Frank Barrie of Cobourg, spent the Christmas week end in the city.

Mr. Kier Galvin of Montreal was among the local boys home for Christmas.

Messrs. J. O'Brien and Herman Wolfe of Belleville, were home for Christmas.

Messrs. T. F. Matthews and Mrs. A. H. Stratton returned on Sunday morning from an extended visit to England.

Mr. F. L. Cross spent Christmas, the guest of Mr. and Mrs. Aylmer, Weller street, and returned to Barrie this morning.

Miss Jessie Matthews, Miss Margaret Turner and Miss Rosamond Huycke, Bishop Strachan's School, are in the city for the holiday.

Mr. and Mrs. Duncan Coulson have gone to Peterborough for Christmas.—Mail and Empire.

Mr. Reginald Lockhart has returned from England.—Toronto Mail and Empire.

Mr. and Mrs. R. M. Waddell have returned from St. Catharines.

Mr. Suckling, Windsor, was in the city for Christmas.

Miss Rosamond Jewell, Toronto, is the guest of her mother, Mrs. F. Curtis, George street, for the holidays.

Mr. and Mrs. Crowe Celebrated Their Golden Wedding

A happy family reunion featured the celebration of the fiftieth anniversary of the wedding of Mr. and Mrs. Chas. Crowe, 45 Sophia Street, Ashburnham. Their ten children were present, as follows: Mrs. J. A. Dodds, Engleburn Avenue; Mr. Wm. Crowe, 43 Sophia Street; Mrs. J. Nelles, Sophia Street; Mrs. F. P. Champion, Burnham Street; Mr. Sidney Crowe, Park Street; Mr. George Crowe, Alfred Street; Mrs. Wm. White, McDonnel Street; Mr. Wesley Crowe, at home, all of Peterborough, and Mrs. E. W. Sager and Miss Bessie Crowe, of Buffalo.

Mr. and Mrs. Crowe's family had grown during the past fifty years to a present total of thirty-three, all of whom, children and grand-children, were present at the Christmas Day celebration. They were married in Dummer in 1866, and with their children have been among the city's well-known residents, especially across the river. Mr. and Mrs. Crowe were married on the 10th of August, but the golden jubilee fete was postponed until Christmas, in order that all the family might be together for the occasion. Dinner was a double feature yesterday, and the usual games and amusements, with music, made the occasion a memorable one for the family. Mr and Mrs. Crowe have the best wishes of their friends that they may be spared for other years of wedded life.

CHRISTMAS AT THE TEMPLE

The Christmas celebration at the S. A. Temple last night was one of the best in every respect held on that occasion, standing room being at a premium. The kiddies enjoyed themselves immensely. Santa Claus did well and the presents for the young children were excellent and appreciated.

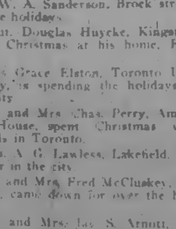
Mrs. Lang and her associates did exceptionally well with the three numbers they rendered, especially that of the Pilgrims.

Santa Claus will visit Bailey's on Thursday evening, together with a special programme, and at Byersville on Thursday night in the same way.

We wish all our many friends a Happy and a Prosperous New Year

Keep Up The Xmas Spirit

You will want to select some suitable Gift for your Friends who were overlooked at Christmas. Excellent chance will be found at this store, notwithstanding the heavy shopping before Christmas.



We will be pleased to show a large assortment of suitable suggestions for New Year's Gifts—such as

Diamonds, Watches, Clocks, Jewelry, Rings, Necklaces, Cut Glass, Silverware, Wrist Watches, Military Watches, Boys' Watches, Girls' Watches, Brooches, Fobs, Tie Pins, Crosses, Lockets, Ebony Goods, Ivory Goods and Thousands of Other Articles

Warne Bros.

DIAMOND HALL
NEXT TO WARNE DRUG CO

FOWLER'S PEBLO GLASSES

The Season's Greetings

Thanks for the Year's Prosperity and Best Wishes for a Prosperous New Year.

A. A. FOWLER DOCTOR OF OPTICS Pen. B. Toronto University
EYESIGHT SPECIALIST with NUGENT DRUG COMPANY

RESTORE THE NATURAL SIGHT

Flower Day Was a Success

$155 Realized by Soldiers' Wives and Mothers' Club

The Flower Day under the auspices of the Soldiers' Wives' and Mothers' Club on Saturday was very successful, the sum of $155 being realized, which will be used towards buying comforts for the Peterborough boys overseas. The streets were crowded, and the people gave readily. With a larger staff working the amount might have been doubled.

Oxyacetylene Burner To Speed Searching

The Quaker Oats Company have brought an oxyacetylene burner from Toronto to speed the work of removing the debris from the north end of the destroyed plant. With this appliance the heavy girders and other metal work that impedes the work of searching for the bodies that remain in the ruins can be broken into pieces. The company desire to speed up the work as rapidly as possible, and brought in the acetylene plant for that purpose.

A CHAPTER ON CORNS.

Tells How They Are Made and What They Do to Their Owners.

Corns, like corsets, boarding houses, and late hours, are a menace to one's sweet disposition.

Corns are hard growths which occur on the toes or some other part of the feet. They are generally the result of wearing a shoe too small for the foot. They are thickenings of the outer layer of the skin, in the centre of which is a nail-like peg which projects downward and hurts when pressed upon. Soft corns form between the toes, and are only different from others in that they are soaked with perspiration all the time. The corn itself is composed of a lump of the outer part of the skin which is caused by the pressure of the shoe at that spot.

However the corn would not result unless the pressure were taken off at intervals, and this, of course, is done when you take the shoe off. It stands to reason that if the pressure were continuously applied to this spot, the skin, instead of overgrowing at that precise point, would waste away. The overgrowth of the skin is due to the irritation produced by the pressure.—Popular Science Monthly.

Renew your subscription.

THE BRAYLESS MULE A WAR DEVELOPMENT

PARIS, Dec. 26.—The brayless mule is one of the scientific developments of the war. Large numbers of mules have been imported from America for use at the front, but their habit of braying at inconvenient moments had to be remedied before they could be used to the best advantage. The veterinary experts were called in, and after a little experiment they discovered that a slight operation on the nostril had the desired effect, and all the mules sent to the front are now made mute by this process.

Family Re-unions

The picture your friends want to see is the one you see in the mirror on New Year's Morn.

When Family Gathering and Friendships Chums come together is an opportune time to have Group Photos taken, that you may not be able to arrange for again.

If the boy or girl is home get busy and make an appointment by call or phone.

Troy
140½ Hunter Street

PETERBOROUGH CHORAL SOCIETY

"The Messiah"

St. Paul's Church
TUESDAY, 2nd Jan., at 8 o'clock

SOLOISTS

Miss DOROTHY ALLAN, Peterboro, Soprano
Miss PEARL STEINHOFF, Toronto, Contralto
Miss FLOWERS, Peterboro, Pianist
Mr ALBERT DOWNING, Toronto, Tenor
Mr MARLEY SHERRIS, Toronto, Bass
Mr T. I. PALMER
Mr. JOHN ALLAN, Conductor

Tickets 50c may be had from Messrs Madill, Coleman, Barrie, Smith's Store.

Skates and Hand Sleighs

Notwithstanding the exceptionally large demand for Skates and Hand Sleighs during the past week we still have a complete stock and any one wanting either or both will find it to their advantage to examine our stock before purchasing.

PETERBORO HARDWARE Co
LIMITED

10 Pages

The Evening Examiner

VOL. LVII. No. 149 PETERBOROUGH WEDNESDAY, DECEMBER 27, 1916 PRICE TWO CENTS

LIVERY

FONTAINE'S LIVERY FOR BEST DRIVING HORSES IN THE CITY. AUTOS AND TAXIS FOR HIRE. CAREFUL DRIVERS AND GOOD SERVICE. 'PHONE 702. 188 HUNTER

A. A. FOWLER

— FOR —

BOARD of EDUCATION

New Blood Means New Energy

In selecting your candidates for the Board of Education, keep in mind that the keynote of progress is renewed life and vigor in the executive bodies that have to handle the business of this growing City.

In offering myself as candidate for a position on this board, I do so realizing that only a man's best service will meet the growing need for practical business methods in this most important branch of the City's business. My record as a business man for the last fourteen years and a lifelong resident in Peterborough, residing in East City for twenty-five years, is well known to a large number of our citizens, and I trust is sufficient evidence of my ability to warrant your support in my present candidature.

Should I be elected, I promise to weigh most carefully all matters involving expenditure of the City's finances, and to countenance only strictly business methods in undertaking any work being handled by this Board.

Soliciting the support of every progressive voter, I am,

Yours for progress,

A. A. FOWLER

Your Vote is Respectfully Solicited by

G. N. GORDON

For the Board of Education

Vincent Eastwood

Respectfully Announces His Candidature for Re-Election to

Board of Education

Industrial Day Schools for Peterboro

Board of Education

To the Electors of the City of Peterborough:

Ladies and Gentlemen,—I have been again requested to allow my name to go before you as a candidate for your Public School Board.

As a member of the Board I have endeavoured to give it my best services and if my work has been satisfactory and you desire me to act as one of your representatives for a further term, I will be very pleased to give you my best efforts.

With best wishes for a Happy New Year.

Yours faithfully,

Roland Denne

BOARD OF EDUCATION

To the Electors of the City of Peterborough:

Ladies and Gentlemen,—I have been again nominated as a candidate for the Board of Education, and if my services in the past have been satisfactory to you, and it is your desire that I represent you for another year term, I will deem it a pleasure to give you my very best service on the Board. Wishing you the compliments of the season, I am,

Yours faithfully,

B. F. ACKERMAN

Renew your subscription.

Germany's Answer Reveals Overwhelming Desire For Peace

Allies Will Not Accept Germany's Proposals

SWEDEN HAS JOINED WITH UNITED STATES IN PEACE SUGGESTIONS

Present Plans Call For No More Note Writing on the Part of President Wilson---Allies Will Definitely Decline to Negotiate Peace on a Basis of "As You Were Before the War."

WILL NOT ACCEPT GERMANY'S PROPOSALS

LONDON, December 27. — Sweden has joined with America and Switzerland in peace suggestions, the Daily Telegraph asserted to-day. According to their information, a Swedish note, identical in terminology to the Swiss peace statement, has been presented to the belligerents.

WASHINGTON, December 27.—One of the highest United States officials here told the United Press to-day that present plans call for no more note writing to Germany.

He added that of the "Marina," "Arabia," and other cases develop a clear-cut violation of Germany's pledges in the Sussex case, or if Germany starts a new submarine campaign in case peace fails, then a break in relations can be the only answer.

He declared that President Wilson's "peace" note and Secretary Lansing's subsequent "verge of war" statement were in a measure educational, so that the country would not wonder what it was all about in event matters came up to the breaking points.

NOT PEACE "AS YOU WERE."

LONDON, December 27.—The Allies will definitely decline to negotiate peace on a basis of "As you were before the war." The Allies certainly will not accept Germany's proposal, in her note to America, for an immediate peace conference. That was entirely clear to-day.

The Teutonic reply to President Wilson's note was hailed here as referring a splendid opportunity for England and her Allies to set before the world a statement which would completely epitomize the ideals and aims of the Entente Powers in the war.

The British public was impressed by the fact that despite what was termed a lack of sincerity in moving for a real peace, the suggestions in Germany's reply nevertheless reveal an overwhelming desire for peace.

WANTS TO FIND IF SOMEBODY MADE MILLIONS BY HAVING HAD A TIP ON PRESIDENT'S NOTE

Representative Wood, of Indiana, Causes a Big Flurry in the House by Introducing a Resolution For an Investigation of Rumours and Suspicions That There Was a Big Stock Jobbing Deal.

TEXT OF RESOLUTION

WASHINGTON, D.C., December 27. — Insinuation that some one "high in the administration of governmental affairs" or relatives of some one "high in the administration of governmental affairs" may have profited financially in the stock market by reason of President Wilson's note to the Powers on the subject of peace is contained in the resolution offered in the House by Representative William R. Wood, republican, of Indiana, authorizing an inquiry into the subject.

The Indiana member without formality dropped his resolution into the basket provided for the purpose on the clerk's desk, but when the fact became known on the floor there was a flurry of excitement and an effort made to ascertain what information had led to the introduction of the resolution. It was possible, however, to obtain only rumours and expressions of the suspicion that some one with probable knowledge of the diplomatic action contemplated by the President had "sold short" in Wall street and made a large sum of money when the market broke in "war brides" and tumbled.

TEXT OF THE RESOLUTION

The Wood resolution reads:

"Resolved, That a committee of five Representatives be appointed by the Speaker of the House, to investigate and make report as to whether or not any one in the administration of governmental affairs in the United States, or any relative of any one high in the administration of governmental affairs in the United States, profited financially, either directly or indirectly, by the fluctuations of the stock market occurring on Thursday, December 21, 1916, following the two contradictory interpretations given to the public from the office of the Secretary of State concerning the note of the president of the United States dated December 20, 1916, to the belligerent Powers."

No names were mentioned either by Representative Wood or those who entertained suspicions that there had been stock jobbing, although there were suggestions made as to persons who might have made use of knowledge they might have possessed.

Representative Wood did not make any statement on the floor of the House, but to a newspaper correspondent he said:—

"There have been rumours around the House all day that millions have been cleaned up in the stock market by persons who received advance information about the peace note and the developments of the last few days.

TO FIND IF THERE WAS A LEAK.

"These reports have been discussed privately here on the floor and in

(Continued on Page 4.)

A Vote For

F. W. DOAN

Board Of Education

Means Preparedness by Better Technical Training

Big Steamer Is Aground

Special to The Examiner:

Tokio, December 27.—The steamship Sankaku Maru, re-ported off Chosiko, with crew and passengers totaling four hundred. The position of the vessel to-day was said to be "hopeless." Two Americans are among the Sankakau's passengers.

Family Reunions

The picture your friends want to see is the one you put in the mirror on New Year's Morn.

When Family Gathering and Friendships Chums come together is an opportune time to have Group Photos taken, that you may not be able to arrange for again.

If the boy or girl is home get busy and make an appointment by call or phone.

Troy

140½ Hunter Street

Joffre Will Be Made Marshall

SPECIAL TO THE EXAMINER:

Paris, December 27.—Joffre will be made Marshal of France.

War Conference Of The Allies

SPECIAL TO THE EXAMINER:

Ottawa, December 27.—A war conference of Britain and her Colonies is to be held in February.

Sharp Fighting In Dobrudja

Special to The Examiner:

Petrograd, December 27 — There has been some sharp fighting in Dobrudja. The Russians took several hundred Teuton prisoners, also three guns and some stores.

Germany's Reply Very Unsatisfactory

SPECIAL TO THE EXAMINER:

Amsterdam, December 27. — Germany's reply to Holland regarding the deportation of Belgians so unsatisfactory it will not be communicated to the Dutch Parliament.

Activity On West Front

Special to The Examiner.

Berlin, December 27.—There is considerable increase in artillery fire on the German lines on the north bank of the Somme river. The British infantry are attacking at some points. The fighting continues. The Turks report intense artillery duels on the Persian and Tigris fronts.

Belgian Steamer "Noble" Disabled

SPECIAL TO THE EXAMINER:

Halifax, December 27 — The Belgian steamer Noble, which was disabled on Saturday, was safely towed into port. Several steamers are now stormbound off this port on account of a heavy gale which is raging.

CANADIANS CALLED FOR NAVAL SERVICE

Opportunity to Share in Home Defence.

Commodore Aemilius Jarvis, Naval Recruiting Officer for Ontario, is recruiting Canadians up to the age of 45, with previous naval experience, for home defence.

The renewed U-boat menace to the Canadian shores and the trans-Atlantic trade routes, has made it necessary to largely increase the Northern Atlantic Patrol.

This is an opportunity for Canadians to defend their own shores, and there should be instant response from any men who have had sea-training.

In addition to the men, Commodore Jarvis will enroll a limited number of boys for training in the same service. The ages must be between 15 and 18. Recruiting headquarters for Ontario are in Toronto.

Recruits For Naval Air Service Not Required

SPECIAL TO THE EXAMINER:

Ottawa, December 27.—No more recruits are required at present for the naval air service.

Serious Tie-up In Toronto

SPECIAL TO THE EXAMINER:

Toronto, December 27.—A serious tie-up of the Hydro Light and Radial system took place this morning as a result of the storm. This city was practically in darkness this morning.

Markets Quiet After Holiday

Grain Market Quotations.— The Cattle Markets

Manitoba wheat— No. 1 Northern $1.90 3-4 track, bay ports. No. 2, $1.87 3-4; No. 3, $1.83 3-4. No. 4, $1.72 3-4; old crop, 4c above new crop.

Manitoba oats— No. 2 C.W., 66 3-4c.

American corn— No. 2, nominal. No. 3, new, none offering owing to embargo.

Ontario oats— No. 2 white, 60c to 62c. No. 3 white, 58c to 60.

Ontario wheat— No. 2 winter, per car lot, $1.82 to $1.84. No. 3, $1.80 to $1.82.

Peas— No. 2, nominal, car lots, $2.40.

Barley — Good malting, $1.16 to $1.18; feed barley, nominal.

Buckwheat— Nominal, $4.00.

Rye— No. 1 commercial, nominal.

No. 2, new, $1.32 to $1.33.

Manitoba flour — First patents, in jute bags, $9.40; second patents, in jute, $8.90; strong bakers, in jute, $8.60, Toronto.

Ontario flour— New winter, $6.70 to $6.80, in bags, track, Toronto, prompt shipment.

Millfeed— Car lots, delivered Montreal, shorts, $37; bran, $32; feed flour, per bag, $2.80.

Hay— Baled, No. 1, track, Toronto, best grade new hay, car lots, $12 to $13; No. 2, $9 to $10; straw, $5 to $6.50.

Cattle Markets.

Union Stock Yards — Receipts, 42 cars, with 1,00 cattle, 5 calves, 2,463 hogs and 40 sheep and lambs.

Latest quotations:

Heavy steers, choice	$8.10 to	$8.50
Choice butcher	8.25	8.50
do good	7.75	8.00
do medium	6.75	7.00
do common	6.00	6.25
Heifers, good to choice	7.00	7.25
do medium	6.25	6.75
Butcher cows, choice	6.25	7.00
do medium	5.75	6.25
Butcher bulls, choice	6.90	7.50
do good	6.50	6.60
do medium	5.00	5.50
Feeders, 900 to 1,000 lbs.	6.50	6.75
do bulls	5.25	5.75
Stockers, 700 to 800 lbs.	6.00	6.75
do med. 600 to 750 lbs.	5.50	6.00
do light, 500 to 600 lbs.	5.00	5.75
Canners	4.10	4.40
Cutters	4.50	5.25
Sheep, light	8.50	9.50
do heavy	7.50	8.50
Spring lambs	10.75	13.00
Calves	9.00	12.50
Hogs, fed and watered	12.00
do weighed off cars	12.25
do f.o.b.	11.15	11.25

BIG INCREASE IN INDIAN OCEAN FREIGHTS

Teas, during the past seven weeks, have advanced at the auctions in London, Calcutta and Colombo, from six to ten cents a pound. In addition to this, sea freights have advanced two and a half cents a pound. Inevitably this means dearer tea for the consumer but "SALADA" so far, has only advanced five cents a pound, and whatever the price in any time, the quality will always remain exactly the same.

VOTE FOR TAYLOR IN THE South Ward

Huyler's AND Liggett's Chocolates

We have a nice fresh stock of Holiday packages each containing a special assortment of chocolates.

We make it easy to select the very package you require.

Prices from

25c TO $4.00

Per Box

McDERMID & JURY

The Safe Satisfactory Druggists

COR. GEORGE & CHARLOTTE

TO THE ELECTORS OF SOUTH WARD

Ladies and Gentlemen,—For the past two years I have been one of your representatives, and during that time I have endeavoured to serve your interests to the best of my ability.

My policy has been to serve the municipality rather than the individual, to make no distinction as to race or creed, but to treat and legislate for the benefit of all.

I have given your interests a great deal of time and careful consideration, and have not missed a single meeting, either of committee or council. My actions may not suit you all, however, I have no regrets to make or apologies to offer, believing that what I did, I did in your interests.

The proposed foot bridge over the Otonabee river in connection with the C.P.R. bridge will mean a great convenience to the residents of the South Ward as well as others. This is something for which I am claiming the whole credit. My action in support in the Bank of Montreal should appeal to every one. Had that financial institution not come to the assistance of the city there would have been no way in which to give employment to the working man, and the depression thus created would have been felt by all.

I have been a strong supporter of proper appliances for the Fire Department, and believe it should be brought to a much higher degree of efficiency by the installment of motor driven appliances. This I am fully prepared to support.

My scheme, endorsed by the Utilities Commission for sanitary plumbing is something that should appeal to those not in a position to meet the pavement in one instalment. Special legislation is being asked for along this line.

As it will be impossible for me to see you all before election day, I ask you for your vote and influence in my behalf and on my past record, assuring you that if elected I will endeavour to serve not only the South Ward but the citizens generally to the best of my ability, believing that my experience of two years will very materially assist me in so doing. Wishing you all the compliments of the season, I have the honour to be,

Your obedient servant,

JOHN EDGAR

EAST WARD

Ladies and Gentlemen:

Vote For J.H.Smith

For Alderman in East Ward for 1917. Wishing you the Compliments of the Season

OUR SERIAL STORY

ADVERTISING RATES

Measurement, Agate, 14 lines One Inch

Transient Display ..... 25c per inch
Transient Reading ..... 40c per inch

Minimum Contract Rate for Display, 2,000 inch Contract, 18c per inch
Minimum Contract Rate for Readers, 30c per inch.

Legal and other notices, 3c per line for first insertion; 1c per line for subsequent insertions.

CONDENSED ADVERTISEMENTS.

Minimum charge 15c, of 1c per word for first insertion; ½c per word for subsequent insertions. Add 10c to cover postage or replies, if out of town.

BIRTHS, MARRIAGES AND DEATHS

Daily Examiner 25c
Daily and Weekly Examiner 50c

All advertisements subject to the approval of the Management.

Address:

THE EXAMINER, PETERBOROUGH

PERSONAL.

ADVERTISERS ARE REMINDED THAT IT is contrary to the provisions of the postal law to deliver letters addressed to initials only; an advertiser desiring to conceal his or her identity may economically do so by having replies directed to a Box at this office; ten cents added to the cost of advertisement will ensure the forwarding of letters to any out-of-town address.

GRAND TRUNK RAILWAY SYSTEM

NEW YEAR'S FARES

SINGLE FARE—Dec. 30-31st, 1916 and Jan. 1st. 1917, valid for return until Jan. 2nd, 1917

FARE-AND-ONE-THIRD—Dec. 28-29 and 31st, 1916, valid for return until Jan. 3rd, 1917.

Above reduced fares apply between all stations in Canada east of Port Arthur and to Detroit and Port Huron, Mich; Buffalo, Black Rock, Niagara Falls and Suspension Bridge, N. Y.

Tickets now on sale at all G. T. R. Ticket Offices.

J. B. DORAN, 'PHONE 259

Railway Time Tables

GRAND TRUNK RAILWAY.
CORRECTED JUNE 6, 1916.

7.00 a.m.—For Lakefield.
8.10 a.m.—For Port Hope, Cobourg, and points east, connecting at Port Hope for Toronto, arriving at Toronto at 11.45 a.m.
8.15 a.m.—For Hastings, Campbellford, Sterling, Madoc, Belleville, Deseronto, Napanee, Kingston, Brockville, Montreal.
8.30 a.m.—For Lindsay, Orillia, Collingwood, Midland, Penetanguishene, North Bay, Toronto, Hamilton, Niagara.
11.00 a.m.—Mid-day express for Toronto, reaching Toronto at 3.15 p.m.
12.30 p.m.—For Lakefield.
11.40 a.m.—For Millbrook, Port Hope and all points on the main line, east and west. Close connections at Port Hope with International Limited for Toronto, Detroit and Chicago.
1.30 p.m.—For Hastings, Campbellford, Sterling, Madoc, Belleville, Deseronto, Napanee, Kingston and Brockville.
1.35 p.m.—For Lindsay, Orillia, Midland, North Bay, Toronto, Hamilton, Niagara Falls, Buffalo, New York.
5.00 p.m.—For Lakefield.
5.15 p.m.—Local for Lindsay.
5.05 p.m.—For Millbrook, Port Hope, Belleville, Kingston, Brockville, Montreal and Boston.

CANADIAN PACIFIC RAILWAY.
CORRECTED JUNE 5, 1916.

*8.30 a.m.—Indian River, Norwood, Havelock and Tweed.
*12.12 a.m.—Kingston, Smith's Falls, Ottawa, Montreal, Quebec, St. John N.B., Boston, and New York.
*1.38 a.m.—Norwood, Havelock, Tweed Perth, Smith's Falls and Ottawa.
11.27 a.m.—Norwood, Havelock, Tweed, Perth, Smith's Falls, Ottawa, Montreal and intermediate points, and all points east of Montreal.

GOING WEST—
*4.58 a.m.—Toronto, Owen Sound, Guelph, Goderich, Hamilton, Buffalo, New York, Galt, Woodstock, St. Thomas, London, Chatham, Detroit and Chicago.
*5.45 a.m.—Myrtle and North Toronto.
7.40 a.m.—Toronto, Hamilton, Buffalo, Rochester and New York. Intermediate points between Peterborough and Toronto.
9.15 a.m.—Lindsay, Orillia, Port McNichol and intermediate points.
3.42 p.m.—Toronto, Hamilton, Brantford, Buffalo, New York, Guelph, Galt, Woodstock, London, Detroit and Chicago.
5.45 p.m.—North Toronto and West Toronto and intermediate points.
*Daily Daily except Sunday.

Our Poultry Department

is now open and we are paying high spot cash prices for good plump birds (alive), delivered Peterborough.

We can supply farmers and Poultry raisers with fattening crates at a small rent, to be returned us in good condition at the end of the season.

A premium paid on crate fed chickens. For particulars apply to—

W. SCOTT Co., Ltd.
1126 Robinson Street
Phone 264

"DESTINY"

By CHARLES NEVILLE BUCK

(Continued from yesterday.)

Her brother's face reddened dangerously.

"I should call my intelligence human," he declared. "I've been able to make certain use of it."

"Call it superhuman, if you like—or inhuman, yet I hardly thing it can truly gage that type of gallant gentleman who has kept his dreams untainted and his ideals clean."

The man who had found the world a thing upon which he could stamp his hall mark stood for a while without speaking; then his voice came keyed to a satirical coldness.

"Whatever your estimate may be of my ability to understand this peerless gentleman and chevalier, one thing I can do. I can crush him into pulp. If he has poisoned against me the minds of my own family, I swear to you that I both can and will nail him to the cross of utter ruin. You had better warn your knightly friend, Mary, that the days of grail-seeking are ended."

The girl came to her feet and her eyes were stars of scorn as she faced the man who sudden anger had brought out the arteries corded on his temples.

"Such talk," she said, "belongs to the shambles of your cut-throat finance. I have no wish to listen to it."

Gradually the scornful light in Mary's pupils hardened and brightened into the fighting fire that might come into those of a tigress whose den has been threatened. Her delicate nostrils quivered and her cheeks flamed.

"Five minutes ago you were inquiring what costly gifts my heart desired, that you might buy them for me with your money. Well, there is something I want that I haven't got—and your millions can't buy it. I want dear's love. You had me schooled into a Circe and you almost killed my soul. Thank God, someone came in time, some one whose thoughts are above sordid conquest. Some one who wanted to save me from the levalized prostitution of a loveless marriage. And because he has said to your face what all men say on your all-serve you talk of crucifying him." She broke off and her breath came fast."

Hamilton Burton gazed silently for a moment, then he said shortly:

"I'm not such a d—— fool as to try to argue with a woman in a rage. You have too much brain, Mary, and at times you irritate me. Paul is the only one in this family who soothes me. I'll go to him."

"Yes," she retorted contemptuously. "Paul will burn incense to your vanity. Go to him."

She turned to leave the room, but at the door she paused. "Jefferson Edwardes will dine here this evening," she volunteered. "Any discourtesy to him will be an insult to me."

* * * * *

A little strange it was, perhaps, and yet true, that Hamilton Burton, who feared no man and showed consideration to few, discovered himself standing in something like awe of his imperious sister. At all events his outbreak of wrath subsided and that evening he gave to the man who had aroused it no intimation of its recent upbraiding.

But in the days and weeks that followed, Hamilton Burton saw much of Edwardes and that very directness of gaze, that level glance which concealed nothing and evaded nothing became to him at first a small annoyance, and then a constantly aggravated irritation. His star of destiny rode at its zenith. Every venture turned his Midas hand to gold and increased power. He mounted to succeeding heights until it seemed that like Alexander he must soon brood over the smallness of the world's opportunity. Colossal mergers grouped themselves into structures of stupendous strength. His pride was bloated with successes, yet all the while across his own table he must encounter eyes that withheld reverence and politely masked something like contempt. Some day he knew those clean-souled eyes would goad him to an outbreak.

But impulse is the menace to a strong man's strength, and no one save Hamilton Burton himself suspected that his antipathy was growing into an obsession.

Besides, there were more important matters to consider, and a hundred active enemies to watch. Any such moment of relaxed vigilance as he himself had seized to overthrow the pre-eminence of others would be used to overthrow his own.

While he rode on the highest crest of Fortune's wave the one member of his family who had remained unchanged fell ill. For a week all else was forgotten while the Burton family waited the outcome in Aunt Hannah's bedroom.

That austere old spinster talked in her delirium of other days and deeded that they had altered. In broken rambling words she took them all back with her to a life they had put behind them. The names of cows and horses in whose care Hamilton had so many hundred times taken down and put up the panel of stable-lot bars dwelt on her trembling lips and she smiled contentedly over simple things. Finally, she told them that she was sleepy and would talk no longer, because to-morrow morning she must be up early and give the house a thorough cleaning. With that announcement she turned her seamed face to the wall and slept. It was placid sleep which no clamour of an alarm clock would ever disturb.

Because she had always insisted upon it with the childish pertinacity of the simple-souled, the Burton family went back with her to the rugged slopes of the White Mountains. They saw again, for the first time since they had turned away from their pastocked door, the hills and rocks and rutted roads that had once been their own country.

Jefferson Edwardes went with them, and when the funeral was ended and the little cortege left the church-yard he and Mary Burton remained a while among the graves. Most of the trees were stark and naked, but to one or two still clung shreds of departed autumn brilliancy. A maple still boasted a few scarlet tatters of the banner with which it had done honour to the Frost King. By the decaying wall of the little church a scrub oak rattled its tenacious leafage of russet brown.

About the two lifted and careened the neglected tombstones of those who slept humbly but restfully here. The gaunt hills, too, tilted an dcareened in heaped-up barriers of dilapidation to the distance where the autumn veiled them in a smoky purple. But above them was the glow of crimson and rose-ash, where the sunset burned.

Mary's beautiful eyes were bright with tears and as she stood there slim and straight, the man came close and his arm slipped about her. For a moment she seemed unconscious of his presence, then she turned and her eyes looked steadfastly into his, and, as they looked, they smiled through their mistiness.

"Thank God," she said in a low voice into which a tremor stole, "thank God, you came to me and woke me up—in time."

After a little she spoke again hastily as though in fright.

"Dearest," she declared tensely, "as I stood here to-day a fear came over me; a fear and a premonition. It seemed to me that every hill and every tree was accusing us. Silent voices were calling out, 'Why did you go away?' She broke off, and then, as though from the strength of his embrace, she drew reassurance, she went on: 'Suppose it was all a shameful mistake! Suppose Hamilton's overwhelming ambition with all its vast egotism should totter and fall! What would become of us in that world down there? I have, since we left here, seen only one look of serene and utterly calm peace on any face in our family. It was her face—" The girl nodded toward the grave and shivered.

The man drew her closer.

"Loved faces in death always wear a peace that life does not know," he told her. Then whimsically he smiled as he voiced a fantastic suggestion:

"Maybe, dearest, there's some land beyond the stars where all the mistakes we make here can be remedied where we can take up our married lives and live them afresh, as we have dreamed them. Perhaps in that other world we can go back to the turning of the road where we lost our ways and choose the other path."

* * * * *

Constancy and fixedness belong to strong characters. The granite crag stands unchanging, but the waters at its base lash themselves into a thousand shapes and colours and reflections. Hamilton had in him the firmness of the hills, but Paul's nature was as fluid as the waters that whirl or lilt along the easiest channels, and that turn aside to avoid obstacles. On his table stood a photograph of Loraine Haswell's in a gold frame. It was a photograph of which here was no duplicate, and one which her husband had not seen. When it had been taken the sitter had selected a pose of graceful age, as though the photographer had ambushed her and caught her in a moment of almost sacred privacy, a moment when she had relaxed into an attitude of inmost and somewhat melancholy thought.

The slender hands rested with fingers loosely interlocked in her lap, holding a drooping rose. The splendid tenderness of her figure was enhanced by the veiling of delicate meshwork, and the face under its mixed-dark profusion of hair looked out wistfully with a sad half-smile on something that her heart chose to hold before her gaze. Certainly, had it not been that such excellence of the photographer's craft could only have been attained by careful posing, one might have said that he had taken an unfair advantage and had permitted his lens to spy upon a lovely lady in the secrecy of her boudoir, who, as sole companions were emotions which must remain locked in her beautiful breast.

She had told Paul when she gave him the picture, and the same ghost of pathos had flickered into her eyes and the droop of her lips, that the flower was one from a box of his giving, and that she had been thinking of him when the camera flicked, forgetting for a moment the pose she had meant to assume. Often, she whispered, she sat like that thinking of him.

So Paul kept flowers on each side of the frame, and made of it a sort of shrine.

And yet, sometimes, when he had said good-bye to her after a luncheon or tea together, he would turn his car southward and find himself driving down the avenue to Washington square and the old house on the south side, to invite Marcia Terroll for a spin beside him. And sometimes he would call her on the telephone and they would meet for a walk.

To himself alone, he confessed his love for Loraine, for a specter of timidity rose often and marred their meetings. How was it to end? He could no more escape the realization of the husband's existence and possible ire than can the quail in the open grain-field forget the shadow of a soaring hawk. And Paul was not the most daring cock quail in the stubble. He saw shadows of proprietary wings where the sky held only wisps of fleecy cloud.

(To be continued.)

SUFFERED 2 YEARS WITH ECZEMA

Healed by Cuticura Trial Free

"I suffered with eczema for two years. It began by redness and itching on my face and it caused disfigurement. It took the form of pimples and the itching was so intense that I lost my rest.

"I used Cuticura Soap and Ointment. After I used six boxes of Ointment and six cakes of Soap I was healed." (Signed) Miss H. Mitchell, 1981 Christopher Columbus St., Montreal, Que., Jan 10, '16.

Sample Each Free by Mail

With 32-p Skin Book. Address post-card "Cuticura, Dept. J, Boston, U.S.A." Sold throughout the world.

SECOND-HAND STORES

FURNITURE, STOVES, and Household Goods sold on Commission, Exchanged or Bought for Cash. Storage room to let at reasonable rates.

M. T. BUTCHER,
346 & 348 Water St.

A. CHERNIKOFF

Will Buy and Sell New and Second-Hand Goods of all Kinds. Best Prices Paid. Big Bargains in Cook Stoves and all kinds of Heaters at Chernikoff's. Men's Suits and Overcoats at less than the cost of making.

420-422 George Street 'Phone 89

SECOND HAND
FURNITURE, STOVES, etc.

Bought and sold. Entire Household Furniture or pieces bought. We know the value. Telephone and we will call.

S. COHEN, 180 CHARLOTTE ST.; PHONE 1249

For a Quick Pick-Up Luncheon try that most delicious, nourishing, whole wheat food, Triscuit, the shredded wheat wafer-toast. It contains all the body, building material in the whole wheat grain, including the bran coat which promotes healthful and natural bowel movement. It is real whole wheat bread without yeast, baking powder or chemicals of any kind—an ideal food for children because it compels thorough mastication and ensures perfect digestion. A crisp, tasty "snack" for picnics or excursions. Toast in the oven and serve with butter, soft cheese or marmalades.

Made in Canada

URIC ACID SUFFERING.

Uric acid is an accumulation of poison which finds lodgement in the system when the kidneys fail to remove it from the blood. In the kidneys and bladder it formed stones, in the joints and muscles it causes rheumatism. In any case the pain and suffering is almost beyond human endurance. Uric acid is promptly removed from the system when the kidneys are kept healthy and active by using Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills.

Here is an Actual Conversation in Flanders.—Glasgow Chaplain (to Territorial with a marked local accent)—"I think, my lad, you come from Glasgow?" Territorial—"Aye, sir, true Paisley Road! Do you know my friend, the Rev. Herbert Gray? His church is there." Territorial—"Nay, sir, ye see, I gang tae the White Memorial—Mr. Paiterson's Church, ye ken." The point of this conversation, we are informed, is that "Mr. Paiterson" died some four years ago. But while this may throw doubt upon the regularity of the Territorial's church-going on the other hand the former clergyman may have left such a fragrant and perdurable memory as that which makes people in London still ask their way to "Spurgeon's Tabernacle" and refer to a church near Westminster as "Newman Hall's."

Bowlers Never Get Appendicitis

TURKEY-WEEK

Prizes Will Be Given Daily

Make Your Christmas Dinner a Sure One by Winning a Turkey

THE WATER ST. ALLEYS
J. J. SOLOMON, Prop

A NEWSPAPER CABINET.

How Danish Premier Has Made His Colleagues Ministers.

The inclusion of newspaper men or journalists as they are more formally termed, in Governments is no new thing, but the Government of a nation by a Cabinet composed almost entirely of journalists is an innovation. Never before in the world's history has a group of journalists conducted the political governance of a people, though often by their influence they have made and unmade politicians and policies. Denmark is the country with the unique claim to distinction. Its Government, which seems at last somewhat discredited by a Parliamentary defeat in the Landthing, or Upper Chamber, is practically the political staff of the great Copenhagen newspaper, the Politiken. The story of the rise of the editors of this paper to the chief positions in the gift of the Danish people is most interesting. The very composition of the Government is an assurance that the Danish Cabinet is strongly pro-Ally, and would be on general principle, quite apart from dynastic or racial reasons or memories of Schleswig-Holstein.

The Danish Premier, Zahle, is the son of a shoemaker, and worked up to the highest office in the State at the early age of 43. He was born and educated at Roskilde, and took his degree in law in 1890. Instead of taking up law, however, he took up journalism, and became the editor of the Aarhus Amtstidende. In Aarhus, the second town in Denmark, Zahle began that intimate connection between journalism and politics that is so common in Scandinavian countries. In 1891 he joined the Politiken as an associate contributor, and began relations with Edward Brandes, co-editor of the paper. Four years later Zahle was elected to the Folkthing, or popular chamber, and quickly made his mark in budget and other discussions. At that time the old King of Denmark was fighting his last fight against the oncoming tide of democratic sentiment, and Zahle found a most popular place in the people's esteem as the champion of Radical ideas. In 1901 the struggle ended with the capitulation of the king, and with the incoming of the Deuzer Liberal Ministry he was made a member of the Finance Commission. In 1909 Zahle became Prime Minister, but his Cabinet did not last long, and it was not until 1913, when the Radicals and Socialists swept the country, that he again assumed office.

There is nothing out of the ordinary about the elevation of an editor to a Prime Ministership, but when Zahle began to select his Cabinet he adopted peculiar methods. He believed his policies and the good of the country would be best served by co-workers on the Politiken. That important organ of European opinion, by the way, was the leading force in the creation of Danish democracy. It had extraordinary influence. It had a sting and a thrust. It had the best contributors in Denmark, and, indeed, in the whole of Scandinavia. George Brandes favored it often with reviews. Its political staff dominated Danish politics. When in 1913 the Socialists declined office, it was regarded as quite natural that Zahle should seek the sanctums of the Politiken for his Cabinet material. From them he drew Edward Brandes, who is his Minister of Finance; Scavenius, his Foreign Minister; Ove Rode, his Minister of the Interior, and present editor of the Politiken; Munch and other lesser members. The leading members form as striking a group of writers as ever faced each other across a Cabinet Council table.

"It's Confidence That Does It"

If The Pantry

Has been depleted by the Holiday Festivities, our stock of TABLE NEEDS such as Groceries, Fruits, Confectionery etc., is fully prepared to meet the requirements of customers.

Porter S. White
324 George St. Phone 208

Car of California Seedless Oranges at All Prices

Malaga Grapes California Grapes
Bananas Figs Dates
Grape Fruit Pomegranates
Apples Lemons
Hot House Tomatoes Potatoes
Hot House Lettuce Macaroni
Olives Olive Oil
Choice Groceries for Christmas

Fresh Fish, Haddie, Herrings and Select Oysters

JOE LONGO & CO.
2 Stores (315 George St., Phone 921; 350 Charlotte St., Phone 1013

TELEPHONE 790
WHEN YOU WANT YOUR
Piano or Organ Tuned
ALL WORK GUARANTEED
W. E. Cunningham, 660 Water St.

Iron Acts Wonders on a Week, Run-Down Nervous System

Puts Roses in Pale Cheeks

Give you pep, vigour, and 100 p.c. more strength in 10 days.

Dr. Mainprize of Saskatchewan, advises people who are weak, run-down, anaemic and nervous, to start to-day to strengthen themselves by taking Iron for their blood. It has always been an understood fact that Iron was an excellent remedy for the blood, but owing to its constipating, nauseating effect it has been eliminated from use. Doctors have overcome this by combining the iron with phosphorus which forms a new iron and at the same time the phosphorus used, acts as one of the greatest nerve tonics known to medical science. You now have what is known to your druggist as Ronised Phosphorus with Iron. Dr. Mainprize finds this tonic to be four fold in action. It charges the system with new blood, stronger nerves, greater strength and a new Digestion. Your stomach will now be ready for good, big hearty meals that will be thoroughly digested. Start to-day and take Ronised Phosphorus with Iron if you are thin, pale, weak, tired, run down, anaemic, nervous, etc., and in ten days you will be full of pep, bright, vigorous, alert, attaining the glow of happiness. Stop taking all sorts of worthless patent medicines, cheap laxatives, for what you imagine will cure kidney troubles, stomach pains, rheumatism, etc. What you want is good strong pure blood and strong nerves, making your system immune to all these everyday complaints.

Ronised Phosphorus with Iron, as spoken of here, does not contain one atom of arsenic or strychnine, which is found so harmful in almost every tonic. Arsenic and strychnine act only as a temporary stimulant, making you feel better only for the time you are taking them, while Ronised Phosphorus with Iron goes to the root of the trouble, builds you up, strengthens your nerves, giving you a new lease of life. It is dispensed only by one druggist in each city. Agent for Peterborough is F. C. Weber, Charlotte Street.

EXAMINER PATTERN SERVICE

GIRL'S COAT.

By Anabel Worthington.

Tin coat styles for maids the current modes for grown-ups are closely copied—so, after the fashion of the "bigger belle's" coat, the one in the illustration was designed.

The back of the coat is distinctive, differing from the front in being in two sections; the skirt part joins the body at about hip depth. The front is in the straight line effect, joined to side front sections in an attractive manner. Any girl will be delighted with the deep flare collar, which expresses pronounced style note; it is no only new but very becoming. The back view of it shows that it belongs to the "cape" family. The sleeve has a novel cuff developed in contrasting goods to match the collar.

This is an extremely graceful style for a girlish figure, and even if east winds do blow, it won't matter if the coat be fashioned of broadcloth, velour, mannish melton, &c. Plaid albeline is an all wool fabric with nap surface that is warm and attractive, and will make an excellent coat for every day wear. Velvet, of course, has no rival this year for a Sunday coat.

The coat pattern, No. 8,048, cuts in sizes 6 to 14. To make in size 8 requires 1⅞ yards 44 inch material with ⅝ yard contrasting goods, or 2¼ yards all one material 44 inch.

To obtain the pattern send 40 cents to the office of this publication.

When ordering remember to give your name and address as well as the number and size of pattern required, and age of a child.

Price 15 cents, or 2 for 25 cents.

Address—The Examiner Pattern Service, The Examiner, Peterborough.

FOR SALE

LOTS

On The Late Senator Cox Homestead

Beautifully Situated

Easy Terms of Payment

Apply—437 GEORGE ST.

Good Results

Only can come from having your

PROPERTY INSURED AGAINST LOSS BY FIRE

in the Most Reliable Companies.

Settlement of Losses, to which we give Personal attention are

PROMPT AND LIBERAL

You will find in our office the Strongest of the British, American and Canadian companies doing business in Canada.

Davis-Thompson Co., Limited
INSURANCE & GENERAL AGENCY
438 GEORGE STREET Phone 60

A well-informed man—one who reads The Examiner

MONEY TO LOAN.

GORDON & WIDDIFIELD, Barristers, Solicitors, Notaries, Solicitors for the City of Peterborough.

MEDICAL

DR. BUCHANAN, F.R.C.S., Edin., M.R.C., Eng., L.R.C.P. London. Eye, Ear, Nose and Throat Specialist. Hours 9-11 a.m. 2-4 p.m., 7-8 p.m. 'Phone 519. Office: Corner of Water and Murray streets.

DR. E. E. HARVEY, Silver Medalist University of Toronto. Special attention to diseases of women and children. Office hours: 1:30 to 3 p.m., 7-8 p.m. 'Phone 223. Office 325 Brock Street.

DR. C. F. W. ROSS, Ex-House Surgeon, Grace Hospital, Toronto. Residence:—Keene, Ont. dmee-66

BARRISTERS AND SOLICITORS

GORDON & WIDDIFIELD, Barristers, Solicitors, Notaries. Solicitors for the City of Peterborough.

BENNETT & GOODWILL—Barristers, Solicitors, etc. No. 276 Water Street, Peterborough. Telephone No. 191. J. W. Bennett; E. L. Goodwill.

RUDDY & BURNHAM—Barristers, Solicitors, Notaries. Money to Loan Offices 440 Water Street, corner Water and Brock.

Robert Ruddy, K.C., J. T. Burnham, M.P.

G. W. HATTON, County Crown Attorney, Barrister, Solicitor. Trust Funds to Loan at lowest current rates of interest on easy terms of repayment.

J. R. CORKERY, Barrister, Solicitor, etc., Commerce Building. Money to loan at lowest rates of interest.

PECK, KERR & McELDERRY—Barristers, Solicitors and Notaries. Office 451 Water Street, Peterborough. Money to Loan at lowest current rates of interest on easy terms of repayment.

H. A. Peck, P. D. Kerr, V. J. McElderry.

D. O'CONNELL—Barrister, Solicitor and Notary, Hunter street, two doors west of the Post Office. Daniel O'Connell.

DUMBLE & JOHNSTON—Barristers, Solicitors, etc. Office over Toronto Savings and Loan Company, 427 George street. D. W. Dumble, K.C. W. F. Johnston.

A. E. DIXON—Barrister, Solicitor, etc. Offices Corner Hunter and George Sts. Entrance next Medill's Bygg Store.

HALL & HALL—Barristers, Solicitors and Notaries Public, Hunter St., Peterborough. Next to St. John's Church. Money to loan at lowest rates of interest. E. H. D. Hall Basil D. Hall

MOORE & WEARING, Barristers and Solicitors, 12½ Hunter Street (entrance first hallway west of post office.) Money to loan at lowest rates. W. H. Moore, K.C., Joseph Wearing, M.A.

O. A. LANGLEY—Barrister, Solicitor, Notary Public, etc. County Magistrate. Office, Peterborough, Ont., 435 George St. 'Phone 114; Lakefield, Ont., (afternoons.) 'Phones, Office 81; Residence 66.

R. R. HALL—Barrister, Solicitor, etc. Peterborough, Ont. Office, corner Hunter and Water streets over Canadian Bank of Commerce. Successors to Hall Medd & Davidson. Trust funds to loan on easy terms of payment.

ARCHITECTS.

W. BLACKWELL, Architect and Civil Engineer. Plans and estimates made for churches, public buildings and dwelling houses. Buildings heating and plumbing a specialty. Office, 372 Water Street Peterborough.

OSTEOPATHY

DR. BRUCE E. MARSHALL—Osteopathic Physician. Office: 248 Hunter Street. Hours 9 to 11 a.m., 2 to 4 p.m., 7 to 8 p.m. 'Phone 114.

DR. ASA G. WALMSLEY - Osteopathic Physician. Office in Sun Life Building, Corner of Hunter and Water Streets. Entrance, 134 Hunter street. 'Phones: Office, 649; Residence, 669. Office hours, 9 to 12 a.m., 2 to 6 p.m. Evenings by appointment.

DR. MARY E. DAVIDSON, Osteopathic Physician. Office—No. 6 over Bank of Commerce. Entrance on Hunter or Water streets. Hours: 10 to 12, and 2 to 4. Evenings by appointment. 'Phone 369.

EDWIN ELCOME
— TAXIDERMIST —

GAME ANIMALS, BIRDS, FISH, ETC. Mounted artistically and permanently

HEADS OF MOOSE, CARIBOU AND DEER,

Birds, Animals, Skins, Rugs, Antelope Heads, Taxidermist Supplies, Bird and Animal Cards Books &c etc.

692 HARVEY STREET
PETERBOROUGH ONTARIO

Toronto Savings & Loan Comp'y

Notice is hereby given that a Quarterly Dividend of Two and One-half per cent, being at the rate of Ten per cent per annum for the (3) three months ending 31st December 1916 has been declared upon the capital stock of this Institution and the same will be payable at the offices of the Company in this City on and after the 2nd January, 1917

The transfer books will be closed from the 15th to the 31st December, both days inclusive.

By order of the Board

W. G. MORROW
Managing Director

Peterboro, Dec. 1st., 1916

LUMBER

BUILDERS' MATERIALS of all kinds. Shingles, Scantlings, Joist and Bill Stuff, Mouldings, Casings, Sash and all kinds of Finish. Boxes and Box Shooks, Slabs and Mill Wood.

Alf. McDonald Estate
POINT ST. CHARLES MILL

OUR DAILY SHORT STORY

The Old Speckled Hen

By M. QUAD

Copyright, 1916, by the McClure Newspaper Syndicate.

The Thompsons and the Browns, farmers, had been neighbors for ten years, when in the same year Abel Thompson was left a widower and Aunt Martha Brown a widow. Plenty of people said it would be only natural for the two to marry after a year or so, but what the principals in the case thought of it did not come out for over two years. The farmer and the widow saw each other every day during this time. She continued to run her farm by the help of a hired man, but he was more or less interested. They sat together of evenings and talked of everything but what other people were talking about.

It was one evening in winter after the farmer had imbibed a quart of cider and eaten three or four apples and realized the loneliness of his own home that he hitched around on his chair for awhile and then said:

"Widder, there was a windmill man along today. He wants to put up a mill for me in the spring."

"Was, windmill men come along about once in so often," she replied.

"He 'pears to have a purty good mill."

"Yes?"

"And the price is purty reasonable."

"Yes?"

"We wasn't talkin' about windmills all the time," continued Abel, as he motioned for another glass of cider. "We was talkin' about other things."

"They are great folks to gab. I've known 'em to hang around all day and do nothin' but talk."

"That windmill man said folks was wonderin' why I didn't git married agin."

"Well, why don't you go and git married then?"

"Gosh hang it, I will. That's what I come over here this evenin' for. Aunt Martha, we have known each other a long time. I know you are a mighty good woman, and you know I'm a purty good man. Our farms jine, and I can run two farms as well as one. You must be lonesome too. If we jine forces then neither of us need have any more lonesomeness."

"Abel, stop right there," said the widow kindly but emphatically. "I know you to be a good man, but I hain't in love with you. You haven't teched my heart yet. Until you do I don't want to talk about marriage."

"Well," said the suitor as he rose up to go. "I hain't one to drive a woman into marriage as one drives hogs. I'll keep right on and take your word for it, and if you find you can't love me I'll stay single all the rest of my days. I'm kinder sot on you, you see, and I don't want anybody else."

During the next month things went along as usual and there was no further reference to matrimony. Then Abel was sent for, and as he reached the widow's house she said:

"Abel, my sister over at Tompkinsville is sick and has sent for me. I'm goin' over and may be gone three or four days."

"Well, I'll run things the best I can while you're gone," she replied.

"What I want you to look out for in particular is that old speckled hen. You know I've had her for the last ten years, and I've learned to think a good deal of her. She hain't well 'tall just now, and I hate to go away and leave her. She's got signs of the pip, and if I should come back and find her dead it would almost break my heart. Abel, I want you to be kind to her. I want you to sympathize with her. I want you to doctor and nurse her."

"I'll do it, Aunt Martha. I'll jest put in all my time nursin' her up. I'll be jest as kind to her as I would be to a baby."

"That's good of you. She's only a critter, but when one gits use to a critter he can even love an old speckled hen. She ain't laid an egg for these five years past, but she's got a hold on my affections for the eggs she used to lay. Why, she's laid over a hundred with double yolks, and one time she sit and licked a chicken hawk."

"You go right on, widder, and leave it all to me," said the farmer. "I'll do jest as much for that old hen as I would for a brother. I hain't set up a night for the last twenty years, but if she's taken bad I shan't close my eyes till you git back."

The widow departed and half an hour later Abel was carrying the old hen home under his arm. The three days went past, and the widow returned. She had only entered her house when the farmer appeared with the hen in a basket. He had her wrapped in red woolen cloths. She smelled of camphor and various liniments. Her toes had been trimmed and greased, and he had applied salve to her comb. With proud deliberateness he removed wrap after wrap and finally reached the last end and set the hen down on the floor with

"There she is, Aunt Martha, and just as good as she was five years ago. I've worked over her for three days, and I'm tellin' you there hain't a hen in the hull county can come up to her."

"How splendid of you Abel—how splendid!" gasped the widow, and as if to corroborate her words the hen raised her head, swelled out her breast and tried to cackle.

"See that—hear that, widder?" asked Abel.

"Yes, I do, and, oh, Abel"—

"Is your heart teched, widder?"

"It is, and—and"—

"And you'll be mine?"

That was in March, and they were married in May, and the old speckled hen was alive at last accounts and making efforts to return to her duty.

$1,000.00
REWARD

For information that will lead to the discovery or whereabouts of the person or persons suffering from Nervous Debility, Diseases of the Mouth and Throat, Blood Poison, Skin Diseases, Bladder Troubles, Special Ailments, and Chronic or Complicated Complaints who cannot be cured at The Ontario Medical Institute, 268-268, Yonge St., Toronto. Correspondence invited.

CHINA PAINTING

Mrs. Langley McCarthy
Teaches Bisnop's New and Beautiful Art Work in China Painting

Ingersoll Watches
That Show the Time in the Dark from $1.25 up.
Automobile and Cycle Master
Hockey Sticks and Supplies
Jack Rabbit
MILLARD'S BICYCLE SHOP
Hunter St., near Aylmer

RHEUMATISM
usually yields to the purer blood and greater strength which creates. Its rich oil-food enlivens the whole system and strengthens the organs to throw off the injurious acids. Many doctors themselves take Scott's Emulsion and you must stand firm against substitutes.
SCOTT'S EMULSION

Scott & Bowne, Toronto, Ont. 15-21

SHE GAINED 30 POUNDS.

Mrs. George Bradshaw, Harlowe, Ont. writes: "I was troubled for many years with weak watery blood and dreary, bad nervous headaches, dizziness, and fainting spells, and was in fact, a great invalid. Doctors told me my heart and kidneys were diseased and gave me up but by using 10 boxes of Dr. Chase's Nerve Food I have been cured of many of my

PRONOUNCING ENGLISH.

Going Astray on the Correct Use of "u" and "ew" Sounds.

A curious feature of the English language as it is spoken in this part of the United States is the prevalence of a dual system of pronunciation. The dictionaries tell us unequivocally that we should pronounce "dew," "knew" and "stew" as we do "few," and that "student," "stupid" and similar words should be enunciated as if they were spelled "stiudent" and "stiupid."

Nobody, apparently, disputes the correctness of this manner of pronouncing "u" and "ew"—yet here is a rule very much more honored in the breach than in the observance. Except for stage folks, the faculties and some of the students of schools and colleges and a few persons who make a point of precise speaking, the academic sound of "u" is disregarded almost universally.

It is by no means through ignorance that people say "stew" and "stoopid." There are worthy persons who seem to feel that a good American really ought to say "stoo" and "stoopid." They think, apparently, that the orthodox "u" and "ew" are Anglicisms and are used in this country only by persons pedantic or "affected."

Of course, for all practical purposes one way of pronouncing is as good as another and usage has made both forms correct. Nevertheless, the right use of "u" and "ew" adds music and euphony to the English language, and the younger generation might do well to pronounce according to the dictionary and gradually overcome an "Americanism" that has no real good excuse for being.—Rochester Democrat and Chronicle.

Is there any logic in buying something claimed to be as good as the ORIGINAL Dandruff Germ Destroyer?

Insist upon HERPICIDE

Antiseptic as this Issue Service always Guaranteed by The Herpicide Co. Sold Everywhere

COWED THE CHINESE.

The "Foreign Devil" Used a College Yell as a Battle Cry.

On board a launch on which I was sailing up the Yangtze river were about thirty Chinese soldiers of such a ragamuffin appearance as to excite my suspicions, but fortunately without their rifles. As evening of the first day came on they crowded around the small deck house and demanded of the native agent to know what the "foreign devil" was doing here. Now, I had been cleaning and oiling the various parts of my sample machine gun during the day.

Before nightfall I drew the blinds of the deckhouse and, quickly assembling the gun, slipped in a loaded belt. I now told the agent, who was white with fear, to tell these fellows that this "foreign devil" "belong crazy" and also "hun lehi" (very fierce) and as a sort of warning to "keep off the grass" I opened the door and let off a string of about fifty shots into the air, at the same time giving the Yale college yell, which was the handiest warcry I could think of at the moment.

Whether it was the information imparted by the agent, Chen, the shots or the Yale cheer I cannot say, but all hands crowded to the other end of the launch and remained at a respectful distance until Nanchang was reached, to the great amusement of the Chinese captain and engineer, who, however, had decreed it good policy to allow the passengers to settle their own disputes without interference. This incident is pleasant to remember, but at the time I was badly scared.—From "Drumming Revolutionary China," by Bartlett G. Yang, in World's Work.

How Sickly Women May Get Health

If they could only be made to see that half their ills are caused by impure blood, it wouldn't take long to cure them with Dr. Hamilton's Pills. Truly a wonderful medicine that invigorates, strengthens, renews. Every tired, worn out woman that tries Dr. Hamilton's Pills will improve rapidly, will have better colour, increased appetite and better digestion.

No better rebuilding tonic can be found than Dr. Hamilton's Pills, which are safe, mild and health giving. For forty years Dr. Hamilton's Pills have been America's most valued family medicine; 25c. per box at all dealers.

ECCENTRIC DE QUINCEY.

He Often Greeted Visitors While Half Dressed and Bare Footed.

De Quincey's habits were so simple as to be almost ascetic, and he subsisted upon the lightest possible diet. His digestive trouble and neuralgic suffering, which first led to his taking opium, caused him early to lose his teeth, and from the extreme delicacy of his system he could eat nothing less capable of mastication than bread, so that article with a little soup or coffee was apt to comprise his whole dinner.

In reference to his manner of dress his daughter has said:

"His dress, unfortunately, he neither cared for himself, nor would he let others care for it. I say unfortunately, because his carelessness gave rise among punctilious people, unaccustomed to eccentric habits, to an impression of poverty for which there was no foundation. It might be that a thought occurred to him in the midst of some of his singular processes of dressing or undressing (I should say some thought that generally writes him at that time), and he would stop with his coat just taken off, or not put on, without stockings at all, or with one off and one on, and becoming lost in what grew out of this thought, he would work for hours, hardly even noticing the coffee which was his chief support at such times.

"In the midst of this absorbing work would arrive visitors, of whom there were many, probably from such a distance that they could not be turned back without sight of the object of their long pilgrimage, upon which my father, with the unaffected courtesy which was one of the great charms of his character, would appear at once rather than keep them waiting while he put on his stocking, or whatever may be wanting or which was just handy in the wrong place, giving rise to awful impressions of poverty with some, while those who could withdraw their unaccustomed eyes from the nakedness of the land, as expounded by his feet, might have seen in his commanding signs of scrupulous neatness, sufficient comfort and refinement enough to reassure them on this point.

"His principle at home was the choice for a kernel of beauty, among other things, borrowed Indian and dressing all women were sure of the largest share of the sympathy he reserved for some." — From Caroline Ticknor's "Hawthorne and His Publisher."

Off Guard.

"Your honor," declared the policeman, "I heard an awful yellin' back in the wagon yard, and when I got there this man was beating his wife. They had just drove in from Grant park."

Judge Broyles turned sharply on the prisoner, a tall, gaunt man, with clay colored complexion.

"Is this true? Were you beating your wife, sir?" the judge demanded.

"Yes, yer honor."

"How did you come to it?"

"I don't know, judge. For twenty years she allus was th' one what did th' beatin', but I jes' happened to catch her when she wasn't feelin' right."—Case and Comment.

ARMY POST HAZING

A Very Raw Recruit Who Got a Very Warm Reception.

HIS CLASH WITH "OLD BULL."

After the Quite Informal Introduction to the Colonel Was Effected the Tables Turned and "Corporal Suds" Got a Dose of His Own Medicine.

General E. V. Sumner, who was long colonel in command of the "Fighting Seventh" cavalry, was known to the rank and file of his regiment as "Old Bull." His gruff manners may have had something to do with the nickname, but it came to him fairly by inheritance. His father, General Sumner, bore it before him.

When the Seventh was stationed at Fort Grant, Arizona, a very raw recruit was sent on from Kansas City. As usual, the men pestered him from the start. He returned meekly from the ordnance stores with the information that "left handed rainrods" were all gone; without batting an eyelash he reported that the sergeant in charge of the post exchange swore at him when he applied for his "better checks." They took his last two bits away from him in the careless, incomprehensible game. After supper he was "blanket tossed" until the arms of the tossers grew weary, and those times that night his bunk collapsed amid roars of merriment. The recruit then gave up the struggle and lay shivering upon the floor until morning.

He neither murmured nor complained. In fact, he seemed to be so unsophisticated that when he asked his room corporal where he could have some washing done the corporal, with a jerk of his thumb, indicated the commanding officer's house on the center of the parade. "Go over to that big house," the corporal directed. "Take your bundle with you and ask for Old Bull. He takes in all the washin' at this post."

Grasping his little bundle, the green lad from Kansas City shambled across the parade, mounted the colonel's front stoop and innocently pulled the door-bell. The joke was an old one, as Old Bull had never been known to answer the bell in person, and more than one recruit had learned the way to "Soapsuds row" after a tongue lashing from the commandant's dusky maid of all work. And as she had threatened to scald the next man who bothered her about his washing the lip was poised along from troop to troop, and the men crammed out on the verandas to see the fun.

But just as the recruit pulled the bell who should step out but Old Bull himself, booted and spurred for his morning ride.

"What do you want here?" he thundered, surprised to see an enlisted man at his front door.

"I—I—I wanted to see about gettin' these sh-shirts and socks done up, s-mister," stammered the frightened recruit. "They told me to come over here and ask for Old Bull," he added.

"Well, I'm Old Bull!" roared the colonel. "You come along with me and point out the man that sent you over here," he went on as he grasped the astonished youth and hurried him toward the troop quarters.

The crowds upon the verandas melted away as Colonel Sumner approached, but the guilty corporal was found lurking in the troop barber shop. Some heated language ensued, and then at the end of the painful interview Old Bull delivered himself thus:

"Corporal, I ought to have you court martialed. I would have your stripes taken away if—see that youngster about thirty days into the bargain or I could have you tried. But you've been one of my best bouncers. You're always sober and a good shot, and so I'm not going to take your chevrons, your liberty or your money away from you. But since you're such an expert on laundry matters I order you to do this man's washing on the front porch of these quarters every Monday morning at guard mount.

"And you," he hollowed, turning to the recruit and shaking his gauntlets at him, "you see that you save at least two suits of underclothes and seven pairs of socks for him every week. And if he don't wash 'em clean you report to Old Bull, that's me!"

And thereafter for several months until a band of Ponto Basin Apaches went on a rampage and gave them more serious things to think about, the men of the Seventh looked forward happily to Monday morning guard mount. The noncommissioned laundryman became known as "Corporal Suds" and was tested about the affair until the day a piece of Spanish shrapnel cut short his existence.—Youth's Companion.

Conclusive.

"The people who say that women are inconsistent and inconsiderate," declares the philosopher of Folly, "are dead wrong. A few years ago a girl told me she was just twenty-two and she sticks to the same figures today."—Cleveland Leader.

A Stock Question.

"At what point in life should a man's income be largest?"

"It is usually reported to be largest at the period of his life to which his wife tries to show the court how much alimony he could pay."—St. Louis Post-Dispatch.

There is nothing useless to a student of music; clever people turn everything to account.—La Fontaine.

To keep spoons and forks bright, after washing put them to stand a minute or two in a jarful of very hot, clean, soapy water with a dash of ammonia.

CROWN LIFE

Invest your savings in a Crown Life Policy. It is worth more than a bank deposit to you and to your family.

Let us send you some fresh insurance facts

CROWN LIFE INSURANCE CO., TORONTO

Agents wanted in unrepresented districts

ORIGIN OF BANK CHECKS.

Comes London Fogs, It Is Said, Forced Their Introduction.

It is claimed that the business world owes the idea of the bank check to nothing else than London's fogs.

These fogs are sometimes of such a density that the pedestrian can see but a few feet ahead of him. Something over a hundred years ago, it is said, the attacks of thieves and highwaymen in the British capital upon bank messengers and tradesmen going through the streets to settle their bills became so frequent in times of heavy fog as seriously to interfere with the conduct of London's business.

It was easy for the thief to ambush his victim, club him into insensibility, rob him and then disappear into the murky atmosphere, with little likelihood of apprehension or identification or that passersby would witness the commission of the crime or be of any assistance in the chase.

In these circumstances bankers, tradesmen and others set their wits to working, with the result that the bank check was devised for the payment of debts. Soon the highwaymen found that a few pieces of paper were all the booty they were likely to get from a "holdup" of even a wealthy tradesman. Accordingly the activities of the daylight robbers soon came to an end, but the convenience of the bank check proved so great that it survived not only in London, but was adopted throughout the civilized world.—Washington Star.

To Have Smooth, White, Soft Skin All Winter

Does your skin show or roughen easily in the weather, or become unduly red or blotchy? Here is a quick, easy way to overcome the trouble and keep your complexion beautifully white, smooth and soft the winter long. Just get an ounce of ordinary mercolized wax at the nearest druggists and use a little before retiring, as you would cold cream. Upon arising, remove the coating with soapy water. The wax, through some peculiar attribute, feeds off the rough, discolored or blemish skin. The worn-out cuticle comes off just like dandruff, only in almost invisible particles. Mercolized wax simply hastens Nature's work. Used as required, it keeps the face constantly free from devitalized cuticle and only the healthy, young-looking skin is in evidence. It's the best treatment known for weatherbeaten, aged, muddy, freckled, pimpled and all unbeautiful complexions. Some skins wrinkle easily in winter. There's an excellent remedy in a harmless wash lotion made by dissolving 1 oz. powdered saxolite in a half pint witch hazel. This will quickly eradicate every line.

A matter of great importance in long-distance telephoning is to be properly timed. This can be done with a three-minute time glass, which can be bought for a few cents. With this in view when talking long distances many stray dimes will be saved.

BOTH SIGNED THE NOTE.

A Financial Formality That Puzzled Both Clay and Webster.

The men in official Washington seem to have less of a halo about them than in the good old days, when the towering form of Webster or Henry Clay would attract more attention on Pennsylvania avenue than a brass band or a tango dancer in 1914. In a bank the other day I saw a note indorsed jointly by Henry Clay and Daniel Webster. The story is told that Clay asked Webster to indorse a note with him for $800.

"All right," said the studious and thoughtful Webster. "I'll do so, Clay, if you'll make it $1,000 and give me half." Clay agreed to the compact, and the two set out for Banker Riggs, signed the note with due solemnity and secured the proceeds. As they swung across the threshold out again on the avenue and divided the money Webster in his ponderous voice remarked to Clay, "Henry, why do you suppose Mr. Riggs wanted our names on that note?"

"It baffles me, Daniel," responded Clay. "Perhaps he desired some memento to hand down to posterity, for I cannot at this moment conceive how it is going to be paid for the present generation."

The canceled note is today a valued souvenir, worth many times its face, because of the illustrious signers.—Joe Mitchell Chapple in National Magazine.

Twain's Rate.

Mark Twain went to just one automobile show in his life. He went with a Detroit friend. After he had been shown the cars and other sights the friend said: "Come on over here. The greatest salesman in the automobile business is working, and I want you to hear him."

They went to a place where the salesman was talking to a possible customer about the merits of his car. He was rattling outward so fast that Twain gasped

"Sakes alive," said Twain in his slowest drawl, "if my publishers ever heard me talk as fast as that man does they wouldn't pay me 30 cents a word or even 2 cents. They'd make me produce words about a hundred for a nickel."—Saturday Evening Post.

Scandal.

How is it that the evil which men say spreads so widely and lasts so long, while our good, kind words don't seem somehow to take root and bear blossom? Is it that in the stony hearts of mankind these pretty flowers can't find a place to grow? Certain it is that scandal is good brisk talk, whereas praise of one's neighbor is by no means lively hearing. An acquaintance grilled, seared, devilled and soused with mustard and cayenne pepper excites the appetite, whereas a slice of cold friend with currant jelly is but a sickly, unrelishing meat.—Thackeray.

Indigestion Resulted From An Inactive Liver

The Bowels Became Constipated and the Whole Digestive System Upset

With many people constipation becomes a habit. And it is a dangerous habit which is certain sooner or later to cause serious disease.

"Daily movement of the bowels" is the first and most important rule of health. When the liver becomes torpid the flow of bile into the intestines is stopped and the bowels become constipated. But you can readily overcome this condition by using Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills. There is no treatment obtainable which so promptly awakens the activity of the liver and bowels and thereby corrects derangements of the digestive system.

Mrs. Herbert Doherty, Beaver Brook, Albert Co., N.B., writes: "I can truthfully say that Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills are a great medicine for constipation. I have suffered from constipation ever since I can remember but got to using Dr Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills and was so benefited that I began to study this malady. I found that the indigestion resulted from a bad case of inactive liver, and as soon as I got the liver working right I didn't have any stomach trouble or indigestion. I cannot praise this medicine too highly, and would advise anyone suffering from indigestion or constipation to use Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills. My husband also claims that these pills have done him more good than any medicine he ever used. You are at liberty to use this letter."

Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills positively relieve and cure torpid liver, constipation, biliousness, indigestion, backache and kidney disease. Put it to the test. One pill a dose. 35 cents a box, all dealers, or Edmanson, Bates & Co., Ltd., Toronto.

UNION BANK OF CANADA

Give Your Wife an Interest in the family's financial progress by opening a Joint Account in the Union Bank of Canada, in her name and your own.

You will find it a very convenient arrangement, for then either can attend to the banking when in town, making deposits or withdrawing money. In case of death, the balance automatically goes to the survivor.

PETERBOROUGH BRANCH C. H. PENNEFATHER, Manager
NORWOOD BRANCH . . . D. S. CUTCLIFFE, Manager
WESTWOOD BRANCH . . . J. M. THOMSON, Manager
STIRLING BRANCH . . . W. S. MARTIN, Manager

CANADA

NATIONAL SERVICE

PUBLIC NOTICE is hereby given under the authority of the "War Measures Act, 1914," that during the first week in January, 1917, an inventory will be made by the Post Office Authorities, of every male between the ages of sixteen and sixty-five, residing in Canada.

National Service Cards and addressed envelopes for their return to Ottawa have been placed in the hands of all Postmasters for distribution amongst the persons required to fill in such cards. Every male person of the prescribed ages is required to fill in and return a card enclosed in an envelope within ten days of its receipt.

Any person who fails to receive a card and envelope may obtain the same upon application to the nearest Postmaster.

R. B. BENNETT,
Director General.

Ottawa, 15th December, 1916.

GOD SAVE THE KING.

NATIONAL SERVICE WEEK : 1st to 7th JANUARY.

Lloyd George Is Working Hard

London. — David Lloyd George may be more imaginative than practical, as alleged by his critics, but he is showing the hardest kind of horse sense in dealing with the big problems which he has suddenly taken upon his shoulders. He is walking with steady step, along a way strewn with difficulties, to his goal. Unless he should encounter some unexpected obstacle, the meeting of parliament next week will find him ready to take up the task of government.

Among the surprises of the Ministerial crisis to a newcomer is the extent to which England is honeycombed with political partisanship. One would think that nearly two years of a war for existence would have loosed the binding quality of party ties, but they seem to be as strong as ever.

Partisanship and intense rivalry between newspaper camps have constituted the chief obstacles to Lloyd George's creation of a new Ministry, but as a strenuous hustler neither the Kaiser nor Roosevelt has "anything on" the new Prime Minister, and he has this quality not possessed by either—he is bland and amiable.

The Asquith press at first acknowledged Lloyd George's abilities though hinting at ingratitude and treachery; then with crocodile sorrowfulness, they found for him an insuperable difficulty—labour support. As indicated in a previous dispatch this was the last trump in the Asquith hand. Well, the new Premier went right up to the labour lion, patted him on the head and apparently has tamed him.

It is amusing to see the Asquith papers metaphorically swallowing their Adam's apples at this exhibition of David's prowess. The same quality of partisanship obtains among all the party hangers-on. These people remind one of a certain breed of politicians at home, whose spellbinders pronounce the word as if spelled "partee," putting the accent on the last syllable.

It is difficult to believe that with Greece and Roumania as they are, there can exist so much pettiness.

PARTISANSHIP DISGUSTS THE PUBLIC.

The success of Lloyd George in organising a Ministry and carrying on the government, if as complete as is now indicated, may lead to a reforming of old party lines and bringing into being a new party with a vigorous war policy as the cornerstone policy. The partisanship which prevails in official circles, and the root of which is patronage, is by no means shared by the people at large. A wave of disgust at the press and political backerings is sweeping over the nation. The general public believes that the new Premier is a winner and want to get behind him.

"Thorough" has been made into a word with fighting meaning in it and is heard on all lips. It looks as if public opinion might break down the party walls and free Lloyd George's hands so that he can pick his lieutenants with more regard for fitness to prosecute the war than for the party and the faction that they represent.

As a matter of fact, the formation of a new party might come about through the operation of natural causes. The two old parties no longer represent a vital difference of principle. They stand more for difference in caste and for possession of official patronage. The war has attenuated the differences almost to the vanishing point.

Lloyd George disregards party lines and makes his Cabinet from the best material available. The chief of democrats draws his principal support from the Tory party. The social reformer is backed by the classes with vested rights and interests. Out of such conditions there might well be born a party that would rule England, at least till the war was over.

The rumoured retention of A. J. Balfour caused a show of teeth by the Northcliffe press, which wants "ginger" from the top to the bottom and rates Balfour as a back number but the new Government can be sure of general press support.

Rival leaders have been eliminated; only Lloyd George is left. If past criticism has been unreasonable and destructive, as the less powerful press contended, it cannot turn on Lloyd George. There is no one to set up against him. It is neck or nothing now. The Premier is in a position of absolute independence so far as former critics of the Government are concerned; and as for the thick-and-thin Asquith organs, there is no other place for them to go, either.

No matter from what side it is viewed, the new Ministry seems to be placed so as to face and fight to the best advantage, the real enemy, Germany.

AMERICAN FOR IMPORTANT POST.

The choice of Sir Albert Stanley as President of the Board of Trade which has charge of transportation and trade, confirms what Lord Northcliffe told me of the ministers that would appeal to America. Stanley though born in Great Britain, was a naturalised American before coming back to England a few years ago. He is regarded as a great street railway expert.

The appointment of a man American born but naturalized here, to another important post, is under consideration.

The American referred to in this despatch may be Henry W. Thornton who gave up the post of General Superintendent of the Long Island Railway in 1914 to become the General Manager of the Great Eastern Railway of England, which has more than 1300 miles of track and the largest passenger traffic of any railway in the world.

Mr. Thornton was born in Indiana and is now in his 47th year. After being graduated from St. Paul's School, he attended the University of Pennsylvania, where he played football on the eleven. He was graduated in 1894 and entered the employ of the Pennsylvania Railroad as a draughtsman. He rose rapidly in that railroad's service, and on Feb. 1st 1911, became the Assistant General Superintendent of the Long Island Railroad. He was advanced to Superintendent on Nov. 14, 1911.

His selection for the Great Eastern, which was chiefly brought about by Lord Claud Hamilton, was bitterly criticised by the English railway men for a time, but Thornton soon became popular. On August 16, 1914, when the war was less than two weeks old he was appointed a member of the executive committee of general managers which took over all the railroads of England for the Government.

ARMY INSPECTION

For the French Government will be held at

The Old Dickson Co. Barn,
LONDON ST., PETERBORO
FRIDAY, DECEMBER 29th.

SATISFACTORY and LIBERAL PRICES WILL BE PAID for all Horses accepted, Grays included. Do not be afraid to bring in your horses as we will guarantee a square deal and FAIR INSPECTION FOR EVARYBODY. Ages 5 to 9 years, weight 1100 to 1500 pounds, from 15.1 to 16.2 hands high and serviceably sound. CASH PAID for Horses accepted.

GREEN & CRUIKSHANK, Peterborough

Ease Your Wife's Anxiety

"Indeed, I could not sleep last night," said a merchant to one of our insurance agents. "The insurance on my store expired yesterday, and that pesky fire bell reminded me of it. That store is my living, and I could never start another. If the fire had 'snuffed out' my business last night, instead of Smith's, I would be at my string's end."

"Get insured this morning?".
"Yes, sir; bright and early."
"Own the house you occupy?"
"No; wish I did."
"Anybody helping keep the family?"
"Why, no—why do you ask that?"
"Any income besides the store?"
"No, not a dollar—why?"
"Does your wife sleep well?"
"Why yes; but what on earth are you driving at, anyway?"

"I was just thinking how she could sleep, for if your life had been snuffed out instead of your neighbour Jones' yesterday, she would be at her 'string's end,' for I happen to know that you have no life insurance and your income is her living."

Most men sleep sounder when they know that in event of FIRE their property IS PROTECTED BY INSURANCE. Would not your WIFE AND FAMILY sleep sounder if they knew YOU HAD FULFILLED YOUR OBLIGATIONS and made provision for them in event of YOUR DEATH?

Hill, Weddell & Company
INSURANCE IN ALL BRANCHES
Crown Chambers Bldg., Cor. Hunter and Water Sts., Peterboro
'Phone 14.

SCHOOL REPORT

AUBURN SCHOOL.

The following is the Christmas report for the Auburn School:

Senior IV—Edna Ball.

Junior IV—Helen Tedford, Russel Profit, Helen Spencely.

Junior III — Arthur Profit, Rolfe Tedford, Tom Blackwell.

Senior II — Roy Spence, Phyllis Spence, Fred Bell, Bertha Tedford.

I — Bessie Profit, Irene Delong, Cecil Delong, Olive Tedford and Alice Blackwell) equal.

Senior Primer—Greta Delong, Olive Delong.

Junior Primer—Stuart Tedford.

Not ranked—Michael Hindes, Cicely Spence.

Could Get Them Cheap.

A vicar (very deaf) had been getting some new hymn-books, and he wished to sell them. At the morning service the clerk gave out the following notice: "Those who wish to have their babies christened this afternoon may do so by leaving their names at the vestry." "Yes, said the vicar, "and those who have not got them may have them by applying at the vestry door — first size two-pence, second size fourpence, and those with cloth backs sixpence."

U. S. Prediction Of Submarine War To Limit

On What It Claims is Authoritative Information the New York Herald Declares Germans Will Attempt to Sink Everything and Adds President Wilson Knew This and Also Knows War Would Result.

REPORTS MADE TO PRESIDENT

NEW YORK, December 27.—The New York Herald yesterday published the following:

"The Herald is enabled to announce authoritatively that the German people are demanding of their Government a resumption of the campaign of frightfulness even at the cost of war with the United States.

"James W. Gerard, American Ambassador to Berlin, and other diplomatists in Germany, who were recently in America, came for the purpose of discussing the situation in Germany and of effecting some sort of arrangement so that peace between the two countries could still be maintained, according to a high government official.

"On the personal insistance of the German Emperor himself, aided by the influence of Dr. von Bethmann-Hollweg, the German Chancellor, has kept an order from German submarine commanders to sink every ship approaching a British port, whether armed or unarmed, whether enemy or neutral.

"In a recent conference with American diplomatists in German stations, the President was told that even the Conservative party in Germany favoured a resumption of the submarine campaign, and not even the Kaiser and the Chancellor would be able to hold in leash the dogs of war beyond the spring. It was this information which caused the President to send out his recent note on the subject of peace which has so puzzled the students of international politics over the world. It was this information which must have been in the mind of Mr. Lansing, the Secretary of State, when he said the United States was 'on the verge of war.'

WOULD STARVE ENGLAND.

"The President has reports to this effect from members of the diplomatic corps in Germany:

"The German people believe if their submarines are permitted free rein, England can be starved.

"They believe that if the submarines are permitted to do so, they can sink every vessel laden with munitions of war to be used against the Fatherland.

"Therefore they demand that Admiral von Tirpitz and his element shall have their way and sink every vessel that approaches a British port."

The official who gave this information to the Herald made further explanations;

"The German people reason that one or more nations against them will make but a slight difference," he said. "They know that not for years could an enemy invade German soil. Therefore they say why not starve England as one of the measure to end the war. They are demanding to know of their government why it permits the United States to ship munitions and to say that such vessels must not be sunk.

"The Chancellar and even the Kaiser has told the people that Germany must keep the friendship of the United States, so that Germany can come here and borrow money for rehabilitation after the war. The answer of the people has been: 'Why not win the war and let our money for rebuilding come in the form of indemnities from the enemies of Germany.' This question those who are friends abroad are trying to answer, and they are trying it very unsuccessfully.

"Recently I made a trip through Germany. Because of a Government connection I was treated with courtesy, but I could see that Americans were hated. Americans living there told me that America was despised even more than the British in some quarters, and that the Briton is the Teuton's arch enemy. Strange to say, the Germans told me that they liked the French."

President Wilson was informed that unless some radical step was taken, the German people would force war with the United States if he did not declare war on Germany. The President received this information slightly more than a month ago. Those who are intimate with affairs in Washington and in New York city expressed the opinion that it was this situation which caused him to send the note to the belligerents asking them to outline what they were fighting for.

"This Government official expressed the emphatic opinion that, after a trip abroad and an intimate knowledge of the present temper of the German people, the United States and Germany will be in a state of war by spring.

"'For I was told on the highest authority that Germany will start her campaign of frightfulness before the spring drive of the Allies begins, and if the campaign of marine terror is waged there is only one thing America can do, and that is—declare war.'"

WANTS TO FIND IF SOMEBODY MADE MILLIONS BY HAVING, Etc.

(Continued from Page 1.)

the corridors. It was up to some one to introduce a resolution to find out if there was a leak. If it is true that some one had advance information about these things and used it to profit, the world should know it at once. If it is not true it is proper that all suspicion should be removed.

"My resolution speaks rather plainly for itself, and it says all that should be said at this time. It is not difficult to understand what I am seeking to find out."

The resolution was referred to the Committee on Rules.

Representative Bailey, democrat, of Pennsylvania, offered a resolution of indorsement of the President's note. It went to the Committee on Foreign Affairs and reads:—

"Resolved, That the House of Representatives strongly indorses and approves the action taken by the President in sending diplomatic notes, under date of December 20, to the nations now at war, suggesting and recommending the first steps in possible negotiations to arrange the terms of peace.

"Resolved, That in taking this action the President has rendered an invaluable service to a war stricken world. In asking the belligerent nations to set forth the concessions and assurances which they deem necessary to the establishment of a lasting peace he has afforded them an opportunity which it is fervently hoped they may not disregard. It would be a reflection upon the nations at war to doubt that they know the ends for which they are fighting or to assume that they have any purpose which they are unwilling to reveal.

"Resolved, That a definite statement by both sides, no matter how far these statements may be apart, will clear the air and afford a basis for negotiations; and when negotiations begin, we believe they are not likely to terminate until an agreement is reached, because we believe neither side will consent to assume responsibility for continuing the unspeakable horrors of this conflict if any reasonable terms can be secured.

"Resolved, That we congratulate the President on the stand he has taken and that we extend to him our earnest wishes for the complete and speedy success of the great movement which he has had the honour to inaugurate."

The Republican leader, Mr. Mann, referred to the note on the floor of the House Friday and heartily praised President Wilson's action.

"Without regard to partisanship," he said, "I believe the whole people of the country warmly congratulate and commend the President in every effort he has made or may make to restore peace in the world."

It became known during the day that some members of the Diplomatic Corps are worried over their personal status with their home governments, which they have been informing for weeks that the United States would take no action in the European situation. With the arrival of the German proposals and the announced decision of this government not to add any word of its own, most diplomatists became finally convinced, and so reported to their governments, that no step toward peace would be taken here unless a decided change occurred.

Renew your subscription.

FELT LIKE A NEW PERSON

After Taking Only One Box Of "Fruit-a-tives"

EAST SHIP HARBOUR, N. S.

"It is with great pleasure that I write to tell you of the wonderful benefits I have received from taking "Fruit-a-tives". For years, I was a dreadful sufferer from Constipation and Headaches, and I was miserable in every way. Nothing in the way of medicines seemed to help me. Then I finally tried "Fruit-a-tives" and the effect was splendid. After taking one box, I feel like a new person, to have relief from those sickening Headaches".

Mrs. MARTHA DEWOLFE.

50c. a box, 6 for $2.50, trial size, 25c. At all dealers or sent postpaid by Fruit-a-tives Limited, Ottawa.

The Dig Inevitable.

The dourest of dour ministers was one day soundly beaten by an athletic young stranger on the links near Falkirk. Surprised that a "Sassenach" should have the impertinence to beat him on his native heath, but admiring the young man's skill, he asked him to the manse for tea, where he found his guest polished, well read and interesting. Half-past six brought the announcement that the visitor must be off to his work. "And where will ye be working this time of the day?" "The theatre, of course; I act." "Act? An actor? Tag think I hae harboged a son of Satan in the house of God!" Probably the worthy man expected to see a blue flame spring up, for he stepped back, hands uplifted. "Have you ever been to a theatre?" "The Lord forbid!" "Then how can you know anything about it?" The minister paused. "Weel, weel, if ye can act as well as ye can gowf ye canna be sic a bad man. I'm minded to come an' speir at ye. I suppose ye can gie me a free ticket?" — Evening Sun, N.Y.

Why He Was Not Saved.—He was one of those officious foremen, one who tried to make those under his charge realize that he was somebody of importance. But one day he met his match. Stepping up to the shop humorist, he said: "You're a minute late this morning." "I know; but there's a reason for it." "Explain." "When I was coming along to work I heard a man in the river yellin' for help. I ran to him, was pullin' him out, but let him drop in again." "But why didn't you save him?" "Not likely," was the dry answer. "Why?" "Cos he was a foreman."

Don't Persecute your Bowels

Cut out cathartics and purgatives. They are brutal—harsh—unnecessary. Try CARTER'S LITTLE LIVER PILLS. Purely vegetable. Act gently on the liver, eliminate bile, and soothe the delicate membrane of the bowel.

Cure Constipation, Biliousness, Sick Headache and Indigestion, or millions have Small Pill, Small Dose, Small Price. Genuine must bear Signature

Brent Good

CANADIAN PACIFIC

Start the year backed by the confidence that your friends and folks at home are still your best friends. YOU CAN VISIT THEM BY

NEW YEAR EXCURSIONS
Via
CANADIAN PACIFIC

SINGLE FARE— Going December 30, 31 and January 1. Return limit January 2.

FARE AND ONE-THIRD —Going December 28, 29, 30 and 31, return limit, January 3.

Purchase in advance. Tickets on Sale Now. Any Ticket Agent C.P.R.

SIMPLEX

SHOE POLISH
Brightest and Best
Black, Tan, White and Ox-Blood
SIMPLEX is made of wax and olive oil
Be Sure you ask for SIMPLEX—It's Best.

FILL YOUR BIN with the Only Genuine White Ash
D. L. & W.
SCRANTON COAL Automatically Screened

It's a well-known fact that there is as great difference between different kinds of coal as there is between any other two commodities and it ought to pay coal consumers to do a little experimenting on their own account. We claim that the D. L. & W. Scranton Coal is the cleanest coal known. We claim that it will do more heating than any other coal.

Robert Hicks Co.
LIMITED
Charlotte and Bethune Sts.
Murray and Bethune Sts.
PHONES 47-48

WHEN YOU WANT
COAL
CEMENT
Sewer Pipe
CONSULT
H. B. TAYLOR & SON
Cor. Aylmer & Wolfe
'Phone 209

LOW'S COAL

STOVE COAL, per ton..$8.50
NUT COAL, per ton....$8.50
PEA COAL, per ton....$7.25
No. 1 CANEL COAL $8.50

LOW & COMPANY
262 Simcoe St. and 385 Bethune St
Phone 697 Nights and Holidays 766

COAL

THAT IS ALL COAL

PROMPT DELIVERY

Peterborough Fuel & Transfer Co.
Charlotte St. Phones 270 261, 662
Truck and Transfer Business in Connection

THERE IS NO FUEL
so good as
ANTHRACITE COAL
and no better anthracite than
Lehigh Valley Coal
THE COAL THAT SATISFIES
ALSO
HARD AND SOFT WOOD
Cutting and Splitting Extra
J. E. A. FITZGERALD
PHONE 111

HEAT PRODUCING
COAL
Use Our
PITTSTON COAL
It Makes Warm Friends
Terms Positively Cash
Weir & McCarthy
Coal and Wood Dealers
111 Hunter St., East City. 'Phone 96

IF YOU want to BUILD UP YOUR BUSINESS, you must USE THE PAPER that goes into the Home.

10 Pages

The Evening Examiner

PETERBOROUGH WEDNESDAY, DECEMBER 27, 1916

GRANT SIX

If you are in the market for a six-cylinder car, be sure and see the Grant Six, at PULKINGHORNE'S AUTO AND TAXI LIVERY.

'Phone 278. Res. 'Phone 788

A RED CROSS APPEAL TO ALL PETERBOROUGH WOMEN

PARIS REPORTS CALM ON ALL FRONTS

British Ministers' Confer On The International Situation

New York Papers Say That Germany's Answer to President Wilson Completely Evades the Issue and That the Germans Have Turned the Documents to Their Own Ends---Seven French-Canadians Arrested on Charge of Stealing Nickel and Indirectly Aiding the King's Enemies.

A SUMMARY OF TO-DAY'S WAR CABLES

SPECIAL TO THE EXAMINER:

LONDON, December 27.—A ministerial conference on the international situation was held at Premier Lloyd George's official residence, 10 Downing street, to-day. First Lord of the Admiralty Balfour made his first appearance in conference since his recent indisposition.

New York Papers on German Answer

SPECIAL TO THE EXAMINER:

NEW YORK, December 27.—Regarding Germany's reply to President Wilson's peace note, local papers say editorially:

The World—Germany's answer to President Wilson's note completely evades the issue.

The Sun—In a polite way the German Government refrains from disclosing to President Wilson its idea of the terms upon which peace might be had.

The Tribune—If there was any doubt in anyone's mind as to who would benefit by Mr. Wilson's peace gesture, it should be abolished now. Coolly, skilfully, completely, the Germans in their response to Mr. Wilson's note, have turned that document to their own ends.

Charged With Theft of Canadian Nickel

SPECIAL TO THE EXAMINER:

QUEBEC CITY, December 27.—Seven French-Canadians have been arrested, and others are under suspicion, on charges of stealing several tons of cupro nickel from the Dominion Arsenal and indirectly aiding the King's enemies.

It was scrap nickel from cartridges, remelted and rivets made from it. The stolen nickel was sold to local junk dealers, who resold it to a Montreal firm.

For some time suspicion has existed that enemy agents have been at work getting Canadian nickel in various ways for export through United States ports, possibly by the Deutschland submarine route to Germany. The metal, after being taken from the Government Arsenal scrap piles, was packed in whiskey casts. The unearthing of this plot for the exportation of nickel is leading to vigorous military inquiry.

Calm On All Fronts Says Paris Report

SPECIAL TO THE EXAMINER:

PARIS, December 27.—Calm on all fronts was reported by the War Office statement to-day.

LONDON, December 27.—Commenting on the fact that there are many misunderstandings both in Britain and in America as to President Wilson's intentions in his note, the Westminster Gazette declares to-day:

"We should make our position plain. It is to be hoped that our reply to the American note will be a full, careful, and well reasoned statement."

Munition Plants Are Out of Business

SPECIAL TO THE EXAMINER:

TORONTO, December 27. — Many big munition plants and other large industries are idle here as a result of the storm which fractured the wires near Cookville about 4 a.m., plunging the city into darkness. A large part of the city arose by candle light to-day.

The storm last night and this morning was general from Jacksonville, Florida to Northern Ontario. Anxiety is great for shipping along the Atlantic coast.

FORMULATING A REPLY

SPECIAL TO THE EXAMINER:

LONDON, December 27.—Britain and her Allies are now formulating a reply to President Wilson's peace note which will probably clearly outline the objects for which they are fighting, it was learned on the best authority to-day.

OTTAWA, December 27.—At the conclusion of a meeting of the Cabinet this morning a carefully worded letter was prepared and sent by Sir Robert Borden to the executive of the Trade and Labour Congress explaining the aims of the National Service Commission, and constituted the reply to the representations mbade by labour men in connection with the matter.

The contents of the letter have not yet been made public.

It is expected that the Congress may issue an appeal for co-operation with the Commission.

It is understood that labour men have been assured that conscription is not contempated in the proposals of the Commission.

Chas. W. Stenson On Pension Board Staff

Mr. Chas. W. Stenson, formerly a private in the 2nd Battalion, C. E. F., has been appointed to the office staff of the Pension Board, Ottawa, and left last night to assume his position. This appointment was made through the local office of the Soldiers' Aid Commission.

Mr Stenson was to act as a polling clerk on election day, and last night Mr. T. Q. Quartermaine was appointed in his place.

BOWLING

Mr. V. Dawson won a turkey on Saturday, with a score of 627.

A bowling match is arranged for Thursday night between Wholesale Grocers and Retail Grocers.

A. H. Fielder has high score for this week's prize, 616.

The Peterborough bowlers are arranging a game with the Brunswick bowlers, of Toronto, holders of the McCallud trophy. The boys will make a try for it about Jan. 15th.

This cup was won from Montreal last season by Toronto's best five men team.

COUNCIL ENDORSES MOVE TO MOTORIZE FIRE APPARATUS

Ald. Langford's the Only Dissenting Voice and He Felt There Was no Need of Immediate Haste

A PREPAREDNESS MEASURE

The motorization of the Fire Department's rolling stock advanced a step last night when the Council passed the Fire, Water and Light committee's recommendation to apply for legislation to authorize the issuance of debentures for an amount not exceeding $10,000 to pay for such apparatus if the money is not provided from this year's taxes.

Ald. Langford offered the only objection. He was surprised at this particular clause. At the last meeting of the Council it was decided that $8,000 was too much to expend on an experiment. He didn't see any more reason to-day for motor apparatus, and moved an amendment that the clause be struck out.

Mayor Duffus stated that this application was made in order that the city would be in a position to improve the Fire Department. It did not necessarily mean that the money would be raised by debentures, but if that means were chosen the city was prepared.

Ald. Langford—It would be a good policy for us to pay as we go.

A previous clause recommended that Mayor Duffus and the chairman of the committee be empowered to investigate the results from motor driven fire apparatus in other cities

Ald. Saunders suggested that Chief Howard should be added to that sub-committee, but Ald. Stratton replied that there was no need of adding extra expense. The Chief was ready to give any information when required.

Ald. Edgar commenting on the former clause, stated that the motion had to be forwarded not later than Thursday, in order to be in time for listing on the Private Bills committee slate. It would be very unwise to defer action, therefore. Ald. Edgar remarked that he did not know what apparatus the Council would buy, but he hoped that the money would be expended to the best advantage.

Ald. Langford's motion was not seconded and the Fire, Water and Light committee report was passed without any amendations

SHORT COURSE AT THE DE LAVAL DAIRY SUPPLY CO.

About Forty Travellers are Participating in a "Short Study" Course in the Company's Local Plant

RECORDS KEPT

What is known as the "travellers' short course," opened this morning in the plant of the De Laval Dairy Supply Company. About forty travellers, representing the various provinces from as far east as Sidney, Nova Scotia to the eastern boundary of Manitoba, are in attendance. The western territory is taken care of by the company's western branch.

The course, which will last for three days, opened with a shop study, and for the next two days, the men will be subjected to an examination embodying all the manufactured products of the company from separators to all kinds of dairy machinery. The examinations comprise an aggregate of over five hundred questions covering the company's business. Records of the number of questions correctly answered by each man are kept and the men graded accordingly. The course will close on Friday evening with a banquet at the Empress hotel.

These courses are held each year, with the result that each man has an opportunity of familiarizing himself with details of the construction of the particular product which he is deputed to sell. This means better salesmanship and satisfied customers.

The Health Association Reception On Friday

The ladies of the Nurses' Supervision Committee of the Health Association, are making every effort to provide for the comfort and enjoyment of their guests during the afternoon and evening of Friday next, December 29th, at the Empress Hotel. Through the kindness of Mrs. Gliddon the full orchestra of the Conservatory of Music will play during the tea hour, and suitable music has been provided for dancing in the evening. The splendid lobby of the hotel will be at the disposal of visitors during the tea hour, and again in the evening for coffee and music. To all visitors a hearty welcome is extended. Come yourself and pass this invitation on to your friends, as the committee is not sending out invitations other than this press notice. Rev Father Phelan, President, will say a few words both afternoon and evening on the work of the Association.

Tables will be provided for Bridge, Euchre and Five Hundred, and the hostess of each table is asked to provide cards, score cards and pencils for her own table. Prizes will be given for the best score of Bridge, Euchre and Five Hundred. To prevent confusion ushers will see that each lady finds her own table on her arrival. The committee wishes to emphasize the informal nature of the reception. It is not intended in any sense to be a full dress function.

Admission for cards or dancing fifty cents. Visitors afternoon or evening twenty-five cents. All ladies taking tables are asked to communicate as soon as possible with Mrs. Aylmer, 'phone 303.

MEMBERS OF 93rd BAND ATTACHED TO 247th BATTALION

Bandsmen Reported This Morning and Were Briefly Addressed by Lt.-Col. Ackerman--Will Be on Leave Until Next Tuesday---Pte. Ed. Doleman in Hospital in London--To-day's Orders and General Military News

The members of the 93rd band have been taken on the strength of the 247th Battalion, and reported at the armouries this morning. Lt.-Col. Ackerman in addressing them, briefly said that he knew they had a pretty hard time and had been driven about from pillar to post. Now, however, they would be attached to the 247th and would carry on the same duties as they had last winter with the 93rd. He asked them for the same assistance they had given to the 93rd Battalion.

Bandmaster Hughes on behalf of the band ,thanked Lt.-Col. Ackerman for his kindness in providing lunch at Belleville for the band, which was greatly appreciated by the members, and promised loyal support for the new battalion.

The band will be given leave until Tuesday morning next, but will likely play for an hour at the Peterborough Health Association's reception at the Empress Hotel on Friday. Five of the bandsmen who live out of the city will get an opportunity to go home. They are Bandsmen F Walno and E. Keale, Hamilton, H. Loader, Campbellford, W Layfield, Millbrook, and A. Clarke, Pickering. All the other bandsmen reside in the city.

Gunner W. H. Frise, 74th Battery, Kingston, spent Christmas at his home, 498 Romaconr street.

Mrs. T. Doleman, 44 Lafayette avenue, has received word this morning to say that her son, Pte. E Doleman, has been sent to the University College Hospital, London, England, suffering from curvature of the spine, the result of a gun shot wound last spring. The doctor thinks he will have a fairly good chance, but says it will take some time.

TO-DAY'S ORDERS.

Peterborough, Ont., Dec. 26, 1916.

Daily Orders by Lieutenant-Colonel C. H Rckerman, Commanding 247th Battalion, C.E.F.

Orders for Wednesday, December 27, 1916:

1—Parade—

All officers, C.O.'s and men, except those specially employed, will parade in the drill hadd at 9 a.m. and 2 p.m.

2—Duties—

Orderly officer for Wednesday, December 27th—Lt. F. J. Hayes.

Orderly officer for Thursday, December 28th—Lt. A. H. Cameron.

Next for duty—Lt. T. Quinn.

3—District Orders—

The following message received from His Majesty the King:

"I send you, my sailors and soldiers, hearty good wishes for Christmas and the New Year. My grateful thoughts are ever with you for victories gained, for hardships endured, and for your unfailing cheerfulness. Another Xmas has come round and we are still at war, but the Empire confident in you, remains determined to win. God bless and protect you."

GEORGE R. I.

General Henning.

4—Taken on the Strength—

The following bandsmen, having returned from overseas, and reported for duty, are taken on the strength of the 247th Battalion, from December the 26th, 1916:

195160—Bandmaster Hughes.
195176—Band Sergeant R. Naples.
195789—Pte. F. Barnes.
195263—Pte. R. Morris.
195354—Pte. W. T. Dyer.
455510—Pte. P. Grange.
195056—Pte. R. Dyer.
195061—Pte. V. Dallin.
195306—Pte. T. Smith.
195315—Pte. E. Keale.
195110—Pte. J. James.
195498—Pte. F. Wells.
195184—Pte. H. Payton.
195523—Pte. F. Walno.
195485—Pte. T. Blunt
195153—Pte. J. Miller.
195085—Pte. A. Bredman.
195075—Pte. J. French.
455515—Pte. H. Loader.
195526—Pte. A. Clark.
195283—Pte. H Worral.
195191—Pte. W. Layfield.
195056—Pte. E. Foy.
195060—Pte. T. Brooks.
195014—Pte. W. Badley.
195246—Pte. R. Wood.
195168—Pte. H. Miles.
195055—Pte. W. Dyer.

5—Strength—

No. 1063069—Pte. Walter Harold Hall, is attested and taken on the strength from December 26, 1916, and is posted to "A' Co!

No. 1063070—Pte. Frank Holton, is attested and taken on the strength as of December 26, 1916, and posted to "A" Co.

R. B BROOKS,
Lieutenant and Acting Adjutant, 247th Battalion, C.E.F.

Police Constable Art. Blade has received an interesting letter from Pte. Geo Cookman, formerly of the local police force, who went overseas with the 93rd Battalion, and is now at the front with the 4th Canadian Battalion Pte Cookman says:

Once again I have the pleasure of writing a few lines to you. I am at present getting a clean up, and getting rid of all the company who get in the trenches. I had the luck to meet Ringer, Clarkson and Charman to-day in my travels. We were at headquarters having a bit of a rub up on different things, too numerous to mention, and that is where we had a shake of the paw together. They are in a different battalion, but the same brigade, so we are not apt to meet often. If we do it is only by chance.

I am doing a bit on the machine gun again, the same old job as before, but I don't know how long it is for.

I believe Henry Smith has given his life for the country. I guess you remember him alsl right. He was game enough to do his bit. I guess a lot of us will cash in our checks over here if this great game continues very long, for I guess we are in for some rough times. Now we are in the game, we will have to see it through, or it will see us through, one of the two. It is a great pleasure to have a few days' rest. We have the opportunity of sleeping on a blanket, but the last sixteen days or more we got down any place, mud

(Continued on Page 7.)

A NEW YEAR APPEAL TO WOMEN OF PETERBORO'

PTE. E. DOLEMAN, Peterborough soldier, who has been sent to the University College Hospital, London, suffering from curvature of the spine.

Big Six Weeks' Sewing Campaign to Be Inaugurated by Peterborough Branch of the Canadian Red Cross Society and Every Woman is Urged to Help.

THE NEED IS GREAT

The following letter has been received by the local branch of the Red Cross Society from the head office in Toronto

Dear Sir or Madam:

The following report from our Assistant Commissioner, Major Harry Blaylock, is of so much interest and importance that the executive has decided that copies of it should be be sent to each Provincial and District Branch

I should like to call your attention specially to the use made of socks in the Red Cross, and also to the nature of supplies which Major Blaylock has ascertained from the French Societies are most necessary in their hospitals. You will see that these are entirely along the lines of bedding and warm garments and not of bandages and dressing.

It has been unfortunately found necessary for us to reduce our gift of five thousand cases a month to France owing to the diminution of stores in reserve in our warehouses. It is impossible for us to allow our supplies to be entirely distributed as we are bound to have a reserve for the use of the Canadian corps in times of emergency, as the Canadian hospitals are the first charge on our supplies.

We trust that you will give the widest possible publicity to this report, and that it will increase the output of the necessary articles.

Adelaide M. Plumptre.

Acting on the advice of our headquarters and in view of the extremely urgent need, as disclosed by the last report of the Commissioner, of almost all kinds of garments, the executive of the local branch of the society has decided to reopen the workroom at the Public Library (formerly used for the making of surgical dressings) on Wednesday next, the 3rd of January, at 2 o'clock prompt.

This is an endeavor to largely increase the shipments now being sent from Peterborough

It is unfortunately too true that the number of those attending and working at the various societies and auxiliaries on supplies for the men who are so splendidly upholding the honor of the British Empire, has decreased.

It is not that we care less for those fighting for us or enduring pain and suffering because they have fought. We are all anxious that neither fighting or disabled men should lack for anything that we can give them.

The reason for the "slackness" is that we have become used not to the war itself, but to the thought that our Empire is in the throes of the most titantic and inhuman struggle known to history. The first feeling of shock and horror caused to us by the terrible casualty lists in the early days of the war, has succumbed to a feeling of sickly numbness and strange wonder as to what the uprooting and attempted overthrowing of all that is best in our civilization really means, and some of us have allowed our early enthusiasm to lose something of its fervour and are in danger of leaving "our bit" to be done by our neighbours.

Never in the history of the world have women had such an opportunity to prove their worth, to show their capability to think and act, as Lord Roseberry once put it, "imperially." Not only to do their duty as wives, mothers and in the home, but also to see as true and logical daughters of the Empire, to build, uphold and sacrifice themselves for those principles which exalt a nation and without which we as a people were better dead.

(Continued on Page 8.)

REGISTRATION WILL BE DISCUSSED AT MEETING TO-NIGHT

R. B. Bennett's Appeal to Council, Will be Considered at Conference in Patriotic Fund Office.

TO DECIDE ON METHOD

A meeting will be held this evening in the office of the Patriotic Fund for the purpose of discussing the most effective means by which Peterborough may cooperate in the work of registration during National Service week, which opens on New Year's Day. Mayor Duffus stated that he had interviewed Postmaster Edgar, who stated that the Post Office would render whatever assistance it could. The Director General of the National Board of Service, R. B. Bennett, has written the Council requesting them to take the lead in arranging for local registration. At the Council meeting there was only a brief discussion of this problem since it was felt that the details would be determined at to-night's meeting. It was suggested that a committee might be appointed in each ward of citizens who would visit each house and have the registration cards filled out. It was regarded as impracticable to have the postmen take up this work in conjunction with their regular delivery of mail.

SKATING IS POPULAR AGAIN THIS SEASON

The Brock St. Rink is Well Patronized This Year—Bands Every Skating Night

The crowd at the Brock street rink on Christmas day skated a hole in the ice at night. The cold wave yesterday made ice fast and there was an excellent sheet for last night. To-night there will be a band and good ice. There will be a hockey match to-morrow night and as the schedules will be commencing early take advantage of all the good ice available.

LIVE STOCK MARKET

Examiner Special

TORONTO, Dec. 27.—Live stock, receipts light, trade inactive. No changes in prices.

WHEN IN DOUBT

About your Eyes call and see Dr Lacey. Bring him your broken lenses to duplicate. This can be done without your prescription. Also have him repair your broken mounts. 510 George street.

TO-DAY'S INDEX

Page 1—War News and Market Reports.
Page 2—Serial Story.
Page 3—Daily Short Story.
Page 4—General News.
Page 5—War and Local Military News.
Page 6—Editorial.
Page 7—Sport Gossip.
Page 8—Local and General News.
Page 9—Week of Prayer All Next Week
Page 10—Local News.

Evening Examiner

Phones—Editorial 666, Business Office 666 Private Branch Exchange to all Departments.

The Paid Circulation of The Daily Examiner is Over

5200 COPIES DAILY

SWORN TO AND GUARANTEED

The Daily Examiner, published every lawful evening by the Peterborough Examiner, Limited, Office, 410 George St.

The Weekly Examiner, published Thursday morning.

The subscription price of the Daily Examiner is $4.00 per annum; that of The Weekly, $1.00.

U. S. Representatives—Stockwell Special Agency, People's Gas Bldg.—Chicago Tribune Bldg.—New York.

Advertising rates on application.

R. M. Glover, Managing Director.

"Peterborough Presents Possibilities Unsurpassed."

WEDNESDAY, DEC. 27, 1916

PATRIOTIC FUND.

The Patriotic Fund should not be allowed to show the bad example of getting into debt, and it appears to be only thoughtlessness that has resulted in the necessity of making large overdrafts to enable the work to be carried on. It seems that there are some subscribers who are in arrears of payment; and it is desirable that this matter should be attended to as promptly as possible. It may be that in a few cases exceptional circumstances have led to a slight slowness in paying up subscription instalments, but, as a general thing, the city was never more prosperous than this year, never more money in circulation. The payment of these overdue instalments is a sacred duty, and it is hoped that prompt payment as possible of delayed instalments will be made. It is not much of a sacrifice, comparatively, some of us are asked to make for those who have made such great sacrifices for us. The custodians of the Patriotic Fund make earnest appeal to meet the present emergency by meeting an obligation voluntarily incurred.

A GOOD CHRISTMAS.

A good Christmas, as if Christmas could be anything else than good: impossible, not in the spiritual way; but in other ways, yes. This Christmas and this Christmas season have been good—ideal in the matter of clear, snowy, crisp, bright weather, an air like the sparkle of bubbling wine. In regard to the season on the lowest count—profit—it has been also an ideal Christmas season. Our merchants have never had a more prosperous business season. Trade has been exceptionally active; a good thing not only for the merchant, but in two or three other ways. The brisk trade means that we have plenty of money in circulation, and that means that the season has been made brighter for many; for more Christmas reminders of good will, more pledges of love and friendship have been distributed, contributing to a wider area of happiness and gratitude. The abundance of money that is evident, has been another good thing. In spite of prohibition, which many predicted meant business ruin, we have almost rampant prosperity, and with that the increased amount of money available for exploitation, has been spent, not in drink and carousal, as was the case a year ago, and other years, but in shoes and stockings for the children, or in something to fill the stockings in hundreds of cases where there were before no stockings for little feet. On all counts, we have had a Merry Christmas, and under conditions that permit us to look forward with confidence to what everybody wishes everybody else, a Happy New Year.

CAN'T SERVE TWO MASTERS.

Hon. G. W. Hanna, who has for eleven years been Provincial Secretary, has resigned his portfolio. He is the last of the old guard of the Whitney Cabinet, except Dr. Pyne; and his retirement does not indicate the cabinet is like wine, gaining new strength and quality by age. Hon. Mr. Hanna was a capable man if he had placed his recognized abilities, had regarded the interests of the province their first interests. The meaning of this is partly explained by the intended eulogy of a Conservative journal, the Ottawa Journal. It says:

"He (Mr. Hanna) is a good public servant captured by demands of private capital, which is always willing to pay ten times as much for a first-class man as the public is."

In this view, Hon. Mr. Hanna's retirement is not only natural but a credit to him, and a good to the public. It is well known that the late Minister was closely associated professionally with a branch of the Standard Oil octopus, even before he took office; and the professional relation was still retained after he held office. In 1904, Mr. Hanna led the opposition to government assistance represented by a million dollar loan, to the "800" industries, that put them on their feet, and but for which they would not have been the splendid item in our national equipment they are today. At that time it was held that Mr. Hanna was acting more as counsel for the Standard Oil interests, which resented the rivalry represented by the 800 industries. No doubt he has found that being a combination Minister, responsible for administration of the public interests, in the public interests, was incompatible with being a legal right hand for an enormous organization that holds the welfare of the public lightly when it might conflict with its money making. There are, however, other cabinet ministers in Ontario and Canada not quite free from the charge that interested relations to a foreign corporation, say, the International Nickel Company, accounts for an attitude that minimises the perils that come to Canada and the Empire through Canadian nickel finding its way to the enemy. Cabinet ministers, even parliamentary representatives, cannot, more than any other men, serve two masters, with diametrically opposite interests to be promoted. Even a government, kept alive—in power—by the support of a party opposed to what is the government's first duty, helping Britain in her wars—the Nationalists — cannot be relieved of the charge of serving two masters, and with the inevitable result

SELF CONTAINED.

Mr. E. S. Montague, Minister of Munitions for the British government, stated in a recent address, that there were employed directly in the Mother Country, in the production of munitions, one million eight hundred and fifty thousand men, and four hundred thousand women. Referring to production possibilities, he hoped that after the war Britain would make it impossible ever again to be dependent upon foreigners for supplies of materials that lay undeveloped within the Empire.

This is in line with the policy the Examiner has advocated, that all our Canadian national resources — all our raw materials, should be manufactured into the virtually finished form within the country, and that nothing possibly avoidable should be exported in a raw state. This is mentioned in connection with the hope of the British Minister of Munitions not to show the parallelism of the trend of great minds, but to emphasize a self-evidently proper policy. We ship nickel in a raw state to a foreign country, and not only miss realising the fullest value and the immense profit value of refinement at home, but make it easy for our nickel to find its way into the enemy's hands, instead of keeping it under our own control.

We allow pulp and pulp wood to go out of the country, when we should keep both at home or only allow the export in the form of paper—under the conditions that even in that form all export should be subject to ample and liberal provision for Canadian home needs.

We permit the export of developed electric energy, when we sadly need it at home to keep up our total of munitions, and for other industries that could be developed. We ship wheat, and other grains, in the raw, when we should promote the employment of capital and labour in the milling industry. We have, if we conserve them—for our own use—abundance of water powers and can conduct an extensive milling industry, that would mean planting big milling industries all over the country. What this would mean would be better understood by Peterborough people when we see, or have seen with our own eyes, what a single plant like the Quaker Oats Company's, means for Peterborough. What they produce, what they do in the way of giving employment and keeping money in the city to be spent in the city, we can see for ourselves. These mills only work up a petty fraction of the oats and wheat we grow. If all we grow, or the bulk of it, were manufactured at home, its value would be immensely added to—millions would be added in the shape of money earned at home—and spent at home—in the shape of wages, and the incidental industrial occupations made co-operative. Besides, the keeping at home for stock feeding purposes of all the offal of food value, would help another great industry.

If we can't get to so desirable conditions at once we can adopt its attainment as a national policy to be worked up to realisation. If that were adopted in Canada and carried to logical conclusions; if such a policy were adopted and applied in all the dependencies of the Empire it would not be long before we should realise the hope of the British Minister of Munitions that Britain would not have to go outside the Empire for the materials she needs in every department of her multiplex industrial and other national activities. Then not only Canada, but the whole Empire, would, while feeding the world with profitably manufactured products, be self-contained from axis to periphery.

AIMS OF BELLIGERENTS RIGHTEOUSLY OPPOSITE

Object of One the Rescue of Humanity---of the Other the Ruin of Humanity

The Dean of Westminster, the Rt. Rev. Herbert Edward Ryle, preaching in the Abbey on Christmas Day said:

"It is our resolve, God helping us, to overthrow military brigandage in Europe, to rescue the liberties and homes of the desolated countries, to obtain for these people reparation for their wrongs, and for humanity lasting securities against a recurrence of aggressive violence and crime.

"It is true that the President of the United States, after two years of study on the question and innumerable notes, seems to believe that the object of the two groups of belligerents is the same. He knows that Germany refused arbitration, declined a conference and rejected every overture to prevent war. He knows that his own countrymen have poured money like water to assist the destitute and outraged remnants of the little Belgian people, whose treaty rights were violated and whose frontiers were invaded before war was declared. He knows of the infractions of The Hague conventions, which the American people have studiously promoted.

"He knows all the details of the organized atrocities reported upon in strict inquiries. He knows of the sinking of unarmed passenger ships, like the Lusitania and Arabia, without notice or warning. He knows of the murder of Capt. Fryatt, of the nocturnal deportations of Belgians and French into slavery. He knows of German connivance at Armenia massacres. And yet he is of the opinion that the nations who are learned to disarm this evil demoniac of national militarism have the same aim in view as the perpetrators of these crimes.

"President Wilson has either in a fit of mental aberration sent the wrong note, or he has entirely misapprehended the European situation.

"These things are black and vile. The very thought of them on Christmas Day makes one shudder. Does anyone suppose that peace would be honourable which regarded the assailants and the defenders of humanity as having in view the same ends? What kind of unity of aim do you expect between wolves and sheep dogs over the fleeces of torn lambs?

"Peace on the basis of such a hypothesis would be only an armistice giving an exhausted foe a much-needed interval for recuperation before renewing his insatiable passion for the hegemony of the world and the destruction of his rivals with a savage war."

INVENTION STIMULATED.

Improvements and Modifications of Artificial Limbs Help Solve One Phase of the Question.

The future of the war cripple already has become a matter of great concern to the authorities of all the European belligerents. The intricacies of the problem and its many aspects are dealt with by the editor of The Lancet of London, who holds the view that in England the ultimate result in providing for these cripples depends in a large measure on the energy and wise administration of the Local Statutory Committees provided for under the War Pensions act.

"The problem of converting the fighting man who has been crippled in this war by sea or by land into a useful citizen again is one of appalling magnitude," says The Lancet. "It is not merely the numbers to be dealt with which constitute the difficulty, but the many-sided nature of the problem, which cannot be effectively dealt with unless the several aspects are adequately studied. To do this without omission and without overlapping in a task which may well claim continuous attention from highly trained intellects.

"To us the difficulties appear to group themselves under three heads—administrative, material, and personal. With the first we are not, as medical men, very intimately engaged. But here one difficulty is both medical and crucial, and concerns the point at which the cripple shall pass from the military organization into the civilian. So long as he remains in the service he is the object of care of the hospital, the convalescent home, or the command depot. As soon as a medical board has decided that he is no longer physically fit for war service, the cripple becomes a civilian entitled to a pension, and under the care of the Statutory Committee, who pays him the pension.

"At this point the difficulty arises. The fact of his metamorphosis from soldier to civilian does not imply the desirability of any change in the cripple's treatment. On the contrary, it is of the utmost importance that the treatment should be continuous. It might conceivably be possible to duplicate all the appliances at present in use at command depots and convalescent homes—the baths, the mechanical apparatus, the workshops, and so forth—but it would unquestionably be impossible to obtain a duplication of the skilled medical staff to supervise the treatment. It is therefore an urgent administrative necessity that the treatment of the war cripple as soldier and as civilian should form a consistent whole.

"The disablement sub-committee of the War Pensions, etc., Statutory Committee has taken this view, and has asked for opportunity to press it upon the Secretary of State for War. The medical profession is also taking action, and the proposal of the Committee of Reference of the English Royal Colleges to extend its purview to these matters was noted in our last issue and is one which we heartily welcome."

BOARDERS WANTED

BOARDERS WANTED—CENTRAL — ALL conveniences. Terms moderate. Apply 845 Bethune street. 6d-149-602

H. B. Rye

Solicits the votes of the Electors of North Monaghan for the office of

REEVE

FOR THE YEAR 1917

His Record as Councillor for the past two years is before the people.

To the Electors of North Monaghan

Ladies and Gentlemen,—I have been asked to stand for re-election as Reeve for your township. During the time I have occupied the Reeve's chair I have endeavoured to give the township the very best service I could.

If you see fit to re-elect me, I will continue to have before me always the interests of North Monaghan and its ratepayers.

Wishing you all a Happy New Year, I am,

Yours faithfully,

JOHN McINTOSH

FOR SALE

CLEARING OUT SALE OF GENT'S SUITS, overcoats, several good gent's fur collars. JAY'S store, Aylmer street. 6d

FOR SALE—CANADA MALLEABLE steel ranges and repairs. 326 Sherbrooke street. 'Phone 1656. 26d-133-322

FOR SALE—A CLOSED MILK SLEIGH—1 set single harness and 1 cutter. Apply Peterborough Creamery, Aylmer St. 3d-147-558

UNDERWOOD NO. 6 LATEST MODEL, two color ribbon, back spacer. For sale cheap to a quick buyer. Apply to Box 4661 Examiner. 23d-139-4661

CHEAP LOTS—IN BLOCK N, ASHBURN Sum, on Dufferin, Roger, Elgin streets; 50 per foot, $50 down, $10 per quarter till paid for. Interest only 6 per cent. Land dry, sightly, healthy, also on McDonnel St., Peterborough. Apply to Bramble & Johnston. 6mon-141-917

TO RENT

FOR RENT — UNFURNISHED ROOMS — Apply 450 Rogers St. 3d-147-554

GOOD OFFICE OR STORE WITH WATER connection and heated, possession at once. Apply 325 Charlotte St. dtf-95-5779

FOR RENT—NO. 387 WATER STREET, suitable for store or office, immediate possession. Apply 427 George street. dtf-85

FOR RENT—STORE No. 1234 SIMCOE ST. Immediate possession. Apply 427 George Street. dtf.

FOR SALE

SALVAGE WHEAT

60c to $1 Per Bushel

F. O. B. Cars in Bulk or sold in small lots in bags, also a few thousand bushels of

SALVAGE OATS

At 25c Per Bushel

Apply on premises of the Quaker Oats Co., Peterborough.

Jas. Richardson & Sons LIMITED

LOST

LOST TO-DAY—A SMALL PURSE CONtaining a sum of money. Finder please leave at the Examiner Office. 1d-149-601

LOST—ON SATURDAY IN CENTRE OF the city a Friendship Bracelet. Finder please leave at this office and oblige. 3d-148-647

LOST—ON SUNDAY NIGHT BETWEEN George and Water on Hunter, a 22nd Battery Bronze Pin. Finder please leave at the Examiner. 1d-149-595

LOST—WEDDING RING ON SATURDAY evening, between Gilmour and George street. Finder please leave at the Examiner office. 3d-148-593

LOST — 33RD BATT. BROOCH BETWEEN the Tit-It Theatre and Charlotte Street. On Christmas night. Finder will please leave at the Examiner. Reward. 3d-149-609

LOST—BLACK LEATHER PURSE, STEEL Chain, containing three $1 bills, and change. Charlotte street or Park car. Kindly leave the same at the Examiner office. 2d-148-577

LOST—ON SATURDAY, MESH BAG, INitials "H.J.F." inside, on Prudential office steps or on George street. Finder will please leave at the Examiner office. 3d-148-585

FOUND

FOUND IN THE VICINITY OF LOCKS Bridge on Saturday, a sum of money. Apply to Thomas E. Rose, R. R. No. 6, Peterboro. 2d-148-595

HELP WANTED—MALE

WANTED—A NUMBER OF YOUNG MEN for office work, with two or more years experience, to go to Alberta. Single men only. Apply, giving age and at least two testimonials, to Box 603 Examiner. 1d-149-605

Men Wanted at Quaker Oats Elevator. Apply at office near elevator. 3d-148

HELP WANTED—Female

WANTED—NURSE GIRL TO TAKE BABY out. Apply 434 George St. 3d-148-607

WANTED—A GOOD KITCHEN GIRL AT once. Apply to the Montgomery House, Simcoe street. 3d-147-561

WANTED — A NUMBER OF GIRLS—Apply Canadian General Electric Company. 3d-149-599

TWO MAIDS WANTED AT ONCE. Apply Nicholls Hospital 3d-149-596

YOUNG GIRL WANTED FOR LIGHT Housekeeping. Apply Examiner for address. 3d-148-593

GOOD GENERAL SERVANT WANTED AT once. Apply Mrs. Duffus, 345 Hunter street. 3d-147-564

WANTED — A WOMAN TO DO WASHing. Apply to Mrs. Milburn, 638 George street. 3d-148-590

WANTED — AN EXPERIENCED STENographer and office assistant — young lady. Apply Box 1167, Examiner office. 3d-149

WANTED—SMART GIRL AS BOOK KEEPer, able to use typewriter. Apply Box 614, Examiner Office. 3d-148-614

GENERAL SERVANT WANTED AT ONCE for family of two. Apply between 2 and 4.30 at 370 Water street, or at 73 Lock street, from 7 to 9 o'clock. 3d-149-604

OVER $6 DAILY EASILY EARNED AT home on Auto-Knitters making War Socks, experience unnecessary, distance immaterial. Enclose three cent stamp to-day for contract form. Dept. 360 Auto Knitter Co., College street, Toronto. 12d-e-w-3912

Girls Wanted for Power Sewing Machines. Apply J. J. Turner & Sons. 3d-149

WANTED

WANTED TO BUY AN ELECTRIC DRILL new or second hand. Apply stating price to Box 606 Examiner. 3d-149-606

WANTED—GOOD CAPABLE WOMAN, good wages. Apply 21 Crescent street. 12d-143-486

HOOPER'S REPAIR SHOP

NEVER TOO LATE TO MEND.

WHEN YOUR BICYCLE NEEDS DOCTORing, cutlery needs sharpening or grinding, sewing machine needs overhauling household breaks mended or small brass or iron turning done, we know how. Gasoline engine work a specialty. 194 Charlotte street, opposite Snowdon House. 12d-97-4402

VULCANIZING

NOW IS THE TIME TO HAVE YOUR Vulcanizing done. Reliable steam vulcanizing and tube repairing done promptly.—THE MANNING GARAGE, 326 Water Street. 'Phone 1247. dtf-97-4004

HAIR DRESSING

MANICURING, HAIR DRESSING AND massageing. Hair braids, switches, up-to-date line of hair ornaments. Make an appointment now.—MISS E. SMITH, Opera House Block. 'Phone 1162 12d-61-3

MONUMENTAL WORK

WE RESPECTFULLY SOLICIT YOUR Order for Cemetery Work of any kind. Latest equipment; first quality Scotch granite cutters—Coughlin's Monumental Works, 324 Hunter Street. 'Phone 1341. 4tf-46-3566

PATENTS

GORDON & WIDDIFIELD, Barristers, Solicitors, Patent applications receive special attention. Offices, Cor. George and Hunter streets

H. J. S. DENNISON, 12 WEST KING ST., Toronto: Experts in Patents, Trade marks, designs, Copyrights and Infringements. Write us for Booklet. dtf-4

BABCOCK & SONS

Patents, Trade Marks, Designs. Registered Patent Attorneys. Established 1867. Formerly Patent Office Examiner, Master of Patent Laws. Representatives in all foreign countries. Write for book, "Patent Protection." Tells All about and how to obtain Patents. 99 St. James St., Montreal. Branches: Ottawa, Washington.

SOCIETIES

CHILDREN'S AID SOCIETY of Peterborough City and County For the care of neglected and ill-treated children C. A. G. SPENCE Assistant Secretary and Inspector 121 Simcoe Street. Phone 1000 Office Hours 2 till 4 Children for Adoption.

GRAND OPERA HOUSE SATURDAY Dec. 30

Matinee 2.30 Evening 8.15

The United Producing Co. present—"Still Running"

CHARLEY'S AUNT

From Brazil--Where The Nuts Come From 1000 Laughs--Not One Tear

PRICES—Matinee, Adults 50c, Children 25c
Evening, 50c to $1.00, Gallery 25c

Seat Sale Opens 10 a. m. Thursday

GRAND OPERA HOUSE, 3 DAYS Com. NEW YEARS DAY

One Matinee Only 2.30 Monday, Jan. 1

BASIL S. COURTNEY PRESENTS D. W. GRIFFITH'S

THE BIRTH OF A NATION

8th WONDER OF THE WORLD

18,000 PEOPLE
3,000 HORSES
COST $500,000

SAME BIG SYMPHONY ORCHESTRA

PRICES Matinee 25c, 50c, 75c Night 25c, 50c, 75c, $1

Seat Sale Opens 10 a. m. Friday Mail Orders Now

GRAND HOLIDAY BILL

—AT THE—

ROYAL

NEW! NEW! NEW!

FOX FEATURE FILMS

The Management is able to announce that he has been fortunate in securing for Wednesday & Thursday of this and following weeks, the right to produce the Powerful Fox Feature Films of the Fox Film Corporation which control the greatest collection of motion picture Stars and Players in the World.

WM. FOX

TO-NIGHT! TO-NIGHT! TO-NIGHT!

See first of these Wonderful Film Features To-Night with a Grand Program of Comedies and Dramas.

BATTLE OF HEARTS

A Sea Drama of Great Interest

A FAILURE AT 50 — A THREE REEL SOCIETY DRAMA

THEIR TALKING WAYS — A ROARING COMEDY

Two Full Shows--Afternoon & Evening for the One Price 10c

ADMISSION, Including War Tax

STRAND THEATRE To-day

EDMUND BREESE in

The Lure Of Hearts Desire

The play is based on one of Services' Poems. Dramatized by the Metro Film Co.

Special afternoon matinee for Ladies and Children, 10c and 15c.

PARAMOUNT

EMPIRE THEATRE DECEMBER 26 & 27

Pallas Pictures present

The American Beauty

In Five Parts

Also Good Comedy Orral Humphrey in

SLICKING THE SLICKERS

PARAMOUNT

TIZ-IT THEATRE

FRIDAY & SATURDAY—The Great Serial:

LIBERTY

Red Feather Feature. A Drama of the Great White Way, featuring HOBART HENLEY

Temptation & The Man

Fourth Episode Diamond From The Sky

His Highness, The Janitor

JOKER COMEDY

Big U Feature Hungry Happys Dream

THE WORLD OF SPORT

AURA-LEE MAY REPLACE TORONTO

Tomorrow night's game with T. R. and A. A. has been cancelled owing to the Toronto team being unable to get a team together. An effort was being made this afternoon to get the fast Aura Lee Senior O.H.A. team to take the place of the Torontos.

KNOX CHURCH HOCKEY TEAM

Last evening a meeting was called for the purpose of discussing hockey for the coming season. It was decided to enter a team in either Church League or City League. The following officers were elected:

Honorary Pres.—Rev. McKenzie.
President—Mr. M. N. Clark.
Vice-Pres.—Mr. McKenzie.
Secretary—W. Rehill.
Treasurer—G. Clark.
Manager—Mr. O. Cranfield.
Trainer—Rev. McKenzie.
Committee to attend meetings—Rev. McKenzie, Mr. O. Cranfield, W. Jackson.

HOCKEY GOSSIP

Two star goalkeepers of former Peterborough teams were out with the 245th intermediates at their practice at Brock street rink last night. One was Leo Derocher and the other Ernie Wasson the latter goalkeeper for the last Peterborough team that annexed an O.H.A. title. Ernie could not resist the temptation to don a set of pads and see if the "old eye" was as keen as ever.

The Peterborough juniors will practice to-night at 7 o'clock and all players who have tickets are expected out sharp on time.

Joe Dwyer, the Peterborough boy who is playing goal for the Sarnia team, reports that Lornie Rose, captain and left wing of last year's Peterborough juniors, is showing fine form at practice with the Sarnia intermediates. There is hot competition all along the line for places on the Sarnia line-up.

RESULT OF CHRISTMAS EXAMINATIONS AT MAY'S SCHOOL, NORTH MONAGHAN

Following is the Christmas report of May's School, North Monaghan. No. 2.

Senior IV—Bob Allen, Dora Sanders, Janet Houston, Harold Collins, Madeline Bingham.

Junior IV — Dorothy Butler, Annie Houston, Arthur Bishop, Hugh Collins, Jim Webber, Claude Andrews, Hazel Whitfield, Stanley Church, Roland Vass.

Senior III — Edna Foster, Bessie Bishop, Darrel Allen, Fred Andrews, Ada Lloyd, Edith Panter, Grace Crawley, Geraldine Lawless, Winnie Harris, Clinton Wilson, Lorne Bell, Warren Rayner, Isabel Hopkins, Harry Hanson, Ernest Cooper, Frank Dicks, George Strain, Rowland Hazelwood, Cecil Church, Gordon Thomas.

W. L. Fair.

Junior III.

Arthur Jackson 73 per cent., Helen Mowry and Ernest Hortou, 72 per cent., Arthur Martin 68, Gordon Connors and Hazel Patterson 67, Hugh Anderson 65, Florrie Cooper 63, Arthur Bushy 55, Philip Burton 51, George Dodson 50, Genevieve Sabin 42, Helen Stapley 30. Absent, Grace Sabin and Mary Henry.

Senior II

Marjorie Yardley 85, Ethel Robson 80, Madeline Redman and Grace Barnes 79, Mabel Lloyd 77, Wilbert Martin 69, Dorothy Tooms, James Merton and Leslie Moore 67, Earl Rutherford 66, Lillie Learf and Bertha Saunders 65, Garnet Burns 64, Ronald Harris 63, Ruby Byers 61, Alvin Walling 59, Marguerite Cole and Sidney Merton 57, Hettie Doig 55, Clifton Saunders 54, Gordon Panter and Donald Miller 52, Agnes Strain and Muriel Todd 51, Fred Christmas and Harry Palmer 49, Charlie Connors 48; Richard Scrace, Stanley Thompson and Edward Simmons 45, Cyril Barnes 40, Hannah Scott 35.

Absent, Noel Monks, Dorothy Little, Phyllis Turner and Clifford Graham.

Teacher, A. E. Rae.

Junior II.

Ferne Stenton, John Connors, Clifford Smith, Florence Robinson, Reginald Butler, Ralph Portsmith, Dorothy Terry, Viola Tranter, Winnie Evans, Thelma Vass, Richard Evans, Frank Hopkins, Blanche Lawless, Edwin Byers, Albert Warmin, Percy Forster, Delbert Henry, Davie Humber, Gladys Collins, Raymond Millard, May Little, Charley Fredericks, Arthur Vass.

Senior I

Mabel Henry, Beatrice Tooms, Eric Walling, Stella Dog, Violet Underwood, Maudie Sargeant, Hazel Panter, Walter Hall, Hilda Kite, Bertie Hall, George Vass, Douglas Simmons, Leslie Church, George Burns, Mabel Allen, Walter Lloyd, Dorothy Hopkins, Richard Andrews, Rhoda Sargeant, Bertie Millard, Albert Francis, Max Payne.

Junior Book I

Marjorie Adamson, Irene Drummond, Marjorie Jackson, Leslie Steer, Muriel Bonner, Eva Howarth, Irene Rutherford, Howard Collins, Stanley Deal, Eva Scrace, John Bingham, Norman Graham, Charlie Simmons, Garnet Byers, George Pearson.

Senior Primer A.

Clarence Little, Olive Johnston (equal), Edith Jones, Noble Strain, Winnie Christmas, Erroll Burns, Muriel Thomas, Edward Yates, Emma Fredericks, Gladys Thomas, George Snowden, Thelma Hamilton, Rodney Peace, Barbara Simmons, Thelma Todd, Marjorie Turnbull, Edith Wallwork.

Senior Primer B.

Teddy Smith, Dorothy Mortimer, Phyllis Francis, Maude Chard, Cyril Hall, Eric Orbell, Charles Sabin, Leonard Nelson, Eddie Turner, Marjorie Dodson, Inda Nelson, Arthur Jubb, Elsie Cole.

Junior Primer.

Class A — Ethel Thompson, Geraldine Hopkins, Howard Hortou, Jack Turner, Gertie Adamson, Nancy Underwood, Gwen Thompson, Elmer Dicks, George Dicks, Willard Ward, Hilda Evans, Florence Stevens, Winnie Wallwork, Mamie Lawless, Mabel Curtis, Eva Scott.

Class B — Dorothy Robertson, Myrtle Robinson, Ruth Yardley, Helen Robertson, Phyllis Norcliffe, Charlie Allen, Cyril Glover, Louis Hamilton, Edwin Everett, Frank Conners, Kenneth Andrews, Myrtle Lisserve, George Brown, Donnie Little, Willie Needham, Arthur Deal, Phyllis Cole, Mildred Mortimer, Tommy Bushy, Roy Matthews.

Class C — George Martin, John Sabin, Helen Graham, Dickie Howarth, Alfie Johnston, Herbie Payne, Mildred Vass, Willie Snowden, Ernie Sargent, Marjorie Allen, Willie Jubb, Margaret Pierson, Linda Thompson, Maggie Barnes, Harry Miller, Helen Allen, Clarence Hopkins, Margaret Patterson, Rita Turnbell, Lloyd Graham, Mary Way, Vincent Strain, Walter Matthews, Harold Porter, Geo Bishop, Jack Anderton, Raymond Mosher.

A. L. Stilson.

After XMAS SALE of Handled Merchandise

Naturally at the Christmas season goods are handled more than ordinarily. Added to this are the lines of Shirts, etc., we open up for display purposes, as well as broken sizes and lines we will discontinue. These go on sale THURSDAY, FRIDAY and SATURDAY

Shirts

Men's laundered and soft cuff and collar shirts, made good large size from 14 to 16½. Fast colours. Worth $1.00, for 75c

Men's laundered cuff shirts in best of English and American prints, and some extra good Scotch cloths, standard sizes from 14 to 17. Worth $1.25, for 95c

Men's soft cuff, and some soft collars, broken lines of our best $1.50 and $2.00 shirts. Some silk fronts, for $1.39

Cashmere Sox

Penman's black cashmere socks, pure wool and fast colours. A special line at ..... 35c or 3 for $1.00

An extra special line worth 65c, for 50c

Heavy black union sock. Good heavy weight, at 25c

Men's Pants

Heavy worsted, dark stripe patterns, 5 pockets, cuff bottoms, belt loops. Special $2.95

Broken sizes in tweed and worsted pants, 4 and 5 pockets. All sizes, 34 to 42 waist. Worth up to $3.00 for, very special $1.95

Men's Suits $15.00

Broken sizes in our best grade Sovereign Brand suit, dark and medium patterns. Worth up to $20.00, for $15.00

Boys' Ulsters

Heavy diagonal tweed Ulsters, convertible collar. Ages 10 to 18 years. Worth $8.50, for $6.45

Underwear

Penman's flat knit underwear, 70 per cent. wool. Mostly all sizes. A garment well worth $1.00 today. Clearing at 75c

Odd shirts in heavy wool and lambsdown fleece, all previous season's garments. Clearing at old prices. Stanfield's and Watson's, heavy spring needle combinations. All sizes, worth $2.50, for $2.00

Wool Gloves

Heavy Scotch wool, knit without seams. Grey and heather. Dent's make. A good warm glove.

Leather Bound at $1.00
Plain Wrist at ..... 50c and 75c
Boys' Plain Wrist at ..... 50c and 60c

Men's Ulsters

Mostly large sizes, in dark tweeds, double breasted. Convertible collar. Worth up to $13.50, for $10.00

Young Men's Overcoats

Smart, nifty young men's coat, in short models, close fitting, Jellicoe, Canadian and Beatty. Worth up to $20.00, for $15.90

Children's Overcoats

Heavy grey, brown, khaki and blue cloths. Double breasted, some with belts. Worth up to $6.00, for ages 2½ to 9 years $3.95

Boy's Suits

Tweed suits in dark and medium cloths. Norfolk styles, full bloomer. Sizes 29 to 35. Worth up to $8.50, for $6.95

Hats

All the newest shapes and shades in soft and hard hats, best English and Canadian make, at $1.95

Heavy winter caps, made with fur bands and without bands. Made of extra heavy tweeds. All odd patterns. Worth $1.25 and $1.50, for $1.00

Boys' Jerseys

Best English worsted jerseys. Brown, grey, blue, green. Sizes from 20 to 30. All pure wool ..... $1.00 and $1.25

Boys' Sweater Coats

A line of Honeycomb Knit worsted coats, in grey and garnet, and garnet and black only. Sizes 26 to 32. Monarch Knit. Worth $2.85, for $2.39

We intend to wind up the old year well. You will profit well by being here any day this week.

Oak Hall

M. J. MAHER, Manager

Voice of The People

Correspondence under this heading, containing or involving attacks on individuals or violent or extreme statements, must to secure insertion, be signed with writer's real name, the owner of which thus assumes the responsibility.

To the Editor of The Examiner:

Dear Sir,—Business ability is what the city needs in its governing bodies, and the citizens have a chance to recognize an opportunity in the candidature of A. A. Fowler for a seat on the Board of Education. A life-long resident of Peterborough, twenty-five years of which he has resided in East City, and a fourteen years successful business career, has brought Mr. Fowler into close touch with a great number of citizens and earned for him general recognition for his aggressive business principles.

When the services of a man of the calibre of Mr. Fowler become available for the city gratuitously, the thing to do is to see to it that he gets ample votes to secure his election. Give him such strong support that he will have the satisfaction of knowing that his willingness to help shoulder a portion of the labour connected with the administration of the city's affairs, is fully appreciated.

Yours for a growing Peterborough,
CITIZEN.

The Editor, Peterborough Examiner:

Dear Sir,—To my mind every citizen should be vitally interested in the investigation as to the cause and progress of the fire at the plant of the Quaker Oats Co. and the discussion as to the best means to prevent a similar catastrophe in the future. The loss of twenty lives cannot but stir us all to an inquiry as to some means of assuring us that we shall be secure from anything like such loss in the years to come. It has been said that "any holocaust is a tragedy; but a repetition is a crime."

It is because I believe that the humblest citizen has a right to speak a word as to the best means to be used for his protection that I venture to make a few observations on my own behalf. I make no pretence to know more than the average citizen of matters pertaining to the fire department, and this letter is not intended to be a criticism of the fire department of our own city.

Three things have impressed me in connection with the fire which we have had. First, large fires in big plants and other buildings are among the possibilities to be reckoned with, though we often delude ourselves into thinking that incipient blazes will be put out without much loss. Second, the force and equipment of our fire department as at present constituted, is not adequate to deal with such a fire as that at the Quaker Oats plant. Third, no portion of the city is safe at the time of such a fire. An east wind would have probably wiped out several blocks of the city, and as it was, a number of roofs were set on fire by flying sparks, and the Court House, a good distance from the fire, was badly damaged.

With the possibility ever before us of large fires, the warning, "safety first," should ring in the ears of those having charge of the erection or management of buildings and especially large buildings. Prevention is infinitely better than cure. Continuous and not intermittent thought should be given to such matters as the installation of sprinkler systems, the multiplying of exits and fire escapes, the removing of obstructions, the correcting of electrical equipment and heating of power plants, the installation of fire appliances and fire alarm systems, the encouraging of fire drills, and the controlling of combustibles. Carelessness takes a deadly toll; vigilance is the price of safety.

With regard to the fire department, there are several elements which are essential to efficiency; superior apparatus, superior organization, and a superior water system. As to the apparatus it is a principle that the value of fire apparatus is determined largely by the speed with which it reaches the fire. Generally speaking a building is doomed if a fire gains much headway and nothing can make up for loss of time in getting the hose upon it. It is for this reason that horses are being replaced by motor driven vehicles in all progressive cities. In Canada and the United States between eight and nine hundred cities have adopted motor vehicles for fighting fires, in some cases horses being retained also for winter work. In my humble opinion there is a very positive demand for an innovation of this kind in Peterborough.

As to our organization of men I have always been highly impressed with them and their chief and have no thought of criticising them. It struck me at the recent fire, however, that the force was inadequate for the task. The job was too big for them in every respect. The question which therefore suggests itself is this, what of the future? For my own part I was impressed with the idea that there ought to be some method of organizing volunteers. There were any number of men at the Quaker Oats fire willing and anxious to help, and with leadership would have been of great assistance. Should the chief not have lieutenants who could act as leaders of groups of volunteers at such a time. More hose, more men, more hydrants; this was the apparent need. On the whole our water system is good and it is unfortunate that conditions in the plant interfered with its efficiency.

The constant danger to a large part of the city from such a fire as we have had materially effects our attitude to the whole situation. It is a question of paying out large insurance premiums or turning our attention to fire prevention and control, this quite apart from the question of loss of life. Someone has said that "locking the barn door after the horse is stolen is not a Canadian weakness; it is an urban habit. This is particularly true with regard to fires. Why should Peterborough in future not be an exception to this rule?

Yours truly,
Joseph Wearing.

To the Editor of the Examiner:

Dear Sir,—As a working man I am pleased to see that G. N. Gordon is a candidate for the Board of Education. He is a man who, in my humble opinion, should be on the Board of Education, because he is approachable and will receive the views of any ratepayer who wishes to consult him about the welfare of the school system in Peterborough.

Not only that, but he is absolutely fearless in his opinions, and a man of that kind is needed in any public body, because nothing will ever be permitted to pass Mr. Gordon if he thinks it should be criticized and discussed. In addition to that, it is not well to have in the control of any public body men who are so friendly to each other that they fear to object to things being done because it may upset the feeling of friendship existing among them. If for no other reason than that some of the old guard do not want to see Mr. Gordon elected, that is a first-class reason why he should be there, because with thorough and complete discussion things will be brought to the light of day which might never see it, and it is in the interest of the ratepayer to have a man there who is not afraid to go into anything that comes up without fear or favour.

It is not very many years ago that Mr. Gordon was consulted by a deputation of the Street Railway employees and asked to act as their arbitrator in the event of a crisis over the rate of wages paid motor-men and conductors.

I know that at this time Mr. Gordon consulted and advised in this matter and never charged a cent for it, and offered his services as an arbitrator without charge or expense to the railway men.

I know very many occasions too where people who were poor and friendless came to Mr. Gordon for assistance in getting their rights or in receiving protection from the Courts, and I have good reason to believe that no person oppressed and in trouble ever appealed to him in vain even if they were without money.

There is no doubt he has stirred up feeling by calling men and the things they do by their right names. He might have done this less frankly and openly, and it would not have been so painful to those he criticised, but that is not his way of doing things, and possibly it is just as well that there are a few men who are fearless enough to know that they will be attacked in turn when they try to prevent these things being done which are contrary to the public interest. For a great many years I have been interested in seeing the rights of labour vindicated with the object that organized labour should be placed in its proper position with the same influence in the community as organized capital, and as every one who requires to labour for himself and his family, and by the sweat of his brow support himself and them, I urge upon all men of independent thought to support a man who is bold and fearless and who has no axe to grind or any private interest to serve.

I believe from the discussion that has taken place Mr. Gordon will receive a large and substantial support from those who are interested in seeing men of independence and ability on the Board of Education. If Mr. Gordon were employed as a lawyer to attend Board meetings and give his time and ability to the business of the Board, it would run up to a pretty big bill in the course of a year, but he is giving his time and ability without remuneration, and that is something of very considerable value to the people of Peterborough.

There may be something in the statement of the Review that the old guard knifed Mr. J. C. Smith because they did not want a workingman on the Board. As to that I do not know, but I do know that the workingmen should get together and support men like Mr. Gordon when it is possible.—Yours truly,

Edward Hayes.

Editor of The Examiner:

Dear Sir,—I saw in last night's paper Mr. Dobbin's answer to the question about the widows and the motherless not getting a ticket, and Mr. Dobbin said that the gave all on the patriotic list. True, but he knew that the widows were all cut off the patriotic list as soon as they get word that their husbands were killed, and if they got any money after that they had to pay it back to the fund. Is that not correct? Moreover he has all of their addresses, and he could have sent them a ticket.

Thanking you, Mr. Editor, for your valuable space. From a Soldier's Widow.

MILITARY NEWS

(Continued from Page 5)

or no mud, it is all the same.

The rats are the worst of anything. I could write a book on them. I had a tin box that I keep all my treasures in, such as cheese and bread, when I have any, and one night I had tied up the tin with a string, and when morning came the cheese was gone. (No cheese for George and his mate that day). Bruce Bell, one of the old 93rd boys, with us now here, has three scratches on his nose from one of them. So you see we have a good time trying to sleep among the rats.

Sergt. C. E. Elcombe of the 182nd Batt., Oshawa, was the guest of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. E. W. Elcombe, over the holiday. Sergt. Elcombe has just recently passed his examination for Lieut., at the Toronto School of Infantry.

Among the artistic greetings received by the Examiner were artistic cards from Capt. E. M. Best, Y.M.C.A. military representative, Major C. R. Cameron, of the 39th Batt., and B.Q.M. Sergt. R. G. Cottrell, of the 34th Batt., C.E.F., Shoreham-by-sea, formerly quartermaster sergeant of the 93rd Battalion.

OTTAWA, Dec. 26—The Naval Service Department announced today that no more Canadian recruits for the naval air service will be required for some time, probably some months. A large number of Canadians have offered for this service, and enough have been accepted to provide a steady movement overseas for two or three months. In addition there is a lengthy list of eligible men from which recruits may be taken.

The excellent band of the 166th battalion is expected to return to Canada in the near future, and will go to Lindsay and become the band of the 252nd Batt. The band is a good one, and will be a great help to recruiting in Victoria and Haliburton.

The Kingston Standard says: The 93rd Battalion band of Peterborough arrived in the city on Sunday afternoon and reported to the special service company. Their transportation from the coast only carried them as far as Kingston, where they were ordered to report to the S. S. Company. They were kept at artillery park until the evening, and were given transportation to Peterborough where the citizens had organized a reception for the returning bandsmen. There were 77 musicians of the famous band which helped to make the first days of Barriefield camp pleasant last summer. The band will become the musical organization of the 347th Battalion, commanded by Lieut.-Col. Ackerman.

RINGS OF AIR.

How to Blow Out a Lighted Candle Twelve Feet Away.

The distance from which an average man can blow out a candle rarely exceeds three feet. If he is an adept at blowing smoke rings, however, a candle may be extinguished at twelve feet. Of course the smoke isn't necessary. An ordinary air ring will do and has the added advantage of being invisible. Simply pucker the mouth as you would to blow a smoke ring and expel air in a quick, sharp manner. It takes a good deal of practice to do it.

An easier way to show the effect if one is doubtful is to place a sheet of cloth or canvas over the open side of a box otherwise closed, making a small, round hole in another side. Then tap in a sharp manner on the canvas and invisible air rings will be produced. If the hole is pointed at a person's face and the rings are made he will feel them as they strike his face. Only a few trials are necessary to extinguish a candle at twelve feet. To render the rings visible a smudge may be burned in the box, or a small dish of ammonia may be placed side by side with a small dish of hydrochloric acid, the combined fumes of these liquids making a dense smoke.

The explanation why one can put out the candle at twelve feet is that the energy of expulsion is conserved and practically all retained in the smoke ring, while a simple blowing has to set in motion a whole stream of air and is therefore wasteful.—Chicago Record-Herald.

Slow Death.

In a certain literary club there was one of the members in proposing the name of a candidate for membership mentioned among his qualifications that he could speak several dead languages. To this an opponent replied that he never heard the gentleman's question spank but once and he ought to be murdered that he could speak Latin.—San Antonio Express.

ROBBING THE COAL PILE.

Smoke That Goes Up the Chimney Is Fuel Thrown Away.

For the benefit of any one who may not see the analogy between a robbed coal pile and a smoking chimney it may be briefly and simply explained.

The visible part in smoke is nearly all carbon, either as soot or cinder, as carbon is the principal combustible part of coal—i. e., the useful part, the part capable of yielding heat. Carbon completely burned forms an invisible gas, carbon dioxide; therefore whenever the gases from a stack show black they contain carbon, which indicates that complete combustion has not taken place in the boiler furnace.

In other words, all of the available heat in the coal has not been realized. It is the same as though the corresponding part of the coal fed into the furnace had been thrown away, for although it has passed through the furnace, it had been thrown away up the stack beyond recovery. Is this, then, so very different from robbing the coal pile?

The owner who through ignorance allows conditions to exist which are most favorable to the most economical operation of his boiler furnaces, although he is unwittingly robbing himself, is never the less stealing from his own coal pile.—Power.

LEFT HIM IN IGNORANCE.

No Wonder the Shade of Sir Isaac Newton Was Disgusted.

Augustine Birrell, author and statesman, at a newspaper men's dinner told a unique ghost story.

"I have been haunted ever since I was almost a boy," he said, "by the constant repetition of one and the same dream. It comes to me again and again. It is this: I dream I am walking about somewhere in some plain or desert, and I suddenly encounter the agitated ghost of Sir Isaac Newton. He approaches me, his eyes almost starting out of his head; he tells me who he is and how ignorant he is of all that has happened in the world of science since he left.

"'Now,' he says, 'I want you to tell me in a few words, for I have only a quarter of an hour left, all that has happened to the race—the progress. How is it? I know what it was when I left it. What is it now?' My heart sinks, and, covered with confusion, I stumble, I stutter, I stammer. I become more and more involved, my ignorance becomes more and more apparent, and at last the unhappy ghost, throwing up his hands, leaves me with dismay.

"That dream constantly comes to me. The only difference is that the moment the unhappy Sir Isaac Newton sees me now he says, 'Oh, that old ignoramus!' and departs."—Pall Mall Gazette.

BROCK ST. RINK

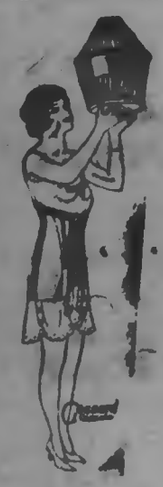
THIS WEEK

WEDNESDAY — Skating with Band.
THURSDAY — Skating with Band.
FRIDAY — Skating with Band.
SAT. AFTERNOON — Skating.
SAT. EVENING—Skating with Band.

Admission For Skaters 15c and 1c War Tax
BRING YOUR COPPER

OF THE Daintiest Silk Material; a little lower in the bust; a trifle shorter in the skirt, which is cut out in front to allow absolute freedom when dancing; reflecting a delicacy of outline and a smaller waist that enhances the silhouette of the evening frock.

Elastic sections skillfully placed to add comfort. A few light bones scientifically placed to give the correct support.



Thus is fashioned the dainty, delightful

Gossard
Reducing Corset

that meets the most exacting demands for both comfort and style.

And there are many other front lacing Gossards suited to the individual requirements of every figure type, each made of distinctive materials, each giving the smaller waist line without the least constriction —a dainty waist line indicated by skillful designing rather than actually expressed.

An Expert Corsetiere will fit you without any obligation on your part.

RICHARD HALL & SON LIMITED

A NEW YEAR APPEAL TO WOMEN OF PETERBOROUGH

(Continued from Page 5.)

So we purpose having a six weeks whirlwind working campaign, every afternoon of the week (except Saturday), and the whole day on Fridays. There will be a large number of sewing machines and the manager of the local branch of the Singer Company has very kindly offered to keep them all in good running order for us.

Messrs. J. J. Turner & Sons have been good enough to cut thousands of yards of materials into garments for us. The citizens have given money as generously as last year and thus we are able to buy to the best advantage and in such quantities as will keep all busy. The executive wish to state very clearly and definitely that this effort is undertaken in no spirit of opposition to or dissatisfaction with existing societies, in fact it is hoped that this appeal will quicken the members of all the societies to renewed effort and that they will not forsake their own special society days to attend at the Red Cross room.

What we do plead for (and this we do most earnestly) is that the women of the city and county will not be content to give only the one afternoon a week, but that for these six weeks they will do their utmost to attend every day, or as frequently as they possibly can.

If they do this, at the end of that period Peterborough will be able to forward a shipment of well made garments, socks, and other necessities, such as will cause every woman a thrill of satisfaction because of the knowledge in her heart that "she hath done what she could." Our own Canadian men come first, as is only right, and the reserve stock of the Canadian Red Cross is such that there is a grave danger that in case of a heavy and sudden emergency if is not being able to meet the demand. In view of the vital necessity that there should be in the early spring a large stock in reserve that can be drawn upon at any hour, will you because you love your country and Empire, and as a small tribute of thanks to the brave dead, and as an encouragement to the living, who are enduring all the risks and hardships of a relentless war, come and help us to make this sewing campaign one of the events in the history of Peterborough. At the end of that little book, "Aunt Sarah and the War," there are quoted a few beautiful lines of Russell Lowell's, which run thus—

I with uncovered head
Salute the sacred dead,
Who went, and who return not—
say not so.
Virtue treads paths that end not in the grave,
No ban of endless night exiles the brave;
And to the saner mind
We rather seem the dead that stayed behind.

So in the name of the "sacred dead" and the brave living will you come filled with zeal and enthusiasm to help in this great work for bleeding and suffering humanity, on Wednesday afternoon at the Public Library at 2 o'clock. Will you be there?

No one must stay away because they are strangers to the room. Every afternoon two ladies will be at the entrance to bid all welcome, to find out which department you wish to work in, and to introduce her to the supervisor of that department, who in her turn will do everything to make her feel she is welcome.

Signed on behalf of the Peterboro Red Cross Society,
Annie Forbes Allen,
1st Vice Pres.,
Laura J. Davidson,
Secretary.

Tank Heroes

The Tank hero appears in the honours list for the first time. One is awarded the D.S.O. and another the Military Cross. The complete list, issued as a supplement to the London Gazette, includes 65 D.S.O., 3 Bar to D.S.O., 264 Military Cross, 6 Bar, 234 D.C.M., 1 2nd Bar to D.C.M., 7 Bar to D.C.M. Mr. Lloyd George's statement that "there as so many heroes in this conflict that it is almost impossible in dispatches to enumerate them; there are so many deeds of valour," is clearly emphasized in this list, and it is impossible to do more than give some of the typical deeds.

The Tank hero who receives the D.S.O. is Capt. Arthur Maculloch Inglis, Gloucster Regiment. He brought his "Tanks" forward over very difficult ground. Although one of the wheels of his own "Tank" was blown off early by a shell, he succeeded in reaching his objective and manoeuvring throughout the whole operation. The other is Second-Lieut. Geordie Osmond Lorne Campbell, Sussex Regiment SpecialReserve (Military Cross.) When his "Tank" broke down he sent the crew back and removed all his guns to his commander's "Tank" remaining with him throughout the entire operation, and personally taking charge of one of the guns.

D.C.M. THREE TIMES.

One man wins the D.C.M. for the third time. He is Sergt. G. Mitchell, Royal Highlanders. Under heavy fire from snipers he went out and searched for wounded on the ground between the enemy and our own front line. He was able to locate four, and at night guided stretcher-bearers to them.

There are several chaplains in the list, and the deed of Rev. John Allan Gray is typical. He often needed wounded men under shell fire, and, after working three days and nights without sleep, went back for one night of rest and then returned to carry on his gallant work. He is awarded the M.C.

Among well-known names are Capt Sir Ian Colquhoun, Bt., Scots Guards (D.S.O.) He led his company with the greatest dash during the day and with a few men reached the enemy's second line, which was full of bombers. He personally accounted for six of them, and knocked over several others with a stick. Temp. Capt. Sir Archibald Richard Dunbar, Bt., W. Yorkshire Regiment (M.C.) led his company in the attack with great dash, and skilfully consolidated his position.

Our airmen again figure in this list of heroes.

Lieut. (Temp. Capt.) Alan Machin Wilkinson, R.F.C., (D.S.O.), has shown great dash in attacking enemy machines, and up to the end of August he had accounted for five On one occasion while fighting a hostile machine he was attacked from behind, but out-manoeuvred the enemy and shot him down. Finally he got back his machine being much damaged by machine-gun fire. Second-Lieut. Euan James Lesiyle Warren Gilchrist, R.F.M. (M.C.), attacked a hostile balloon and brought it down in flames, although under heavy fire and attacked by six hostile machines.

IRISH HEROES.

Many are the feats of heroic endurance and brilliant achievement. Temp. Lieut. (Temp. Capt.) David Rimington Heaton, W. Surrey Regiment (D.S.O.), when his battalion had suffered heavy casualties and was unsupported led a bombing party and drove the enemy up a communication trench. He then cleared the enemy third line trench, taking 168 prisoners. Capt. Edward Henry Kelly, M.C., R.E. (D.S.O.), organised and directed the concentration and deployment of the brigade by night with great skill. When the attack was hung up by uncut wire he personally reconnoitred under very difficult conditions, and organized bombing attacks from both flanks. It was mainly due to his fine work that 1,000 yards of trench were taken and 300 prisoners captured.

Among the Irish heroes are Temp. Lieut.-Col. Edwin Henry Charles Patrick Bellingham, Dublin Fusiliers (D. S. O.) He took command of the two leading battalions when the situation was critical, and displayed the greatest determination under shell and machine-gun fire. The success of the operation was largely due to his quick appreciation of the situation, and his rapid consolidation of the position. Capt. the Hon. Harold Rupert Leofric George Alexander, M.C., Irish Guards (D.S.O.), was the life and soul of the attack, and throughout the day led forward not only his own men, but men of all regiments. He held the trenches gained in spite of heavy machine gun fire.

ON THE PARAPET.

The deed of Temp. Capt. Gordon Byron Brookes, Duke of Cornwall's L. I. (M.C.), recalls that of the Piper of Loos. Prior to the advance our trenches were heavily shelled, but he calmly walked along the parapet encouraging his men. After an advance through heavy fire he captured his objective and consolidated his position. He is a brother of Mr. Warwick Brookes, M.P.

Here and there we have the human touch in the formal official record. Pte. W. H. Brace, Cheshire Regiment (D.C.M.), as C.O.'s runner, carried messages to al parts of the line, When the adjutant, signalling officer, and assistant adjutant became casualties he did splendid work, and though only a boy, knew exactly what was going on all along the line. He was twice blown off his legs during the day close to his C.O. Sergt. J. W. Riordan, Australian Infantry, during an advance in a dense fog, when a doubtful order to retire was passed down, immediately countermanded the order, and by his coolness and the fine example held his men fast.

Corp. F. W. Accleton, R. F. A., when a heavy shell blew him from the saddle and wounded his horse, held on to his horse, steadied the team, and brought the gun into action. Sergt. F. M. Aldcritt, Liverpool Regiment, after an attack got four wounded men into a shell-hole close to the enemy trench, bandaged them, collected water from the dead for them, and finally crawled in with one of the wounded, and, though exhausted, guided a party of volunteers to rescue the remainder.

HARMONY PREVAILS IN YEAR'S WORK SAID MAYOR DUFFUS IN VALEDICTORY TO COUNCIL

Last night the civic ship drew into port with sails furled, oars shipped, and most of the crew with temporary leave ashore while two of the deck hands were seeking renewals of their papers. Mayor Duffus, as master of the craft, took advantage of the occasion to remark that it had been withal a pleasant and and, he hoped, satisfactory voyage. In other words, commenting on the final meeting of the 1916 Council, His Worship said he wished to express his appreciation of the manner in which the aldermen had conducted the year's work. Harmony had prevailed and the aldermen and chairmen of the committees had laboured to give the city's business their best consideration. The meetings had been pleasant and business like and on only two occasions had the usual time limit required extension. The chairmen had done their utmost to keep within their appropriations and at the same time properly conduct the business of the city.

"The appropriations were cut below any of the figures within my experience of seven years in the Council," Mayor Duffus remarked, "and yet the committees were able to keep within the prescribed figures. On the whole we should have a surplus outside of the expenses the recent fire may have caused." The Mayor wished the aldermen a happy New Year, and remarked that the next Council would meet in much the same way. He hoped there would be co-operation during the coming year.

Purchase of Hose.

Ald. Evans reported that following the order of the Fire, Water and Light committee, he had asked for hose tenders, but had received a reply from only one company, the Canadian Consolidated Rubber Company. The Fire Department needed 1,200 feet of hose to replace the quantity lost in the Quaker Oats fire and to bring the supply at the Fire Hall up to the requirements of the Underwriters.

Ald. Duncan suggested that there might be other letters in on Wednesday. It might be therefore advisable to wait a day.

Ald. Evans— I would like to have this settled to-night.

Ald. Stratton remarked that 1,000 feet might be sufficient.

Ald. Edgar moved, seconded by Ald. Saunders, that Ald. Evans be authorized to purchase the required quantity of fire hose from the Canadian Consolidated Rubber Co. at the best figure possible.

Ald. Langford suggested that this question might be left over until it was determined what quantity of hose the Department lacked. His motion to that effect, however, failed to draw a seconder. The motion passed.

Thanks For Loan of Hose.

Ald. Duncan moved, seconded by Ald. Evans, that the Council express its thanks to the De Laval and Bonner-Worth companies for the loan of their fire hose to the city on the day of the Quaker Oats factory fire.

Ald. Duncan stated that on that day members of the North Monaghan Council had told him they had been requested to come into town and render any assistance within their power. No one seemed to know who had sought their aid but that was aside from the Council's consideration.

Monaghan Council Too.

Ald. Stratton moved, seconded by Ald. Weir, that the city's thanks be extended to the North Monaghan Council for their offer of aid and for the help they had given residents in the removal of furniture and in other respects.

50-50 of Drain Cleaning Cost.

Regarding the cleaning out of the Park street drain, Mayor Duffus stated that North Monaghan had removed the weeds as they had promised, and there remained the deepening and broadening of the ditch. It was agreed that some of the sand from the outfall sewer had washed into the course and that the city should bear some of the expense of providing a good outlet for the spring water of which the De Laval Company had complained. The Mayor suggested that the city should assume half the cost. Ald. Duncan estimated that the entire work would cost about two or three hundred dollars.

Ald McIntyre moved, seconded by Ald. Evans, that the city agree to pay fifty per cent. of the deeping of the drain from Lansdowne street to the river, and that arrangements be left with the Board of Works.

Sympathy to Ex-Ald. Johnston.

Ald. Dobbin moved, seconded by Ald. Stratton, that the Council convey to ex-Ald. Johnston a resolution of sympathy in his recent bereavement of his father. The motion was carried with a standing vote.

MR. O'CONNELL LEAVES FOR TORONTO

Well-known Local Lawyer Will Maintain Offices in Peterboro and Toronto

Last evening a farewell social was held in the Knights of Columbus Hall in honour of Mr. D. O'Connell and his wife, who are removing to Toronto, where they will reside in the future. A number of speeches were given, expressing regret at the departure of Mr. and Mrs. O'Connell.

Mr. O'Connell has opened an office in Toronto and in addition will retain his present office in Peterborough. The latter will be in charge of a partner whom Mr. O'Connell will take into the business. It is understood that a well known local lawyer will be Mr. O'Connell's representative in Peterborough.

Mr. O'Connell has worked up an extensive legal practice in Peterborough. Both the Peterborough and Toronto offices will be under the direct supervision of Mr. O'Connell.

Mrs. O'Connell leaves for Toronto to-morrow morning, while Mr. O'Connell will follow towards the end of the week.

EVERYDAY READING

Rest, satisfaction and certainty is what mankind desires in a more or less degree. Religion, so-called, notwithstanding it may be an accepting of seemingly correct creed and theory, a thorough carrying out of forms and ceremonies, a conscientious obedience to rule and regulation or in self sacrifice spending and being spent, with and does not bring to us the deep desire of our being. Our own experience says that it is true and observation of the unrest, dissatisfaction and doubt in others confirm the statement. What is truth? What way shall we take? are questions that should be faced. In the Scripture it is written, "The fool hath said in his own heart, there is no God." The man who believes there is a God, and yet up to the present, has failed to seek, with all the power he is possessed of, to get acquainted with God and to know His will concerning him, surely cannot be called a wise men. Reader, whether you are somewhat of an agnostic, or outwardly indifferent, or all tangled up with creeds and opinions of men; I want to say to you there is a way out into freedom. There is a remedy for sin. I have found deliverance from condemnation and freedom from doubt and fear. I found this in Jesus. What He has done for me He can do for you. Come to Him in faith, full surrender and find in Him, "the way, the truth, the life."

More Anon.

Good skating at East City Rink afternoons and evenings. Band in Attendance To-Night. Admission 10c.

The Sort of Bar He Needed.—A grimy-looking stranger wandered into a certain seaside cafe the other day. He looked about him in an inquiring way for a second or two, and then, turning to the waitress, said rather sharply:—"I say, miss, where's the bar?" "What kind of a bar?" queried the waitress in return, and as lofty as she could. "Why, a liquor bar of course!" he drawled." "What sort of a bar did you suppose I meant?" "Well," she said, and her eyebrows arched slightly, "I didn't know, but I thought perhaps you might mean a bar of soap."

ANCIENT FOES SOON BECAME BEST OF FRIENDS

There are seventy-three infantry regiments in the British Army. Each of these has a record full enough of anecdotes and traditions to fill a book, writes D. L. B., in the London Express. The nicknames of some of them are suggestive of the wildest deeds of daring, of the most impossible accomplishments: the "Saucy Pompadours," a nickname given to a famous regiment whose colonel had more than a passing fancy for the famous Mme. de Pompadour; the "Excellers," a nickname given to the South Lancashire Regiment— doubtless from "XL," the old 40th Foot; but one wonders what attractions Mme. Pompadour found in the bluff old colonel of the 56th Regiment of Foot.

Of this 56th Regiment, now the 2nd Battalion Essex Regiment, an amusing story is told. On their tunic buttons the officers of this regiment wear a French eagle. This eagle was captured at Salamanca from the 62nd French Regiment of Infantry by a subaltern officer of the 1st Battalion Essex Regiment."

Sometime ago, at the beginning of the war, the 2nd Essex were marching back to billets from the trenches. A halt was called at the Wayside, and men and officers flung down their packs and lay by the roadside smoking and talking. A cloud of dust round a bend in the road denoted another regiment on its march back to a well earned rest. The head of the battalion rounded the bend — French regiment. A whistle blew, and in less time than it takes to describe the Frenchmen had their kits off and were fraternising with their British comrades. Present French and English officers were exchanging cigarettes, chatting and joking. One of the French captains seemed fascinated by the buttons on a British subaltern's jacket.

"What is eat little bird?" said he, pointing to the eagle. "Oh! that bird Well, as we are both fighting together now," said the subaltern, "I dont mind telling you. This bird is the eagle of the 62nd French Infantry, which one of our officers captured from you in the Peninsular war. The Frenchman became violently excited. He danced with enthusiasm, and, kissing the subaltern on both cheeks, exclaimed, "Ah, monsieur, wonderful! Wonderful! This regiment which you see before you is the 62nd French Infantry." . . . On the evening of the same day a staff officer watched the two regiments marching into their billeting area. "Funny thing," said he, turning to a companion, "both those battalions seem to have lost all their buttons."

Historic Nicknames.

There is not a regiment of cavalry or infantry that does not possess at least one nickname. Some of them are names which were given to them many years ago, names earned in the four corners of the earth. Most of these nicknames can be accounted for, but there are some for which not even the ablest military historian can give an explanation. Some of them are pretty —— some are coarse and rough. The Manchesters are known as the "Bloodsuckers," the Yorkshires are the "Green Howards." The few regiments whose nicknames are tabulated below possess a fine variety of names, some dating back to the seventeenth century, others bearing titles that might well have come from the lips of Privates Learoyd Mulvaney, and Ortheris themselves:

The Royal Irish Regt.
Paddy's Blackguards.
The Queen's.....The Mutton Lancers
The Devonshire Regt.
The Bloody Eleventh
The Royal Scots.
Pontius Pilate's Bodyguard
Scots Fusiliers.
The Earl of Mar's Grey Breeks
Welsh Fusiliers .....The Nannygoats
The Gloucester Regt.,
The Fore and Afts.
The Dorset Regt...The Green Linnets
The Royal West Kent Regt.,
The Dirty Half-Hundred
The King's Royal Rifles...The Sweeps
The Middlesex Regt.....The Diehards
The Northampton Regt.,
The Talavera Heroes
The Leicester Regt.,
The Bengal Tigers
17th Lancers.
The Death or Glory Boys.

When the war is over there will be still more nicknames to add. The regiments have always room for more. They know that it is not the first time they have fought in Flanders. They are the regiments which fought at Minden and at Malplaquet with Marlborough and who fought in Flanders when Prussia was no more important than Luxemburg.

Council "Should Worry" About the Toboggan Slide

The Council last night rejected Ald. Dobbin's motion seconded by Ald. Stratton, that the management of the toboggan slide at Jackson Park be asked to repair it for use. Ald. Dobbin stated that some of the young people had complained that they missed it greatly.

Ald. Evans stated that the Bonnacord street bridge filling had put an end to the long sweep from the foot of the slide.

Ald. Edgar cautioned against the motion, and Ald. Duncan proposed that the Street Railway Company were able to look after their own affairs. He moved, seconded by Ald. Weir, that no action be taken, and this amendment carried.

"Let her slide," said the irrepressible Ald. Dobbin.

Ald. Edgar moved, seconded by Ald. Saunders, that Ald. Dobbin inquire into the legal aspect of a request for the opening of the slide, but Ald. Stratton came back with a motion, Ald. Duncan seconding it, that no action be taken. And again the amendment carried.

The 1917 Ford Runabout

$475.00

f.o.b. Ford, Ont.

Among the new Ford Models which we are showing, the Runabout is the car you will prefer for your own personal use.

Being built like the other Fords, it carries the light two-passenger load with plenty of reserve power to spare—something you will appreciate when you need quick service from your car.

And it's so sturdily built that it's well nigh trouble-proof. Have a look at the new model today and place your order with us.

DUFFUS GARAGE
Jos. J. Duffus, Prop.
195 SIMCOE STREET PHONE 285

WAR COSTUMES FOR GIRLS.

New Styles in England Have a Touch of the Picturesque.

Under the heading "How English Girls Dress for War Work," the Official Press Bureau, in London, has authorized the following article:

"Khaki tunic, with loose leather belt; khaki breeches and puttees, and close-fitting cap to match—that was the costume of a sturdy girl on war work. She was met only a few miles out of London, not in one of those rural retreats where feminine farm hands throw aside convention and skirts in order more effectually to tackle tasks which they have pluckily undertaken in releasing men for the army.

"Duty had brought this particular worker, broad-shouldered and rosy-cheeked, to a busy railway station, where she went about her business with matter-of-fact unconcern, covering ground, with free strides, and breaking into an easy sprint when occasion required. Her special job was supervising certain fodder supplies. And in doing so she had not hesitation about clambering atop a wagon load and vigorously handling great bales of hay.

The utilitarian dress of the working girl in town and country continually introduces fresh innovations. Londoners have grown accustomed to the smart and serviceable uniform of the bus conductorette, (short skirt and boots that reach to the knee;) munition workers of every class have adapted their apparel to novel environment, and none have been more photographed than fair stable and farm hands, who dress the part with thoroughness, not for getting a thought for the picturesque.

"All this broadly sets the rule in work-a-day fashion along divers grooves. At the same time the play of individual fancy catches the eye now and again. The girl messenger sets her distinctive cap jauntily, even though it may not be always to her taste.

"'I like the costume,' said one, glancing approvingly at its artistic lines, 'but what I can't stand is this blinking at.' All the same, the most was made of that 'at.

"On their own initiative girl cyclists who have to deliver goods conveyed on pedaled machines, are taking to puttees and leggings, which compensate for the curtailment of skirts. But, perhaps, the shortest of working dresses were two seen in the Strand the other day, the wearers—in the twenties—being quite indifferent to the attention attracted as they strolled arm in arm toward Charing Cross. The garments, of blue serge came barely to the knees, and they revealed blue breeches which, so to speak, were linked to leather leggings by a stretch of closely-fitting stocking.

"At one of London's newer department stores there is one up-to-date Diana of the Chase in felt hat, stately riding habit, and top boots, groomed to perfection; at another place there is the commissionnaire in semi-military uniform, with full-skirted tunic, baggy breeches, and top boots, a tufted shako completing the picture. These are notable types, variations as to details crowding upon one another."

Infantile.

An Englishman touring in the Highlands of Scotland had the misfortune to lose his way. Noticing a small cottage by the roadside he went up, knocked at the door, and when the guidwife came he explained: "I am very sorry to trouble you, madam, but I have lost my bearin's."

"Dae ye tell me that?" was the astounding reply. "I hope their mither's wi' them?"

Not One Like Him.—The late Sir W. S. Gilbert, of Savoy opera fame, met Liebling, the pianist, and the following interchange of courtesies occurred between them Liebling was introduced to Gilbert and Gilbert said "Sir, I have heard Liszt——" Liebling bowed his head in acknowledgment of what he supposed was the coming compliment. "I have Heard Henry Herts," continued Gilbert. Liebling bowed still lower. "I have head Paderewski." Liebling made a genuflexion even unto the ground. "Well, sir," continued Gilbert, in abrupt tones, "not one of them—not one of them, sir, perspired as profusely as you!"

MADAME THEBES, PREDICTER, DEAD

Noted French Clairvoyant and Astrologist Held Secrets of Celebreties

PARIS, Dec. 27.— Madame A. de Thebes, world famous as an astrologist and clairvoyant, who was said to have possessed innumerable secrets of the private lives of the great, died on Sunday at her country home in Meung-sur-Loire, in her seventy-third year. Although known only as Madame de Thebes for years, her real name was Anna Victorine Savigny.

Madame de Thebes' most recent prediction of note was that contained in her almanac published in January, 1914, in which she said that a European war would break out about the middle of 1914, and that it would be preceded by a sensational trial. In addition she said that the Pope would die soon after the outbreak of hostilities and that the Germans would closely approach Paris, but would be unable to take the city. She further predicted that the German Emperor would be killed on September 27, 1914, that the French would enter Germany on October 29, and that the war would end on November 7 of the same year.

Dawson Bros.
GROCERS
Cor. George & London Sts.

Currants, re-cleaned, pound	25c.
Valencia raisins, choice, pound	11c.
Mixed peel, lemon, orange, citron, pound	35c.
Fresh dates, pound	15c.
Cooking figs, 2 pound	25c.
Allen's famous apple cider, per gal.	60c.
Home-made mince meat, pound	18c.
Cranberries for your Christmas turkey, quart	15c.

SPECIAL.

Swift's premium bacon, put up expressly for boys at the front. Packed in sealtite and waterproof paper. Each piece sells at $1.00
White beans, fancy, picked, 2 pound	25c.
Prunes, large and meaty, 2 pound	25c.
Malaga grapes, pound	20c.
Lemons, large and juicy, dozen	40c.
Aute brand salmon extra value	15c.
Turnips. We have a limited amount of real choice turnips. Your goose will taste better if you serve turnips. Per bag	60c.
Oranges, large, sweet and juicy. Doz., 20c., 40c. and	50c.

Prompt Delivery - - 'Phone 1020

Eat Oysters And Fruit Now—

After Christmas, most people feel like enjoying something light and nutritious after the heavy meat and plum pudding dishes.

OYSTERS are a valuable food. They are the tenderest of meats and easily digestible, useful in regulating nutrition

FRUITS contain delicious cooling and refreshing salts, so stimulating and active in regulating the stomach, liver and other organs.

Nothing nicer this week than our Sealshipt Oysters and Fresh and Domestic Fruits and Vegetables.

PRINGLE'S
Sanitary Fruit & Fish Market
Cor. George & Charlotte St.
Phone 197

Four Superior Brands

Nemo, Frolaset, American Lady and D. & A.

The above lines are our choice from a host of others—they are the products of the foremost makers on the continent. You will find amongst them some model to suit your figure. Visit the department and consult our corsetiers.

The CRESSMAN Company Limited

UTILITIES COMMISSION MAY BE ASKED TO ASSUME CONTROL OF STREET RAILWAY AND SEWERS

The suggestion that the Utilities Commission assume contro. of Peterborough's sewerage system and of the Street Railway was broached at the concluding meeting of the Council last night.

Stating that he believed it a step in the right direction, Ald. Edgar proposed the Street Railway idea. The Government had operated the railway for a year and was ready to submit its statement of expenditures and receipts. Mayor Duffus remarked that the business had been paying and, by way of assuring Ald. Langford, said that the Government was ready to turn it over to the city at figure on a paying basis.

The following resolution was moved by Ald. Edgar and seconded by Ald. Saunders, for the purpose of completing the necessary preliminaries should the scheme be favoured by the Council and ratified by the ratepayers:

"That the City Solicitor be authorized to advertise an application for a Private Bill by the Corporation of the City of Peterborough to contain a provision that in the event of the Peterborough Radial Railway plant, property and business being purchased by the Corporation of the City of Peterborough, that the Peterborough Utilities Commission shall have the management and control of the same with the power to maintain, operate, extend and renew the same as required by the said Commission with the consent of the said corporation to borrow monies for the purposes of the said railway, and such other powers as in the opinion of the Council of the City may be required by the said Commission for the above mentioned purposes.

For Next Year's Council.

This public utility of the street railway will doubtless be one of the bequests to the 1917 Council. In the abstract it appears favourable to the Council, but as Ald. Langford tentatively remarked, if it is not a paying business the city does not want it. There was no doubt expressed on this point. However the question was only briefly discussed apart from the subject of the resolution.

Taking Over Sewerage.

Later in the evening Ald. Doblin presented the proposition that it might be in the interests of the city to transfer the control and management of the sewerage system to the Utilities Commission. He moved, seconded by Ald. Edgar that this matter be discussed by the Board of Works and that a report on it be presented to the new Council.

ASKED SMITH COUNCIL TO PAY THE FEES

The members of the Council of Smith met in the County Council Chamber, Peterboro, on Friday, Dec. 15th, at 10 o'clock. All the members were present, with Reeve McKee in the chair. The minutes of the last meeting were read and confirmed.

Mr. L. Squair addressed the council re taxes which were in arrears when he purchased the lot, and stated he willing to pay the same provided the interest charges were deducted. The clerk was instructed to make suitable arrangements with the collector.

Messrs. Cann and Hancock waited on the council and requested that the lawyers' fees in connection with the recent trial amounting to $20.30, be paid by the township. They pointed out that when the dispute arose Mr. Cann, Jr., was in the employ of the township and was working under the direction of an appointed official. The decision given by the judge was to the interest of the ratepayers and also showed that Mr. Cann was in the right. The matter was referred to the solicitor.

Mr. Jamieson of Howden & Co., addressed the council regarding a number of sheep that had been killed by dogs, the owners unknown.

Moved by Councillor Middleton, seconded by Councillor Moore, that Mr. Howden be paid $93.50. The motion was carried.

The treasurer was instructed to pay the following accounts:

M. Bell, work on road	$ 4 05
Geo. Cockburn, 75 rds. fence	15 00
J. J. Milburn, services as fence viewer	2 00
Geo. Deyell, 90 rds. fence	18 00
Jas. Blewett, 1 sheep killed	12 00
J. H. Fowler, services as fence viewer and sheep valuator	4 00
Emily Township, re Boun. Rd.	6 07
Examiner, printing	57 51
R. A. Garbutt, work on road	8 00
Dr. J. A. Morgan, services as M. H. O.	12 00
Review Printing Co.	58 00
James R. Northey, rebate dog tax	1 00
J. A. Young, 93 rds. 11 ft. fence	18 70
Geo. Milburn, services as fence viewer	2 00
C. J. Hancock, work on road	62 60
S. Blewett, bal. on sheep killed	16 00
J. B. Bickell, 62 rds. fence	12 40
J. J. Bickell, pay sheet	8 35
Geo. Mullen, 1 sheep killed	12 00
A. B. Mann, work on road	7 00
Peterboro Hardware Co., 2 scrapers	13 00
Robt. Carter, work on road	1 75
W. A. Payne, work on road	12 00
A. G. Clysdale, tile (when account is adjusted)	57 90
Thos. Spenser, work on road	5 00
Kelly Lumber Co., lumber	1 20

The council then adjourned.

Mr. James Grant, who was nominated as Councillor, feeling that the northern portion of the township should have a representative, and not wishing to cause the expense of an election, resigned. The following were elected by acclamation:

Reeve, Fred McKee.

Deputy Reeve, G. B. Nichols.

Councillors, Moore, Middleton and Nichols.

Ladies' Fur Setts

In case you have failed to remember some of your friends at Christmas, just come and see some of the exquisite styles we are showing in Muffs and Neck Pieces. Nothing can be more acceptable as a Christmas or New Year's Gift.

W. E. LECH Manufacturing Furrier and Hatter

266 GEORGE STREET . . . NEAR SIMCOE ST.

PRESENTATION TO TEACHER

Mrs. J. L. Welbourn is the Recipient of a Handsome Teachers' Bible

In St. James' Methodist church Sunday school on Sunday last, a very interesting event took place when the members of the Cheerful Workers' Bible class presented their teacher, Mrs. J. L. Welbourn, with a very handsome teachers' bible. The presentation was made by Mrs. (Lieut.) Brooks, while Miss Young read the following address:

Peterborough, Dec. 24, 1916.

To Mrs. J. N. Welbourn:

Dear Teacher,—At Christmas time the most joyous time of all the year, when all is festive, bright and gay, and we have been permitted to gather once more in our class room, we look back upon this past year and realise our indebtedness to you, our teacher, for your faithfulness, your uplifting example, your successful teaching of the Sunday school lesson.

Fifty Sundays have you stood in our midst, always ready and willing to impart to your scholars the knowledge you had gleaned from our Saviour's word.

The greatest gift ever given to the world was the gift of Jesus, and we cannot but think this Bible, His Holy Word, will be acceptable to you.

Wishing you a merry Christmas and a happy New Year.

The Cheerful Workers' Bible Class, St. James' Methodist church.

Set Them Right.

Jones' opinion of himself as a golfer was very much greater than his skill warranted, says "London Answers." He was invited to play on a certain Scottish links as a visitor. Armed to the teeth with clubs of all sorts and sizes he set off and, followed by a caddy, proceeded to play. He buried his ball at every bunker, gully and bit of grass on the landscape and muttered naughtily. After half an hour of it he turned to his silent caddy. "Really," he murmured ingratiatingly, "this is the most difficult I have ever played on." "Hoo did ye ken?" replied the lad, in quiet scorn. "Ye havna played on it yet!"

Men Wanted at Quaker Oats Elevator. Apply at office near elevator 3d-148

Something For Your Table

New Year Presents that look well and WEAR well are a source of lasting satisfaction to the giver as well as to the recipient.

BRITISH-MADE SILVERWARE

The Standard of the World

In this line we offer some specially pleasing articles.

A cheerful welcome to all shoppers whether to look or to buy.

SCHNEIDER The Jeweller, George St.

Holiday Fruits

Sunkist Oranges
California Pears
French Dates
Choice Apples
Pomegranites, Bananas
Nuts Shelled-Unshelled
Table Raisins
Cluster Raisins
New Figs & Dates
California Cucumbers
Fresh Lettuce
Crisp Celery, etc

FISH

Shrimps, Sea Salmon, Salmon trout White fish Sea Herring, Halibut Oysters Received Daily

Douros & Gelitas

375 George St. Phone 16 & 19

WEEK OF PRAYER ALL NEXT WEEK

Citizens Are Called Upon to Give the First Week of New Year to Meditation and Prayer—General and Earnest Response is Expected

Our City Churches of all denominations unite in calling upon all citizens to give the first week of the New Year to Meditation and Prayer.

It is hoped that there will be a general and earnest response to this appeal.

The tragedy of the past two and a half years, and the tremendous obstacles that still confront us, alike summon us to humiliation and supplication.

The programme will be as follows:

Monday, January 1st, Park Street Church. Speaker, Rev. James Mackenzie, B.D. Subject, "The Reasonableness and the Power of Prayer."

Tuesday, January 2nd, St. Andrews Church. Speaker, Rev. J. B. Webb. Subject, "Tragedy and the Doctrine of a Divine Providence."

Wednesday, January 3rd, Usual mid week service in each church. Subject, "War, and its Effects on Religion at Home, in the Trenches, and on Mission Fields."

Thursday, January 4th, All Saints' Church. Speaker, Rev. R. G. Peever, B.D. Subject, "Problems of the Community as a Challenge to Christian Heroism."

Friday, January 5th. Trinity Church. Speaker, Rev. R. Pogue. Subject, "Our Preparedness for after the War."

The pastor of the church in which the service is held will preside in each case.

At the concluding service an offering will be taken to defray the expenses.

Sends Blood Red White Feather Back To The Girl

LONDON, Dec. —A white feather, streaked with crimson by a Turk infantryman's bullet, has been sent back to the girl in Melbourne, Australia, who stuck it in a slacker's cap. There is no message with it. The man who sent it guessed she'd put it alongside the casualty list of Australians and draw her own conclusions. The slacker has passed beyond caring what she thinks.

The white feather incident occurred about a year ago.

There was a young clerk in Melbourne who had good prospects in his job, the responsibility of caring for his invalid mother—and a girl. That was load enough for his mind, and he had a hard time keeping the issues separate while making out bills of lading at the office.

Australians were marching away by thousands. Every day saw some of his friends calling around to say "so long" and tell him significantly, "see you in Gallipoli." Then they would clump away in their heavy infantry boots to take ship for the war.

Feared Shot in the Face.

After a while things came to the point where there was no more insinuating. People were asking him why he didn't enlist. He would try to explain that there was the job and his mother—and the girl, but it was no use. Plenty of others had broken away from their jest as strong and had died fighting for the allies.

This man had a conscience and imagination and used to lie awake nights in a cold sweat of horror at having his face shot off. He would keep out of it as long as he could. A man depending on his personality in business might as well throw up the sponge if he has to go through life without a nose, or with only a ghastly hole in his neck for a mouth.

If he could only be sure of getting shot, say in the chest or foot; anywhere but the face. But he couldn't. Every one takes a chance in war.

These things were worrying him one night when he dropped around to call. The girl met him at the door and told him all bets were off till he proved himself a man. She had three brothers at the front. With that she jabbed the white feather in his cap and banged the door.

Of course, he enlisted right away. A few months later back in the reserve trenches he received word that his mother had died.

Tells Story to Comrade.

That night when the gunning had died down to a minimum he opened up to his companion in the dugout; told the whole story in a regular brotherly sob meeting. While his romantic imagination bubbled highest he dug into the upper left pocket of his tunic, right over his heart, and produced the white feather.

Next day he fell, not shot in the face, but drilled clean through his heart.

So the friend fished out the feather, now stained [illegible] and sent it to the girl in Melbourne.

E. B. CLEGG & CO.

Furniture purchased now as gifts, will be held until Christmas week if desired. Dining room furniture on sale this week. Some handsome styles to choose from. A collection of colonial art craft and modern style buffets. See our show window. A fine example of the William and Mary style.

City Gives $10 Apieece To Lindsay Firemen For Their Assistance

The Council last night materially recognised the assistance the Lindsay Fire Brigade rendered on the occasion of the Quaker Oats factory fire, by authorizing the payment of ten dollars to each of the two firemen and Chief Bell, and twenty dollars to Phillip Fusco, who transported most of the men on his own motor truck. This made a total of $130. The firemen receiving this grant were H. Cuthbert, A. Gamble, W. Bell, C. Fox, J. Graham E. Beadle, S. Howe, jr., N. Clarke, L. Veitch and L. Skipworth. The motor lorry waggon could not accommodate the entire party and Mr. Fusco's truck was rushed into transportation service.

Ald. Evans read a letter from Chief Bell in which the latter stated that the expenses of the trip had not been heavy. Eight gallons of gasoline were used. Ald. Evans moved, seconded by Ald. Weir, that the Council recognize the services of the Lindsay men as detailed above.

True to form, Ald. Langford commented that it was the best day's work "most of those fellows ever did."

TRIUMPH OF A NEW ART

David W. Griffith's most extraordinary achievement with his new photo-spectacle, "The Birth of a Nation," coming to the Grand on New Year's Day, is that of making history live. He has touched the high peaks of American history—the introduction of slavery, the War of Secession, the surrender at Appomattox, the death of Lincoln, the miseries of Reconstruction, and the restoration of the South to its own. These things, it would have seemed a year ago, were beyond the motion picture camera. The master producer had the faith of an enthusiast. Within 12,000 feet of celluloid film he has successfully combined a thrilling, plausible, and dignified presentment of national upgrowth with a real and human love story based on Thomas Dixon's book-romance, "The Clansman." As it appears to the newspaper and magazine critics, Mr. Griffith has not only surpassed the art of the "indoor" theatre but he has also developed a new art-form far superior to the old style history or historical novel. The best characterization of it so far is that of a very eminent public man who has called it "history by lightning."

Mr. Griffith employed 18,000 people in taking these historical pictures. The battle scenes were actual duplicates of several of the Civil War conflicts, and so were actual duplicates of several of the Civil War conflicts and so were the facsimiles of important events. We see Lincoln among his counsellors issuing the call for volunteers, Grant and Lee shaking hands at Appomattox, the shot that John Wilkes Booth fired, the Freedman's Bureau, the carpet baggers' excesses, and the famous rides of the Ku Klux. The realism is almost uncanny. Often the old war shouts are heard in the audiences from the lips of veterans who momentarily forget that it is only a picture. It is hard to keep one's feet from dancing to the well beloved tunes of the martial music. Scenes in the latter half of the picture are so skilfully managed that often the applause is practically continuous for half to three quarters of an hour.

Full of Grit.

Bertie took his new young lady out for a motor drive one day recently, and thinking that she might regard him as a slacker for not being in uniform determined to show his pluck. If he could not face the Germans he could at least defy the local police, so he set to and made the car travel. "We are doing 65 miles an hour, darling," he shouted presently. "You don't seem very alarmed. You are very brave." "Yes, dear," gasped the little darling, swallowing a few more pecks of dust; "I'm full of grit."

THE CLOSING DAYS OF THE JEWELRY SALE

Many a Christmas stocking has doubtless been filled this season by the gifts secured at the E. V. Warne jewelry sale, which will close with the end of the year. The opportunities afforded for purchasing appropriate gifts have been generously taken advantage of and the auction prices have permitted of many valuable and handsome gifts to be made that Santa Claus could not have afforded at regular prices.

Only three more days remain to clean up this stock. While these unusual auction prices prevail, those who wish to remember forgotten friends, or those who wait for New Years to bestow their holiday favours, will find an excellent array of suitable articles to gratify their generous impulses. The sales commence each day at 2.30, and ladies and gentlemen seeking suitable tokens of friendship, will find a choice so wide, and the prices so rare, that there is practically no uncertainty as to satisfaction.

The intelligent methods of the auctioneer, M. H. H. Harrison, are quite interesting, and always above board. Values have been fairly appraised and nothing misrepresented.

Snipped the Wrong Leg.

A London clothier was never known to acknowledge that he didn't have anything a possible customer might ask for. One day a customer entered the shop and asked if he had any trousers made especially for one-legged man. "Certainly," replied the merchant. "What kind do you want?" "Dress trousers," said the man. "The best you've got." Hurrying into the rear of the shop the enterprising merchant snatched a pair of trousers and snipped off the right leg with a pair of shears. Hastily turning under the edges he presented them to the customer. "That's the kind I want. What's the price?" "Thirty shillings." "Well, give me a pair with the left leg off." A month later the clothier was pronounced convalescent and on the right road to recovery.

From Brazil—Where the nuts come from.
1000 Laughs—Not one tear
Grand Opera House next Saturday, Matinee and Night.
Seat sale opens To-morrow (Thursday) morning.

Barries' LIMITED Furriers, Peterboro

BRANCHES AT REGINA SASKATOON MOOSE JAW

Ladies' Ready-to-Wear Department

A CHOICE SELECTION OF

Ladies' Attire

for Outdoor and Party Wear, including Dresses, Suits, Coats : : : : Blouses, Silk Sweaters.

Phone 340

Useful New Year's Gifts now being displayed in both Departments.

ROBT. FAIR & CO.

LIMITED

SALE OF LADIES' HIGH-GRADE SILK SCARFS

These Goods only arrived to-day by Express which were intended for delivery a fortnight ago. They must be sacrificed in price now and we have decided on this course. Here are the particulars and prices.

No. 1 Lot Silk Scarfs

In shades of Paddy, Cadet, Rose, Grey, Cerise. Length 1¾ yards. Regular value $3.50. Sacrifice Sale Price $2.25

No. 2 Lot Silk Scarfs

1¾ yds. long, in shades of Rose, Dark Cerise, Copen, Cadet, Champagne. Regular value $4.00. Sacrifice Sale Price $2.60

No. 3 Lot Brushed Angora Scarfs

1¾ yards long, shades are Paddy, Rose, Navy, Copen. Regular value $4.00. Sacrifice Sale Price $2.75

New York Stock Market

Summary of To-day's Activities on the New York Stock Exchange

Canadian Stocks:

Steamers, 37 1-4, 37 3-4; Steel of Canada, 64 1-2, 67 1-4; Dominion Steel, 67 1-2, 67 3-4; Gen. Electric, 112 1-4, bid.; Cement, 64, 65; N. S. Steel, 115 3-4, 117.

New York Stocks:

Airbrake, 150, 148 3-4; Atcheson, 104 1-2, 104 3-4; B. and O., 83 7-8, 84 1-8; C. P. R., 167 3-4; N.Y.C., 104 1-4, 105 1-4; Erie, 35 1-8; Erie, Ptd., 49 1-2, 49 3-4; Penns, 56 1-2, 56 5-8; Reading, 108 5-8, 104 5-8; U.P., 147 5-8, 148 3-4; Beth. Steel, 510, 505; Rep. Steel, 78 1-2, 78 3-4; U. S. Steel 107 7-8, 108 5-8; Anaconda, 83 7-8, 83 5-8; Am. Loco., 78 1-2, 79; Inter Nickel, 43 1-2, 42 5-8.

GROUP PICTURES

Good time now when the visitors are at home for the holidays to have a group Picture taken. Make arrangements to sit at—

374½ George Street — The Moule Studio — Phone No. 46

Stop that Cough!

TAKE

Pinol

A healing Remedy Compound of White Pine Compound with Eucalyptol & Menthol

A prompt relief for Coughs and Colds Bronchitis Sore Throat, Asthma and other diseases of the Respiratory Organs.

For sale only at

THE WARNE DRUG CO., LTD.

251 George St. Phone 537

Market Opinions of New York Houses.

Post and Flagg.—There seems to be a general opinion here that the rally is likely to go somewhat further and that then much quieter and more discriminating markets will be the order of the day.

J. S. Bache and Co.—The trading element is now looking for the secondary re-action. Normally this should carry prices about half way back toward the low levels of last week. As fundamental conditions are sound, good stocks look attractive for purchase on further recessions.

Bryant, Dunn & Co.— Sentiment seems to be rather optimistic as to course of prices. What with allowing a fair measure of time for review and survey of the recent market changes and the end of the year approaching, it would seem altogether likely that the balance of this week will be one of rather smaller things.

Shearson, Hammill & Co.— In the stock market after passing through a strenuous week, a quieter time is expected. It is difficult to figure that peace is in sight with the Allies still giving large orders for all kinds of munitions and while there will be continued talk, do not think that peace is near yet. The trading position in the market looks best if the railroad troubles are settled soon. those stocks will be the favourite in the speculation

Edmund and Charles Randolph.— The talk of an unrestricted submarine warfare by Germany grows day by day, and the actions of the British Admiralty make it appear that the Allies expect this. The general feeling is that Washington has known it was coming unless peace came shortly, and that that was the underlying influence of Wilson's peace note. Of course this has a bearish effect on the market, and it is probable in my opinion, that prices will sag off.

NEW BOOKS AT THE PUBLIC LIBRARY

Similia Similibus, a tale in French, written by a French-Canadian for the purpose of stimulating recruiting in Eastern Canada—Barthe.

Seventeen—Tarkington.

Homesteaders—Stead.

Angel Unawares—C. N and A. M. Williamson.

This Way for Christmas—Sawyer.

Pincher Martin, O.D.—Taffrail.

Short Stories from "Life"—Masson.

Incredible Honeymoon—Nesbit.

Bride of a Moment—Wells

Day of Wrath—Tracy.

With the Zionists in Gallipoli—Patterson.

With a Field Ambulance at Ypres—Boyd.

A Soldier of the Legion—Morlee.

God and the War and the Men Who Died in Battle: Some Lessons of the Present Crisis—Paterson Smyth.

Havelock Man Fined $20 For Being Drunk In a Public Place

Jas. Hodgins, of Havelock, was fined $20 and costs by Magistrate Langley this afternoon for being drunk in a public place in the village on December 21st. Inspector Stewart was the principal witness for the prosecution.

City and General

Broken auto cylinders, machinery and stoves welded, by the new Oxo Acetelyne Process. Anything in iron, steel or aluminum made as good as new, not patched up. Millard's Bicycle Shop, Hunter street, near Aylmer.

PROBABILITIES.

Milder, with occasional sleet or rain. Thursday, westerly winds and colder.

SPECIAL PRACTICE.

Special practice for the Temple Songsters to-night at 8 o'clock sharp

PIANO TUNING.

'Phone 595, The Greene Music Co., Charlotte Street, when your piano requires tuning or regulating. All work guaranteed. dtf

FINE POST CARDS.

Post Cards of Quaker Oats fire IN COLOURS, 10c. each. See the specimens in the show case Vincent Studio, George Street. 28d-243

POULTRY MEETING.

A special meeting of the Peterborough Poultry Association will be held in the Labour Hall, George street, tomorrow evening, Thursday, Dec. 28th, at 8 o'clock. A. Breault, secretary.

DENTAL.

Dr. McKenty, Dentist, 370 George Street, on the ground floor, first door north of Peterborough Hardware Company. Nitrous oxide and oxygen administered for painless operations. 28d-128

SANTA CLAUS' VISIT.

Santa Claus will be at the Christmas celebration given by the Salvation Army on Thursday evening at Brailey's, and at Byersville Friday night. A special programme will be given at each entertainment.

CLEANING, PRESSING AND REPAIRING.

'Phone 1416 for Cleaning, Pressing and Repairing. Goods called for and delivered promptly. Mrs. Read, 159 Rubidge Street. dtf

EXPRESS AND BAGGAGE.

E. D. Cooney, a returned soldier, has taken over the express business of Eddie Reid and will give prompt and careful attention to all work entrusted to him 'Phone 847. E. D. Cooney, 340 Aylmer street. 28d-44

PROGRESSIVE CLUB.

This month the Peterborough Progressive Club sent two large packages of magazines to the Y.M.C.A. headquarters in France. They also sent six sweaters and 120 pairs of socks to Miss Plummer, field comforts commissioner.

FUNERAL THIS MORNING.

The funeral of the late John Tetro was held this morning at nine o'clock. A service was held at St. Peter's Church conducted by Rev. Father Phelan before proceeding to St. Peter's cemetery for interment.

YOUR TYPEWRITER'S EFFICIENCY

Is enhanced by co-operation of the typewriter and this can only be, when the machine used is in good condition. A few dollars spent in this renovation of machines will repay you many times over, if you deal at Nelson's Typewriter Co. We sell ribbons, carbons and general office supplies as well as ALL MAKES OF TYPEWRITERS.

OPPOSITE ORIENTAL HOTEL.

EVANGELIST IRVING AT THE GOSPEL HALL.

Mr. Richard Irving and Mr. F. G. Lockett, of Kingston, will speak in the Gospel Hall on Thursday evening at 8 o'clock. Mr. Irving, who has devoted himself to gospel work in Canada for some years, has decided to visit the West Indies for an indefinite time, preaching the gospel there. Come and hear him.

WILLIAM WELSH DEAD

William Walsh died at 3.40 p.m. today at St. Joseph's Hospital of the result of burns received in the Quaker Oats factory fire. This increases the fatality list to a total of twenty-one.

OBITUARY

MISS MARY CONWAY.

The death of Miss Mary Conway took place at the home of her parents in Kinmount last week. The deceased was a sister of the late J. Conway, who was a victim of the Quaker Oats fire.

PETER NICHOLLS.

Peter Nicholls died last night at the Nicholls Hospital, from a paralytic stroke, aged 75 years. He was born in Smith township, and lived practically all his life in Bridgenorth. The funeral will be held to-morrow afternoon at Bridgenorth at 2.30. A service will be held at the family residence at 2 p.m.

SAMUEL ENGLISH.

Samuel English, 225 Hunter street, died last night at Nicholls Hospital after a long and painful illness. He was born in Omemee seventy-four years ago and was predeceased by his wife and only son John. The funeral will take place on Friday morning to Omemee, leaving Peterborough by the 9.20 train. A service will be held at Mr. English's late residence on Thursday evening at eight o'clock, conducted by Canon Cornish.

LOTTIE BROOKS.

The following is from the Lindsay Warder: The Warder joins with the numerous friends of Mr. Henry Campbell, St. Paul Street, in extending sympathy to him because of his recent bereavement, his beloved wife having passed away on Sunday last, after an illness of some seven months. The deceased was a daughter of Mr. and Mrs George Brooks, of the north ward, and is survived by her husband, two daughters and one son; also by one sister, Mrs. W. Stone, and two brothers, Messrs. T. J. Brooks of Peterboro and Fred Brooks of Lindsay. In religion the deceased was a member of the Anglican church, Rev. Canon Marsh conducting the funeral service. The pall bearers were: Messrs. Norman Henderson, A. Barisrow, J. Duquette, T. Massau, L. Penrose and H. Abercrombie.

Among the beautiful floral tributes received was a wreath from the staff of Fisher's grocery store; also from the sister and family and from the husband and relatives.

We wish all our many friends a Happy and a Prosperous New Year

Keep Up The Xmas Spirit

You will want to select some suitable Gift for your Friends who were overlooked at Christmas. Excellent chance will be found at this store, notwithstanding the heavy shopping before Christmas.

We will be pleased to show a large assortment of suitable suggestions for New Year's Gifts—such as

Diamonds	Watches
Clocks	Jewelry
Rings	Necklaces
Cut Glass	Silverware
Wrist Watches
Military Watches
Boys' Watches
Girls' Watches
Brooches	Fobs
Tie Pins	Crosses
Lockets	Ebony Goods

Ivory Goods and Thousands of Other Articles

Warne Bros.

DIAMOND HALL

NEXT TO WARNE DRUG CO

WEDDING BELLS

THICKSON—JOHNSON.

On Dec. 27th, at 12 o'clock noon, the Rev. R. G. Peever united in the holy bonds of matrimony Miss Lilace Mabel Johnson, only daughter of Mr. Ben. Johnson, Fraserville, Ont., and Mr. P. J. Thickson, second son of the late John Thickson, Bowmanville, Ont.

The bride was tastefully attired in her navy serge travelling suit, Georgette crepe blouse, large picture hat of silk and velvet, and wore a corsage bouquet of white sweet peas and carnations, also the groom's gift, a gold sunburst set with pearls and diamond centre. The attendants were Agnes McGee and D. W. Johnson, and they received gold coins from the groom.

After a wedding dinner at the Empress Hotel, the happy couple left on the 1.30 G.T.R. train for a short trip to Belleville and other Eastern points. On their return they will reside in Bowmanville.

The authorities of a Canadian experimental farm say that a good sheep farmer should raise at least 120 per cent of lambs from his breeding ewes.

Do you know a neighbourhood in which farming is the chief reliance of farmers that does not show evidence of prosperity?

The "horseless farm" is a dream? will soon, in the opinion of Thomas' Edison, be realised. Electricity, he says, will furnish the power for ploughing and all other farm work.

Now is the time to study barn plans. Perhaps you may decide to remodel or build. In any case remember how vitally important sunshine fresh air and cleanliness are in the stable.

GERMANY TO ENSLAVE ALL HER "ALLIES"

Berlin-Baghdad Dream is Assyrian—Austrians as "Hewers of Wood" —Exploiting the Orient

The following explanation of German military strategy and political moves is given by Prof. T. G. Masaryk, an Austrian M.P., who was exiled and writes from England: In Austria, the Balkans, and the East Germany has all the elbow room she pretends to need. These countries can stand a German influx on a wide scale. Further, with the exception of Serbia and Roumania the controlling camarilla in each land of the Balkans hastened to prove themselves pliant tools in Germany's grasp.

With the liberal institutions and ideas of this country we are careful to differentiate between colonization and exploitation. Prussian policy regards the two terms as mutually interchangeable. Colonization is exploitation and exploitation is colonization. In a word, Germany aims to colonize Austria-Hungary, the Balkans, and Turkey in Asia in order to exploit these countries. Germany aims to use the peoples of Middle Europe and Asia Minor as her slaves, very much after the fashion the Egyptians used the Israelites. They shall build great cities for her, and as the fruits of their labor they shall have a crust of bread and a cruse of water.

Berlin-Baghdad Plan

Kaiser Charles Francis Joseph, from the window of the throne room, may think he looks out on to a brighter prospect for his 51 million subjects than bondage men to Germany; if so, events will snatch the rose-colored glasses from his eyes. The destiny of the Austrian Empire either is to break up or to become a vast labor exchange for Germany, recruiting the whole of the able-bodied population as hewers of wood and drawers of water for the modern Assyria.

If we work out the Berlin-Baghdad equation in cold arithmetical terms what shall we find? On one side 68 millions of people arbiters of the destiny of 97 other millions of potential workers; on the other side 97 millions of people driven under the virtue of an iron necessity to the acceptance of an existence that is denied all the aspirations to which modern thought reaches out.

Over One Slave Apiece

Germany's population is 68 millions. But she will have to work for her the 51 millions of Austria-Hungary, the 25 millions of the Balkans and the 21 millions of the Turkish Empire. That is her dream. With 97 millions of people to work for them every two of the 68 millions of Germans will have three slaves to amass wealth for them. It may sound all very brutal, but the war, if it has proved anything, has clearly shown that Germany is not handicapped by an ultra-refinement of feeling for others and can view with equanimity the misfortune of others.

SLAUGHTER ALSATIANS

Height of Hun Brutality Reached in France's "Lost" Provinces

A neutral, well known in Germany wrote: A Social Democrat friend told me that the Prussian Government determined at the beginning of the war that they would have no more Alsace-Lorraine problem in the future. They have therefore sent the soldiers from these two provinces to the most dangerous places at the various fronts. One Alsace regiment was hurled again and again at the old British army on the Yser in November, 1914, until at the end of a week only three officers and six men were left alive. Some of the most perilous work at Verdun was forced upon the Alsatians.

The Prussian authorities deliberately retain with the colors Alsatians and Lorrainers unfit for military service, and wounded men are not allowed to return to their homes. In the little circle to which I was introduced in Strassburg I talked with one sorrowing woman who said that her son, obviously in an advanced state of tuberculosis, had been called up in spite of protests. He died within three weeks. Another young man suffering from hemorrhage of the lungs was called up. He was forced to stand for punishment for all one winter's day in the snow. In less than two months a merciful death in a military hospital released him from the Prussian clutch.

BATTLES, NOT DUELS

Airmen in Fleets Fought While Thousands Gazed

The Paris Liberte's correspondent on the Somme gives an account of an aerial battle which took place over the German lines near Bapaume, the fluctuations of which were followed by thousands of anxious spectators. The battle was joined at a height of 9,000 feet. The German fleet consisted of at least 32 Fokkers and Rumplers, while there were only 20 British machines.

The issue hung long in the balance The first to be put out of action was a Fokker. It whirled giddily for a moment, burst into flames, and then crashed to the ground. Soon afterwards a British biplane was badly hit. Next two German aeroplanes came to grief at a short distance from their line. The British airmen displayed very great superiority and in the end remained masters of the air, pursuing the enemy with the utmost daring. The enemy squadrons were completely routed with losses considerably greater than those sustained by the British.

The Bloody Cemetery

Three hundred yards east of Ablaincourt, on the road to the hamlet of Gemiecourt, the enemy had organised outside and inside a cemetery communicating with the serpentine trench a series of defences. Among the tombs the Germans and French fought with ferocity, and when the struggle was over 500 prisoners had been taken by the allies. The cemetery with its shattered gravestones and monuments was a sad and pitiable sight.

Renew your subscription.

FOWLER'S PEBLO GLASSES

The Season's Greetings

Thanks for the Year's Prosperity and Best Wishes for a Prosperous New Year.

A. A. FOWLER DOCTOR OF OPTICS Phm. B. Toronto University

EYESIGHT SPECIALIST with NUGENT DRUG COMPANY

RESTORE THE NATURAL SIGHT

Social and Personal

Mr. Peter Spratt of Lindsay, was a visitor in the city yesterday

Miss Bessie Crowe, who is nursing in Buffalo, visited her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Chas. Crowe, Ashburnham, over Christmas.

Miss Lennox, Lakefield, and Mr Jay Knox, Hamilton, are the guests of Mrs. Knox, Gilmour street

Miss Emma Corkery is the guest of her parents, Gilmour street, for the holidays.

Miss Little, Gilmour street, returned yesterday from Fenelon Falls.

Miss Gladys Hunter, Reaboro, is the guest of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. R. H. Hunter, George street, for the holidays.

Mr. Harry Grubbe returned this morning to Toronto.

Miss Norma Sloane, Toronto, is the guest of Mr and Mrs T. Q. Quartermaine.

Mr. and Mrs. Gerald Eaton and children, who have been the guests of Mr. and Mrs. Alec. Eaton, returned yesterday to their home in Toronto.

Mr. Alec Eaton, Park street, is in Toronto on business.

The weekly tea given by the Kitchener Club is postponed on account of the busy season.

Mr Herman Finnie left last Friday to reside in Newark, N.J. Mrs. Finnie and family are spending some time in Kingston before going to their new home.

Mrs Craig of Toronto, is visiting her daughter, Miss Irene Craig, 370 Stewart Street.

Mr. Andrew McGregor, an old Ashburnham boy, who is now farming in Saskatchewan, is in the city on a short holiday. Mr McGregor left here about eighteen years ago and has lived in Dakota, British Columbia and other western States before finally settling in Saskatchewan.

Mr. Matthew Hart, who is ranching in the west, is in Peterborough during the holiday season.

Mr. David Knox, of Saskatoon, formerly of Otonabee, is home for the New Year.

Miss Mabel Brown of Detroit, is home for the Christmas holidays visiting her father on Homewood avenue.

Mr. and Mrs Joe Sullivan and Mr. and Mrs. Andy Sullivan and her son, Johnny, from Toronto, were the guests of Mr. and Mrs. D. Sullivan, 266 Smith street.

Mr. T. P. Connor, of Waupau, Wis., was in the city for a short time to-day renewing old acquaintances.

Have you secured your table for the reception of the Peterboro Health Association on Friday next at the Empress Hotel? If you cannot come for the afternoon come in and have tea from 4.30 to 6.00. We expect to have ample accommodation for all but we would suggest that you make your arrangements as early as possible both for the afternoon and evening.

Signal Sergt. Vaughn Mitchell, Hamilton, is the guest of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Chas. H. J. Mitchell, Park street, for the holidays.

Lieut. Geoffrey Hilliard, Stanley Barracks, Toronto, who has been the guest of his parents, Mr. and Mrs G. B. Hilliard, Lakefield, returned to Toronto this afternoon.

Mr. Alan Rae, Toronto, is the guest of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Rae, College street, for the holidays.

Mrs. Percy Bond and Mrs. Sherry (nee Helen Davies), 306 McDonnel street, will be at home to-morrow, Thursday, December 28th, from 4 to 6.

Mr Harry Belcher, who will be remembered by some of our older citizens as a drug clerk with the late John McKee, of this city has been elected Grand Master of the Grand Lodge of Manitoba, A.F. and A.M. Peterborough's young men have made their mark in the ranks of representative organizations of the Northwest in many instances.

Mr. N. Tromblay, of Hamilton, and daughter, Loretta, spent Christmas in this city pjs unun ununnu city, and returned to Hamilton again to-day.

Mr. E. F. Hamblin, of Syracuse, N.Y., spent Christmas in the city, the guest of Mr. and Mrs. G. W. Fitzgerald, Aylmer Street.

Miss Agnes Sweeney, of Toronto, who was a guest of her sister, Mrs. A. McCall, Aylmer Street, over the holiday, returned to Toronto yesterday afternoon, after having spent a most enjoyable holiday.

Mrs. W. C. Moore and Miss Clara Moore, of Carlow Ave., Toronto, are visiting at the home of the former's brother, Mr. T. W. Meredith, Lansdowne Street.

Mr. and Mrs. F. E. Godfrey and family, of Toronto, spent Christmas, the guests of Mr. and Mrs. R. A. Dobbin, North Monaghan

ARE YOU SATISFIED

To suffer day in and day out with lame back, rheumatism or kidney trouble with the prospect of these diseases becoming chronic, when you can secure a medicine at small cost that will cure you. Dr Santa's Kidney and Rheumatic Pills are so reliable and satisfactory in the treatment of these diseases, that if you are a sufferer you will be well advised if you secure a box of them at once and give them a trial. We know what the result will be. They are sold and recommended at Lynch's Drug Store, 168 Hunter street, Peterborough.

Skates and Hand Sleighs

Notwithstanding the exceptionally large demand for Skates and Hand Sleighs during the past week we still have a complete stock and any one wanting either or both will find it to their advantage to examine our stock before purchasing.

PETERBORO HARDWARE Co

LIMITED

12 Pages

The Evening Examiner

VOL. LVII. No. 150 PETERBOROUGH THURSDAY, DECEMBER 28, 1916 PRICE TWO CENTS

LIVERY
FONTAINE'S LIVERY FOR BEST DRIVING HORSES IN THE CITY. AUTOS AND TAXIS FOR HIRE. CAREFUL DRIVERS AND GOOD SERVICE. 'PHONE 782, 193 HUNTER

Family Re-unions

The picture your friends want to see is the one you see in the mirror on New Year's Morn.

When Family Gathering and Friendships Chains come together is an opportune time to have Group Photos taken, that you may not be able to arrange for again.

If the boy or girl is home get busy and make an appointment by call or phone.

Troy

140½ Hunter Street

ENEMY ATTEMPT TO INVADE RUSSIAN SOIL

CZAR TELLS HIS TROOPS THAT TEUTON DEFEAT IS NEAR

CONSTANTINE CANNOT RETAIN THE THRONE

Venizelos Says the King is a Prussianized Vassal, Who Plots to Rule With Mailed Fist---Party Does Not Desire Republic

A REIGN OF TERROR

(Special Cable by Louis Edgar Browne.)

SALONIKA, December 28. — "It will be impossible for King Constantine to retain his position". Thus Eleutheros Venizelos, in an interview granted me, answered the Royalists who instigated the reign of terror in Athens. "King Constantine," he continued, "imposed on Greece a policy criminally contrary to the interests of the nation. He tore up our constitution and led Greece into a path of dissension and ruin. He wishes Germany to win. As a Prussianized vassal he admires German autocracy. Constantine now plots to make himself absolute monarch of Greece, to form here a Balkan Prussia.

GOVERNMENT HAS GONE MAD.

Emperor William, Constantine's brother-in-law, probably gave a pledge that if Germany wins German troops will make it possible for him to rule with a mailed fist or an iron hand, or in any other way he chooses. Selfish ambition led Constantine to support the German cause. By our refusal to keep our treaty obligations to Serbia stigma was placed on Greece. We further dishonoured our country by failing to drive the Bulgars from territories which had in a cowardly way been surrendered by the Athens Government. The Royalist Government has gone mad, or it would not forget that Greece can never progress or exist as an independent nation unless she maintains close relations with the powers that rule the Mediterranean.

"Our struggle was not anti-dynastic. We did not wish to dethrone the King. Even now we limit our activity to the time of international quarrels. Our attention is now devoted to fighting the Bulgars. When the war is ended Greece will again surely be united. It will be a greater democracy than ever, but not a republic. There is absolutely no republican sentiment in Greece. We are jealous of the constitution, and we have no quarrel with the dynasty. It matters little who is king as long as he unwaveringly bows to the will of the majority of the people and supports the constitution to the letter.

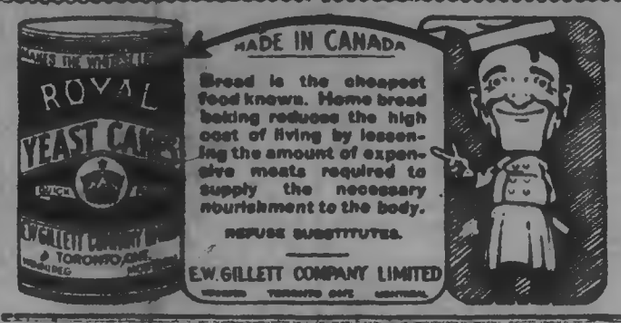
"Constantine is no longer king. He is a despot and tyrant. His rule is now concentrated Prussianism."

In Salonika the national party has been discussing a prospective congress of Greeks to be held after the war to solve the question of a new ruler. The present Crown Prince Georgious, one of the King's brothers, is frequently mentioned in this connection.

A REIGN OF TERROR.

"This matter," said Venizelos, "can only be settled by the free verdict of the people. We expect in the end to assist in securing freedom of expression for the Greek people as a constitutional right. Doubtless that will be to the interest of the entente from a political and moral point of view to recognize it. The King's autocratic regime terminated in a veritable reign of terror. Hundreds of my friends were imprisoned and shot without trial. This ordinarily would be the cause of civil war, but we are too busy fighting the Bulgars to make war on our fellow-countrymen.

"Now we desire the entente to recognize the National Government as the responsible Government of Greece. This Government is supported by the majority of the Greek people. Opposed to it is a minority led by Constantine, and composed largely of the military. We are exponents of what the entente is fighting for, namely, liberty and justice. We have taken our places on the field of battle beside the entente armies. The Royalists are pledged to Germany. Their methods are Prussian. The ententé has recognized our local administration, our Ministers, but unless we are officially recognized as the supreme Government in Greece, we cannot legally call to the colours Greeks residing in foreign territory. A second big thing we want of the entente is the Greek navy, which the entente seized from the Royal Marine. A Nationalist battleship sailing from among the Greek islands and into the ports of old Greece would be more effective in stamping out of remaining boats the Royalist sentiment than years of talk.'



MADE IN CANADA
Bread is the cheapest food known. Home bread baking reduces the high cost of living by lessening the amount of expensive meats required to supply the necessary nourishment to the body.
REFUSE SUBSTITUTES.
E.W. GILLETT COMPANY LIMITED
ROYAL
YEAST CAKE
TORONTO, ONT.

Bulgarian Positions Were Captured

Special to The Examiner:

SALONIKA, Dec. 28.—Bulgarian positions east of Monastir were taken by Serbian-French forces with a number of prisoners. The situation is calm at other points.

CONSCRIPTION A LAST RESORT

SPECIAL TO THE EXAMINER:

OTTAWA, Dec. 28.—Premier Borden assures labour men that conscription in Canada will only be a last resort to secure the liberties of Canada.

Two-thirds of the feeding value of the alfalfa plant is in the leaves. If the leaves are lost in curing only one-third of the feeding value remains. This makes it important that alfalfa be cured so as to save the leaves.

Five Men Killed In a Collision

SPECIAL TO THE EXAMINER:

MONTREAL, Dec. 28.—Five men killed and six injured last night in a rear-end collision on the C.P.R. near here.

One Million Turks Are in the War

SPECIAL TO THE EXAMINER:

LONDON, Dec. 28.—One million Turks are now engaged in the war. Half of them are in the Caucasus fighting the Russians.

If a child swallows any foreign substance—buttons, for instance—do not give an aperient. The correct treatment is to feed the little one for two or three days entirely on soft foods, such as porridge, milk puddings and gruel. If trouble is suspected a doctor should be consulted at once.

The Enemy Will Attempt To Invade Russian Soil

Latest Development in the Enemy's Eastern Offensive—Advance of the Teutonic Columns is Being Opposed by the Russo-Roumanian Troops

BERLIN CLAIMS SUCCESS

Special to The Examiner.

LONDON, Dec. 28.—Attempt to invade Russian soil, north of Dobrudja, or east of Moldavia, is the next development in Field Marshal Von Mackensen's eastern offensive expected here. Advance of the Teutonic columns is being opposed in fierce fighting by the Russo-Roumanian troops.

Very little doubt existed here today in the minds of military experts that Mackensen's objective was Odessa, Russia. They recalled recent despatches from the eastern front, hinting that this was the point beyond Bucharest at which the Teutons were aiming.

BERLIN, Dec. 29 — War Office claims Teutonic armies in Wallachia have pierced Russian lines at many points, taking more than a thousand prisoners.

Rub the stove over while hot with a newspaper dipped in a little suet and polish with another newspaper. This removes all grease and saves blacklead.

Huyler's AND Liggett's Chocolates

We have a nice fresh stock of Holiday packages each containing a special assortment of chocolates.

We make it easy to select the very package you require.

Prices from

25c TO $4.00

Per Box

McDERMID & JURY
The Safe Satisfactory Druggists
COR. GEORGE & CHARLOTTE

Prohibit Import Of Luxuries

SPECIAL TO THE EXAMINER:

BOMBAY, Dec 28.—Bombay, India prohibits the import of automobiles and other luxuries till the war is over.

CZAR PREDICTS TEUTON DEFEAT

SPECIAL TO THE EXAMINER:

PETROGRAD, Dec. 28. — The Czar tells his troops that Teuton defeat is near.

Wheat Markets Closed Strong

Cash Wheat Again Passes Two Dollar Mark—The Cattle Markets

The wheat markets closed strong, after a generally strong session. Some very heavy buying by several commission houses, presumably for foreign account, gave the market added stimulus at the close. Manitoba cash wheat is again quoted a cent above the two dollar mark. Ontario flour goes up another 10c.

Manitoba wheat — No. 1 northern, $2.01, track, bay ports. No. 2, $1.98; No. 3, $1.96, No. 4, $1.08 1-2; old crop, 4c above new crop.

Manitoba oats—No. 2, C. W., 69 1-2c.

American corn—None offering owing to the embargo.

Ontario oats—No. 2 white, 82c to 84c; No. 2 white 81c to 83c.

Ontario wheat—No. 2 winter, per car lot, $1.65 to $1.67; No. 3, $1.63 to $1.65.

Peas—No. 2 nominal, car lots, $2.40.

Barley — good malting, $1.16 to $1.18; feed barley, nominal.

Buckwheat—Nominal, $1.20.

Rye—No. 1 commercial, nominal; No. 2, new, $1.32 to $1.33.

Manitoba Flour — First patents in Jute bags, $9.40; second patents, in jute, $8.90; strong bakery, in jute, $8.50, Toronto.

Ontario flour — New winter, $6.80 to $6.90, in bags, track, Toronto, prompt.

Millfeed—Car lots, delivered Montreal, shorts, $37; bran, $32; feed flour per bag, $2.80.

Hay—Baled, No. 1 track, Toronto, best grade new hay, car lots $12 to $13; No. 2, $9 to $10; straw, $9 to $9.50.

CATTLE MARKETS.

Union Stock Yards—Receipts, 18 cars, with 321 cattle, 52 calves, 659 hogs and 20 sheep and lambs.

The market has not yet got back to normal after the recent heavy buying for the Christmas beef trade. The weather was also against any activity in the market yesterday, the sleet storm holding up the cattle in the country. There were less than a hundred cattle in the market up to about noon when a few belated cars began to arrive, which brought the total for the morning's receipts up to about 200 cattle, besides a small run of hogs and sheep. There were a few transactions at steady prices but it was practically another off day for regular business. Quotations unchanged:

Heavy steers, choice	$8 00 to $8 50
Choice butcher	8 25 8 50
do good	7 75 8 00
do medium	6 75 7 00
do common	6 00 6 25
Heifers, good to choice	7 00 7 25
do medium	6 25 6 75
Butcher cows, choice	6 25 7 00
do medium	5 75 6 25
Butcher bulls, choice	6 85 7 50
do good	6 50 6 60
do medium	5 00 5 50
Feeders, 900 to 1,000 lbs	6 50 6 75
do bulls	6 25 6 75
Stockers, 700 to 800 lbs.	6 50 6 75
do med., 650 to 750 lbs.	5 50 6 00
do light, 600 to 650 lbs.	5 00 5 75
Canners	4 10 4 40
Cutters	4 50 5 25
Sheep, light	8 50 9 50
do heavy	7 50 8 50
Spring lambs	10 75 13 00
Calves	8 00 12 50
Hogs, fed and watered	12 00 ....
do weighed off cars	12 25 ....
do f.o.b.	11 15 11 25

Weak Lungs and Chest Troubles

respond more quickly to the blood-enriching oil-food in

SCOTT'S EMULSION

than to any other one medicine. SCOTT'S is a rich, nourishing food to strengthen tender throats and bronchial tubes. It is of peculiar benefit to the respiratory tract and is liberally used in tuberculosis camps for that purpose.

No Harmful Drugs in Scott's.

Scott & Bowne, Toronto, Ont. 10-68

Omemee Items Of Interest

OMEMEE, Dec. 27.—Mr. and Mrs. Reuben Bradley, of Dunsford, visited relatives in town over Sunday.

Mr. Dewey Stinson, of Toronto, is spending the Christmas vacation with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Samuel Stinson.

Miss Lula Bushnell, of Stouffville, is the guest of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. James Bushnell, over the holidays.

Mr. and Mrs. E. MacPherson motored to Peterborough during the past week.

Mrs. Staples, of Lindsay, spent Christmas with her sister, Mrs. Wm. Earle.

Capt. Wm. Thorne, of Kingston, is spending a few days with his wife and family in town.

Mr. and Mrs. Harold Horner and family, of Lindsay, spent Christmas with Mr. and Mrs. D. Magee.

Mr. and Mrs. A. C. Nugent, of Lindsay, spent Christmas with the former's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Henry Nugent.

Mrs. W. Montgomery and family, of Uxbridge, are visiting the former's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Leith Laidley.

Miss Edna Porter of Lindsay spent Christmas with her cousin, Mrs. T. C. Stephenson.

Mr. and Mrs. R. Ferguson, of Peterborough, were the guests of Mr. and Mrs. Burton Pogue, over the holiday.

Mr. and Mrs. D. H. Corneil are the guests of their daughter, Mrs. M. C. Corneil, of Beaton.

Mr. Thomas Shannon was a visitor to Lindsay on Saturday.

Mr. and Mrs. E. Jones, of Orillia, spent the week-end with the latter's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Sanderson.

Mr. and Mrs. J. Weir were in Peterborough on business last week.

Miss Helen James, of Toronto, is spending a few days with her parents at The Rectory.

Mrs. A. E. Bryson, of Cobalt, is visiting her parents, Mr. and Mrs. T. B. Laidley.

Mrs. Wm. Earle was in Lindsay on business on Saturday.

Mr. C. L. Morcombe spent Christmas with relatives at Whitby.

Dr. and Mrs. Irvine, of Lindsay, spent Christmas in town, the guests of Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Earle.

Mr. W. H. Smyth, of Toronto, is spending the vacation with friends in this vicinity.

Miss Ethel Colwell, of Tamworth, is visiting her parents, Mr. and Mrs. H. Colwell, over the holidays.

Miss Ida Nugent, of Toronto, spent Sunday and Monday with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Henry Nugent.

Misses Hilda and Susie Clarke, of the Ross Memorial Hospital, Lindsay, spent Christmas with their mother, Mrs. N. P. Clarke.

Mr. and Mrs. T. A. MacPherson went to Cannington on Tuesday to attend the funeral of his niece.

Miss Annie Blaylock, of Toronto, is visiting under the parental roof.

Miss Ruby Feir, of Peterborough, is visiting her parents, Mr. and Mrs. I. Feir.

Mr. and Mrs. J. Day and baby, of Toronto, were the guests of Mr. and Mrs. F. Johnson over the holiday.

Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Lamb, of Peterborough, were the guests of Mrs. Lamb's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Chas. Corneil, over Sunday.

Miss Maude Laidley, of Lindsay, is spending the vacation with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. A. Laidley.

The concert on Christmas night was a splendid success. The programme, which consisted of drills, vocal music, and a play, entitled "Under the Mistletoe," was enjoyed by all, and those who took part, as well as those who drilled, are deserving of great credit. The proceeds, which amounted to about $200, is in aid of the Soldiers' Aid Society.

IMPERIAL MUNITIONS BOARD

OTTAWA

December 27th, 1916.

TO THE MUNITIONS WORKERS OF CANADA.

The Imperial Minister of Munitions has entrusted to the manufacturers of Canada and their work people, the production of an important percentage of the shells which will be used at the front. It is vital to the successful prosecution of the war that these munitions be delivered weekly as promised. The present delivery of shells (save in one size) is below the promised quantity, and the shortage has become so serious that it causes grave anxiety.

If we, who produce munitions at home, are to be worthy of the men who have gone to the front, we must set aside comfort and ease and personal gratification, and give undivided attention to munitions output.

From a personal knowledge of the need, and personal contact with the suffering and the heroism of the men in the trenches, I urge the munitions workers, whether in the steel plant, or in the factory, to devote themselves with increased energy and unstinted time to the task of additional output.

Neither the soldier nor the sailor will have his New Year's Day free from duty. I appeal to the men and to the women engaged in munitions production in Canada, to forego Saturday afternoon, the 30th instant, and Monday, New Year's Day, and to continue at their work. The sacrifice is small, but to those who make it will come the satisfaction of having discharged a clear obligation.

Yours truly,

J. Flavelle

Chairman.

ADVERTISING RATES

Measurement, Agate, 14 lines One Inch

Transient Display ..... 20c per inch
Transient Reading ..... 40c per inch

Minimum Contract Rate for Display, 2,500 inch Contract, 15c per inch
Minimum Contract Rate for Readers, 50c per inch.

Legal and other notices, 10 per line for first insertion; 4c per line for subsequent insertions.

CONDENSED ADVERTISEMENTS.

Minimum charge 10c, of 1c per word for first insertion; ½c per word for subsequent insertions. Add 10c to cover postage of replies, if out of town.

BIRTHS, MARRIAGES AND DEATHS

Daily Examiner 25c
Daily and Weekly Examiner 50c
All advertisements subject to the approval of the Management.
Address:

THE EXAMINER, PETERBOROUGH

PERSONAL.

ADVERTISERS ARE REMINDED THAT IT is contrary to the provisions of the postal law to deliver letters addressed to initials only; an advertiser desiring to conceal his or her identity may reasonably do so by having replies directed to a Box at this office; ten cents added to the cost of advertisement will ensure the forwarding of letters to any out-of-town address.

GRAND TRUNK RAILWAY SYSTEM

NEW YEAR'S FARES

SINGLE FARE—Dec. 30-31st, 1916 and Jan. 1st, 1917, valid for return until Jan. 2nd, 1917.

FARE-AND-ONE-THIRD—Dec. 28-29 and 31st, 1916, valid for return until Jan. 3rd, 1917.

Above reduced fares apply between all stations in Canada east of Port Arthur and to Detroit and Port Huron, Mich; Buffalo, Black Rock, Niagara Falls and Suspension Bridge, N. Y.

Tickets now on sale at all G. T. R. Ticket Offices.

J. B. DORAN, PHONE 250

CANADIAN PACIFIC

Start the year backed by the confidence that your friends and folks at home are still your best friends.

YOU CAN VISIT THEM BY

NEW YEAR EXCURSIONS

Via

CANADIAN PACIFIC

SINGLE FARE— Going December 30, 31 and January 1. Return limit January 2.

FARE AND ONE-THIRD —Going December 28, 29, 30 and 31. return limit, January 3.

Purchase in advance. Tickets on Sale Now. Any Ticket Agent C.P.R.

Railway Time Tables

GRAND TRUNK RAILWAY.
CORRECTED JUNE 6, 1916.

7.00 a.m.—For Lakefield.
8.40 a.m.—For Port Hope, Cobourg and points east, connecting at Port Hope for Toronto, arriving at Toronto at 11.05 a.m.
8.55 a.m.—For Hastings, Campbellford, Sterling, Madoc, Belleville, Deseronto, Napanee, Kingston, Brockville, Montreal.
9.20 a.m.—For Lindsay, Orillia, Collingwood, Midland, Penetanguishene, North Bay, Toronto, Hamilton, Niagara.
11.00 a.m.—Mid-day express for Toronto, reaching Toronto at 3.15 p.m.
12.30 p.m.—For Lakefield.
11.40 a.m.—For Millbrook, Port Hope and all points on the main line, east and west. Close connection at Port Hope with "International" Limited for Toronto, Detroit and Chicago.
1.30 p.m.—For Hastings, Campbellford, Sterling, Madoc, Belleville, Deseronto, Napanee, Kingston and Brockville.
5.20 p.m.—For Lindsay, Orillia, Midland, North Bay, Toronto, Hamilton, Niagara Falls, Buffalo, New York.
5.45 p.m.—For Lakefield.
7.05 p.m.—Local for Lindsay.
9.45 p.m.—For Millbrook, Port Hope, Belleville, Kingston, Brockville, Montreal and Depths.

CANADIAN PACIFIC RAILWAY.
CORRECTED JUNE 5, 1916.

*2.30 p.m.—Indian River, Norwood, Havelock and Tweed.
*12.12 a.m.—Kingston, Smith's Falls, Ottawa, Montreal, Quebec, St. John, N.B., Boston, and New York.
*1.20 a.m.—Norwood, Havelock, Tweed Perth, Smith's Falls and Ottawa.
11.27 a.m.—Norwood, Havelock, Tweed, Perth, Smith's Falls, Ottawa, Montreal and intermediate points and all points east of Montreal.

GOING WEST.—
*3.30 a.m.—Toronto, Owen Sound, Guelph, Goderich, Hamilton, Buffalo, New York, Galt, Woodstock, St. Thomas, London, Chatham, Detroit and Chicago.
*3.45 a.m.—Myrtle and North Toronto.
7.20 a.m.—Toronto, Hamilton, Buffalo, Rochester and New York. Intermediate points between Peterborough and Toronto.
*10.15 a.m.—Lindsay, Orillia, Port Mc-Nichol and intermediate points
*3.53 p.m.—Toronto, Hamilton, Brantford, Buffalo, New York, Guelph, Galt, Woodstock, London, Detroit and Chicago.
*10.45 p.m.—North Toronto and West Toronto and intermediate points.
*Daily Daily except Sunday.

TELEPHONE 790
WHEN YOU WANT YOUR
Piano or Organ Tuned
ALL WORK GUARANTEED
W. H. Cunningham, 343 Water St.

Renew your subscription.

OUR SERIAL STORY

"DESTINY"

By CHARLES NEVILLE BUCK

(Continued from yesterday.)

With Marcia, there was the security of safe companionship and a combination of stimulus and soothing.

That this interest was tinctured with an essence of the enthusiastic, which to other eyes than his own—even to her eyes—might seem to hold a stronger personal note, he did not admit to himself. That would have meant another complication and a fresh alarm, so if the idea came he laughed it away as preposterous. But in a fashion those were very good days. He was discovering New York.

There are quaint places about the square, where insurgency reigns and finds expression, where existing conditions are denounced, where freedom is verbally fought for and capital and conventions are vocally annihilated. In some of them food is served at prices which astonished his training at the expensive restaurants. There the musician and the girl went, he as explorer, fastidiously critical, yet enduring what he regarded as squalor and anarchy, for the new experience of feeling that he was penetrating Bohemia.

She acted as guide, and since she knew the world of ease and the world of necessity and could walk alike with the aristocratic and the commonality—and remain equally herself—she sat amused, watching him as he watched the rest. The twinkle that sought to flash into her eye flashed only in her mind, but the play of keen humor and wit quaintly expressed sparkled through her conversation, so that when they were together they laughed a great deal.

Acquaintanceship which is nourished in the sunlight of laughter blooms rapidly into intimacy, and Paul Burton would have been surprised had he known how often his eyes wakened into a tell-tale glow of delight and admiration, and how easily any one looking on might have fallen into the egregious error of construing his attitude into one distinctly loverlike. All this while she continued to pique his curiosity by a sustained reserve as to herself.

She spoke quite frankly of her failures to get employment, making deliciously laughable stories out of disappointing and disheartening experiences, but it was only in incidental comments that she referred to things in the past which made him know that her life had once held in abundance these things which it now lacked.

One day when Paul had selected with real care a mass of roses of a new and particularly exotic variety to be sent to Loraine, the florist inquired, "Will that be all today, Mr. Burton?"

The musician had nodded, then suddenly said, "No. I think there is something else I want." It suddenly came to him that he had never given Marcia any sort of present. Of course she would have no use for a small cartload of expensive flowers. One had to send gifts of that sort to Loraine, because she was herself so gorgeously expensive, but Marcia might like some violets. Violets would look rather well on a blue suit she most often wore. He was to meet her in a half-hour, though he had not mentioned the appointment to Loraine. So he had the violets wrapped up, feeling somehow a sort of diffidence such as he had never felt before when giving flowers to women, and took them with him.

It was crisp afternoon and as he reached the square a small hand waved to him and he saw her walking briskly along by the arch, so he ordered the car stopped, and jumped out.

"I was just coming over for you," he said. "It would have been a disaster to have missed you. Barola is giving a violin recital at Carnegie Hall. Shall we run up? There's just time."

"You weren't going to miss me," she laughed. "I had no intention of letting you, but the afternoon was too utterly delectable to stay indoors, so I waylaid you here." Then after a moment, as she stepped lightly through the car door which he had opened, she added delightedly, "Barola! And I was just crying for some music. Did you hear my wails from the Flatiron building down?"

"I was too busy crying to see you," he laughed back. "My agonized sobs drowned the traffic whistles."

As the car turned, he held out the box, which proclaimed its contents, as violet boxes always do. A man may have a bottle of rum or a chest of stolen gold wrapped up so it looks as innocent as a pair of socks, but no swain bearing violets can deceive the eye of the most casual observer. Marcia was not deceived.

"Violets!" she exclaimed. "Do you mean they are for me?"

"Of course," he answered, and, for no reason at all, coloured like a schoolboy.

Marcia opened the box and sat gazing at the flowers.

Into her face came a sudden gravity and the delicate features seemed almost sad. She said, "Thank you," in a low voice and continued to gaze at her gift. Then she buried her face in their fragrance and for a moment held it there. When she raised it to him again it was smiling, though still gravely.

"They are lovely," she told him. "I'm glad you thought of them."

"You seemed almost sad," Paul spoke with a voice of deep solicitude. "Did I make a mistake? Do violets stand for something you don't want to be reminded of?"

She shook her head and laughed, and this time with the old note of merriment.

"Violets stand for everything that's nice," she assured him. "It was just that—I hardly know—just that it suddenly occurred to me how long a time it's been since anyone gave me flowers."

"Someone is going to often," the words came quickly, and impulsively he laid his hand over hers for just a moment.

"Do you know, I have the instincts of a sybarite?" she informed him. "When I go to sleep to-night, I shall put these violets near the head of my bed, and whenever I wake up I'll smell them."

* * * * *

Despite his strong defensive preparations and his almost clairvoyant foresight, in Hamilton Burton an insidious change was taking place and the brain which so astutely coordinated many things was totally unconscious of its own transitions. Egotism had made him. A self-faith which took no account of difficulties, had carried him to the apex of his ambitions. Now it was blinding him with its own brilliance. Hamilton Burton was drunk, drunk to the core of his soul, with the strong intoxicant of self confidence. He looked on life through a mirror—and saw only himself.

So, while he entrenched and safeguarded his destiny, he failed to realize that he was being lulled into a reckless faith in the star he believed shone over him and for him. He did not pause to reflect that the wolf, gaunt and powerful, who by the courage in his shaggy breast and the strength of his fanged jaws, runs unchallenged at the pack head, may change.

He took no account of the fact that the wolf forged is the wolf weakened.

As his plans grew his methods became more unscrupulous and his scorn for forms of law increased.

One day he sat in his mother's house showing her, with the enthusiastic glee of a child for new toys, several freshly acquired miniatures of the First Napoleon.

Mrs. Burton turned one of the princesses trinkets over in her hand and gazed at it wonderingly. It was a small thing, wrought on ivory by Jean Baptiste Jacques Augustin and framed in pearls. She thought she had seen more flattering portrayals of the round head which stared out from the jewelled circlet.

"I suppose," she said with such a gift as mothers utter when they fail to understand with full sympathy the enthusiasms of their children, "I ought to rave over this. From your eyes I realize it is treasure-trove and yet to me it is meaningless. Of course," she naively added, "the pearls are very pretty."

Tenderly Hamilton stooped and kissed her forehead, then he took the miniature from her hand and stood looking at the painted face. He stood straight and lithe and he spoke slowly:

"Sometimes I wonder if the belief in reincarnation is not the truest faith, mother. Sometimes, I seem to look back on the career of this man as on something in an unforgotten past. To me it is all more vital than history; more real than chronicle. It is memory!" He paused and his eyes were altogether grave.

"As I reflect on Austerlitz, I find myself saying, 'I did well there,' and for Waterloo and St. Helena my chagrin and misery are personal. Why should I doubt that once my own spirit dwelt in another body—in his, perhaps?" His voice mounted and he continued, "But this time the spirit must go further. It must never taste defeat. Its triumph must grow to the end, and surrender its scepter and baton only to Death."

The mother looked up at the exalted fantasy which glowed in her son's face and her head shook uncomprehendingly. "It seems only yesterday" she said "that I held you a soft little morsel of pink flesh close to my breast. I dreamed of no great triumphs for you. Only goodness and health. Perhaps it was as well that way. I sometimes wonder if any woman could face her responsibilities if she knew she was giving birth to one of the masters of the world. My only vanity was to name you Hamilton. And Paul I named for the great apostle." She laughed very low—and her son knelt beside her chair and drew her into his embrace.

CHAPTER XVIII.

Paul, who was named for the apostle, and Loraine Haswell had drifted further into midstream than either realized. Less keen observers than Norvil Thayre now spoke of their frequent meetings. Club conversation intimated that not only financial stress was responsible for the silencing of Len Haswell's jovial laughter.

Loraine's point of view was shifting dangerously. Paul had at first been a pleasing playmate and a celebrity whose devotion was flattering as a tribute to her charm and beauty. Now a constant comparison asserted itself to her mind between her husband's financial limitations and the pleasing scope of Paul's access to Hamilton's treasury. Discontent had entered her Eden—and it was no longer an Eden.

One morning Paul's telephone rang before he was out of bed.

"I must see you," announced Loraine, and the familiar voice was excitedly urgent. "Len has been odious and I—I want your advice. There's no one else that I can talk to."

Paul Burton hesitated. His timidity balked at facing a moment which might call upon him to take a courageous stand or one fronting possible reprisals. Over his face crept a terror very much like that which had blanched it years ago when the Marquess had threatened him with strictures across the school table. He divined the subject which she wished to discuss and dreaded the interview. The ethical side of the matter gave him no concern; but the same lack of stamina which caused him to shrink made it impossible for him to refuse.

"Where shall I meet you?" he hesitantly inquired, "at Sherry's as usual?"

"No," she hastily objected. "That has become rather too usual." She named a place in lower Fifth avenue which Fashion regards as delightfully Bohemian and Bohemia considers alluringly fashionable. She named an hour when the place would be empty enough for an undisturbed rendezvous.

Now, as Paul Burton sat opposite Loraine Haswell at one of the small and snowy tables, he sought to cloak his nervousness under a guise of debonair ease and soon the woman was embarked upon the recital of her grievances.

"Len has had an utterly intolerable fit of jealousy," she confided; then fell silent while she nibbled at a melon. But her dark eyes were full of beauty's appeal and injured distress. "It's reached a point, Paul——" her voice became very soft, almost tearful —"where I'm afraid I must make a decision; the sort of decision that it's very hard for a woman to make."

"Was he unkind to you?" Her companion sought to speak with indignation, but a note which punctured the assumption with falsity. It was occurring to him that Len Haswell might be particularly unkind to him.

She leaned far over the table and spoke guardedly.

"He has made me promise that I shan't see you again, except where we meet by accident; that all our innocent little parties must end."

"And you promised?"

Slowly and reluctantly she nodded her head. "It was that or——" she broke off.

"Or what?"

"Or a separation. He said I must choose definitely between you." Paul Burton studied his plate in the silence of indecision, and she went on rather haltingly. "When marriage reaches the ultimatum stage, it doesn't offer much chance for happiness, does it?" Then after a pause she added thoughtfullly, "It's not as though there were children to consider."

(To be continued.)

Corns Cured Quick

Applied in 5 Seconds

Sore, blistering feet from corn-pinched toes can be cured by Putnam's Extractor in 24 hours. "Putnam's" soothes away that drawing pain, causes instantly, makes the feet feel good at once. Get a 25c bottle of "Putnam's" to-day.

THE RIGHT NEWSPAPER

The question of PUBLICITY is so important in the conduct of any business, that the merchant must continually study it from every angle—become expert on the subject in order that he may select understandingly just that particular newspaper publicity that he needs.

The cleverest and best advertising copy is not "Publicity" until placed in THE RIGHT NEWSPAPER.

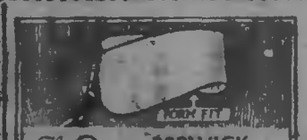
Just what daily papers are more effective for his particular purpose is a matter every advertiser must determine for himself—not be guided by the advertising manoeuvres of his competitors.

Individuality is the very life of advertising; and to advertise in one certain newspaper for some good reason, is the right thing to do.

Study all the newspapers in your field compare them and get actual knowledge of their genuine value for yourself.

You owe it to yourself and your business right now to know the paramount advertising value of

THE EXAMINER



The New Turn-Fit
BERWICK
ARROW COLLARS
are curve cut to fit the shoulders perfectly. 15 cents each, 6 for 90c
CLUETT, PEABODY & CO., INC. Makers

FORCE OF VIBRATION.

A Musical Chord That Shattered a Huge Glass Bowl.

Discussing the proposition that a wineglass can be broken or shattered to pieces by a musical chord, Edgar Lucien Larkin in the New York American says:

"I had a huge glass bowl one foot in diameter resting on its glass stand. The flint glass was from one-quarter to three-quarters of an inch thick. I rosined a violin bow, drew it across the edge, and the entire hemisphere of solid glass disintegrated into hundreds of small pieces. The sound of breaking into fragments was entirely unknown to me, a crackling or grinding, and the bits of glass flew far apart.

"I had used this same bowl before classes for several years with violin tones. But on this particular day the students as well as I were surprised at the breaking and unearthly noise.

"The fact is I happened to vibrate the bowl with its key note—that is, set harmonic rate, which means the precise rate with which it was able to vibrate to send forth that note, for notes are rates of vibration, and they all obey rigid and beautiful harmonic mathematical laws, and these agree with other set and fixed laws."

Well Acquainted.

An American girl was taking a Liverpool girl home to the States with her and toward the end of the journey remarked: "It is delightful to feel that one is so near home. We ought to fight Sandy Hook this afternoon."

"Shall we?" exclaimed her friend. That will be nice. Don't tell me which one he is. I can always pick a Scotsman out of a crowd."—Chief Steward.

Strong Presumption.

Lawyer—You say that the defendant ran his automobile into the show window of a millinery store; but that doesn't show he was intoxicated, does it? Officer—Well, no, but when I arrested him he was trying on the hats!—New York Globe.

A Hard Case.

"His wife earns her own money."
"Indeed! I did not know she was employed."
"Oh, yes, hard at it all the time."
"What does she do?"
"Works him to give up."—New York Journal.

ACHING TEETH RELIEVED AT HOME

Sloans Liniment Robs Toothache of its Terrors. Pain Vanishes in a Few Minutes

No need to pace the floor all night with the agony of a throbbing tooth. Sloan's Liniment will quickly relieve the pain and give you rest.

A single application and the pain usually disappears. Sloan's Liniment gets right to the root of the trouble. Like a warming balm it relieves congestion, and in a few minutes toothache is reduced.

To soothe the throb of a tooth that pains with neuralgia, apply Sloan's Liniment externally. Aching muscles, rheumatism, gout, bruises, sprains, lumbago, chilblains, sprains and stiff neck can also be most effectively treated with Sloan's Liniment. Cleaner than mussy plasters or poultices.

Sloan's Liniment at all drug stores 25c., 50c., and $1.00 bottle.

Sloan's Liniment KILLS PAIN

DIVIDEND NO. 37

Notice is hereby given that a dividend at the rate of 6% per annum has been declared for the six months ending December 31, 1916, upon the paid-up Capital Stock of the Company, and the same will be payable at the Offices of the Company on and after January 2nd, 1917. The transfer books will be closed from December 18th to December 31st, both days inclusive.

By Order

THE TRUSTS AND GUARANTEE COMPANY, LIMITED

BRANTFORD JAMES J. WARREN, President. TORONTO CALGARY H. B. STOCKDALE, General Manager

The Great Leveler.

A well known New York millionaire and his wife went to a trottery one afternoon with the idea of doing a little incognito dancing. One of the professional partners approached.

"May I have the pleasure?" he said. The lady was gracious, and they whirled off into a lively onestep. When the number was over the rich man's wife complimented the professional on his dancing.

"Thank you, Mrs. Blank," he murmured, calling her by her real name. The husband pricked up his ears. "How the deuce did you know who we were?" he asked.

"Why, don't you remember me?" said the professional cavalier, straightening his beautifully tailored figure. "I was your chauffeur two years ago."—New York Post.

Europe in Africa.

The Africa of today is partitioned off among the following nations: Great Britain, France, Germany, Italy, Portugal, Belgium and Spain. Great Britain has the fairer portions, her South African possessions having a fine climate also being in every way perfectly adapted to the white race. The French and Italian possessions along the Mediterranean are also well enough as regards climate, but are lacking along agricultural and other lines. It is exceedingly doubtful if much of German, Belgium and Portuguese Africa will ever become the seats of white civilization.

Bismarck's Appetite.

Bismarck, the Iron Chancellor, had an enormous capacity for eating and drinking. He once told a friend that the largest number of oysters he ever ate was 175. He first ordered twenty-five; then, as they were very good, fifty more, and, consuming these, determined to eat nothing else and ordered another hundred, to the great amusement of those present. Bismarck was then twenty-six and had just returned from England.

Kindness of the Boss.

Little Tommy, who was about knee high to a half pint, was employed by a busy broker. One afternoon the broker was sitting at his desk trying to collect his thoughts as well as some coin when he suddenly looked up and signaled Tommy to draw near.

"Tommy," said the boss, digging down into his jeans, "here's a fifty cent chunk of silver. Take it and hustle off to some vaudeville show."

"Thank you very much, sir," gratefully responded Tommy, freezing fast to the coin. "That's what I call being some good to a poor kid."

"Don't think that I'm being good to you," was the quick rejoinder of the boss. "I want you to learn a new tune. I can't stand the one you've been whistling for two months any longer."—Exchange.

Water Power.

Few would expect to find any connection between a modern hydroelectric plant and a prayer. The connection is indeed remote, but not undiscoverable. The first application of water power to mechanical purposes was made by Buddhist priests when they employed the energy of running streams to the work of turning prayer wheels. That, then, may be said to constitute the origin of the application of water power to perform man's labors, the foreshadowing of the great industrial development now in progress for the harnessing of the world's waterfalls, rivers and streams.

SANTAL CAPSULES MIDY

CATARRH OF THE BLADDER Relieved in 24 Hours

Each Capsule bears the name MIDY

Beware of Counterfeits

FOR SALE

LOTS

On The Late Senator Cox Homestead

Beautifully Situated

Easy Terms of Payment

Apply—437 GEORGE ST.

Good Results

Only can come from having your

PROPERTY INSURED AGAINST LOSS BY FIRE

in the Most Reliable Companies.

Settlement of Losses, to which we give Personal attention are

PROMPT AND LIBERAL

You will find in our office the Strongest of the British, American and Canadian companies doing business in Canada.

Davis-Thompson Co., Limited

INSURANCE & GENERAL AGENCY

425 GEORGE STREET Phone 40

MONEY TO LOAN.

GORDON & WIDDIFIELD, Barristers, Solicitors, Notaries, Solicitors for the City of Peterborough.

MEDICAL.

DR. BUCHANAN, F.R.C.S., Edin., M.R.C., Eng., L.R.C.P. London. Eye, Ear, Nose and Throat Specialist. Hours 9-11 a.m., 2-4 p.m., 7-8 p.m. 'Phone 89. Office: Corner of Water and Murray streets.

DR. E. E. HARVEY, Silver Medalist University of Toronto. Special attention to diseases of women and children. Office hours: 1-30 to 4 p.m., 7-8 p.m. 'Phone 225, Office 313 Brock Street.

DR. C. F. W. ROSS, Ex-House Surgeon, Grace Hospital, Toronto. Residence:—Keene, Ont. Office-tf

BARRISTERS AND SOLICITORS

GORDON & WIDDIFIELD, Barristers, Solicitors, Notaries. Solicitors for the City of Peterborough.

BENNET & GOODWILL—Barristers, Solicitors, etc. No. 375 Water Street, Peterborough. Telephone No. 191. J. W. Bennet; E. L. Goodwill.

RUDDY & BURNHAM—Barristers, Solicitors, Notaries. Money to Loan. Offices 449 Water Street, corner Water and Brock.
Robert Ruddy, K.C., J. H. Burnham, M.P.

G. W. HATTON, County Crown Attorney, Barrister, Solicitor. Trust Funds to Loan at lowest current rates of interest on easy terms of repayment.

J. R. CORKERY, Barrister, Solicitor, etc., Commerce Building. Money to loan at lowest rates of interest.

PECK, KERR & McELDERRY—Barristers, Solicitors and Notaries. Office 415 Water Street, Peterborough. Money to Loan at lowest current rates of interest on easy terms of repayment.
H. A. Peck, F. D. Kerr, V. J. McElderry.

D. O'CONNELL—Barrister, Solicitor and Notary, Hunter street, two doors west of the Post Office. Daniel O'Connell.

DUMBLE & JOHNSTON—Barristers, Solicitors, etc. Office over Toronto Savings and Loan Company, 437 George street.
D. W. Dumble, K.C. W. F. Johnston.

A. E. DIXON—Barrister, Solicitor, etc. Offices Corner Hunter and George Sts. Entrance next Madill's Drug Store.

HALL & HALL—Barristers, Solicitors and Notaries Public, Hunter St., Peterborough. Next to St. John's Church. Money to loan at lowest rates of interest.
E. H. D. Hall Basil D. Hall

MOORE & WEARING, Barristers and Solicitors, 13½ Hunter Street (entrance first hallway west of post office.) Money to loan at lowest rates. W. H. Moore, K.C., Joseph Wearing, M.A.

O. A. LANGLEY—Barrister, Solicitor, Notary Public, etc. County Magistrate. Office, Peterborough, Ont., 425 George St. 'Phone 114; Lakefield, Ont., (afternoons.) 'Phones, Office 21; Residence 56.

R. R. HALL—Barrister, Solicitor, etc., Peterborough, Ont. Office, corner Hunter and Water streets over Canadian Bank of Commerce. Successors to Hall Medd & Davidson. Trust funds to loan on easy terms of payment.

ARCHITECTS.

W. BLACKWELL, Architect and Civil Engineer. Plans and estimates made for churches, public buildings and dwelling houses. Buildings heating and plumbing a specialty. Office, 371 Water Street Peterborough.

OSTEOPATHY

DR. BRUCE E. MARSHALL—Osteopathic Physician. Office: 346 Hunter Street. Hours 9 to 11 a.m., 2 to 4 p.m., 7 to 8 p.m. 'Phone 116.

DR. ASA G. WALMSLEY—Osteopathic Physician. Office in Sun Life Building, Corner of Hunter and Water streets. Entrance, 134 Hunter street. 'Phones: Office, 649; Residence, 669. Office hours, 9 to 12 a.m., 2 to 6 p.m. Evenings by appointment.

DR. MARY E. DAVIDSON, Osteopathic Physician. Office—No. 6 over Bank of Commerce. Entrance on Hunter or Water streets. Hours: 10 to 12, and 2 to 6. Evenings by appointment. 'Phone 1498.

EDWIN ELCOME
—TAXIDERMIST—
HEADS, ANIMALS, BIRDS, FISH, ETC. mounted artistically and permanently
HEADS OF MOOSE, CARIBOU AND DEER,
Rugs, Animals, Birds, Fish, Artificial Eyes, Taxidermists Supplies, Bird and Flower Guide Books for sale.
692 HARVEY STREET
PETERBOROUGH ONTARIO

Toronto Savings & Loan Comp'y

Notice is hereby given that a Quarterly Dividend of Two and One-half per cent, being at the rate of Ten per cent per annum for the (3) three months ending 31st December 1916 has been declared upon the capital stock of this Institution and the same will be payable at the offices of the Company in this City on and after the 2nd January, 1917

The transfer books will be closed from the 15th to the 31st December, both days inclusive.

By order of the Board
W. G. MORROW
Managing Director
Peterboro, Dec. 1st., 1916

LUMBER
BUILDERS' MATERIALS of all kinds. Shingles, Scantlings, Joist and Bill Stuff, Mouldings, Casings, Base and all kinds of Finish. Boxes and Box Shooks, Slabs and Mill Wood.
Alf. McDonald Estate
POINT ST. CHARLES MILL

OUR DAILY SHORT STORY

An Eventful Wedding Journey

By BARBARA PHIPPS

I am one of those American women who have married foreigners. My husband loves me, is kind to me, but I can't help feeling that if the freedom of his people depended upon his taking my life he would nerve himself to do the deed.

There is a story connected with our wedding journey that I am going to tell, though for twenty years whenever I have thought of it my blood has run cold.

I am of a very sympathetic nature and impulsive, and Gustav—as I shall call him—was impassive. I presume it was this difference between us that fascinated me with him. We are prone to admire what we cannot be. He seemed at times to be made of marble. Often when thinking of him I thought at the same time of the sphinx or the pyramids.

"Why do not your people rise and throw off your oppressors?" I asked.

"We would be crushed," was the calm reply.

This was all I could get out of him. I could not discern from what he said and did but that his people expected to live under foreign oppression till the crack of doom. Gustav's only hope seemed wild to me. It was that eventually all the sovereigns in the world would be killed off.

I would not consent to marry Gustav unless he would leave his country and go with me to America. This he declined to do because he was needed by the people of his country. How he could be needed by those who were sunk in a hopeless slavery to an autocrat and were making no effort to throw off the yoke I could not imagine. However, while making my preparations to depart he came to me and said that he would go with me. Circumstances had arisen which might enable him to help his people by going elsewhere.

This would have made me very happy had he given me those circumstances that had brought about the change. But he did not, nor could I cajole him to make an explanation. Did he intend to advocate the cause of his countrymen in other countries? No. He would neither speak nor write a word on the subject. Would he resort to diplomacy? No. He would live a life of seclusion.

I might have been able to drive the matter from my mind had not Gustav become more impassive, if possible, than before. He treated me with unusual tenderness. On the day of our marriage he said to me, "Before the ceremony I wish you to forgive me for any injury I may inflict upon you by making you my wife." I naturally took this as indicating a very tender conscience and gave the desired forgiveness.

Gustav applied for a passport to go on his wedding trip. He was delayed in getting it, and our wedding had to be postponed on this account. Why there should have been any delay he did not explain to me, the wedding being timed to take place an hour before the leaving of the train on which we were to depart. On leaving the house my husband spoke a few words to the driver that I did not hear. We were driven to the station by a roundabout way and stopped at a house in a quiet street, Gustav telling me that he wished to leave something there for a friend.

But when he alighted he carried nothing in his hand. The door was opened by a man apparently of the middle class. Gustav stepped inside. The door was closed, but only for a second. My husband reappeared, and we proceeded on our way.

Somehow it struck me that when this brief visit was over Gustav experienced a great relief. He emerged from the house with the most serious look I have ever seen on a man's face, but on entering the carriage he looked at me with an expression which I could only interpret as indicating that there had been a great danger which had now passed. Taking my hand in his, he pressed it, which I took to express the same emotion as his look.

An hour after our train left the station we had crossed the border. There was as much change in my husband at this time as there was after his brief visit. But one thing I noticed—he seemed eager to put distance between us and his former home. We had intended to stop over night in a large city, but Gustav seemed eager to get on, and I consented to proceed to a little town where there were few people and no telegraph.

The next day we passed out of the country adjoining my husband's fatherland and by evening had traversed another nationality, entering Switzerland. Here my husband bought a paper and scanned it eagerly. Suddenly I saw a look of disappointment pass over his face. Looking over his shoulder, I read that on the night following our wedding an attempt had been made to assassinate the governor of the province in which we were married. He had been badly wounded, but not killed.

All was now plain to me. Gus had probably made and certainly delivered the bomb used in the attempted assassination. Indeed, I finally learned that he had it under his arm when we were married and when we were driving to the station.

All this was a great shock to me and has cast a gloom over my life since it occurred. But I forgave my husband the injury he had done me before we were married.

Sure of Herself.

"Do you think," asked the widower, "you could learn to love my children as you would if they were your own?"

"Oh, yes," replied the anxious maiden. "I think I should care more for them really than if they were my own, because I shouldn't have to worry so much about them if they got hurt or were sick."—Chicago Record-Herald.

Not.

"Shall we marry, darling, or shall we knot?" was the short and witty line an ardent lover dispatched to the idol of his heart.

But where the strangeness of the matter comes in, the girl replied: "I shall not. You may do as you please."

Surprisingly Good Cough Syrup Made at Home

Costs Very Little and Easily Made, but is Remarkably Effective.

"You'll never really know what a fine cough syrup you can make until you prepare this famous home-made remedy. You not only save $2 as compared with the ready-made kind, but you will also have a more effective and dependable remedy in every way. It overcomes the usual coughs, throat or chest colds in 24 hours—relieves even whooping cough quickly.

Get 2½ ounces of Pinex (50 cents worth) from any good drug store, pour it into a 16-oz. bottle and fill the bottle with plain granulated sugar syrup. Here you have 16 ounces—a family supply—of the most effective cough syrup that money can buy—at a cost of only 54 cents or less. It never spoils.

The prompt and positive results given by this pleasant tasting cough syrup have caused it to be used in more homes than any other remedy. It quickly loosens a dry, hoarse or tight cough, heals the inflamed membranes that line the throat and bronchial tubes, and relief comes almost immediately. Splendid for throat tickle, hoarseness, bronchitis, croup and bronchial asthma.

Pinex is a highly concentrated compound of genuine Norway pine extract, combined with guaiacol and has been used for generations for throat and chest ailments.

Avoid disappointment by asking your druggist for "2½ ounces of Pinex" with full directions, and don't accept anything else. A guarantee of absolute satisfaction or money promptly refunded, goes with this preparation. The Pinex Co., Toronto, Ont.

Make the Liver Do its Duty

Nine times in ten when the liver is right the stomach and bowels are right.

CARTER'S LITTLE LIVER PILLS gently but firmly compel a lazy liver to do its duty

Cure Constipation, Indigestion, Biliousness

Headache, and Distress after Eating.

Small Pill, Small Dose, Small Price.

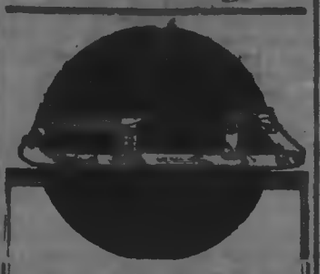
Genuine must bear Signature

Brent Good

CHINA PAINTING

Mrs. Langley McCarthy

Teaches Bisque's New and Beautiful Art Work in China Painting



Ingersoll Watches

That Show the Time in the Dark from $1.25 up.

Automobile and Cycle Meter Hockey Sticks and Supplies Jack Knives

MILLARD'S BICYCLE SHOP
Hunter St., near Aylmer

DR. DE VAN'S FRENCH PILLS A reliable Pill for Women. $5 a box or three for $10. Sold at all Drug Stores, or mailed to any address on receipt of price. The Scobell Drug Co., St. Catharines, Ontario.

PHOSPHONOL FOR MEN. Restores Vim and Vitality; for Nerve and Brain; increases "Energy Ambition"; a Tonic—will build you up, $5 a box, or two for $9, at drug stores, or by mail on receipt of price. The Scobell Drug Co., St. Catharines, Ontario.

Sold by all drug stores.

NOBLE WORDS FROM LEADER TO TROOPS

How a British General Addresses His Heroes—Townshend of Chitral and Kut

Remarkable for its simple eloquence is a general order from General Townshend, famous as defender of Chitral and Kut-el-Amara, to his brave garrison in the latter siege. At the beginning of March depression crept into the camp; and it was justified before a week had passed by another communication from the General to all his men. Like its predecessor, it was commendably frank, and at the same time encouraging and stimulating. It ran as follows:

Communique to the Troops—As on a former occasion, I take the troops of all ranks into my confidence again. Since the 5th of December you have spent three months of cruel uncertainty, and to all men and to all people uncertainty is intolerable. As I say, on the top of all this comes the second failure to relieve us.

"I Love My Command"

And I ask you to give a little sympathy to me also, who have commanded you in these battles referred to, who, having come to you as a stranger, now love my command with a depth of feeling I have never known in my life before. When I mention myself, I would also mention the names of the generals under me, whose names are distinguished in the army as leaders of men.

I am speaking to you as I did before, straight from the heart; and, as I say, ask your sympathy for my feelings, having promised you relief on certain dates on the promise of those ordered to relieve us. Not their fault, no doubt—do not think that I blame them. They are giving their lives freely and deserve our gratitude and admiration.

"You Are With Me"

But I want you to help me again as before. I have asked General Aylmer for the next attempt. . . . to bring such numbers as will break down all resistance and leave no doubt of the issue. In order to hold out I am killing a large number of horses, so as to reduce the quantity of grain eaten every day. I have had to reduce your rations. It is necessary to do this in order to keep our flag flying. I am determined to hold out and I know you are all with me in heart and soul. (Signed) Charles Townshend, Major-General, Commanding Garrison at Kut. Kut-el-Amara, 10th March, 1916.

HOT MEALS FOR GIRLS

Specimen Tariff For Canteens in English Munition Works

"Left to herself, a woman always lives upon cake," said Mr. Rowntree, head of the Welfare Department of the Ministry of Munitions. Mr. Rowntree was discussing the case of the munition factory, which has compelled their women workers to feed themselves properly by agreeing with them to provide the meals and to stop the cost off their wages.

"The Canteen Committee, under Sir George Newman," continued Mr. Rowntree, "is fully alive to the importance of giving the girls freshly cooked hot meals. A specimen tariff and weekly menu has been provided for the assistance of canteens." Breakfast, consisting of bacon and egg, cup of tea, coffee, or cocoa, and slice of bread and butter, is sometimes served at an inclusive price of 14c or 16c.

Dinner includes the following: Soup and bread, 6c; cut from the joint and two vegetables, 12c to 16c; steak and kidney pie or pudding, with two vegetables, 12c to 16c; liver and bacon, with two vegetables, 12c to 16c; sausage and mashed potatoes, 6c to 8c; Irish stew, hot pot, curried beef with rice or other made-up dish, 8c to 12c; cold meat and two vegetables, 10c to 14c; bread and cheese, 3c to 4c.

WORKING FOR OTHERS

Pioneers Have That Unique Honor—They "Consolidate"

W. Beach Thomas writes: The organization, the consolidation of captured positions is first and foremost the handiwork of the pioneers. On one occasion—how ancient history—a group of pioneers who pushed up at night to dig trenches found the infantry so exhausted that many could not even talk consecutive sense. Utter weariness of this sort is of the essence of war, and the pioneers, whose weariness was rather less, used their spades all night and their guns a good part of the day. It is all in the day's work.

One company commander and his subaltern, whom I met after many days of work in No Man's Land, were insistent on this one fact: that anyway they had a much easier time than the infantry proper. They came and went. The infantry stayed. And it is that sort of magnanimity and admiration for others' work that is steadily making the present army one of the best in the world. By the nature of their job engineers and pioneers above others spend their time in doing work on behalf of others, and they live up to the standard of this enforced altruism.

Why Highlanders' Spats

Here is the origin of the Highlanders' spats: When the British forces, which were composed for the greater part of Highlanders, were under the leadership of Sir John Moore in Portugal in 1809, they were forced to retreat from Astorga to Corunna. During the famous retreat, which ended in the victory at Corunna, the very boots were cut from the soldiers' feet by the jagged rocks over which they had to climb. In order to save their feet from being lacerated, the soldiers took the skirts from their backs and, tearing them into strips, wound them round their feet. The incident was remembered, and the white spats are the result of this heroic march.

BRITAIN'S MILLIONAIRES.

Lord Joicey is the World's Greatest Coal-Owner.

No fanciful heraldic design adorns the coat of arms of Lord Joicey. The foremost items on his escutcheon are a couple of honest pick-axes and two pit ponies. It was typical of Lord Joicey, the world's largest and richest coal-owner, that when he was raised to the peerage in 1905 he should have chosen this design for a crest, for he is proud of the fact that his immense fortune rests on the pit pony and the pickaxe which his father used to wield in the depths of the mine.

Born in the atmosphere of collieries and brickworks at Tanfield, in Durham, Lord Joicey as a boy grew up in the "black environment." His father, who at one time worked in a Tyneside colliery, was a man of serious thought, foresight, and shrewd common sense. He saw the future of the engineering side of mining, and earned a reputation as a clever engineer. Ultimately his son went to Newcastle, and there are many people in that town who still remember the days when the millionaire could be seen on the quay in his uncle's office, putting up shutters and going for letters.

Thrifty and energetic, young Joicey saved every penny he could while learning all he could; and although for a time he was only earning the modest wage of £2 a week, he was able to save enough to invest in some mining enterprises.

In those days people used to say that "young Joicey would one day own the coal of the kingdom." An exaggeration, of course. But the expression gives some idea of the opinion of the North-country people regarding his capabilities, even in the days before his uncle's death placed him in possession of great wealth.

With the money he inherited from his uncle Lord Joicey judiciously negotiated various deals. Some idea of the extent of his resources may be gathered when it is mentioned that some years ago his firm took a lease of Lord Durham's pits for £1,100,000, the capital expenditure being paid out of the profits within two years.

A further illustration of Lord Joicey's vast interests is contained in the remark which he made in a speech when he was presented with a portrait of himself in 1913 at the Newcastle Chamber of Commerce to celebrate his fifty years of commercial life.

"Business life," he said on that occasion, "is a good life, and to preside over a concern which spends £1,500,000 a year in wages and supports thousands of families is a thing to be proud of."

Outside his business Lord Joicey has many interests. He is fond of outdoor life. He golfs, shoots, cycles, and on occasion plays lawn tennis. He is keenly interested in agriculture and art. Indeed, he is one of the most munificent patrons of art, and to him many a struggling artist has owed the help which has carried him some way up the ladder that leads to fame. Personally Lord Joicey is a man of much geniality, who is known among his friends as "Old King Coal."

No Man's Land.

The term "no man's land" has sprung into prominence during the war. It means, of course, the "dead" ground between any two lines of advanced trenches, the enemy's and ours. There is, however, another kind of no man's land, delimited and guaranteed by treaties. One of these curious strips of neutral territory stretches across the isthmus that connects the Rock of Gibraltar with Spain. It is about half a mile wide, and our sentries and the Spanish sentries face one another by day and by night, year in and year out, from opposite sides. The territory in between these two chains of sentinels belongs neither to Britain nor to Spain.

This Ointment Possesses Power To Heal The Skin

Two Cases Which Prove the Extraordinary Healing Power of Dr. Chase's Ointment

The use of Dr. Chase's Ointment is wonderfully satisfactory because you can actually see the results accomplished. It is surprising what change can be brought about in a single night by this great healing ointment.

Mr. George Beavis, 119 James street, Peterborough, Ont., writes: "As a healing ointment, I consider Dr. Chase's the best obtainable. I had a large running sore on my leg, and although I had tried all the prescriptions of two doctors I was unable to get any relief from the pain or to get the sore healed. One day my druggist handed me a sample box of Dr. Chase's Ointment, and I used it with such good results that I decided to give the ointment a fair trial. Altogether I used four boxes, and am glad to be able to say that the sore on my leg is entirely healed up. Since this experience with Dr. Chase's Ointment I have recommended it to many people."

Mrs. W. W. Oliver, Port George, Annapolis Co., N. S., writes: "I am going to tell you my experience with Dr. Chase's Ointment. There was a spot came on my face something like a mole, but it kept getting worse, and several doctors whom I consulted said it was skin cancer, and that it would have to be cut or burned out. I intended having this done, but changed my mind when my brother recommended Dr. Chase's Ointment. Before I had finished one box, of the ointment this skin trouble had gone, and has not bothered me since. I cannot praise Dr. Chase's Ointment too much, and you are at liberty to publish this letter."

If you have never used Dr. Chase's Ointment send a two-cent stamp for a sample box, and mention this paper. Price sixty cents a box, all dealers, or Edmanson, Bates & Co., Limited, Toronto.

FACTORIES AS HOUSES

Munition Factories Where Workers' Welfare Was Forgotten

An Englishman writes: Contrast the since-the-war conditions with those I found in many other factories, and the tribute I would pay to the work of the Welfare Department of the Ministry of Munitions will be appreciated. This work is one aspect of the vast energy displayed by the Ministry of Munitions. I visited factories from small ones employing 200 women to some of the largest, where the number of the female staff ran into thousands in many of them before the war no women at all were employed, others had only a few women, and in others the female staff had been greatly augmented.

In very few of the factories where women had been previously employed had any attempt been made to study the human element. In physical matters only the bare demands of the Factory Acts had been carried out. It was a revelation to me to find how easily satisfied reasonably good employers had been with the conditions under which their factory workers existed.

Those living at a distance from the factory had no mess-rooms. They had their food in the factory itself, which in the case of a cotton mill in normal times was filled with flying dust. The only washing convenience was a corner with a pail under a cold water tap, also in the shop itself. Very rarely was there any accommodation for drying wet outer garments or boots.

The factories, as a matter of fact, were constructed wholly and solely for housing machinery, not human beings. But now that employers generally are seeing how much greater the efficiency is under welfare supervision they are beginning, I think, to kick themselves mentally for having jogged along for so many years without having given the human side a chance.

The five weeds occurring most frequently on the 400 farms visited by the Canadian Conservation Commission in 1916 were Canada thistle, couch grass, wild mustard, ragweed and sow thistle.

RENEW YOUR SUBSCRIPTION

Do Not Forget to Renew Your Subscription to the Daily and Weekly Examiner, the Two Best Papers in Peterborough County.

Anyone Renewing or Ordering a New Subscription Will Be Given a Serviceable Calendar. They Will Be Scarce This Year.

THE EXAMINER, 419 GEORGE ST.

SEE HOW THEY ALL GET TOGETHER

to discuss the merits of Master-Mason Plug Tobacco—the tobacco made to suit a real man's idea of a comfortable smoke. Get in line to-day and

SMOKE Master Mason

"IT'S GOOD TOBACCO"

Just cut a pipe-load, fresh from the plug, with all the natural moisture and fragrance of the choicest tobacco retained, rub it in the palm of your hand—pack it—not too tight in your pipe, light it, and, from the very first whiff you will realize that you have a real good tobacco.

Equal by test to the very best, Much better than all the rest.

Say MASTER-MASON to your dealer—he knows.

Price: 15 cents

THE ROCK CITY TOBACCO CO., LIMITED

ARMY INSPECTION

For the French Government will be held at

The Old Dickson Co. Barn,
LONDON ST., PETERBORO
FRIDAY, DECEMBER 29th.

SATISFACTORY and LIBERAL PRICES WILL BE PAID for all Horses accepted, Grays included. Do not be afraid to bring in your horses as we will guarantee a square deal and FAIR INSPECTION FOR EVERYBODY. Ages 5 to 9 years, weight 1100 to 1500 pounds, from 15.1 to 16.2 hands high and serviceably sound. ☞ CASH PAID for Horses accepted.

GREEN & CRUIKSHANK, Peterborough

DOGS IN ALASKA.

Carry Great Loads Over Snow That Would Not Hold a Man.

Dogs are surely the real thing for "mushing" in the cold country. To my mind they beat reindeer a mile. Most of them weigh less than 100 pounds, and they distribute their weight over their four feet, so that they can trot over a weak snow crust where a man would sink out of sight by breaking through the crust into the soft snow below. On a good, level, smooth trail ten dogs can trot along with a ton of freight behind them, and 500 or 600 pounds is a fair load on poor trails.

A peculiar thing is that a twelve foot sled, twenty-two to twenty-four inches wide, with runners two and one-quarter inches wide, bearing a load of 600 to 800 pounds, will not sink through a snow crust that will not bear a man. This occurs because two runners two and one-quarter inches wide and twelve feet long give a large area of bearing on the crust. This, coupled with the motion that keeps the sled passing over all the time, accounts for the remarkable fact I am speaking of.

One of the greatest dangers in "mushing" is encountering water under the snow on the river ice in very cold weather or breaking through into hollow places where the stream has sunk away from under the ice. This is the most dangerous of all, and often when it happens a man is frozen to death before he can get to shelter or get up his tent and start a fire.—B. S. Bodey in Albuquerque Herald.

THE STUDY OF WORDS.

It's a Helpful Scheme to Use Your Dictionary Every Day.

Writing an article, "Treasure in Books," in the Woman's Home Companion, Laura Spencer Portor gives the following excellent advice about the advantages to be gained from the study of words:

"The study of words—it may sound to you a dry thing, yet I promise you it is not; very far from it.

"And this brings me to suggest that the habit of one of the great writers of studying carefully from a good dictionary five words each day is one from which we might all of us get a good deal of profit. Or take a good book of synonyms, for instance, and learn from it each day five words somewhat similar, comparing and weighing carefully the meanings and values of them.

"Notice the degrees of force in the following. To dislike, to hate, to loathe, to detest, to abhor. Each note struck is a little stronger, higher, we might say, like an ascending crescendo scale. So to instruct, to teach, to educate, are each quite different in meaning, with a great nicety of difference. So, rebuke, reprimand, censure, blame, are all of one color, but of now umerent shades of meaning. So, too, misfortune, calamity, disaster; so, weak, feeble, decrepit, and what delicate difference between fame and renown or feminine and womanly and womanish."

Napoleon's Power.

General Foy, the French military critic of the time of Napoleon, speaking of Napoleon's strength and his weakness, said: "Only the founders of religion have exercised upon their followers an authority comparable to that which made him the absolute master of his armies. This moral power became to him a fatal gift. He came to believe that he could prevail even against the most powerful material force, and this led him to scorn certain rules, the long continued violation of which could not remain unpunished."

Reincarnated.

The school as a civic center having become overcrowded, it occurred to some bright mind to advocate the use of the home as a civic center.

"The home is vacant so large a part of the day that it would seem that the highest efficiency would put it to some use other than as a possible place to sleep in after midnight."

This was immediately done, and the home began to come back. Thereupon the leading sociological writer wrote an article in which he proved again to the satisfaction of all that everything has a use.—Life.

His Thirst.

Husband—May, just send up some filtered water. Wife—Which was it last night, "Detained at the office" or "A friend at the club?" Husband—Why? Wife—Because I didn't know whether you wanted a tumbler or a pailful.—London Opinion.

Improving Slowly.

"How is your cousin getting on, Jane?"

"Nicely, thank you, ma'am, but he had an awful time. They performed three autopsies on him at the hospital before he began to get better."—Baltimore American.

Didn't Agree With Him.

"You should never take anything that doesn't agree with you," the physician told him.

"If I'd always followed that rule, Maria," he remarked to his wife, "where would you be?"—London Express.

Pike's Peak.

Zebulon Montgomery Pike, an officer in the United States army, discovered the famous peak that bears his name on Nov. 15, 1806.

EXAMINER PATTERN SERVICE

LADIES' ONE-PIECE PLAITED DRESS.

By Anabel Worthington.

There is abundance evidence in the numerous models on display that the one piece frock on long, loose lines will be widely favored throughout the winter. No doubt the elegance of the materials produced has much to do with the vogue.

About the one piece dress illustrated we may say the nicest thing is its sweet simplicity. At back it falls in pleats from a yoke, at front, the novelty of the neck holds attention—just below, the front section is laid in pleats, while at about normal waist line the sides are gathered and braid ornamented. A very pretty collar in contrasting goods and color gives a dainty neck finish and the sleeves are cuffed to correspond. A piece belt of the collar material holds the pleats in very gracefully and adds richness to the model.

A number of satin and serge combinations figure in the one piece frocks, but broadcloth has returned, and because a woman may be correctly gowned in a broadcloth dress from any hour until night, it is likely that this fabric will be much used. Simple in general effect, but with last minute touches, this model is voted a success.

With your choice of material and the pattern you will be fully equipped to reproduce the design, for the instructions are in pictures.

The dress pattern, No. 8,029, cuts in sizes 36-42. To make in size 38 requires 6¾ yards 36 inch material; ½ yard 36 inch satin; ½ yard for belt.

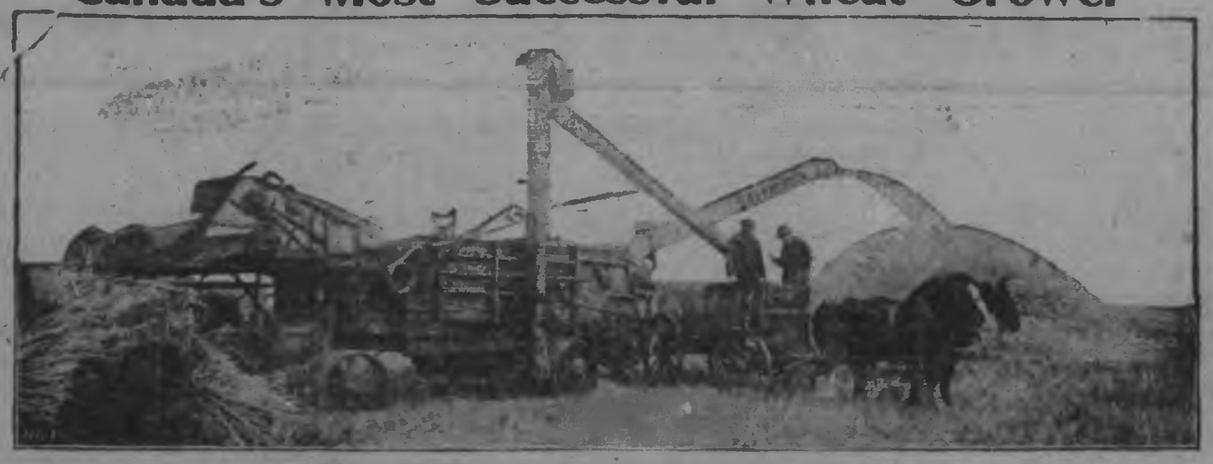
To obtain the pattern send [redacted] to the office of this publication

When ordering remember to give your name and address as well as the number and size of pattern required, and age of a child.

Price 15 cents, or 2 for 25 cents.

Address—The Examiner Pattern Service, The Examiner, Peterborough.

Canada's Most Successful Wheat Grower



A YIELD of 54,383 bushels of wheat from 1,000 acres of land, or 54 bushels 23 lbs. on the average per acre, seems to appear like an impossibility; but it is a fact that Mr. C. S. Noble, of Nobleford, Alberta, has reaped this marvellous production from his farms in the harvest of 1916. This bountiful gift of nature to man is likely to attract as much attention to this country as any other remarkable incident that has yet been noticed in connection with the progress of the Dominion in the farming or the industrial sphere.

53 men, 78 horses, 3 separators and 2 sheaf loaders did their part in the work of garnering the grain. On September 19th the threshing began, and proceeded merrily for some days, during which time moving pictures of the operations were taken. The grain graded Numbers 1, 2, and 3. All of it was of the Marquis variety, which has been proved to give the best results of any species of wheat yet tried in West Canada. The seed from which the enormous returns sprung was nearly all raised from a one acre field that had been sown with hand picked pedigree Marquis seed.

At a moderate estimate the land from which Mr. Noble has gathered his crop returns him $85 an acre. After paying all expenses this famous grain grower has a huge sum of money as a reward for his exertions. But he well deserves all that has come to him. It is true that a fertile soil and a magnificent climate were bountiful, but the ability with which the agriculturist managed his ground was in no small way responsible for his success. Mr. Noble is a business man, and is possessed of the gift of concentration — that quality which always discovers the right road to the man who perseveres. He has a system of his own for doing everything, and everything he does is done in the most systematic manner. With a staff of 120 men he operates three different farms. On the farms, and at the office where the farm schemes are planned, he is the supervisor. He has taught his employees to be regular in their movements as the wheels of a machine. The office telephone connects him with every one of the different departments, and if there is anything which demands his immediate personal attention while he is at the office his automobile is waiting ready to convey him to the spot. The accounts of the property are all kept with a neatness, accuracy and regularity that would arouse the admiration of the most critical of chartered accountants.

Mr. Noble was born on a farm near State Center, Marshall County, Iowa, in the year 1872. His boyhood was spent largely on the farm. Shortly after reaching his majority he filed on a quarter section of land near Knox, North Dakota, where he lived until 1903. In that year he moved to Clareshsim, Alberta, married Miss Margaret Fraser, of Hawkesbury, Ontario, and, in addition to farming interests, later enjoyed a successful real estate business with his present partner, Mr. T. C. Milnes. From this point his rise in the business world has been rapid. In the year 1909 he moved to his present location at Nobleford, Alberta, where he lives on Grand View Farm, with his family consisting of his wife, two sons and one daughter, giving practically all his attention to the farm. Thus it is seen that his life work has been that of a practical farmer.

His entire career has been marked by energy and foresight of an exceptional quality, his prominent mental characteristics being courage in meeting facts squarely, accuracy in figuring costs, and boldness and originality in making investments. Coupled with the hardest common sense and shrewd insight into human nature, he has a gift of imagination which is constantly leading him on to greater things and to blazing the way for others to follow.

He is a total abstainer from the use of all kinds of narcotics, and takes his place at work with any of his men whenever occasion requires. He is a life long church member and an elder in the Presbyterian Church at Noble.

Banana Crop Destroyed.

Information collected from all parts of the island of Jamaica respecting the damage done by the recent hurricane, indicates that for all practical purposes this year's banana crop has been completely destroyed, the crop for 1917 reduced by fifty per cent., and barring further blows, the full output from all plantations will not be in effect before 1918. The serious nature of the situation which has been brought about will be recognized when it is stated that bananas represent fully sixty per cent. of the island exports.

While the loss in cocoanuts is considerable, due to the blowing down of immature nuts, the loss in growing trees is probably not more than two per cent. on the average. So far as is shown from reports from mountain districts, damage to coffee has been negligible; and the same may be said of other crops. Although the island was practically in the teeth of the storm, the damage done was moderate as compared with that wrought by the "blow" of 1903.

Raw Sponges.

To persons who know sponges only as they appear ready for sale and use the animal as it comes from the sea would be unrecognizable. It is a solid looking, rather slimy, fleshy body, varying in color from light grayish yellow through a range of browns to black and in form it is cup shaped, spheroidal or cake shaped, according to the species, its age or the environment in which it grew. In general, in appearance and consistency and the manner in which it cuts with a knife, a living sheep's wool sponge is not unlike a piece of beef liver perforated with holes and canals. The sponge of the markets is merely the skeleton, the 'supporting' framework which gives strength and form to the soft, gelatinous tissue of the living animal.

Imaginary Whys of Celibacy.

Curious how when a man remains a bachelor people will speculate concerning his celibate state:

"Well, he has had an unfortunate affair some time or other. No man as attractive as he has gone this long without a tender memory to accompany him."

Of a woman:

"Funny she never married. Now, you'd think she'd be attractive to the men, wouldn't you?"—New York Sun.

Good News For Papa.

"Paw?"

"Well?"

"When I promise to marry him do you want him to come and ask your consent?"

"No, not my consent, but I would like to have him trot in and tell me the good news. I sort of feel like I needed cheering up."—Houston Post.

Suddenly Tired.

"Good gracious, what a sight you are! What have you been doing?"

"The barber had just lathered me when some one came in and told him that he had won the big prize in a lottery and he retired at once."—Fliegende Blatter.

Hard Luck.

Hard luck is when a man who does not like oysters eats one for politeness, discovers a $100 pearl and then keeps on eating them indefinitely to find another.—Chicago News.

Man had not a hamper to begin, not a syllabled articulatio. They had it all to make—and they made it.—Carlyle.

ECZEMA AND SORE EYES.

"My boy, Frank, seemed weak chested and took a very severe cold," writes Mrs. D. Stevens, Nisga, Man. "The many medicines used did not seem to benefit him, until we tried Dr. Chase's Syrup of Linseed and Turpentine, and found it to be exactly what was wanted to cure him." No treatment is so thorough and effective as a cure for coughs and bronchitis.

TRAGIC BRAVERY.

Sublime Act of a Hero Who Went to a Watery Grave.

In the chapel at Glenalmond school in Perthshire, Scotland, there is a marble slab with this stirring story recorded upon it:

There was once in the school a pupil named Alexander Cumine Russell, who became an officer in the Seventy-fourth highlanders when only a lad of seventeen. In connection with the memorable loss of the Birkenhead he won immortal glory. The troopship struck upon a rock; the soldiers were formed in ranks upon the deck to die, the women and children were being saved in boats.

Russell was ordered into one of the boats to command it, and a little way off he watched with dimmed eyes the doomed ship. When she went down he saw creatures of the deep contending for his beloved comrades. Then he saw a sailor's form rise up close to the boat and a hand strive to grasp the side.

A woman in the craft called out in agony: "Save him! Oh, save him, sir! He is my husband," but there was no room for another, and the boat was labouring heavily as it was. Russell looked at the woman and then at her children, then at those beseeching eyes in the deep, and, rising in the stern, he plunged into the water and helped the sailor into what had been his own place. Then amid a chorus of "God bless you" from every one in the boat the brave young officer turned to meet his death.—Pearson's Weekly.

SOME FAMOUS PAINTINGS.

A Tiny Work of Art and Rossi's Transformed Harpsichord.

The smallest painting in the world of distinctive merit was executed on the smooth side of a grain of corn by a Flemish artist. On this limited surface the artist painted in perfect detail a mill, a miller with a sack of grain on his back, a horse and cart and a group of several peasants standing in a road.

The largest picture ever painted is said to be a panorama of the Mississippi river, executed by John Banvard, an artist who died in Watertown, S. D., in 1891. The gigantic canvas was twenty-two feet high and nearly two miles long. It gave a detailed representation of 2,000 miles of the Father of Waters.

The largest of the old masters' canvases is Murillo's "Appearance of the Christ Child to St. Anthony of Padua." The picture is ten feet wide and eighteen feet high.

It is related that a friend called on Salvator Rosa in Florence one day and found him playing on an old harpsichord. The caller asked the artist why he kept such a worthless instrument.

"Why, it is not worth a scudo!" the friend said.

"I will wager," replied Rosa, "that it shall be worth a thousand before you see it again."

A bet was made. Rosa immediately painted a landscape on the lid that not only sold for 1,000 scudi, but was accounted a work of great merit.

Boasted Too Soon.

When the old Grand Duke of Mecklenburg-Strelitz was staying at Holkham with Thomas Coke, then commonly known as "king of Norfolk," he boasted one evening at dinner that no man had ever dared to shoot at him and that if any one had ever attempted such a thing he would have shot the man dead on the spot.

The next day at the court the grand duke suddenly felt a shower of shot peppering his legs and, turning round in a fury to find whence it proceeded, saw William Coke with a gun leveled in his direction.

"I've got another muzzle ready," said William coolly. "Will you" shoot?"—From "The Life of Thomas Coke, Earl of Leicester."

A GREAT DAIRYMAN.

Late Senator Derbyshire was a Builder of the Cheese Industry.

Senator Daniel Derbyshire, who died in Brockville a few days ago following an illness of ten days of paralysis, was one of the most interesting figures in the agricultural world of Ontario.

Born in the heart of one of the great dairying districts of Ontario, at Plum Hollow, Leeds County, December 11, 1846, Mr. Derbyshire was connected during the greater part of his life with the industry which he saw rise to immense proportions. So intimately and to such an extent was he associated with the dairying industry that he became known as the "Eastern Ontario Cheese King," being for twenty-five years President of the Eastern Ontario Dairymen's Association.

What the late Speaker Ballantyne was to the dairy industry of Western Ontario, "Dan" Derbyshire was to the dairy industry of Eastern Ontario. For about a quarter of a century the latter was President of the Eastern Ontario Dairymen's Association; he might almost be said to have been the association during that period. In physical stature, in personality, in enthusiasm, he was the dominating figure of all the annual conventions held during the period of his Presidency. Even after laying down the office of President he was a regular attendant at the annual convention, and always presided at one session at least. His work was not confined to the more or less spectacular duties of convention week. He went up and down the concession lines and urged the formation of syndicates for the building of factories, and largely as a result two-thirds of all the cheese for which Ontario is famous is made in the territory within the limits of his activities. Mr. Derbyshire was also chiefly instrumental in inducing the Eastern Association to take up factory instruction work, and, when the Department of Agriculture assumed the task later on, he loyally aided in making the new departure a success. His activities were not confined, either to the purely factory end of the cheese industry. Everywhere he preached better cows, and corn as the basis of feeding the cows. In short, to Dan Derbyshire more than to any other one man Ontario is indebted for the pre-eminence she has long enjoyed in cheese-making.

He entered the business as a manufacturer in 1874 at Athens. He came to Brockville in 1879, and two years later became local representative of A. A. Ayer & Company. He served as Councillor and was Mayor of Brockville in 1889 and 1890. He was a big man in more ways than one, standing six feet four inches in his stocking feet. After unsuccessfully contesting the riding of Brockville in the Liberal interests in 1891 and 1900, he was elected in 1904, and three years later resigned and was called to the Senate, Hon. G. P. Graham being returned in his stead by acclamation.

Senator Derbyshire was a ready wit, also an authority on agricultural matters in the House and Senate. He was Grand Master for Ontario of the Oddfellows in 1909-1910, and was also a prominent Mason of several degrees. He was a prominent member of the Baptist denomination.

To Advertise Canada.

The Dominion Government is going into the moving picture business. It is not doing so with the idea of making money, but with the object of interesting people, both in and out of Canada, in the natural resources of this Dominion.

Arrangements have, it is understood, been concluded and camera men have already started at work filming scenes from one end of Canada to the other. These will comprise views of the country's scenic beauties and pictures of various of its industrial systems. They will be carefully chosen so as to present the Dominion not only as a garden of nature, but also as a field of opportunity. They represent the application of the most modern and popular of pictorial devices to the work of promoting immigration and interesting capital in this country, and will be of use in a variety of ways and by many different branches of the Government service.

Mr. Francis Holley, Director of the Bureau of Commercial Economics, Washington, now recognized as one of the greatest modern educational institutions in the world, was in Ottawa recently in connection with this matter. It is understood Mr Holley has interested the Canadian Government in the project, and that he has offered to exhibit any views that may be taken free to millions of citizens of the United States throughout the medium of the bureau. The offer is one which, it is likely, will be gratefully accepted by the Government.

The use of moving pictures with a view to promoting immigration and trade is in line with the Government's desire to use every means to prepare now for the development which it is expected will come after the war.

Spoiled Musicians.

Rubinstein disapproved of marriage for musicians. Just before his death he spoke sadly of his Russian lady pupils. "What have I wasted all my time on them for?" he asked irritably. "Every one married! It's too provoking! Here they are, spoiled forever for art life. What did they study for?"

The London Musical World remarks that "those who ask why we have no great lady composers may be left to think of these things."

A Narrow Range of Choice.

Sylvia, supple and slender, and Aunt Bella, bulky and benign, had returned from a shopping tour. Each had been trying to buy a ready made suit.

When they returned home Sylvia was asked what success each had in her efforts to be fitted. "Well," said Sylvia, "I got along pretty well, but Aunt Belle is getting so fat that about all she can get ready made is an umbrella.—Youth's Companion.

A Bit Different.

Towne—There's one thing about my wife—she makes up her mind if she can't afford a thing that she doesn't need it. Bowne—Something like my wife, only she buys it first and makes up her mind afterward.—Philadelphia Press.

But Light.

Cholly — I have something on my mind, Wobart. Robert—Stop a minute! Sure enough, there is a cobweb on top of your head.—Baltimore American.

The Supreme Court.

The supreme court of the United States is supposed to be strictly non-political, free from all parties and above all parties. It was designed by the fathers of the constitution to act as the "governor," or "fly wheel," of our system of government, maintaining justice and right in the midst of the wrangling factions and clashing interests. According to the theory, the supreme court is to know nothing but the constitution and the laws that are made in pursuance thereof and in every matter that is brought up before it to hold the balance even, regardless of everything else.—New York American.

A Golf Outrage.

The Earl of Wemyss was on a Fife golf course on one occasion accompanied by an old caddie. His lordship got his ball on one occasion so near the hole that to play it was, as it appeared to him, superfluous. So he simply tipped it in with the toe of his boot.

The caddie revolted instanter, threw down the clubs and looked horrified. When he found words to speak it was to say, "Hang it, me lord, gowf's gowf!"

WHEN YOU WANT
COAL
CEMENT
Sewer Pipe
CONSULT
H. B. TAYLOR & SON
Cor. Aylmer & Wolfe
'Phone 209

LOW'S COAL

STOVE COAL, per ton..$8.50
NUT COAL, per ton....$8.50
PEA COAL, per ton....$7.25
No. 1 CANEL COAL $8.50

LOW & COMPANY
262 Simcoe St. and 385 Bethune St
Phone 697 Nights and Holidays 766

FILL YOUR BIN with the Only Genuine White Ash
D. L. & W.
SCRANTON COAL Automatically Screened
It's a well-known fact that there is as great difference between different kinds of coal as there is between any other two commodities and it ought to pay coal consumers to do a little experimenting on their own account. We claim that the D. L. & W. Scranton Coal is the cleanest coal known. We claim that it will do more heating than any other coal.
Robert Hicks Co.
LIMITED
Charlotte and Bethune Sts.
Murray and Bethune Sts.
PHONES 47-48

COAL
THAT IS ALL COAL
PROMPT DELIVERY
Peterborough Fuel & Transfer Co.
Charlotte St. 'Phones 270 261, 602
Track and Transfer Business in Connection

THERE IS NO FUEL
so good as
ANTHRACITE COAL
and no better anthracite than
Lehigh Valley Coal
THE COAL THAT SATISFIES
ALSO
HARD AND SOFT WOOD
Cutting and Splitting Extra
J. E. A. FITZGERALD
PHONE 114

HEAT PRODUCING
COAL
Use Our
PITTSTON COAL
[It Makes] Warm Friends
Terms Positively Cash
Weir & McCarthy
Coal and Wood Dealers
111 Hunter St., East City. 'Phone 96

IF YOU WANT to BUILD UP YOUR BUSINESS, you must USE THE PAPER that goes into the Home.

12 Pages

The Evening Examiner

PETERBOROUGH THURSDAY, DECEMBER 28, 1916

GRANT SIX

If you are in the market for a six cylinder car, be sure and see the Grant Six, at PULKINGHORN'S AUTO AND TAXI LIVERY.

'Phone 278. Res. 'Phone 1787

A National Saving Campaign To Be Started

Russo-Roumanians are being Pushed Back

CANADA'S WAR APPROPRIATION FOR NEXT YEAR WILL EXCEED $300,000,000

Further Direct Taxation Measures Calculated to Secure a Greater Proportion of Accumulated Wealth For War Purposes---National Savings Campaign Will Be Inaugurated---Roumanian Oil Fields Destroyed by British Military Mission Before They Fell Into German Hands.

A SUMMARY OF TO-DAY'S WAR CABLES

SPECIAL TO THE EXAMINER:

OTTAWA, Ont., December 28.—When the Canadian Parliament reassembles on January eighteenth after eight months' recess, it promises to be an interesting session. It will be unique in many ways, with forty seats in the Commons vacant, their members having died, resigned or gone overseas to fight for the Empire.

The Speech from the Throne will ask for further tremendous efforts in regard to war, both in money and men. It will also demand a further extension of the life of Parliament.

It is estimated that the war appropriation for the coming fiscal year will exceed three hundred millions, and that further direct taxation measures calculated to secure a greater proportion of accumulated wealth for war purposes will be introduced by the Minister of Finance.

It was officially announced this morning that Sir Thomas White, Minister of Finance, would, after January 1st, inaugurate a national savings campaign all over Canada, with the object of promoting thrift and encouraging Canadians to invest their money in Government securities.

Sir Herbert Ames, M.P., and W. F. Nickle, M.P., will assist Sir Thos. White in his legislative duties during the session.

LONDON, December 28.—A British military mission in Roumania destroyed Roumanian oil fields valued at $150,000,000 before that territory fell into German hands, W. W Rutherford, M.P., announced to-day. He said the property and stock obtained by the Germans was valueless.

Daily Demonstrations in Austria-Hungary

SPECIAL TO THE EXAMINER:

LONDON, December 28. — Daily food demonstrations, in the chief cities of Austro-Hungary, and great misery, with the hundreds of suicides during December, were reported in the Exchange Telegraph despatches from Geneva to-day.

The despatch declared the misery of the workers in Austria and Hungary was appalling and lamentable.

Petrograd Admits the Withdrawal of Russians

SPECIAL TO THE EXAMINER:

PETROGRAD, December 28.—The withdrawal of Russian forces in the region of Rimincu Serat to the River Rimnik, was announced in to-day's official statement as having been due to the pressure of superior hostile forces near the railway. The statement said the withdrawal has been made after stubborn resistance.

Voltaire Captured By a German Sub?

SPECIAL TO THE EXAMINER:

NEW YORK, December 28.—That the Lamport & Holt liner Voltaire, long overdue at this port from Liverpool, has been captured by a German submarine, armed, and turned into a Teutonic raider, was the report published here to-day. Nothing has been heard of the Voltaire by the Lamport & Holt Line offices since the vessel left Liverpool.

Germany Is Suffering From Serious Shortage of Food

SPECIAL TO THE EXAMINER:

LONDON, December 28.—The Daily Telegraph publishes the following from its Paris correspondent: I have had private information indirectly from Germany which is decidedly encouraging. A friend of mine, head of an important Paris business firm, has a partner who is Swiss. The latter has just visited Germany and returned to Paris. He is a level-headed business man, and says positively that Germany can scarcely hold out more than six months longer. The shortage of food is more serious than it has ever been, he said. It is literally true that the entire population has long since been unable to eat its fill. He himself saw many persons in various German towns actually fall down in the street exhausted by hunger, and in one case at least a man dropped dead from starvation in the road before his eyes. Such a sight is apparently now not uncommon in Germany.

Braila Within Reach of German Guns

SPECIAL TO THE EXAMINER:

BERLIN, December 28.—Braila is within reach of the cannon of the German armies in their steady advance in Roumania, an official statement of the German War Office said to-day.

Brings Down His 25th German Plane

SPECIAL TO THE EXAMINER:

PARIS (French Official Communique), December 28. — Sub-Lieut. Guynemere, France's premier aviator, has brought down his twenty-fifth German aeroplane.

The report detailed considerable aerial activity on the western front, with aerial bombarding expeditions on Romphach, Dillingen, Briey and Hagoindange.

Two French dirigibles bombarded German munition factories at Neurkirchen.

South of The Avre, a German raiding party was dispersed, and in the region of Beauvraignes, the French forces successfully exploded mines against German positions.

German attacks on the eastern slopes of Hill 304 were checked.

TEMPERANCE ACT CAUSES CLOSURE OF CALCUTT'S BREWERY

Brewing and Malting Business Carried on in Peterboro' 55 Years Hard Hit by the Temperance Legislation

ASHBURNHAM INDUSTRY GONE

After 55 years' operations in Peterboro the Calcutt Brewing and Malting Company is discontinuing business as the result of the effects of the Ontario Temperance Act.

This business was first established in Cobourg in 1855 by the late Henry Calcutt, who removed to Peterboro in 1861. In the palmy days of Ashburnham's industrialism the Calcutt Brewery was one of its flourishing factories so called.

Nearby was the McAllister flour mill and Wand's planing mill. There was a considerable hum in that vicinity a few decades ago, and not the least conspicuous in a particular sense was the brewery, which not only built up a flourishing local business, but also had an extensive outside trade

In later years the company was reorganised, the shareholders being the members of the family of the late Mr. Calcutt. Since the temperance wave passed over the province conditions have followed in its wake the effect of which made it apparent that it was only a matter of time until the brewing company would be forced to close its doors.

Whether it will be reopened again as a brewing plant doubtless depends upon the future, probably upon the permanency of the temperance sentiment, that has lead to its present business dissolution. Fortunately a comparatively few employees, it is said, will be effected by this closure.

TORONTO EMPLOYEES OF THE CAN. GENERAL ELECTRIC CO.

Are Under Arrest For Thefts of Electric Goods From Toronto Works

TORONTO, Dec. 28.—Thefts of considerable proportions are charged to William Payne, 109 Garnet Ave., Percy Hardisty, 757 Palmerston Ave., and Daniel Kellar, 305 Augusta Ave., all employees of the Canadian General Electric Company, Toronto, who were taken into custody last night by headquarters detectives, after Kellar had been arrested upon his arrival from Detroit, where he is said to have fled when one Pilgrim was found with several hundred dollars' worth of electric supplies in his possession, which are alleged to have been stolen from the Canadian General Electric Company. Along with the three is Henry Jones, 201 Emerson Ave., who is held as an alleged receiver of stolen property.

Clue to Theft.

A month ago headquarters learned that electric supplies were being disposed of through a store in the Ward, and after watching the place for some time found Pilgrim about to unload a quantity from his waggon. Kellar, who was there at the time, managed to elude the police.

That night many stores were searched by the police and in one place another quantity of goods alleged to have been stolen was uncovered.

Kellar was arrested yesterday by Detective Cronin. He was formerly a chauffeur employed by the electric company, and is said to have implicated Payne, Hardisty and Jones.

EASY.

In the old days when a person suffered with their eyes, they had to go on suffering because science had not made the great strides in optics that it has done in the past few years. Now it is comparatively easy for a person suffering with their eyes or head to obtain relief, by consulting an eye specialist. See Dr. Lacey, and See Better 410 George Street.

MUST CLEAR SLATE ON SUB. SITUATION

WASHINGTON, December 28.—The fear that if the present peace negotiations fail, this nation then must clear its slate on the submarine situation with Germany, grew apace to-day.

But President Wilson intends to push his peace work to the limit to avoid possible subsequent unpleasantness with Germany.

There is now no mistaking, officials believe, that President Wilson's peace notes to the belligerents, and the two subsequent "explanations" by Secretary Lansing, in effect constituted a warning against any unbridled acts of war that would involve American lives or rights.

POSITIONS OPEN AS INSPECTORS OF MUNITIONS FOR RETURNED SOLDIERS

Two Vacancies at Present and Partially Disabled Men Are Asked to Apply at the Office of the Patriotic Fund--More Recruits Taken on by the 247th Battalion--To-day's Orders and General Military News.

Positions are open for two returned partially disabled soldiers, as inspectors of munitions. Men who have had active service in the field will have the preference. The positions are in the city. Application should be made to the office of the Patriotic Fund. Simcoe Street.

KILLED BY A SHELL

Particulars as to how her son, Lance Corp. Horace Stanley, of the 5th C. M. R., was killed, have been received by Mrs. Wm. Stanley, Stewart street, in the following letter from Sergt. C. Gosselin:

France, Dec. 7th.

Dear Mrs. Stanley,—

Your letter received by Pte. McKinlay yesterday, and handed to me. Really I intended writing to you several times myself, but these are subjects that I do not care to write about, but seeing that you asked I'll tell you how "Stan" met his death. He with myself and a few others (ten in all) were ordered to go to a German advanced post and hold it. We got there on the night of October 1, and little did we know what was in store for us, the next day, Oct. 2nd. The night passed quietly and so did the next morning, until the afternoon, about 3 o'clock, and then hell was let loose. Our battalion went over. I certainly don't want to go through it again. The little crowd that was with me in the advanced post did not go over because we were shelled out of our post and had to seek protection in a shell hole. Horace was killed just a few seconds before we decided to leave. He was looking over my shoulder, and let out a cry, calling my name, "Charley, I'm hit; I'm hit!" I swung around to help him, and lowered him to the bottom of the trench, but he was dead. I did not take any personal effects from him, because there was no time to even think. By this time there were only two of us left of the ten that went over the night before. I may add that the shell that killed Stan. got two or three others, and smashed my water bottle to pieces. It was hanging by my side.

Like thousands of others, "Stan" fell like the good boy, friend, and soldier that he was. He and I were pretty good pals. As you know, he and I were lance corporals in the grenade section. After the 15th of Sept. I was made sergeant, and I in turn had him made senior corporal, so you see that I thought a lot of him. His grave is somewhere in No Man's Land, down on the Somme. A cross does not mark his grave. There the shelling is so intense that it makes graves for them. Now, cheer up, my dear Mrs. Stanley, and bear your troubles like "Stan" would like you to, and rest assured there is one here always thinking of him, and you

Yours sincerely,

CHAS. GOSSELIN, Sergt.,
5th C. M. R. Batt'n Bomber,
France

Ptes. R. C. Armstrong and Alfred Flannagan were taken on the strength of the 247th Batt. this morning.

Lt. A. E. Brittain arrived in the city last night and has been appointed adjutant of the 247th Batt., C.E.F. His many friends in Peterboro are glad to welcome him back to the city. Lt. Brittain was at the front for many months with the Princess Pats.

Boarding house keepers are asked to call at the Paymaster's office at the armouries either on Saturday, December 30th, or Tuesday, Jan. 2nd, and board money will be paid them.

Ottawa, Dec. 27.—It is officially announced through the chief press censor's office, that the following troops have arrived safely in England:

The 199th Irish Canadian Rangers, Montreal; 187th and 211th Alberta Battalions; 236th Manitoba Battalion, 239th Railway Construction Battalion.

Drafts Artillery, Engineers, Infantry Army Service Corps, Army Medical Corps and Dental Corps.

To-Day's Orders.

Daily orders by Lieut.-Col. C. H. Ackerman, commanding 247th Battalion, C.E.F.:

Orders for Thursday, Dec 28, 1916:

Parade:

All officers, N.C.O.'s and men except those specially employed, will parade in the Drill Hall at 9 a.m. and at 2 p.m.

Duties:

Orderly officer for Thursday, December 28th—Lt. A. H. Cameron.

Orderly officer for Friday, December 29th—Lt. T. Quinn.

Next for duty—Lt. S. Dunsford.

Addenda:

The following members of the 93rd Band having returned from England, and being omitted from the previous list, are taken on the strength as of December 25, 1916: No. 196018 Pte. A. Briscoe, No. 196029 Pte. J. Bleaker, No. 196015 Pte. R. Browne.

Strength:

No. 1063071 Pte. Wm. Buchanan is attested, taken on the strength from December 27th, 1916, and posted to "A" Company.

District Orders, No. 1608:

The General Officer Commanding Military District No. 3, requests the officers commanding units to convey to all ranks under their command, his best wishes for Christmas, and a happy and prosperous New Year. In doing so, the General wishes to convey to all ranks his congratulations for the good showing made during the past year, and hopes for a still greater success in the coming year.

Leave of Absence:

Lieut. Nugent is granted leave from 6 a.m., Dec 27th, 1916, until Jan 3rd, 1917.

Lieut. F. J. Hayes is granted leave from Reveille, Dec 29th, 1916, until Retreat, Jan 2nd, 1917.

R. B. Brooks,
Lieut & Act. Adjt 247th Bat., C.E.F.

Mr. Taylor is in the Insurance and Not in The Fuel Business

A number of South Ward ratepayers have made enquiry of the identity of W. H. Taylor, who is opposing Ald. Edgar for aldermanic honours. They were associating Mr. Taylor with the coal and wood dealers of the same name on Aylmer Street. Mr. W. H. Taylor is an insurance agent with the Davis-Thompson Co., and is in no way identified with H. B. Taylor and Son, fuel and cement merchants. He is a quiet, unassuming, regular fellow whom the curlers, among whom he is a prominent skip, call "Bill." South-End opinion is that he tackled one of the strongest members of the Council when he qualified to contest with Ald. John Edgar in the South Ward vacancy, and will have a real battle on his hands until New Year's Day.

Letter Carriers To Distribute the Cards

They Will Also Collect the National Service Data and Returns Will Be Made to Ottawa Concerning All Cases Where the Cards Have Not been Filled in.

THE NEW INSTRUCTIONS

On Wednesday evening a meeting was held in the rooms of the Patriotic Fund, called to see what could be done to put forward the distribution, completing and collection of the cards issued in connection with the National Service movement of Canada, just now before the public. Instructions had been forwarded to the city postmaster to set in motion the work, and it was felt that all assistance should be given. It was in mind to put in force some such team work as has been used in the collection of the several patriotic funds during the last two years.

After the meeting convened it was learned, from the Postmaster, that fresh instructions had been received that showed that the work would be wholly in the hands of the local post office, and that if necessary the increased staff of the Christmas rush would be utilized in the work.

Briefly, what is required is this:

The cards contain 28 questions, to which definite answers are to be supplied. All males between the ages of 16 and 65 years are required to observe the instructions. The object is to have a national registration, largely for industrial purposes. The questions range as follows:

1. What is your full name?
2. How old are you?
3. Where do you live, province?
4. Name of city, town, village or post office, street, number.
5. In what county were you born?
6. In what country was your father born?
7. In what country was your mother born?
8. Were you born a British subject?
9. If not, are you naturalized?
10. How much time have you lost in the last 12 months from sickness?
11. Have you full use of your arms?
12. Of your legs?
13. Of your sight?
14. Of your hearing?
15. Which are you? Married, single or a widower?
16. How many persons, besides yourself, do you support?
17. What are you working at, for a living?
18. Whom do you work for?
19. Have you a trade or profession?
20. If so what?
21. Are you working now?
22. If not, why?
23. Would you be willing to change your present work for other necessary work at the same pay, during the war?
24. Are you willing, if your railway fare is paid, to leave where you now live and go to some other place in Canada to do such work?

(Write plainly. Answer correctly every question. Each is important. Cards will be collected by the letter carriers.)

Following are the new instructions:

During the last week in December (present week) each of the letter carriers will deliver to each of the residences on his particular route, at least three cards and three envelopes. If the letter carrier knows, or thinks, that more cards will be required, he will leave a sufficient number. Each letter carrier should, without any difficulty, be able to complete delivery of these cards to every house, residence or office on his route, in two or three days. He will particularly state that these cards are not to be mailed but will be called for on Wednesday, Jan. 3rd, 1917.

On Wednesday and Thursday, Jan. 3rd and 4th, the carrier will collect such cards and will keep particular account of those residents where cards

(Continued on Page 8.)

TWENTY-ONE IS NOW DEATH TOLL FROM BIG FIRE

Mr. William Walsh, Foreman With Quaker Oats Company Succumbed to His Injuries at St. Joseph's Hospital Yesterday Afternoon

THE FUNERAL TO-MORROW

The death in St. Joseph's Hospital yesterday afternoon of Mr. Wm. Walsh Rogers street, from burns and injuries received in the Quaker Oats Co. fire on December 11th, brought the total death list of the tragedy up to twenty-one. Mr. Walsh was a foreman in the building and had been in the employ of the Quaker Oats Company for many years. He was highly respected by all who knew him and held the regard and affection of those who worked under him.

The deceased is survived by his wife and a family of eight children, Madge Leo, William, Roy, Lillian, Kathleen, Fred and Marion, all residing at home. His mother, Mrs. Wm. Walsh, Sr., and one sister, Mrs. Patrick O'Brien, Douro, are also left to mourn his death. The deceased was a member of the Catholic Order of Foresters.

The funeral will take place on Friday morning at 8.45 o'clock from the family residence, Rogers street, to the Church of the Immaculate Conception, and thence to St. Peter's cemetery for interment.

Studebaker Sales Office in Peterborough

The Studebaker Corporation of Motor Car Manufacturers have appointed Mr. G. A. Gillespie their sales agent for Peterborough. A new garage and show room is being fitted up in the old church building on Aylmer street, opposite the Peterborough Creamery where sample passenger and delivery cars and all accessories will be on sale, with expert mechanics to give instructions and furnish repairs and parts.

Mr. Gillespie has had considerable experience with motor cars, and what he knows from investigation of different machines, has made the Studebaker a favourite with him.

The firm of Messrs. J. J. Turner & Sons has placed their order with Mr. Gillespie for one of the best types of Studebaker commercial motor trucks for express delivery. Successful business men agree that Studebaker delivery cars are big factors in their business to: rapid transit and power service.

Got 15 Days in Jail For Assaulting Mr. Jos. Stewart in Havelock

In addition to the fine of $20 and costs for having been drunk in a public place, James Hodgins, of Havelock, was committed to jail for fifteen days, when he pleaded guilty to assaulting Inspector Joseph Stewart, a Government official. This latter sentence was without a fine. Magistrate Langley, who heard the evidence, made the provision that if Hodgins accepted the two months in jail option to the $20 fine on the first charge, the fifteen days would run concurrently. If the prisoner pays the $20 fine and costs he has the fifteen-day term on the hill to endure.

Urges Government To Make Returned Men Shell Inspectors

Peterborough Council has endorsed the memorial that originated with the Galt Council, memorializing the Government to appoint as shell inspectors returned soldiers instead of able-bodied shirkers. The resolution, moved by Ald. Dobbin and seconded by Ald. Stratton, further urged that this idea be carried out in other branches of public service.

TO-DAY'S INDEX

Page 1—War News and Market Reports
Page 2—Serial Story
Page 3—Daily Short Story
Page 4—General News
Page 5—War and Local Military News
Page 6—Editorial.
Page 7—Shelburne News
Page 8—Havelock News
Page 9—St. John's Night Observed at the Masonic Fraternity
Page 10—Norwood Correspondence.
Page 11—Sport Gossip
Page 12—Local News

Evening Examiner

Phones—Editorial 935, Business Office 933
Private Branch Exchange to all Departments.

The Paid Circulation of The Daily Examiner is Over
5200 COPIES DAILY
SWORN TO AND GUARANTEED

The Daily Examiner, published every afternoon except by the Peterborough Examiner, Limited, Office, 410 George St.

The Weekly Examiner, published Thursday morning.

The subscription price of the Daily Examiner is $3.00 per annum; that of The Weekly, $1.00.

U. S. Representatives—Globerson, Special Agency, Peoples Gas Bldg.—Chicago, Tribune Bldg.—New York.

Advertising rates on application.

H. H. Glover, Managing Director.

"Peterborough Presents Possibilities Unsurpassed."

THURSDAY, DEC. 28, 1916

IMPERIAL MOBILIZATION.

Great Britain is organized to the hilt for prosecuting every measure and utilizing every resource that can contribute to success in the war. There is minute co-ordination of manhood, material, resources and production capacity. While the central power is putting forth every effort, the outlying dominions, splendidly as they have done, have not yet measured up all round to the demands of the time. Late despatches tell us in something of detail of the steps to be taken to convene an Imperial conference to consider and provide for the co-ordinate efforts of the Empire as a whole, the great self-governing dominions, included.

The importance of such a conference is no new discovery, and its meeting has been an evidently desirable thing for many months. The deep insight and broad outlook of Mr. N. W. Rowell, the Liberal leader of Ontario, is demonstrated by the fact that as long as seven months ago, he advocated an Imperial conference in the interest of mobilizing the financial and military resources of the Empire so that all parts may work together by a common system of action and effective coordination of effort. We need in Canada some such inspiration as would doubtless come from such a conference. We need something to bring home to our people the magnitude and importance of the struggle in which the forces of freedom and the custodians of the interests of the democracy are agonizing, in the mightiest war of recorded time. Canada is doing her share in the production of munitions, but with all that, are we doing as much as we can, or as much as is demanded? Canada, on the contrary, is not doing her share or her duty in the matter of the pressing need of men. We need inspiring in this regard; we need something like system; something like the thoroughness that characterizes British methods. Lloyd George has called for a million more men and will get them; but will they be got through the medium of post card correspondence, which the Government of Canada seems to think meets the need of the time? While it must have all parts of the Empire working together in all ways to win the war, we must have all parts, all interests of Canada, similarly co-operating. Have we not need of strong co-operation, of more effective co-ordination? Have we not need of the enlistment of, not only, men but of universal popular sentiment and interest? We have need of the mobilisation of not only our material resources, but also of our moral resources. Individually, we are loyal, but neither individually nor in mass do we realize things, do we see how things stand, see what the titanic struggle in Europe means. An Imperial Conference to enlist the interest of all sections of the Empire, being considered necessary, should impress upon every Canadian the fact that winning this war is "a man's job," and needs the help of every man fit and able and willing to fight. This realization should and will be impressed upon all the other elements of our population—mature men and women of all ages and stations of this feeling could be universally impressed, it would be an influence that would inspire response to the call of duty that is louder to-day than at any time the past two and a half years. Let us by all means have an Imperial Conference, but above all let every man and woman of responding age, have conferences with their consciences.

MAKE IT BUSINESS.

Great Britain is meeting Germany's demand for peace; but not quite in the way the Teutons desire. The peace Great Britain must have is that reached by shot and shell and bayonet. She is calling, and will get more men, and has provided two billions more of money, to pave the pathway to peace. There is no doubt, that with all the warring nations Great Britain is desirous of peace; but, after all the sacrifices made, the lives lost, and the treasure spent, it is folly to talk of a peace that leaves the elements of war-making, the powers of aggression and oppression, capable of repeating the sanguine outrage of the past, two and a half years. The price to be paid for a secure peace is great; but a free people who value freedom are prepared to pay it. We in Canada have no idea whatever of the sacrifices and struggle Britain is making.

At this distance Canada is comparatively untouched. We have, of course, a few homes desolated, a few breadwinners laid low; but otherwise the current of our daily life, flows on evenly and serenely. We don't realize as a people the serious gravity of the situation—the urgent demand for more men. The Canadians troops in the battle line are becoming less Canadian every day. They are not being reinforced by drafts of Canadian soldiers, but by drafts from the British army.

Canada has promised to bring her contingents up to 500,000. There are still a hundred thousand more lacking. It is feared that the young men of the country do not appreciate the serious nature of the situation; do not realize what tremendous national and even individual, interests are at stake. It is also feared that the government itself does not realize the situation—the necessity for men and still more men. The government has not, and does not grasp the nettle firmly. For a long time there has been a lull in recruiting. Months and months ago patriotic citizens united to urge action on the government—urged it to take some systematic efforts to organize recruiting; to make the appeal to the eligible young men of the country more direct, more telling; to classify our citizenship with a view of mobilizing the whole industrial and military forces of the country.

After months of consideration, the government acted or chose to take an attitude which it may regard as action. The proposed campaign was heralded with a good deal of display. The plan the government had been incubating was to meet the situation. But the mountain in labour brought forth a mouse. The government plan resolved itself into a post card propaganda. The inept and, if the situation were not so serous, the farcical plan of distributing through the post office cards bearing a long list of questions, seems to be the height of absurd expectation of results. It was all right for Premier Borden and the director of National Service to tour the country making speeches, but the real part of the National Service campaign, the business part, the desirably effective part, the direct results, was a most lame and impotent conclusion. We want to reach the young man eligible to enlist. This young man has dodged his responsibility so long, and showed himself indifferent to moral, personal and direct appeals, that it is folly to expect that he will voluntarily come forward, quit his work and go to the post office and ask for a card to be filled up as a means of putting a little extra pressure upon him. Does Mr. Bennett, the Director of National Service, does Sir Robert Borden expect to get Canada's 100,000 recruits by this means?

The more this puerile plan is thought over the more the sense of its inadequacy is forced upon us. Mr. Bennett says that he has sent out 150,000 letters to ministers, teachers, etc., asking them to see that the registration cards are put into the hands of those who should fill them in. This seems to be playing with a serious business, leaving the raising of a supplementary army to a few typewriters and teachers.

Something more direct should have been devised. The government has had plenty of time to do something to the point. Registration of Canada's manhood for munition and direct military purpose is too good a thing to be made the sport of frivolously inadequate expedient. If the government wanted to secure a thorough and full registration the means was easy. Every ten years the government takes a census. Enumerators are appointed armed with authority to approach every citizen and compel answers to prescribed questions. Then something is done, the work is not left to a blank registration card distributed with less throughness than a patent medicine almanac. All through this war the work of recruiting has been done mainly through private individuals. These are still interested in it, but they need official backing—authority to supplement the operation of the spirit of voluntarism, which for a time made the work of recruiting virtually automatic.

In every community there are plenty of men who would undertake the work of taking a census if the government would provide the machinery. They could be equipped with government authority to compel answers to the questions on the registration card from young men who will otherwise ignore them. Then something would be done, some tangible work done, some point d'appui established to bring pressure, moral pressure, and the means provided to applying more forcible measures if moral measures failed. We must get our hundred thousand men and more. We cannot do it by the unorganized voluntary registration device. We should try the organized voluntary system, and if that fails, then something else must be done. If we are to succeed we must apply business methods.

MUCH MORE GINGER NEEDED AT OTTAWA IN WAR INTERESTS

The resignation of Mr. Asquith and the elevation of Mr. Lloyd George to the premiership, are said to be due to the activities of a set of English Parliamentarians known as the "Ginger Group," who as the name would imply, favour a more aggressive policy in the conduct of the war.

The press despatches recently to hand lend colour to the report, for among the reforms the new Prime Minister purposes to bring about are the suppression of all work immaterial to the war, the issuance of food tickets for the better control and distribution of food supplies, and the enlistment of men from occupations hitherto exempt." Concurrently with these reforms, the administration has been strengthened by dropping a few more lawyers from the Cabinet and putting tried business men in their places.

England provided herself with a coalition government at the outbreak of the war; Canada has not achieved that progress yet. England had conscription a year ago; Canada will make an appeal for voluntary national service on the first of January. England solved the munition labor problem long ago by enlisting her munition workers and bring them under control and discipline; in Canada thousands of dollars are being spent on newspaper advertising in an effort to alleviate the labour problem of the munition manufacturer by a short-sighted plan that will more likely add to his difficulties than lighten them. England long since took practical steps to enforce thrift; outside a couple of war loans, Canada has so far done nothing but talk. England has taxed every income in excess of $3000, in some cases the levy being over 30 per cent. Canada is apparently satisfied to delegate the major portion of her share of the expense to posterity.

At Ottawa the Ginger Group is conspicuous by its absence. Suggestions pour in by the score, but in nearly every case a good excuse can be supplied why action is impracticable. Conscription is not to be thought of because of the large percentage of foreign born, and the enormous frontier that would have to be patrolled to prevent people from leaving the country. The enlistment of munition workers as munition workers unfeasible, because the labor organizations might object. The high cost of living has to be handled with gloves because one of the prime causes is the high price of agricultural produce, such as wheat, milk, butter and eggs, and of course it would never do to antagonize the farmer. Unnecessary public works cannot be closed down because of a reason that the censor might forbid us to mention.

Canada wants waking up, and wants it badly. The Government is to blame for not adopting measures that will force the people to realize the stern necessities of war, the people are to blame for threatening the Government with their displeasure if such measures are introduced. If the German commerce raider has said to be raving the Atlantic would only bombard a few of our ports, and if some Zeppelins would favour our inland points with the same kind of mementoes they are accustomed to drop in England, their visits might easily prove a blessing in disguise. But as such intervention is not to be hoped for, apparently the only thing to do is to possess our souls in patience and trust to the slow moving machinery that the National Service Board will provide. Industrial Canada.

Mr. Rowell's Plea For the Need of An Imperial Conference

Special to The Examiner:

TORONTO, Dec. 28.—One of the promised acts of the Lloyd George government which when it comes about will be of special interest to Canadians, will be the calling of the Imperial Conference.

There have been a great many people in Canada who have never understood why the Imperial Conference has not been called long ago so that representatives of the Dominions should consult together for the most effective prosecution of the war.

Mr. Rowell has been perhaps the leading spokesman of those who have advocated the Imperial Conference. Early in 1915 when the first announcement came that an Imperial Conference would not likely be called, Mr. Rowell gave his arguments for the calling of such a Conference and repeatedly since then, at meeting after meeting he has urged the course. The arguments may be summed up in Mr. Rowell's speech in Toronto at the third annual dinner of the Liberal Club Federation of Ontario, on May 21st, 1915:

"The very life and future of our Empire is now at stake, and all its resources in men and means must be mobilized to achieve victory. The Governments of Russia, France and Great Britain have held united conferences to discuss how the allies can best mobilize both their finances and military resources, the parliaments of Great Britain and all the self-governing dominions have held their war sessions; but so far, the supreme Council of the Empire—the Imperial Conference, representing all the free nations of the Empire—has not been called together in a war session to consider how we can most effectively mobilize the resources of the whole empire for this life and death struggle in which we are engaged.

Why Not an Imperial Conference?

"The Imperial Conference was called into being for the express purpose of discussing and considering questions of common interest between "His Majesty's Government and his Governments of the Self-Governing Dominions beyond the Seas." When in the history of our Empire has a question arisen of such common and vital interest and of such commanding importance as the one we are now facing? If there ever was a time in our history when such consideration appears both desirable and necessary, it is now.

"I am sure every portion of the Empire would cheerfully and gladly respond to the united appeal of the free nations of the Empire. And what a splendid illustration and demonstration it would be at this hour of solidarity as well as of the flexibility of our free institutions, and the loyalty which springs from liberty. What a demonstration it would be of the determination of the free democracies of the Empire to combine in the performance of the Empire's task and to maintain for democracy and free government their right to a place in the earth."

Unusual.

"There's no end to her debts."

"What makes you think so?"

"Why, she and her mother are the best of friends."

Identified.

"You haven't forgotten me, have you, waiter?"

"Oh, no, sir. You are the two fried smelts."

Chance makes our relations, but choice makes our friends.—Delille.

BOARD WANTED

FOREMAN IN SOUTH SIDE MILL, DESIRES to get board and room; modern conveniences; near car line, between C.P.R. and Lansdowne Ave. State price and particulars to Box 637 Examiner Office. 3d-150-637

BOARDERS WANTED

BOARDERS WANTED CENTRAL — ALL conveniences. Terms moderate. Apply 545 Bethune street 6d-149-606

FOR SALE

FOR SALE TWELVE HENS (LAYING) and rooster Apply 569 Romaine Street 3d-150-640

CLEARING OUT SALE OF GENT'S SUITS, overcoats, several good gent's for soldiers. JAY'S store, Aylmer street. 6d

FOR SALE—CANADA MALLEABLE steel ranges and repairs. 286 Sherbrooke street. 'Phone 1656. 22d-155-222

FOR SALE—BLACK HORSE ABOUT 1400 lbs., sound; also Peter Hamilton Seed Drill, 11 hoe, nearly new Apply 551 Romaine. 2d-150-634

UNDERWOOD NO 6 LATEST MODEL, two color ribbon, back spacer. For sale cheap to a quick buyer Apply to Box 4661 Examiner 22d-150-4661

GREAT LOTS—IN BLOCK E. ASHBURNham, on Dufferin, Roger, Elgin streets; $4 per foot, $10 down $10 per quarter till paid for. Interest only 6 per cent. Land dry, sightly, healthy, also on McDonnel St., Peterborough Apply to Dumble & Johnston 6m-149-617

TO RENT

TO RENT—TWO UNFURNISHED ROOMS Apply 478 George Street. 3d-150-617

FOR RENT—4 ROOMED HOUSE, WARM rent $5.00 month. Apply 65 Robinson Street Harry Morgan. 6d-150-633

GOOD OFFICE OR STORE WITH WATER connection and heated, possession at once Apply 185 Charlotte St. dtf-25-2799

FOR RENT—NO. 29 WATER STREET, suitable for store or office, immediate possession. Apply 42 George street. dtf-95

FOR RENT—STORE No. 1734 SIMCOE ST Immediate possession Apply 42 George Street dtf

FOR RENT—TWO UNFURNISHED ROOMS suitable for bedroom and sitting room every convenience. First class locality; good board if desired. Address at the Examiner 3d-150-619

SECOND-HAND STORES

FURNITURE, STOVES, and Household Goods sold on Commission, Exchanged or Bought for Cash. Storage room to let at reasonable rates.
M. T. BUTCHER,
346 & 348 Water St.

A. CHERNIKOFF

Will Buy and Sell New and Second-Hand Goods of all Kinds. Best prices Paid. Big Bargains in Cook Stoves and all kinds of Heaters at Chernikoff's. Men's Suits and Overcoats at less than the cost of making.

339-347 George Street 'Phone 23

SECOND HAND
FURNITURE, STOVES, etc.

Bought and sold. Entire Household Furniture or pieces bought. We know the value. Telephone and we will call.

S. COHEN 180 CHARLOTTE ST. PHONE 1360

LOST

LOST ON GEORGE STREET A PARCEL containing handkerchiefs. Finder please leave at Examiner. 1d-150-634

LOST—ON SATURDAY IN CENTRE OF the city a Friendship Bracelet. Finder please leave at this office and oblige. 3d-149-567

LOST WEDDING RING ON SATURDAY evening, between Gilmour and George street, Finder please leave at the Examiner office 3d-149-585

LOST—ON SATURDAY BETWEEN WELler, Homewood and Gilmour, black fur gauntlet. Finder please leave at the Examiner. Reward. 2d-150—38

LOST — SILK RATT BROOCH BETWEEN the Tivoli Theatre and Charlotte Street, On Christmas night. Finder will please leave at the Examiner Reward. 3d-149-606

LOST—BLACK SILK POPLIN BAG CONtaining purse change, etc., on Wednesday, between Brock street rink and smith street Finder please leave at the Examiner. 1d-150-635

LOST ON SUNDAY EVENING AT MUNRO House, a watch and chain. Will the party who has same leave with the bar-tender at the Munro House and save further trouble. 1d-150-615

LOST—ON SATURDAY, MESH BAG, INitials "H.J.F" inside, on Prudential office steps or on George street. Finder will please leave at the Examiner office. 3d-149-595

HELP WANTED—MALE

BOY WANTED TO CARRY A ROUTE IN East City. Apply at the Examiner office 3d-150-641

WANTED MESSENGER BOY 15 YEARS old to learn telegraphing Apply G N W. Telegraph Office 3d-150-618

HELP WANTED—GOOD BRIGHT BOY not eligible for military service, for a grocery driver. Apply Mitchell's Grocery, Reid street. 3d-150-629

Men Wanted at Quaker Oats Elevator. Apply at office near elevator. 3d-148

HELP WANTED—Female

WANTED—NURSE GIRL TO TAKE BABY out. Apply 651 George St 3d-148-557

WANTED — A NUMBER OF GIRLS—APply Canadian General Electric Company 2d-149-599

TWO MAIDS WANTED AT ONCE — APply Nicholls Hospital. 3d-149-596

WANTED—A COMPETENT MAID FOR general house work. Apply 748 George street. 3d-150-625

YOUNG GIRL WANTED FOR LIGHT Housekeeping. Apply Examiner for address. 3d-148-595

WANTED — A WOMAN TO DO WASHing. Apply to Mrs. Milburn, 653 George street. 3d-148-590

WANTED — AN EXPERIENCED STENographer and office assistant — young lady. Apply Box 1167, Examiner office. 3d-148

WANTED—SMART GIRL AS BOOK KEEper, able to use typewriter. Apply Box 614, Examiner Office. 3d-149-614

GENERAL SERVANT WANTED AT ONCE for family of two. Apply between 2 and 4.30 at 370 Water street, or at 73 Lock street, from 7 to 9 o'clock. 3d-149-604

Girls Wanted for Power Sewing Machines. Apply J. J. Turner & Sons. 3d-149

WANTED

WANTED—AT ONCE—A GOOD COOK Apply at the Grand Hotel. 1d-150-635

WANTED TO RENT—FURNISHED HOUSE or apartments, till May. Apply Box 622 Examiner. 3d-150-622

WANTED TO BUY—AN ELECTRIC DRILL new or second hand. Apply stating price to Box 606 Examiner. 3d-149-606

WANTED — GOOD CAPABLE WOMAN, good wages. Apply 41 Crescent street. 12d-145-606

HOOPER'S REPAIR SHOP

NEVER TOO LATE TO MEND.

WHEN YOUR BICYCLE NEEDS DOCTORing, cutlery needs sharpening or grinding, sewing machine needs overhauling household breaks mended or small brass or iron turning done, we know how. Gasoline engine work a specialty. 191 Charlotte street, opposite Snowden House 6d-147-4478

VULCANIZING

NOW IS THE TIME TO HAVE YOUR Vulcanizing done. Reliable steam vulcanizing and tube repairing done promptly.—THE MANNING GARAGE, 330 Water Street. 'Phone 1347. dtf-47-4084

HAIR DRESSING

MANICURING, HAIR DRESSING AND massageing. Hair braids, switches, up-to-date line of hair ornaments. Make an appointment now.—MISS E. SMITH Opera House Block. 'Phone 1182 150-63-M

MONUMENTAL WORK

WE RESPECTFULLY SOLICIT YOUR ORder for Cemetery Work of any kind Latest equipment; first class Scotch granite cutters—Coughlin's Monumental Works, 234 Hunter Street. 'Phone 1341 dtf-46-4046

PATENTS

GORDON & WIDDIFIELD, Barristers Solicitors Patent applications receive special attention. Offices, Cor. George and Hunter streets

H. J. S. DENNISON, 18 WEST KING ST. Toronto: Experts in Patents, Trade marks, designs, Copyrights and Infringements. Write us for Booklet. dtf-4

BABCOCK & SONS

Patents, Trade Marks, Designs, Registered Patent Attorneys. Established 1877. Formerly Patent Office Examiner. Master of Patent Laws. Representatives in all foreign countries. Write for book, "Patent Protection." Tells All about and how to obtain Patents. 99 St James St., Montreal. Branches: Ottawa, Washington.

SOCIETIES

CHILDREN'S AID SOCIETY of Peterborough City and County, For the care of neglected and ill-treated children
C. A. G. SPENCE
Assistant Secretary and Inspector 133 Simcoe Street.
'Phone 1054 Office Hours 3 till 4
Children for Adoption.

GRAND HOLIDAY BILL
—AT THE—
ROYAL

NEW! NEW! NEW!
FOX FEATURE FILMS

The Management is able to announce that he has been fortunate in securing for Wednesday & Thursday of this and following weeks, the right to produce the Powerful Fox Feature Films of the Fox Film Corporation which control the greatest collection of motion picture Stars and Players in the World.

WM. FOX

TO-NIGHT! TO-NIGHT! TO-NIGHT!
See first of these Wonderful Film Features To-Night with a Grand Program of Comedies and Dramas.

BATTLE OF HEARTS
A Sea Drama of Great Interest
A FAILURE AT 50 A THREE REEL SOCIETY DRAMA
THEIR TALKING WAYS A ROARING COMEDY
Two Full Shows—Afternoon & Evening for the One Price 10c
ADMISSION, including War Tax

AT The EMPIRE TO-NIGHT

One of the Greatest American Comedies in the Famous Photo Play
"The Clown"
Also a good Comedy To-day Entitled
"The Day's Work"
And Extra Special for To-morrow and Sat., one of Charlie Chaplin's Latest
"Behind The Screens"
This makes a great Programme at the Empire. See it.

STRAND THEATRE To-day
The splendid Metro production
The Lure Of Hearts Desire
Also the 9th episode of The Iron Claw entitled
THE ARROWS OF HATE
Special afternoon matinee for Ladies and Children, 10c and 15c.

TIZ-IT THEATRE
FRIDAY & SATURDAY—The Great Serial:
LIBERTY
Red Feather Feature. A Drama of the Great White Way, featuring HOBART HENLEY
Temptation & The Man
Fourth Episode Diamond From The Sky
His Highness, The Janitor
JOKER COMEDY
Big U Feature Hungry Happys Dream

AN UNSOLICITED TESTIMONIAL

OF THE VALUE OF

DR. BANTA'S KIDNEY & RHEUMATIC PILLS

To Cure Kidney & Bladder Trouble is given by Mr. JAMES JACKSON of 232 Perry Street, a life long resident of this City.

Read what Mr. Jackson says in the statement he gave at his own request

I have suffered from Kidney and bladder trouble for the past twelve years, and during that time I spent more than a hundred dollars with doctors and for different medicines, and was unable to procure any relief.

I was beginning to lose faith in medicines, and I considered my case more or less hopeless. Hearing so much about Dr. Banta's Kidney and Rheumatic Pills, I decided to give them a trial, and before I had finished one box, I felt like a different man; and am now completely rid of an ailment which had troubled me day and night for the past twelve years.

I procured Dr. Banta's Kidney and Rheumatic Pills at Lynch's Drug Store, and when I purchased them I was told to return for my money if they did not help me. I can recommend these pills and I would willingly pay $100.00 a box to get the relief that I did from them.

This testimonial is given at my own suggestion, and I take pleasure and I consider it my duty to recommend Dr. Banta's Pills to anyone suffering from kidney or rheumatic ailments of any description.

JAMES JACKSON, 232 Perry St., Peterborough, Ont.

Dated at Peterborough this 8th day of December, 1916.

Dr. Banta's Kidney and Rheumatic Pills have cured and given relief to dozens of sufferers in this city who are just as enthusiastic in their praises of this great medicine as Mr. Jackson.

If you are troubled with Lame Back, Kidney Trouble or Rheumatism get a box of these pills at once. They are sold and recommended at

LYNCH'S DRUG STORE

168 HUNTER STREET - - - PETERBOROUGH

BRITISH WAR BADGES

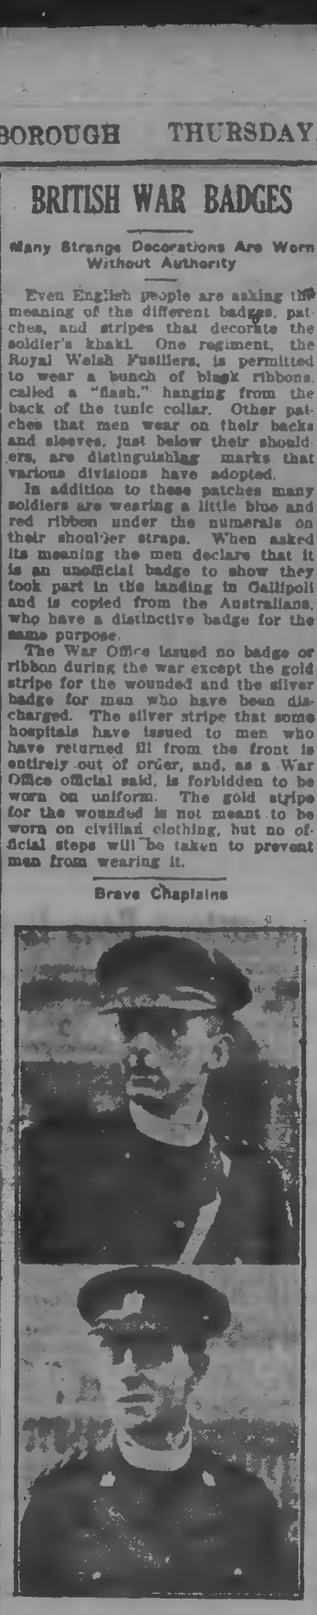
Many Strange Decorations Are Worn Without Authority

Even English people are asking the meaning of the different badges, patches, and stripes that decorate the soldier's khaki. One regiment, the Royal Welsh Fusiliers, is permitted to wear a bunch of black ribbons, called a "flash," hanging from the back of the tunic collar. Other patches that men wear on their backs and sleeves, just below their shoulders, are distinguishing marks that various divisions have adopted.

In addition to these patches many soldiers are wearing a little blue and red ribbon under the numerals on their shoulder straps. When asked its meaning the men declare that it is an unofficial badge to show they took part in the landing in Gallipoli and is copied from the Australians, who have a distinctive badge for the same purpose.

The War Office issued no badge or ribbon during the war except the gold stripe for the wounded and the silver badge for men who have been discharged. The silver stripe that some hospitals have issued to men who have returned ill from the front is entirely out of order, and, as a War Office official said, is forbidden to be worn on uniform. The gold stripe for the wounded is not meant to be worn on civilian clothing, but no official steps will be taken to prevent men from wearing it.

Brave Chaplains



The clergy of all denominations have distinguished themselves for gallantry at the front. Here are two hero British chaplains, both of whom have been awarded the Military Cross and were photographed when leaving Buckingham Palace where they were invested by the King. Rev. Canon Woodward, Canon of Southwark Cathedral, is shown above, and Rev. Hugh Hornby is shown below.

An Artillery "Hell"

An Englishman writes: We shall beat the enemy not by excess of numbers but by excess of freshness. We need men and more men, not to outnumber the enemy on the field but in order that our troops shall not suffer the German ordeal. A German general's order of the day, taken in battle, urged the troops to stand firm under bombardment by the promise of revenge. "We will see to it that we exterminate the British and French armies by such a hell as they have themselves created." His promise also confesses his plight. Our artillery fire is too much.

Identification Discs

The men of the French army wear their identification discs round their wrists. British soldiers wear them round their necks.

MEMORIAL SERVICE

All Saints' Church to do Honour to Memory of Unreturning Brave

A memorial service will be held in All Saints' church next Sunday evening for six members of the congregation who have fallen in battle during the course of the year that is closing. The last evening of the year is a fitting time to do honour to the memory of these men who have laid down their life for the freedom we enjoy. Following are the names of those who will be remembered:

Private Arthur White.
Private George Melhew.
Private William Hall.
Lieutenant Crawford Rush.
Driver Claude Manley.
Private George Willkins.

The friends of these men are invited to attend the service, which will be of a bright, triumphant nature.

Not for Twice as Much.

He was an idle Irish boy, but he had the Irishman's ready wit. He had shipped on board a man-of-war where he annoyed the boatswain by his laziness. Seeing him on the maintop one morning, gazing idly out to sea, the boatswain called to him:

"Come down out of that, ye rascal! Come down out of that, an' I'll give yez a dozen whacks wid a rope!"

"Faith, sorr," replied the boy, "Oi couldn't come if ye offered me two dozen!"

Wants to Get Even.

Some day, when our bank account sits even lower than it is now, we are going to try to arrange to take a year's leave of absence and spend it with our wife's relatives, staying about half as long with each of them as each of them usually stays with us.—Ohio State Journal.

Board of Education

To the Electors of the City of Peterborough.

Ladies and Gentlemen,—I have been again requested to allow my name to go before you as a candidate for your Public School Board.

As a member of the Board I have endeavoured to give it my best services and if my work has been satisfactory and you desire me to act as one of your representatives for a further term, I will be very pleased to give you my best efforts.

With best wishes for a Happy New Year.

Yours faithfully,

Roland Donne

BOARD OF EDUCATION

To the Electors of the City of Peterborough:

Ladies and Gentlemen: I have been again nominated as a candidate for the Board of Education, and if my services in the past have been satisfactory to you, and it is your desire that I represent you for another two year term, I will deem it a pleasure to give you my very best service on the Board. Wishing you the compliments of the season, I am,

Yours faithfully,

B. F. ACKERMAN

VOTE FOR EDGAR

AND PROGRESS IN THE SOUTH WARD

EAST WARD

Ladies and Gentlemen:

Vote For J.H.Smith

For Alderman in East Ward for 1917. Wishing you the Compliments of the Season

A. A. FOWLER

— FOR —

BOARD of EDUCATION

New Blood Means New Energy

In selecting your candidates for the Board of Education, keep in mind that the keynote of progress is renewed life and vigor in the executive bodies that have to handle the business of this growing City.

In offering myself as candidate for a position on this board, I do so realising that only a man's best service will meet the growing need for practical business methods in this most important branch of the City's business. My record as a business man for the last fourteen years and a lifelong resident in Peterborough, residing in East City for twenty-five years, is well known to a large number of our citizens, and I trust is sufficient evidence of my ability to warrant your support in my present candidature.

Should I be elected, I promise to weigh most carefully all matters involving expenditure of the City's finances, and to countenance only strictly business methods in undertaking any work being handled by this Board.

Soliciting the support of every progressive voter, I am,

Yours for progress,

A. A. FOWLER

Your Vote is Respectfully Solicited by

G. N. GORDON

For the Board of Education

Vincent Eastwood

Respectfully Announces His Candidature for Re-Election to

Board of Education

Industrial Day Schools for Peterboro

Hastings Items Of Interest

Peterborough Talent Represented at Annual Entertainment

HASTINGS, Dec. 27. — The annual entertainment under the auspices of the Methodist Sunday school, given in the Town Hall on Christmas night was, as usual, a grand success, both in numbers and in the high class programme given. The children acquitted themselves very creditably in all of their selections, while the adult numbers were rendered in an excellent manner, while each selection was manner. A splendid patriotic drill was given by sixteen girls. Of very great importance to the program were the readings given by Miss G. Langmaid, graduate of the Whitby Ladies' College and the violin selections by Miss Mignon Telgmann, of Peterborough. Each of these artists were so repeatedly encored that they were obliged to respond. Altogether the entertainment was of a high order, and the committee in charge are to be complimented on its success.

Funeral Thursday.

The funeral of the late Isaac Thompson was held on Thursday afternoon and was well attended. Deceased, who had reached the advanced age of 86 was well and favourably known in this district, where he had spent nearly all his life. In his demise, the Methodist church loses a faithful and consistent member, and the community a man of honesty and integrity. He is survived by his widow one son, William, of Owen Sound, and two daughters, Mrs. Frost of Owen Sound, and Mrs. B. F. Doxsee, town.

Interment was made in the Trent Valley cemetery.

Those who attended the entertainment in Westwood on Friday night, report a very enjoyable evening.

The school closed on Friday night with a pleasing programme given by the pupils.

Sgt. T. Learmouth was present and addressed the school.

The greatest snow storm of the season was felt here on Friday, when high winds and drifting snow made one feel that he dare not venture out.

Mr. and Mrs. John Staples are spending the vacation in Bethany with Mr. Staples' mother and sisters.

Mr. and Mrs. Stott of Palmerston, spent Christmas with her sister, Mrs. Geo. Hormel, town.

Mr. and Mrs. Aubrey of Palmerston, are spending vacation week with friends here.

Miss Gertie Hill of Peterborough Bus. College, spent Christmas here with her parents.

Mr. Cecil Doxsee of Barrie, is the guest of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. B. F. Doxsee.

Mr. and Mrs. Outrander of Colborne, are visiting Mr. and Mrs. D. Scriver.

Mrs. F. Moore of Alliston, is the guest of Mr. and Mrs. D. Cook, town.

Mr. R. C. Doxsee and Miss Carrie, spent Christmas with his father and mother at Hoard's Station.

Mr. Harley Ennis spent the holiday at his home in Norwood.

Miss Walker of N. Ontario, is visiting friends in Hastings.

Mr. Archie Thompson of Toronto, spent the holiday under the parental roof.

Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Atkinson and son of Peterborough, are guests of Mrs. Carter, town.

Miss Mae Huycke of Peterborough, is with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. C. Huycke.

Mr. and Mrs. Ray Best of Toronto, with the latter's parents, Mr. and Mrs. F. Tyler.

Miss Helen Chapman of Hamilton, is home for the holiday.

Mr. Harry Chapman of Port Hope, spent the week end with his parents here.

Miss Nell Patterson of Napanee, is with her parents in town.

Miss McCutcheon is spending the Christmas vacation at her home in Stirling.

Coal is very scarce and the price of wood very high, causing serious thought on the part of the consumers.

A Dentist!

"In Belgium," said War Correspondent Will Irwin, "I know an artillery blacksmith who carried on the sleeve of his uniform the hammer and pinchers—the insignia of his calling.

"'Wot's them things on your sleeve mean?' a civilian asked him one day.

"'They mean I'm an army dentist,' he said, with a wink at me.

"'Dentist, eh?' said the civilian. 'The pinchers, then, are to pull the teeth out with. But the hammer—wot's the hammer fur?'

"'The hammer,' said the blacksmith, 'is for use in bad cases to chloroform the patients.'"

Auto Museum.

An automobile museum has been established in London, where there are exhibited gasoline cars, made as early as 1895, a steam tricycle made in 1891, and one of the earliest steam cars, made in 1860.

First Farm Paper.

The first farm paper was printed in England in 1681, and dignified itself with the title Collection of Letters for the Improvement of Husbandry and Trade.

To the Electors of North Monaghan

Ladies and Gentlemen,—I have been asked to stand for re-election as Reeve for your township. During the time I have occupied the Reeve's chair I have endeavoured to give the township the very best service I could.

If you see fit to re-elect me, I will continue to have before me always the interests of North Monaghan and its ratepayers.

Wishing you all a Happy New Year, I am,

Yours faithfully,

JOHN McINTOSH

H. B. Rye

Solicits the votes of the Electors of North Monaghan for the office of

REEVE

FOR THE YEAR 1917

His Record as Councillor for the past two years is before the people.

To The Electors of North Monaghan

Ladies and Gentlemen,—I have been nominated as a candidate for the office of Deputy-Reeve of the Township of North Monaghan. I have had two years' experience in the Council, and if elected will give you the very best service I possibly can. Wishing you the compliments of the season, I am,

Yours faithfully,

J. H. BELL

A Vote For

F. W. DOAN

Board Of Education

Means Preparedness by Better Technical Training

A BUSINESS MAN FOR A BUSINESS PROPOSITION

VOTE FOR TAYLOR

IN THE SOUTH WARD

HALF-PRICE FRIDAY & SATURDAY

FOR

EVENING DRESSES

Crepe de Chene, Satin, Ninnon & Lace Dresses.

Regular $15.00, $20.00, $22.50, $25.00, $27.00, $32.50, $35.00, $40.00, $50.00

Your Choice of the Entire Lot at Exactly HALF-PRICE.

Friday and Saturday Only! RICHARD HALL & SON LIMITED Friday and Saturday Only!

REPORT OF DEATH WAS VERY MUCH EXAGGERATED

Havelock Man Turns Up in Moosejaw—Was Surprised to Read of His "Untimely End"—Havelock Items of Interest—Many Visitors to Village

HAVELOCK, Dec. 27.—The news of the death of Jas. Bohan, which was rumoured in Havelock last week, is entirely wrong, the said "Jimmie" being well and alive. He is working on the C.P.R. out of Moose Jaw, Sask., and was much surprised on picking up a paper to read of his untimely death.

Pte. Gordon B Kipp, formerly of the Standard staff, Havelock has been reported missing since the fighting on Oct. 8th last. He is a brother of V. M Kipp, Winnipeg representative of the Canadian Press and his home is in Woodstock.

Mrs. Jas. Craig, formerly of town, dropped dead at her home in London on Monday last while packing prior to removal to Syracuse, where her husband had purchased a hotel.

Officers Elected.

The Annual December meeting of Blairton L.O.L. No. 1255, for the election of officers, was held on the 13th inst. Following are the newly elected officers.

W.M.—Bro. D. H. Little
D. M.—Bro. E. Quackenbush.
Chaplain—Bro. J. T. Little.
Rec. Sec.—Bro. H. R. Chase.
Fin. Sec.—Bro. C. Ellis
Treas.—Bro. D Little.
D. of C.—Bro. F. Chase
1st Lecturer—Bro. J F Chase.
2nd Lecturer—Bro. L. Righdy.
1st Com.—Bro. E Clark
2nd Com.—Bro. G Chase.
3rd Com.—Bro. A. Sanders
4th Com.—Bro. Pte. C Toms
O. S. Tyler—Bro. R. Davidson
I. S. Tyler—Bro. H. Riley

Mr. and Mrs. Danard are spending the holidays at their home in Toronto.

Miss Grace Murray at her home in Cayuga.

Miss Thompson at her home in Norwood

Miss Geraldine Shea at her home, Peterborough

Miss Alma Brown of West Toronto, is spending the holidays with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. W. J. Brown.

Mrs. L. Clarke was successfully operated on for appendicitis at Mrs. Campbell's private hospital last week by Dr. Holdcroft, assisted by Dr Sutton of Norwood. Her many friends wish her a speedy recovery to health.

Mr. Ward Patterson of Peterborough, was in town last week on business.

Mrs. Campbell has returned home after five weeks' vacation with her daughters, Mrs. Brady, London, and Mrs Graham, West Toronto.

Miss Josephine Barnett of Toronto, is spending a holiday with her parents, Mr. and Mrs Thos. Barnett.

Miss Lottie Chiles, of Belleville, is the guest of her mother, Mrs R Chiles

Miss Katherine Falkner of Kingston, is the guest of her parents, Mr and Mrs. Harry Falkner.

Mr. and Mrs. Geo. D. Young and little son, Master Edwin, of Vantage, Sask., are east on a visit after an absence of four years. They are the guests of Mr. and Mrs Jos Seabrooke at Prenevaux.

Mr. and Mrs. S. S. Joyce have moved back to town from Sterling. Mr. Joyce has opened up a boot and shoe store in his old stand on George street.

Miss Mary Crowe of town, has been engaged by the School Board to fill the vacancy on the staff caused by the resignation of Miss Paget

Mr. Wm. Menzies of Beatty, Sask., is east on a visit and will spend the next two months with friends in Havelock and Belmont.

The many friends of Mrs. Wm. Westcott will be sorry to learn of her serious illness, suffering from a paralytic stroke.

Pte. Wm. Armstrong of town, has been discharged from the 247th as being medically unfit.

Mr. W. J. McBurney of town, has purchased the grocery business of Mr. Frank Coon and takes possession on Jan. 1st.

Mr. T. P. Lancaster left Friday for London, Ont. to spend the Christmas holidays with his sister, Mrs. Jack Moffatt.

Misses Florence and Stella McWilliams, of Toronto, and Miss Edith McWilliams, of Marmora, were the guests of their sisters, Mrs. L. Clarke and Miss Minnie McWilliams, on Christmas.

Dr. and Mrs. Holdcroft, of town, and son Don, of Kingston, spent Christmas at Tweed with the former's parents.

Mr. and Mrs. Julian Carter and family at the former's home in Hastings.

Mr. and Mrs. Jas. Watson and son Earnest with their daughter, Mrs. D. L. Somerville, at Lindsay.

Mr. and Mrs. R. F. Covert with Mrs. Clarke at Peterborough.

Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Rose and children at the latter's home, Port McNichol.

Mr. and Mrs. Vaudervoort and daughter Blanche and Mr. and Mrs. Ray Phillips with friends in Colborne.

Rev. and Mrs. Patterson and Master Cyril at the latter's home in Toronto.

Miss Seeney, of Tweed, with her sister, Mrs. C. Coon.

Miss Katherine Falkner, of Kingston, and Mr. Wm. Falkner, of Ottawa, with their parents, Mr. and Mrs. Falkner.

Miss Birdie Crowe, of Ottawa, with her mother, Mrs. Crowe.

Mr. Wm. Barlow, of Toronto, with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. I. Barlow.

Miss Polly Chiles, of Toronto; Miss Flossie Chiles, of Peterborough, and Miss Lottie Chiles, of Belleville, with their mother, Mrs. R. Chiles.

Miss Kathleen Pacy, of Toronto, with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Thos. Pacy.

Miss Agnes Lynch, of Toronto, with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. M. Lynch.

Miss Laura Foley and Mr. Vincent Foley, of Toronto, with their parents, Mr. and Mrs. M. Foley.

Mr. and Mrs. Bruce Puffer and son Jack at the latter's home in Toronto.

Dr. and Mrs. Russell, of Toronto, with Mr. and Mrs. F. Haig.

Mr F. Haig, of Toronto, with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Haig.

Mr. W. J. Bryans, of Toronto, with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Bryans.

Mrs. W. A. Deumo, of Toronto, with her sister, Mrs. J. W. Bryans.

Mr. Standley Holcombe, of Halifax, with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. W. J. Holcombe.

Mr. T. P. Lancaster, of London, with his sister, Mrs. Jack Moffatt.

Mr. and Mrs. Harry Bound and family, of Bowmanville, with the latter's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Chas. Armstrong.

Mr. and Mrs. Brennan, of Gravenhurst, with their son, Mr. Reg. Brennan.

Mr. Earl Laing spent the holiday with friends at Colborne.

Miss Gladys Davidson, of Campbellford, the guest of Miss Bertha Bryans.

Lance-Corporal Elmo Patterson, of the 198th Buffs Battalion, Toronto, the guest of his uncle, Mr. and Mrs. Walter Wilde.

Mrs. Jack Burnett spent the holiday with Mr. Burnett at Trenton.

Miss Mabel Pacey, of Ottawa, with her parents in town.

Mr. and Mrs Squire and son Jimmie with friends in Norwood.

Mrs. Dingman, of Peterborough, with her brother, Mr. J. V. A. Coon.

Mr. and Mrs. Anderson, of Frankford, with friends in town.

Mr. Jack McGill, of Toronto, with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. S. McGill.

Mr. and Mrs. C. A. Ghent at the latter's home in Madoc.

Miss Stella Voyer, of Toronto, with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. F. Voyer.

Mr. Don. Barnett, of Toronto, and Mr. Thos. Barnett, of Peterborough, the guests of their parents, Mr. and Mrs. T. Barnett.

Miss Vera Skene, of Toronto, with her parents, Rev. and Mrs. J. B. Skene.

Mr. and Mrs. Ward Patterson and family, of Peterborough, with the latter's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Geo. Scott, Trent River.

Miss Luella Crawford, of Toronto, with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Crawford.

Mr. Watson, who is attending Queen's University, Kingston, the guest of his parents, Dr. and Mrs. Watson.

Mr. and Mrs. Chris Kellar, of Toronto, the guests of Mr. and Mrs. Jas. Kellar.

Mr. Jack Roche, of Toronto, with his brother, Mr. H. W. Roche.

Scene from "Charley's Aunt," which comes to The Grand next Saturday, December 30, Matinee and Night. Seats now on sale

Letter Carriers to Distribute Cards

(Continued from Page 5.)

are not ready for delivery. As collected the letter carrier will inquire the name of the person signing the card and note the same on the outside of the envelope in the left hand corner.

On Friday, 5th of January, the carrier will make a second visit,

Again on the 6th, a third call.

At the expiration of that week, Jan. 1st to 6th, the carrier will report to the postmaster what cards have been collected, and those he has been unable to collect. The Postmaster will then forward to Ottawa these statements. For the efficient carrying out of this important work the letter carrier will be held responsible for the proper delivery and collection of the cards.

On sheets, supplied, the carrier shall make a record of cards delivered and on another sheet, names of cards not collected or available, and if any cases where it seems impossible to get the cards, note shall be made of the face for the information of the department.

It is understood that penalties for non-compliance with the objects of the registration have not as yet been prescribed, but the Act, under which the work is being undertaken is permissive in such respect, and the Governor-General is authorized to prescribe, if he is so advised, penalties for non-observance.

It is hoped that all will cheerfully comply with the orders. The result, if faithfully carried out, will give Canada an accurate idea of the available man power in the country. Of the opportunity to change occupations and assist in augmenting productions, there is no doubt that there is a surplus of labour in many occupations that could profitably be turned into other channels, making for the general national good and efficiency.

Good skating at East City Rink afternoons and evenings. Band in Attendance To-Night. Admission 10c.

Fourteen Boys Broke Windows In Old Murray St. Baptist Church

Fourteen small boys, any one of whom might have stepped from the pages of Penrod, were fined $5 each this morning for a total of $70 to cover the estimated cost of $68 of replacing windows they admitted having broken in the old Murray Street Baptist Church building. Literally they appeared in the Juvenile Court, but virtually it was the Police Court, for the Juvenile Court is only a name.

The youngest of the boys was seven years old, and the others ranged in years up to eleven or twelve. Three others pleaded not guilty, and were discharged with a warning. A group of peeved parents followed the hearing of the youngsters, who were distributed about the table in front of the Magistrate's desk. One was a soldier's wife, whose husband is at the front. Her two boys were included among those who admitted breaking the windows and the mother thus had to contribute $10 towards the window fund. Looking over the "gang," their faces wore a cherubic expression, specially employed for parlour or Sunday School situations. Here and there an eye glinted with mischief. They were children of representative homes, and could scarcely be held for lack of home training, although it may have been lax in regard to church windows, for $68 buys an expanse of glass. It was stated that the boys had deliberately stoned the windows, and that there was no element of accident in the results.

Chief of Chemong and His Father Fined $5 For Assault

Dan and Danny Whetung, father and son, of the Chemong Indian village, were each fined $5 and costs, of $8.55 by Magistrate Langley, in the County Police court this morning on a charge of having assaulted W. J. Haines on Thursday, November 30th. Haines is a boat builder in the village, and his wife is the Public school teacher. From the evidence adduced, the assault was apparently the outcome of a misunderstanding of an incident in the school work which seemingly had been misreported to Mr. Whetung, who found it objectionable as he heard it.

Mr. Whetung, senior, is postmaster at the village and when Haines called in the afternoon of Nov. 30th for his mail, the postmaster threw it at him, he stated. Dan told him what he could do to him, but Haines replied that Dan was too old. He left the store and Dan followed him to the sidewalk, saying he would make Haines afraid of him. Continuing his story, Haines said he was struck on the face by Mr Whetung, the blow leaving a small wound that bled freely. Mrs Whetung and daughter Daisy then called Danny, the Chief.

"Danny came on the run," said the plaintiff, "and kicked me severely from behind just as I was going to step into my buggy. He ordered me to get on home as fast as I could. When I was about to get into the buggy Dan, senior, kicked me in the same place, except more severely. It crippled me for two days. I felt the effects of those kicks for two weeks. Danny, junior, said I was crazy and foolish and so were all my relations. He said he would give me forty-eight hours to get off the property or he would get me off."

To Mr. Kerr witness said he had had no previous difficulty with the Whetungs. At the post office Dan, senior, said he did not like the way Mrs. Haines was teaching. Witness denied that he used profane language at the store. He was not accustomed to swearing. Haines said he knew Danny junior, was Chief. He sometimes made himself officious, witness said, to which the latter objected when it was directed to his private affairs.

Mrs. Haines next called, corroborated her husband's account of the assault outside the post office and further explained the incident in school that morning which was materially enlarged as Mr. Whetung senior afterwards related it as reported to him

No Bilingual Difficulty Here.

Willie McCue, an Indian boy of 12 years, was also called for the prosecution. He could speak only a few words in English, although he understood most of what he heard. Mrs. Haines remarked that the teaching at the school was entirely in English, and apparently there is no bilingual problem in the education of the Mississauga children. They are taught the Indian language at home and learn English at school. The boy said he had seen Mr Whetung strike Mr. Haines.

In his defence, Mr Whetung, senior, gave his version of the school incident which had aroused his anger, as it was reported to him, and stated that this was the cause of his feeling against Haines. He did not throw the newspapers at him in the post office, nor kicked him outside. Mr. Whetung said he caught Haines by the collar and twisted him around at the same time giving him a bunt with his knee.

Mr. F. D. Kerr appeared for the defendants and Mr. Daniel O'Connell for the paintiffs. The latter requested that the Whetungs be bound to keep the peace, but Magistrate Langley refused, stating that they were prominent persons at Chemong and that such a step was unnecessary.

County Constable John Jacobs of the village acted as interpreter while the McCue boy was on the stand.

Balfour's Cattle.

The advertisement announcing the sale, on August 31, of Mr. Balfour's shorthorns at Whittingehame, East Lothian, is a reminder that the ex-Premier has been, longest of all, an agriculturist. Years before politics engaged his attention he was a keen farmer, and Scottish papers often stated that "Mr. A. J. Balfour, of Whittingehame, has taken prizes for his agricultural exhibits." Aided by his mother, Lady Blanche Balfour, the later Lord Salisbury's sister, the future statesman devised plans for improving his farms and the comfort of his tenantry. His first speech, made when 12, was in connection with agriculture, and given at an open-air entertainment to his tenants and employees in response to a vote of thanks to himself and mother.

Co-operative Farming.

The Co-operative Wholesale Society is now going in for farming. It has recently purchased farms aggregating 4,500 acres, situated near Goole, Crewe, and Wisbech. Another interesting agricultural development is being undertaken by Mr. Thornton, the general manager of the Great Eastern Railway, who is about to form egg societies and egg-collecting depots in the Eastern Counties. Egg demonstration railway vans and motor omnibuses are to tour the district.

Eat Oysters And Fruit Now

After Christmas, most people feel like enjoying something light and nutritious after the heavy meat and plum pudding dishes.

OYSTERS are a valuable food They are the tenderest of meats and easily digestible, useful in regulating nutrition.

FRUITS contain delicious cooling and refreshing salts, so stimulating and active in regulating the stomach, liver and other organs.

Nothing nicer this week than our Sealshipt Oysters and Foreign and Domestic Fruits and Vegetables.

PRINGLE'S
Sanitary Fruit & Fish Market
Cor. George & Charlotte St.
Phone 197

Renew your subscription.

PRESENTED WITH WRIST WATCH

Last evening at the home of Mr Frederick Cann, second line of Smith township, a presentation and address to Private E. Hopwood took place.

The latter who has resided in the community for the past two years, has joined the medical service. That he was well known and highly esteemed was evidenced by the large number of people who turned out to bid him farewell, and participate in a social hour which followed the presentation.

The address contained the following:

Lily Lake, December 27, 1916.
Pte. E Hopwood,
Dear Ernest,—

Having learned that you were about to leave us, we your friends of Lily Lake, felt that we could not let this opportunity pass without expressing to you in some tangible manner what your association has meant to us.

In the few short years, during which you have been among us we have learned to appreciate your many sterling qualities and in going from us you leave a space in the community hard to fill.

We admire your spirit in determining to take your place and do your part in the cause of Liberty and Justice, and although you were rejected on former occasions you persevered and are now "doing your bit." We, your friends, know that you recognised early the direction in which your path of duty lay, and had you been accepted when you apply before, we would have lost you several months ago.

We ask you to accept this wrist watch as a slight token of appreciation from your friends of Lily Lake. May the wearing of it ever remind you that you have their best wishes for a safe and a speedy return among them.

Signed on behalf of your friends of Lily Lake.

Jessie C. Swinton,
Archie W. Ackison,
John Steinkrauss,
Stanley Cann.

A WEAK CRESTED BOY.

"My daughter suffered from inflamed eyelids and eczema on her head," writes Mr. H. W. Lear, Port Planford, Nfld. "The child was in a bad state and suffered greatly. The doctor failed to help her and on recommendation of a friend I used Dr. Chase's Ointment, which made a complete cure. With a grateful heart write you this letter."

IT PAYS

To watch the Grocery offers of The Peterboro Grocery Store. We are getting more business every week, just as customers find out about our clean, well assorted stock, our business methods and our moderate prices. This week extra values in the following—

Fresh Dairy Butter lb. 44c
Mince Meat New Prunes
Dried Nectarines
Evaporated Apples
2 lbs. 35c
Gal. Cans of Apples .. 24c
Medium Cans Apples 10c
Uncolored Japan Tea
lb. 28c
10 lb. Parcel Japan Tea $2.80
5 lb. Fine Japan Tea $1.00

Peterboro Grocery Co.
160 SIMCOE STREET
Fred Walker, Mgr. Phone 854

NOTICE!

The undersigned grocers of the City of Peterborough, have placed our orders for grocery stock, in accord with, and are selling to the public, goods that conform to the regulations as set out by the Pure Food Law of Canada. The following stores will be found satisfactory stores at which to buy:

A. W. PASKINS, 233 Hunter St.
W. J. BYERS, Byersville.
D. B. NICHOLLS, 209 Stewart St.
MITCHELL'S GROCERY, 239 Reid St.
BERT. HUNTER, 235 McDonnel St.
EDGAR PUTTICK, 531 Park St.
JUBY BROS., 242 Charlotte St.
N. ROUTLEY, 392 Brock St.
W. ROUTLEY, Lake and Aylmer Sts.
A. DAVIDSON, 133 Benson Ave.
BERT. HEARD, 239 George St
GOHEEN & MATCHETT, 196 Rubidge St.
DAWSON BROS., 559 George St.
F. DARLING, 521 George St.
E. J. McDONELL, 233 Lake St.
F. LYNCH, 465 Park St.
R. S. GOHEEN, 481 Aylmer St.

Millinery Bargains

Ladies' newest velvet hat shapes, only 99c

Shapes in black and colors, regular values up to $3.00, only 99c

LADIES' TRIMMED HATS $2.49

A table of very desirable trimmed Hats at about half price, choice for..... $2.49

Miss McGIVERIN, 412 GEORGE ST.

Pre-Inventory Sale Of Linens

Just prior to stock taking we are induced to make these reductions—shrewd buyers will tell you that "this is the season of the year when best values can be procured." Why? Every merchant desires to have his stock at low tide before listing time. See them to-morrow they are well worth while.

Unbleached Table Damask, 65c value. Two Day's Special, yard.....50c

Bleached Damask Table Cloth, bordered all way round, 2 yards square. Two Day's Special.....$1.95

Same as above, only 2½ x 2 yards.....$2.35

Irish Embroidered Pillow Cases, $1.19 and $1.25 value, size 45 x 36 inches. Special.....98c

Store Opens 8.15 a.m. The GRESSMAN Company Limited Store Closes 6 p.m.

ST. JOHN'S NIGHT OBSERVED BY THE MASONIC FRATERNITY

Officers Installed and Toast List Honoured at Most Enjoyable Gathering in the Masonic Hall Last Evening.

WAS LARGELY ATTENDED

The members of Corinthian Lodge, No. 101, and Peterborough Lodge No. 155, A. F and A. M., observed the anniversary of St. John the Evangelist, in characteristic fashion last evening, when the annual installation of officers took place, followed by a most enjoyable banquet. Although many members of the Masonic fraternity are away on active service, there was a large turnout last evening, and the occasion was a noteworthy one in the history of the two lodges.

The installation of the officers, which took place in the lodge room, formed the first part of the programme. Rt. Wor. Bro. (Colonel) Duncan Walker, was the installing master.

The officers were as follows:

Corinthian Lodge, No. 101, A. F. & A. M., G.R.C.

Bro. W. B. Morris—W. M.
W. Bro. J. Allan—I.P.M.
Bro. F. H. Dawson—S. W.
Bro. W. T. Holloway—J.W.
V.W. Bro. H. C. Winch—Chap.
Bro. E. F. Mason—Sec'y.
W. Bro. T. A. S. Hay—Treas.
Bro. A. J. Jardine—S.D.
Bro. R. F. Downey—J. D.
Bro. A. Mowat—P. G.
Bro. G. A. Gillespie—S.S.
Bro. G. R. Munro—J.S.
W. Bro. A. L. Killaly—D. of C.
Bro. J. W. Worth—Organist.
W. Bro. W. G. Morrow—Tyler.
W. Bro. E. A. Peck—Trustee.
W. Bro H. W. Morphet and W. Bro. A. L. Killaly—Auditors.

Peterborough Lodge, No. 155, A. F. & A. M., G.R.C.

Bro. G. A. Macdonald—W.M.
W. Bro. J. M. Roesel—I.P.M.
Bro. A. Waddell—S.W.
Bro. S. Taylor—J.W.
W. Bro. Wm. Hill—Chap.
R. W. Bro. W. H. Walkey—Sec'y.
R. W. Bro. A. Gibson—Treas.
Bro. J. Comstock—S.D.
Bro. M. Breckenridge—J.D.
Bro. P. T. Gillespie—I.G.
Bro. R. L. Dobbin—S.S.
Bro. W. D. Campbell—J.S.
W. Bro. J. G. M. Wilson—D. of C.
Bro. R. J. Devey—Organist.
Bro. J. Richardson—Tyler.
W. Bro. Wm. Hill—Trustee.
R. W. Bro. H. Rush and V. W. Bro. R. F. Morrow—Auditors.

The Banquet.

The members then adjourned to the banquet hall where a most appetizing repast was served by Bro. T. H. Hooper, who catered for the occasion in his usual efficient style.

The members the sojourned to the hall was honoured. Interspersed with the speeches were a number of charming musical offerings, including vocal solos by Wor. Bro. H. W. Morphet, Bro. V. R. Henry, Bro. Walter Hutchinson, Bro. J. W. Worth, a violin solo by Bro. Frank Whitehouse, and a piano solo by Bro. R. J. Devey, while Bro. F. Whitehouse also supplied some enjoyable selections on the Aeolian Vocalion.

The toast list was as follows:

The King and the Craft

The Grand Master and the Grand Lodge of Canada in the Province of Ontario.

"It is not titles that reflect honour on men, but men that reflect honours on titles."

The Army, the Navy, and Volunteers.

Afterwards a very enjoyable toast longer, and the battle-flags were furl'd, in the parliament of man, the federation of the world."

Bro. L. J. Colling.
Bro. (Col.) C. H. Ackerman.
Bro. (Capt.) O'Flynn.

The Absent Brethren.

"Fare thee well! and if for ever,
Still for ever, fare thee well."

Bro. E. B. Fowler.
Bro. Rev. T. H. Mitchell.

Our Visitors.

"Welcome ever smiles and farewell goes out sighing."

Wor. Bro. F. J. Vosden.
Bro. G. O. Cameron.

The Newly Installed Officers.

"Be strong, and quit yourselves like men."

Wor. Bro. A. A. Fowler.
Wor Bro. W. B. Morris.
Wor. Bro. G. A. Macdonald.

The Retiring Officers.

"And all may do what has by man been done."

Bro. W. D. Campbell.
Wor. Bro. J. F. Allin.
Wor. Bro. J. M. Roesel.

The Installing Master

"With eloquence inmate his tongue was armed."

Wor. Bro. H. W. Morphet.
Rt. Wor. Bro. Duncan Walker.

The Junior Warden's Toast.

"Happy to meet, sorry to part,
Happy to meet again."

Rt. Wor. Bro. John Crane was chairman, and Wor. Bro. H. W. Morphet vice-chairman, during the banquet.

RT. WOR BRO (COL.) D. WALKER, who was the Installing Master at last evening's Masonic function.

Donations To The Children's Shelter

Santa Claus Was Very Liberal—Inmates of the Shelter Had a Big Christmas

The Board of Management of the Children's Aid Society gratefully acknowledge the receipt of numerous gifts for the kiddies at the Shelter during Christmas. Santa Claus was very good and made the little orphan children exceptionally happy. The following is the list:

From A.B.H.—A box of toys and candy for each child.
Mrs. Birdsall—Cake.
A Friend—School bag and toys.
Misses Dickson—Two doz. oranges.
Mrs. Borradaile—Dates, candy, oranges and nuts.
A Friend—Two dozen oranges.
Betty Burnham—Toys, candy and books.
Mrs. Wm. Davidson—Nuts, candy, dates, figs, oranges and biscuits.
Mrs. R. Hesderman—Candy, cranberries and clothing.
Mrs. J. M. Brooks — Four mince pies, 1 large basket home-made cookies, large quantity of candy, three jars of preserves and fruit.
Mrs. Chas. Cook—Toys.
Mrs. Adam Hall—Oranges and nuts.
Marathon Candy Kitchen—Large box of candy.
Allen and Max Lush — Toys and candy.
E. F. Mason—Nuts, dates, candy, oranges and fancy biscuits.
Robt. Fair—Box of candy.
Madeline Kelly—Books and toys.
Turnbull & Co.—Stockings, handkerchiefs and toys for every child.
A Friend—Four boxes stockings filled with candy.
A Friend—Two barrels of apples.
A Friend—Toys.
Wm. Stock & Co.—100 lbs. flour.
Mrs. W. J. Green — Tree decorations, fancy boxes and toys.
Helen Fiske—Toys.
Mrs. W. H. Dunsford—Toys.
Mrs. Kendrick—Toys.
Cora and Violet Windover — Toys, games and books.
Willie Mitchell—Drugs and candy.
Mrs. J. Gemmell—Candy and toys.
Mrs. Kendry—Box of toys.
Mrs. R. J. Kidd—Books and toys.
Fred and Billie Trebilcock — Toys and candy canes.
Mrs. Murphy, 398½ Water St.—Cake and fruit.
Mr. F. D. Kerr—Fowl and sausages.
Mr. W. H. Hamilton—Turkey.
Knights Templar Masons—A parcel for each child and $12.
Campbell Flour Mills Co.—$25.
Mr. E. A. Peck—$2.
Chief Howard—$2.
Mr. R. Hicks—$5.
Mrs. Chas. Cook—$1.
Miss Edwards—$1.
Mr. K.—$1.
G. A. Gillespie—$2.
A Friend—$1.

Ladies' Fur Setts

In case you have failed to remember some of your friends at Christmas, just come and see some of the exquisite styles we are showing in Muffs and Neck Pieces. Nothing can be more acceptable as a Christmas or New Year's Gift.

W. E. LECH Manufacturing Furrier and Hatter

366 GEORGE STREET NEAR SIMCOE ST.

Men Wanted at Quaker Oats Elevator. Apply at office near elevator 3d-148

Something For Your Table

New Year Presents that look well and WEAR well are a source of lasting satisfaction to the giver as well as to the recipient.

BRITISH-MADE SILVERWARE
The Standard of the World

In this line we offer some specially pleasing articles.

A cheerful welcome to all shoppers whether to look or to buy.

SCHNEIDER
The Jeweller, George St.

The Messiah

IN

St. Paul's Church

ON THE EVENING OF

Tuesday,

JANUARY 2nd, 1917

AN OLD CAMPAIGNER IN MUNICIPAL ELECTIONS

Mr. J. H. Smith, Still a Young Man but has Been in Nineteen Contests

Mr. J. H. Smith, who is running for aldermanic honour is no stranger to municipal contests. When Ashburnham had her own Village Council Mr. Smith was a member for a number of years and a contest which included Ex-Alderman Harry Morgan, Mr. J. T. Craig, Mr Allan McCarthy, Mr. Frank Adams, the late Robt. Sheridan, the late Henry Calcutt, Ex-Ald. W. J. Johnston and others, was sure to bring about a lively and exciting time.

There are not a few residents of Ashburnham who have no hesitation in saying that it was a mistake when the village lost its identity and that they look back with pleasure and also regret to the good old days when Ashburnham had its own governing bodies. However, the newcomers to the village will shortly be in the majority, and they have no knowledge of the old days in Ashburnham that are so dear to the old residents of the fifth ward.

Mr. Smith has been in nineteen election contests up to the present, has won 15 and lost 4, and at the time of the union of Ashburnham and the city was its Reeve. Since then he has been a member of the Board of Education of the city for two years.

WARSAW NEWS

WARSAW, Dec. 28.—The Christmas tree and entertainment held under the auspices of the Baptist School on Friday, Dec. 22rd, was a splendid success, and was much enjoyed by all present. The programme was as follows:

Chorus—Sunday School Scholars.
Recitation—"When Father Was a Boy," Donald Anderson.
Duet—"Ring Out the Bells," Misses Pickering and Ellis.
Patriotic Recitation—Miss Tressa Crowe.
Reading—"Jack's Christmas Tree," Miss Mabel Kidd.
Duet — "In His Love Abiding," Mrs. Robert and Miss Lonsdale.
Recitation—"When Father Goes to Shave," Gordon Wall.
Solo—"Character Building," Miss Bessie Lonsdale.
Duet — "The Little Stranger," Misses Pickering and Ellis.
Dialogue—"Jack Hayseed in the City," Major and Mrs. Anderson, Mr. Fred Crowe.
Distribution of presents to scholars and teachers by the Superintendent and Mrs. Robert.

Corporal Roland N. Kidd, of the 207th Battalion, Ottawa, was the guest of his sister, Mrs. James Hawthorne, for Christmas.

The Presbyterian Church and Sunday School will hold their annual entertainment and tree on January 3rd.

Mr. and Mrs. William Aylmer, of Fenelon Falls, are visiting the latter's parents, Mr. and Mrs. James Clifford.

The concert and Christmas tree held in the Methodist Church on Christmas evening was well attended, and the following programme was the result of patience and skill on the part of both teachers and pupils:

School Chorus—"Joys of Christmas."
Acrostic — "Christmas," Eight Girls.
Recitation—Gordon Bowen.
Primary Class Chorus — "Little Flakes of Snow."
Dialogue — "Trouble in Santa Claus Land."
Trio—"Good Old Santa Claus," Margaret, Florence and Ida Clare.
Recitation—Hiram Anderson.
Star Drill—"Star," Class.
Recitation—Birdie Greystock.
Marching Song—"The Rainey Day Brigade."
Recitation—Gwendoline McCuaig.
Patriotic Exercise—"War On the Western Front."
Exercise—"Joy Bells." Five Girls.
Dialogue—"The Queen's Decision."
School Chorus—"Hurrah for the Christmas Tree."
Distribution of Gifts.

Mr. and Mrs. R. F. Choate and Master Grover Choate, of Toronto, spent the week-end with Mr. and Mrs. A. F. Choate.

As the Reeve and Councillors were elected by acclamation there will be no municipal election this year.

The Winter Series meeting of the Warsaw Women's Institute will be held on Saturday, January 6th, at 2.30 p.m.

An "At Home" will be held in the Town Hall on Friday evening, Dec. 29th, in aid of the local branch of the Red Cross.

The Health Association Reception On Friday

The ladies of the Nurses' Supervision Committee of the Health Association, are making every effort to provide for the comfort and enjoyment of their guests during the afternoon and evening of Friday next, December 29th, at the Empress Hotel. Through the kindness of Mrs. Gliddon the full orchestra of the Conservatory of Music will play during the tea hour, and suitable music has been provided for dancing in the evening. The splendid lobby of the hotel will be at the disposal of visitors during the tea hour, and again in the evening for coffee and music. To all visitors a hearty welcome is extended. Come yourself and pass this invitation on to your friends, as the committee is not sending out invitations other than this press notice. Rev. Father Phelan, President, will say a few words both afternoon and evening on the work of the Association.

Tables will be provided for Bridge, Euchre and Five Hundred, and the hostess of each table is asked to provide cards, score cards and pencils for her own table. Prizes will be given for the best score of Bridge, Euchre and Five Hundred. To prevent confusion ushers will see that each lady finds her own table on her arrival. The committee wishes to emphasize the informal nature of the reception. It is not intended in any sense to be a full dress function.

Admission for cards or dancing fifty cents. Visitors afternoon or evening twenty-five cents. All ladies taking tables are asked to communicate as soon as possible with Mrs. Aylmer, 'phone 303. 2d

D. W GRIFFITH—The producer of the World's masterpiece, "The Birth of a Nation."

During the previous engagement of "The Birth of a Nation" at The Grand—a great number of patrons were curious to know what selections the orchestra played during the presentation of the picture. Manager Turner has written to the office and has received word that the following selections are included in the orchestration which is used for "The Birth of a Nation":

"Suwanee River," "Seeing Nellie Home," "In the Gloaming," "Dixie," "Turkey in the Straw," "Doo Dah," "The Girl I Left Behind Me," "Home Sweet Home," "Good Night Ladies," "The Mocking Bird," "Hail to the Chief," "The Star Spangled Banner," "My Country 'Tis of Thee," and the selections from The Peer Gynt Suite, Zampa, Freichutz, The Ride of the Valkyres, Liszt's Second Hungarian Rhapsody.

Unusual interest is manifest in the forthcoming return of this wonderful attraction for three days commencing New Year's Day with one matinee only on January 1st, at 2:30.

Most of these selections are carried by the local music houses.

Germany Formally Guarantees Neutrality

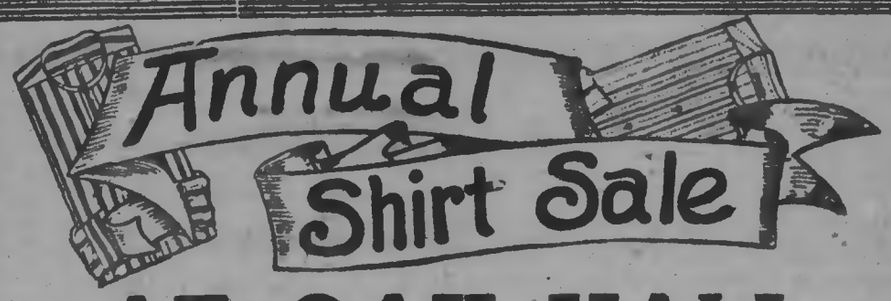
SPECIAL TO THE EXAMINER:

PARIS, Dec. 28. — Germany has again formally guaranteed the neutrality of Switzerland.

An American farmer sows rye at the corn just before the last cultivation. The sowing is done by hand while walking along every fourth row. The rye is afterwards ploughed under, and adds a lot of humus to the soil.

LET THE PEOPLE TRY IT.

A Gananoque man says that in hotels in Clayton, on the American side of the St. Lawrence, margarine is used in the best hotels, and cannot be distinguished in taste from the best creamery. "It is manufactured uncoloured. Inspected under Government control, it keeps as long as you don't eat it," as they say. That cannot be said of some of our creamery. Merchants here asked 48c to 50c for butter this last week. Oleo sells in Clayton for 25c. The people of Canada ought to be allowed to try this food. It could be imported, or manufactured here. It could be inspected so as to assure its wholesomeness, and then the people could judge of flavour for themselves. The law forbidding its use is senseless and tyrannical.—Toronto Star.



AT OAK HALL

One of the Most Popular Events of this Store is ☞ Our GREAT SHIRT SALE

We select, and carry for sale, Shirts that the Best Makers turn out. Shirts accumulate so fast that once a year we have these SPECIAL SALES.

It's Good Business To Do It!

No man gets too many shirts, so come and buy every Shirt you can use. It means savings to you.

SHIRTS 75c

Stiff cuffs, also soft cuff and collar shirts. Neat hairline and heavier stripes, white fancy cord. Worth $1.00, for 75c

SHIRTS 95c

Stiff cuffs, also soft cuff and collar shirts. Choice patterns in neat stripes and heavier covered patterns. Some with silk fronts. Worth $1.25 and $1.50, for 95c

SHIRTS $1.25

Stiff cuffs, also soft cuffs and collars, large assortment patterns to choose from. Percales, Anderson's and Paton cloths. Worth up to $1.75, for 1.25

COMBINATIONS $1.00

Mercury and Zimmerknit, medium weight combinations. Natural shade, closed crotch. All sizes. Worth $1.25 and $1.50, for 1.00

COMBINATIONS $2.00

Stanfield's and Watson's, spring needle, elastic knit, closed crotch combination underwear. Very special at 2.00

MEN'S HATS $1.95

Men's hard and soft felt hats, in black, nutria, smoke, steel. All latest styles. Worth $2.50 and $3.00, for 1.95

Now is your Time to buy Shirts & Underwear. Come buy lots & save money

400-11 George St. OAK HALL M. J. Maher, Mgr.

SEE BASEMENT DISPLAY OF BARGAINS

TURNBULLS

NEW YEAR GIFT SUGGESTIONS

A PARTIAL LIST OF FRIDAY AND SATURDAY BARGAINS

Friday Hour Sale on Main Floor
4 to 5 P. M.
WINDOW DISPLAY HANDKERCHIEFS, slightly soiled. One Hour..... 11 for 25c

Friday Hour Sale in Basement
4 to 5 P. M.
2 ONLY ROCKINGHAM TEA POTS, 5 and 6 Cups. Worth 30c and 35c. One Hour..... 19c

Main Floor Bargains

BOYS' HEAVY WOOL MITTS, 19c
Made of heavy Scotch Yarns, in black and heather mixtures. Sizes 6, 7 and 8. Best 25c lines. Friday and Saturday Bargain 19c

LADIES' BLACK KID GLOVES, 59c
In sizes 6, 6¼, 6½ and 6¾. Worth today $1.25. Friday and Saturday Bargain 59c

STATIONERY, 14c BOX
150 boxes High-Class Stationery, 24 sheets writing paper and 2 dozen envelopes. Regular 25c. Friday and Saturday Bargain..... 14c

LADIES' UNDERWEAR, 75c SUIT
Ladies' Underwear, winter weight, vest buttoned from high neck, drawers either style. Regular $1.00. Friday and Saturday Bargain, suit..... 75c

Toyland

DOLLS, 33c
Nicely dressed Character Dolls, in costumes as Little Boy Blue, Tipperary Tom, Little Red Riding Hood, Milkmaid, and others. Were 40c. Friday and Saturday Bargain..... 33c

Bargains in Basement Friday & Saturday

KITCHEN UTENSILS
Butter Moulds..... 8c
Granite Cups..... 8c
Granite Spoons..... 8c
Granite Cake Tins.. 8c
Can Openers..... 8c
Dippers..... 8c
Sink Shovels..... 8c
Wire Baskets..... 8c
Nutmeg Graters..... 8c
Flour Sifter 8c
Egg Beater..... 8c

ODD LINES OF DINNERWARE
Various Decorations
Cream Jugs..... 15c
Slop Bowls..... 15c
Gravy Boats..... 23c
Cups and Saucers.... 12c
Dinner Plates..... 15c
Soup Plates..... 12c
Tea Plates..... 8c
Breakfast Plates.... 10c
Nappies 8c
Platters, large..... 69c

GRANITE WARE
Dish Pans..... 48c
Double Boilers..... 59c
Roasting Pans..... 48c
Jugs 48c
Pails 48c
Preserving Kettles, ... 29c, 39c, 59c
Wash Basins..... 29c, 35c
Coffee Pots..... 45c
Tea Pots..... 45c
Pails with covers.... 35c

BLUE WILLOW TUSCAN CHINA
Cups and Saucers..... 23c
Plates, Tea 23c
Bread and Butter Plates..... 19c
Dinner Plates 45c
Cream Pitcher 45c
Soup Plates 23c
Nappies 23c
Egg Cups 9c
Sugar Bowls 45c
Butter Dishes $1.15

Ready-to-wear Floor

$30.00, $35.00 and $40.00 SUITS, $25.00
High-Class Model Suits, mostly one of a kind. Made of best Gabardines, Wools, Poplins and French Serges. In brown, navy and black, some fur trimmed. Were $30.00, $35.00 and $40.00. Friday and Saturday Bargain..... 25.00
See Exhibit in George Street Window.

Carpet Dept. Bargains

WHITE ENAMEL BEDS,
$3.95, $4.95, $5.95
These beds are of good designs, and can be obtained in four sizes, made of best baked white enamel. Some with brass trimmings. Friday and Saturday ..... $3.95, $4.95 and 5.95

CUSHION TOPS, 29c
Silk Tapestry Cushion Tops, 22 inches square. Plain centre, embroidered border design. In green, red and tan mixtures. Best 50c line. Friday and Saturday Bargain..... 29c

LINOLEUM, 4 YDS. WIDE, 69c
Several special designs are offered in this lot for your inspection. Extra heavy quality. Bright clean finish. Friday and Saturday Bargain, square yard 69c

Toyland

BOOKS, 10c
150 cloth bound books, such as Boy Scouts, Alger's, Mary Holmes', etc. Worth up to 20c. Friday and Saturday Bargain 10c

VETERAN SUPERINTENDENT "CANED" BY THE SCHOOL

Christmas Entertainment of the Fraserville Methodist Church Featured by a Presentation to Mr. Joseph Madill.

AN INTERESTING EVENT

The Christmas entertainment in connection with the Sunday School of the Fraserville Methodist Church was held on the evening of December 20, and the programme was carefully prepared and well rendered, both the children and young people doing credit, not only to themselves, but also to those who had charge of the practice and training.

During the evening a very pleasing event took place, when Mr. Joseph Madill, who has been superintendent of the Sunday School of the Methodist Church, Fraserville, for nearly twenty-five years, was presented by the members and adherents of the school with a gold-headed cane, accompanied with the following address, to which Mr. Madill made a very suitable reply:

Mr. Joseph Madill, Superintendent of Fraserville Methodist Sunday School.

Dear Mr. Madill,—

The teachers all and scholars
Are filled with deep regret,
By your absence from us,
For we do not forget.

That you were long our teacher,
In this our Sunday School,
And, that, for many seasons,
It was your faithful rule.

To lead us every Sunday,
Both prayerfully and well,
As many of us remember
And all of us can tell.

No, not for one year only,
Nor yet for two or three,
But nigh a quarter of a century
You've proved your loyalty.

And, like a Christian soldier,
With "Jesus" on your shield,
Right manfully you've battled
And held for Him the field.

And all the little children
Went safely to and fro,
And, by your care, were guarded
Until, as children grow,

To strength, before undreamt of,
They had their buckles too,
And took for theirs your watchword
Of loyal, staunch and true.

And if you grew discouraged,
And if you felt your work
Was overlooked, nor heeded,
And felt inclined to shirk,

Yet still you had the knowledge
Your task was but the Lord's,
And that His approbation
Exceeded earth's rewards.

But just because we're human,
We find that praise is sweet,
And feel our fellows cheering
By gift or word is meet.

So, as a feeble token,
Although it's in arrears
Of loving service rendered
Through many faithful years.

We ask you to permit us
To present this little gift,
And trust, on all occasions,
By it you'll be equipped.

Don't leave it in the corner,
Don't stand it in the hall,
Don't put it in the closet,
Beside a camphor ball.

But take it out and air it,
And use it on the street,
And take it down to Fraserville
On Sundays, friends to greet.

We wish you a Merry Christmas,
Both you and Mrs. Madill.
We wish you Happy New Year's too
And joys that fully fill

Your hearts the whole year through,
Yes, indeed, we do;
Yes, indeed, we do.

Signed on behalf of the School,
W. T. Wickett, Pastor.
James W. White, Asst. Supt.
J. H. Boyell, Secretary.

Voice of The People

Correspondence under this heading containing or involving attacks on individuals or violent or extreme statements, must to secure insertion, be signed with writer's real name, the corner of which thus assumes the responsibility.

Peterborough, Dec. 28, 1916.

Editor of The Examiner

Dear Sir,—Would you kindly convey our thanks, through the medium of your paper, to Capt. Burnham and those others who assisted so ably in making a splendid entertainment for the soldiers' wives and children on Christmas afternoon at the Grand Opera House. There was no doubt a few dissatisfied with the arrangements, but the general opinion, as expressed by those with whom we have conversed since the occasion, is to the effect that the labors of the organizers were greatly appreciated.

Trusting we are not taking up too much of your space in the paper, and once again thanking the Peterborough Patriotic Fund for a pleasant afternoon, we remain,

Yours sincerely,
"Three Soldiers' Wives."

A discarded wire bonnet frame can be bent to any desired shape and fitted in the mouth of a jardiniere or wide vase, forming just the support that certain long stemmed flowers need to keep them in graceful positions.

How "Bobby" Beech Filled the Breach

Reinforced the Cobourg Heavy Battery, "Saved the Situation" and Reaped the Reward

How Mr. R. M. Beech, known among the other good fellows, his friends, as "Bobby," went to the rescue of the 6th draft of the Cobourg Battery, is one story, and how his services were recognized, is another. The Cobourg Heavies were putting on a minstrel show, and at the last moment the tympani end of the orchestra failed. In their emergency they happily thought of Mr. R. M. Beach, Peterborough, recognized as one of the best tympani artists in the province, and wired him. At a moment's notice he went to Cobourg, and of course amply filled the bill.

The minstrel management heartily appreciated both the artistic assistance of Mr. Beach, and the prompt and ready manner in which he came to their rescue, and in recognition of it, presented him, a few days ago, on behalf of the battery, with a silver headed walking stick, with this inscription:

"To R. M. Beach, from 6th Draft, Cobourg Heavy Battery, 1916."

This presentation was accompanied with a cheque for a substantial sum.

This incident is a compliment to Mr. Beach, which those who know him and his obliging disposition, and his skill with the drums, knows he well deserves, and is also a credit to the Batery boys for their handsome recognition of his services.

GROUP PICTURES

Good time now when the visitors are at home for the holidays to have a group Picture taken. Make arrangements to sit at—

374½ George Street — The Moule Studio — Phone No. 46

CHEAPER THAN CARPET

I will furnish complete, wax and polish a quarter cut oak floor at lower cost per square feet than carpet.

Other floorings cheaper. Consult me for house plans, remodelling, estimates, etc.

Special Prices for Winter Work

A. B. CUNNINGHAM
331 REID STREET PHONE 1361

Holiday Fruits

Sunkist Oranges
California Pears
French Dates
Choice Apples
Pomegranites, Bananas
Nuts Shelled-Unshelled
Table Raisins
Cluster Raisins
New Figs & Dates
California Cucumbers
Fresh Lettuce
Crisp Celery, etc

FISH
Shrimps, Sea Salmon, Salmon trout White fish
Sea Herring, Halibut
Oysters Received Daily

Douros & Gelitas
375 George St. Phone 18 & 19

Our Poultry Department

is now open and we are paying high spot cash prices for good plump birds (alive), delivered Peterborough.

We can supply farmers and Poultry raisers with fattening crates at a small rent, to be returned us in good condition at the end of the season.

A premium paid on crate milk fed chickens. For particulars apply to—

W. SCOTT CO., Ltd.
1124 Robinson Street
Phone 264

Norwood Correspondence

NORWOOD, Dec. 27.—Mr. and Mrs. W. J. Tremouth are spending their vacation in Bowmanville.

Mr. and Mrs. Harold Dancey of Toronto were Christmas guests of the former's parents, Mr. and Mrs. T. H. Dancey.

Miss Hattie MacLachlan of Toronto, is home for her Christmas vacation.

Miss Edith Watson is visiting in Peterborough at the home of her sister, Mrs. R. Lees.

Mrs. A. B. Greenbanks, Miss Sadie Greenbanks and Master Ralph were in Peterborough last week.

Miss Ferris of the High school staff is spending her holidays at her home in Campbellford.

Miss Luke has returned to her home in Oshawa.

Misses Flossie and Jean Nicol of Toronto, spent the week end at the home of their parents, Mr. and Mrs. M. Nicol.

The marriage of Mr. Ashton Lillie of Wallaceburg to Miss Annie Bentley of Dresden, took place on December 20th in Wallaceburg.

The many Norwood friends of Mr Lillie will unite in wishing the happy couple many years of wedded bliss.

On November 29th at Mountain, Ont., Miss Annie Rahal, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. T. J. Rahal of Norwood, was married to Mr. Elgin Beecum of Inkerman.

Miss Turner is spending a couple of weeks at her home in Campbellford.

Norwood Council.

The regular meeting of the Norwood Village Council was held on Friday evening with Reeve Squire and councillors Elliott, Puffer, McKelvie and Tedford present.

Moved by Coun. Tedford, seconded by Coun. Elliott, that two hundred copies of the treasurer's financial statement be presented.—Carried.

Moved by Coun. Tedford, seconded by Coun. McKelvie, that By-law No. 401 appointing a village solicitor, be repealed and that the clerk notify Mr. Gordon.—Carried.

Moved by Coun. Tedford, seconded by Coun. Puffer, that the Reeve be instructed to look into the matter of constable's fees re Martin arrest.—Carried.

Moved by Coun. McKelvie, seconded by Coun. Puffer, that the Council request the Dominion Government to give East Peterborough due consideration in the appointment of a senator.

Moved by Coun. McKelvie, seconded by Coun. Puffer, that the constable be instructed to collect all outstanding taxes within thirty days.—Carried.

Moved by Coun. Tedford, seconded by Coun. Puffer, that the matter pertaining to the increase in rates for cemetery plots be laid over for consideration by the 1917 Council.—Carried.

The following accounts, levies, salaries and rebates were ordered to be paid: W. F. Wood, 6 hrs. work with team, $2.40; E. J. Laing, lumber, $14.40; S. Wildman, account, $3.60; D. Butters, posts, $2.25; J. Kelly, rebate taxes, etc.; Mrs. Livingstone, rebate dog tax, $1.60; R. Fennel, rebate taxes, $3.33; J. Doherty, rebate taxes, $2.16; F. M. Glover, rebate taxes, $6.12; A. Stothart, rebate taxes, $2.72; D. McNaughton, rebate taxes, $2.05; E. J. Laing, balance salary and postage, $30.00; J. E. Roxbury, balance salary and postage, $38.00; Dr. Sutton, Medical Health Officer, $5.00; E. J. Laing, sec. Board of Health, $5.00; village solicitor, $10.00; grant to Public Library, $50.00; county levy, war tax and house of refuge, $1,857.11; Board of Education, H. S. levy, $1,124.47; Board of Education, P. S. levy bal., $37.89; Gov. grant to Public school, $65.00; High school deb., $399.30; cement walk and town hall debt., $766.76; Union Bank loans and int., $3,336.10; W. C. Harrison, 4th qr. electric lights, $177.50; I. Puffer, constable's salary, $38.75; Reg. B. M. & D., $19.00; bal. assets and liabilities $46.28.

Personals.

Mr. Richard Andrews spent a few days of last week in Toronto.

Miss Jennie Clydale of Toronto, is spending her vacation with her sister, Miss Cora Clydale.

Mr. and Mrs. Harold Burns of Toronto, have been guests of the latter's sister, Mrs. John Marks.

Miss Lillie Scott of Toronto, is spending her Christmas vacation with her sister, Mrs. E. C. Squire.

Mr. Walter Girven of Smith's Falls, spent Christmas here with his parents.

Mr. and Mrs. Beecum of Inkerman, are guests at the home of the latter's parents, Mr. and Mrs. T. J. Rahal.

Christmas Tree.

The annual Christmas tree and entertainment of the Baptist church was held on Wednesday evening.

A very interesting programme of dialogues, drills, recitations, etc., was given by the S. S. children, who were delightfully happy and pleased, especially when Santa made his appearance.

The church was filled to the utmost capacity and the proceeds amounted to nearly $40.

Miss Carr has gone to Colborne to spent the winter with friends.

Rev. Mr. Noble conducted a Christmas service in the Church of England, Westwood, on Sunday evening.

Mr. Wm. Andrews was in Toronto last week visiting his daughter, Mrs. (Rev.) Glover.

Miss Lillian Hugill has returned home from Goderich, where she had been visiting Miss Helen Ford.

Mrs. Fred Stewart spent Saturday in Peterborough.

Mr. Harry T. Andrews of Havelock, spent Christmas with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Jas. Andrews.

Professor Harry Ford and Mrs. Ford are spending the Christmas holidays at the home of the former's parents, Dr. and Mrs. Ford.

On Wednesday, December 20, a son was born to Mr. and Mrs. W. Pakenham.

Mr. Earl Cummings of Toronto, was home for Christmas.

Mr. J. Stan Weir of London, was home for Sunday and Monday.

Miss Jean Buck of Peterborough, is home for her Christmas holidays.

Mrs. H. R. Dancey of Toronto, sang very sweetly in the Methodist church on Sunday evening, her selection being: 'Jesus Lover of My Soul' by H. C. MacDougall.

Mr. and Mrs. J. G. Keefer, Mr. Harland Keefer and Mr. W. A. Richardson spent Christmas Day at the home of Mr. John Byram, Lang.

Mr. Arthur Duffield, of Toronto, spent the holidays 'neath the parental roof.

Norwood School Honours.

The pupils of the Norwood School, who won honours during the month of December are:

Primary—Kathleen O'Keefe, Edna Killenbeck, Jean Tedford, Cecil Wopdcock, Una Elliott, Maggie Clapper, James Adams and Meroyn Baptie (equal), Jack Minore, Beatrice Simpson, Madeline Ferguson.

First Class—Ronald Garlick, Nelles Carberry, Ross Irwin, Frederic Beavis and Gordon Rathwell (equal), Lottie Jones, Alma Simpson, Ruth Harper, Glenford Buck.

Jun. Second—Ruby Patterson, Verna Graves, Barbara Foote, Mary Stuart, Nellie Bonds.

Sen. Second—Annie Brethen, Norman McLean and Russel Woodcock (equal), Gertie Gardner and Elsie Frost and Gerald Rogers (equal), Perrin Rork, Lorne Beckett, Jane Slack, Earl Cuthbertson.

Jun. Third — Dean Irwin, Ruth Biggar, Eva Gardner, Lilian Greenbank, Blanch Wildman, Maitland Gardner, Warden Brown.

Sen. Third—Jean Dunham, Ruth Wildman, Erec. Elliott, Vera Hicks, Trevor Johnston, Bessie Chard, Irene Wolland, George Peoples, Myrtle McCracken.

Jr. IV.—60 per cent. or over — Belle Ferguson, Viola Adams, Clive Dean, Geraldine McMaster.

Sr. IV.—75 per cent and over — Mina Jones, Bessie White, Annie Ferguson, Edith Tedford, Gertie Rorabeck, May Walker, Victor McNeely, Mary Patterson, and M. Buchanan (equal). 60 per cent. and over —Jean Roxburgh, Nellie Gardner, and Mabel Puffer (equal), Frank Elliott, Marjory Wildman, Richard Tedford, Frank Bellegham.

Personals.

Mr. Laval, of Galt, spent Monday with his daughter, Mrs. T. Cross.

Mr. Lonergan, of Toronto, spent Xmas at his parents' home.

Mr. Warden Elliott, of Toronto, was home for Christmas.

Mr. Will Hendren, who has been in the West for several years, is visiting at the homes of his brothers, Messrs. John and Stanley Hendren.

Mr. and Mrs. A. Fitzgerald and children, of Tweed, have been Christmas guests of Norwood friends.

Miss Lodemia Johnston, of Toronto, was a guest at Christmas at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Jas. Johnston.

Miss Thereso Robson was home from Toronto for Christmas.

Mrs. T. Cross and family are visiting at her parents' home in Galt.

Mrs. Learmouth, of Peterborough, spent Christmas with her sister, Mrs. Robson.

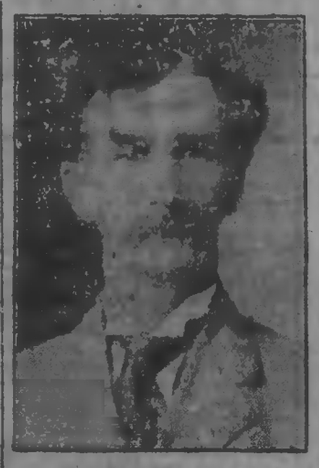
Mr. and Mrs. J. Linton, of Toronto, spent the week-end with the latter's sister, Mrs. W. T. Carberry.

Miss Gertrude MacLachlan, of Toronto, was a guest during the week-end of her sister, Miss MacLachlan.

Mr. A. Frost, of Toronto, has been a guest of his brother, Mr. J. Frost, for a few days.

Mr. and Mrs. Will Harrison spent Christmas in Havelock at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Squire.

Mr. and Mrs. A. J. Duddon, of Peterborough, spent the week-end at the home of the former's sister, Mrs. J. McMillan, and the latter's sister, Mrs. L. Bell.



REEVE FRED. McKEE,
Elected head of Smith Township for another year. He is chairman of the County Property Committee.

Five Killed By Explosion

Special to The Examiner:

MOUNT HOLLY, N.J., Dec. 28—An acetylene plant in the cellar of the Madison Hotel exploded at 11:30 to-day, destroying the building. It is feared five were killed.

Gross earnings of United States railroads continue to show very satisfactory volume, the total of all roads that have so far reported for November amounting to $37,567,149 an increase of 8.2 per cent. as compared with the corresponding month a year ago.

LAKEFIELD'S REEVE,
Mr. Harry G. Fitzgerald. Has the full confidence of the northern village and is giving Lakefield good management.

Presentation To Mr. G. F. Clarke

Honoured by the Members of Adult Bible Class of Fraserville Methodist Sunday School

The members of the Adult Bible Class of the Methodist Sunday school, Fraserville, recently presented Mr. G. F. Clarke, with a beautiful fountain pen, accompanied by the following address:

Mr. G. F. Clarke:

Our Dear Friend,— We the members of the Adult Bible Class of the Sunday school of Fraserville Methodist church, embrace this opportunity of expressing to you, at least in some degree, our appreciation of your services which you have rendered so efficiently as our teacher.

You may have felt at times that you efforts were of little or no avail, but we wish to assure you that whenever you have taught us, we have been benefitted, helped, and inspired to a higher and nobler life, and we trust that the seed, so carefully sown, will mature and bring forth fruit.

To your scholars you have not only been a careful, painstaking teacher, but a wise councillor and a faithful friend, but we have been and are deeply impressed with the influence of your Christian character and we rejoice in the fact of what you are, a Christian gentleman.

We are sorry that you felt that you should resign as our teacher, but we hope you will again resume your labours and teach us both by precept and example, the way of life.

As members of the class we have great pleasure in presenting you with this fountain pen, which we hope you will accept in the spirit in which it is given, as a slight token of our appreciation of the services you have rendered.

Signed on behalf of the class.
J. H. Degell,
President.
Miss Lila Monerief,
Secretary.

INCREASE IN REVENUE

Special to The Examiner:

OTTAWA, Dec. 28.—Despite the heavy curtailment of liquor consumption throughout the Dominion, inland revenue returns for November show an increase of $200,000 over the same month last year.

HARICOT BEAN SALAD.

If new, to be put in boiling water; if dry, into cold, after soaking for some hours. Boil till tender in plenty of water. When well cooked drain well, place in a dish or salad bowl with a dressing of very finely chopped parsley and a little onion, salt, pepper, oil and vinegar.

THE WORLD OF SPORT

LINDSAY INTERMEDIATES WILL OPEN HOCKEY SEASON HERE TUESDAY

There will be no hockey game tonight. As stated yesterday T. R. and A. A. found themselves unable to get a team together, and although the 247th management tried all day yesterday to secure some other Toronto team to take the place of the T. R. and A. A. they were unable to do so, and to-night's fixture had to be cancelled. The season will, however, open on Tuesday night next, when Peterborough's old rivals, the Lindsay team, will stack up against the 247th in an intermediate O H A. game. The Soldiers will be in good shape by that time as they are practising steadily, while the Lindsay team, with Art and Chuck Carew, McElroy, Read and other former junior stars, including O'Loughlin, the crack goaler of the 1915 team, will form an awkward proposition for any mub's team. A game with any Lindsay team is always a battle and the Scugog bunch have triumphed over Peterborough for several years in the junior series, so that the 247th will have a score to wipe out when they clash with Cap Simpson's seven on Tuesday night.

CURLING ICE NOW READY FOR USE

At the rink on Charlotte street four sheets of ice are now ready to be played on, and several of the members have already had their first work out. The ice is in splendid condition and in another day or so all seven sheets will be ready to curl on.

The draw for the games to be played on New Year's is now on the black board at the rink and the skips are asked to notify each member of their hour they are to play. They are also asked to notify each member of their rink to be on hand.

The telephone has again been hung on the wall, and everything made ready for the first of the schedule games which commence on January 3rd.

HOCKEY GOSSIP

After being sidetracked for a year, the blue and white colours worn by Peterboro hockey clubs for many seasons, will be in evidence at the Brock street rink again this season. These colours have been adopted by the 247th Intermediates, who will wear a white bodied sweater with blue trimmings, a pennant across the breast, bearing the number "247." The Peterboro Juniors will wear the red, white and blue sweaters used last year.

The Peterboro Juniors had their hardest practice of the season last night. The youngsters had thought they were in pretty fair shape but Jerry Coughlin chased them so hard that he had their tongues hanging out before the hour was up, and the bell was sweet music when it finally rang. The Juniors are out in full force and should be in the pink when they are up against Bowmanville here on Jan. 9th. There is a great battle for positions on the forward line.

The 247th Batt. Intermediates will practice at the Brock street rink tonight at 7 o'clock.

All Junior players who have been been given tickets, are expected out to practice at the Brock street rink to-morrow night at 7 o'clock.

Grover Halpin was elected captain of the 247th Batt. team yesterday. The team will practice to-night at 7 o'clock, and the following players are requested to turn out: Legros, Derocher, Halpin, Armstrong, Thornton, Finnagan, Evans, Coughlin and Quinn.

House brooms should be washed occasionally in boiling water to which a handful of soda has been added. First remove all the fluff and pieces from the brushes and move up and down in the water. Will rinse in cold water, shake and leave to dry in the open air. Never have brushes standing on their bristles, as this will rot them.

"It's Confidence That Does It"

If The Pantry

Has been depleted by the Holiday Festivities, our stock of TABLE NEEDS such as Groceries, Fruits, Confectionery etc., is fully prepared to meet the requirements of customers.

Porter S. White
284 George St. Phone 208

BROCK ST. RINK

THIS WEEK

THURSDAY — Skating with Band.

FRIDAY — Skating with Band.

SAT. AFTERNOON — Skating.

SAT. EVENING—Skating with Band.

Admission For Skaters 15c and 1c War Tax

BRING YOUR COPPER

TENDING WOUNDED UNDER HEAVY FIRE

Private of Canadian Field Ambulance Describes Trip to Front Trenches

A private of the Canadian Army Medical Corps in France writes: After walking for miles through this desert covered by our guns and still being torn up at intervals by enemy shells, we arrived at nowhere in particular, where we were informed that we had a dressing station and here we deposited our kits in open trench and shell holes and sat down to await further instructions.

It had commenced to rain and was truly a dismal spot altogether, and the noise and crash of the guns and shells was deafening. Our instructions were not long in coming. We started out across country with a guide to the front trenches. It wasn't far to get there but then the thing commenced —shell and bombs were bursting all round us, in the trench and to the side of it, but we paid no attention and went right ahead.

In Front Trenches

The trenches were full of little dug outs built into the side. In one of them which was fairly big we stopped when we heard groans; one poor fellow with both legs broken was crying to us to take him first, and another man, suffering from a wound in the head staggered out and told us to take the other chap. While getting them out a Fritz jumped out, too, with a broken arm, and with the three of them we started back. A full squad came behind with the other man on a stretcher, and Fritz carried our coats. I was hit twice by shrapnel on the coat and once on the helmet, but a little bruise on my shoulder and a headache was the closest I could get to a "blighty."

White Flag No Protection

The trench we had got into was one which had been taken the day before and it was a long way to our post but at last we got in and sat down in our trench under the rain to wait for the next call, and it was not long in coming. At 2 o'clock we went back again and went through the same performance, only we carried the white flag—I couldn't see that it was very useful though, for the Germans paid no attention to it."

PRAISED LLOYD-GEORGE

His French Colleague, Thomas, Analyzes Reasons For Affection

Albert Thomas, Minister of Munitions, wrote in L'Humanite (Paris Socialist daily): The noble, religious thought animating the English statesman is the defence of the prerogatives that raise man above the beasts of the forests—justice, liberty, and moral law. And it is in this thought that the whole English people is as one with him. In the dug-outs of Verdun, when Lloyd-George, in a speech that drew tears from the most robust, celebrated the heroes fallen at Verdun, it was because they had saved right and civilization that he turned his grateful thoughts with emotion towards them . . . It is a comfort in reading Mr. Lloyd-George to feel that in spite of the difference of temperament and tradition, the same keenness for justice, and for a peace founded on the respect of right, animates the workmen of Sheffield and the Socialists of Paris, the Tommies and the Poilus. Let us not cease to keep constantly in our hearts this high and noble ideal.

Life in Rheims During War

Rheims is a queer but quite an attractive melange, difficult to describe. Almost everyone carries a gas mask; the men keep theirs in compact tin cases slung from the wrist or attached to bicycle handle; the women in various kinds of bags. These masks can be bought at any chemist's, and are so prepared as to need merely dumping with water when required. The preponderance of the remaining native population is, of course, feminine, mostly workgirls, who work in the great champagne caves.

Two brothers named Clarke, of Chobham, have each been twice wounded.

A war sale at Bombay realized £40,000.

The Knitted Wool Coat that will give you greatest satisfaction will be found at this Store. We have a big choice of Prices.

MID-HOLIDAY EVENT

We have Thousands of lbs. of Wool yarn in stock, every kind you need.

We Announce The Most Important Price Reducing Event of the Year

We say this is the most important for several reasons and principally because the character of the goods on sale and the prices which are now in force cannot be duplicated in the wholesale market at this time. It is an event we've set aside to clear our stocks of small lots and to offer to our customers the opportunity to save on desirable, dependable merchandise. In the face of advancing costs this clearance, then, provides the opportunity to save by spending—an event which should not be overlooked by any thrifty inclined woman.

AN OPPORTUNITY TO BUY FURS AT A GREAT SAVING IN PRICE

We Have Towels In Every Quality

In our new towel section we have towels of every quality. The large, full, absorbent kind that have something to them—the kind you like to get hold of when you get out of the bath tub, and right here is the most important towel news. These towels were ordered before the prices began to soar. Lately the prices have been getting higher and the qualities getting lower; but when you look over this towel stock, you will be pleased to see the old prices and better still the good old qualities. Prices—

18c, 25c, 29c, 42c, 59c, 75c, $1, $1.25, $2

New Millinery At The Cost Of Sewing Them Together, for $1.99

Also the Millinery—we wont take up space and your time talking Millinery, suffice it to say that they are all the new styles and sold freely during the season at from $5.00, $8.00 and $10.00. They will all be closed out at our price.

Announcing a Very Important Sale of Linens

Every desirable quality of towel is included. There are cotton huck towels and linen towels and Turkish bath towels in a wide variety of sizes and qualities. A special space has been set aside for the display so so as to make choosing easy and satisfactory.

Union Linen Huck Towels at 25c each

Thoroughly absorbent, the kind of towel that gives unusual service. Have hemmed borders with all white border. Made of splendid quality of union linen, size 18 by 36 inches.

Bleached Huck Towels 15c

A closely woven cotton huck towel with red striped border, hemmed ends, size 17 by inches.

22 x 34 Turkish Towels at 18c each

You know what it is to use a small bath towel in contrast with one that's good and big—one that you can almost wrap yourself in. These are the big, heavy nap Turkish towels that we are making a special price on and which will be taken advantage of immediately by every house-keeper who knows the value of such towels. They can be had with plain white of blue borders.

Cashmere Hose Underpriced

Here is a Plum Worth Picking 50c for 39c

Just a Hose Bargain to give spice to the sale. These Hose cannot be bought in the wholesale market at this price now. Ladies Cashmere 50c Hose for 39c
Two Pairs only to a Customer

THE NEW $1 VOILE BLOUSES for January are here They Show the New Spring Designs.

Every Woman Intending to Purchase a Coat Should Take Advantage of the Opportunity To Buy at These Remarkably Low Prices

The fact that our merchandising season compels us to lower our stocks regardless of the weather conditions brings to you now, desirable and wanted coats at prices that mean savings that no woman could afford to overlook. We want to impress upon you with all the force at our command that all the coats involved at this special price are just as desirable as the day we entered our store and will give you the greatest possible measure of satisfaction and service.

Price reductions range as follows—

Coats from 12.00 to 15.00 at..... 7.50
Coats from 18.00 to 20.00 at..... 13.50
Coats from 25.00 to 35.00 at..... 18.50

We pride ourselves on the large stocks we carry. Test us, we can fill your orders.

Elliots Store

Notwithstanding the scarcity of yarns, underwear and hosiery, we have larger stocks than ever.

OFFICERS ELECTED IN LAKEFIELD

Lakefield, Dec. 27. — At the regular meeting of Court Lakefield, No. 43 Canadian Order of Foresters, held on Thursday evening last, the following officers were elected for the ensuing year:

Bro. J. E. Galvin ..... C.R.
Bro. R. J. Jory ..... V.C.R.
Bro. W. M. Graham ..... R.S.
Bro. W. Sherin ..... R.S.
Bro. G. B. Hilliard ..... Treas.
Bro. James Campbell ..... Chap.
Bro. John Northcott ..... S.W.
Bro. Alex. McDonald ..... J.W.
Bro. J. H. McWilliams ..... S. and J.B.
Bro. Dr. J. R. Fraser ..... Court Phy.
Auditors, Bros. W. H. Casement and B. Q. Dench.
Trustees, Bros. R. J. Jory, J. H. McWilliams and W. G. Morrison.

Mr. R. G. Madill of Queens University, Kingston is spending the Christmas vacation at his home in the village.

Mr. and Mrs. A. O. Sawyer spent Christmas in Peterborough visiting Mr. and Mrs. McKee.

Mr. and Mrs. Edmunds, of Sault Ste. Marie, Ont., are in the village, the guests of Mr. and Mrs. W. A. Nixon.

Miss E. White spent the week end visiting friends in Peterborough.

Mr. and Mrs. James Watson and daughter of Port Hope, spent Christmas in the village visiting Mr. Watson's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Watson.

Miss A. Sherin of Toronto is spending the Christmas vacation at her home in the village.

Mr. Alex. McDonald returned to the village on Thursday last after spending the past six months at Melfort, Sask.

Mr. R. C. Strickland of Burleigh spent Christmas in the village visiting Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Strickland, at "Harborne."

Mr. Wm. Simpson, government scaler in the Mississauga Reserve, is spending Christmas at his home in the village.

Miss Thompson of Milbrook was the guest of Mrs. Atwood on Saturday last.

Mr. Thomas Kennedy of Spanish Station, Ont., is spending Christmas at his home in the village.

Mr. D. H. Morrison left on Saturday to spent Christmas at Otterville, Ont.

Mr. and Mrs. Roy Kidd of Lang, Sask., arrived in the village on Tuesday last on a visit to Mr. and Mrs. A. J. Kidd.

Lieut. G. C. Hilliard, of the Royal Canadian Dragoons, Toronto, is spending Christmas at his home in the village.

Mr. J. W. Todd returned to the village on Monday, after spending a few days in Millbrook.

Mrs. E. Oliver, of Peterborough, was the guest of Mrs. W. A. Nixon for a few days last week.

Miss Ella Higgins, of Aultman Memorial Hospital, Canton, Ohio, is in the village spending the Christmas vacation with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. R. Higgins Smith.

Corp. A. Rowe, of the 207th Battalion, Peterborough, spent Christmas in the village.

Mr. C. F. Leonard, of Peterborough, spent Christmas visiting his daughter, Mrs. J. C. Strickland at "Harborne."

Miss K. Simpson, of Kew Beach, is spending the Christmas vacation at her home in the village.

Mr. Allan Clarke, of the 93rd Battalion Band, arrived on Saturday to spend Christmas in the village.

Dr. J. R. Fraser, of Montreal, is spending Christmas at his home in the village.

Mr. Alex. Fraser, of McGill College, is spending the Christmas vacation at his home in the village.

Keene Items Of Interest

KEENE, Dec. 27—Mrs. Wellock returned on Tuesday from Peterborough, where she spent the week end and holiday with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Wedlock.

Mr. Joseph McCarthey returned on Tuesday after a pleasant holiday with Keene friends to Newmarket, where he is employed as cashier at the Bank of Toronto.

Miss Irene Downie of Peterborough, spent the week end and Christmas with Keene friends.

Mr. and Mrs. Rev. A. K. Edmison and family spent Christmas with friends in Cavan.

Misses Lillian and Amy Macfarlane of Toronto and sister, Miss Laura, of Peterborough, spent the week end with their parents, Mr. and Mrs. John Macfarlane.

Mr. William Miller was in Peterborough Saturday.

Miss Iasenia McCarthey is home from Lindsay, where she is attending St. Joseph's Academy for the holidays.

Mr. William Fletcher of Belleville, is spending the holidays with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Henry Fletcher.

Miss Belle Weir was in Peterborough on a shopping expedition.

Mr. and Mrs. James Bryce and Mr. and Mrs. Wilbur Howson, of Peterborough, spent Christmas at the home of Mr. Archibald Bryce.

Misses Pearl McCann and Josephine Kennealley were in Peterborough shopping on Saturday.

Mrs. William R. Wedlock returned home on Saturday from Peterborough where she spent a few days with friends.

Miss Lola Kempt was in Peterborough last Thursday.

Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Dougherty and family of Peterborough, spent Monday with Mrs. Dougherty's parents, Mr. and Mrs. John Dorrie.

Dr. and Mrs. W. T. Harrison were in Ottawa over the week end and holiday.

Cyril Moore returned on Tuesday from Gananoque, where he spent the week end with his parents.

Charles Stewart of Swift Current, is visiting at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Bel. Bracken.

Mrs. James Secord is visiting friends at Peterborough this week.

Miss Maude Howson of Peterborough, is a guest at the home of her father, Mr. Thomas Howson.

Mr. and Mrs. Harry Cruickshanks and Mr. and Mrs. Wallace Wood of Toronto, spent Christmas with Mrs. Woods parents, Mr. and Mrs. William Campbell.

The teachers and officers of the Methodist Sunday school will hold a social evening at the Town Hall on Friday evening for the scholars and their parents.

Mr. Albert Nelson of Kinmardine, is spending the holidays with his mother, Mrs. William Nelson.

Messrs. William Stewart and Stanley Braden were sent as delegates by the Methodist Sunday school to the convention being held at Lindsay this week.

Mrs. Harry Fletcher was in Peterborough on Saturday.

Mr. C. Plunkett of Peterborough, is a guest at the home of his grandmother, Mrs. Wm. Nelson.

Miss Mignon Telgman, Peterborough, was the week end and holiday guest at the home of Mr. and Mrs J. Macfarlane.

Quite a large crowd attended the concert and Christmas tree given by the Presbyterian Sunday school on Friday evening. The sum of $40 was realized. The programme was good and much appreciated by the audience.

Mr. Albert Fletcher of Ottawa, spent Christmas at the home of his father, Mr. H. Fletcher.

SCHOOL REPORTS

S. S. NO. 4, ENNISMORE.

The following marks are the average of December examinations:

Form IV—Nora Killen 64, Francis Crough 59, Katie Twomey 59, John Corkery 49, Madeleine Guiry 52, Agnes Killen 47, Eleanor Kennedy 44 John Maloney 40, John Crough 37.

Form III—Celia Maloney 70, Agnes Harrington 68, Anna Scollard 67, Lena Killen 57, Nellie Gifford 54, Freddie Crough 42, Martin Corkery 39, Harold Harrington 37.

Form II—Mary McGuire 75, Margaret McGuire 68, Mary Killen 64, Stafford Crough 55, Eva Gifford 53, E. Twomey 43, E. Gifford 34, Alphonsus Scollard 33, Emmett Guiry 30, Edward Corkery 27, Flora Crough 23, Joseph Kennedy 16, Daniel Crough 10.

Form I — John Kennedy, James Corkery, Patrick J. Killen, Leo Scollard, Francis Carr, Josie Twomey, Eugene Killen.

Vernia Galvin, Teacher.

S. S. NO. 4, DUMMER.

The following is the report of S. S. No. 4, Dummer, for the month of December:

Senior IV—Florence Batten 85, Bessie Bulmer 82.

Junior IV—Gordon Hamblin 78, Ernie Dunsford 65.

Senior III—Hazel Little 76, Walter Hamilton 70.

Junior III—Eva Payne 89, Leona Matthews 82, Winnie Batten 72, Annetta Little 59, Ralph Hamilton 50.

Senior II—Willa Darling 88, Garfield Little 84, Walter Little 73, Cecil Darling 60.

Junior II—Sherwood Payne 95.

Senior I—Kermel Lane 80.

Junior I—Gerald Dodds 82, Leonard Little 74.

Primer—Jennie Batten, Edna McCauley, Velma Payne, Roy Dunsford, Leonard Dunsford, Oswald Bell, Norman Little, Madeleine Little, Kenneth Moore, Ernie Parsons, Irene Darling, Thelma Dodds.

Car of California Seedless Oranges at All Prices

Malaga Grapes California Grapes
Bananas Figs Dates
Grape Fruit Pomegranates
Apples Lemons
Hot House Tomatoes Potatoes
Hot House Lettuce Macaroni
Olives Olive Oil
Choice Groceries for Christmas
Fresh Fish, Haddis, Herrings and Salad Oysters

JOE LONGO & CO.
2 Stores (218 George St., Phone 921; 150 Charlotte St., Phone 1013)

GRAND OPERA HOUSE

SATURDAY Dec. 30

Matinee 2.30 Evening 8.15

The United Producing Co. present "Still Running"

CHARLEY'S AUNT

From Brazil--Where The Nuts Come From 1000 Laughs--Not One Tear

PRICES—Matinee, Adults 50c, Children 25c
Evening, 50c to $1.00, Gallery 25c

Seat Sale Opens 10 a. m. Thursday

GRAND OPERA HOUSE, 3 DAYS Com. NEW YEARS DAY

One Matinee Only 2.30 Monday, Jan. 1

BASIL S. COURTNEY PRESENTS D. W. GRIFFITH'S

THE BIRTH OF A NATION

8th WONDER OF THE WORLD

18,000 PEOPLE
3,000 HORSES
COST $500,000

SAME BIG SYMPHONY ORCHESTRA

PRICES Matinee 25c, 50c, 75c Night 25c, 50c, 75c, $1

Seat Sale Opens 10 a. m. Friday Mail Orders Now

OBITUARY

MRS JAMES WHITE

Mrs. James White, 308 Charlotte street, passed away in Nicholls Hospital this afternoon. The deceased was a well known resident and formerly lived in Campbellford.

FOR SALE

SALVAGE WHEAT

60c to $1 Per Bushel

F. O. B. Cars in Bulk or sold in small lots in bags, also a few thousand bushels of

SALVAGE OATS

At 25c Per Bushel

Apply on premises of the Quaker Oats Co., Peterborough.

Jas. Richardson & Sons LIMITED

Stop that Cough!

TAKE

Pinol

A healing Remedy Compound of White Pine Compound with Eucalyptol & Menthol

A prompt relief for Coughs and Colds Bronchitis Sore Throat, Asthma and other diseases of the Respiratory Organs.

For sale only at

THE WARNE DRUG CO., LTD.

351 George St. Phone 537

WEDDING BELLS

SUDDABY—WALLER

A quiet wedding was solemnized at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Thos. Waller, 494 Sherbrooke street, on December 27th, when their second eldest daughter, Irene May, was united in marriage to Chas. Ford Sullaby, of Kingston, Ont., by the Rev. J. R Webb. The young couple were unattended and left on the evening train for a short trip, the bride wearing a suit of navy blue with mink furs, and hat to match. Mr. and Mrs. Sullaby will reside in Kingston.

DICKSON—McEWEN.

A quiet wedding took place at the home of the bride's mother, Mrs. McEwen, Medicine Hat, Alta., on Monday Dec. 18th, 1916, at 5.30 p.m., by the Rev. Mr. Clapton, of Medicine Hat, Alta., when her youngest daughter, Verna, was united in the holy bands of matrimony, to Mr. C. Dickson, son of Mr. and Mrs. Dickson, of Peterboro.

Mr. and Mrs. Dickson will reside at Moose Jaw, Sask.

BENNETT—SPENCER.

On Wednesday, Dec. 20th, a very quiet wedding took place at Methodist parsonage, Fraserville, when Walter R. Bennett was united in marriage to Mis Ethel May Spencer, both of Belleville, Rev. W. T. Wickett performing the ceremony. The next day the happy couple left for Detroit and points west. On their return they will reside near Belleville.

New York Stock Market

Summary of To-day's Activities on the New York Stock Exchange

New York Stocks—

Airbrake, 149 3-4, 146; Atchison 104 1-2, 104; B. and O., 83 7-8; C. P R., 166, 165 1-4; N. Y. Central, 104 1-2; Erie, 34 1-2, 34 5-8; Erie Pfd. 49 1-8, 49; Nor. Pac., 116; Penna, 56 5-8, 56 7-8; U. P., 148, 147 7-8;; Rep. Steel, 78, 77 1-2; U. S. Steel, 107 1-2, 108 1-4; Anaconda, 82 3-4, 71 1-4; Inter. Nickel, 42 1-4, 41 1-2.

Canadian Stocks—

Steel of Can., 66 1-2, 63; Steamers 35 1-2, 35; Dom. Steel, 66, 64; Cement 63 1-2, 62; Smelters, 33 1-2; N. S. Steel, 114, 112.

Chicago Grain—

May Wheat, 172 3-4.
July, 139.
May Corn, 92 1-2.

REEVE W. A. ANDERSON,

Otonabee, returned to Council by acclamation, and Reeve Anderson continues at its head.

Bowlers Never Get Appendicitis

BOWLING FOR HEALTH

THE WATER ST. ALLEYS

J. J. SOLOMON, Prop

City and General

Broken auto cylinders, machinery and stoves welded, by the new Oxo Acetylene Process. Anything in iron, steel, or aluminum made as good as new, not patched up. Millard's Bicycle Shop, Hunter street, near Aylmer.

PROBS.

Fresh northwesterly winds to-day and on Friday; much colder

KNOX CHURCH CHOIR.

Knox church choir will practice to-night at 8 o'clock sharp.

PIANO TUNING.

'Phone 595, The Greene Music Co., Charlotte Street, when your piano requires tuning or regulating. All work guaranteed. dtf

NO PRACTICE.

St. John's Choristers will not meet for practice this week.

FINE POST CARDS.

Post Cards of Quaker Oats fire IN COLOURS, 10c. each. See the specimens in the show case. Vincent Studio, George Street. 284-343

CARD OF THANKS.

Mr. and Mrs. E. G. Clarke wish to thank all those who sent flowers and those who showed such kindness during their recent sad bereavement.

DENTAL.

Dr. McKenty, Dentist, 370 George Street, on the ground floor, first door north of Peterborough Hardware Company. Nitrous oxide and oxygen administered for painless operations. 28d-138

THANKS EXPRESSED.

The Soldiers' Wives' and Mothers' Club desire to thank all those who helped to make the "Flower Day" a success, also to the press for their kindness in advertising it.

CLEANING, PRESSING AND REPAIRING.

'Phone 1416 for Cleaning, Pressing and Repairing. Goods called for and delivered promptly. Mrs. Read, 150 Rubidge Street. dtf

NOTICE.

The members of St. Peter's Court Catholic Order of Foresters, are asked to meet in their hall to-night at 8 o'clock to make arrangements for the funeral of their late brother, Wm. Walsh.—Jas. O'Brien, Secretary.

EXPRESS AND BAGGAGE.

E. D. Cooney, a returned soldier, has taken over the express business of Eddie Reid and will give prompt and careful attention to all work entrusted to him 'Phone 847. E. D. Cooney, 340 Aylmer stree. 28d-44

RECITAL ON THE NEW EDISON.

There will be a recital given on the New Edison in the Recital Hall of the J. M. Green Music Co., Ltd., Charlotte street, to-morrow (Friday) evening at 8.15. Programme will appear in Friday's issue. You are invited.

Pte. C. Keliele Wounded.

Mrs. Keliele, 75 Smith street, has received a field card from her husband, Private Charles Keliele of the 20th Battalion and formerly of the 93rd Battalion, stating that he has been wounded. The nature of Private Keliele's injuries a not known.

A CORRECTION.

In yesterday's issue it was stated that the wife of the late Samuel English was deceased. This was incorrect. Mrs. English still resides at 226 Hunter street.

TEA DAY FRIDAY.

The members of the Soldiers' Wives' and Mothers' Club are reminded that Friday is "Tea Day." The winner of the turkey was H. Watkins, Park Street, the lucky number being 61.

FUNERAL.

The remains of the late Samuel English, who died on Wednesday, will be taken to Omemee on Friday morning. A service will be held at Christ's Church, Omemee before interment at Emily cemetery at 2:30. The funeral will be held under the auspices of the Orange Lodge.

E. B. CLEGG & CO.

Furniture purchased now as gifts, will be held until Christmas week if desired. Dining room furniture on sale this week. Some handsome styles to choose from. A collection of colonial art craft and modern style buffets See our show window. A fine example of the William and Mary style

1916 BROKEN PROMISES.

When retrospection fills you with remorse, remember that your failures may be rectified in 1917. Make a promise to give your office help better facilities for doing your work by securing the BEST TYPEWRITERS — the kind that Nelson sells. We sell all makes manufactured. NELSONS for all office needs. We make a specialty of typewriting letters— while you wait. OPPOSITE ORIENTAL.

NOTICE TO FARMERS.

Supplementary meetings of the Board of Agriculture for West Peterborough, will be held at the Fourth Line, Smith, at 2.30 p.m., on Thursday, Jan. 4th. There will be an evening session also.

On Friday, January 5th, two meetings will be held at Buckhorn. There will be good speakers at each session to discuss topics of interest to farmers. Musical programmes. All are invited.

J. A McGregor, President. Allan B. Mann, Sec.-Treas

SPECIAL PROGRAMME.

The special programme and appearance of Santa Claus at Brackley Sunday School to-night promises to be a great success. Two or three loads of folks are going out from the city, and the children will no doubt enjoy the visit of Santa Claus and his presents to them. On Friday night he will visit Byersville Sunday School at the S.A. Temple. There will be no meeting at the Temple on Simcoe Street either to-night or to-morrow night. All who can attend Brackley to-night will be welcome, and also at Byersville to-morrow night.

We wish all our many friends a Happy and a Prosperous New Year

Keep Up The Xmas Spirit

You will want to select some suitable Gift for your Friends who were overlooked at Christmas. Excellent chance will be found at this store, notwithstanding the heavy shopping before Christmas.

We will be pleased to show a large assortment of suitable suggestions for New Year's Gifts—such as

Diamonds Watches
Clocks Jewelry
Rings Necklaces
Cut Glass Silverware
Wrist Watches
Military Watches
Boys' Watches
Girls' Watches
Brooches Fobs
Tie Pins Crosses
Lockets Ebony Goods
Ivory Goods and Thousands of Other Articles

Warne Bros.

DIAMOND HALL

NEXT TO WARNE DRUG CO

Complete List of Fire Alarm Boxes

WARD NO. ONE.

Box Location.

12—Lock and McGill.
13—Lock and Gladstone.
14—Westcott and Aylmer.
15—Perry and George.
16—Perry and Bethune.
17—Park and Townsend.
18—George, at C.P.R.
19—Park and Princess.

WARD NO. TWO.

21—George and King.
22—Simcoe and Queen.
23—George and Hunter.
24—Hunter and Quaker.
25—Charlotte and George.
26—Simcoe and George.
27—Water and McDonnel.
28—Brock and George.

WARD NO. THREE.

31—Park and Sherbrooke
32—Bolivar and John
33—Charlotte and Stewart.
34—Charlotte and St. Joseph.
35—Park and Hunter.
36—Weller and Walton.
37—Park and Charlotte.
38—McDonnel and Reid.

WARD NO. FOUR.

41—Park and London.
42—George and Dublin.
43—Edinburgh and Stewart.
45—George and Smith.
46—Benson and Aberdeen Ave.
48—Water and Hilliard.

WARD NO. FIVE.

52—Burnham and James
53—Rogers and Sophia
54—Hunter and Mark
57—Concession and Hazlitt.
58—Auburn.

To send in an alarm— break the glass open large door and pull hook down one and let go. Remain at the box and direct the firemen to the fire.

Cut this out and keep it.

Sergt. Gordon Keats and Pte. "Red" Briden of the 255th Battalion, C.E.F. members of the Toronto N.H.A. team, are in the city on their way back from Montreal, where they played with Torontos against Canadiens last night, beating the latter 7 to 1. They will work out with the 247th team tonight at Brock street rink.

Social and Personal

Mr. Chester Frouse and wife of Ottawa, spent the holiday with the former's parents, Walton street.

Mr. Eds. Boyle returned to Toronto this morning after spending Christmas at his home, McGill Street.

Mr. and Mrs. Edmonds of Detroit, are visiting at 219 Simcoe Street.

Mr. Richard Payne of Bobcaygeon also Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Gibson, and Miss E. Yonge of Campbellford, spent the Christmas holiday with Mr. and Mrs. T. C. Yonge, Grace Cottage, Park and Lansdowne streets.

Mr. Jos. Guerin of this city, who is at present foreman of a telegraph construction party at Windsor, Ont., is renewing acquaintances with his many friends here.

Lt. Reginald Lockhart of Toronto, is the guest of Dr. and Mrs. Alexander Robertson for a few days.

Mr. Jack Dynan, St. Michael's College, is the guest of his parents, Dalhousie street.

Mr. Hugh Carmichael, Queen's University, Kingston, is the guest of his parents, Dr and Mrs. Carmichael Water street.

Pte. Stanley O'Brien, Kingston, is at his home on Wolseley street, for a week's leave.

Mr. and Mrs. Duncan Coulson have gone to Peterboro for the Christmas holidays.—Toronto Star.

Mr Charles Kingan returned yesterday to Detroit, where he is an inspector of munitions.

Mrs. Howland and two sons, Milton and Russell, who have been the guests of Mr. and Mrs. Kingan, Aylmer St., returned yesterday to Toronto.

Miss Winnie Connor, daughter of Mrs. J. Connor, who for some years was connected with the Cordage works of this city, was the guest of Miss May Grady, yesterday, en route for Chatham, where her sister, Miss Mamie Connor, takes her last vows before entering the convent in that city.

Mr. "Bobs" Hayes, son of Judge Hayes, Guelph, is the guest of Mrs. Dr. Young, for a few days.

Miss Mabel Rehill of Montreal, was home for the holiday.

Miss Charlotte Hanson has returned to Toronto, after spending the Christmas holidays, the guest of her parents, Braidwood avenue.

Miss Addie Ketcheson of Toronto, is spending the Christmas holidays, the guest of friends in East City.

Corporal Charles Thornton of the Canadian Engineers, Training Depot, St. Johns, Quebec, was the guest of his parents over the holidays.

Mr. Jack Allen, Millbrook, who was been the guest of Dr. and Mrs. Court King, Gilmour street, returned home to-day.

Dr. Court King leaves to-morrow for Logansport, Ind., on a professional visit until Tuesday.

Mr. Leonard Adlam has returned to Wellsboro, Pa., after spending the holiday with his parents here.

Mr. Jos. Dwyer has returned to Sarnia, after spending the holiday at home.

Auburn," the beautiful home of Mr. and Mrs. Miles Hamilton, was the scene of a most successful "Christmas" dance given by Mr. Hamilton's daughter, Miss Seabourne Hamilton. The house was beautifully decorated in evergreen boughs, holly, lanterns and bells. Amongst those present were: Miss Agnes Carmichael, Mrs. Hugh Carmichael, Misses Margaret and Agnes Eastwood, Mr. Bob Hayes, Mr. Jerry McClelland, Miss Georgie, Miss Margaret Stevenson, Mr. Allen Stevenson Miss Jessie Spence, Miss Eemes Alymer, Cadet Donald Cameron, Mr. Menzies, Mr. Cote, Mr. Lennox McLaren, Miss Marian and Mr. Kyle Haratone, the Misses Hatton, Mrs. Alec Fortye, Cadet Geo. Hatton, Cadet and Miss Winnifred MacKennie, Mr. Hal. Crane, Miss Phyllis Young and Mr. Herbert Young, Mr. Bud Patterson, Mr. Lawrence Soden, the Misses McCarthy, Mr. Hague, Miss Celia Dunaford and Lt. Sydney Dunaford and Mr. Penuyfather.

Miss Helen Davidson, Dalhousie Street, is the guest of friends in Toronto until Tuesday.

Miss Dorothy MacDonald, Edmonton, is visiting Judge and Mrs. Huycke.

Miss Winnifred McKenzie, Lakefield, and Cadet Kenneth McKenzie, Royal Naval College, Halifax, were in the city to attend the Hamilton dance last night.

Mr. Donald Denham, Cedar Rapids, Chicago, is the guest of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Denham, Reid Street, for the holidays.

Mr P. J. White, Lindsay, is visiting Mr. and Mrs. A Spence, Downie Street.

Mrs. Fred. Howarth and daughters, Jessie and Lizzie, recently residing on Albert Street, leave on the midnight C.P.R. train to-night for Montreal. Her husband was the late Sergt.-Major Fred Howarth, of the 57th Battalion, and Sergeant of the 2nd Battalion, C.E.F., who was killed in the engagement at Langemarck. Mrs. Howarth has been an active member of the Progressive Club, and will be otherwised missed in Peterborough. With her daughters she will reside in Montreal.

Mrs. Rose, Esterville, is the guest of her aunt, Mrs Samuel English, 226 Hunter street.

Mr. and Mrs. Miller spent Christmas, the guest of Mr. and Mrs. W. J. Ferguson, Melbourne street Lindsay.

Miss M. J. Macdonald, who has been the guest of Mr. and Mrs. Dashnesu, Lindsay, returned home yesterday.

Sergt. Phillips of the 255th Battalion, returned to Belleville this morning.

LAKEFIELD PERSONALS.

Lakefield, December 28—Mrs. A. G. Lawless, is visiting friends in Peterboro.

Mr. and Mrs. Percy Darling and children, of Peterboro, spent Christmas in the village.

Dr. J. R. Fraser (Jr.), of the Royal Victoria Hospital, Montreal, is spending the holiday at his home in the village.

Mr. and Mrs. Richard Hunter of Peterboro spent Christmas in the village, the guests of Mr. and Mrs. S. Clydesdale.

Miss Etta Waldon is spending a few days at Gore's Landing, the guest of her sister, Mrs. Thomas Cheyne.

Mr. Aldis Northey of Smith, spent Monday in the village.

Mr. aMrk Lonsbury, of Warsaw, was in the village yesterday.

Mr. and Mrs. George Agnew of Peterboro, spent Christmas in the village, the guest of Mr. and Mrs. John Millage, Senior.

Miss Alice Sherin of Toronto, is spening the holiday at her home here.

Miss Verna Pearson of Dummer is spending the holiday at her home here.

Miss Brown of Lindsay is visiting in the village, the guest of her sister Mrs. (Rev.) C. W Barrett.

Bandsman A. Clark of the 83rd Battalion Band, is spending a few days leave at his home here.

MILLBROOK ITEMS OF INTEREST

MILLBROOK, Dec. 28. — Postmaster and Mrs. Vance were forty-nine years in Millbrook on Tuesday.

Major Sydney Medd and Mr. F. W Medd were at their old home here, Mrs. Thos. Medd's for Christmas.

James Elliott's house at Cavan was burned last week from a defective flue. The fire was raging upstairs it is said while the owner was sitting warming himself at the stove below.

W. B. Elliott, of Fraserville, is another old Cavan boy who has crossed the ocean for country with the 9th Calgary battalion. Bert was well-known and highly respected by his friends here before he went West.

FOWLER'S PEBLO GLASSES

The Season's Greetings

Thanks for the Year's Prosperity and Best Wishes for a Prosperous New Year.

A. A. FOWLER DOCTOR OF OPTICS Phm. B. Toronto University

EYESIGHT SPECIALIST with NUGENT DRUG COMPANY

RESTORE THE NATURAL SIGHT

CHRISTMAS VISITOR TO LINDSAY FATALLY INJURED AT UXBRIDGE

Uxbridge, Dec. 28.—Miss M. A. Storey, aged about 80 years, and sister of the late Mrs. Andrew Patterson, met a tragic death here on Tuesday. She had spent Christmas at the home of her niece, Mrs. R. M Beal of Lindsay, and was returning home. She was delayed in alighting from the train, as others were crowding in, and as the train started she jumped, and in some way was drawn under the car, the wheels passing over both legs above the knees. She never regained consciousness, and died about four o'clock.

MADE OVER SIXTY MILLION

WASHINGTON, December 28.—Over sixty million dollars was made in Wall Street by those having advance information on President Wilson's peace note, according to a telegram received to-day from Thomas W. Lawson, by Representative Wood, of Indiana.

PETERBOROUGH CHORAL SOCIETY

"The Messiah"

St. Paul's Church

TUESDAY, 2nd Jan., at 8 o'clock

SOLOISTS

Miss DOROTHY ALLAN
Peterboro, Soprano
Miss PEARL STEINHOFF
Toronto, Contralto
Miss FLOWERS
Peterboro, Pianist
Mr ALBERT DOWNING
Toronto, Tenor
Mr MARLEY SHERRIS
Toronto, Bass
Mr T. L. PALMER
Toronto, Organist
Mr. JOHN ALLAN, Conductor

Tickets 50c may be had from Messrs Medill, Coleman, Barrie, Smith's Store.

IF YOU NO LONGER USE IT, SELL IT THOUGH AN EXAMINER "FOR SALE AD."

Skates and Hand Sleighs

Notwithstanding the exceptionally large demand for Skates and Hand Sleighs during the past week we still have a complete stock and any one wanting either or both will find it to their advantage to examine our stock before purchasing.

PETERBORO HARDWARE Co

LIMITED

12 Pages

The Evening Examiner

VOL. LVII. No. 151 PETERBOROUGH FRIDAY, DECEMBER 29, 1916 PRICE TWO CENTS

LIVERY
FONTAINE'S LIVERY FOR BEST DRIVING HORSES IN THE CITY. AUTOS AND TAXIS FOR HIRE. CAREFUL DRIVERS AND GOOD SERVICE. 'PHONE 732. 193 HUNTER

Family Re-unions

The picture your friends want to see is the one you see in the mirror on New Year's Morn.

When Family Gathering and Friendship Chums come to-gether is an opportune time to have Group Photos taken, that you may not be able to arrange for again.

If the boy or girl is home get busy and make an appointment by call or phone.

Ruff
140½ Hunter Street

CANADIANS MADE BRILLIANT RAID ON WESTERN FRONT

Russians Win a Big Victory in the Caucasus

Berlin Reports That Allies Are Preparing For Another Offensive

In Diplomatic Circles, It Is Believed That the War Will Not End Without the Allies Making Another Gigantic Effort to Break the German Front—Allies Will Accept Von Hindenburg's Challenge For Winter Battle.

ANSWER TO WILSON'S NOTE

SPECIAL TO THE EXAMINER:

BERLIN, via Wireless to United Press, December 29.—Judging from unofficial reports from the front and diplomatic comment here, the war will not end without the Allies making another gigantic, concentrated effort to break the Germant front. This is indicated by the artillery preparations which are being made.

Britain in the west, her Allies in Greece, Russia and Roumania, apparently expects to accept Von Hindenburg's challenge for winter battle.

When these battles begin peace talk will probably subside to await the outcome of the bitter struggles.

The belief that peace will not come until after the Allies have attempted another gigantic offensive, is voiced by the Vossiche Zeitung, which points out preparations that are being made on all fronts by Germany's enemies.

The above despatch to the United Press is the first definite statement from Berlin that peace is not expected until after another Allied offensive. It is apparent that despite the statements of officials of the American Government that the Wilson note was destined as a warning to Germany, it is regarded there as a move for peace.

"Seal Brand" means a certain, definite blend of high-grade coffee—uniform in quality and always delicious.

Don't take any chances—always insist on having "SEAL BRAND" COFFEE.

In ¼, 1 and 2 pound tins. Whole—ground—pulverized—also fine ground for Percolators. Never sold in bulk.

CHASE & SANBORN, MONTREAL.

Postmaster-General Died This Morning

SPECIAL TO THE EXAMINER:

OTTAWA, Dec. 29.—Hon. T. Chase Casgrain, Postmaster-General, died this morning after a brief illness from pneumonia.

Sailors Murdered By Submarine Crew

SPECIAL TO THE EXAMINER:

LONDON, Dec. 29.—British Admiralty officially state that the captain and some of the crew of the freighter Westminster were murdered by a German submarine crew.

Appointment For Major Daly

SPECIAL TO THE EXAMINER:

OTTAWA, Dec. 29.—Major Daly, a South African veteran, is made secretary of the Pensions Board.

The Suit Has Been Settled

SPECIAL TO THE EXAMINER:

WINNIPEG, MAN. Dec. 29.—Suit for a million and a half against Thomas Kelley and Sons has been settled. The judges have to fix the amount to be returned to the government.

Irish Settlement Making Progress

SPECIAL TO THE EXAMINER:

DUBLIN, Dec. 29.—The Irish settlement is making progress.

British Take Over Section Of the Line

New Batches of Guns Are Going Over to France Every Week—Big Operations in Prospect

SPECIAL TO THE EXAMINER:

LONDON Dec. 29.—It is officially announced that the British forces have taken over a large slice of line formerly included in the French front. General Maurice says that new batches of guns are going over to France every week. Big operations not likely before March next.

Swedish Office Denies Move

Special to The Examiner:

LONDON, Dec. 29.—The Swedish Foreign Office officially denies taking any part in the peace note.

Canadians Made Brilliant Raid

Special to The Examiner:

LONDON, Dec. 29.—Canadians made a brilliant raid on the western front and temporarily occupied a number of German trenches.

In Repute

Huyler's AND Liggett's Chocolates

We have a nice fresh stock of Holiday packages each containing a special assortment of chocolates.

We make it easy to select the very package you require.

Prices from

25c TO $4.00

Per Box

McDERMID & JURY
The Safe Satisfactory Druggists
COR. GEORGE & CHARLOTTE

Million Dollar Fire in Toronto

TORONTO Dec. 29.—Million dollars damage to cars and barns of the Toronto Railway Company by fire.

TIRED OUT KIDNEYS

Kidney troubles are so frightfully common because the kidneys are so easily upset by overwork or carelessness in eating and drinking. Cure is effected not by whipping them on to renewed effort but by awakening the action of the liver and bowels by the use of Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills. This rests the kidneys and makes them well. Backache and kidney disorders then disappear.

Are You Giving

An Afternoon Tea?
A Formal Dinner?
A Breakfast?
A Luncheon?
A Reception?

Then place your catering in experienced, reliable hands and be assured of a successful entertainment.

OUR TEA ROOMS

Always ready for dainty Luncheons, with Hot Tea Coffee, Chocolate, Bovril etc. and a special menu.

T. H. Hooper

3 Stores { 387 George, Phone 169; 413½ George, Phone 1342; Geo. & Dublin, Phone 291

Three Hundred Persons Perished In the Wreck

Heavy Death Toll in the Loss of the Sanka Ku Maru Off Chefoo

STORES PLUNDERED

SPECIAL TO THE EXAMINER:

TOKIO, Dec. 29.—Three hundred persons, mostly Chinese labourers, perished in the wreck of the Sanka Ku Maru, off Chefoo, according to estimates to-day. Some of the victims, survivors, said to-day, were killed by Chinese pirates who boarded the grounded ship, plundered its passengers and stores, and assaulted three aboard. Because of the mountainous seas, all attempts at rescue of those aboard the vessel failed at first.

TEA MARKET STILL RISING

An increase in the ocean freight rates of two and one-half cent a pound added to an advance of from six to ten cents a pound in the cost of tea at the primary markets, has necessitated the recent increase in the cost of tea in Canada. To keep faith with the public and maintain exactly the same high standard of quality as always, "SALADA" has advanced in price, but, as yet, only five cents a pound.

Russians Win Big Victory

Special to The Examiner.

PETROGRAD, Dec. 29.—Russians have won a big victory in the Caucasus.

Russian Fire Stopped Enemy

SPECIAL TO THE EXAMINER:

PETROGRAD, Dec. 29.—Desperate attempt by the enemy to cross the Dneister river in Galicia was stopped by Russian fire.

Grain Markets Hold Steady

Wheat Swung Downward— Foreign Demand Continued.

CHICAGO, Dec. 29.—Wheat swung downward in value yesterday, chiefly owing to sympathy with declines in the New York Stock Market. There were also authoritative assertions that estimates of very large export business had been exaggerated. On the other hand, foreign demand appeared to be continuing and it was said that country elevator stocks in the Northwest were only one-quarter last year's total at this time. Opening prices, which ranged from 5-8 to 2 3-8 lower with May at 171 to 172 1-2 and July at 140 were followed by a moderate rally, but then a fresh decline.

Yesterday's Prices.

Manitoba Wheat — Track, bay ports, New No. 1 Northern, $2.01; No. 2, $1.98; No. 3, $1.93; No. 4 wheat, $1.31. Old crop trading 4c above new crop.

Manitoba Oats—Track, bay ports, No. 2 C.W., 69c.

American Corn—No sellers owing to embargo.

Ontario Oats — According to freights No. 2 white, nominal, 63c to 64c. No. 3 white, nominal, 61c to 63c.

Ontario wheat — According to freights outside. New No. 2 winter, per car lot, $1.65 to $1.67. No. 3, $1.63 to $1.65.

Peas—According to freights outside, No. 2, $2.40.

Barley—According to freights outside, Malting, $1.15 to $1.18.

Buckwheat—According to freights outside, $1.20.

Rye—According to freights outside, No. 2, $1.30 to $1.33.

Manitoba Flour—Toronto. First patents in jute bags, $9.40. Second patents in jute bags, $8.90. Strong bakers in jute bags, $8.50.

Ontario Flour—In bags, track, Toronto, prompt shipment. Winter, according to sample, $6.80 to $6.90.

Millfeed—Car lots, delivered Montreal freights bags included. Bran, per ton, $32. Shorts per ton, $37. Good feed flour per bag, $2.70 to $2.80.

Hay—Track, Toronto. No. 1, per ton, $13 to $13.50. No. 2, per ton, $9 to $11.

Straw—Track, Toronto. Car lots, per ton, $6.50 to $10.

IT PAYS

To watch the Grocery offers of The Peterboro Grocery Store. We are getting more business every week, just as customers find out about our clean, well assorted stock, our business methods and our moderate prices. This week extra values in the following—

Fresh Dairy Butter lb. 44c
Mince Meat New Prunes
Dried Nectarines
Evaporated Apples
2 lbs. 25c
Gal. Cans of Apples .. 24c
Medium Cans Apples 10c
Uncolored Japan Tea
lb. 28c
10 lb. Parcel Japan Tea $2.50
5 lb. Fine Japan Tea $1.00

Peterboro Grocery Co.
160 SIMCOE STREET
Fred Walker, Mgr. Phone 854

Eat Oysters And Fruit Now

After Christmas, most people feel like enjoying something light and nutritious after the heavy meat and plum pudding dishes.

OYSTERS are a valuable food. They are the tenderest of meats and easily digestible—useful in regulating nutrition.

FRUITS contain delicious cooling and refreshing salts, so stimulating and active in regulating the stomach, liver and other organs.

Nothing nicer this week than our Seashipt Oysters and Foreign and Domestic Fruits and Vegetables.

PRINGLE'S
Sanitary Fruit & Fish Market
Cor. George & Charlotte St.
Phone 197

Holiday Fruits

Sunkist Oranges
California Pears
French Dates
Choice Apples
Pomegranites, Bananas
Nuts Shelled-Unshelled
Table Raisins
Cluster Raisins
New Figs & Dates
California Cucumbers
Fresh Lettuce
Crisp Celery, etc

FISH

Shrimps, Sea Salmon, Salmon trout White fish
Sea Herring, Halibut
Oysters Received Daily

Doures & Geittas
375 George St. Phone 18 & 19

EACH $10.95 ONE PRICE ONLY

GLOBE TAILORING CO.

EACH $10.95 ONE PRICE ONLY

SUITS OVERCOATS

Great Special Clearing Saturday

Have you been putting off your purchase for your Suit or Overcoat for after Xmas? Then you should take advantage of this GIGANTIC SPECIAL CLEARING of Made-to-Measure Suits and Overcoats that were uncalled for and remained on our hands with $5 to $6 Deposit on each.

So don't neglect buying your Suit or Overcoat for New Year. Come in Saturday and look them over. Don't ask the price. Just have your choice for

EACH $10.95

IT MEANS A SAVING OF DOLLARS TO YOU ON EVERY GARMENT

Each Suit and Overcoat of those we are offering to clear on Saturday, were tailored to individual measure and gathered from Our Seven Branch Stores throughout Ontario. The original prices were from $16 to $20 and we will clear away every garment on Saturday at the One Price Only.

We have also greatly Reduced the Prices of all our Woolens. So if you intend ordering a Suit, do so on Saturday.

Bear in mind that the above price is Less than the Actual Cost of bare making alone.

GLOBE TAILORING CO.

439 GEORGE STREET -:- Cor. Brock & George

ADVERTISING RATES

Measurement, Agate, 14 lines One Inch

Translent Display ..... 70c per inch
Transient Reading ..... 60c per inch

Minimum Contract Rate for Display, 2,000 inch Contract, 15c per inch
Minimum Contract Rate for Readers, 75c per inch.

Legal and other notices, 8c per line for first insertion; 4c per line for subsequent insertions.

CONDENSED ADVERTISEMENTS.

Minimum charge 15c, of 1c per word for first insertion; ½c per word for subsequent insertions. Add 10c to cover postage or replies, if out of town.

BIRTHS, MARRIAGES AND DEATHS

Daily Examiner 25c
Daily and Weekly Examiner 50c
All advertisements subject to the approval of the Management.

Address:

THE EXAMINER, PETERBOROUGH

PERSONAL.

ADVERTISERS ARE REMINDED THAT IT is contrary to the provisions of the postal law to deliver letters addressed to initials only; an advertiser desiring to conceal his or her identity may economically do so by having replies directed to a Box at this office; ten cents added to the cost of advertisement will ensure the forwarding of letters to any out-of-town address.

GRAND TRUNK RAILWAY SYSTEM

NEW YEAR'S FARES

SINGLE FARE—Dec. 30-31st, 1916 and Jan. 1st, 1917, valid for return until Jan. 2nd, 1917

FARE-AND-ONE-THIRD—Dec. 28-29 and 31st, 1916, valid for return until Jan. 3rd, 1917.

Above reduced fares apply between all stations in Canada east of Port Arthur and to Detroit and Port Huron, Mich; Buffalo, Black Rock, Niagara Falls and Suspension Bridge, N. Y.

Tickets now on sale at all G. T. R. Ticket Offices.

J. B. DORAN, 'PHONE 259

CANADIAN PACIFIC

Start the year backed by the confidence that your friends and folks at home are still your best friends.

YOU CAN VISIT THEM BY

NEW YEAR EXCURSIONS

Via

CANADIAN PACIFIC

SINGLE FARE—Going December 30, 31 and January 1, Return limit January 2.

FARE AND ONE-THIRD—Going December 28, 29, 30 and 31, return limit, January 3.

Purchase in advance. Tickets on Sale Now. Any Ticket Agent C.P.R.

Railway Time Tables

GRAND TRUNK RAILWAY.
CORRECTED JUNE 6, 1916.

7.00 a.m.—For Lakefield.
8.10 a.m.—For Port Hope, Cobourg and points east, connecting at Port Hope for Toronto, arriving at Toronto at 11.05 a.m.
8.25 a.m.—For Hastings, Campbellford, Sterling, Madoc, Belleville, Deseronto, Napanee, Kingston, Brockville, Montreal.
8.30 a.m.—For Lindsay, Orillia, Collingwood, Midland, Penetanguishene, North Bay, Toronto, Hamilton, Niagara.
11.40 a.m.—Mid-day express for Toronto, reaching Toronto at 3.45 p.m.
12.30 p.m.—For Lakefield.
11.40 p.m.—For Millbrook, Port Hope and all points on the main line, east and west. Close connections at Port Hope with International Limited for Toronto, Detroit and Chicago.
5.30 p.m.—For Hastings, Campbellford, Sterling, Madoc, Belleville, Deseronto, Napanee, Kingston and Brockville.
5.35 p.m.—For Lindsay, Orillia, Midland, North Bay, Toronto, Hamilton, Niagara Falls, Buffalo, New York.
5.40 p.m.—For Lakefield.
9.55 p.m.—Local for Lindsay.
9.05 p.m.—For Millbrook, Port Hope, Belleville, Kingston, Brockville, Montreal and Boston.

CANADIAN PACIFIC RAILWAY.
CORRECTED JUNE 5, 1916.

*8.20 p.m.—Indian River, Norwood, Havelock and Tweed.
*12.17 a.m.—Kingston, Smith's Falls, Ottawa, Montreal, Quebec, St. John, N.B., Boston, and New York.
*1.20 a.m.—Norwood, Havelock, Tweed Perth, Smith's Falls and Ottawa.
11.17 a.m.—Norwood, Havelock, Tweed, Perth, Smith's Falls, Ottawa, Montreal and intermediate points and all points east of Montreal.

GOING WEST.—
*2.30 a.m.—Toronto, Owen Sound, Guelph, Goderich, Hamilton, Buffalo, New York, Galt, Woodstock, St. Thomas, London, Chatham, Detroit and Chicago.
*5.45 a.m.—Myrtle and North Toronto.
7.30 a.m.—Toronto, Hamilton, Buffalo, Rochester and New York. Intermediate points between Peterborough and Toronto.
9.15 a.m.—Lindsay, Orillia, Port Mc-Nichol and intermediate points.
*3.45 p.m.—Toronto, Hamilton, Brantford, Buffalo, New York, Guelph, Galt, Woodstock, London, Detroit and Chicago.
*4.45 p.m.—North Toronto and West Toronto and intermediate points.
*Daily Daily except Sunday.

TELEPHONE 790
WHEN YOU WANT YOUR
Piano or Organ Tuned
ALL WORK GUARANTEED
W. H. Cunningham, 343 Water St.

Renew your subscription.

OUR SERIAL STORY

"DESTINY"

By CHARLES NEVILLE BUCK

(Continued from yesterday.)

Her voice trembled with a seeming of repressed emotion of suffering under injustice and of bearing, with fortitude, a life of cumulative injury. Had Paul been bent on persuading her to remedy her alleged mistake, he could hardly have asked a more propitious opportunity.

But this man was capable of no swift and positive decisions. It was not his to cut Gordian knots. Never before had the woman across from him seemed so alluring, so desirable. Never had she so fully stirred his susceptible senses to intoxication as she did at this moment, and never had he felt his fondness for her so genuine. Yet, when she seemed almost to offer him herself and her life—it only he would stretch out his arm and life her across the stream of dilemma—she could not urge, but sat tongue-tied. He could think only of the difficulties; and the thought of them staggered and blinded him. This was no the indecision of a man weighing the responsibilities of a step which might ruin the life of another man; it was merely the futility of "the unlit lamp and the ungirt loin."

"If your husband should hear of this meeting, after your promise of this morning," suggested Paul, "it might have serious results. I mean for you."

She shuddered a little at the thought. "I believe he would become a maniac," she answered, "but this place is safe enough. He would never think of our coming here. It's too far down-town."

"Too far for calling or shopping," Paul reminded her. "So entirely out of your accustomed orbit that if he learned of this, he could construe it only one way—as a clandestine conference."

"But, Paul," she declared, with deep self-pity and a stronger appeal to his instincts of knight-errantry, "I had to talk with you—at any risk. If—if—it does come to a separation, I shall have absolutely nothing." Her voice wath pathetic. "I suppose I should have to go to work."

She looked sadly at him and shook her dark head until he hated himself for not assuring her that she would not have to "go to work," yet he could say nothing.

Then as they sat there in an embarassed silence, the tall figure of Len Haswell appeared in the door the many mirrors of the wall panels multiplied him into a seeming army of giants.

With him was Norvil Thayre. For such a development Paul Burton found himself totally unprepared. No ready phrases came to his lips and his sudden pallor was a seeming confession of guilt. The husband stood for a moment in the door and his face, too pale, but that was only momentary. At once it became fixed in a resolute determination to remain expressionless. The alert mind of Thayre, grasping the situation, addressed itself to averting its awkwardness with artless and inconsequential small talk. He came over to the table and shook hands while Len Haswell stood at his elbow, saying nothing. Paul instinctively offered his hand, but Len ignored it. He heard Loraine declaring with a charming assumed innocence, "Chance brings us into quite a little party. First I happen on Mr. Burton, then on you two."

Suddenly an idea of escape struck Paul, as it had struck him at the school. He, too, laughed, turning to Loraine, "And since you are in better hands, I'll run along. I have an appointment at a studio on the square."

Len Haswell favoured him with a sat ical glance. "You seem," he suggested coolly, "to be only beginning your meal. We are here on business, and won't interrupt." The big man turned on his heel, and, followed by his companion, went to the adjoining dining-room. Loraine Haswell laughed nervously, but Paul's face clouded with deep anxiety.

After he had put Loraine into a taxi the cloud deepened. The same self-accusation that had tortured his childhood with the suffering of self-contempt after each act of cowardice had him again by the throat. Never had it been his plan to urge this woman toward divorce. He had simply drifted with pleasant tides and now he found himself washed seaward with a dragging anchor. It was small compensation to reflect that his fault was less vicious than craven.

The square was bathed in a radiance of frosty sunlight, and the buildings at the south stood diamond-clear under a flawless sky. The monument to the man whose courage and decision had cradled to a nation's birth gleamed in its granite whiteness. But Paul Burton felt small, afraid and besmirched of soul. He hurried to his own house and shut himself in with a thousand weak misgivings, until finally an idea formulated itself. He would go to Hamilton for counsel and strength.

* * * * *

As far as the clean sweep of mountain wilds differ from the suffocation of a miasma, so far did the thoughts of Mary Burton differ from those of Paul that afternoon.

She and Jefferson Edwardes had been riding in the park, and though their horses had only cantered their hearts had ridden madly on winged steeds. Now, with twilight stealing in and softly blotting out the angles of the room, they sat together, still in saddle-togs, before the great, carven mantel which Hamilton had brought back from a European castle where once Napoleon passed a night. A brave glare from roaring logs of driftwood cheerily flooded with light the hearth and the huge polar bear skin stretched before it. Mary Burton sat in a big chair, also castle-ravished, which swallowed her like a cavern, and as Jefferson Edwardes knelt on the rug beside her, and watched the flames caress into gorgeous vividness the colour of her eyes and lips and cheeks and hair, it pleased him to think of her as seated on a throne, and of himself as at her feet.

They had no light but the firelight and needed none, for they had captured the brightness and joyousness and warmth of June and meant to carry it with them wheresoever they went and through all the meaner months.

Mary's right hand was still gloved, but the left was bare and she kept turning at this way and that, washing with engrossed fascination a diamond on one finger that caught and splintered the firelight. It was the jewel which proclaimed that Mary Burton was to be Mary Edwardes.

When her companion spoke, his voice was softened by a very tender triumph.

"Who am I," he asked wonderingly and humbly, "that life should be so lavish and generous with me? Mary, Mary, I told you once that you were as beautiful as starlight on water, but you are more than that. That is only a beauty to the eye, and you are a miracle to the heart and soul as well."

"Once," she said while her voice trembled happily, "I was satisfied with what beauty I had." She bent forward with a sudden gesture of possession and tenderness, as she caught his head between her two hands. "That was when it was my own. Now that it's yours I wish it were a hundred times greater."

"And you are the girl," he smiled, "who once pretended to think she had no soul, and very little heart."

"If I have either, dearest," she declared, "I owe it to you. You found a poor little spark of soul and fanned it into life—but a heart I have, and it's ablaze and it's yours to keep!" Her voice thrilled as she added: "If I had the world to give, it should all be yours, too—all of it."

"I feel," he assured her, "as though you have given me the universe."

For a while they sat silent; then the girl's eyes danced into sudden mischief as she reminded him, "We have still an ordeal ahead, you know. We have to tell Hamilton."

"A love that feared ordeals," he laughed easily, "would hardly be worth offering you. Does he still dislike me?"

The girl nodded. "He isn't exactly as mad about you as I am," she confessed. "But," her head came up and the remnant pride that seemed inherent there shone from her eyes, "my life is mine to use as I wish, and I have no use for it, dear heart, save to give it to you—for always!"

They heard the door open and close, then Hamilton's clear voice came from the hallway.

"You are a fool, Paul," it announced in a tone which blended irritation and indulgence. "This is the modest sort of whim; nevertheless it it appeals to you—all right." The two did not at once come into the library, but talked in the hall.

Paul answered nervously.

"How can you help me, Hamilton? She's married—it would be impossible."

"Impossibilities are my specialties. You say you want this adorable lady?"

"Yes." The response was faint.

"Very well," came the laconic announcement. "You shall have her, though you are, as I said, a fool. Loraine Haswell is a pretty and an empty-headed doll—"

"Don't!" Paul protested quickly, yet even in defending his lady's name, his voice carried more of weak appeal than command. "You mustn't say that!"

"I repeat, she is an empty-headed doll—but since she's going to be my doll I shall dismiss that feature from consideration."

The colloquy had been so rapid that, as Hamilton and Paul showed themselves in the door, the two unwilling eaves-droppers came to their feet, startled.

Jefferson Edwardes turned toward the fire and stood silent, but his momentary expression of disgust had not escaped the financier and instantly all Hamilton's cumulative dislike burst into passion. From the threshold he demanded, "So you listened, did you!"

The visitor replied slowly and with a level voice: "We had not meant to overhear a private conversation—but we did hear."

I suppose you realize that what you heard in no way concerns you!" The voice was surcharged with challenge, and under its sting Edwardes found self-composure a difficult matter. He had no habit of turning aside from quarrels which were seemingly thrust upon him, yet he realized that at this juncture he must govern his temper. For the moment he ignored the question and, with a gaze that met that of the other man in undeviating directness, he responded:

"I was waiting here to see you, Burton, on a mission which in every way concerns me." He raised the girl's hand to his lips and let his gesture explain his purpose.

But the pent-up animosity of Hamilton Burton could remember only the contemptuous curl he had recognized on the other man's lips. He came forward until he stood confronting Edwardes and as he was about to speak Mary interrupted him. Her voice was vibrant with anger and scorn. "If any one should feel called upon to make explanations and apologies, Hamilton, it is yourself . . . after what we have just heard. It was monstrous." She shuddered.

(To be continued.)

"The Perfect Day" is the day when you work in harmony with law. Health comes from Harmony. Get in harmony with Nature's laws by eating Shredded Wheat, a simple, natural, elemental food which supplies the greatest nutriment with the least tax upon the digestion. Try it for breakfast with hot milk or cream. Delicious with sliced bananas or other fruit. Made in Canada.

CURIOUS PIPEFISH.

The Males Have Pockets In Which They Carry Their Young.

The kangaroo has always seemed to have the monopoly of that convenient way of carrying its babies in a pouch, but it has been discovered that a fish has the same useful receptacle which it uses for the same purpose. The pipefish, as it is called from the length of its jaws, has a pocket on the under side of its body nearly half its length. It is found in the male species only and is the only part of the body which is unprotected by large flat plates, which take the place of scales in its protective armor.

If a pipefish is taken from the water and its little ones shaken out of the pouch back into the water they always seem either unable or disinclined to run away. But if the father is placed in the water again all the small fish immediately swim back into the pouch. These curious little creatures have prehensile tails, which they use to hold on to the seaweed to protect themselves from being carried away by the tide. The pipefish is similar to the small eel, being about a foot in length and an inch in thickness. But, unlike the eel, it has a very long jaw and the peculiar defensive armor already mentioned.—New York Sun.

Taking It Easy.

According to a heart specialist, if one retires to bed at ten instead of twelve, one saves the heart 876,000 foot-pounds a year. Lying down half an hour daily lessens its labor in the same period by 219,000 foot-pounds.

Not a Bite of Breakfast Until You Drink Water

Says a glass of hot water and phosphate prevents illness and keeps us fit.

Just as coal, when it burns, leaves behind a certain amount of incombustible material in the form of ash, so the food and drink taken day after day leaves in the alimentary canal a certain amount of indigestible material, which if not completely eliminated from the system each day, becomes food for the millions of bacteria which infest the bowels. From this mass of left-over waste, toxins and ptomain-like poisons are formed and sucked into the blood.

Men and women who can't get feeling right must begin to take inside baths. Before eating breakfast each morning drink a glass of real hot water with a teaspoonful of limestone phosphate in it to wash out of the thirty feet of bowels the previous day's accumulation of poisons and toxins and to keep the entire alimentary canal clean, pure and fresh.

Those who are subject to sick headache, colds, biliousness, constipation, others who wake up with bad taste, foul breath, backache, rheumatic stiffness, or have a sour, gassy stomach after meals, are urged to get a quarter pound of limestone phosphate from the drug store, and begin practicing internal sanitation. This will cost very little, but is sufficient to make anyone an enthusiast on the subject.

Remember inside bathing is more important than outside bathing, because the skin pores do not absorb impurities into the blood, causing poor health, while the bowel pores do. Just as soap and hot water cleanses, sweetens and freshens the skin, so hot water and limestone phosphate act on the stomach, liver, kidneys and bowels.

Sore Corns Go!

Absolutely Painless

No cutting, no plasters or pads to press the sore spot. Putnam's Extractor makes the corn go without pain. Takes out the sting over night. Never fails—leaves no scar. Get a 25c bottle of Putnam's Corn Extractor today.

EXAMINER PATTERN SERVICE

LADIES' FOUR-GORE SKIRT.

By Anabel Worthington.

No woman can reckon her wardrobe complete for the wholesome winter ahead of us unless it includes a separate skirt on the newest lines. As popularity has set its seal of approval on the skirt made with yokes, it is interesting to note the different versions of the yoke skirt offered by the designers.

The model shown in the illustration is cut in four gores, joined to a simple yoke front and back that reaches to hip depth. Below the yoke the sides are laid in plaits and the skirt flares prettily at the lower edge—this measures 2¾ yards in size 24.

A raised waistline is used and buttons down the left side, where the front yoke laps the back, decorate and designate the closing outline. It adds to the effect to make the yokes of contrasting goods, but this is a matter of preference.

Such materials as serge, gabardine, wool poplin, checked and striped woollen weaves are especially smart right now and with the pattern it will be plain sailing for any one to make a skirt that will be very useful for many occasions.

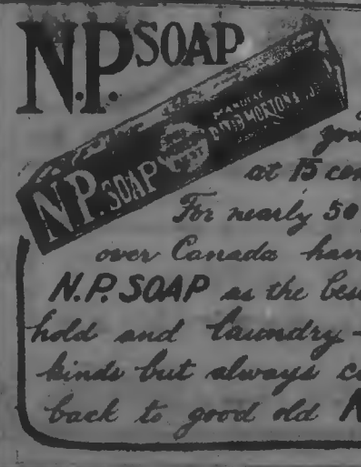
The pattern, No. 8,987, cuts in sizes 24-30 waist. To make in size 24 requires 4¼ yards 36 inch material and ⅝ yard 36 inch goods for the yokes.

To obtain the pattern send 10 cents to the office of this publication.

When ordering remember to give your name and address as well as the number and size of pattern required, and age of a child.

Price 15 cents, or 2 for 25 cents.

Address—The Examiner Pattern Service, The Examiner, Peterborough.



You get extra good value when you buy N.P. SOAP at 15 cents for the big bar. For nearly 50 years women all over Canada have agreed on N.P. SOAP as the best soap for household and laundry—they try other kinds but always come back to good old N.P.

15¢

Out Today

New Victor Records for January

The New Year brings a most desirable list of Victor Records which will delight you.

Amelita Galli-Curci

The marvellous new Italian Soprano, whose singing has captivated European and South American audiences has just made her first Victor Records.

Rigoletto—Caro nome	Italian	Amelita Galli-Curci	74499
La Partida	Spanish	Amelita Galli-Curci	74500

Beautiful Record by McCormack

"Love, Here is My Heart" (64623), sings John McCormack, to one of the most joyous refrains that ever this genial tenor chose to sing.

Another Gluck-Homer Duet

A duet by these artists is always hailed with delight and this one is most pleasing.

Long, Long Ago	Alma Gluck-Louise Homer	87267

Farrar sings "The Holy City"; Maud Powell plays "Love's Delight"; and many other selections are given by such artists as Caruso, de Gogorza, Ruffo, Whitehill, Williams and Witherspoon

Nearly 70 others including

16 popular song hits	6 stirring band renderings
6 enticing dance numbers	8 vocal records
14 miscellaneous instrumental selections	2 comedy specialties
2 splendid orchestra numbers	2 educational
	2 choruses

Hear them at any "His Master's Voice" dealers'

Always look for "His Master's Voice" trade mark

Write for free copy of 450-page Musical Encyclopedia listing over 6000 Victor Records.

Berliner Gram-o-phone Co., Limited

115 Lenoir Street, Montreal

Made in Canada — One Price from Coast to Coast, Dealers in Every Town and City — Played Everywhere

"His Master's Voice" Peterboro Dealers

HEINTZMAN & CO., Ltd. 421 George Street. | THE CRESSMAN CO., Ltd., 385-391 George Street.

Hugo Hailstones.

Recent hailstorms deposited some fairly large hailstones in various parts of the country, including one three inches in circumference, and a dozen, gathered at random, which weighed one pound, an average of 1 1-3rd oz each. But these figures are a long way behind existing hailstone records, for on July 5th, 1893, several hailstones, each as large as a good-sized orange, fell at Richmond, Yorks, as detailed in the archives of the Royal Meteorological Society, where also are photographs of some 6in. and 7in. in circumference.

In 1907 a hailstorm visited a part of Indo-China, and the director of the Central Observatory, M. Cadet, reported afterwards that at first the hailstones were as large as eggs, but as the storm progressed they increased in size. A soldier picked up one "as large as a man's head," and another was placed on the scales and tipped the beam at 12oz. In January, 1911, too, giant hailstones fell at Molepolole, Bechuanaland, of such a size that twenty natives were killed by being struck with them.

Oldest Industry.

The pearl fisheries of Ceylon are said to be the oldest industry in the world. For over three thousand years the pearl-oyster harvest has been gathered by the natives, who, skilled in diving, have handed down the industry from one generation to the next. Of late years the remuneration has been uncertain. Some time ago the Government leased its rights to a foreign concern for a specified sum annually. Pearl-fishing in Ceylon to-day is somewhat of a speculation.

The greatest care is taken lest when the shells of the bivalves are opened any of the precious gems be lost or stolen. A very strict watch is kept over the natives, who are employed in this kind of work, but in spite of the greatest precautions some of the smaller stones are frequently concealed. The refuse from the shells is very carefully examined, subsequent to this first examination. Even the dried dust of the oyster is carefully sifted.

Her Goodness.

Bridey—My wife is a very good cook. Wise—Get out! Her mother told me she was just taking her first lessons when you married her. Bridey—Exactly. She was good enough not to continue her lessons on me.—Philadelphia Press.

Not to Blame.

"My dear, there's too much calorie in this soup."

"There! I told the cook you would rather have it seasoned with parsley."—Baltimore American.

Smartness.

When people who think they are smart meet people whom they recognize as smarter than themselves they call them "disagreeable."—Detroit News.

Good Results

Only can come from having your

PROPERTY INSURED AGAINST LOSS BY FIRE

in the Most Reliable Companies.

Settlement of Losses, to which we give Personal attention are

PROMPT AND LIBERAL

You will find in our office the Strongest of the British, American and Canadian companies doing business in Canada.

Davis-Thompson Co., Limited

INSURANCE & GENERAL AGENCY

486 GEORGE STREET Phone 40

MONEY TO LOAN.

GORDON & WIDDIFIELD, Barristers, Solicitors, Notaries, Solicitors for the City of Peterborough.

MEDICAL.

DR. BUCHANAN, F.R.C.S., Edin., M.R.C., Eng., L.R.C.P. London. Eye Ear Nose and Throat Specialist. Hours 9-11 a.m., 2-4 p.m., 7-8 p.m. 'Phone 619. Office: Corner of Water and Murray streets.

DR. E. E. HARVEY, Silver Medalist University of Toronto. Special attention to diseases of women and children. Office hours: 1:30 to 5 p.m., 7-8 p.m. 'Phone 224. Office 213 Brock Street.

DR. C. P. W. ROSS, Ex-House Surgeon, Grace Hospital, Toronto. Residence:—Keene, Ont. fance-66

BARRISTERS AND SOLICITORS

GORDON & WIDDIFIELD, Barristers, Solicitors, Notaries. Solicitors for the City of Peterborough.

BENNET & GOODWILL—Barristers, Solicitors, etc. No. 276 Water Street, Peterborough. Telephone No. 191. J. W. Bennet; E. L. Goodwill.

RUDDY & BURNHAM—Barristers, Solicitors, Notaries. Money to Loan Offices 449 Water Street, corner Water and Brock.

Robert Ruddy, K.C., J. H. Burnham, M.P.

G. W. HATTON, County Crown Attorney, Barrister, Solicitor, & Trust Funds to Loan at lowest current rates of interest on easy terms of repayment.

J. R. CORKERY, Barrister, Solicitor, etc., Commerce Building. Money to loan at lowest rates of interest.

PECK, KERR & McELDERRY—Barristers, Solicitors and Notaries. Office 415 Water Street, Peterborough. Money to Loan at lowest current rates of interest on easy terms of repayment. H. A. Peck, F. D. Kerr, V. J. McElderry.

D. O'CONNELL—Barrister, Solicitor and Notary, Hunter street, two doors west of the Post Office. Daniel O'Connell.

DUMBLE & JOHNSTON—Barristers, Solicitors, etc. Offices over Toronto Savings and Loan Company, 437 George street. D. W. Dumble, K.C. W. F. Johnston.

A. E. DIXON—Barrister, Solicitor, etc. Offices Corner Hunter and George Sts. Entrance next Madill's Drug Store.

HALL & HALL—Barristers, Solicitors and Notaries Public, Hunter St., Peterborough. Next to St. John's Church. Money to loan at lowest rates of interest. E. M. D. Hall Basil D. Hall

MOORE & WEARING, Barristers and Solicitors, 128½ Hunter Street (entrance first hallway west of post office.) Money to loan at lowest rates. W. H. Moore, K.C., Joseph Wearing, M.A.

G. A. LANGLEY—Barrister, Solicitor, Notary Public, etc. County Magistrate. Offices, Peterborough, Ont., 416 George St. 'Phone 114; Lakefield, Ont., (afternoons.) 'Phones, Office 23; Residence 56.

R. R. HALL—Barrister Solicitor, etc., Peterborough, Ont. Offices, corner Hunter and Water streets over Canadian Bank of Commerce. Successors to Hall Medd & Davidson. Trust funds to loan on easy terms of repayment.

ARCHITECTS.

W. BLACKWELL, Architect and Civil Engineer. Plans and estimates made for churches, public buildings and dwelling houses. Buildings heating and plumbing a specialty. Office, 211 Water Street Peterborough.

OSTEOPATHY

DR. BRUCE E. MARSHALL, Osteopathic Physician. Offices: 248 Hunter Street. Hours 9 to 11 a.m., 2 to 4 p.m., 7 to 8 p.m. 'Phone 116.

DR. ASA G. WALMSLEY—Osteopathic Physician. Office in Sun Life Building, Corner of Hunter and Water streets. Entrance, 194 Hunter street. 'Phones: Office, 479; Residence, 666. Office hours, 9 to 12 a.m., 2 to 6 p.m. Evenings by appointment.

DR. MARY E. DAVIDSON, Osteopathic Physician. Office—No. 4 over Bank of Commerce. Entrance on Hunter or Water streets. Hours: 10 to 12, and 2 to 5. Evenings by appointment. 'Phone 1466.

EDWIN ELCOME
— TAXIDERMIST —

HEADS, ANIMALS, BIRDS, FISH, ETC. mounted artistically and permanently

HEADS OF MOOSE, CARIBOU AND DEER,

Birds, Animals, Birds, Fish, Antlered Rugs, Ventilated Deerskins, Skull and Horns Under Beasts Eyelids.

692 HARVEY STREET
PETERBOROUGH ONTARIO

Toronto Savings & Loan Comp'y

Notice is hereby given that a Quarterly Dividend of Two and One-half per cent, being at the rate of Ten per cent per annum for the (3) three months ending 31st December 1916 has been declared upon the capital stock of this Institution and the same will be payable at the offices of the Company in this City on and after the 2nd January, 1917

The transfer books will be closed from the 15th to the 31st December, both days inclusive.

By order of the Board

W. G. MORROW
Managing Director

Peterboro, Dec. 1st, 1916

LUMBER

BUILDERS' MATERIALS of all kinds. Shingles, Sheathing, Joist and Bill Stuff, Mouldings, Casings, Base and all kinds of Finish, Boxes and Box Shooks, Slabs and Mill Wood.

Alf. McDonald Estate
POINT ST. CHARLES MILL

OUR DAILY SHORT STORY

The Admirable Mr. Starkweather

By EDWARD T. STEWART

In the autumn I was invited to visit my friend, Mrs. Swinburne, who never returns to the city till November and sometimes later. I found there Miss Edith Harley, a young lady friend of Mrs. Swinburne. Miss Harley was very attractive, but she seemed to be absorbed in something. It was not long before I discovered that it was a young man. Whenever the family car came from the railway station she would rush to the door, then turn away disappointed.

When she and I were together she was constantly saying: "That reminds me of a friend of mine, who is very clever. He does everything so well. He was graduated at the head of his class in college and at the law school. Not that he is a bookworm or a grind or anything like that; he goes in for athletics. He has taken a lot of champion prizes at tennis and golf and is considered the best billiard player in his club."

"An Admirable Crichton," I put in.

"A what?"

"Did you never hear of the Scotchman of that name who a couple of hundred years or so ago could outjump, outfence, outride any other man in the world?"

I felt much irritated at this fellow who was standing between me and a very pretty girl, and I suppose my words and the tone in which they were spoken indicated a desire to make a supposititious case a real one. Miss Harley made no further remark, and, looking at her face, I saw a faint smile, which I interpreted as indicating something between pity and contempt for one who even hinted that he might in any respect down this remarkable friend of hers.

There was a little room in Mrs. Swinburne's house off the dining room containing a writing desk and materials for correspondence. I went in there one morning to write a letter, and there on the desk was a sheet of note paper with the following words on it:

—Dear Alonzo—When are you coming? We have no end of things to do when you arrive which we are keeping till you—

The note stopped here. It had evidently been left by mistake. Looking down into a wastebasket beside the desk I saw an envelope addressed to Alonzo L. Starkweather, 110 North Walnut street. This, too, was unfinished, but Miss Harley had told me the city which her admirable friend honored by his presence, and I was thus led to believe that the unfinished letter had been intended for him.

If she is too modest to send for her paragon I thought, I will help her out. I wished to get sight of one who was fast becoming my rival, for, though I did not know it, I was falling in love with Miss Harley. I concluded to send the note to Mr. Starkweather, unfinished as it was. Doubtless he would understand that he was pined for, but the piner was too modest to tell him so. There were some envelopes in the desk with the Swinburne address on the corner, and I put the unfinished note in one of them, addressed and mailed it. This was something I had no right to do, but I was mad with love and jealousy and scarcely responsible.

A few days later, after a spat with Miss Harley over her friend's accomplishments, to let off my ire I walked into the village. While there I dropped into the postoffice for the mail. I was handed the letter I had mailed to Mr. Starkweather, returned with a carrier's mark on it, "No such person there."

Slowly there came into my stupid noddle something that was scarcely credible. Mr. Starkweather was a myth. But why had this myth been conjured up? Was it for my benefit, and if so why had he been thus inflicted upon me? I came to no conclusion as to this, but I concluded to conjure up a female myth to match him. I wrote a letter to myself and sent it to town to a friend to mail to me. When I received it I opened it in Miss Harley's presence, read it, put my hand to my forehead and groaned.

"What's happened?" asked my companion anxiously.

"She's very ill."

"Who? Your mother?"

"No."

"Sister?"

"No; a very dear friend."

I cast a glance out of the corner of my eye at Miss Harley and saw a combination of emotions.

"I must go to her at once," I added.

"You have not told me of this very dear friend."

"You gave me no opportunity. You were too [illegible] of your own dear friend."

She looked at me inquiringly, then smiled.

"Do you take the next train?"

"That depends upon when Mr. Starkweather is to arrive."

"Mr. Starkweather is not coming." Her smile was broadening.

"In that case I would not think of going."

"Not even to a dear friend who is ill?"

"I fear she has passed away. The letter says she was dying when it was written."

That was the end of Mr. Starkweather. In time I found I had been invited to visit Mrs. Swinburne for the express purpose of being caught by her very dear friend Miss Harley. They had concocted Mr. Starkweather between them for a bait. The hook is still in my gills.

Facts Versus Fancies.

Richard Le Gallienne was sympathising with a young writer whose book of poetry had been refused by twelve publishers.

"Real lovers of poetry," said Mr. Le Gallienne, "are unfortunately becoming rare. Too many people nowadays are like the judge.

"This judge was recommended by a poetic friend to read Shelley. The great man of the law said he supposed he ought to read a little poetry, and, having heard so much of Shelley, he would try him.

"'And what do you think of it?' said his friend to the judge after he had waded through a few pages of 'Epipsychidion.' 'Isn't it beautiful?'

"'Well, well—oh, yes. I daresay it is,' said the judge. 'But what I want to know is when are we going to get at the facts?'"—Washington Star.

Constipation Vanishes Forever

Prompt Relief—Permanent Cure

CARTER'S LITTLE LIVER PILLS never fail. Purely vegetable—act surely but gently on the liver. Stop after dinner distress—cure biliousness—relieve the sick headache—regulate the complexion—brighten the eyes. Small Pill, Small Dose, Small Price.

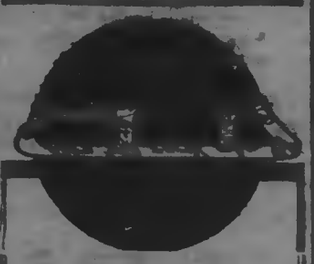
Genuine must bear Signature

Carter Medicine Co.

CHINA PAINTING

Mrs. Langley McCarthy

Teacher Bisnop's New and Beautiful Art Work in China Painting!



Ingersoll Watches

That Show the Time in the Dark from $1.25 up

Automobile and Cycle Mirrors Rocky Sticks and Supplies Jack Knives

MILLARD'S BICYCLE SHOP

Hunter St., near Aylmer

OFFICE WORKERS
FACTORY WORKERS

and others who labor indoors should always take the strength-compelling tonic-food in

SCOTT'S EMULSION

to keep up their strength, nourish their nerves and increase their energy. SCOTT'S helping thousands—why not you?

Scott & Bowne, Toronto, Ont. 16-28

IF ALL PALED OUT TRY THIS PRESCRIPTION

When that overpowering weariness and a never-rested feeling comes over you it shows some serious disorder is undermining your health. The cure is simple. Build up the system and nourish the body back to health by pure wholesome blood.

The one sure means of doing this is with Dr. Hamilton's Pills. They are a marvellous aid to appetite,—convert all you eat into nutriment, and tissue-building material. Thus a weak body is supplied with new nerve fibre, hardy muscle and firm flesh. Lasting good health is sure to follow. If you really want to get well and stay well, use Dr. Hamilton's Pills, 25c. per box at all dealers.

TWO PARTIES IN GERMANY.

Totally Divergent Views of the Two War Leaders.

The two bitterly contested views about the war in German politics are described in The New Republic by William E. Bullitt, who has just returned from the Central Empires.

"The supporters of the Chancellor still see in the war the same conflict which existed before England came in. To them, this is essentially a struggle between Russia and the Austro-Hungarian-German bloc for predominance in the Balkans and Asia Minor. Their hope is to establish a confederation of Central Europe stretching from Hamburg to Bagdad. As they see it, the war is deciding, chiefly, how wide shall be the boundaries of Central Europe. They are almost ready to give up northern France and the whole of Belgium. They are ready to pay Belgium an indemnity of two billion marks, if Belgium will pretend that it is part of the purchase price of a section of Belgian Congo. Their eyes are on the East. They hope to annex Courland, and to create an independent Poland from Russia's Polish territories, which they expect to take into the German Zollverein. But the most vital piece of territory to them is north-eastern Serbia, which they call 'The dry Suez canal.' For across it, by way of Belgrade and Nish, runs the railway from Buda-Pest to Constantinople, control of which they must have if the Hamburg to Bagdad confederation is to become a reality.

"To the supporters of von Tirpitz, the war essentially is a struggle between England and Germany for control of the sea. They wish to purchase peace with Russia at any price, even at the cost of abandoning their ally Turkey, and to fight on until France and England are crushed. They believe that Germany should annex every foot of French and Belgium territory she can occupy; French territory so that France can never again offer serious resistance; Belgian territory so that she may have a springboard from which to dive at England. Von Tirpitz's notorious postal card puts matters thus: 'We must hold the coast of Belgium as a base from which to operate against our Anglo-American enemies.'"

FELL IN A FAINT.

Mrs. Edwin Martin, Aper's Cliff, Que., writes: "Before using Dr. Chase's Nerve Food I was in a terrible condition. Dizzy spells would come over me and I would fall on the floor. I could not sweep without fainting. Dr. Chase's Nerve Food has so built up my system that I can work and do my housework. Your medicine cured me when doctors had failed."

WAR MEMORIALS.

A New Book Issued on an Interesting Subject.

Many towns just now are anxious to erect monuments to dead heroes who have given their lives for their country. Many hints and designs have been incorporated in a book included in the Country Life Library entitled "Memorials and Monuments," and which is published, to quote the author, "in the hope that it may be useful to people who are considering memorials and that it may lead them to the artist rather than to the trader."

Included in this valuable work are pictures and information about many war memorials and monuments erected throughout the country in memory of campaigns and heroes of the past. The finest public school memorial put up after the South African War is to be seen at Eton. It consists of a large building containing a school hall and library, two huge panels in the former recording the names of Etonians who fell in the war. The panels form a background for a bust of Queen Victoria, while in front is a case with glazed top, in which is treasured the manuscript Roll of Honor.

At Haileybury College there is a magnificent obelisk adorned with sixteen bronze plates, on which are inscribed the sixteen principal battles of the South African War.

It is pointed out that after the Napoleonic Wars sculptors were contented not only to employ emblems such as cannon-balls, standards, etc., in memorials, but also represented their heroes in dying attitudes, and occasionally showed in bas-relief a battle scene or naval action. St. Paul's Cathedral contains some interesting examples of monuments of this kind.

One of the most striking war memorials, however, is the monument in the garden of the Royal Naval Barracks, Chatham, where many prisoners of war were buried a hundred years ago.

A remarkable monument has also been designed at Godalming in honor of J. G. Phillips, the wireless operator whose heroic death on the foundered Titanic was one of the victories of peace. A piece of land was laid out as a paved pool garden, with a roofed cloister round three sides. On the fourth is a screen partly of open arcade and partly of solid wall, in the middle of which is fixed a stone inscription panel. Although in this case only one man is commemorated, the ample wall surfaces give space for a great number of names.

On the Way.

"Why doesn't that dachshund come when I call him? The idea of walking to me!"

"He's coming as fast as he can," said the man's wife. "He's got his front legs started."—Washington Herald.

Considerable Opening.

"What a dear little mouth Peggy has."

"Yes; her last dental bill amounted to $67.50."—Boston Transcript.

Don't throw away your old shoes till you've got new ones.—Dutch Proverb.

LIGHT OF THE SUN

In Its Pure State We on the Earth Have Never Seen It.

SOME RAYS DO NOT REACH US.

If They Did They Would Probably Destroy Life as It Exists on Our Planet. Daylight and Sunlight Differ Almost as Much as Do Wine and Water.

"As clear as daylight" expresses in ordinary language a maximum of plainness and obviousness. Nevertheless daylight is one of the most complicated and capriciously variable of all natural phenomena.

Almost everybody you meet will tell you that daylight and sunlight are different names for the same thing. They think they know that much of astronomy that way. But astronomy does not teach anything of the kind. Astronomy simply tells us that the sun is the primary cause or source of daylight, but it does not say that daylight and sunlight are identical. In fact, they differ almost as much as do water and wine.

But the degree of difference varies. Daylight is a mixture of two kinds of light, and its quality is continually changing, as everybody who has ever had anything to do with photography knows. The proportions of the two kinds of light that make daylight are not the same from hour to hour and hardly from minute to minute.

In clear weather, under an open sky, with the sun high in the heavens, daylight, says Professor Nichols of Cornell, is almost entirely sunlight. A white surface exposed to an unobscured sky receives directly from the sun 85 per cent of the light that illuminates it and only 15 per cent from other parts of the sky dome.

This other part of the illumination is called skylight, and it consists of light, nearly all of which came originally from the sun, but which has been changed in quality by reflection from the earth, from the clouds and from dust and vapor in the air. Many of the rays that characterized the original sunlight have been absorbed by the reflecting substances, so that what remains is no longer the same thing as before.

On a completely overcast day there is no sunlight, properly so called, but only skylight. Whether the sky is overcast or not the intensity of daylight varies with the hour of the day and with the season. This is due to differences in the elevation of the sun. These variations in the intensity of daylight are surprisingly great. The intensity is on the average ten times as great in midsummer as in midwinter, but this average comes far from expressing the utmost difference that can exist, for investigation has shown that between the clearest summer day and the darkest day of winter the ratio of the intensity of daylight may be as great as 300 to 1.

Besides the quality of daylight is continually changing on account of the variations in the relative amounts of the different rays of the spectrum that are mingled in it. The spectrum of light is a gamut of vibrations, and the result of the selective action exercised by the substances and vapors, from which the light has been reflected and through which it has passed is to produce variations of color and of intensity of color, as well as of the quantity of invisible radiations present, and these variations are not the less real and important because the eye is not always fully aware of them.

As to pure sunlight, we never see it on the earth. The light that arrives to us from the sun has neither the color nor the intensity that it possesses before it enters the atmosphere. The ultraviolet rays especially are almost completely screened off by the atmosphere, and if they reached us in their full force it is probable that life as now organized on this planet would be destroyed by them.

Every different world has its own daylight, although all may be illuminated by the same sun. Not only does relative distance affect the intensity of daylight on different planets, but the constitution of their various atmospheres has an equally great effect. Venus has a daylight twice as intense as ours; Mars one-half as intense. On Jupiter the intensity is 1-25 of that on the earth; on Saturn, 1-90; on Neptune, 1-900.

But each of these planets has an atmosphere peculiar to itself, and thus the differences of daylight upon them are made still more remarkable. This is one of the first things to be taken into account in all speculations about the habitability of those other worlds.—Garrett P. Serviss in Spokane Spokesman-Review.

A Wonderful Word.

Confidence! What a wonderful word it is! How much it does to make a despondent man or woman feel better! How often it has lifted a business man out of the deepest despondency and given him another chance! Say a helpful word whenever you can, whether it be to a child with tear dimmed face or to a workman who has lost his job or to a business man who faces serious embarrassments. It will pay.—Leslie's.

The Guilty One.

Jobe—Say, that's your new tie, eh! Why on earth did you select such a loud pattern? Joe—I didn't select it. My brother did, and he's slightly deaf.—Judge.

Sincerity and truth are the basis of every virtue.—Confucius.

Renew your subscription.

COWAN'S
Filbert Nut Bar

Fresh plump filberts scattered generously throughout the finest and smoothest milk chocolate manufactured.

Sold everywhere. Made in Canada.

A-18

REJECTED AND MORBID

Strange Tragedy of Wartime in English Family

A dramatic story was told at Surbiton at the inquest on Walter Turrill, thirty-seven, who, with his brother, Pte. Rowland Turrill, twenty-one, of the Oxford and Bucks Light Infantry, was found shot in bed at the residence of their brother-in-law, Mr. A. F. Jepson, of Thames Ditton. Mr. Walter Turrill, the father, of Woodstock road, Oxford, said Walter suffered from insomnia, and took veronal. He was very despondent because he could not take his brother's place at the front. He did not like the idea of his brother returning to France to face the hardships of trench life again. He had attested under the Derby scheme, but was medically rejected.

Private Turrill, his brother, who appeared on crutches, said Walter came up to London with him to see him off to the front. They slept for the night at their brother-in-law's house at Thames Ditton. At 4.45 in the morning he was awakened by the report of firearms and felt a pain in his left foot. He called out, "Walter, what has happened?" but got no reply. Turning on the light, he found his brother huddled up at the foot of the bed with a bullet wound in the heart and a revolver lying by his side. He himself had been shot through the left foot. A verdict of suicide during temporary insanity was returned.

Child Was Nervous, Irritable, Tired Out

She Had No Appetite and Her Complexion Was Pale and Sallow

How many parents realize the strain which going to school means to the child who is naturally nervous and of delicate health?

You see them come from the schools daily with pale faces, many wearing glasses, and looking tired and worn. At home they are irritable, do not sleep well at nights, and are upset by a little extra excitement.

If they are to grow to healthy manhood and womanhood their systems must have attention now. Such treatment as Dr. Chase's Nerve Food does wonders for children in this condition. We are constantly receiving letters from grateful parents telling what the Nerve Food has done for their children. This one is a fair sample:

Mrs. Stephen Hartman, Italy Cross, Lunenburg Co., N.S., writes: "My little sister at eleven years of age became nervous, irritable and seemed all tired out. She had no appetite, was lifeless and drowsy and her complexion grew pale and sallow. Finally she had to keep her bed and have somebody with her all the time. She was afraid of everything, would get excited and tremble till the bed would shake. As she seemed to be getting worse under the doctor's treatment, mother decided to try Dr. Chase's Nerve Food. After she had used about four boxes, improvement was noticeable and it was wonderful to see how much brighter and stronger she grew week by week. She used ten boxes altogether and they cured her. She got fat and rosy and went to school every day with an ambition that she never seemed to have before. I do not hesitate to recommend Dr. Chase's Nerve Food to anyone, for it was indeed wonderful what it did for her."

Dr. Chase's Nerve Food, 50c a box, 6 for $2.50, all dealers, or Edmanson Bates & Co., Ltd., Toronto.

FOR SALE

LOTS

On The Late Senator Cox Homestead

Beautifully Situated

Easy Terms of Payment

Apply—437 GEORGE ST.

RENEW YOUR SUBSCRIPTION

Do Not Forget to Renew Your Subscription to the Daily and Weekly Examiner, the Two Best Papers in Peterborough County.

Anyone Renewing or Ordering a New Subscription Will Be Given a Serviceable Calendar. They Will Be Scarce This Year.

THE EXAMINER, 419 GEORGE ST.

"TANK" COMMANDERS WHO GAINED HONORS

Deeds of Resolution and Daring That Were Rewarded by Britain—Thrilling Times

Conspicuous in a list of war honors containing over twelve hundred names published in the London Gazette were the fine awards of the Military Cross to men in the Tanks. An airman, 2nd Lieutenant S. E. Cowan, was the first officer to win two bars to his Military Cross. Of 2nd Lt. John Allan it is stated that "he manoeuvred his Tank with great skill under heavy shell fire over difficult and unknown ground and brought it into a good position for enfilading the enemy's trenches, which he succeeded in doing with good effect."

Fight With Revolvers

2nd Lt. Francis J. Arnold "commanded his Tank with great courage and determination. Later, the Tank being laid up, he and his crew continued to fight with their revolvers." 2nd Lt. Edward C. K. Colls "fought his Tank with great gallantry, reaching the third objective. Later, on several occasions, he went to the assistance of the infantry, and finally brought his Tank safely out of action." 2nd Lt. Arthur H. Blowers "on several occasions assisted the infantry and enabled them to advance."

Fourteen Hours Ditched

The Tank of Lt. Frederick A. Robinson got ditched, and "he and his crew dug for fourteen hours under heavy fire, eventually getting the Tank out and back to the assembly point." 2nd Lt. William H. Sampson "enfiladed an enemy trench and captured fifteen prisoners." 2nd Lt. Eric L. Purdy "fought his Tank for five and a half hours with great gallantry, beating off continual enemy bombing attacks."

Lt. Arthur E. Arnold "went to the assistance of another Tank. He also rescued a wounded man, and, although himself wounded, brought his Tank safely out of action." 2nd Lt. Herbert G. F. Brown "fought his Tank, which was disabled, with great gallantry, reaching his third objective. He put two machine guns out of action." 2nd Lt. Leonard C. Bond, in his Tank "put a machine gun out of action and captured the team."

DANCING HALL RAID

130 Military Age Men Arrested by Holborn Police

Just before midnight, whilst a dance was in progress at the Holborn Hall, Gray's Inn road, a large force of police surrounded the place and demanded to see documentary evidence from men who appeared to be of military age as to why they were not in the army. About 130 persons were detained and taken to Gray's Inn road police station.

On the arrival of the police a general stampede ensued, but the exits were well guarded. In the majority of cases the men detained were able to satisfy the police authorities and were allowed to return to their homes, but about a score were kept in custody.

SCIENCE AND THE WAR

Canada Will Need to Use All Experts When Peace Comes

Addressing the Empire Club of Toronto, Prof. McLennan, head of the Physics Department of the University of Toronto, and member of one of the English War Inventions Boards, urged similar devotion of scientific energy in Canada for war purposes. Attention was paid by the speaker to conditions after the war, when, he said, the national debt would be very large. He advised that the scientists turn their attention to the development of agriculture as the surest way in which the export industry of Canada might be made to exceed the import industry. To do this he advocated the further development of the natural stands of potash for fertilization found in British Columbia, and the utilization of our water power to make this into fertilizer. Prof. McLennan asked the business men and manufacturers of the city to co-operate with the Royal Canadian Institute, of which he was the president, to further the practical use of science both in the war and in the business life of the nation.

OLWEN LLOYD-GEORGE

This is one of the best portraits of Olwen, the elder daughter of Right Hon. David Lloyd George.

Persecute Alsatians

A neutral, after visiting Alsace-Lorraine during the war, writes: The result of the persecution of the French-speaking portion of the population has been a boomerang for Prussia. The Alsatian-Germans, who never cared much for Prussia, are now bitterly hostile to her, and thus it is that all Alsatians, whether French or German, who go into other parts of Germany are under the same police regulations as alien enemies. If a plebiscite is ever taken in regard to the future in Alsace, France need have no fear of the outcome, if the poll is taken free from coercion."

GERMAN WOMEN BITTER; NEUTRALS AS ENEMIES

Pastors, Professors and Press Deceive Them—Ungrateful to German-Americans—Despise English

Mr. D. Thomas Curtin, after ten months in Germany, wrote: The venom of the German women in regard to the war is quite in contrast with the feelings expressed by English ladies. German women have read a great deal about English and American women, and they cordially detest them. When I have told German women that in many States in my country women have votes their reply is, "How vulgar!" The freedom accorded to English and American girls is misunderstood. It is regarded as a form of laxity of morals. Many of the older-fashioned German folk forbid their daughters to play lawn tennis because they regard it as indecent.

A Fearful Weapon

A Dutch girl who in the presence of some German ladies expressed admiration for certain aspects of English feminine life was fiercely and venomously attacked by that never failing weapon the German woman's tongue. The poor thing who mildly expressed the view that hockey was a good game for girls, and the fine complexions and elegant walk of English women were due to outdoor sports, was reduced almost to tears.

The intolerance of German women is almost impossible to express. I know a case of one young girl, a German-American, whose parents returned to Hamburg, who declined to repeat the ridiculous German formula "Gott strafe England" and stuck to her point, with the result that she was not invited to that circle again.

Gott Strafe Amerika

There is a notion here that the "Gott strafe England" cry has ceased in Germany. I found no sign of its lessening, and to it has been added "Gott strafe Amerika," the latter being even more popular with the German women than the German men. The pastors, professors, and the press have told the German women that their husbands and sons and lovers are being killed by American shells. A man who ought to know better, like Prince Rupert of Bavaria, made a public statement that half of the allies' ammunition is American. At one not fardistant moment the feeling against America on the part of the German women became so intense that the American flag had to be withdrawn from the American hospital at Munich, although that hospital, supported by German-American funds, has done wonderful work for the German wounded.

In the King's Hands

The appointing of field marshals in the British army is entirely in the hands of the King, promotions being made from the lists of general officers.

Mr. Alfred Pearse painted a tank in action for the King.

Lord R. Cecil says the prohibition of spirits and wines greatly stimulated educational saving in Russia.

BOMBING THE HUNS OUT

Dare-devil Adventure of a British Soldier

Your true bomber is born rather than made. He must have the patience and carefulness of a deer stalker, the subtlety of a diplomat, the impudence of a gamin, the speculativeness of a poker player. It was a bomber who played chief part in a little ruse de guerre by which many Germans were discomfited.

The Boches were ensconced in a house ruins. They had a machine gun and were not easy to get at. But after nightfall a British machine gun was trained upon the door. A bomber crept in, and working his way by devious routes came to the back of the house, climbed on to its battered roof, and began a steady little cascade of bombs through holes and chimney upon the startled Germans.

And when they rushed out of the door the machine gun was ready for them. That house held no Germans in the morning. And the only request that bomber had made when he started on this hair-raising adventure was to ask the machine gunner to "Keep it pretty low, old boy, and well towards the front side of the house, or you'll 'get-me,' my buck, not Fritz."

FRENCH BATTLE [illegible]URE

Parisian on new British go Forward Through Mud

The special correspondent of the Petit Journal on the British front sent the following account of the taking of Beaumont: The attack was launched at dawn. The reverberations of the guns cease and for a moment silence reigns. Then comes the short, staccato note of the word of command over a four-mile front. In an instant there rise up suddenly endless ranks of grey phantoms, surging over the plain, leaping into the fog, and over the mud.

But now comes the rattle of the German machine guns. The "Tommies" are obliged to fall flat. But they do no stop. They swim through the mud. Plastered with dirt and stiff with the cold, they yet retain a perfect heroism and that extraordinary dash of theirs.

In 18 minutes our grenade throwers have swept clean the last line. The Germans rush to take refuge in dugouts or other subterranean escapes in Beaumont, but the artillery girdles all retreat, and at the doors or gaps to the underground galleries are our friends. The wild beasts, who have no wish to die in their dens, give themselves up.

Non-Treating a Wife

Cubitt Cooke, licensee of the White Lion, East Finchley, was fined $175 at Highgate, England, for breaches of the no-treating order. His waiter, Sidney Noakes, was fined $1.20, Henry Puddicomb $25 for treating his wife, and the latter $1.20 for drinking the liquor.

Fantastic statistics of Russian losses published in Austria are found to have been quoted from the lists of an insurance bureau.

"It's Confidence That Does It"

If The Pantry

Has been depleted by the Holiday Festivities, our stock of TABLE NEEDS such as Groceries, Fruits, Confectionery etc., is fully prepared to meet the requirements of customers.

Porter S. White
334 George St. Phone 208

BROCK ST. RINK

THIS WEEK

FRIDAY — Skating with Band.

SAT. AFTERNOON — Skating.

SAT. EVENING—Skating with Band.

Admission For Skaters 15c and 1c War Tax

BRING YOUR COPPER

Our Poultry Department

is now open and we are paying high spot cash prices for good plump birds (alive), delivered Peterborough.

We can supply farmers and Poultry raisers with fattening crates at a small rent, to be returned us in good condition at the end of the season.

A premium paid on crate milk fed chickens. For particulars apply to—

W. SCOTT Co., Ltd.
1124 Robinson Street
Phone 264

COAL

THAT IS ALL COAL

PROMPT DELIVERY

Peterborough Fuel & Transfer Co.
Charlotte St. Phones 270 261, 662
Truck and Transfer Business in Connection

THERE IS NO FUEL
so good as
ANTHRACITE COAL
and no better anthracite than
Lehigh Valley Coal
THE COAL THAT SATISFIES

ALSO
HARD AND SOFT WOOD
Cutting and Splitting Extra

J. E. A. FITZGERALD
PHONE 111

HEAT PRODUCING
COAL
Use Our
PITTSTON COAL
It Makes Warm Friends

Terms Positively Cash
Weir & McCarthy
Coal and Wood Dealers
111 Hunter St., East City. Phone 90

Advertise in the Examiner.

Renew your subscription.

WHEN YOU WANT
COAL
CEMENT
Sewer Pipe
CONSULT
H. B. TAYLOR & SON
Cor. Aylmer & Wolfe
'Phone 209

FILL YOUR BIN with the Only Genuine White Ash
D. L. & W.
SCRANTON COAL
Automatically Screened

It's a well-known fact that there is as great difference between different kinds of coal as there is between any other two commodities and it ought to pay coal consumers to do a little experimenting on their own account. We claim that the D. L. & W. Scranton Coal is the cleanest coal known. We claim that it will do more heating than any other coal.

Robert Hicks Co.
LIMITED
Charlotte and Bethune Sts.
Murray and Bethune Sts.
PHONES 47-48

LOW'S COAL

STOVE COAL, per ton..$8.50
NUT COAL, per ton....$8.50
PEA COAL, per ton....$7.25
No. 1 CANEL COAL $8.50

LOW & COMPANY
262 Simcoe St. and 385 Bethune St
Phone 697 Nights and Holidays 766

WHEN YOU SEE A TESTIMONIAL

From a person you do not know, PAY NO ATTENTION TO IT. When you see a testimonial FROM PEOPLE IN YOUR OWN LOCALITY and whom you DO know, if you have any doubt, GO AND ASK THEM. - - - - - - - - - - THIS SHOULD CONVINCE YOU.

We cannot impress too strongly upon the people of Canada that there are no Stomach and Tonic Tablets just like Dr. Norvall's. There are no tablets just as good as Dr. Norvall's. Dr. Norvall's Stomach and Tonic Tablets are without doubt the best on the Canadian market.

In order to convince you of this we have interviewed the druggists of the City of Peterborough, and as they are all selling patent medicines and preparations of known value, they are in a position to judge the merits of Dr. Norvall's Stomach and Tonic Tablets.

Dr. Norvall's Stomach and Tonic Tablets

WILL CURE CONSTIPATION, BILIOUSNESS, SICK HEADACHE AND INDIGESTION

THE FOLLOWING PETERBOROUGH DRUGGISTS TESTIFY:

The Nugent Drug Co. states: "We recommend Dr. Norvall's Stomach and Tonic Tablets because we are firmly convinced they are the best on the Canadian market."

Mr. Wm. Madill, Druggist, says: "We have a steady and increasing sale for Dr. Norvall's Stomach and Tonic Tablets, and we are pleased to state that our customers are satisfied with the results."

Mr. C. M. Moncur, Druggist, says: "For constipation, indigestion and sick headache, Dr. Norvall's Stomach and Tonic Tablets have no equal."

The Warne Drug Co. says: "If you are suffering from constipation, biliousness or sick headache, we know of no better remedy than Dr. Norvall's Stomach and Tonic Tablets. Try them and you will agree with what we say."

Mr. E. L. Payne, Druggist, says: "Dr. Norvall's Stomach and Tonic Tablets are one of the best preparations we keep in stock, and our customers speak highly of them."

Mr. Weber, Druggist, says: "That dull, dreary headache and tired feeling will disappear if you take one or two of Dr. Norvall's Stomach and Tonic Tablets at bed-time. Try them and be convinced."

Mr. W. J. Kent, Druggist, says: "We recommend Dr. Norvall's Stomach and Tonic Tablets because we consider it our duty to recommend what will give the best results."

James Lynch, Druggist, says: "We recommend Dr. Norvall's Stomach and Tonic Tablets because we get better results from them than from any other similar preparation we keep in stock."

McDermid & Jury say: "Our customers state that Dr. Norvall's Stomach and Tonic Tablets give perfect satisfaction."

Miss Coughlin, states: "It is always a pleasure to recommend Dr. Norvall's Stomach and Tonic Tablets, because my customers will be well pleased with the results."

The Tanner Drug Company, of Lakefield, say: "We have sold Dr. Norvall's Stomach and Tonic Tablets for some time, and customers who have once used them will have none other in their place."

Mr. Vincent Sullivan, Druggist, says that he was surprised the number of people that insist upon having Dr. Norvall's Stomach and Tonic Tablets, and none other can take their place as a gentle laxative and building-up tonic.

We could fill a page with testimonials from individuals in this City, but we consider the Druggists are in a position to advise the public

All dealers are AUTHORIZED TO REFUND THE MONEY TO THEIR CUSTOMERS IF THEY FAIL TO DO WHAT WE CLAIM FOR THEM

DR. NORVALL MEDICAL CO., LIMITED

PETERBOROUGH, ONT., AND 1185 LEXINGTON AVENUE, NEW YORK

12 Pages

The Evening Examiner

PETERBOROUGH FRIDAY, DECEMBER 29, 1916

GRANT SIX

If you are in the market for a six-cylinder car, be sure and see the Grant Six, at PULKINGHORN'S AUTO AND TAXI LIVERY.

'Phone 278. Res. 'Phone 1161

NORWAY, DENMARK AND SWEDEN ARE TO SEND NOTES TO THE BELLIGERENTS

Other Neutrals Joining With the United States in Making Peace Proposals---Sudden German Offensive on a Two Mile Front Near Verdun Failed ---French Poilus and Machine Gun Fire Turned the Huns Back---British Ambassador at Washington to Be Replaced.

A SUMMARY OF TO-DAY'S WAR CABLES

SPECIAL TO THE EXAMINER:

COPENHAGEN, December 29.—Norway, Sweden and Denmark are either sending, or soon will send, peace notes to the belligerent European powers, according to the newspaper Politiken.

BOLOGNE, December 29.—President Schulthess, of Switzerland, has explained the part played by his country in the recent steps in favour of peace, in an interview with Signor Qualici, editor of Resto Del Carlino. President Schulthess is quoted as saying: "I cannot conceive that any of the belligerents harbour the idea of passing through our country. It would not be to their advantage. In addition to the great difficulties of terrain they would be confronted with the vigorous resistance of the Swiss army and the whole people. My country knows only one form of neutrality, absolute neutrality.

"Let there be no mistake. In the presence of external danger, no matter from what side it comes, Switzerland will be united notwithstanding the differences in race and language."

PARIS (French Official Communique), December 29.—A sudden German offensive following a violent bombardment, between Hill 304 and Dead Man's Hill, which failed, owing to a French screen of infantry and machine gun fire, was reported in to-day's official statement.

A small number of Germans penetrated to a French trench south of Dead Man's Hill.

The German attack was on a front of approximately two miles, according to the French statement. One other German offensive movement was also reported defeated. This was the repulse by the French forces of a strong German reconnaissance on the right bank of the Meuse near Hardaumont.

British Ambassador is to Be Replaced

SPECIAL TO THE EXAMINER:

WASHINGTON, December 29.—London reports that the British Foreign Office is considering the replacing of Ambassador Sir Cecil Spring-Rice here caused little surprise to-day.

The British Ambassador has not been in good health, and it is an open secret that he has been out-played in the matter of publicity by German Ambassador Von Bernstorff.

It is also well known here that Lord Northcliffe, who opposes Spring-Rice, has suggested an ambassadorial change here.

LONDON, December 29.—Premier David Lloyd George received the American Ambassador, Walter Haines Page, at his official residence to-day. It was announced Page was "merely paying his respects."

BERLIN, via Wireless, December 29.—The capture of the Town of Rachel, in Dobrudja, was announced in to-day's official statement.

Latest Petrograd Official Statement

PETROGRAD, December 29.—The retirement of Roumanian forces before superior enemy pressure north and south of the River Kasino, and west of Govesha, and a continued Teutonic advance, attended by fierce battles east of Sesmeze, was reported in to-day's official statement.

The statement said the Roumanians were forced back about 3,500 feet in the Kasino River section.

"In the region of Kioshdeni and Kostomara, battles are proceeding," the statement continued. "The Roumanian and Russian forces occupying positions on the left bank of the Remnik repulsed all enemy assaults with counter-attacks.

"Along the Moldavian frontier, in the valley of the Oitus, the enemy's advance continues. At several points there are battles in progress for the domination of the heights east of Sesmeze."

LONDON, December 29.—The purchase of the drink trade in Great Britain by the State is believed to be imminent, says the Daily Express to-day.

"The matter has been closely considered by the 'liquor control board during the past fortnight,'" continues the paper. "Several members of the board have long advocated the purchase, and the change in government has brought a renewal of their argument."

A Protest Sent to Germany from Spain

MADRID, via Paris, December 29.—A note of protest addressed to Germany on the submarine question by the Spanish Government reviews at length the policy of Madrid from the time the first Spanish ship, the Isidore, was torpedoed in August, 1915. The note concludes with an announcement that further steps are being taken to avoid or diminish in future the risks to Spanish shipping.

BERLIN, via Sayville, December 29.—French first, second and third line trenches were penetrated around the famous Dead Man's Hill and 222 prisoners taken, to-day's official statement reported. The capture of 1,400 Russian and Roumanian prisoners, 18 machine guns and 3 cannon, on the Transylvanian front, was also announced.

The official statement issued at Petrograd admits violent fighting between Russian troops and Teutonic in Roumania and the Carpathians, and indicated slight retirement after stubborn resistance in some sectors of the eastern battle line. On the whole, however, the line is being well main-

RECITAL ON THE NEW EDISON

There Will Be a Recital Given on the New Edison in the Recital Hall of the J. H. GREENE MUSIC CO., LTD., CHARLOTTE STREET To-night at 8.15 o'clock. You Are Invited.

PROGRAMME

1. "Somewhere a Voice is Calling"—Tate — Spencer and Archibald
2. "Oh, Happy Day"—Gluck — Tenor solo by Emory B. Randolph
3. "Serenade"—Schubert — Instrumental Quartette
4. "My Laddie"—Thayer — Soprano Solo by Agnes Cass
5. "On the Beach Medley" — Hawaiian Orchestra
6. "Baby Rose"—Christie Westyn — Tenor solo by Walter Van Brunt
7. "A Call to Arms" — Male Voices, Peerless Quartette
8. "A Neptune Dream"—Goodwin and Brown — Negro Duet by Collins & Harlan
9. "Melody in F"—Rubenstein — Violin solo by Isadore Mashowitz
10. "Quiet Little Evenings at Home"—Jerome — Tenor solo by Walter Van Brunt
11. "When the Twilight Comes to Kiss the Rose Good-night" — Petrie — Helen Clarke and Vernon Archibald.
12. "Juliet's Waltz Song" — Gounod — Soprano solo in French by Lucrezia Bori
13. "Forest Whispers"—Lacey — Band Orchestra
14. "Those Days Gone By"—Klein — Tenor Solo by Walter Van Brunt

GOD SAVE THE KING.

ALD. J. W. WORTH, elected by acclamation as one of the West Ward representative to the City Council.

DOUBLE OUTPUT OF METAL PRODUCTS CO. ENLARGE THE PLANT

Mr. G. N. Gordon Closed Deal at Noon To-day Whereby Factory Passes to Montreal Financiers

MORE MEN NEEDED

The Canadian Metal Products Company passed into the hands of a group of Montreal capitalists to-day, who are behind a string of munition plants up and down the Dominion, and it is understood that immediate steps will be undertaken to increase the output of the plant even to the extent of considerably enlarging it.

Mr. Harold Gagner, who established the company in the old Cordage Factory, is likely to become a member of the Imperial Munitions Board, and because of the prospect of that appointment, desired to dispose of the Metal Products business.

At noon to-day, Mr. G. N. Gordon, representing Mr. Louis A. Gosselin, K.C., of Montreal, and some of the most prominent of capitalists in Eastern Canada, executed the transfer. This group of financiers have important contracts with the Imperial Munitions Board, and as the Canadian munitions output is already behind in deliveries, an effort will be made to double the production of the Metal Products plant. Dormitories will be put in if necessary, and, it is stated, immediate extensions will be made to speed up the work.

A Drop Forge Plant.

It is expected that the new company will eventually erect a drop forge plant, either on the factory property or elsewhere in the city. This phase of the business will be developed here. These new interests have, in addition to other munition factories, an explosive plant at Renfrew.

Will Need More Men.

Referring to this important change in the local factory, Mr. Gordon said he understood that the demand for a greater output would necessitate the employment of a larger number of men, and the general information regarding the transaction promises that the Metal Products will assume in the future even a greater importance than it has held up to the present.

THE RED CROSS APPEAL TO THE WOMEN OF CITY

In response to a very urgent appeal for supplies of warm winter clothing, i.e., dressing-gowns, grey flannel shirts, and pyjamas, the Red Cross Society reopens its work-room in the Assembly Hall of Public Library on Wednesday, January 3rd, at 2 o'clock. The room will be open every afternoon (except Saturday) from 2 to 5:30, and on Friday morning from 9:30 to 12:30. The Society calls upon the women of Peterborough to respond to this call to work. The extra supplies are needed now, not six months hence—it is the supplies that can be made and shipped within the next two months that will be an answer to this appeal. So let every woman, for the next six weeks, do all the Red Cross work that she has already been doing—and then some more.

There will be plenty of hand-sewing for those who cannot use machines.

Cut-out garments will be supplied all those who prefer to sew at home.

Let every woman remember that her work cannot be done by another. Each must do her own part.

SURVIVORS MURDERED IN COLD BLOOD

LONDON, December 28.—The Admiralty has issued the following statement concerning the sinking of the British steamer Westminster, which was reported lost on Dec. 18:

"The degree of savagery the Germans have attained in their submarine policy appears to have reached a climax in the sinking of the Westminster, which was proceeding from Torre Annunziata to Port Said in ballast. On Dec. 14, when 180 miles from the nearest land, the Westminster was attacked by a German submarine without warning, and was struck by two torpedoes in quick succession, which killed four men. The Westminster sank in four minutes.

"This ruthless disregard for the rules of international law was followed by a deliberate attempt to murder the survivors. The officers and men while effecting their escape in boats were shelled by the submarine at a range of 3,000 yards. The master and chief engineer were killed outright. Their boat was sunk. The second and third engineers were not picked up; it is presumed they were drowned.

"The captain of the submarine must have satisfied himself of the effectiveness of his torpedoes, yet he proceeded to carry out in cold blood an act of murder which could not possibly be justified in any urgency of war, and can only be regarded in the eyes of the world as a further proof of the degradation of German honour and morale."

CASUALTIES AMONG 93rd BATTALION MEN TOTAL THIRTY-NINE

Pte. Chas. Keliele is the Latest Addition to the List---Army Service Corps Secures Three Recruits in Peterborough ---Many More Are Needed---To-days Orders and General Military News.

The wounding of Pte. Chas. Keliele of the 93rd Battalion, news of which was received by his wife living at 75 Smith Street on a field card, makes the thirty-ninth casualty in the ranks of the 93rd since the Peterborough unit went overseas. Pte. Keliele enlisted here in the middle of last winter. He originally came from Syria, but had lived in Peterborough for some time. His name appears on the official casualty list to-day.

Captain Walren, who is recruiting in Peterborough for the Canadian Army Service Corps, has secured the following three recruits recently: H. W. Mann, J. H. Hargrave and H. Drummond. The latter, who is a member of the Mechanical Transport, is a well-known steeplejack, and has three brothers overseas, one, Lance-Corp. Charlton Drummond, a prisoner in Germany. Pte. Drummond will remain in Peterborough, assisting Capt. Warren in the recruiting. Men are wanted for all branches of the Army Service Corps. A draft is going overseas next week.

Q.-M.-S. Jack Williams, who went overseas with the 93rd Battalion, and is now with the 39th at West Sandling Camp, writes home to express his deep gratitude to the pupils of the South Central School for their kindness in sending him a parcel of good things.

BROCKVILLE, Dec. 28.—A soldier named Paradis, from near Ottawa, a member of the 230th Battalion here, has developed spinal meningitis, and more than 600 men at the Exhibition Grounds camp were placed in quarantine to-night. "Hard luck," say the boys, as more than 50 per cent. were to leave to-morrow for their homes to spend New Year's.

To-Day's Orders.

Daily orders by Lieut.-Col. C. H. Ackerman, commanding 207th Battalion, C.E.F.

Order for Friday, Dec. 29, 1916.

Parade:

All officers, N.C.O.'s and men, except those specially employed, will parade in the Drill Hall at 9 a.m. and at 2 p.m.

Duties:

Orderly officer for Friday, Dec. 29, 1916—Lieut. T. Quinn.

Orderly officer for Saturday, Dec. 30, 1916—Lieut. R. J. Dunsford.

Next for duty—Lieut. J. F. Strickland.

Strength:

Regimental-Sergeant-Major A. E. Brittain; P.P.C.L.I., is transferred to the 247th Battalion, C.E.F., with the rank of Lieutenant and Adjutant, from Dec. 20, 1916.

No. 1063072 Pte. R. C. Armstrong and No. 1063073 Pte. A. R. Flanagan are taken on the strength as of Dec. 27, 1916, and posted to A Company.

R. B. Brooks, Lieut. & Acting Adjt. 247th Battalion, C.E.F.

NATIONAL SERVICE CARDS.

Any one who finds any difficulty in filling in the answers to the questions on the National Service Cards, will be assisted by applying to Mr. G. W. Hatton, Crown Attorney, at his office—free of charge, of course.

EXPRESS AND BAGGAGE.

E. D. Cooney, a returned soldier, has taken over the express business of Eddie Reid and will give prompt and careful attention to all work entrusted to him. 'Phone 547. E. D. Cooney, 340 Aylmer street. 2844-3

MR. T. J. PALMER—A. R. C. O. and organist of the Metropolitan Church, Toronto, who will be the organist for the presentation of "The Messiah" at St. Paul's Church on Tuesday night next, January 2.

BANQUET TENDERED TO MR. DANIEL O'CONNELL

MR. DANIEL O'CONNELL

Representative Gathering of Citizens Met Last Evening, Evidencing the Esteem in Which Mr. O'Connell is Held in the Community —Stirring Addresses by Well Known Speakers.

THE TOAST LIST

The complimentary banquet given at the Empress Hotel last night to Mr. D. O'Connell, worthily honoured a worthy citizen, whose departure from the city will be a great civic loss. One may well say that the banquet was given by the citizens of Peterborough, for the hundred or so banqueters present, represented the best of every civic element—ecclesiastical, educational, professional, individual, commercial and social. The Peterborough Law Association, of which Mr. O'Connell is a leading member, to make the valedictory to him a real civic tribute, joined with other representative citizens for the splendidly successful and happy occasion.

Judge Huycke was chairman, and associated with him as vice-chairman was Mayor Duffus. The address of Judge Huycke to and of Mr. O'Connell, had the double merit of judicial authority and an eloquent and concise tribute to the honoured guest's ability as a lawyer, his qualities as a man, and his worth as a citizen, and Mr. O'Connell's reply gave a farewell taste of the oratory and breadth and height of sentiment that have given him the reputation of being one of our best public speakers. The tone of the other speeches given during the evening took its note from the dominant spirit and sentiment of the toast list—unity of aim and action—not only in the activities of citizenship, and of discharge of its duties, but in the great war crisis. This naturally led to complimentary references to Mr. O'Connell's interest and activity in every good cause, and especially his energetic and valuable services in promoting the interests and of meeting the demands of the war, and the subsidiary movements, as represented by the Speakers' Patriotic League, and Patriotic Fund, and Red Cross measures.

The merits of the guest, and the happily-voiced appreciation of them by his hosts the prevailing spirit of unity and harmony, and of personal and civic comradeship, made the occasion a successful and memorable one.

The banquet was a complimentary one given by the citizens of Peterboro to Mr. Daniel O'Connell on the occasion of his leaving Peterboro. The Banquet Committee was as follows:

His Honor Judge Hayche, Honorary Chairman; His Worship Mayor Duffus, Honorary Vice-Chairman; Executive Committee: Mr. R. R. Hall, Chairman; Mr. Jos. Wearing, Secretary; Mr. James Kendry, Dr. F. P. McNally, Mr. E. A. Peck, Adj. F. H. Dobbin, Mr. J. A. Aylmer, Mr. G. W. Morrow, Mr. G. A. Gillespie, M.P.P., Mr. R. G. Kingan, Mr. T. F. Matthews, Mr. D. W. Dumble, K.C., Mr. E. G. Patterson, Adj. McElheney, Mr. Robert Ruddy, K.C., Mr. W. H. Denham, Dr. J. V. Sullivan, Mr. G. N. Gordon.

THE MENU.

The excellence of the banquet as provided by the management of the Empress Hotel was referred to by more than one speaker.

The menu was as follows:

Grape Fruit Cocktail.

Bisque of Oyster
Salted Almonds Queen Olives.

Fried Lake Trout, Sauce Meunier.
Julien Potatoes.

Cases of Sweetbread a la King.

Roast Young Turkey Cranberry Sauce
Creamed Mashed Potatoes
French Peas au beurre.

Peach Shortcake Whipped Cream.
Assorted Cake. Chocolate Ice Cream.

McLaren's Cheese
Reception Wafers.

Coffee

THE CITIZENS PRESENT.

Among those present were: Mr. Dan-
(Continued on Page 8.)

EASY

In the old days when a person suffered with their eyes, they had to go on suffering because science had not made the great strides in optics that it has done in the past few years. Now it is comparatively easy for a person suffering with their eyes or head to obtain relief, by consulting an eye specialist like Dr. Lacey, and Hey Better, 410 George Street.

ANNUAL POULTRY SHOW WILL BE BIGGER THAN EVER

Final Arrangements Were Completed Last Night—One of the Best Judges in the Province Will Judge Local Show Early Next Year

PRIZES TO BE SHOWN

A meeting of the Peterborough Poultry Association was held in the Labour Hall, George Street, last night, to make final arrangements for their coming winter show, January 9, 10, 11, 1917. There was a very large attendance. Letters were read from Miss Yates, who is going to give lectures and demonstrations on the first two days of the show. Miss Yates' equipment for demonstrating has already arrived. It is the same equipment that she used at the Winter Fair at Guelph, Dec. 1 to 8. One of the best judges in the Province, Mr. George Robertson, of Ottawa, is engaged to judge the show. Mr. Geo. Paxman was engaged to superintend the show as in former years. The manufacturers have been asked to assist the association, and a large number of cheques have already been received by the secretary. The enquiries for prize-lists have been greater than in former years, and the directors expect a larger show than ever. The silver cups and other special prizes will be on exhibition in one of the George Street store windows in a few days.

Death Shock To the Capital

Speaker Albert Sevigny May Succeed Postmaster-General Casgrain

Special to The Examiner.

OTTAWA, Dec. 29.—Speaker Albert Sevigny will likely be taken into the government to fill the vacancy caused by the death of Postmaster-General Casgrain.

Should Mr. Sevigny vacate the speakership the date of the opening of Parliament likely will be advanced one day, to January 17, as it is customary when a speaker is elected, for the House to meet on Wednesday.

The sudden death this morning of Hon. T. Chase Casgrain 65, Postmaster General of the Dominion came as a great shock to the capital. Death was due to an attack of pneumonia.

The cause of his illness was a cold which he contracted while on a visit to New York. Mr. Casgrain's last public speech was delivered at the National Service meeting at Quebec, when the Prime Minister spoke.

He was born in Detroit and was twice married, his second and surviving wife being Madame Rene Masson, of Paris, France. One son, a lawyer, resides in Winnipeg.

Premier Borden paid the highest tributes to the ability of his deceased colleague. He said his death was a distinct loss to the country.

New York Stock Market

New York Stocks

Atchison, 105 1-4, 106 and O., 85 1-2, 86; Erie, 35 1-2; Erie pfd., 48 1-4, 48 3-4; C. P. R. not listed; N. Y. C. 105 1-2; U. P., 146 1-4, 147 1-4; Reading, 105 1-2; Ammonia, 69 1-4, 71; Int. Nickel, 41, 41 1-4; U. S. Steel, 103 1-4, 105 1-4; Rep. Steel, 76, 76 1-2.

Canadian Stocks

Brompton, 76 1-4; Dom. Steel, 64 1-4, 65 1-4; Steel of Can., 64, 64 1-2; C. P. R., 166, 166 1-4; Cement, 62 1-4; Shawinigan, 126 1-4; N. S. Steel, 126; Can. Elec., 126 bid.

Markets closed 27th Thursday.

LAST CHANCE THIS YEAR

We have priced a number of extra special bargains in seasonable footwear for the last days' shopping in 1916. Every item means a big saving to the customer at—

THE PETERBORO SHOE STORE

LADIES' HIGH TOP BOOTS — Several lines, tobacco brown, patents with champagne tops, all vici or dull kid. Shoes we could not purchase wholesale at this price, on Saturday $6, $5, $4.50 $4

MEN'S FINE DRESS BOOTS—Also in a few select lines, chocolate and tobacco brown. All gun metals in different styles, English receded toe, or Bull Dog toe, some military effect. Worth $7.00 to $7.50, for Saturday.... 5.95, 5.50, $5

COLLEGE GIRLS' SHOES—Patents with kid or cloth tops, all gun metals, and some Sport Shoes, College heels, laced or buttoned. Worth $5.00. For Saturday selling 3.98, 2.98

MISSES' BOOTS—Pretty chocolate kid, plain gun metals, patents with cloth or kid tops. Worth up to $3.50. Sizes 11 to 2. Last chance in 1916 to get these at our low Saturday price 2.75, 2.50, 2.25

All our lines of Children's boots specially reduced for the last day of the year.

Peterboro Shoe Store

291 George St. New Lundy Block

NEXT TO B. CHESLER

Evening Examiner

Phones—Editorial 1021, Business Office 1020 Private Branch Exchange to all Departments.

The Paid Circulation of The Daily Examiner is Over 5200 COPIES DAILY

SWORN TO AND GUARANTEED

The Daily Examiner, published every lawful evening by the Peterborough Examiner, Limited, Office, 416 George St.

The Weekly Examiner, published Thursday morning.

The subscription price of the Daily Examiner is $4.00 per annum; that of The Weekly, $1.00.

U. S. Representatives—Stockwell, Special Agency, Put-nam Bldg.—Chicago Tribune Bldg.—New York.

Advertising rates on application.

R. H. Glover, Managing Director.

"Peterborough Presents Possibilities Unsurpassed."

FRIDAY, DEC. 29 1916

HAIL AND FAREWELL.

The loss Peterborough sustains in its highest professional, manhood and citizen interests in the departure of Mr. D. O'Connell from Peterborough, was strikingly emphasized at the splendid complimentary banquet tendered him at the Empress hotel last night. The character of the gathering in its widely representative nature, was a tribute in which any man could take pride, and the mood of praise given came from the hearts of those who had learned to know Mr. O'Connell from direct contact with him in the numerous activities of citizenship in which he has been engaged during the twenty years of his residence in Peterborough, and in extent to justify the idea that he had two professions, that of the law and that of good citizenship. As a professional man he has been, and is, primus inter pares; as a man and a citizen he has shown a public spirit of service which impelled him to an active, energetic and whole-hearted participation, when leadership did not anticipate it, in all public spheres of good work. The son of a soldier — an officer in the British army — he took, as we have recent and present evidence, an effective part in the promotion of Peterborough's share in waging the war. As a member of the Speakers' Patriotic League, he gave splendid service, making much sacrifice of time in placing his well known eloquence at the disposal. His deep interest in the Patriotic Fund activities contributed greatly to the success of the movement. In many other ways Mr. O'Connell has shown a patriotic spirit of cooperation and service expressed not merely in sentiment, but in action. His habitual attitude to every cause or matter that involved promotion of the welfare of the city and its citizens, was influenced by a broad spirit of tolerance and civic unity. In all relations of citizenship, which his large sense of responsibility made intimate, he filled his place with dignity and devotion, and it is the more pleasing to assert that Mr. O'Connell, the service he gave, the example he set, and the spirit he evinced, will be ranged as factors in promoting the highest interests of the community. A good citizen in the broadest sense, I bid to Peterborough Apostrophe

BUCKLING DOWN TO WORK.

On this page is printed to-day the appeal of Mr. J. D. Flavelle, chairman of the Imperial Munitions Board, urging a greater effort in the production of shells, etc., on the part of Canadian factories, and Canadian workmen. He sets forth the need of munitions. Without an adequate supply, the Canadian soldier cannot do his work—his best work. To a certain extent he exposes his life to danger fruitlessly, if he is not provided with abundance of munition. In the earlier stages of the war much heroic effort was wasted, much valuable life lost, by failure, resulting from lack of munitions, of boldly made attacks. There is nothing more vital than health and strength to the soldier than abundance of munitions, or more mortal than lack of munitions. Deficiency or shortage in one part of the line may cost many valuable lives, not to speak of the success of the enterprise of the moment. Is there a workman in Canada in any munition plant who would sleep soundly o' nights, or eat his food in comfort, if he thought that his neglect, or his taking a day off, resulted in the failure of the supply of munitions that was responsible for a single Canadian life on the battle field, or for even a smart wound?

Yet the saving of life and the winning of victory, is "up to" the munition workers. The appeal made in another column is to the munition workers to put their whole time and energy into the work. They are urged to forego holidays—to forego Saturday afternoon and New Year's Day, and keep pegging away. This is not much to ask, not much of a sacrifice, in view of the sacrifices our soldiers, their doctors and their nurses, are making every day of the year, and every hour of every day. Of course, one man working, or one man "laying off" at these times, wouldn't make much difference, but the hundreds of thousands of workers working these times or taking a holiday, would make a tremendous difference, and represent an output that might decide the issue of a critical engagement, and involve the saving of hundreds of lives or a similar loss.

Asking men and women to continue working these days is not asking very much, especially if we remember that the soldiers in whose interests the workers are asked to work, the soldiers who are fighting and working for the munition workers, and all of us, don't have any Saturday afternoons off—nor Sunday or other holidays. They are under the whip of duty, and may be called upon at any time of the day or night to use the munitions that are to be provided by workers in Canadian munition factories. Every worker, man or woman, is urged to consider the situation and invited to read the appeal of the Chairman of the Imperial Munition Board. Let every one think of the possible fate of a body of Canadian soldiers advancing forward to an attack, relying upon the protection of artillery fire to clear the front of attack, and finding at a critical moment that they are without artillery support through lack of shells—a lack that may be created by munition workers taking even a day off. By working these days the men and women in the factories will not only be earning their wages, but earning the gratitude of the fighting soldiers, the approval of all patriotic citizens, and the approval of their own conscience for the discharge of a solemn duty, and inevitable obligation.

HOOPER'S REPAIR SHOP

NEVER TOO LATE TO MEND.

WHEN YOUR BICYCLE NEEDS BOOTON ing, cutlery needs sharpening or grinding, sewing machine needs overhauling, household broken mended or small break of iron welded same, we know how. Sensible engine work a specialty. 329 Charlotte street, opposite Simpson Bros.

BOARD WANTED

FOREMAN IN SOUTH SIDE MILL DESIRES to get board and room; modern conveniences; near car line, between Clark and Lansdowne Ave. State price and particulars to Box 537 Examiner Office. 3d-149-537

THE EMINENT NECESSITY FOR GOVERNMENT RECONSTRUCTION

The necessity for reconstruction of the Canadian Government is in the public mind, and cannot be put away. There is dissatisfaction with the Government. It is not a partisan dissatisfaction, not a desire for a change from the rule of one party to the rule of another. It is simply a desire for greater efficiency, greater energy, a more adequate expression and representation of the public desire that Canada shall increase its effort for the common cause.

The Prime Minister and his colleagues will not make any move toward reconstruction. The only important change is one forced upon them by the resignation of Sir Sam Hughes. The change made was the least possible change, following the line of least resistance. Mr. Kemp, who was already a member of the Government, was placed at the head of the Militia Department because he was already in the Government, and because his majority in East Toronto was so large that it was believed to be safe to open the constituency.

In these circumstances Parliament will soon be faced with the question of giving the Government an extention of time—for that is what an extension of the life of Parliament means. There is in favour of the proposal, a general dislike of a general election. It is felt that a campaign at this juncture would waste time and energy that ought to be devoted to the common cause, that it would renew and aggravate partisan bitterness, that the conflict would be bad-tempered and violent.

Against the proposal is the obstinate or indolent refusal of the Government to reform itself. It will not allow any infusion of new blood. It will not associate with itself either leading members of the opposite party, or business men who are not active in politics on either side. It asks for a renewal of confidence in men who, as a whole, do not enjoy the confidence of the country and in methods which do not satisfy the country. It asks for the approval of the Government's refusal to reform and reconstruct. This is what the country is unwilling to give.

What is the alternative? A general election, followed by the return either of the present Government, or another party Government of the ordinary kind, would not satisfy the public demand. The country wants a change but not merely a party change. It would require of the leader of the Liberal party that he shall do what Sir Robert Borden refuses to do — form a National Government without regard to party—a Government composed of men who, whether they are now in public life or not, will put party politics in the background and give their hearts and minds solely to the task which now lies before the country. It wants men of energy and organizing ability, men of affairs. It wants also men who command the esteem and affection of all elements of the community, and whose voices will be potent to rally them to the common cause. More than enthusiasm is needed, yet enthusiasm is an asset that must not be ignored.

Sir Wilfrid Laurier would unquestionably be more useful to the country in a Government than in Opposition. The Opposition, whatever its good will, can only assent to what the Government does or criticise. An appeal, for instance, from Sir Wilfrid Laurier, Leader of the Opposition, to Quebec, carries less weight than an appeal from Sir Wilfrid Laurier as head of a Government, or even as a leading member of a Government. For the sake of Quebec itself, as well as for the sake of the common cause, it is earnestly to be desired that Quebec shall do more more than it is doing. With that end in view, a National Government should contain the strongest men in Quebec, the men with the strongest hold on the French-Canadian heart.

No man could arouse Quebec as Sir Wilfrid Laurier could do, but to exercise his full influence he must not be an outsider. He must be a part of the governing body which is making the appeal and organizing the resources and forces of the country.

The same is true of every Province, of every element of the community, of both political ties. A National Government must be one which by its personality appeals to all. Gifts of oratory, power to win affection and thusiasm is needed, yet enthusiasm is tions. The party organizations should be not merely dormant during the war, they should be imbued with far more than their normal enthusiasm; they should show far more than their normal energy and efficiency; but they should work as allies, giving to the National Government a support far stronger than they would give to a party Government.

But the National Government should not only be popular, should not only command public enthusiasm. It should be efficient, every department that is essential to the carrying on of the war headed by a man of energy and organising skill, an alert man of affairs. If the right man, the best man for Minister of Militia, is one who has never been a figure in political life, he should nevertheless be chosen.

We do not care what the Government is called, Conservative or Liberal or Coalition, so long as it fulfils these conditions. We do not care who is at the head of it, so long as he can bring together the needful combination of popular support and efficiency. The country is craving to be led. It will respond to the right leadership. — Toronto Star.

A CORRECTION

Respecting Mr. W. H. Taylor, Candidate For No. 1 Ward

Mr. W. H. Taylor, who is opposing Ald. Edgar for aldermanic honours in Ward No. One, has requested the Examiner to state that he has no business connection whatever with the Davis-Thompson insurance agency, as stated in last evening's issue. Mr. Taylor controls an insurance agency strictly his own, and is no way identified with any other in the city. He wishes to make his position quite clear to the electors.

FOR SALE

SALVAGE WHEAT

60c to $1 Per Bushel

F. O. B. Cars in Bulk or sold in small lots, in bags, also a few thousand bushels of

SALVAGE OATS

At 25c Per Bushel

Apply on premises of the Quaker Oats Co., Peterborough.

Jas. Richardson & Sons LIMITED

Millinery Bargains

Ladies' newest velvet hat shapes, only 99c

Shapes in black and colours, regular values up to $3.00, only 99c

LADIES' TRIMMED HATS $2.49

A table of very desirable trimmed Hats at about half price, choice for $2.49

Miss McGIVERIN, 412 GEORGE ST.

TO RENT

TO RENT—TWO UNFURNISHED ROOMS. Apply 474 George Street. 3d-150-617

TO RENT—HOUSE, 7 ROOMS, ALL CONveniences; pleasant location. Apply at Examiner for address. 6d-151-656

TO LET — TWO LARGE UNFURNISHED rooms; all conveniences. Apply at the Examiner for address. 3d-151-609

FOR RENT—4 ROOMED HOUSE, WARM —rent $6.00 month. Apply 65 Robinson Street. Harry Morgan. 6d-150-635

FOR RENT—HOUSE 22 McDONNEL (COR Aylmer), 8 rooms, hardwood floors, gas and conveniences. Apply Saturday p.m., between 3 and 5 p.m. 3d-151-662

GOOD OFFICE OR STORE WITH WATER connection and heated, possession at once. Apply 325 Charlotte St. d-tf-25-2799

FOR RENT—NO. 337 WATER STREET, suitable for store or office, immediate possession. Apply 437 George street. d-tf-25

FOR RENT—STORE No. 173½ SIMCOE ST Immediate possession. Apply 67 George Street. dtf.

FOR RENT—TWO UNFURNISHED ROOMS suitable for bedroom and sitting room every convenience, first class locality good board if desired. Address at the Examiner 3d-150-619

SECOND-HAND STORES

FURNITURE, STOVES, and Household Goods sold on Commission, Exchanged or Bought for Cash. Storage room to let at reasonable rates.

M. T. BUTCHER,
346 & 348 Water St

A. CHERNIKOFF

Will Buy and Sell New and Second-Hand Goods of all Kinds. Best Prices Paid. Big Bargains in Cook Stoves and all kinds of Heaters at Chernikoff's. Men's Suits and Overcoats at less than the cost of making.

329-331 George Street 'Phone 329

BOARDERS WANTED

BOARDERS WANTED—CENTRAL — ALL conveniences. Terms moderate. Apply 545 Bethune street. 6d-149-602

BOARDERS WANTED—GOOD BOARD A all conveniences. Apply 168 Aylmer St. 3d-151-654

FOR SALE

FOR SALE — TWELVE HENS (LAYING) and rooster. Apply 649 Romaine Street. 3d-150-649

CLEARING OUT SALE OF GENT'S SUITS overcoats, several good gent's fur collars. JAY'S store, Aylmer street. 6d-d

FOR SALE — CANADA MALLEABLE steel ranges and roasters. 326 Sherbrooke street. 'Phone 1656. 12d-115-323

FOR SALE—BLACK HORSE ABOUT 1400 lbs., sound, also Peter Hamilton Seed Drill, 11 hoes; nearly new. Apply 261 Romaine. 3d-150-634

UNDERWOOD NO 5 LATEST MODEL two color ribbon, back spacer. For sale cheap to a quick buyer Apply to Box 4641 Examiner. 20d-108-4641

CHEAP LOTS—IN BLOCK E. ASHBURNham, on Dufferin, Hogan, Elgin streets $4 per foot, $50 down $10 per quarter till paid for. Interest only 6 per cent Land dry, sightly, healthy, also on McDonnel St., Peterborough Apply to Dunble & Johnston tues-th-91-917

LOST

LOST—ON SATURDAY BETWEEN WELler, Homewood and Gilmour, black fur gauntlet. Finder please leave at the Examiner. Reward. 2d-150-639

LOST — 32RD BATT. BROOCH BETWEEN the Tis-It Theatre and Charlotte Street, On Christmas night. Finder will please leave at the Examiner. Reward. 3d-149-608

HELP WANTED—MALE

BOY WANTED TO CARRY A ROUTE IN East City. Apply at the Examiner office. 2d-150-641

WANTED — MESSENGER BOY 15 YEARS old to learn telegraphing. Apply G.N.W. Telegraph Office. 3d-150-618

HELP WANTED—GOOD BRIGHT BOY — not eligible for military service, for a grocery driver. Apply Mitchell's Grocery, Reid street. 5d-150-629

HELP WANTED—Female

TWO MAIDS WANTED AT ONCE — APply Nicholls Hospital. 3d-149-596

WANTED — A GOOD CAPABLE GIRL — good wages. Apply 81 Crescent street. 12d-143-466

WANTED—WOMAN ABOUT 35 YEARS OF age for general work. Apply Montreal House. 3d-151-654

GIRL WANTED FOR LIGHT HOUSEWORK —Good home, steady work. Apply at once 466 George street. 6d-151-666

WANTED—A COMPETENT MAID FOR general house work. Apply 749 George street. 3d-150-626

WANTED—A GOOD GENERAL SERVANT —Apply Mrs. D. Hall, 35 Dennistoun ave. 6d-151-663

WANTED—SMART GIRL AS BOOK KEEPer able to use typewriter. Apply Box 614, Examiner Office. 3d-149-614

GENERAL SERVANT WANTED AT ONCE for family of two. Apply between 2 and 4.30 at 570 Water street, or at 75 Lock street, from 7 to 9 o'clock. 3d-149-604

WANTED—A TRUSTWORTHY GIRL TO help with general housework. No washing. Good wages. Comfortable home References. Mrs. G. Pearson, 99 Foxbar Road, Toronto 2d-151-667

Girls Wanted for Power Sewing Machines. Apply J. J. Turner & Sons. 3d-149

WANTED

WANTED TO RENT—FURNISHED HOUSE or apartments, till May. Apply Box 622 Examiner. 3d-150-632

WANTED TO BUY—AN ELECTRIC DRILL new or second hand. Apply stating price to Box 606 Examiner. 3d-149-606

VULCANIZING

NOW IS THE TIME TO HAVE YOUR Vulcanizing done. Reliable steam vulcanizing and tube repairing done promptly.—THE MANNING GARAGE, 326 Water Street. 'Phone 1347. d-tf-47-4

HAIR DRESSING

MANICURING, HAIR DRESSING AND massageing. Hair braids, switches, up-to-date line of hair ornaments. Make an appointment now.—MISS E. SMITH Opera House Block. 'Phone 1123 180-6-J

MONUMENTAL WORK

WE RESPECTFULLY SOLICIT YOUR ORder for Cemetery Work of any kind. Latest equipment; first class faceted granite cutters—Coughlin's Monumental Works, 214 Hunter Street. 'Phone 1361 d-tf-46-4

PATENTS

GORDON & WIDDIFIELD, Barristers Solicitors Patent applications receive special attention. Office. Cor. George and Hunter streets

H. J. S. DENNISON, 10 WEST KING ST. Toronto: Experts in Patents, Trade marks, designs, Copyrights and Infringements. Write us for Booklet. d-tf-4

BABCOCK & SONS

Patents, Trade Marks, Designs Registered Patent Attorneys. Established 1877. Formerly Patent Office Examiner. Master of Patent Laws. Representatives in all foreign countries Write for book, "Patent Protection." Tells All about and how to obtain Patents. 70 St. James St., Montreal. Branches: Ottawa, Washington.

SOCIETIES

CHILDREN'S AID SOCIETY of Peterborough City and County For the care of neglected and ill-treated children. C. A. G. SPENCE Assistant Secretary and Inspector 121 Simcoe Street. Phone 1240 Office Hours 3 till 5 Children for Adoption.

SECOND HAND FURNITURE, STOVES, etc.

Bought and sold. Entire Household Furniture or pieces bought. We know the value. Telephone and we will call.

S. COHEN 180 CHARLOTTE ST.; PHONE 1309

ROYAL

COMPLETE CHANGE TO-DAY | A SPLENDID PROGRAMME

To-Day we present another Episode called "THE WEB OF GUILT" in Million Dollar Serial Drama—

THE GIRL From FRISCO

Grand 2-Reel Drama

ANGELS UNAWARES

Touching Social Play, THE Beggar's Child

Sparkling Comedies:
NO FUNDS.
ANIMATED NOOS.
Asbestos for 1000 Years.

Prices for this big show, only AFTERNOON 10c

SATURDAY EVENINGS 10c and 15c

Saturday Afternoon Special Show for SCHOOL CHILDREN, only which covers War Tax. 5c

MARIN SAIS
Starred in the Ribon Series "THE GIRL FROM FRISCO"

AT The EMPIRE TO-NIGHT

One of the Greatest American Comedies in the Famous Photo Play

"The Clown"

Also a good Comedy To-day Entitled

"The Day's Work"

And Extra Special for To-morrow and Sat., one of Charlie Chaplin's Latest

"Behind The Screens"

This makes a great Programme at the Empire. See it.

TIZ-IT THEATRE

FRIDAY & SATURDAY—The Great Serial: LIBERTY

Mary Walpole and Jack Holt in the 7th Episode of Liberty

Imp Feature THE CAPITAL PRIZE

Imp His Little Story

Joker Comedy The Jitney Driver's Romance

Nestor Comedy Putting Her Foot In It

STRAND THEATRE

TO-DAY'S PROGRAMME—

"The Revenge of Tommy Atkins," a Comic, the film hit of the season, at The "Strand," Toronto a few weeks ago.

"When Justice Sleeps," 3 part Drama. Ruth Roland, Star.

"The British Gazette," "Heroes of the Jutland Battle," "Iron Claw," 9th episode, "Arrowh of Hate," "Heinie and the Magic Man," laughable Comic.

SPECIAL AFTERNOON MATINEE FOR LADIES AND CHILDREN 10c AND 15c, WHICH INCLUDES WAR TAX

CHESLER'S

Year-End Clearing Sale For Saturday

CHILDREN'S WOOL PULL-OVER SUITS—A special manufacturer's clearance. All colours. Some two-piece, some in combination style. Pure wool. Very Special for Saturday ..... 1.49 & 1.98

GIRLS' SWEATER COATS—Also a part of our clearance of a manufacturer's balance. All shades. Sizes 8 to 14. Saturday Only 1.98

BOYS' SUITS—An extra bargain in all sizes, from 8 to 10 years, in good heavy tweeds. Pinch back and Norfolk styles Only 3.98

BOYS' PULL-OVER SWEATERS — In Grey only. Special 39c

LADIES' HANDKERCHIEFS—100 dozen, with fancy embroidered corner. Hemstitched. Year-End Bargain 5c

MEN'S HANDKERCHIEFS—50 dozen - An assorted lot. Choice 5c

WHITE SILK WAISTS — All sizes 98c

MEN'S FINE SHIRTS—In all sizes. Regular $1.25 Saturday 69c

MEN'S SWEATER COATS—All Wool. All shades. Heavy weight. For Saturday 2.98

LADIES' HAND-BAGS— All fittings 39c

SKIRTS—Special line of All Wool Serge. Navy and Black 1.98

SILK WAISTS — A lot of travellers' samples in White, Black, Maize, and Brown. Very Special Bargain for Saturday 1.98

BOYS' COATS—In heavy Chinchilla Cloth. Grey and Navy. All new styles, with belt and high collar. Sizes 4 to 10 years. Saturday 3.98

FURS—6 Only Black Wolf Muffs. Regular $10.00 ..... 4.98

GIRLS' COATS—All Wool Heavy Chinchilla Cloth. Collars, cuffs, and belts. Neatly trimmed. Regular $6.00. Saturday 2.49

LADIES' TEA APRONS—Nice styles. 12½c

NOTE.—Every article in our store not included in the above list is equally reduced for New Year's Eve shopping.

B. CHESLER

288 George St. New Lundy Block

NEXT TO PETERBORO SHOE STORE.

Pointed Appeal To Munition Workers All Over Canada

Imperial Munitions Board, Ottawa. Dec. 27th 1916.

To the Munitions Workers of Canada:

The Imperial Minister of Munitions has entrusted to the manufacturers of Canada and their work people, the production of an important percentage of the shells which will be used at the front. It is vital to the successful prosecution of the war that these munitions be delivered weekly as promised. The present delivery of shells (save in one size) is below the promised quantity, and the shortage has become so serious that it causes grave anxiety.

If we, who produce munitions at home, are to be worthy of the men who have gone to the front, we must set aside comfort and ease and personal gratification, and give undivided attention to munitions output.

From a personal knowledge of the need, and personal contact with the suffering and the heroism of the men in the trenches, I urge the munition workers, whether in the steel plant, or in the factory, to devote themselves with increased energy and unstinted time to the task of additional output.

Neither the soldier nor the sailor will have his New Year's free from duty. I appeal to the men and to the women engaged in munitions production in Canada, to forego Saturday afternoon, the 30th inst., and Monday, New Year's Day, and to continue at their work. The sacrifice is small, but to those who make it will come the satisfaction of having discharged a clear obligation.

Yours truly,
J. D. FLAVELLE,
Chairman

Food Situation Is Serious

SPECIAL TO THE EXAMINER:

LONDON, Dec. 29 — Semi-official news from Germany states that the food situation in the Central Empires, especially Austria, is very desperate.

GENEVA, Switzerland, Dec. 29.—Austrian envoys arriving here say Austria is anxious to deal direct with Britain and the Allies regarding peace.

PIANO TUNING.

'Phone 596, The Greene Music Co., Charlotte Street, when your piano requires tuning or regulating. All work guaranteed. dtf

Donations To Protestant Home

Institution Was Not Overlooked During the Christmas Season

The superintendent of the Peterborough Protestant Home acknowledges the following donations received at Christmas:

Mrs. Walsh, materials for plum pudding; G. A. Gillespie, turkey; Mrs F. L. Robinson goose; Mr. E. F Mason, Christmas tree, nuts, candy, etc.; William Stock & Son, bag of flour; Mrs. J. A. McKone, tobacco and candy; Mrs. Wright, men's underwear; Mrs. Mowat, oranges and a woollen shawl; Mr. and Mrs. Paul Trebilcock, oranges; Mr. F Fair, candy; Mr. J. A. Cameron, of Perkins Tuco & Co., 11 lb. box of tobacco; a Friend, a quarter of beef; Mrs. Barrie and Mrs. Brundrette, three dozen oranges; Dr. Burnham, a duck; Dr Greer, a roast of beef; Mr. A. Taggart, oranges, apples and jelly; Mr. Wm. Hamilton, turkey; Mrs. R. R. Hall, mince pies; Mrs. D. Kennedy, candies and oranges; Mrs. J. E. A. Fitzgerald, box of oranges; Mrs. Murphy, 360 1-2 Water street, plum pudding, mince pie, one pound of butte apples, oranges and jelly.

CLAIMS TO HAVE EARNED RE-ELECTION

Ald. Edgar Feels That Propositions He Has Supported Were For the Public Good

In his card to the electors, Alderman Edgar outlines some of the work he has accomplished and supported in the Council.

He has a record of never having missed a single meeting either Committee or Council. He claims the whole credit of the taking hold of the proposed foot-bridge over the Otonabee at the C.P.R., benefitting the East and South Wards, and the city generally.

He has strongly supported and advocated the placing of the Fire Department in a better position so far as equipment is concerned.

He supported the retention of the Bank of Montreal as the Bankers to handle the city's finances.

His sanitary plumbing scheme has been endorsed by the Public Utilities Commission.

This above are a few of the questions that Alderman Edgar has supported, and together with his policy of serving the masses rather than the individual, without, distinction, he lays claim to support and re-election.

W. H. TAYLOR.

PUT NEW BLOOD IN THE COUNCIL

TAYLOR

Speaks to the Electors of Ward No. One

Ladies and Gentlemen:

Having been nominated as a candidate for Alderman for Ward No. 1, I respectfully solicit your vote and influence to secure my election.

Now that the Street Railway is owned by the Provincial Government there is no reason why this Railway should not be extended, without any expense to the ratepayers, to furnish better accommodation for the ratepayers residing in different parts of Ward No. 1, and if elected I shall use my best endeavours to secure such improved Street Railway accommodation.

There is a great shortage in the production of electric power at Niagara Falls to supply power to munition and other manufacturers, Peterborough could furnish immediately to manufacturers upwards of 2,500 horse power which is daily going to waste. The fact that Peterborough has such a surplus power is not generally known throughout the Province. This surplus power could be used to manufacture much needed munitions, encourage manufacturers to locate in Peterborough, and thereby be a great advantage to every working man and property owner, without the experience of a single dollar by the ratepayers.

If I am elected I pledge myself to actively assist in seeing that this great public utility is used to the best advantage of our City.

Yours respectfully,
W. H. TAYLOR.

To the Electors of North Monaghan

Ladies and Gentlemen:—I have been asked to stand for re-election as Reeve for your township. During the time I have occupied the Reeve's chair I have endeavoured to give the township the very best service I could.

If you see fit to re-elect me, I will continue to have before me always the interests of North Monaghan and its ratepayers.

Wishing you all a Happy New Year, I am,

Yours faithfully,
JOHN McINTOSH

H. B. Rye

Solicits the votes of the Electors of North Monaghan for the office of

REEVE
FOR THE YEAR 1917

His Record as Councillor for the past two years is before the people.

EAST WARD

Ladies and Gentlemen:

Vote For J.H.Smith

For Alderman in East Ward for 1917. Wishing you the Compliments of the Season

A. A. FOWLER

— FOR —

BOARD of EDUCATION

New Blood Means New Energy

In selecting your candidates for the Board of Education, keep in mind that the keynote of progress is renewed life and vigor in the executive bodies that have to handle the business of this growing City.

In offering myself as candidate for a position on this board, I do so realizing that only a man's best service will meet the growing need for practical business methods in this most important branch of the City's business. My record as a business man for the last fourteen years and a lifelong resident in Peterborough, residing in East City for twenty-five years, is well known to a large number of our citizens, and I trust is sufficient evidence of my ability to warrant your support in my present candidature.

Should I be elected, I promise to weigh most carefully all matters involving expenditure of the City's finances, and to countenance only strictly business methods in undertaking any work being handled by this Board.

Soliciting the support of every progressive voter, I am,

Yours for progress,

A. A. FOWLER

Your Vote is Respectfully Solicited by

G. N. GORDON

For the Board of Education

Vincent Eastwood

Respectfully Announces His Candidature for Re-Election to

Board of Education

Industrial Day Schools for Peterboro

IMPERIAL MUNITIONS BOARD
OTTAWA

December 27th, 1916.

TO THE MUNITIONS WORKERS OF CANADA.

The Imperial Minister of Munitions has entrusted to the manufacturers of Canada and their work people, the production of an important percentage of the shells which will be used at the front. It is vital to the successful prosecution of the war that these munitions be delivered weekly as promised. The present delivery of shells (save in one size) is below the promised quantity, and the shortage has become so serious that it causes grave anxiety.

If we, who produce munitions at home, are to be worthy of the men who have gone to the front, we must set aside comfort and ease and personal gratification, and give undivided attention to munitions output.

From a personal knowledge of the need, and personal contact with the suffering and the heroism of the men in the trenches, I urge the munitions workers, whether in the steel plant, or in the factory, to devote themselves with increased energy and unstinted time to the task of additional output.

Neither the soldier nor the sailor will have his New Year's Day free from duty. I appeal to the men and to the women engaged in munitions production in Canada, to forego Saturday afternoon, the 30th instant, and Monday, New Year's Day, and to continue at their work. The sacrifice is small, but to those who make it will come the satisfaction of having discharged a clear obligation.

Yours truly,

Chairman.

BOARD OF EDUCATION

To the Electors of the City of Peterborough

Ladies and Gentlemen: I have been again nominated as a candidate for the Board of Education, and if my services in the past have been satisfactory to you, and it is your desire that I represent you for another two year term, I will deem it a pleasure to give you my very best service on the Board. Wishing you the compliments of the season, I am,

Yours faithfully,
B. F. ACKERMAN

VOTE FOR EDGAR

AND PROGRESS IN THE SOUTH WARD

Board of Education

To the Electors of the City of Peterborough

Ladies and Gentlemen,—I have been again requested to allow my name to go before you as a candidate for your Public School Board.

As a member of the Board I have endeavored to give it my best services and if my work has been satisfactory and you desire me to act as one of your representatives for a further term, I will be very pleased to give you my best effort.

With best wishes for a Happy New Year.

Yours faithfully,
Roland Denne

A Vote For F. W. DOAN

Board Of Education

Means Preparedness by Better Technical Training

You'll Save Money By Taking Advantage Of The Bargains We Offer To-morrow, Sat. The Last Business Day Of The Year

Half-Price For Evening Dresses To-Morrow

Crepe De-Chene, Satin, Ninon and Lace Evening Dresses. Regular $15.00 to $50.00 each. Saturday Bargain Half-Price

Take Stock Of Your Home and See if You Haven't Several

Pieces of Good Furniture that have very shabby and worn coverings. They need only new covering and a little polishing to make your home bright and fresh looking. We do this work and employ only expert upholsterers, and our charges are very moderate. Telephone the Home Furnishing Department for any information you may require.

TAPESTRY RUGS LARGE SIZE $35.00
Finish of English Tapestry Rugs in sizes 3½ by 4 yards and 3½ by 4½ yards only. All good designs and colourings. Saturday Bargain, each 35.00

HALF-PRICE SATURDAY FOR DOILY CLOTH CHINTZ
Here's a good chance for those who do fancy stitching. Doily Cloth Chintz. Regular $1.00 yard. Saturday Bargain, yard 50c

WHITE MARQUISETTE CURTAINS SATURDAY, $1.98 PAIR
Very fine White Marquisette Curtains, 2½ yards long, made with heading, rod space and hemmed ready for use. A big bargain. Saturday, per pair 1.98

SHADE FRINGES, LACES and INSERTIONS
Odd lines clearing Saturday at, yard 10c

New York Waists

A BIG BARGAIN SATURDAY FOR THOSE WHO LIKE THE FINEST OF WAISTS AND THE VERY NEWEST STYLES

Reg. $8.00, $8.50, $9.00, $10.00 and $12.00. Silk Ninon, Crepe de Chene and Wash Satin. Saturday Bargain, your choice.. 6.98

Four Good Values From The Dress Goods Department

SHANTUNG SILK
34-Inch Natural Shantung Silk. A good washing and wearing quality. Used for Dresses, Waists and Men's Fine Shirts. Reg. 60c. Saturday Bargain 39c

HABUTAI SILK
36-Inch White Habutai Silk. Suitable for Waists and Dresses. A good quality of Wash Silk. Regular 85c yard. Saturday Bargain 60c

POPLIN
36-Inch Poplin, suitable for Skirts and Dresses. A serviceable material, with a rich finish. In colours of black, ivory, navy blue, Alice blue, grey blue, brown and wine. Saturday Bargain, yard 75c

PANDORA CREPE
36-Inch Pandora Crepe. A silk mixture. Suitable for Waists and Dresses. In colours of black, pink, rose and dark blue. Saturday Bargain, yard 75c

HALL RUNNERS
2 Only Fine Anglo-Persian Hall Runners. Size 7 ft. 6 in. by 3 ft. Very finest quality of English Wilton. Saturday Bargain, each 20.00

$5.00 Axminster Rugs $2.98

4 Only Fine Quality Axminster Rugs. Size 30 by 60 and 27 by 54 inches. In animal and battleship designs. Reg. $4.00 and $5.00. ..... Saturday Bargain, each 2.98

WOMEN'S CASHMERE HOSE
Women's 2-1 Rib Cashmere Hose. Splendid wearing quality. Sizes 8½ to 10. Saturday Bargain, ... 3 Pairs for 1.00

A Good Saturday Bargain In Women's and Misses' Coats

REGULAR $32.50 TO $42.50
SATURDAY BARGAIN, $27.50
They are made of Camels' Hair, Bolivier Cloth, Tweed and Zebbeline. In the latest tailored styles.
Ready-to-Wear Department, 2nd Floor.

WOMEN'S UNDERWEAR
Women's Underwear in Wool and Cotton mixture. Vests with high neck and long sleeves. Drawers in two styles, ankle length. In white or natural. Saturday Bargain, garment .. 65c

LONG WOOL MITTENS
Women's or Children's Long Pure Wool Mittens. In colours of grey, navy, Cardinal, scarlet, castor or white. Saturday Bargain, pair 50c

CHAMOISETTE GLOVES
Chamoisette Gloves, in white with black points or all white. Sizes up to 7½. Saturday Bargain, pair 1.25

TAFFETA RIBBONS
Taffeta Ribbon, 4½ inches wide, in all the staple shades Saturday Bargain, yard ... 15c

In The Ready-To-Wear Department Saturday

WHITE VOILE WAISTS
Made of fine quality of Pure White Voile, with large collars and Jabot or surplice fronts. Daintily trimmed with fine Val or filly lace. In white only. Saturday Bargain 3.29

WOMEN'S AND MISSES' SWEATER COATS
Made of heavy quality of Yarn. In plain and fancy stitch, large roll collar and pockets. In colours of grey, cardinal and navy. Saturday Bargain .. 2.50

WOMEN'S CREPE KIMONAS
Made of heavy quality of Cotton Crepe, trimmed around the neck, sleeves and down the front with dainty Persian trimming. In colours of Copenhagen, rose, cardinal and pink. Saturday Bargain 1.50

CHILDREN'S KNITTED PETTICOATS
Children's Knitted Petticoats. Made of Pure Wool, with fancy stitch. In colours of grey, navy and white. Saturday Bargain 1.50

SILK WAISTS
Women's Silk Waists. Made of heavy quality of Jap Silk, with plain, tucked and handkerchief fronts; large collars and large pearl buttons. In colours of navy, flesh, white and black. ..... Saturday Bargain 3.00

China Sale Saturday 2nd Floor

Every piece of China in the store exactly Half-Price

Year End Bargains From The Staple Department You'll be Glad to Buy Saturday

HUCK TOWELS
An extra heavy quality of Pure Linen Huckaback Towels. Neatly hemmed. Sizes 21 x 36 inches. ..... Saturday Bargain, each 50c

ROLLER TOWELLING
Fine quality of Pure Linen Roller Towelling. White with fine red border. 18½ inches wide. ..... Saturday Bargain, yard 18c

WHITE LONGCLOTH
Extra heavy quality Pure White Cotton. A firm even weave. 36 inches wide. Saturday Bargain, yard.. 11c

FLANNELETTE
An extra heavy quality Pure White Flannelette. Suitable for underwear. Saturday Bargain, yard 12½c

English French and American Chintz

Regular up to 75c Saturday Yard 25c

Here Are Good, Warm Coats For The Children

Odd Lines Clearing on Saturday Away Below Regular Prices

Made of good quality of Tweed or Blanket Cloth. Well lined throughout. Regular up to $6.50. ..... Saturday Bargain 3.98

RICHARD HALL & SON LIMITED

BANQUET TENDERED TO MR. DANIEL O'CONNELL

(Continued from Page 5.)

iel O'Connell, His Honour Judge Hayeke, Mayor Duffus, Mr. R. R. Hall, Rev. R. G. Peever, Mr. H. B. Cowan, James Kenry, Rev. C. J. Phelan, Ed. Manning, James Edgar, G. A. Gillespie, M.P.P., J. W. Miller George J. Sherry, Jos. Wearing, John Allan, G. D. Carlisle, J. R. Corkery, B. Morrow, Lt.-Col. C. H. Ackerman, S. A. Peck, A. L. Killaly, Alex. J. Grant, Captain E. D. O'Flynn, Pte. Herb Payton, Pte. Fred J. Walno, P. A. Ferguson, W. A. Haslam, Adjutant J. A. McElhinney, George J. Gladman, Major S. T. Medd, C. Hewitt Nesbitt, M.D., H. T. Theobald, J. A. Gallinger, W. D. Scott, M.D., Rev. T. B. Webb, Rev. Jas. A. MacKenzie, N. D. Buchanan, M.D., M. A. Morrison, Q. L. Hay, A. A. Fowler, T. M. Glover, G. O. Cameron, F. C. Neal, M.D., W. G. Morrow, D. Thompson (Chief of Police), Fire Chief W. A. Hilliard, S. R. Armstrong, G. N. Gordon, F. H. Dobbin, Robt. Ruddy, K. C., A. H. Stratton, R. D. Hall, E. W. Coulthard, W. H. Dumsford, T. F. Matthews, C. C. Abbott, J. A. Gallinger, C. H. Fennefather, Police Magistrate D. W. Dumble, R. H. Rogers, James D. Gallivan, M.D., F. Kelly, Bish. Sheehy, J. T. O'Connor, E. B. Worth, Vincent Eastwood, Oscar Stocker, Roland Denne, W. S. Wade, Reba. Hicks, W. H. Warnan, Fair, John Green, J. E. L. Sutherill, T. H. D. Hall, J. W. Meyers, George E. Elliott, A. E. Dixon, Thomas Skinner, W. H. Denham, Dick-Davidson, G. H. Logie, T. H. G. Hall, Harry Phelan.

THE TOAST LIST.

The toast to the King was proposed by His Honour Judge Hayeke, who hour, and the need of united effort if the world war is to be brought to a successful and speedy conclusion.

Lt.-Colonel Charles Ackerman, officer commanding the 247th Batt., in replying said that everyone must be up and doing in this crucial period when the Empire is fighting for liberties, such as our forefathers fought for.

"Canada," was the next on the toast list. This was replied to by Mr. James Kendry, ex-M.P., and Mr. R. R. Hall, ex-M.P.. "We have a great deal to be thankful for," said Mr. Kendry. "Take our resources, as represented by our men, money and munitions. All these have been committed to the cause of the Empire, and we are proud of our efforts."

CONCEITED ACTION.

Mr. R. R. Hall, characterised the large gathering as a splendid expression of confidence and esteem towards Mr. O'Connell, the guest of the evening. He concurred in the remarks of Lt.-Col. Ackerman, who said this is a critical hour for the Empire, and the greatest need is unity of purpose and concerted action on the part of all. The same unity of purpose that characterises the city of Peterboro might well be copied elsewhere, said Mr. Hall. "We are fighting for our very existence. If Great Britain goes down in the struggle we go down with her."

"OUR GUEST."

In proposing the toast to "Our Guest," His Honour Judge Hayeke re-echoed the words of Mr. Hall respecting the representative nature of the meeting and the measure of confidence and esteem it implied. "We are here to-night with one object in view, and that is to render respect to the parting guest," said His Honour. All creeds and politics are represented here to-night, and for the time being are submerged. "I am struck by some of the contrasts that are apparent here to-night. I look over to my left and see Father Phelan, and shall I say, 'Father' Peever, sitting side by side, 'cheek by jowl.' Perhaps it will do them both good." (Applause.) Continuing, His Honour said: "It is with regret that I am called upon to record the departure from our midst of Mr. D. O'Connell. In Mr. O'Connell we have a gentleman who is not only a leader of the bar in Peterborough, but also in the province of Ontario. In the courts of this community Mr. O'Connell has presented arguments that would do credit to any leader of the bar anywhere. In a word to the younger members of the bar I would say that when they look at Mr. O'Connell and admire his successes and try to emulate them, they should remember that this success is not due so much to any particular accomplishment that Mr. O'Connell may have, as it is to his unswerving industry. When Mr. O'Connell takes charge of a case, he spares neither time nor effort to bring it to a successful issue. Too many of the younger lawyers when they get a case seem inclined to trust Providence or the judge. What is Peterboro's loss is Toronto's gain. I have none but the kindliest feelings for Mr. O'Connell and I believe great things are in store for him in Toronto. Our thoughts, hopes and best wishes will go with him and his better half—his very much better half—and dear children," said His Honour in conclusion.

MR. O'CONNELL

Upon rising to speak, Mr. O'Connell was asked by Police Magistrate Dumble, to move up to the centre of the banquet hall where he could be better seen and heard. Mr. O'Connell acquiesced, and was led by Mr. Dumble to the spot selected.

"That's not the first time I have obeyed a mandate from that court!" said Mr. O'Connell. Those who laughed the loudest at this remark recalled the occasion when Mr. O'Connell spent a few minutes in confinement at the police station on the authority of Magistrate Dumble for what the latter designated as contempt of court. Mr. O'Connell made a happy reference to this incident during the course of his remarks.

"If I possess the wonderful qualities which I have heard mentioned here to-night, why Peterboro is no place for me!" jocularly remarked Mr. O'Connell. "I should not tarry any longer," he added.

Mr. O'Connell told a story concerning the fateful election of 1911, when an admirer of the late Hon. J. R. Stratton, hearing of the result of the election in Peterboro, said, "Mary, pack up. I would not stay in a town that would be so unmindful of its own interests as to fail to return Mr. Stratton to office." Hearing later of the results from other parts of the province and of the defeat of many well known supporters of the Laurier Government, the man returned to Mary, and said, "You needn't mind packing up; there is no place to go!" "I am not in that position," said Mr. O'Connell. "I have selected a place to go."

HERE TWENTY YEARS.

"It is about twenty years since I came to Peterborough which at that time was credited with a population of about eleven thousand people. It was not the flourishing city that it is to-day. With characteristic enterprise becoming the many sterling qualities of the people of this community, the city has advanced to its present substantial proportions. I have endeavored to keep apace and in doing so have been thrown into contact with nearly all the business men of the community. With me it was like coming into the city at the very budding period of one's life. It was just at a time when all must lay a foundation that at some time in after life will be of some concern to him. All this I must leave behind. As to my associates there is nothing that I could say that would be too good for them. In my twenty years association with the local legal profession I must say that of all the good qualities possessed by the gentlemen with whom I have come in contact, their deep sense of ethics, honour and duty, is one of the greatest.

THE JUDICIARY.

Mr. O'Connell paid an eloquent tribute to the judiciary. "In the loss of the late Judge Weller, whom we all esteemed, we were more fortunate than many communities in that he was succeeded by a gentleman who is painstaking, conscientious and equitable. Peterborough City and County is as free from crime as any district in Canada. This in a large measure is due to the efficient administration."

Mr. O'Connell also referred to the excellent service rendered to the community by Chief of Police Thompson.

In conclusion Mr. O'Connell reviewed some of the outstanding incidents concerning the world conflict and the manner in which the citizens of Peterborough had responded to the cause with both men and money. "We have seen many of the smaller countries of the earth devastated, but we must fight on until we secure a lasting peace," said the speaker amid cheers.

OUR MUNICIPAL INSTITUTIONS.

In proposing the toast of "Our Municipal Institutions," Mr. G. A. Gillespie, M.P.P., remarked that in looking back over the past twenty years and considering the succession of Councils, the city must feel proud of their record and of the work they accomplished. The present Mayor and Council, and the Utilities Commission were maintaining this quality of work and to the members of these public bodies Mr. Gillespie proposed the toast.

In replying for the City Council, Mayor Duffus recalled his fourteen years since he had moved into Peterborough from a nearby township. Referring to his recent re-election by acclamation he wished to take advantage of the opportunity of expressing his heartfelt thanks for the honour thus conferred, and especially for the manner in which the citizens had during the past six days expressed their approval of his return. The Mayor said he felt he had the support of the citizens and that it would be accorded to him during the next twelve months. He had tried to fill the position in a businesslike manner, and would endeavour to carry out the work of the new year in a better manner.

"I ask you men here to-night to give the Council every support in carrying out the business of the city, and in our efforts to make Peterborough even a better place to live in."

Mayor Duffus said he could not sufficiently acknowledge the support the Utilities Commission had rendered the Council, and the work it was doing for the city. He also referred to the Police Commission, the Board of Education and Public Library Board as efficient municipal bodies. Peterborough was perhaps the only city in Canada that had a City Trust Commission whose duty was to see that the city's money was handled to the best advantage and that the finances be safeguarded.

Mr. O'Connell, Mayor Duffus continued, had been a member of the City Council. On many occasions he had otherwise given his assistance and had materially helped to carry out various public undertakings.

It was difficult to see where another man would be obtained to fill Mr. O'Connell's position with the efficiency he had displayed. It was regrettable that the city could not retain a man of his capabilities, and if some other prominent citizens should follow the same inclination the city would soon feel their loss.

Mayor Duffus said he felt he was voicing the sentiments of the citizens in wishing Mr. O'Connell every success and happiness in Toronto.

MR. T. F. MATTHEWS.

Mr. T. F. Matthews replied for the Utilities Commission of which he is chairman. He acknowledged the honour of responding to this toast and thanked Mr. O'Connell for his kind references to the members of the Patriotic Association, "and especially to our boys whom we sent, some of whom will not come back."

Mr. Matthews said he felt himself a patriarch when he heard others tell of their residences of fifteen and twenty years in the city, for he had come to Peterborough thirty years ago when the population was only 6,000.

"I looked with a great deal of pride at the city's growth," Mr. Matthews continued, and briefly sketched the career of the Utilities Commission. In 1908 the Water Commission was formed when the city took over the water works. It was composed of two elected members with the Mayor, Mr. T. H. G. Denne, who looked after the city's interests so well was Mayor when the works were purchased. At the end of the first year the Commission was entirely divorced from the Council. Mr. Denne was a member for one year and was followed by Mr. W. H. Moore, who has remained with the Commission up to the present. The third member was Mr. W. H. Hill, who retired in 1913 and whose place was taken by Mr. Robert Hicks. For fifteen years Mr. Matthews said he has had the honour of being chairman of the Commission. No piece of business was passed without the unanimous assent of the three members, for it was felt that there should be no action unless all three commissioners agreed. The work had been planned and carried out for a population of 50,000.

"I know the work of the Commission has met with your approval, otherwise you would have put others in our place. We have seen Councils come and go and have always been treated courteously by them. I know of no town where politics is left out of municipal affairs as in Peterborough. I feel that the public bodies have striven only for the best interests of the city."

Mr. Matthews said he expressed the regret of the Utilities Commission at the departure of Mr. O'Connell. The city could ill afford to lose such a man as he. Agreeing with Mayor Duffus, Mr. Matthews said he wished some means could be devised to retain men of the character and ability of Mr. O'Connell, and hoped that when Peterborough's population attains 50,000 the city will command the service of such men. Mr. Matthews concluded by expressing the wish that Mr. O'Connell would prosper and be happy in Toronto.

"THE LEARNED PROFESSIONS"

Ald. F. H. Dobbin proposed this toast and referring to the guest said: "We look on Mr. O'Connell as an able jurist and successful barrister, but we like to think of him as the helpful citizen. The helpful citizen is not he who comes in, follows his profession and remains self-centred classed in the Bible as a sojourner, one who proposes to stay and live, but he is the citizen who works for the public good. The really successful community is that which pos-

(Continued on Page 11)

Car of California Seedless Oranges at All Prices

Malaga Grapes, California Grapes, Bananas, Figs, Dates, Grape Fruit, Pomegranates, Apples, Lemons, Hot House Tomatoes, Potatoes, Hot House Lettuce, Macaroni, Olives, Olive Oil

Choice Groceries for Christmas

Fresh Fish, Haddie, Herrings and Select Oysters

JOE LONGO & CO.

2 Stores (118 George St., Phone 691; 220 Charlotte St., Phone 1013

A BUSINESS MAN FOR A BUSINESS PROPOSITION

VOTE FOR TAYLOR

IN THE SOUTH WARD

BARGAIN ANNEX OPEN ALL DAY TO-MORROW

INCLUDING EVENING

WATCH FOR THE GREEN PRICE CARDS

Saturday Snaps

INCLUDING EVENING

Read Every Item on The List---All Are Worth While

For The Last Business Day of the Year Many Lines Reduced

Dresses Sharply Reduced $5.00

In a variety of materials including crepe de chene, satins, silks and serges, and made in a variety of handsome styles. This price is ridiculous and rapid selling will be the result. Saturday price will be 5.00

Skirt Special $3.95

Made of blue and black serge in good quality, also a few coloured and tweed effects. Sizes are well assorted. For a clearing day are priced at..... 3.95

Blouses at 98c

Made of pretty materials, including voiles, marquisettes and striped vestings in pretty models. Pricing them at the above figure they will sell rapidly. Snap..... 98c

Sweater Coats $2.98

Plain ribbed, convertible collar and sash. Obtainable in colours of cadet, crimson and navy. A warm well knit garment. Snap price will be special..... 2.98

$18.00 Coats at $9.90

In cheviots and heavy serge, chinchillas and tweeds, all styles and a good assortment of sizes. Worth $18.00 if we bought them in the regular way. Snap price will be..... 9.90

THE THIRD FLOOR OFFERS

COLOURED MUSLIN—1 yard wide. Regular price 18c yard Snap price, yard 13c

ART SATEEN—36 inches wide, suitable for comforter covering. Regular 25c Snap price, yard..... 19c

PICTURES—Composition frames. Regular price 50c 6½-in. x 18½-in. Snap, each 39c

SLIP DOOR MATS—Size 18 x 27 inches, fringed all around. Regular 40c. Snap..... 29c

OUTSIDE COCO DOOP MATE—Regular price 50c each. Snap price, each..... 39c

All Curtain Scrim remnants will be sharply reduced—the lengths run from one to four yards.

ENTICING MAIN FLOOR REDUCTIONS

$1.50 Flannelette Blankets $1.29

Single bed size, flannelette blankets (58 x 76). Good heavy nap and fine quality, either pink or blue borders. Saturday Snap price will be 1.29

A Range of Bearcloths

Suitable for babies' coats; can be had either straight or curl — beautiful close long hair. are ..... $2.60, $3.00 and 3.50

90c Corduroy Velvet 69c yd.

Heavy corduroy velvet, good heavy weight; colours of sacques blue, green, cream, light, medium and dark brown and purple. Regular price 90c yard Snap price will be, yard 69c

Wool Serges $1.25

An all-wool serge in colours of navy and black and guaranteed. The scarcity of woollens should be considered when judging this cloth. The value is unusual at this time. Snap price 1.25

2-1 Ribbed Stockings 39c pair

An excellent quality wool hose for boys and girls, some with double knee and some without. Sizes 7½ to 10. Extra quality, pair 39c

Special Corset $1.00

Made of heavy white coutil, medium bust, four hose supporters, hook at the bottom of the steel to ensure fastening. A strong well-made corset. Snap price will be 1.00

Ladies' Scarfs 23c

Mercerized silk finish; can be had in colours of white, grey and champagne. For a Saturday special they will be for, each..... 23c

Circular Pillow Cotton 22c yd.

Extra qualityt cotton and in 40, 42, 44 and 46-inch widths. Worth 26 and 28c yard. Saturday Snap price will be one that is truly exceptional at this time of high prices. Price, yard 22c

Crochet Bed Spreads $1.19

A good durable quality, and any one in need of such an article will do well to examine this line. Size 72 x 90. Regular $1.50. Saturday Snap price will be..... 1.19

Short Cut To Cressman's Sat. Snaps

- Dresses Reduced to—$5.00.
- Skirt Special—$3.95.
- Ladies' $18.00 Coats—$9.90.
- White Blouses—98c.
- 90c Corduroy Velvets—69c yard.
- Navy and Black Serge—$1.25 yard.
- Boys' and Girls' Stockings —39c pair.
- Special Corset—$1.00.
- Ladies' Scarfs—23c.
- Circular Pillow Cotton — 22c yard .
- Crochet Bed Spreads—$1.19.
- $1.50 Flannelette Blankets —$1.29.
- 18c Curtain Muslin—13c yd.
- 25c Art Sateen—19c yard.
- 50c Pictures—39c.
- 40c Slip Door Mats—29c.
- 50c Coco Door Mats—39c.
- Curtain Scrim Remnants Reduced.

The CRESSMAN Company Limited

HERE IS SOME VERY INTERESTING INFORMATION

W. H. Taylor, Candidate in the South Ward, Calls Attention to Two Important Matters

In a card to the electors to-day Mr. Taylor feels that the Provincial Government should be urged to give the city the Street Railway extensions that the growth of the city demands at the present time. There is no doubt but that extensions are much required in the East Ward, and the South Ward, and the completion of the Charlotte St. line would be an advantage to those in that district.

He also brings out the fact that there is a surplus of 2,500 horse-power in the city that is not being utilized. In face of the shortage of power in other localities the pointing out of the fact that Peterborough has the surplus it has, should be taken hold of and the most made out of it.

Mr. Taylor has brought out two quite important questions as a result of his candidature for election as alderman of the South Ward.

A GRANT TO THE BELGIAN FUND

The Belgian Refef Fund wish to acknowledge the receipt of a special contribution from the staff of Hill, Weddell and Company, of $87.80 for the Fund.

Voice of The People

Correspondence under this heading, containing or involving attacks on individuals or violent or extreme statements, must to secure insertion, be signed with writer's real name, the owner of which thus assumes the responsibility.

Editor of The Examiner:

Dear Sir,—I notice that in the list of fire alarm boxes you published yesterday, a box is placed at the corner of Charlotte and St. Joseph's street. There is no box there. The nearest to that point is one at the corner of St. Joseph and Gilmour streets. I hope the rest of the list is more reliable.

Yours truly,
CHARLOTTE STREET.

To the Editor of the Examiner:

Dear Sir,—I would be much obliged if you would print this letter in your paper. I was notified on Tuesday night of this week by a police constable to appear at the Police Court on Thursday morning in connection with a charge laid against my two boys, one aged eleven and the other seven years of age. The charge was of breaking windows in the old Baptist Church, situated on Murray Street, which has been unused for a considerable time, and for which offence, in both cases, a fine of five dollars was imposed. Now, the question is, how am I going to pay these fines? A question I cannot answer myself. I told the Chief of Police that I couldn't possibly pay, to which he answered if I didn't I would be arrested. Now, there are two or three ways in which I might pay this fine. One would be to deprive myself and children of food and necessities of life. Another, to run myself into debt, and in the case of the little boy, who has a bank account of five dollars, saved by himself over a considerable length of time, cent by cent, and of which I am as proud of as the little fellow himself. And to take it to pay this fine would be to nip in the bud a habit which I am all the time trying to instil in his little mind, in the hope of making him a thrifty and worthy subject of this country.

Now, as I have neither the heart nor the mind to do any of these things above mentioned, I suppose the only alternative is to submit myself to arrest, which I will readily do for my children. Only for one thing, and that is if I am arrested and I suppose under the heading of arrested in default of payment, it means imprisonment. Who is to look after my family? I suppose as I am a poor woman, poor in worldly goods, but not in spirit, my family of four children might help themselves as best they could while I myself served a term in the castle on the hill, in default of paying a fine which, as was stated in your paper, was to be used to put in new windows in unused property, but which would still accept money, the taking of which really means the bread out of children's mouths. Now I am not trying to condone the offence for which my children are prosecuted, but I think it is a cruel injustice to impose a fine of that amount upon a woman who has to subsist on the small pay which a soldier's wife receives. I try to raise all my children to respect both people and property, but, as all parents know, when a boy reaches the age of my eldest son, it is hard for a mother to make him mind what she says without the help which a husband can give her, and I certainly do all in my power to make him a good boy. Now I leave it to the people of Peterborough to judge whether I have received justice or not. I don't wish people to think I am writing asking for charity. I am not, as I am not that kind, but am smarting under what I consider an injustice, as these windows have been broken, or most of them, for a year at least to my own knowledge, as I had seen them as I passed along the street. Why was action not taken before they had got to the present stage? I hope I have not imposed too much upon space in your esteemed paper, but I will certainly feel it a favour if you will give my grievance publicity.

Soldier's Wife.

Charley's Aunt
makes a
Cat Laugh

"GRAND" To-morrow. Bargain Matinee 2.30, adults (any seat) 50c., children 25c. Evening 50c. to $1.00, Gallery 25c. Same company as played Toronto last week.

New Year's Honours Postponed

SPECIAL TO THE EXAMINER:

LONDON, Dec. 29.—New Year's honours have been postponed until January 15th.

SOUTH END AUXILIARY HAS BEEN BUSY

For the months of September, October, November and December, the South End Auxiliary of the Red Cross Association shipped to headquarters at the library

1809 mouth wipes,
7 slings,
5 ring pillows,
24 dozen towels,
3 1-2 dozen sheets,
4 pillow cases,
9 dozen many-tailed bandages
9 property bags,
77 pairs socks,
21 night shirts,
29 pyjama suits.

The Society gratefully acknowledges the generous donation of the Henry Hope Co. employees and all who assisted in the work during the year.

TREASURER'S REPORT SOUTH END AUXILIARY

Bal. in treasury Aug. 2	86 04
Sept. coll. and tea	5 43
Oct. coll. (no tea)	2 40
Nov. coll. (and tea)	5 50
Red Cross bag rents	25 50
Dec. coll	75
Remnants and rags	1 15
Red Cross Bags Rents	27 50
	971 26
EXPENSES
Sept., Crossman, cotton	9 3 15
Sept., Knox, buttons	25
Sept., Knox, buttons	85
Nov. 29, Foster, express	15
Dec. 4, Red Cross, wool	7 50
Dec. 4, Dickson's, thread	20
Dec. 13, Foster, express	15
Dec. 13, Repairing lock	50
	135 08
Dec. 15, 1916, Bal. in treasury	836 27

FINE POST CARDS.

Post Cards of Quaker Oats fire IN COLOURS, 10c. each. See the specimens in the show case Vincent Studio, George Street. 2nd-243

Let us suggest something nice for your friends for New Year Gifts, in Fancy Boxed Caps, Handkerchiefs, Collars, Etc. Call and see them.

PETERBORO FANCY GOODS STORE
184 HUNTER STREET
OPEN EVENINGS

Something For Your Table

New Year Presents that look well and WEAR well are a source of lasting satisfaction to the giver as well as to the recipient.

BRITISH-MADE SILVERWARE
The Standard of the World

In this line we offer some specially pleasing articles.

A cheerful welcome to all shoppers whether to look or to buy.

SCHNEIDER
The Jeweller, George St.

Ladies' Fur Setts

In case you have failed to remember some of your friends at Christmas, just come and see some of the exquisite styles we are showing in Muffs and Neck Pieces. Nothing can be more acceptable as a Christmas or New Year's Gift.

W. E. LECH Manufacturing Furrier and Hatter
356 GEORGE STREET . . . NEAR SIMCOE ST.

Barries'

LIMITED

Furriers, Peterboro

BRANCHES AT REGINA SASKATOON MOOSE JAW

Ladies' Ready-to-Wear Department

A CHOICE SELECTION OF

Ladies' Attire

for Outdoor and Party Wear, including Dresses, Suits, Coats : : : : Blouses, Silk Sweaters.

Phone 340

Useful New Year's Gifts now being displayed in both Departments.

Last Chance Snaps

IN BOOTS FOR 1916

For the last day of the year, we will give the best money-saving prices of the season on all lines of boots in the store. We list just a few to give some idea of the unprecedented values:—

LADIES' HIGH BOOTS—Patents with cloth or kid tops, the very latest style. Worth $5.00. A very special bargain 2.98

LADIES' DRESS BOOTS—Very nice quality of pliable patent with cloth tops, buttoned, nice medium heel, splendid walking boots. Regular $4.50. Special at 2.49

LADIES' FINE BOOTS—Selected patent vamps and specially nice soft kid uppers, buttoned, walking heels. Regular $5.00 lines, and a very Special Snap at 2.75

MEN'S DRESS BOOTS—A very neat line, laced or buttoned, well finished, sewed soles. Regular $5.00. For only 3.50

MEN'S FINE BOOTS—A very dressy boot in Chocolate, African Brown, and Mahogany colours. Splendid vici kid, soft and pliable. Sewed soles. Regular $7.00. Our Special Snap price 4.98

Very special low prices on all Children's Boots and Rubbers. Be sure and see our bargains before buying.

D. ZACKS
424 George Street Next to E. J. Zacks

CHARMING

NEW YEAR GIFTS

What can be more appropriate for a Christmas present than a manicure or toilet set? Your friends will surely appreciate such a gift.

There are twelve pieces, ivory or ebony, in each set, and the cases which go with them are works of art in themselves.

If you are looking for military and clothing brushes here is the place to find them.

To be up to date this necessary to use a fountain pen. Look at our stock of "Swans" before you make a choice for Christmas.

Great variety of appropriate gifts for every member of the family.

A dainty Bottle or Box of Rouge, Face Powder or Toilet Water makes a very acceptable gift.

It would be difficult to find a more practical, useful or acceptable gift for a man than a Shaving Set or a Razor.

Christmas Confections are appropriate and desirable gifts.

Don't Fail to See Our Display

"HAPPY CHRISTMAS TO ALL"

MISS E. M. COUGHLIN
Pharmacy—347 George Street Phone 836

Dear Mary: —

I have your letter asking me if you should spend money to furnish your home, as you want to help your husband to economize.

Now, Mary, let me talk plainly to you. It is not economy to stint on furnishing your home. You cannot hold the good esteem of your friends if you do not have beautiful surroundings when they come to see you. Besides, it will help Tom to prosper. I know, because Frank and I have made more friends since we have fixed up our home and he has done better.

Your true friend—HELEN.

P. S. I'll help you select your new furniture, and show you the store where you can make the terms of payment to suit your pocketbook. It is

Harry Zacks

Special Prices for New Year's Candies

AT THE MARATHON CANDY KITCHEN

Big stock of—

French Mixes, Fancy Mixes, Cut Rocks, Chocolates Bon-Bons, Carmels & All Kinds of Toffies

Big stock of Fancy Boxes

25c, 35c, 50c. 60c, 75c, 80c, $1.00, $.150 to $2.00

Our Candies Fresh Daily.

Don't forget the place. Ice Cream all the Year Round.

THE MARATHON CANDY KITCHEN

331 Georgie Street Next to Bank of Nova Scotia

Tomorrow we will give away 1 Calendar to every Customer

A HAPPY NEW YEAR TO ALL

GRAND OPERA HOUSE SATURDAY Dec. 30

Matinee 2.30 Evening 8.15

The United Producing Co. present—"Still Running"

CHARLEY'S AUNT

From Brazil--Where The Nuts Come From 1000 Laughs--Not One Tear

PRICES—Matinee, Adults 50c, Children 25c

Evening, 50c to $1.00, Gallery 25c

Seat Sale Opens 10 a. m. Thursday

GRAND OPERA HOUSE, 3 DAYS Com. NEW YEARS DAY

One Matinee Only 2.30 Monday, Jan. 1

BASIL S. COURTNEY PRESENTS D. W. GRIFFITH'S

8th WONDER OF THE WORLD

THE BIRTH OF A NATION

18,000 PEOPLE

3,000 HORSES

COST $500,000

SAME BIG SYMPHONY ORCHESTRA

PRICES Matinee 25c, 50c, 75c Night 25c, 50c, 75c, $1

Seat Sale Opens 10 a. m. Friday Mail Orders Now

Bowlers Never Get Appendicitis

BOWLING FOR HEALTH

THE WATER ST. ALLEYS

J. J. SOLOMON, Prop

Small Want Ads. are Small in Price; Results are Big

Sampson and "Brown" Are One Say Witnesses

One of Them Was Small Boy Whom He Promised to Pay For Driving Cattle and Failed to Do So

HIDES AGAIN DRAGGED FORTH

Electing to be tried summarily, Clarence Sampson of Dummer, appeared before Magistrate Langley this morning in the city police court room on a charge of cattle stealing. He is defended by Mr. E. Gus Porter, K.C., of Belleville, and Crown Attorney Hatton is conducting the prosecution. It is likely that the case will extend into an evening session, and a considerable part of the evidence is similar to that upon which the Hill brothers were convicted upon similar charges. Witnesses were present this morning from far and near, some coming from London, Ont., and others from St. Catherines, Toronto, Campbellford and Dummer. Mr. Arthur E. Carveth was first called, but did not reach the city until after ten o'clock, having been detained by snow drifts along the way.

He told of the disappearance of two of his cattle from a herd of nine in pasture in Dummer and of later identifying their hides in Hyman's tannery, London, Ont. Witness went there with Inspector Boyd, of Toronto, and Mr. Stuart Clysdale, of Dummer, who had also lost some cattle. Carveth said he had a custom of marking each cattle by punching a hole in one ear with a gunwad machine.

"Could you identify those hides now?" asked Crown Attorney Hatton, once more providing the familiar cue for the introduction of five or six coarse worn hides that have been the particular bane of County Constable Moore's affairs since late in the past summer when they were returned from the London tannery. In preliminary and later hearings in the Hill trials the hides have been unpacked, dragged around in their weight of salt, repacked and otherwise exposed to the rarified court atmosphere to which they quickly added an odour that to say the least was high. And these hides were and are getting greasy and heavy. Both county and city policemen have sniffed them in a manner that conveyed a wish that they were far away in a high flavoured tannery or out on the Dummer hills. Thus the court stage hands trotted out the hides again, dumped them from burlap bags and once more exposed them to the court, piled as on a tannery floor.

Mr. Carveth said he identified two of them and maintained his position in the face of a searching cross-examination by Mr. Porter.

Mr. "Brown" Appears.

Richard McKelvie, living near Campbellford, recalled purchasing nine head of cattle on Oct. 4 A Mr. Brown drove to McKelvie's farm and asked him to go to see some cattle. He said his name was Brown. McKelvie, Brown and Hector McArthur drove back in McKelvie's automobile to Mr. Collins' farm near Trent Bridge. McKelvie bought the cattle, paying $2 there, and the balance in Campbellford. Brown said he was not known in town and requested to be paid in cash. McKelvie paid him at the post office.

Witness said he had no hesitation in identifying the prisoner Sampson as the man Brown who had sold him the cattle.

Mr. Hatton inquired about a telephone message McKelvie received at noon on that day. Mr. Porter objected to any question beyond the mere fact of the telephonic message.

Well did you hear what was said on the 'phone?

Yes.

Who was asked for?

"I object to that," said Mr. Porter. "It's a leading question and not evidence."

Mr. Hatton—What did you say to the prisoner after getting the message?

McKelvie—I'm not positive whether I said anything or not.

Witness said he remembered the message, he believed he had conveyed it to Sampson, but was not sure what he had told him. And this lapse slightly riled the Crown Attorney.

To Mr. Porter, witness said he had made mistakes of identity in the past. Referring to the prisoner, he stated that Brown did not have a mourtache. Sampson affects one. McKelvie said that he felt positive that Sampson and Brown were one and the same person, but added under Mr. Porter's pressure that there was the possibility of being mistaken.

A week ago McKelvie said he went to the jail with several police officers but couldn't identify him in the cell. Yesterday he saw him on Water street in charge of a jail official who was taking Sampson out for an exercising walk. Witness said he had been informed that the prisoner would be taken down Water street. He posted himself at the market scales, and observing him, was sure of his identity.

Mr. Porter asked if it were a fact that witness had seen the prisoner four times and only identified him now. McKelvie replied that he was sure of Sampson the second time he saw him and that conviction had grown since that time.

To Mr. Hatton he stated that the time he had seen Sampson after his arrest was a week ago in the cell, where the lighting was not satisfactory.

A Bright Boy.

Hector McArthur of Campbellford, aged 11, was next called and stated that in October he drove cattle for Mr. McKelvie and for Mr. Brown. The latter promised him 50 cents for driving the cattle in from Trent Bridge. On the way the boy got a pain in the side and completed the trip in McKelvie's car. After dinner he went back, met Brown and drove the cattle to McKelvie's. Brown sent the boy home to get a dollar changed to pay him. The youngster ultimately did not get the 50 cents. Brown wore overalls, had a red handkerchief about his neck, and wore a cap. He saw him again a week ago in the lavatory of the police court, where Brown was washing. He had a moustache that he didn't have at Campbellford. Hector said he was sure Sampson was Brown.

"Brown was a pretty mean man for not paying you?" observed Mr. Porter.

"He was," replied the boy who admitted that it was a good chance to get even.

Hector said that Brown not only lied in conspicuously but carried his head bent down and to one side. He added that he particularly remember Brown "because he didn't pay me."

ALD. JOHN EDGAR, one of the South Ward representatives in the City Council, who is seeking re-election.

ILLEGAL MANUFACTURING

U. S. Food and Coal Price Probers Uncover Leads

SPECIAL TO THE EXAMINER:

NEW YORK, Dec. 29.—Federal food and coal price probers have uncovered leads which indicate illegal manipulating, George W. Anderson, Special Assistant Attorney-General, announced this afternoon, after a meeting of the District Attorneys from Northern and Central Atlantic States. "We have discovered that dealers in some instances are making as high as $150 profit on each carload of coal," he said.

Need Assistance

Mr. C. A. G. Spence has discovered in the course of his work a family that not only were without Christmas comfort, but in a condition that calls for the assistance of the charitably inclined. They need clothing and bedding, and are a deserving case. Those who desire to help them to begin the New Year more comfortably may obtain the family's address at the Examiner Office.

MR. F. W. DOAN, of the Bell Telephone Company, one of the new candidates for the Board of Education.

"It's Confidence That Does It"

To Welcome 1917

During the coming year we are going to continue the same good policy in our store that has gained for us so large a portion of the trade of this City and District. Our New Year's resolution is to please you.

To keep the home table tempting we have all the good family groceries you need. Also—

Seedless Oranges at 20c, 30c, 40c, and 50c dozen

2 doz. of the 20c Oranges for 35c

Grape Fruit 5c, 4 for 25c

Spanish Grapes at 20c and 25c lb.

Apples—Spies, Bellflowers, McIntoshes, etc.

Cranberries 2 qts for 25c

Table Raisins in 30c pkgs

New Figs and Dates

All kinds of Fresh Nuts

Delicious Cheese

Olives and Pickles

Wholesome Sweetmeats

Scotch Bread in 15c Pkgs

P. & P. Ditto in 30c tin boxes

Christmas Plum Pudding

If you cannot come, telephone 208

Happy New Year To All

Porter S. White

334 George Street

IF You have received any Xmas Gifts that were purchased here, which do not please you in any way, please call and exchange them.

IF You have forgotten some friend at Christmas and you wish to remember him at New Year, we offer you from one of the choicest Stocks in Peterboro, Underwear Suits, Overcoats Shirts, Ties & Collars, Gloves & Mitts, Silk Squares, Knitted Scarfs, Hosiery, Handkerchiefs, Suspenders, Arm Bands Garters, Umbrellas, Night Robes and Pyjamas, Coat Sweaters & Sweaters,&c

IF You are in want of any of the above listed articles, underline Pyjamas and bring your list to this Store, look over the article you are seeking and if its just what you want you will find the price just to your liking. Come and Investigate

We desire at this time to thank the public for a generous patronage throughout the year 1916, and we hope to merit more business during 1917.

H. LeBRUN & CO.

396 George Street 143-145 Hunter Street

Sunday School Lesson Questions

December 31, 1916.

Review: Christ's Coming, and Coming to Christ. Reading lesson only, Rev. 22:8-14, 16-21.

Golden Text: The Spirit and the bride say come. And he that heareth let him say, Come. And he that is athrist let him come; he that will let him take the water of life freely. Rev. 22:17.

The questions for this week may be used as an original lesson or as a review of the 13 preceding weekly lessons. The date and the title of each lesson, where found, Golden Text, and one question from each lesson follow during the present week.

Oct. 1.—A Plot that failed. Acts 23. Golden Text: They shall fight against thee, but shall not prevail against thee; for I am with thee, saith Jehovah, to deliver thee. Jer. 1:19.

1. Verse 11. What reason is there to believe that God always times his visits to us when we need him the most?

Oct. 8. Paul before Felix. Acts 24. Golden Text: Herein I also exercise myself to have a conscience void of offense toward God and man always. Acts 24:16.

2. Verse 1-9. If a rich unscrupulous man has a law suit against a well known good man, why should a Christian lawyer not accept the case for the prosecution?

15. The appeal to Caesar. Acts 25. Golden text: It is enough for the disciple that he be as his teacher, and the servant as his lord. Matt. 10:25.

3. Verses 1-5. Which and why, according to history, have been the vilest liars and all round knaves, High Priests with out religion, or politicians without moral principle?

Oct. 22. Paul's defense before Agrippa, Acts 26. Golden Text: I was not disobedient unto the heavenly vision Acts 26:19.

4. Verses 1-3. What is the advantage of freedom of speech and of the press in a free country?

Oct. 29. The Voyage. Acts 27:1-38 Golden Text: Commit thy way unto Jehovah; trust also in him, and he will bring it to pass. Ps. 37:5.

5. Verses 12, 13. What special danger are we in when the south wind blows softly, and we are inclined to go with it, and against our inward convictions? (This is one of the questions which may be answered in writing, by the members of the Club.)

Nov. 5. Shipwrecked at Melita. Acts 27:38-28:10. Golden Text: Jehovah redeemeth the soul of his servants and none of those that take refuge in him shall be condemned. Ps. 34:22.

6. Verses 38, 39. When facing a great disaster there are at least two things we can do: wring our hands and bemoan our fate, or be cheerful and work hard to save the ship; what can you say on the merits of either.

Nov. 12. World's Temperance Sunday. Rom. 14:13-15:2. Golden Text: It is good not to eat flesh nor to drink wine nor to do anything whereby thy brother stumbleth. Rom. 14:21.

7. Verse 13. If a good man smokes, and a boy begins to smoke from his example, and the habit leads to bad company, and that leads to drinking, to what extent is the good man responsible?

Nov. 19. From Melita to Rome. Acts 28:11-31. Golden Text: I am not ashamed of the Gospel: for it is the power of God unto salvation to everyone that believeth. Romans 1:16.

8. Verses 17-20. Before Paul's conversion he "breathed out threatenings and slaughter" against the Christians—how is it that he speaks so gently now of those who were his mortal enemies?

Nov. 26. A Living Sacrifice. Rom. 12. Golden Text: Present your bodies a living sacrifice, holy, acceptable unto God, which is your spiritual service. Romans 12:1.

9. Verse 1. What good reasons are there that a man should bind himself forever to the service of God?

Dec. 3. Jesus Christ, the First and the Last. Rev. 1. Golden Text: Fear not, I am the first and the last, and the living one: and I was dead, and behold I am alive for evermore. Rev. 1:17, 18.

10. Verses 7, 8. What do your consider will be some of the scenes on the judgment day?

Dec. 10. Faithful unto death. Rev. 2:1-17. Golden Text. Be thou faithful unto death, and I will give thee the crown of life. Rev. 2:10.

11. Verse 8. What actual or experimental knowledge has a true Christian that Christ is now alive?

Dec. 17. The Holy City. Rev. 21:1-4 9-11, 22-27; 22:1-5. Golden Text: Behold the tabernacle of God is with men and he shall dwell with them and they shall be his peoples. Rev. 21:3.

12. Verse 1. If the present earth should be burned up what improvements would you suggest if a new one were contemplated?

Dec. 24. Christmas Lesson: Unto us a Child is given. Isa. 9:2-7. Golden Text: For unto us a child is born, unto us a son is given: and the government shall be upon his shoulder, and his name shall be called Wonderful, Counsellor, Mighty God, Everlasting Father, Prince of Peace. Isa. 9:6.

13. Verse 7. When will the day come when Jesus will reign and rule over the whole world?

Lesson for Sunday, Jan. 7th, 1917. Jesus the Light and the Life of Men. John 1:1-18.

Here's Wishing You A Happy New Year

FEINBERGS'

YOUR SHOEMEN

We take this opportunity of conveying our hearty thanks to all our customers for their very generous patronage during 1916 and bespeak a continuance of your patronage during 1917.

In these days of the high cost of living, and when the price of leather is so high, it will be found good wisdom to buy all your footwear at our Stores, where the expenses are so light we can afford to sell so much closer. This is a boon to all the people

Grand Wind-Up of the Old Year

To-Morrow, Saturday

We'll put joy in Your Walking by Selling Shoes at the Closest Prices of the Holiday Season.

FEINBERGS' Two Stores

283 George Street 185 Charlotte St.

THE WORLD OF SPORT

SERGT. "AJAX" OF THE 247th, HOCKEY TRAINER AND WEIGHT LIFTER

This is Sergt. William Lane, of the 247th Battalion, better known to vaudeville fans throughout the continent as "Ajax," the professional strong man. Sergt. Lane came to Peterborough several weeks ago to fill a vaudeville engagement, and now is filling the King's uniform in the Canadian Expeditionary Force. A glance over the accompanying picture will show that it is well filled. Sergt. Lane toys with heavy dumb bells as if they were toy balloons, and thinks nothing of lifting 200 lb. men over his head with one hand. When he gets to the front the Huns will have to keep an eye on Ajax or he will be walking away with a 42 centimetre gun under his arm. Sergt. Lane has been installed as trainer of the 247th hockey team in the intermediate series of the O.H.A., a position he is looking after to perfection. He knows how to put an athlete in shape, and besides, is as cheerful as he is strong. He is a big favourite with the players, and will be with the fans as soon as they get a chance to know him. Ajax is a decided acquisition to the ranks of Lt.-Col. Ackerman's battalion.

SERGT. WM. LANE.

LINDSAY TO RUN SPECIAL TRAIN FOR GAME ON TUESDAY

The trip of the 247th Battalion Intermediates to Parry Sound for an exhibition game to-night should round out their training and leave them in good shape for the opening O.H.A. game of the season on Tuesday night next, when Captain Simpson's Lindsay Intermediates will visit Brock Street Rink. Prospects are bright for an old-time battle. The Lindsay team are running a special train here for the game, and will bring down a couple of hundred supporters to cheer them on. It is likely that the band of the 93rd Battalion, which is now attached to the 247th, will be on hand to supply music before the game and between periods. A big crowd is expected for the season's opening O.H.A. fixture.

INTER-CLASS ATHLETIC MEET AN ATTRACTION AT THE "Y" ON NEW YEAR'S

On New Year's afternoon an inter-class athletic meet will be held between the Junior Collegiate class and the Senior Employed Boys in the Y.M.C.A. gymnasium. The events will be 50 and 100 yards, potato races, high and broad jump, fence vault and 8 lb. shot put. Every boy in these two classes may enter, and a prize will be given to the all-round winner. The first five scores of each team in each event will be counted, and all who qualify by securing a place amongst the first five in any event, on the winning team will receive a Y.M.C.A. pin. This event is causing great interest among the boys and the competition between the two groups is sure to be very keen. J. Thirtbeck is in charge of the Collegiate boys, and H. Copp is looking after the Employed boy athletes.

The first event will be run off at 2.30.

HOCKEY GOSSIP

The 247th team left on the 9.15 C.P.R. train this morning for Parry Sound, where they will play an exhibition game with the team of that town to-night. The game was hurriedly arranged yesterday. Parry Sound wanted a game for Moday night, but in view of the soldiers' battle with Lindsay on Tuesday night this was impossible and to-night was decided on instead. The game should put the 247th in good shape for the Lindsay game.

Bride and Keats, the two 228th Battalion soldiers, who are playing with the Toronto team in the N.H.A., were out for a short time with the 247th Battalion Intermediates at Brock street rink last night. They were feeling the effects of the battle at Montreal the night before and did not loosen up much.

This year's Peterborough Junior O.H.A. team is about as genuine a home-brew aggregation as can be found in the O.H.A. Of the ten regulars in the squad, seven have lived practically all their lives in Peterborough. Of the other three, Graham was born in Lakefield and McFee in South Monaghan. Park, the other youngster in the squad, has lived here seven years. The average age of the bunch is under eighteen years.

The Peterborough juniors will practice at Brock street rink to-night at 7 o'clock. All the regulars are expected out sharp on time. There will likely be a practice game New Year's morning with the 247th team.

Fans are advised to keep January 9th open. This is the date of the first junior game, with Bowmanville as the attraction. The Lake Shore bunch have not been seen in action in Peterborough for some time.

BOWLING

There was great excitement at Water street alleys last night when the Retail Grocers and Wholesale Grocers rolled the second match. The Retailers won out in the three games by 105 pins. Routley, for the Retailers, was high count with 468. Fitzpatrick for the Wholesalers with a 511 count.

Retail Grocers—
Heard	156	136	173
Nichols	148	134	116
Routley	175	163	130
Gillespie	178	124	153
Stewart	146	129	132
	803	686	734

Total—2,222.

Wholesale Grocers—
Outram	167	130	106
Nodall	169	128	106
Boyd	128	158	127
Fitzpatrick	179	183	169
Rose	168	130	147
	749	710	655

Total—1,114.

Curling Ice Good

All seven ices at the curling rink are in good condition for the annual New Year's competition and already a number of scratch games have been played.

Last night the Club appointed R. M. Waddell and J. E. A. Fitzgerald as the Tankard skips, and Alex. C. Kay and W. D. Campbell are the skips for the District Cup games.

BANQUET TENDERED TO MR. DANIEL O'CONNELL

(Continued from Page 8.)

sesses citizens of this type. We shall miss Mr. O'Connell and think of him as being here. It has been a pleasure to have been asociated with him. We learned to admire his cheerful optimism, his resourcefulness, his industry, and in an extremity we went to him confident that he would point the way out."

REV. J. R. WEBB.

Rev. J. R. Webb, of Murray Street Baptist Church, first congratulated the chairman for his usual sense of justice in giving the ministry of Peterborough an opportunity to be heard at this time. He had no apology to make for being present even until midnight on an occasion such as this. Digressing for the moment, Rev. Mr. Webb said that the day had gone by when a minister wished to be a secluded individual in the community, or to be petted and privileged. He wants nothing the bricklayer, the lawyer, or the merchant does not have, but he wants what they enjoy, especially on the occasion of a farewell to a man who had earned the respect of every minister in the city, as Mr. O'Connell had done. Speaking to the guest, Rev. Mr. Webb said: "I tell you Mr. O'Connell we all like you," and raised a round of laughter, when the added, "Really when I hear you plead a case I covet you for the Baptist ministry. For two reasons when I see you move a jury or a judge, and these qualities we desire for men in the Baptist ministry, in the ministry of all denominations." After speaking of Mr. O'Connell's splendid work in Peterborough, Rev. Mr. Webb said: "We wish Godspeed to Mr. Daniel O'Connell, lawyer, citizen, orator and man."

MR. D. W. DUMBLE.

Police Magistrate Dumble made a characteristically witty speech in replying to the toast. He was sorry that Mr. O'Connell was removing from Peterborough, but not as sorry as if he were going to heaven," because in Toronto we can drop in to see him now and then." Mr. Dumble expressed the hope to be able to say of Mr. O'Connell some day "That judge came from Peterborough."

Rev. C. J. Phelan, rector of St. Peter's Cathedral, said he voiced everything that had been said of Mr. O'Connell. The city was losing a learned man, and following Rev. Mr. Webb's division, Father Phelan remarked that had Mr. O'Connell remained here longer he might have exercised his ability on Rev. Mr. Webb and brought about a conversion.

Besides the loss to the legal profession Father Phelan said that St. Peter's congregation was losing something that would be hard to regain. He commented that he hoped the citizens might meet more freely as on this occasion, and concluded by wishing Godspeed to Mr. O'Connell and future blessings for him and his family.

"THE LADIES."

Mr. Jos. Wearing proposed the toast of "The Ladies," to which Capt. O'Flynn of the 247th Battalion, made a deeply sympathetic reply, touching particularly upon the sacrifices Canadian womanhood had made for the Empire in this war.

It was long past eleven o'clock when the assembly sang "Auld Lang Syne," and the National Anthem.

During the evening several excellent instrumental numbers were supplied by Mr. John Allan. Mr. Douglas Carlisle contributed a number of vocal solos, while Pte. H. Rayton, and Pte. F. J. Walmo, bandsmen with the 247th Battalion, gave a cornet duet. The "hear hears" were provided by Ald. F. H. Dobbin in his usual good form.

With the same Big Symphony Orchestra opens a three-day engagement at "The Grand" Monday next, January 1st. One Matinee New Year's Day only, at 2:30. Seat Sale now open at the box office.

Cook's Mistake.

It was in one of the large cities of Australia. A lady engaged a cook who had just arrived from a country town. She brought with her good recommendations, and was supposed to be a real good kitchen servant. Her mistress ordered sole for dinner, and next morning went as usual to give her instructions for that meal.

"We are to have fish for dinner, Jane. I suppose you know how to cook it?"

"Oh, yes, certainly, ma'am," she replied.

A short time after the fishmonger's boy arrived with the parcel, and on Jane opening it, she gave some horrible screams. Her mistress rushed into the kitchen.

"Whatever is the matter, Jane?" she said.

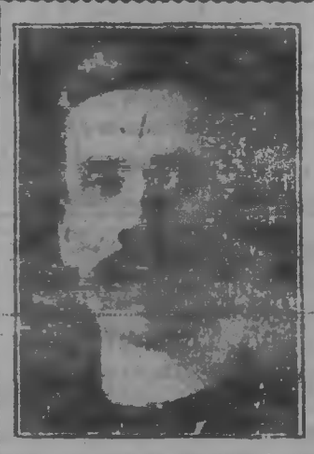
"Oh, ma'am, I thought you said you ordered fish for dinner?" replied Jane.

"Well, so I did," said her mistress.

"Well, ma'am, the fishmonger has sent snakes."

Who Wrote "Old Mother Hubbard"?

Probably very few people could say who wrote the famous "Mother Hubbard" lines, and fewer still know where the writer is buried. The author was Sarah Catherine Martin and she was buried at Loughton, in Essex. Miss Martin was born in January, 1768, and was about three-seven years of age when she wrote the story of the old lady and her dog. Tradition says the original "Old Mother Hubbard" was the home known as Kitley Hall, Yealmpton, the residence of Miss Martin's married sister. At any rate, it was when on a visit to her sister at Kitley that the famous rhyme was penned. The original publication is still at Kitley, and a cupboard is pointed out as the one supposed



MR. J. H. SMITH, candidate in the election for alderman in the East Ward.

E. B. CLEGG & CO.

Furniture purchased now as gifts, will be held until Christmas week if desired. Dining room furniture on sale this week. Some handsome styles to choose from. A collection of colonial art craft and modern style buffets. See our show window. A fine example of the William and Mary style.

Dawson Bros.
GROCERS
Cor. George & London Sts.

Currants, re-cleaned, pound	25c.
Valencia raisins, choice, pound	15c.
Mixed peel, lemon, orange, citron, pound	35c.
Fresh dates, pound	15c.
Cooking figs, 2 pound	25c.
Allen's famous apple cider, per gal.	40c.
Home-made mince meat, pound	15c.
Cranberries for your Christmas turkey, quart	15c.

SPECIAL.

Swift's premium bacon, put up expressly for boys at the front. Packed in sealtite and waterproof paper. Each piece sells at $1.00
White beans, fancy, picked, 2 pound	25c.
Prunes, large and meaty, 2 pound	25c.
Malaga grapes, pound	20c.
Lemons, large and juicy, dozen	40c.
Auto brand salmon extra value	15c.
Turnips. We have a limited amount of real choice turnips. Your goose will taste better if you serve turnips. Per bag	60c.
Oranges, large, sweet and juicy. Doz., 30c., 40c. and	50c.

Prompt Delivery - - 'Phone 1620

Annual Shirt Sale

AT OAK HALL

One of the Most Popular Events of this Store is ☞ Our GREAT SHIRT SALE

We select, and carry for sale, Shirts that the Best Makers turn out. Shirts accumulate so fast that once a year we have these SPECIAL SALES.

It's Good Business To Do It!

No man gets too many shirts, so come and buy every Shirt you can use. It means savings to you.

SHIRTS 75c

Stiff cuffs, also soft cuff and collar shirts. Neat hairline and heavier stripes, white fancy cord. Worth $1.00, for 75c

SHIRTS 95c

Stiff cuffs, also soft cuff and collar shirts. Choice patterns in neat stripes and heavier covered patterns. Some with silk fronts. Worth $1.25 and $1.50, for 95c

SHIRTS $1.25

Stiff cuffs, also soft cuffs and collars, large assortment patterns to choose from. Percales, Anderson's and Paton cloths. Worth up to $1.75, for 1.25

COMBINATIONS $1.00

Mercury and Zimmerknit, medium weight combinations. Natural shade, closed crotch. All sizes. Worth $1.25 and $1.50, for 1.00

COMBINATIONS $2.00

Stanfield's and Watson's, spring needle, elastic knit, closed crotch combination underwear. Very special at 2.00

MEN'S HATS $1.95

Men's hard and soft felt hats, in black, nutria, smoke, steel. All latest styles. Worth $3.50 and $3.00, for 1.95

Now is your Time to buy Shirts & Underwear. Come buy lots & save money

400-11 George St. OAK HALL M. J. Maher, Mgr.

Sat'rday Clothing Snaps

56 Boys' Suits

Double breasted all-wool tweed suits, old cloths. Dark, medium and light colours. All wool linings, full size bloomers. Suits sold regularly from $6.50 to $12.50, and to-day are worth 40 per cent. more. We divided them into 2 lots, for ..... $5.95 and 7.95

31 Boys O'coats

In blue, brown, dark, medium and light grey nap cloths. Double breasted, full belt. Worth up to $6.50, for 3.95

Men's Pants

Dark stripe heavy worsted pants, 5 pockets, belt loops, side buckles, cuff bottoms. Worth $4.00, for 2.95

Young Men's Overcoats

35 Young Men's Stylish Short Coats. The very latest thought in overcoats, made Jellicoe, Canadian, Beauty, Oxford style. All wool linings. Coats worth $18.00, $20.00 and $22.00, for 15.90

ALL THE YEAR AROUND, OUR PRICES ARE LOW, HONEST PRICES. WE DO NOT MARK GOODS HIGH FOR A WHILE AND THEN MARK THEM DOWN, JUST TO MAKE THE PRICES "SEEM" LOW.

IT IS JUST AS EASY TO MARK A THING $5, AS TO MARK IT $4. BUT WE VALUE THE "CONFIDENCE" OF OUR CUSTOMERS AND SELL OUR GOODS AT THE LOW PRICE ALL THE TIME

H. J. ZACKS
BETTER GOODS FOR LESS

A Wonderful Sale of Trimmed Felt & Velvet Hats

Takes Place Here To-morrow at $1.98

Regular Value $3.50 & $4.00

ROBERT FAIR & CO., Ltd.

Saturday Bargains

A One-Day Money-Saving After-Christmas Sale

Startling Price Concessions. Amazing Reductions on Ladies' High Class Coats and Suits

Silk Scarfs, Initial Handkerchiefs

CLEARANCE PRICES ON LADIES' SILK SCARFS—All Christmas lines to be cleared out to-morrow. The shades are Paddy, rose, grey, cadet, navy, cerise, copen and champagne. 1¾ yards long, with knotted fringe. Marked to clear as follows:

All Scarfs that sold at $3.50, marked ... $2.25
All Scarfs that sold at $3.75, marked ... $2.60
All Scarfs that sold at $4.00, marked ... $2.75

CHILDREN'S INITIALED HANDKERCHIEFS—Put up 6 in fancy box that sold at 25c. To clear to-morrow at ... 18c, or 2 boxes for 35c

GENTS' INITIALED ALL-LINEN H.S. HANDKERCHIEFS—Put up 3 in fancy box at 75c. Saturday Sale price, per box ... 50c

LADIES' INITIAL ALL-LINEN H.S. HANDKERCHIEFS—Put up 3 in fancy box at 50c. Saturday Sale price, per box ... 35c

TWO ONLY SILK FASCINATORS — Very dainty, the only ones left of the $2.00 line. To clear out to-morrow at, each ... 1.00

Hosiery, Yarns, Robe Cloth

HEAVY RIBBED SCARLET HOSE OR OVER-STOCKINGS—All wool, all sizes. Regular price according to size 75c to 85c. All one price, per pair ... 59c

LADIES' FLEECE-LINED BLACK HOSE — An extra good quality, that sells at 25c. Saturday Special, per pair ... 19c

KNITTERS ATTENTION! "BONNER-WORTH YARN" —The favourite yarn for knitting soldiers' socks. Shades of grey, khaki, black and white kept in stock. Now selling at $1.75 lb. Our price, per lb. ... 80c

REVERSIBLE ROBE CLOTH—Excellent designs in light blue and brown. Very heavy soft make. Regular value 55c. Saturday Sale price, per yard ... 40c

CHILDREN'S SILK QUILTED KIMONAS—After Christmas Sale of daintily designed white silk with plain silk lining. Two lines marked as follows:—

Regular $4.00 for $2.50. Regular $3.50 for $2.00.

Fancy Plush Coat

Plain plush collar and wide band at bottom. Guaranteed satin lining.

$17.50

Regular price $25.00

Plain Sealette Coat

The season's popular garment. Showing the later styles. Guaranteed satin lining.

$15.00

Regular price $25.00

Latest Stylish Coats

Made from choice materials, handsomely tailor-made. Best of linings.

$10.00

Regular prices $15.00 to $18.00.

Read About This Coat Bargain

All of the choicest materials, every coat tailored perfectly.

$7.50

Regular prices $12.50 to $13.50.

The After-Christmas Sale of Blouses

We have grouped all odd Silk Blouses left from the holiday trade. A swell lot to choose from, some of the shades are navy, black, copen, brown, cream, etc. Regular prices were up to $6.50. Your choice for ... 2.98

Another Lot of White Silk Blouses

Beautiful quality of heavy Jap. Wash Silk, different styles to choose from, that sold at $2.50. Clean up sale price Saturday ... 1.98

Misses' Knitted Wool Underskirts

Heavy rib knit, in plain cardinal and also cardinal with black. Regular value $2.00 and $2.25. Saturday Sale price ... 1.50

White Flannelette Nightgowns

Excellent material, high neck, tucked yoke, self ruffle and braid trimming. No need to sell this $1.25 gown at less only as a Saturday Bargain, at ... 98c

Wool and Flannelette Blankets

BEST QUALITY FLANNELETTE BLANKETS — In white or grey, very heavy well napped make. The best standard 11/4 size that we sell at $1.75. Saturday, per pair ... 1.59

PURE WHITE WOOLNAP BLANKETS—Has the wool nush and takes the place of the all-wool blanket. The large standard size 72 x 84 inches. Regular price $4.50. Saturday Sale price ... 3.98

WHITE WOOL BLANKETS — Several pair of slightly counter soiled blankets, in sizes 60 x 80, and 64 x 84 inches. Regular price $5.50, $5.75, $6.00. All to go at one price, per pair ... 5.00

PURE WHITE 36-INCH FLANNELETTE — High grade quality, well napped and free from dressing. As flannelettes are scarce and will be much higher, you will do well to buy a supply to-morrow. Regular price 22c. Saturday Sale price ... 6 yards for 1.10

Men's Socks, Sweaters, Flan'elette

HEAVY CREAM FLANNELETTE — Soft heavy thick quality without a particle of dressing. Now worth 20c. Saturday Sale price ... 7 yards for 1.00

PURE WHITE FLANNELETTE — 27 inches wide, very heavy soft make without dressing. Selling at the old price of 15c. Saturday Special ... 8 yards for 1.00

MEN'S HEAVY GREY WOOL SOCKS—See them to-morrow. They are an excellent quality, ribbed with fine ribbed top. 35c value, for ... 4 pairs for 1.00

MEN'S ALL-WOOL BLACK CASHMERE SOCKS—Very fine quality. There are practically no all-wool socks under 50c and 50c. We will sell you to-morrow ... 3 pairs for 1.00

SEE THE $1.25 GREY SWEATERS AT 89c—All one colour, high roll collar, heavy make, can't be duplicated at $1.25. Saturday Sale price, each ... 89c

The first 100 customers purchasing $1.00 worth of goods or over on Saturday Morning will be presented with a handsome Japanese Calendar.

No advertisement on any of them to obscure the outer cover.

Presentation To Mr. Yarrow

Local Grand Trunk Officials Remembered by Fellow Employees

On Saturday night the staff of the Grand Trunk station gathered in the office of Mr. Yarrow, the assistant roadmaster, when a presentation was made to him by the members of the staff. The following address was read by Mr. Arthur Jobbit and Mr. Yarrow was the recipient of a handsome gold Masonic ring, and Mrs. Yarrow a beautiful gold and pearl bar brooch. Mr. R. J. Delahey and J. Melbourne made the presentation.

Peterborough, Dec. 23rd, 1916.

Mr. and Mrs. Yarrow.—We, the undersigned, on behalf of the members of the Road Department at Peterborough, Fraserville and Lakefield wish to express our appreciation for your untiring efforts in our interests during the past year.

Of course we all have our little troubles, but at such a time as this one is not at all reluctant in dispelling the thoughts of old feuds. We have tried to serve you and the company to the best of our ability in the past. In the future it is our aim to exceed former efforts and do our work in a more efficient and harmonious manner and trust that with the co-operation of all concerned that this end shall be accomplished.

We wish you and Mrs. Yarrow to accept these small tokens as a slight expression of our appreciation for the assistance you have rendered and the friendly spirit you have created among us.

Also we all join in wishing you and your family a very merry Christmas and a happy and prosperous New Year.

J. S. Chambers.
R. J. Delahey.
T. Jackson.
F. Turner.
J. Welbourn.
G. A. Welbourn.
H. Noyes.

BIRTH.

MONTGOMERY.—In Saskatchewan, on Dec. 24, 1916, the wife of Mr. Wm. Montgomery, formerly of Peterborough, of a son.

We wish all our many friends a Happy and a Prosperous New Year

Keep Up The Xmas Spirit

You will want to select some suitable Gift for your Friends who were overlooked at Christmas. Excellent chance will be found at this store, notwithstanding the heavy shopping before Christmas.

We will be pleased to show a large assortment of suitable suggestions for New Year's Gifts—such as

Diamonds Watches
Clocks Jewelry
Rings Necklace
Cut Glass Silverware
Wrist Watches
Military Watches
Boys' Watches
Girls' Watches
Brooches Fobs
Tie Pins Crosses
Lockets Ebony Goods
Ivory Goods and Thousands of Other Articles

Warne Bros.

DIAMOND HALL

NEXT TO WARNE DRUG CO

FOWLER'S PEBLO GLASSES

The Season's Greetings

Thanks for the Year's Prosperity and Best Wishes for a Prosperous New Year.

A. A. FOWLER DOCTOR OF OPTICS
Pharm. D. Toronto University
EYESIGHT SPECIALIST with NUGENT DRUG COMPANY.

RESTORE THE NATURAL SIGHT

Social and Personal

Mrs. Dan O'Connell and family left yesterday for Toronto, their new home. They will reside at 46 Tyndall Avenue, Parkdale, Toronto.

Miss Lillian Somerville and Mr. Lind Somerville, have returned to Toronto, after spending the past week as the guests of the Misses Jenkins, Brock Street.

Mr. and Mrs. Garnet Mahood, of Lorneville, Ont., are spending their honeymoon at the Empress.

Mr. an Mrs. Leo Brooks and baby, Mary, have returned home after spending the holidays in town, the guests of Mr. J. M. Brooks, 199 Dalhousie street, and Mr. Ed. Huff, 280 Gilmour street.

Rev. Bro. Witan, De la Salle, Toronto, was in the city this morning for the reception at St. Joseph's.

Mrs. Edgar Worth who has been the guest of friends in Toronto, returned home yesterday.

Mrs. Barnet, St. Catharines, who has been the guest of her daughter, Mrs. Knight, Hunter St., has returned home.

The Misses Jenkins announce the engagement of their niece, Annie Muriel, youngest daughter of the late F. J. Somerville, C.E., of Toronto, to Mr. John W. Gomer, of the Canadian Bank of Commerce, son of Mr. Wm. Gomer, Budlake, Exeter, England. The wedding to take place quietly in January.

Miss Helen Davidson is in Toronto, the guest of Mrs. Yeris Rverson.

Mrs. W. H. Robertson, Fenelon Falls, is the guest of friends in the city.

Mr. and Mrs. Chas. Goulais, of Montreal, are visiting relatives in the city.

Mr. Chas. King and Mrs. King, of Swift Current, Sask., are visiting Mr. King's sister, Mrs. Tims, Charlotte Street, for a few days, having made their journey via Minneapolis and Chicago. Mr. King has not been here for eleven years, and notices great changes.

Mr. and Mrs. D. L. Harvie and son Allin, of Port Colborne, Ont., are the guests, for the holiday season, of Mr. Harvie's sister, Mrs. A. B. Cunningham, 331 Reid Street.

Capt. J. M. Thomson, Paymaster of the 247th Battalion, and his bride, are guests at the Oriental for a short time, after which they will take up residence in Fleming Place.

Dr. Russel Patterson is spending the Xmas vacation at his home, 675 Water street.

BROCK ST. RINK TO-NIGHT

Grand Ice for Skating. Best of the season so far. Band in attendance. Admission 15c and 1c war tax. Bring a copper please

THE RECORD OF OUR NAVY

Sea power has never been employed with such unalloyed success; never before has a maritime country been controlled, as Germany has been controlled, with an iron dominion that has prevented it floating a keel on any of the oceans of the world. Nor is that all. Under the guardianship of the fleet, we have carried out transport operations unprecedented in their character. Seven million soldiers and others have been carried overseas, in many instances making voyages of several thousand miles, apart from 1,250,000 horses, and 7,000,000 tons of supplies and ammunition. This country has also been fed from the sea, and communications with the Dominions and with neutral markets, have been maintained. Above all, the Navy without a day's intermission, has offered a threat to the second greatest sea power, sheltering his ships behind mines and costal defences, and has prevented him from carrying out his widely-advertised design of invading this country. That in brief summary, is the record of the Navy.—London Telegraph.

IF YOU want to BUILD UP YOUR BUSINESS, you must USE THE PAPER that goes into the Home.

The Messiah
IN
St. Paul's Church
ON THE EVENING OF Tuesday,
JANUARY 2nd, 1917

CHEAPER THAN CARPET

I will furnish complete, wax and polish a quarter cut oak floor at lower cost per square foot than carpet.

Other floorings cheaper. Consult me for house plans, remodelling, estimates, etc.

Special Prices for Winter Work.

A. B. CUNNINGHAM
331 REID STREET PHONE 124

Is Your Knife Ready for the Next Carving?

"It's easy enough now"

Some folks call carving an art, but a sharp knife makes it easy for anyone. The slices "simply fall off" when the knife is sharpened on a

PIKE INDIA KANTBREAK KNIFE SHARPENER

Gives the keenest kind of a knife edge in the shortest possible time. Keeps kitchen, paring and carving knives in top-notch cutting trim. Handsomely finished, rubber-mounted and reinforced by a steel rod that makes breaking an impossibility. Needed in every home and butcher shop. Costs much less than you think. Fully Guaranteed. Come in and see one. We also sell other Pike sharpening specialties.

Price 50c

PETERBORO HARDWARE Co
LIMITED

City and General

Broken auto cylinders, machinery and stoves welded, by the new Oxo Acetylene Process. Anything in iron, steel or aluminum made as good as new, not patched up. Millard's Bicycle Shop, Hunter street, near Aylmer.

PROBABILITIES.

Fair and decidedly cold to-night and on Saturday. Local snow.

DENTAL.

Dr. McKenty, Dentist, 370 George Street, on the ground floor, first door north of Peterborough Hardware Company. Nitrous oxide and oxygen administered for painless operations. 28d-12t

CLEANING, PRESSING AND REPAIRING.

'Phone 1416 for Cleaning, Pressing and Repairing. Goods called for and delivered promptly. Mrs. Read, 139 Rubidge Street. dtf

ANNUAL S. S. FESTIVAL.

The annual Sunday School Festival of the Murray St. Baptist Church, will be held this evening. Tea will be served at 6 o'clock followed by a very fine programme. The parents are all urged to be present.

1916 BROKEN PROMISES.

When retrospection fills you with remorse, remember that your failures may be rectified in 1917. Make a promise to give your office help better facilities for doing your work by securing the BEST TYPEWRITERS — the kind that Nelson sells. We sell all makes, manufactured. NELSONS for all office needs. We make a specialty of typewriting letters—while you wait. OPPOSITE ORIENTAL.

Stop that Cough!

TAKE

Pinol

A healing Remedy Compound of White Pine Compound with Eucalyptol & Menthol

A prompt relief for Coughs and Colds Bronchitis Sore Throat, Asthma and other diseases of the Respiratory Organs.

For sale only at

THE WARNE DRUG CO., LTD.

251 George St. Phone 537

GROUP PICTURES

Good time now when the visitors are at home for the holidays to have a group Picture taken. Make arrangements to sit at—

370½ George Street — Parkside Studio — Phone No. 45

OBITUARY

ISABELLA STENSON WHITE.

On Thursday afternoon, December 28th, 1916, a lady who has been a resident of Peterborough for three quarters of a century, passed away—Isabella Stenson White, widow of the late James White. The death took place at the Nicholls Hospital from the effects of a paralytic seizure. Mrs. White, who was 77 years of age, was a native of Monaghan, Ireland, from which place she came to Peterborough with the family of her father, the late Robert Stenson, at the age of two years. She was married to James White, who carried on a manufacturing business in Peterborough, and for some time in Campbellford, and died a few years ago. Mrs. White has lived her life in Peterborough, enjoying universal respect and esteem for her many good qualities of heart and geniality of disposition. It has been the good fortune of few to attract and hold as many warm friends and admirers as Mrs. White did during her long life in Peterborough. She was a faithful member of St. Paul's Church. She leaves behind no immediate relatives, her only brother, the late James Stenson, predecasing her about six years ago.

Funeral from the late residence, 208 Charlotte street, on Saturday afternoon at 2.30 p.m., religious service at the home at 2 o'clock.

Brig. Southall Here For the Week-end

Brigadier and Mrs. Southall will arrive to-morrow on the afternoon train from Montreal, and will spend a busy week-end at the Temple on Sunson Street. A great welcome meeting at 8 o'clock, Saturday night; at 11 o'clock Sunday, a Holiness meeting; at 3 o'clock, a lecture, entitled "Broken Earthenware"; a salvation meeting at 7 o'clock; watch-night service at 10.30, and will leave for Montreal on the midnight.

Both Band and Songsters will be in full attendance, both Saturday and Sunday, and a splendid week-end is expected.

A very special meeting will take place on New Year's night. Announcement made to-morrow.

RECEPTION AT MOUNT ST. JOSEPH

This morning the Chapel of the Sacred Heart was thronged with friends and relations of the eleven young ladies who received the Holy habit of the Order of St. Joseph. His Lordship Rt. Rev. M. J. O'Brien celebrated mass at nine o'clock assisted by Rev. Father Quilty. The Rev. J. V. McCauley of the Sacred Heart preached a beautiful and eloquent sermon. The candidates who were received were:

Miss Gertrude Dorling, Douglas, Ont., in religion Sister Mary St. Desmond.

Miss May Callaghan, Peterborough, Sister Mary Eileen.

Miss Gertrude Ajnew, Douglas, Ont., Sister Mary Blanida.

Miss Mary Crough, Enniskmore, Sister Miriam.

Miss Hattie Crough, Enniskmore, Sister Mary St. Mark.

Miss Irene O'Reilly, Lindsay, Sister Mary Dominica.

Miss Mary Windle, Douglas, Ont., Sister Mary Edwina.

Miss Mary Fitzgerald, Peterborough, Sister Mary St. Redmond.

Miss Agnes Healy, Richmond, Que., Sister Mary St. Lucile.

Mlle Marie Aubry, Montreal, Sister St. Albert.

Miss Gertrude Chamberlain, Ottawa, Sister Mary St. Denis.

The visiting clergy in the Sanctuary were Rt. Rev. Monsignor Casey, Lindsay; Rev. Father McGuire, Enniskmore, Dean McColl, East City, Rev. J. J. Quilty, Douglas, Father Galvin, Derrynville, and Fathers McHugh, John O'Brien, McCauley and Collins of Peterborough.

Dec 30 - 1916

MISSING

Evening Examiner

JANUARY

1917

12 Pages

The Evening Examiner

VOL. LVIII No. 1 PETERBOROUGH TUESDAY, JANUARY 2, 1917 PRICE TWO CENTS

LIVERY
FOUNTAIN'S LIVERY FOR BEST DRIVING HORSES IN THE CITY. AUTOS AND TAXIS FOR HIRE. CAREFUL DRIVERS AND GOOD SERVICE. 'PHONE 702. 193 HUNTER

Family Re-unions

The picture your friends want to have is the one you see in the mirror on New Year's Morn.

When Family Gathering and Friendships Chums come together is an opportune time to have Group Photos taken, that you may not be able to arrange for again.

If the boy or girl is home get busy and make an appointment by call or phone.

Ivey

140½ Hunter Street

KITCHENER, ONTARIO, UNDER MARTIAL LAW

Britain Sends Envoy to Venizelos Governm'nt

Great Britain Sends Envoy To Venizelos

SPECIAL TO THE EXAMINER:

LONDON, Jan. 2.—Great Britain sends an envoy to the Venizelos Government at Saloniki.

Radials and Power By-laws Carried In Toronto

SPECIAL TO THE EXAMINER:

TORONTO, Jan. 2.—Toronto Radials and power by-laws carried by overwhelming majority. O'Neil, Cameron, Foster and Shaw elected for the Board of Control.

Board Disagrees With Dr. Bruce

SPECIAL TO THE EXAMINER:

LONDON, Eng., Jan. 2.—The London Board of Inquiry disagrees with Dr. Bruce regarding the concentration of Canadian sick and wounded.

Activity on the Western Front

Special to The Examiner:

PARIS, Jan. 2.—Severe artillery duel on all parts of the western front. French attack at several points taking some machine guns and prisoners. Weather prevents extensive attacks.

Eating War Bread In Great Britain

SPECIAL TO THE EXAMINER:

LONDON, Jan. 2.—Britain began eating war bread yesterday. Thousands of previously exempted men don the khaki for the first time yesterday.

Kitchener Under Martial Law

SPECIAL TO THE EXAMINER:

KITCHENER, Jan. 2.—Citizens' League sweeps the election and starts riot. The city was under martial law last night.

This Year Will End the War

SPECIAL TO THE EXAMINER:

LONDON, Jan. 2.—This year will end the war with victory for the Allies say British military critics today.

Roumanian Fort Is In Danger

SPECIAL TO THE EXAMINER:

LONDON, Jan. 2.—Braila, one of Roumania's greatest grain ports, is probably within range of Mackensen's guns.

AUCTION SALE OF FARM STOCK AND IMPLEMENTS

Ennismore Farmer Will Hold Sale on Wednesday, January 3rd

Mr. Robt. McKee announces that he will sell by public auction on Wednesday, Jan. 3rd on his farm, Lot 1, Con. 2, Ennismore, all his farm stock and implements, without reserve, as he is giving up farming. 2d-1tf

Canadian Prestige Higher Than Ever 1916 A Banner Year

Dominion at Beginning of New Year Enjoys a National Prestige and Material Prosperity That Not Even the Most Optimistic Would Have Prophesied Two Years Ago—Sold $474,863,094 More Than She Bought Last Year.

OTTAWA, Dec. 30.—After two and a half years of war Canada, at the end of 1916 enjoys a national prestige, and material prosperity such as not even the most optimistic would have predicted for her, under like conditions, at the end of 1914. She stands high among the nations as a fighting power; her credit, even after heavy borrowings, is unimpaired; and her people are well-to-do. An unmilitary people when the war commenced, the banners of her troops now bear the names of battles which for intensity, and for gallantry displayed therein will rank with the greatest in history. A nation which before the commencement of the war was wont to look for the capital to the money markets of Europe, she is now finding that capital at home, and has for a year past been financing for Great Britain the great bulk of that country's war purchases within her borders. A country whose imports in former years for exceeded her exports, she now finds herself with a heavy trade balance in her favour.

So far as trade is an indication of prosperity Canada is prosperous at the end of the present year. The total trade figures for the twelve months ended with November are just available. Canada's aggregate trade during that period, exclusive of coin and bullion, amounted to the enormous sum of $1,817,906,945, as against $1,033,991,872 for the corresponding twelve month preceding, or an increase of $773,917,173. Imports for the twelve months totalled $744,403,345, an increase over the preceding period of $309,153,379. Exports totalled $1,073,503,600, an increase of $474,863,094.

Favourable Trade Balance.

During the twelve months ending with November, the Dominion sold $474,863,094 more than she purchased. This represents the extent of her favourable trade balance. For the tremendous increase in exports, manufactured articles (including of course war materials) and agricultural products are chiefly responsible. For the very considerable increase in imports raw materials for war munitions, and other articles must be held patly responsible. An analysis of import statistics, however indicates but little curtailment on the part of Canadians in the purchase of commodities which are now considered as luxuries in the United Kingdom, and banned as such.

The total duty collected during the twelve months was $136,156,221, as against $87,618,645 for the corresponding period preceding, or an increase of $48,540,566.

In the meantime the Dominion has been incurring heavy liabilities as a result of her participation in the war. The net debt of the Dominion at the beginning of the war amounted to something in the neighbourhood of $330,000,000. At the end of November last year it had mounted to $501,688,167, and at the end of November this year it had mounted to $708,128,088. In other words it has just about doubled since the war commenced. The increase since the commencement of the war represents just about the amount of the Dominion's war expenditure from that date. For the first eight months of the present fiscal year a total of $140,527,530 has been recorded as having been spent on war. This, however, does not include amounts spent on behalf of the Dominion's troops overseas by Great Britain an accounting of which must be made later on.

Expropriation for Coming Year.

For the coming fiscal year it is estimated that upwards of $300,000,000 will have to be appropriated for war. In that case the net debt of the Dominion by the end of the coming fiscal year will have pretty well reached the billion-dollar mark. This will mean that the Dominion will be faced with interest charges approximating fifty millions. When pensions and sinking funds are added to the Dominion will have fixed charges to meet amounting to well over seventy-five millions, or over half the revenue of the country in normal years.

At the present time, however, the revenue returns of the Dominion are the greatest in her history. For the first eight months of the current fiscal year here came to the Treasury from the various sources of revenue no less a sum than $144,923,573, as against $104,756,503 for the corresponding period last year. This represents an increase of forty million dollars. For that increase Customs was responsible for 26 millions, excise for two millions, Post-Office for about a million, public work for about four million, public miscellaneous sources for about six millions.

Domestic expenditures have been slightly curtailed. Ordinary or consolidated expenditures for the first eight months of the fiscal year totalled something over 69 millions, which is an increase of about four millions over the expenditures for the corresponding period last year, but expenditures under Capital Account amounted to only about 16 millions, which is a decrease of about seven million dollars. There was thus a retrenchment of something over three million dollars during that period. This, coupled with the increase in revenue, would indicate a net betterment (exclusive of war) of about 43 millions in the Dominion's finances during the period. At the present rate of going Canada should have fifty millions from revenue to be applied to war at the end of the present fiscal year. This will be the first time revenue returns have been applied to war expenditures.

So much for the material and commercial progress of the Dominion during the year.

381,438 Recruits.

From the military standpoint the Dominion during the year has played no mean part. Up to December 15 of this year a total of 381,438 recruits had been raised in Canada since the beginning of the war for service in the expeditionary forces and of those upwards of 250,000 have already gone overseas, over half of whom have seen active service. Of the total number so far recruited, 1916 has been responsible for the very considerable number of 176,020, or nearly half of the total raised since the war commenced. Recruiting, however, has fallen off very considerably during the last few months as may be seen by the fact that the total enlistments for November last were only 6,548, while the enlistments for the first month of the year totalled 20,219.

In the course of the year the Canadian troops have won further renown in the bloody fighting at St. Eloi, and Zillebeke, where they again withstood the hammering of the Prussian hordes along the 'Road to Calais.' In these engagements the Canadians sustained heavy casualties estimated at from 13,000 to 14,000 in July and September the Canadian forces were relieved from the terrible task of defending the Ypres salient, and changed their role from the defensive to the offensive on the Somme. On that now famous front they took their part with the Imperial and French troops, and with their brother colonials, and proved themselves to be as good at taking ground as they had been in holding it. To the credit of the Canadians fell the taking of the sugar factory at Courcelette, the storming of Schwaben Redoubt, and of Regina and Desire trenches, while they won renown in other actions which history will later chronicle.

Casualties Total 70,000.

Canadian casualties to date number about seventy thousand, of these about 11,000 are killed in action and about four thousand died of wounds, and sickness. As an indication of the strenuous nature of the fighting on the Somme it may be noted that 46,000 of the total casualties sustained since the war commenced were recorded since June last. In October alone the Canadians lost fifteen thousand men in killed, wounded and missing.

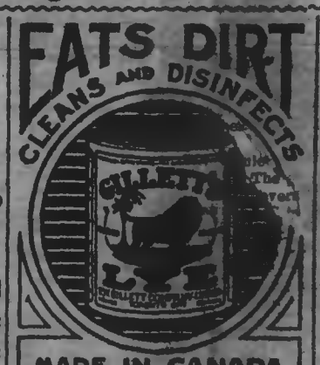
It is now estimated that fifty per cent. of the wounded are being 'reclaimed' for further service, and that about a battalion a month is being sent back to the front from the casualty depots.

A year ago something like 3,000 Canadian soldiers had been turned over to the Dominion Hospital Commission from England as being unfit for further service. Their number has now increased to 8,200. Of these 277 were suffering from tuberculosis, 169 were recorded as insane; 1,540 had been wounded, gassed, or shell-shocked; and 6,410 were suffering from other diseases or disabilities. There are now under treatment in the Convalescent Homes and Sanitoriums in the Dominion about 2,700 men.

Business From the Allies.

Directly connected with the war is the business which Canada has secured from the allied nations. No approximation of the value of this is available, but it is safe to say that it far exceeds the Dominion's actual expenditure on account of the war. The amount being spent on munitions alone is estimated by J. W. Flavelle as being about four times the amount spent by the Federal Government in normal times. In addition to that a large proportion of the money spent on Canada's troops during the year remained in Canada.

No article dealing with the material condition of the Dominion during the past year, or outlining the part which her people are playing in the war would be complete without reference to the $150,000,000 domestic war loan raised in the Dominion last summer.



The Elections In North Monaghan

H. Rye Will Head the 1917 Council —South Monaghan and Ennismore Elections

Mr. Harold Rye of North Monaghan was elected Reeve of that municipality by a majority of six over McIntosh. The vote was as follows:

Poll Sub-Div.	McIntosh	Rye
Grady's	45	141
Town Hall	91	4
May's school house	82	79
Totals	218	294

Majority for Rye, 6.

For Deputy Reeve.

	Bell	Robson
Grady's	151	36
Town Hall	13	69
May's school house	84	73
Totals	248	196

South Monaghan.

The South Monaghan elections resulted in the election of John Greer for reeve and H. BBarnett, S. Robinson, J. McRoberts and M. Wallan for Councillors.

Ennismore.

John Young was elected Reeve of Ennismore by a majority of twenty-one. The Councillors for 1917 are C. Telford, P. Crowley, W. Harrington and J. Sullivan.

Berlin's Peace Hopes Dispersed

Summary of Berlin Press Opinion Respecting the Allies' Note

SPECIAL TO THE EXAMINER:

BERLIN, Jan. 2.—Berlin's peace hopes are dispersed. Now it is war to the last drop of human blood. The Allies' note is not deserving of a written rejoinder. This is a summary of Berlin press opinion—and it typifies the opinion of the men in the street.

There is apparently a unanimous decision that Germany's only answer to the Allies' rejection of peace must be by force of arms under Hindenburg's leadership.

Privately the editor of Berlin newspapers are even more bitter in their denunciation of the Entente's course than their printed statements.

A WEAK SPOT.

Where the heart is weak or [illegible] [illegible] [illegible]

Prepare This for a Bad Cough—It's Fine

Cheaply and Easily Made, but Does the Work Quickly.

The finest cough syrup that money can buy—costing only about one-fifth as much as ready-made preparations—can easily be made up at home. The way it takes hold and conquers distressing coughs, throat and chest colds will really make you enthusiastic about it.

Any druggist can supply you with 2½ ounces of Pinex (50 cents worth). Pour this into a 16-oz. bottle and fill the bottle with plain granulated sugar syrup. Shake thoroughly and it is ready for use. The total cost is about 54 cents and gives you 16 ounces—a family supply—of a most effectual, pleasant tasting remedy. It keeps perfectly.

It's truly astonishing how quickly it acts, penetrating through every air passage of the throat and lungs—loosens and raises the phlegm, soothes and heals the inflamed or swollen throat membranes, and gradually but surely the annoying throat tickle and dreaded cough will disappear entirely. Nothing better for bronchitis, spasmodic croup, whooping cough or bronchial asthma.

Pinex is a special and highly concentrated compound of genuine Norway pine extract, combined with guaiacol and is known the world over for its prompt healing effect on the throat membranes.

Avoid disappointment by asking your druggist for "2½ ounces of Pinex" with full directions and don't accept anything else. A guarantee of absolute satisfaction or money promptly refunded goes with this preparation. The Pinex Co., Toronto, Ont.

ADVERTISING RATES

Measurement, Agate, 14 lines One Inch

Transient Display ..... 25c per inch
Transient Reading ... . 50c per inch

Minimum Contract Rate for Display, 1,500 inch Contract, 15c per inch
Minimum Contract Rate for Readers, 25c per inch.

Legal and other notices, 8c per line for first insertion; 4c per line for subsequent insertions.

CONDENSED ADVERTISEMENTS.

Minimum charge 15c, of 15 per word for first insertion; ½c per word for subsequent insertions. Add 10c to cover postage or reption, if out of town.

BIRTHS, MARRIAGES AND DEATHS

Daily Examiner 25c
Daily and Weekly Examiner 50c

All advertisements subject to the approval of the Management.

Address:

THE EXAMINER, PETERBOROUGH

PERSONAL.

ADVERTISERS ARE REMINDED THAT IT is contrary to the provisions of the postal law to deliver letters addressed to initials only; an advertiser desiring to conceal his or her identity may accomplish do so by having replies directed to a Box at this office; ten cents added to the cost of advertisement will ensure the forwarding of letters to any out-of-town address.

Railway Time Tables

GRAND TRUNK RAILWAY.
CORRECTED JUNE 6, 1916.

7.00 a.m.—For Lakefield.
8.10 a.m.—For Port Hope, Cobourg and points east, connecting at Port Hope for Toronto, arriving at Toronto at 11.05 a.m.
8.25 a.m.—For Hastings, Campbellford, Sterling, Madoc, Belleville, Deseronto, Napanee, Kingston, Brockville, Montreal.
8.30 a.m.—For Lindsay, Orillia, Collingwood, Midland, Penetanguishene, North Bay, Toronto, Hamilton, Niagara.
11.40 a.m.—Mid-day express for Toronto, reaching Toronto at 3.15 p.m.
12.20 p.m.—For Lakefield.
11.40 a.m.—For Millbrook, Port Hope and all points on the main line, east and west. Close connections at Port Hope with International Limited for Toronto, Detroit and Chicago.
1.30 p.m.—For Hastings, Campbellford, Sterling, Madoc, Belleville, Deseronto, Napanee, Kingston and Brockville.
3.35 p.m.—For Lindsay, Orillia, Midland, North Bay, Toronto, Hamilton, Niagara Falls, Buffalo, New York.
5.00 p.m.—For Lakefield.
5.45 p.m.—Local for Lindsay.
9.05 p.m.—For Millbrook, Port Hope, Belleville, Kingston, Brockville, Montreal and Boston.

CANADIAN PACIFIC RAILWAY.
CORRECTED JUNE 5, 1916.

2.50 p.m.—Indian River, Norwood, Havelock and Tweed.
*12.12 a.m.—Kingston, Smith's Falls, Ottawa, Montreal, Quebec, St. John, N.B., Boston, and New York.
*1.20 a.m.—Norwood, Havelock, Tweed Perth, Smith's Falls and Ottawa.
11.27 a.m.—Norwood, Havelock, Tweed, Perth, Smith's Falls, Ottawa, Montreal and intermediate points and all points east of Montreal.

GOING WEST.—
*4.18 a.m.—Toronto, Owen Sound, Guelph, Goderich, Hamilton, Buffalo, New York, Galt, Woodstock, St. Thomas, London, Chatham, Detroit and Chicago.
*1.34 a.m.—Myrtle and North Toronto.
7.35 a.m.—Toronto, Hamilton, Buffalo, Rochester and New York, Intermediate points between Peterborough and Toronto.
9.15 a.m.—Lindsay, Orillia, Port McNichol and intermediate points
3.43 p.m.—Toronto, Hamilton, Brantford, Buffalo, New York, Guelph, Galt, Woodstock, London, Detroit and Chicago.
9.45 p.m.—North Toronto and West Toronto and intermediate points
*Daily Daily except Sunday.

TELEPHONE 790
WHEN YOU WANT YOUR
Piano or Organ Tuned
ALL WORK GUARANTEED
W. E. Cunningham, 543 Weller St.

SPEND YOUR MONEY FOR THE GOODS AS ADVERTISED IN THE EXAMINER

OUR SERIAL STORY

"DESTINY"

By CHARLES NEVILLE BUCK

(Continued from yesterday.)

"Do you suppose," inquired Hamilton Burton, his eyes narrowing until they held a homicidal gleam, "that I shall permit you to leave my house—with him?"

Mary laughed, then suddenly her voice rose fiercely, ignoring his question. "You say, Hamilton, it is to be war. I shall start the war—now. Jefferson, please find Len Haswell's telephone number. I'm going to give him warning."

With an exclamation of incoherent fury Hamilton Burton leaped for the telephone and tore it loose from its wires. He hurled the broken instrument clattering to the floor and the directory into the flames. Then he stood stood above the wreckage with his feet apart and his hands clenching and unclenching in a panting picture of demoniac rage.

Mary laughed as one might laugh at the passion of a child. "After all there are other telephones," she said, then added quietly, "You will find in my rooms all the gifts you have loaded upon me. Unfortunately I should have to go out of your house naked if I left behind me everything that has come from you. Will you ring for my maid?"

For a moment the financier stood glaring and silent; then with a powerful struggle for self-mastery he went over and touched a bell. "I can't use physical force against my sister," he said. "You are of age, and your own mistress, but if you make common cause with my enemies, you become my enemy yourself."

When Harrow responded to the call, only the broken telephone bore evidence of the violence of the past few minutes.

"Please ask Julie," instructed the girl quietly, "to pack a bag for me and one for herself. I shall only need enough things for a day or two. Ask her to hurry."

For several minutes the three stood without further speech, and when the brother broke the silence it was in an altered tone.

"Mary," he said seriously, "your happiness is very dear to me. For nothing else would I let any differences between us amount to an issue. For God's sake, forego this mad idea. You are disrupting a family for whose upbuilding I have fought with a very fierce singleness of purpose."

"And to what end?" she demanded, with blazing eyes. "Of my father you have made an artificial gentleman—and once he was a real man. To my mother you have given luxuries instead of life. Paul you have turned into a society lap-dog, and now by adding your strength to his weakness you are trying to make him a beast of prey."

"Those are very bitter accusations," he answered gravely. His face was set, but shame for his recent outburst safeguarded him for the moment against a second.

Harrow appeared after a short time to announce that the maid was ready, and Mary rose from her seat. "Good-by, Hamilton," she said.

"Will you at least go to my mother's house?" he questioned.

"Mother's house is as much your house as this one. No, I shall go where Jefferson Edwardes chooses to take me."

"Then, by God Almighty, you will not go at all!"

Hamilton Burton took his place at the door, and stood barring their way while a dangerous gleam came into Edwardes' eyes. Mary spoke very coldly.

"Hamilton, please let us pass. It would be a pity to edify your servants with a physical collision."

Over the taut whiteness of the brother's face went a wave of doubt. He recognized confronting him a spirit as indomitable as his own. Somehow his arrogance, under her gaze, withered and shrunk into a cheap bravado, and he realized it as such. He spoke once more and his words came slowly.

"I shall not use force. It is, of course, for you to decide. I have perhaps loved you better than other members of my family. My pride in you has been triumphant. That man who stands at your side came into my house and poisoned your heart against me. He is a traitor and I have marked him for ruin. Decide between us, calmly, Mary, because when I resolve I do not deviate."

"I have already decided," she answered. "Please let us pass."

He drew aside and stood there motionless as the street door opened and closed. Afterward he walked slowly back into the room and stood restlessly on the great bear pelt, gazing into the cavernous hearth. Then he dropped down into the tall Moorish chair where a little while before his sister had been sitting, her eyes brimming with joy. He leaned forward and his hands fell limp from the wrists that rested limp on his knees. Something had gone suddenly out of Hamilton Burton. The eyes that stared into the blaze were, for the first time, a trace of that fatigue and distress which portraits show in the eyes looking out from St. Helena. Mary was gone; gone with his enemy to fight under his enemy's colours! Her motive bewildered him. What was this love that so powerfully impelled her to desert her own blood? Suddenly his mind flashed back to a kitchen tableau of a small girl breaking into a sudden tempest of tears, and a boy saying, "I mean to see that Mary gets whatever she wants out of life." Then quite irrelevantly a fragment of verse leaped into his memory and prickled it with irritation.

"The Emperor there in his box of state, looked grave as though he had just then seen,
The red flags fly from the city gates,
where his eagles of bronze had been."

His gaze dropped to the white fur of the rug and abstractedly he picked up his sister's riding-crop and one glove. She had dropped them when Jefferson Edwardes placed the ring on her finger. Hamilton turned the things over in his hand a groan escaped him. Then suddenly that mood vanished. He rose and paced the floor like a lion lashing itself into fury, and his eyes were fiercely tawny as he paced.

Well, she had chosen. One thing remained possible. The man responsible for this greatest sorrow and humiliation with which he had ever been visited should pay in full the score of reprisal.

With an abrupt impulse he sent for Paul and he was still pacing the room with quick, nervous strides when his brother arrived. The younger man's face was haggard and he cast a quick glance of trepidation about the room.

"Where's Mary?" he demanded, and Hamilton wheeled on him with eyes that were scarcely sane.

"Gone?" he barked out. "Gone with that rat, Edwardes. That's one of the things your whim has cost so far—your baby-doll—your toy-woman."

With a sudden cry that came from his heart, Paul dropped into a chair and covered his face with his hands. His shoulders shook to his convulsive sobbing, and after a moment Hamilton went over and laid a hand on his shoulder.

"Forgive me, little brother," he said softly. "After all, Edwardes was the real reason. Edwardes with his damned self-righteousness! Mary flew virtuously to his standards. She is no longer my sister, Paul."

But Paul rose with his face full of pleading. He talked rapidly, excitedly, like a frightened child.

"Hamilton, she is our sister. She loves him. . . . You promised her happiness years ago. . . . You can't let her go like this. It will kill us all."

His elder brother thrust him back at arm's length and gazed into his grief-stricken face. "It's not a question of letting her go. She went in spite of me. She went to the enemy." The words came very bitterly and for the first time in his life Paul saw tears in Hamilton's eyes.

The financier rose and passed an unsteady hand over his brow. "I'm thinking about mother," he said brokenly. "I must go up and be with her when she learns."

Hamilton wheeled, speaking quickly. "Yes, do. I shall follow you shortly. Tell mother that I withheld my approval to this marriage, and they took the bit in their teeth."

Within the half-hour Carl Bristoll, Ruferton and Tarring were with their chief and between them lay sheafs of memoranda, and financial data, which littered the table.

"I want to know in exact detail," Hamilton Burton told them as his glance burned into their faces, "everything that it is possible to learn concerning the firm of Edwardes and Edwardes. Most particularly I want to learn their points of greatest vulnerability. I must have lists of those securities in which, directly or indirectly, they are most vitally interested and the exact nature and extent of all their liabilities."

* * * * *

Outside, Jefferson Edwardes found his car waiting, and the realization came ironically to his mind that it was precisely the hour he had expected to leave Hamilton Burton's house—though his intention had been to leave only long enough to change his evening clothes and return for dinner. To his chauffeur he said in a low voice, "Drive in the park until I tell you to stop." Then as he took his seat beside the girl he turned upon her very serious eyes and said resolutely, "I couldn't debate this with you in his presence, Mary, but I can't marry you to-night."

She turned her face to him and the colour left her cheeks.

"Not marry me?" she questioned in a dazed voice.

"Not yet, dearest. Under other circumstances no time could be too soon, but now——" He raised his hands in a gesture of weariness and sat looking at her with a hunger of the heart.

"Now what?" she prompted.

"Now I am pledged to a life-and-death duel with your brother. Now I must fight not only my fight, but that of many others. It is foolish to treat lightly the threats of Hamilton Burton. His power is incalculable and his implacability is absolute. I can't tear away every family tie that is rooted in your life merely to make you my comrade in ruin. That is not my idea of loving, dearest."

"And if not that—what?" Her chin was raised and her lips parted. Her voice was very soft, almost faint. Never, Edwardes thought, had she been so beautiful. "I have left my brother's house to go with you. I shall not return. Am I, then, to find myself like a beggar woman, with no place to go except the streets of New York?"

With a gasping exclamation of pain in his throat he bent forward and seized her in his arms. The car was now in the park and between the light globes were spaces of darkness.

"For God's sake," he cried, "don't. It is because I love you so!"

"I think, Jefferson," she answered as he held her close with his kisses on her cheeks, "you need me as much as I need you."

"Need you! Because I need you so much, I can't let you do this now."

"You spoke just now," she said, "as though you had no hope of victory in this warfare. If that is true you need me to help you fight. I have no intention of tame submission. You must have a Burton to fight this Burton."

"If I spoke so," he declared, and his voice was far from submissive, "it was because any chance of ruin is too great a chance to subject you to. It is because I mean to defend myself and my clients and my honour to the last breath that I say I can't marry you now. Certainly not until you have considered these new occurrences. I shall take small pleasure in his overthrow, if I overthrow him, because he is your brother."

"I think," her eyes flashed into a fierce animosity, "I shall glory in it. I know that I shall not go back to his support. I offer myself to you. I cannot compel you."

For a long while they talked, she resolved to fight his fight with him or take off his ring; and he, in a torture of soul, refusing so great a gift at so ruinous a cost to herself. At last it was arranged that she should go to her mother's until she had made up her mind, and they should both accept an invitation for a week at the hunting lodge of friends in the Adirondacks. There, except for their host and hostess, they would be alone and Edwardes might have a breathing space before his battle.

There they tramped together on snowshoes over white-mantled hills and forgot that any shadow threatened their happiness. They drank deep of air that was spicy with the fragrance of pines and because to them the present seemed so perfect they refused to borrow fears from the future.

Sometimes the man would see a vagrant shadow of foreboding steal into the mismated eyes, when Mary became aware of its recognition in his own, it was always swiftly banished for one of serene happiness and confidence.

"Dearest," he told her at such a moment—it was the moment of candle-lighting, when dusk brings shadows of fear, "why heed the rumble of the distant drum?" We love each other, and when my fight is over no one shall part us."

And she in the circle of his arms looked up and laughed and they both banished from their hearts all thought of Hamilton Burton.

At her mother's house before she came away, Mary had talked to Paul, and had won his weak promise that he would permit his brother to take no dishonourable step toward freeing Lorraine Haswell. So she had not kept her threat of warning the husband, and after she had returned to town, her mother fell ill, and in the first call of loyalty there Mary remained with her. About this time she read that Lorraine had gone to Europe, and had gone alone.

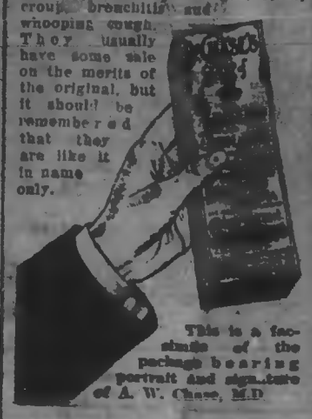
Days had passed into weeks and Hamilton Burton had struck no blow. Mary had begun to believe that he meant to strike none, and her lover encouraged that view, but he himself knew that it was a phantom hope. He knew that the arch master of financial strategy was building and strengthening every sinew of war, and that the crushing impact of his attack would be only the more terrific because he had curbed his impatience and held his hand until the exact fraction of the psychological moment.

(To be continued.)

Flattering to the Original

But Imitations Only Disappoint

There are many imitations of this great treatment for coughs, colds, croup, bronchitis and whooping cough. They usually have some sale on the merits of the original, but it should be remembered that they are like it in name only.



This is a facsimile of the package bearing portrait and signature of A. W. Chase, M.D

FELL FROM LOFT, HURT, THEN WELL

How a Man Who Landed on Woodpile and was Sore From Head to Foot Found Quick Relief

Once upon a time Edwin Putnam, who lives in the quiet, pretty hamlet of Wendel Depot, Mass., climbed up into a loft to get some building material, just as many another man living in the country must often do. Suddenly he slipped and fell. Ten feet below was a pile of wood; knotted and gnarled it was a nasty tumble, and Mr. Putnam was injured painfully in the back; he was covered with bruises, and was sore from head to foot.

The next day he bought a bottle of Sloan's Liniment which had been recommended to him. Within a very few hours the soreness had vanished and the lameness had disappeared. He was an active man once more.

Sloan's Liniment can be obtained at all drug stores, price 35c, 70c and $1.40.

Sloan's Liniment KILLS PAIN

The Great Body-Builder—

BOVRIL

On sale at all DRUGGISTS and STORES.

Call for it at the FOUNTAIN or RESTAURANT.

(2)

Trade Opportunities in West Indies.

Mr. James E. Dobbs, who as a representative of the Canada India League, spent ten weeks in the British West Indies and in Trinidad in particular, has returned to Toronto firmly convinced that there are vast opportunities for the development of Canadian trade in the West Indies. There is there, Mr. Dobbs declares, a prevailing opinion that almost all sorts of Canadian products can find a ready market if advertised and sold by competent representatives who would see that the goods were prepared and packed to suit tropical conditions. The Canada India League is interested in bringing about a closer bond of sympathy among the colonies of the Empire and eliminating any social, religious, or racial prejudices which might exist, and Mr. Dobbs spent considerable time in Trinidad, where men from the East Indies form one-third of the population, in studying the social, commercial, and domestic life of the men from the East Indies. Mr. Dobbs formed the opinion that those men after perhaps three years at the outset came to understand that "While in Rome they must do as the Romans do," and adapted themselves to conditions.

Big Guns Bend.

One of the most serious problems of army and navy engineers is the bending of great guns by their own weight, wire wound guns being the worst offenders in this particular.

Ambiguous.

"You remember I missed you several times last year."

"Yes," said the guide.

"Well, I'm a better shot now."—Louisville Courier-Journal.

THE BRUTAL GERMANS.

Men in the Prison Camps Suffer Horrible Cruelties.

In spite of all the efforts of the Germans, revelations of the life in German prison camps occasionally leak out.

The following details of life in the prison camps of X—— and ?—— reached me, writes a correspondent to The Daily Sketch, from very sure sources. This was the daily routine:

"We got up at 6 a.m.," said the informant, "and were given our cup of 'war' coffee—mostly breadcrumbs and bad chickory—no milk, of course, and just a slice of black bread. We were forced then to stay outside until 11.30.

"It was very cold in winter. We used to be soaked through often with the sleet and rain, for the Germans had stolen all our coats; waterproofs, woollen jerseys, etc., when we were captured.

"One man had no shirt for months except a potato sack he had managed to procure.

"Outside in the prison yard we passed our time trying to dig up stray potatoes, for the yard had formerly been a potato field.

"An odd potato was a great find. We used to hunt round for scraps of wood, too, in case we got a chance to light a little fire.

"At 11.30 came the next meal, consisting of potatoes and water or carrots or turnips and water, a very small quantity for each man, and no meat, of course.

"When we had emptied our half-filled dish of this stuff, we used to line up at the cook-house door to see if there was some left over, each man in turn holding up his little dish.

"But we never knew when the cook, instead of pouring a little in, would turn the hose-pipe on the next man—his German way of showing there was no more to be had.

"The afternoon was spent much as the morning had been, and in watching for the bread cart, in the hope of being able to steal a loaf, for we were simply starving men, ready to risk our lives for bread.

"Many of us still bear the scars of bayonet wounds inflicted in the prison camps, sometimes for stealing a piece of bread, but as often for no reason at all.

"It was in another camp where conditions were pretty similar that I heard of a starving Russian soldier who parted with his military medal, his one treasure, the compensation for all he had endured, for a piece of bread.

"It was in this same camp that, moved with pity for the Russian prisoners who were suffering terribly, each British prisoner, as soon as his parcels from home began to arrive, took one Russian under his protection.

"Their sleeping accommodation, like that of the British and other prisoners, was simply a heap of rotten straw on the floor, a blanket, and any amount of lice."

"Worse," said another informant, "the Russians who had been driven out of the camp some time before and forced to work in the German mines had been literally worked to death, occasionally some were sent back, but only when the Germans found there was nothing more to be got out of them.

"A party who came back in 1916 were in a indescribable state, dragging themselves wearily along. We collected all the soap powders, condensed milk, tea—everything we could possibly spare out of our home parcels—for them. They were glad to get it, poor fellows, though many of them died before they could eat a mouthful.

"A favorite punishment was to make a man lie down flat in the dirtiest part of the courtyard on his face for hours at a time; and, of course, there was also the better-known one of tying a man up by his hands to a post—and then kicking away the block of wood beneath his feet on which he had been made to stand."

Tact.

Willie—Paw, what is tact? Paw—Tact is the art of making other people think they know more than you do, my son.—Cincinnati Enquirer.

He that will not be counseled cannot be helped.—German Proverb.

Unreasonable.

Mrs. Henrypeck (looking up from her reading)—This writer says that the widowed make the best wives. Mr. Henrypeck—But really, my dear, you can hardly expect me to die just in order to make a good wife of you.—Stray Stories.

Knew Him.

Howard—A thief got his money and soon parted. Mrs. Howard (clapping her hands)—Oh, John! How much are you going to give me?—Life.

No More Corns

CURE GUARANTEED

Never known to fail—acts without pain in 24 hours. Is soothing, healing, takes the sting right out. No remedy so quick, safe and sure as Putnam's Painless Corn Extractor. Sold everywhere—25c. per bottle.

Children Had Eczema Doctors Failed To Cure

Two Letters Which Prove the Efficiency of Dr. Chase's Ointment as a Cure for Eczema

Fortunate are the mothers who know the virtues of Dr. Chase's Ointment, for there is no treatment so suitable for use after the bath to relieve irritation and chafing and so thereby prevent eczema and similar skin diseases.

Mrs. W. L. Barnes, Timmins, Ont. writes: "I want to tell you about the case of my little boy, who had baby eczema when he was three months old. It started on the top of his head, on his forehead and around his ears. The doctors failed to do him any good, so I tried D. Chase's Ointment on the recommendation of a friend, and in a month's time the child was entirely free of this disagreeable skin disease. He is now four years old, and has never had any further trouble from ailments of this kind. I also have great faith in Dr. Chase's Nerve Food, and believe that it cannot be beaten as a restorative for pale, nervous women."

Mrs. George McNair, River Charles, N.B., writes:— "We use Dr. Chase's Ointment in our home, and would not wish for anything better for cuts, burns and bruises. A few years ago a friend of mine, whose baby was terribly afflicted with eczema had her child treated by their own family physician, but the little one got no better. They tried several remedies, but they all proved useless in this case. Upon the advise of a neighbour they got Dr. Chase's Ointment, and before the first box was used the child was completely cured. I can also recommend Dr. Chase's Nerve Food to suffering friends who I now will be glad to learn of something to relieve their nervous trouble. You have my permission to use this letter for the benefit of others."

Dr. Chase's Ointment 60 cents a box, all dealers, or Edmanson, Bates & Co., Limited, Toronto.

FOR SALE

LOTS

On The Late Senator Cox Homestead

Beautifully Situated

Easy Terms of Payment

Apply—437 GEORGE ST.

Good Results

Only can come from having your

PROPERTY INSURED

AGAINST LOSS BY FIRE

in the Most Reliable Companies.

Settlement of Losses, to which we give Personal attention are

PROMPT AND LIBERAL

You will find in our office the Strongest of the British, American and Canadian companies doing business in Canada.

Davis-Thompson Co., Limited

INSURANCE & GENERAL AGENCY

423 GEORGE STREET Phone 40

MONEY TO LOAN.

GORDON & WIDDIFIELD, Barristers, Solicitors, Notaries, Solicitors for the City of Peterborough.

MEDICAL

DR. BUCHANAN, F.R.C.S., Edin., M.R.C., Eng., L.R.C.P. London. Eye, Ear, Nose and Throat Specialist. Hours 9-11 a.m., 1-4 p.m., 7-8 p.m. 'Phone 649. Office: Corner of Water and Murray streets.

DR. L. E. HARVEY, Silver Medalist University of Toronto. Special attention to diseases of women and children. Office hours: 1:30 to 5 p.m., 7-9 p.m. 'Phone 222. Office 212 Brock Street.

DR. C. F. W. ROSS, Ex-House Surgeon, Grace Hospital, Toronto. Residence:—Keene, Ont. demo-40

BARRISTERS AND SOLICITORS

GORDON & WIDDIFIELD, Barristers, Solicitors, Notaries, Solicitors for the City of Peterborough.

BENNET & GOODWILL—Barristers, Solicitors, etc. No. 375 Water Street, Peterborough. Telephone No. 121. J. W. Bennet; E. L. Goodwill.

RUDDY & BURNHAM—Barristers, Solicitors, Notaries. Money to Loan. Offices 449 Water Street, corner Water and Brock.
Robert Ruddy, K.C., J. H Burnham, M.P.

G. W. HATTON, County Crown Attorney, Barrister, Solicitor. Trust Funds to Loan at lowest current rates of interest on easy terms of repayment.

J. R. CORKERY, Barrister, Solicitor, etc., Commerce Building. Money to loan at lowest rates of interest.

PECK, KER? & McELDERRY—Barristers, Solicitors and Notaries. Office 451 Water Street, Peterborough. Money to Loan at lowest current rates of interest on easy terms of repayment.
M. A. Peck, F. D. Ker, V. J. McElderry.

D. O'CONNELL—Barrister, Solicitor and Notary, Hunter street, two doors west of the Post Office. Daniel O'Connell.

DUMBLE & JOHNSTON—Barristers, Solicitors, etc. Office over Toronto Savings and Loan Company, 437 George street.
D. W. Dumble, K.C. W. F. Johnston.

A. E. DIXON—Barrister, Solicitor, etc. Offices Corner Hunter and George Sts. Entrance next Madill's Drug Store.

HALL & HALL—Barristers, Solicitors and Notaries Public Hunter St., Peterborough. Next to St. John's Church. Money to loan at lowest rates of interest.
E. H. D. Hall Basil D. Hall

MOORE & WEARING, Barristers and Solicitors, 182½ Hunter Street (entrance first hallway west of post office.) Money to loan at lowest rates. W. H. Moore, K.C., Joseph Wearing, M.A.

C. A. LANGLEY—Barrister, Solicitor, Notary Public, etc. County Magistrate. Office, Peterborough, Ont., 435 George St. 'Phone 114; Lakefield, Ont., (afternoons.) 'Phones, Office 21; Residence 56.

R. R. HALL—Barrister Solicitor, etc., Peterborough, Ont. Office, corner Hunter and Water streets over Canadian Bank of Commerce. Successors to Hall Madd & Davidson. Trust funds to loan on easy terms of payment.

ARCHITECTS.

W. BLACKWELL, Architect and Civil Engineer. Plans and estimates made for churches, public buildings and dwelling houses. Buildings heating and plumbing a specialty. Office, 372 Water Street Peterborough.

OSTEOPATHY

DR. BRUCE E. MARSHALL—Osteopathic Physician: Office: 246 Hunter Street. Hours 9 to 11 a.m., 2 to 4 p.m., 7 to 8 p.m. 'Phone 116.

DR. ASA G. WALMSLEY — Osteopathic Physician. Office in Sun Life Building, Corner of Hunter and Water streets. Entrance, 124 Hunter street. 'Phones: Office, 649; Residence, 668. Office hours, 9 to 12 a.m., 2 to 4 p.m. Evenings by appointment.

DR. MARY E. DAVIDSON, Osteopathic Physician. Office—No. 6 over Bank of Commerce. Entrance on Hunter or Water streets. Hours: 10 to 12, and 2 to 4. Evenings by appointment. 'Phone 1491.

EDWIN ELCOME
— TAXIDERMIST —
HEADS, ANIMALS, BIRDS, FISH, ETC. mounted artistically and permanently
HEADS OF MOOSE, CARIBOU AND DEER,
Birds, Animals, Birds, Fish, Artificial Eyes, Taxidermist Supplies, Bird and Fishers Guide Books for sale.
692 HARVEY STREET
PETERBOROUGH ONTARIO

Toronto Savings & Loan Comp'y
Head Office—237 George St., Peterboro
Paid Up Capital.. $1,000,000.00
Reserve Fund..... $900,000.00
Total Assets $3,884,642.15

Deposits received of One Dollar and upwards.

Interest (paid quarterly) accrues from date of deposit to date of withdrawal.

Every facility and convenience is afforded Depositors.

Debentures — For sums of One Hundred Dollars and upwards this institution issues Debentures bearing a special rate of interest for which half-yearly interest Coupons are attached. These Debentures are issued in terms of from one to five years as desired.

Executors and Trustees are authorized by law to invest in the Debentures of this Company.

W. G. MORROW
Managing Director
Peterboro, Dec. 1st., 1916

LUMBER
BUILDERS' MATERIALS of all kinds. Shingles, Scantlings, Joist and Bill Stuff, Mouldings, Castings, Base and all kinds of Finish. Boxes and Box Shooks, Slabs and Mill Wood
Alf. McDonald Estate
POINT ST. CHARLES MILL

OUR DAILY SHORT STORY

A BROKEN PROMISE

By WILLARD BLAKEMAN

"Walter, you are falling into a pit."

"How-so?"

"It is a delicate matter for interference. If you were not my chum I would not expose myself to such a thankless job. As it is, I am going to incur your enmity in the hope of saving you."

"Were you not my friend, instead of asking you to proceed I would send you sprawling for an imputation against a lovely woman."

"Very well; since I must enter into particulars, I refer to Miss Wallace."

"Do you mean to accuse her of anything evil?"

"Not as you mean it."

"Then wherein is she at fault? Perhaps you consider her an adventuress?"

"Not that, either."

"Then what do you mean? Speak before I"—

He raised his clinched fist.

"I make no imputation against Miss Wallace except that she has a mania for bringing men to her feet and throwing them over her shoulder."

"And you consider that is what she is trying to do with me?"

"I believe she is, though my belief is based on her record, and the evidence is circumstantial."

"Explain."

"First, I know of several cases where she has infatuated men and turned them down; second, she has no fortune, and her life would be a failure without one. You are unable to take care of her only in the most inexpensive way."

A lover is always a doubter, and Walter Crane was no exception to the rule.

"I will not trouble you for evidence," he said. "I will put the case plainly to her and learn the truth. Should any one malign me to her that is the way I should expect her to meet the charge."

His friend smiled incredulously.

"Shake that sardonic look and speak what you feel like a man."

"Should any one malign you to her she would not take sufficient interest in the matter to investigate."

"Very well, prove the charge you make against her."

"What charge?"

"That she is intending to throw me over her shoulder."

"To prove that would be impossible."

"Then prove that she has treated others as you claim she will treat me."

"That can be done, but it would not suffice. She would make you believe that you are the only one of the lot to whom she has given her heart."

Stanley, who was trying to save his friend, thought for a few moments, then said:

"I am in a position to give you the best of proof in one case. I will bring you a letter from the sister of one of the victims of this woman you love, a victim whom she drove to put a bullet in his brain. The letter will state what I assert. Then I will take you to the grave of that victim, and there you shall renounce this siren, promising me that you will never see her again."

There was a long silence, which was broken by Crane, who seized his friend's hand and pressed it fervently. He was under too great a strain to speak.

"You agree?" asked Stanley.

Crane nodded affirmatively.

Within a couple of days the promised statement was produced. It read simply:

"Isabel Wallace infatuated my brother, and when he proposed to her she laughed at him. A month later he committed suicide. We gave out that he had accidentally shot himself while preparing for a hunting trip."

Walter Crane turned pale as he read the statement. Handing it back to Stanley, he said, "I am ready to perform my part of the agreement." Stanley had come in an auto, and the two went out, and, entering it, the chauffeur was told to drive to the Meadowland cemetery. At the gate they inquired for the location of the grave of Arthur Stanton, drove to it, alighted and entered the lot. There, standing beside the grave, Crane promised his friend that he would never see the siren again.

One week from that day Crane went to Stanley and, after confessing that he had broken his promise, said that Miss Wallace had explained the matter of the suicide to his entire satisfaction. She had nothing whatever to do with it.

Stanley looked at his friend in amazement, but made no reply.

"You think I'm weak," said Crane. "As for you, I know that you're the best friend I ever had; that you have tried to save me from what you consider a misfortune. There's a story within a story about this suicide business. If I could tell it to you you'd see how unjust is the statement of this lady who wrote the letter—indeed, how abominably she treated"—

"Hold on, Walter!" said Stanley. "The lady who wrote that letter is my fiancee. Were she not she would not have given it to me."

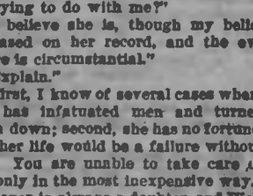
"A thousand pardons, dear boy! Not for the world would I"—

"Goodby, Walter!"

"Goodby! It will all be explained in time. I congratulate you on your engagement. Why didn't you tell"—

The rest was lost, for Stanley had passed out of hearing.

One month later Crane's body was found on the grave beside which he had made his promise with a bullet in his heart.

Constipation Vanishes Forever
Prompt Relief---Permanent Cure
CARTER'S LITTLE LIVER PILLS never fail. Purely vegetable—act surely but gently on the liver. Stop after dinner distress—cure sick-spells—improve the complexion—brighten the eyes. Small Pill, Small Dose, Small Price.


Genuine must bear Signature
Brent Good

CHINA PAINTING
Mrs. Langley McCarthy
Teaches Bisque's New and Beautiful Art Work in China Painting

Ingersoll Watches
That Show the Time in the Dark from $1.25 up.
Automobile and Cycle Skates
Hockey Sticks and Supplies
Jack Knives
MILLARD'S BICYCLE SHOP
Hunter St., near Aylmer

A GOOD WINTER HABIT

Many people dread winter because the sudden climatic changes bring colds, grippe, rheumatism, tonsilitis or bronchitis. But thousands of well-informed men and women today avoid much sickness for themselves and their children by taking a few bottles of Scott's Emulsion to make richer blood, fortify the membranes of the throat and chest and create body-warmth to resist sickness. Soldiers at war receive cod liver oil; it will also strengthen you.
Scott & Bowne, Toronto, Ont. 16-2t

HUSBANDS IN WILLESDEN.

They Mind the Babies at Home While the Wives Go Out to Work.

Willesden is a perfect paradise for a certain type of husband. There is no need for him to go out to work; his wife will see to that. All he need do is stay at home and mind the baby. He has a job for life and practically nothing to do.

The Gilbertian arrangement is due to the peculiar industrial conditions of Willesden, where there are many laundries and factories and female labor is much in demand. Although it is cheaper than male labor would be at the same class of work, the wages are good, considering that only five days a week are worked in the laundries, the women not being required on Mondays. As much as from 20 to 30 shillings a week can be earned, £1 being a common wage, even for girls.

Consequently the women rule the industrial world of Willesden. The positions of man and wife are reversed. There is no need for the man to go to work. Not only would he be unsuitable for the job, but the labor and the wages would not suit him.

Therefore a working girl, when she has saved sufficient money and thinks of marrying, looks around to find an eligible man, whom it would be her duty to keep in after life. He must know how to bathe, dress and feed a baby; how to amuse it and what to do when it has convulsions other than rolling it on the floor or slapping it on the back. If he can do all this the girl proposes, is accepted (if she is strong enough to work), and the knot is tied.

When the children grow up they are packed off to the laundries or to one of the biscuit, incandescent mantle or cedar pencil factories that abound in the neighborhood, and their wages go to swell the family income. As for father, he continues his congenial task of warming the baby's milk and performing other little duties. — London Cor. Philadelphia Ledger.

HIDING THE JOKER NUGGET.

An Incident of the Early Australian Gold Diggings.

Among the rich finds in the Australian gold diggings the Joker nugget ranks among the chief. It turned the scale at thirty ounces and was sold for $600. In size and shape it resembled a man's hand, thick at the wrist part and tapering off toward the fingers.

The claim had been a good one from the first, and the owner did not have to work hard. One day he was reclining full length idly searching for nuggets when he caught sight of the Joker. He at once covered it with his hand and sat up, rather wondering how he would secure the treasure without being seen. If the find became known every man in the field would tramp to the spot and invade his claim and so prevent his working.

A man in an adjoining claim looked up. "Found anything?" he asked. "No. Seen the color; that's all. Pitch my coat over to me, will you? It's lying near there. I want a smoke." "Here you are, mate. But what's the matter? You look pale. Don't you feel right?" "I'm all right, only the sun is a bit hot."

He was struggling with an insane desire to laugh, but he got his coat over the nugget and seated himself on the top of it. Then laughter overpowered him, and he became hysterical. Those about him wondered, but thought the sun had affected him.

In a little while he gained his composure and decided to go to his tent. In lifting his coat he managed to take up the lump of gold, and no one knew that he had found anything. It was not until ten days had passed that the fact was noised abroad, and even then few knew the claim whence the Joker came.

Malicious Hint.

"Can you tell me where I am most likely to get a good collection of fairy tales?"

"Ask any married man."—Baltimore American.

Rude Boy.

Miss Flirt—Jack told me last night that I was his very life. Her Brother—Jack will soon find out how uncertain life is.—Boston Transcript.

WITH RUSSIAN PEASANT.

Land Belongs to Entire Village, Not to Individuals.

Land belongs not to individual peasants in Russia, but to the village as a whole. It can be redivided every twelve years at the wish of a majority of two-thirds.

This and all other local questions, such as the incidence of taxation, are settled by village meetings, consisting of the heads of houses, where age naturally has a predominance.

A decision which carries a majority of two-thirds is, by law of the Empire, a legal "sentence" of the village.

The village elects its own village elder, who is responsible for the calling of meetings; and at certain seasons, e.g., that of hay-making, these meetings take place as often as once a week.

Many villages are united in a canton, which is ruled by a cantonal elder, similarly elected by the chosen representatives of all the villages of the canton.

He Lost His Case.

Lord Reading—better known to fame as Sir Rufus Isaacs—recently told the story of his first brief.

He had been retained to defend a man, a street trader, who had been summoned for selling bad figs.

Mr. Isaacs, as he then was, expatiated at length on the splendid quality of the fruit, and in this he was, as was only natural, backed up by his client.

Presently the magistrate intervened. Had either of them tasted the fruit? he asked.

They both confessed that they had not. Whereupon the magistrate suggested that either the defendant or his counsel should eat some in court.

Mr. Isaacs turned to his client: "Go on," he whispered, "eat one or two."

"What will happen if I don't?" whispered the other in reply.

"You'll lose the case."

"All right," answered the defendant resignedly, "then lose it I'll have to."

C.P.R. CONSTRUCTION WORK in 1916

Completion of the Longest Tunnel in America

THE year 1916 has been an interesting one in the history of the Canadian Pacific Railway. It has been a year of progress, even though the Dominion is struggling in a great war. As compared with the previous year there has been a tremendous revival of trade. Several important works for which appropriations were made before the war, have been completed, the most important being the Connaught Tunnel through Mount MacDonald, in the Selkirk Mountains. The accomplishment of this task is a triumph of engineering and labor seldom equalled in the world's history. The tunnel is the longest double track tunnel in the Western hemisphere. The length is about 5 miles, the time in which the work was performed, in two and a half years, constituting a world's record. The number of men employed was about 600. The tunnel will mean the elimination of several miles of snow-sheds, will considerably reduce the distance connecting railway points, and affect a big grade reduction. The cost of the tunnel was $6,500,000. The amount of material taken from the bore is approximately 750,000 cubic yards, and weighs considerably over 1,500,000 tons. Much of the centre portion of the bore was through solid rock. The work has been carried out under the supervision of Mr. J. G. Sullivan, chief engineer of the Western Lines of the C. P. R.

Previous to this the longest railway tunnel on the American continent was the Hoosac Tunnel, 41 miles long, on the New York Central Railway line. The work of the Connaught Tunnel began in 1914, and has progressed steadily since that time. The contractors who had the work in hand applied an entirely new method in tunnel piercing, known as the "Pioneer Bore." It consists of an entirely separate tunnel driven in a line fifty feet parallel with the course of the main passage through the mountain.

The tunnel, which is 29 feet wide and 23 feet high, follows a straight line under Mount MacDonald, emerging in the Beaver Valley at a point about 1,000 feet below the present line. The eastern entrance is directly below Hermit, a station just east of Rogers Pass. The highest point reached in the tunnel is 3,795 feet above the sea level and 4,065 feet below the summit of MacDonald Peak. The passage through the mountains will have a grade of 1 per cent. up to the interior summit.

Previous to the war the C. P. R. annually spent from $25,000,000 to $35,000,000 on the development of the West, and the excavation of the Connaught Tunnel during the period of hostilities shows that Canada is strong to advance at home as she is undoubtedly strong to fight abroad.

On July 17th, 1916, his Royal Highness, the Duke of Connaught, paid a visit to the tunnel and complimented the Canadian Pacific on the progress that the company was making. Then he baptised the new work "The Selkirk Tunnel." Some weeks later at the request of Lord Shaughnessy, His Royal Highness consented to have the tunnel called after himself. Henceforth it is to be called "The Connaught Tunnel."

Improvements have been made to several stations along the Canadian Pacific, but the two notables are the new stations erected at Quebec and North Toronto. The latter on upper Yonge Street, was formally opened on June 14, when Mayor Church started the first train running between the new terminal and Montreal, and declared the station to be opened for traffic. Mayor Church congratulated the Canadian Pacific on its foresight and enterprise, dealt with the good relations that existed between Toronto and the company, and referred to the offer of the old station to the city, to be used as a market place. Amongst the speakers was Sir James Carroll, New Zealand, who, in expressing his felicitations, described the C. P. R. as a powerful factor in the Empire.

The new station at Quebec, which was opened on August 19th, is a triumph of modern railway station construction. The building has a central block and two wings, is akin to old French chateau style of architecture, and is admirably adapted to the quaintness of the old French-Canadian city. On the outside of the station building there is a pretty ground which in the summer time, when its shrubs and flowers are abloom, will be a beautiful set-off to the stately edifice. At the banquet, held on the occasion of the opening, Mr. A. D. MacTier, General Manager of the Eastern Lines, presented a silver key bearing the coat of arms of the city of Quebec to Mayor Lavigueur. It is interesting to note that the large window over the main entrance, which helps to light the ticket lobby, contains the arms of the seven great men of Canadian history, viz.:—Montmagny, the first Governor of Canada, 1636-1647; De Tracy, Viceroy of Canada, 1663; Beauharnois, Governor of Canada, 1726-1747; Montcalm and Wolfe, the famous French and English generals, whose names are familiar to all; Frontenac, Governor of Canada, 1672, and Talon, the first Intendant of New France, 1665-1672.

Recently the C. P. R. acquired the Lake Erie and Northern Railway, and by doing so brought their lines into touch with a flourishing and interesting territory in Western Ontario, running from Galt to Port Dover. The new line has connection with the Canadian Pacific main line at Galt and runs in conjunction with the G. P. & H. Railway, which gives access to Kitchener and intermediate points, as well as direct connection with Port Dover, Brantford and intermediate points. The district in which the L. E. & N. runs will benefit much by the new life which the C. P. R. is putting into the train service there. The transportation of the farming produce, so abundant in this part, will be facilitated, and tourists who wish to travel in the beautiful locality will find a convenient and satisfactory service.

During the year a new railway station was built at Brantford, as a result of an agreement between the C. P. R. and the Hamilton Railway. The new station is to be used by both. The building will be a pretty set off to the town, and a convenience to the travelling public, as well as for the business people in the neighborhood.

The Canadian Pacific Ocean Services had a busy and most successful year. On the Pacific the Empress of Russia and the Empress of Asia, two of the biggest C. P. R. vessels, which were released by the Admiralty, have returned to their usual routes between Vancouver and Hongkong.

The Canadian Pacific is spending $1,500,000 on the development of the port of Vancouver. Greater trade with Russia was one of the big ideas expounded in shipping circles during the later parts of the year. It was with a view towards developing trade with Russia that the C. P. R. appointed Mr. Owen as their general agent at Vladivostock, where he will look after the handling of business.

During the summer improvement work has been carried out at the C. P. R. terminal at St. John, N.B., making it possible to handle freight in a more expeditious manner than in the past. The large piers in the course of erection last year have been completed, and many new tracks have been laid down, so that there is accommodation now at Sand Point for about 1,500 cars. Several new shipping berths which had been under construction during the year are now in use and at least 25 more ocean steamships can be handled in excess of the number that was handled at the port last winter.

Never a year passes without some alterations being made to the various hotels constituting the long chain which stretches from coast to coast owned and operated by the Canadian Pacific. The comfort and convenience of its patrons are ever in the minds of the management, and it is these factors which dominate all improvements.

At the Lake Louise a new kitchen has been completed which is one of the finest on the continent.

It is something like thirty years since the Canadian Pacific Ry. built its first hotel in Vancouver. Since that time various extensions and alterations have been made costing tremendous sums of money, and now the Hotel Vancouver stands one of the most magnificent hotels on the American Continent, and is complete with the exception of the new dining room, construction of which has to be postponed for the present.

The Algonquin Hotel, a very popular bostelry on the Atlantic coast, has been slightly altered, the office has been moved to the space formerly used as a drawing room, and the old office now forms an extension of the lounge, so that this splendid large room with its two fireplaces is now devoted exclusively to the comfort of the guests without interruption from the office routine. In 1917 there will be new quarters erected for the staff.

One of the most famous hotels in the world is the Banff Hotel, with its most picturesque surroundings in the heart of the Canadian Pacific Rocky Mountains—the delight of the tourist. Here the C. P. R. has built a new boiler house, and a "Helps' Dormitory." This was quite a large work, and a valuable acquisition to the stately hostelry.

The decision of Lord Shaughnessy to provide, through the department of Natural Resources of the C. P. R., farm homes for many of the returned soldiers, is a further proof of his desire that those who take part in the war will have recognition of their services. The extent and magnitude of the work of preparing 1,000 farms will be realised when it is noted that it involves: Building 1,000 houses, building 1,000 barns, constructing 1,300 miles of fence, digging 1,000 wells, breaking and cultivating 50,000 acres. The buildings will require about 20,000,000 feet of lumber to erect. The preparation of the farms will entail an expenditure of about $5,500,000.

Early in the year Lord Shaughnessy decided that Dominion-wide organization should be formed for scientific research in connection with Canada's vast metal, hydro-electric and chemical resources, which would ultimately result in the practical application to industry of many minerals heretofore neglected or exported to other countries. During the year the C. P. R. proceeded to mobilize the best brains in the country, and to utilize them in the manner which the President, and, indeed, the country at large, deems [illegible] Arthur D. Little, Ltd., the Canadian branch of the well known Boston organization of analytical chemists, have been commissioned to put the idea into practical effect.

The C. P. R. has given more men to the army since the beginning of the war than any other concern in Canada, and large numbers of employees continue to join. The total number of the C. P. R. men enlisted is something like 7,000 and the number of killed who have appeared on the honor roll is 170, the number of wounded 468. Early in the year Colonel F. S. Meighen, a director of the C. P. R., was made a Brigadier-General, and he is now doing invaluable work overseas. Many officials occupy important commands at the front.

Wants to Sell a Battlefield.

One of the most remarkable advertisements ever published is that which appeared in the European edition of the New York Herald a few days ago offering for sale a battlefield in the Somme district, "furrowed by British and Prussian trenches."

It is behind the present British lines, and there can be no doubt about the validity of the title.

Cost of the Irish Mess.

Seven hundred and seventy-nine claims for compensation for property destroyed in the rebellion, amounting to more than £2,500,000, are waiting to be heard.

Army of Girl Clerks.

How women are helping in office work is shown by the fact that while there were 27,000 girl clerks in London before the war, the number now is at least 100,000.

Promoting the Janitor.

They were joint owners of an apartment house and one day the junior partner sought his colleague in some trepidation.

"The janitor wants $10 more a month or he'll leave. I hate to give up the money, but we can't spare him."

The senior partner disappeared and returned in a few moments.

"It's all right," said he, "I've satisfied him, and it didn't cost us anything."

"How's that?"

"The janitor is now the superintendent."

"Good work!" declared the junior partner. "But why didn't you make him superintendent in the first place?"

"Because," answered the senior member, "I knew he'd want a promotion eventually. Every man wants a promotion some time and, to my mind, a good man deserves one."—Judge.

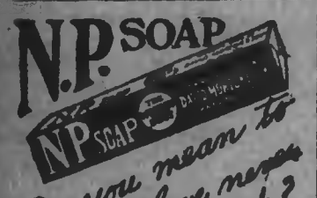
Shipbuilding in B. C.

The Wallace shipyards, at Vancouver, have taken contracts for the construction of three steam vessels in addition to the three wooden vessels already in course of construction. Several other propositions are under consideration. In some of the Pacific States shipbuilding has been booming for some time and the activity is now spreading to the Canadian side of the line.

DR. DE VAN'S FRENCH PILLS A reliable Regulating Pill for Women. $5 a box or Dozen for $10. Sold at all Drug Stores, or mailed in plain wrapper on receipt of price. The Scobell Drug Co., St. Catharines, Ontario.

PHOSPHONOL FOR MEN. Vitality; for Nerve and Brain; [illegible] matter; a Tonic—will build you up. $5 a box, or two for $5, at drug stores, or by mail on receipt of price. The Scobell Drug Co., St. Catharines, Ontario.

Sold by all drug stores



Do you mean to say you have never tried N.P. Soap? It has been on the market since the days of Confederation, pretty near — and it has been the best soap for laundry and household purposes all that time! Better try it — a great big bar for 15 cents

Allies Refuse To Discuss Peace

(Continued from Page 1.)

Germany was one, Belgium enjoyed before the war a special status, rendering her territory inviolable, and placing her, under the guarantee of the powers, outside all European conflicts. She was, however, in spite of these treaties, the first to suffer the aggression of Germany. For this reason the Belgian Government think it necessary to define the aims which Belgium has never ceased to pursue while fighting side by side with the Entente Powers for right and justice.

Belgium has always scrupulously fulfilled the duties which her neutrality imposed upon her. She has taken up arms to defend her independence and her neutrality violated by Germany and to show that she remains faithful to her international obligations.

On the 4th of August, 1914 in the Reichstag, the German Chancellor admitted that this aggression constituted an injustice, contrary to the laws of nations, and pledged himself in the name of Germany, to repair it. During two and a half years this injustice has been cruelly aggravated by the proceedings of the occupying forces, which have exhausted the resources of the country, ruined its industries, devasted its towns and villages, and have been responsible for innumerable massacres, executions and imprisonments.

At this very moment, while Germany is proclaiming peace and humanity to the world, she is deporting Belgian citizens by thousands and reducing them to slavery.

Belgium before the war asked for nothing but to live in harmony with her neighbours. Her King and her country have but one aim—the re-establishment of peace and justice. But they only desire peace which would assure to their country legitimate reparation, guarantees and safeguards for the future.

A Notable Convert.

The conversion of Lord Northcliffe to the cause of woman suffrage is being heralded as a great victory for the suffrage cause in England. As one of the most powerful men in the Conservative party, owner of The Times, The Mail, and many other publications, Lord Northcliffe had been the uncompromising foe of the enfranchisement of women. Then came the war, and the marvelous transformations which have been brought about under its grim tutelage. In the reorganization of English life, in the most urgent and critical service, British women of all ranks from the highest to the humblest have taken a most conspicuously effective part. This co-operation was not merely a help, but a necessity, and it has grown wide in its scope as the war has gone on.

Now Lord Northcliffe, through The Daily Mail, has gone so far as to say that "at the round table conference," which was to discuss the special register bill, the enfranchisement problem should be included and at least three prominent women should have seats at the round table. He suggested Lady Frances Butler, Lady Selbourne, and Mrs. Pankhurst.

"The old argument," says The Mail, "against giving women the franchise was that they were useless in war. But we could not carry on the war without them. They are running many of our industries and their services may justly be compared with those of the soldier."

An Interesting Smelter.

An interesting and extensive aluminum smelter is being organized at Hoyanfjord, Norway, where there is a waterfall which may provide 60,000 horse-power. It is proposed to develop 30,000 horse-power at once to provide for the production of 4,000 tons of aluminum a year. A number of bauxite beds have been obtained in southern France where the ore will be worked into oxides and shipped in this concentrated form to Norway for the final conversion into metal by electrical furnaces.

THREE NOTCH ROADS.

Their Curious Title Comes From the Name of George III.

In Missouri and some other central western states there are roads that are called "three notch roads." They are public highways as distinguished from the roads that lead to a sawmill, a schoolhouse, a church or an isolated farmhouse. A three notch road "goes somewhere." Proceeding along such a road, the traveler is bound, in time, to reach a town.

There lies behind the curious title an interesting story. It appears that King George III. decreed that all English public roads, as king's highways, should be marked with his name. In the colonies it was often impossible to mark the roads with the care and thoroughness that were used in England, and in the wilderness it was enough to cut three notches on the largest trees along the roads.

After the Revolution, of course, the name of King George was omitted, but the three notches proved useful as a means of marking public roads. Virginia colonists, it is said, carried the practice into Tennessee, Kentucky and Indiana, and their children, in turn, carried it into Missouri.

Originally Missouri had no counties. Later, when they were formed, the state decided that if the task were left to the counties there would be little road building. Accordingly, the state constructed the roads and marked them with three notches. Later, when the counties undertook to build roads, they were designated in the timber country by two notches. Prior to and during the war between the states the distinction was preserved, and three notch roads were always "through roads" that led from one town of importance to another. Two notch roads were less important highways, and roads not notched at all were either rail roads or plank roads. A rail road was a road leading to a camp where men split rails, and a plank road led to a sawmill.—Youth's Companion.

NOT, CERTAIN, BUT HOPEFUL.

Willie Clearly Diagnosed the Case In His Letter to His Aunt.

Dear Aunter—I did not rite to you for a long time now witch is not credibul to me because Henary Begg told me he yoostoo have an aunt very much like you and he did not rite to her for a long time and one day his mother came in very sad and said to Henary your aunt dide yesterday and when he thought of how she dide without getten an answr to her last letter it almost broak his hart and for a long time he could not eat the rest of his dinner.

The trubble is that when we are young and healthy we do not think of how our relitives are old and aptoo die any time at all and so we do not rite as often as we otto and are sorry afterward when it is too late.

Henary Begg was tellen me about his aunt yesterday and how she yoostoo send him presents and sumtimes munney when there was a serkus commen which the nearest one now is two weeks from Wensday.

This makes it all the sadder for Henary. The price of tickets to a serkus is a kworter for boys the sighs of us and Henary's aunt yoostoo always send him fifty sense for two tickets if he should wanto take another boy with him as they often do.

The serkus witch is commen here two weeks from Wensday is Simmons & Sapp's world's greatest nickal plated three rings an plus ultra peerless seareal marvul equine sensasation and zoologicle agergation with the world famous Roamin Hipperdroam and celebrated artnsts in the sublimest spectacles ever staged for the eddification of Man witch I copied from the bills as nearly as possibul, and it looks as if it was goan to be a pretty good show.

I guss all the boys are goan except Henary and me witch are not sorten but hoapful. Two weeks from Wensday.—Saturday Evening Post.

Brief Illness Beneficial.

There are some who confess that they never really read or appreciated their daily paper until they had to stay in bed to read it and suddenly discovered it was rather good reading. And I know men who rent pleasant houses in delightful suburbs, yet scarcely ever see them until a blessed pain occurs and they stay at home for a few days in bed. A few days' "bedding out" might do many human plants a lot of good.—London Chronicle.

Napoleon's Generals.

Many of Napoleon's generals rose from the ranks. Bernadotte, the grandson of a blacksmith; Murat, the son of a tanner; Lannes, the son of a small farmer; Ney, the son of a poor Alsatian cooper; Suchet, the son of a silk weaver; Jourdan, the son of a country leech; Mortier, a brewer's boy; Oudinot, a farmer lad; MacDonald, grandson of a Uist crofter, and Lefebvre, a barrack room brat.

Proud Recollection.

"You seem rather elated this morning."

"I am," replied Mr. Meekton. "Last night my wife mistook me for a burglar. It's the only time in my life that Henrietta was actually afraid of me."—Washington Star.

Domestic Jar.

She—My poor mother begged me not to marry you. He—True! That's the only time she seemed interested in my welfare!—Judge.

Sound common sense without eloquence is better than folly with a fine flow of language.

MATCHMAKING IN INDIA.

One Scheme That Gave a Missionary the Surprise of His Life.

Almost every one who has friends in mission work in India knows that one very important function of the missionary is to play the part of matchmaker to his flock. But few if any have heard of the conditions being reversed and the flock turning matchmaker for their missionary. That does occur, however, as the letter written by a missionary who lives at Tuticorin, south India, tells:

On New Year's day, 1911, as I was seated in my little mud cottage at Tuticorin a number of people entered the veranda and ceremoniously came into my room, bearing trays of flowers, fruits, raisins and sugar, which they placed at my feet like supplicants who desire to gain the hearing of a petition. After all due ceremonial etiquette had been observed and I had indicated my willingness to hear their petition Brother Gnana Draviam, a prominent lawyer in Tuticorin, began reading in Tamil an address to which the others gave strict attention. It ran like this:

"Reverend Sir—You have now for nearly two years bestowed great care and labor upon us, ministering to our spiritual welfare and striving for the health of our souls to such an extent that you have greatly impaired your own physical health, and we feel that you need some one to care for you, since you do not care for yourself. We fear lest your zeal in our behalf may deprive us at once of your life and services. Therefore, with profound humility and sincere respect, we venture to request you to marry a good woman, who will both care for you and help us."

This was naturally a confusing thing to happen, but I was bound to respond to such an eloquent appeal, and when the applause died away I rose and answered with considerable effort:

"Your affectionate regard for my welfare is so overwhelming that I have no words in which to express my appreciation," and sat down, quite faint from the exertion. But the novelty of the situation overcame my fatigue, and, turning to one of the elders, I asked if they had any particular person in mind as one who would be willing to become my helpmeet and be equal to all the responsibilities they had outlined. Immediately Miss W.'s name was mentioned. "But," said I, "I don't believe she would have me." This seemed to me like matchmaking with a vengeance. What a high handed act, to be sure! To order their pastor to marry, and then to choose the girl besides! But the worst was still to come. "We have already seen her and told her she must have you," said Brother Rajappan.

So it was settled. I may add that my wife and I have reason to approve highly of the Indian method of matchmaking, but it should be combined with the western method of courting, as in our case, to secure the best results.—Exchange.

Average American's Taxes.

Somewhere in the United States in a small city lives the average American. He has a family of four, including himself, and earns $517 a year. Some one else in his family, perhaps a stenographer daughter, contributes $330 to the family fund, making the total income of $847. He feels that he pays nothing, or next to nothing, for the privilege of living in a free country, with warships on the sea and street lights in front of his house, with a policeman on his corner, a public service commission looking after his interests and a copy of the Congressional Record coming to him regularly. The truth is that of his $847 a year he pays $140 toward the upkeep of his government.—World's Work.

Circulation of the Blood.

The idea of some sort of movement of the blood in man and the lower animals was possessed by Aristotle and other Greeks and by the physicians of the Alexandrian school as well as by the doctors and surgeons of the middle ages. In fact, even the village barbers knew of such movement. But no one, not even the wisest of men, had any conception of a continuous stream returning to its source—a circulation in the true sense of the word—or of the functions of the heart as the motor power of the movement of the blood until it was demonstrated by Harvey in 1628.

Pilgrims at Benares.

Benares, an Indian holy city, is the victim of pilgrimages. Many of the pilgrims are in the last stage of illness and find their way to the city to have their remains cremated on the banks of the Ganges. A large number of hospitals have to be provided for the reception of the sick, and the distinction of being a holy magnet is not greatly appreciated by the residents of the city.—Exchange.

Brazilian Vessels.

All Brazilian vessels engaged in the coasting trade and carrying passengers, either casually or regularly, and making voyages of more than seventy-two hours between the place of departure and port of destination, must have on board a Brazilian doctor nominated by the minister of the interior.

That's All.

"I did not think you would associate with such a man."

"I shan't associate with him much. I am merely going to marry him."—Houston Post.

An injury done to character is so great that it cannot possibly be estimated.—Livy.

THE WONDERFUL FRUIT MEDICINE

Thousands Owe Health And Strength To "Fruit-a-tives"

"FRUIT-A-TIVES", the marvellous medicine made from fruit juices — has relieved more cases of Stomach, Liver, Blood, Kidney and Skin Troubles than any other medicine. In severe cases of Rheumatism, Sciatica, Lumbago, Pain in the Back, Impure Blood, Neuralgia, Chronic Headaches, Chronic Constipation and Indigestion, "Fruit-a-tives" has given unusually effective results. By its cleansing, healing powers on the eliminating organs, "Fruit-a-tives" tones up and invigorates the whole system.

50c. a box, 6 for $2.50, trial size, 25c. At all dealers or sent postpaid by Fruit-a-tives Limited, Ottawa.

ALGERIANS ARE LIARS.

They May Tell the Truth at Times, but You Are Never Sure.

The chief fault of the native Algerians seems to be a certain predilection for lying. It appears to be an instinctive desire to deceive, not so much for the sake of profit as for the sake of deception. Albert Edwards, in "The Barbary Coast," tells us that he asked his French host why one of his workmen wore green braid on his turbans, since in Persia only those who have made the pilgrimage to Mecca are thus attired.

"Mohammed!" my host called. The tall, dignified native left his plow and came over to us.

"Have you been to Mecca?" M. Gardet asked in Arabic.

"No, Sidi," the Arab said and went back to his work.

"He says 'No,'" M. Gardet translated to me. "But like as not he has been there six times. If they would always lie you could understand them. But sometimes they tell the truth. Perhaps he hasn't been there. If I should ask six of my workmen about it three would say that Mohammed had been to Mecca, three would say he hadn't."

So I stopped asking my host questions about the Arabs. But in all the time I have been in Algeria I have never found a Frenchman who felt differently about it. Guy de Maupassant, whose eyes pierced so deeply through the lies of French life, could not fathom the Arabs. "They are incomprehensible," he writes. "They lie."

THE WORLD'S WATER POWER.

Forces That May Be Utilized When Our Coal Is All Gone.

The following figures may prove of interest to those fearing the exhaustion of the world's coal supply, says the American Machinist. In a summary of the water power of the world the possible horsepower of France is estimated at 4,500,000, of which only 900,000 is utilized. About an equal amount of power is available in Italy, but only 30,000 horsepower is utilized. Falls of 10,000 horsepower are abundant in the Alps.

The estimate in Switzerland is incomplete, but about 800,000 horsepower is in use. Germany has 700,000 horsepower available, with 100,000 applied. Norway has 900,000 horsepower available, with a large part already developed. In Sweden there is 763,000 horsepower available.

The resources of Russia are estimated at 11,000,000 horsepower, of which only 85,000 has been developed. The United States is credited with 1,500,000 horsepower, while Japan has 1,000,000, of which 70,000 has been exploited. In India 50,000 horsepower has already been developed, mostly at a considerable distance from any industrial center. In Great Britain there is 70,000 horsepower already utilized, and an equal amount in Spain.

Being Lucid.

If you wish to achieve a reputation for originality and distinction try being lucid. There is nothing quite like it: "Permit me to thank you for your lucid exposition of" — it matters not what the subject.

What is it to be lucid? It is to write something which the man who compliments you because you have been lucid about it agrees with. No one who disagrees with you ever called you lucid. No woman ever referred to her husband as a lucid husband. No man ever called his wife a lucid wife.—Life.

Something Explained.

Church—What do you think! This paper says that women spend 90 per cent of $10,000,000,000 annually in the United States for food, clothing and shelter. Gotham—Now do you wonder what becomes of your pay envelope?—Yonkers Statesman.

One on the Teacher.

Esther, returning from her first day at school, was asked by her mother, "How do you like school?"

"Oh, school is very nice, but I don't think my teacher knows very much. She could not read my writing."—Indianapolis News.

After Thirty.

"I never saw my daughter economical but once."

"How did that happen?"

"She was buying candles for her birthday cake."—Pittsburgh Post.

A Zoological Freak.

Teacher—Tommy, what is a boomerang? Tommy—I can't describe it exactly, but I know it has a short tail and can climb trees.—Birmingham Age-Herald.

WHO IS BRUSSILOFF?

Cousin Declares That He Is Really Sir Hector Macdonald.

"When a man is dead, then he's done for," runs the old ballad, but there are a few who do not come under this generalization. We have had the famous Dauphin of France, titular King Louis XVII., who is said to have escaped from the deadly Temple, and to have lived in America or elsewhere as various people. And two novelists took the idea as bases for interesting novels. We recall news items how Oscar Wilde did not die in France, but was buried in effigy, and lived to find life anew, hidden away. The mystery of Marshal Ney is an old story. And there was Hector Macdonald, who has reappeared in the person of more than one noted military leader; especially lately, he has been identified with General Brussiloff.

There are, then, men who simply will not stay dead. The story of Brussiloff, while the reverse of probable, is still interesting enough to be reproduced. A writer recently gave out an interview with a resident of Gotham who said she was a cousin of the supposedly dead Macdonald. In this the identity with Brussiloff was put forth. We learn:

The legend of Sir Hector Macdonald is one of the strangest and most romantic in modern history. Charged with immoral conduct in Ceylon in 1903, Sir Hector, then a brigadier-general of the British army, a Knight Commander of the Bath, and a member of the Distinguished Service Order, was reported to have committed suicide in a Paris hotel after visiting London and failing to have the charges dismissed.

Officially, General Sir Hector Macdonald is dead and buried in a little cemetery outside of Edinburgh. His wife remarried many years ago.

Tradition has it, however, that the suicide in the Paris hotel was not Sir Hector, but a traveler in an adjoining room. Seeing at once the opportunity, Sir Hector, according to the story, changed clothes with the corpse, and, in his new identity, departed unsuspected. Like the man in Arnold Bennett's story, Sir Hector went forth into the world with his life to use as he liked.

The legend, which was previously hazy and unconfirmed, takes on new life in the words of this Mrs. Taylor, Macdonald's cousin. The reporter asked a number of questions, trying to shake her belief in the identity of the hero of the eastern front but without any success. The account states:

"I am absolutely certain," she said, "that General Brussiloff is really Sir Hector. While I am only a distant relative, cousins of Sir Hector live in London and Canada and Australia, and I know that they have been in communication with him.

"Sir Hector was a small man, stockily built. Gen. Brussiloff is of the same figure. In his character of Russian general, Sir Hector has grown a moustache, but it does not make his features unrecognizable.

"Many people who did not know of Sir Hector have commented on the queer and extraordinary circumstances connected with the rise of the Russian commander. It is odd, to say the least, they point out, that a man in supreme command of one of the greatest offensives of the war should be of a previous history totally unknown. 'Brussiloff' is not a real Russian name, anyway. And the photographs of the general show he does not look like a Russian."

Smoky Cities Also Foggy.

The relation between smoke and fog is ably set forth in a bulletin issued by the Mellon Institute of Industrial Research, University of Pittsburgh, and written by Dr. Herbert H. Kimball, professor of meteorology, United States weather bureau. He sums up the matter by saying:

"City fogs are more persistent than country fogs, principally because of their increased density due to the smoke that accumulates in them.

"In consequence of the above there are fewer hours of sunshine in the cities than in the surrounding country.

"The sunshine is less intense in the city than in the country, the light of short wave lengths, or the blue light, suffering the greater depletion."

A Free-Handed Prince.

The following is told of the famous Prince of Conde: He left his son, aged nine years, 50 louis d'or to spend while he himself was absent in Paris. On his return the boy came to him triumphantly, saying:

"Papa, here is all the money safe. I have never touched it once."

The prince, without making any reply, took his son to the window and quietly emptied all the money out of the purse into the street. Then he said:

"If you have neither virtue enough to give away your money nor spirit enough to spend it, always do this for the future, that the poor may have a chance of it."

The Armenian Alphabet.

An Armenian girl goes to school at four or five years old, but before that she has probably learned her "letters," which is almost an education in itself, as the Armenian alphabet contains thirty-nine. She learns these letters from a small slab of wood on which they are printed. This slab is fastened to a handle, making it something like a hair-brush in shape. The Armenians boast that their formidable alphabet is so perfect as to give every sound known to any other nation.

Burn Silk Before Buying.

Why did your last year's silk split and crack?

Because it was adulterated.

You might have tested it easily before purchasing and saved both money and worry.

A piece of silk and a match are all you need for the test. Light the match and apply it to the fabric. If it holds its shape the silk is adulterated with some of the various minerals so used. If it runs together in a puffy mass the silk is pure.

A Slight Difference.

The globe trotter was telling about the wonders of India.

"The scenery in some portions of the country," he said, with enthusiasm, "is incomparable. Far, far away, the mountains pile up toward the sky, and stretching off to them are beautiful valleys, while close at hand you can get in sight of a man eating tiger"—

"I beg your pardon," interrupted an eager listener, "but did you say inside of a man eating tiger or in sight of one?"

Rain as a Fertilizer.

Rain, especially when accompanied by thunder and lightning, has a fertilizing effect upon the soil. There is almost always ammonia in the air, and this is carried by the rain into the earth. It has been calculated that a quart of rainwater may contain about one-eightieth of a grain of ammonia.

The Woodpecker's Tattoo.

Heard a woodpecker tapping the trees in the high woods. How strangely he is constructed! If we chopped our teeth on a stick loud enough to be heard a hundred feet off, at the end of an hour our jaws and gums would be so sore we could not bear it. But the woodpecker seems to suffer no inconvenience.

Our Poultry Department

is now open and we are paying high spot cash prices for good plump birds (alive), delivered Peterborough.

We can supply farmers and Poultry raisers with fattening crates at a small rent, to be returned us in good condition at the end of the season.

A premium paid on crate milk fed chickens. For particulars apply to—

W. SCOTT Co., Ltd.
1124 Robinson Street
Phone 264

EXAMINER PATTERN SERVICE

LADY'S ONE-PIECE APRON.

By Anabel Worthington.

The general note of the season in dress designs is for long, loose lines—it is followed to a degree in the designing of aprons also. The illustration is an example.

Neatness and smart style characterize this serviceable garment, which is cut in one piece and adjusted with back straps that cross and button over to the shoulder fronts. The straight front is adorned with a shaped pocket of good size, placed at either side.

Those who tend the altar fires of the household goods will be thankful for an apron like this which is so easy to arrange over the dress and as easily removed. This feature alone will recommend it, as one may get ready for church or to make a call and by slipping the apron on prepare a meal in full contentment, because it covers the dress completely and when removed one has no dressing to do. A time and temper saver.

Plain and striped gingham, linen, chambray, &c., are suitable for this utility garment. To make it the only instructions necessary are written and pictured on the pattern envelope.

The apron pattern, No. 8,009, cuts in sizes 36, 40 and 44 bust measure.

To make in size 36 requires 3¼ yards 36 inch material.

To obtain the pattern send [illegible] to the office of this publication.

When ordering remember to give your name and address as well as the number and size of pattern required, and age of a child.

Price 15 cents, or 2 for 25 cents.

Address—The Examiner Pattern Service, The Examiner, Peterborough.

WHEN YOU WANT
COAL
CEMENT
Sewer Pipe
CONSULT
H. B. TAYLOR & SON
Cor. Aylmer & Wolfe
'Phone 209

FILL YOUR BIN with the Only Genuine White Ash
D. L. & W.
SCRANTON COAL Automatically Screened

It's a well-known fact that there is as great difference between different kinds of coal as there is between any other two commodities and it ought to pay coal consumers to do a little experimenting on their own account. We claim that this D. L. & W. Scranton Coal is the cleanest coal known. We claim that it will do more heating than any other coal.

Robert Hicks Co.
LIMITED
Charlotte and Bethune Sts.
Murray and Bethune Sts.
PHONES 47-48

LOW'S COAL

STOVE COAL, per ton..$8.50
NUT COAL, per ton....$8.50
PEA COAL, per ton....$7.25
No. 1 CANEL COAL $8.50

LOW & COMPANY
262 Simcoe St. and 385 Bethune St
Phone 697 Hights and Holidays 766

COAL
THAT IS ALL COAL
PROMPT DELIVERY
Peterborough Fuel & Transfer Co.
Charlotte St. 'Phones 270 261, 462
Truck and Transfer Business in Connection

THERE IS NO FUEL
so good as
ANTHRACITE COAL
and no better anthracite than
LehighValleyCoal
THE COAL THAT SATISFIES
ALSO
HARD AND SOFT WOOD
Cutting and Splitting Extra
J. E. A. FITZGERALD
'PHONE 111

HEAT PRODUCING
COAL
Use Our
PITTSTON COAL
It Makes Warm Friends
Terms Positively Cash
Weir & McCarthy
Coal and Wood Dealers
111 Hunter St., East City. 'Phone 96

IF YOU NO LONGER USE IT, SELL IT THROUGH AN EXAMINER "FOR SALE AD."

Subscribe to "The Examiner"

12 Pages

The Evening Examiner

PETERBOROUGH TUESDAY, JANUARY 2, 1917

GRANT SIX
If you are in the market for a six-cylinder car, be sure and see the Grant Six, at PULKINGHORN'S AUTO AND TAXI LIVERY.
'Phone 278. Res. 'Phone 716

The First Hockey Match of The Season---TO-NIGHT

247th Battalion vs. Lindsay. Game called at 8.15. The Band will give a program commencing at 7.30.

Military Guards Still Encircle Kitchener News Record Block

Editors of the Paper Which Was the Official Organ of the Citizens' League Lay Blame For Last Night's Trouble Upon Members of the 118th Battalion Who Were Home on Leave---Bulgarians Claim Success in Region of Macin Bridgehead

A SUMMARY OF TO-DAY'S WAR CABLES

SPECIAL TO THE EXAMINER:

KITCHENER, January 2.—Military guards still encircle the block which includes the office of the Daily News Record, which was the centre of the disturbance last night, when following municipal elections, soldiers on leave from London camp, smashed up the News Record office, the organ of the Citizens' League. Major B. Osborne, Assistant Provost Marshall of the London Military District, has charge of the situation. No arrest were made here as soldiers who are said to have done damage, got away to London before the military guard from Galt arrived on the scene. It is understood that instructions have been sent to London to effect the arrests of soldiers responsible. In the meantime troops from Galt, the 122nd Battalion, will remain in charge till Mayor-elect David Gross, Jr., is satisfied that their services to maian order are no longer required. It is expected that they will return to headquarters in Galt, as disturbances were confined largely to the News Record area and leaders of the affair were undoubtedly soldiers. The editors of the News Record say that the soldiers of the 118th Battalion home on leave from London, were entirely responsible for the trouble.

Carrying folded flags two dozen members of the 118th entered the News Record office and asked the city editor why a certain article appeared, and jumping on to the business counter Sergeant Bowded read the item aloud, and with gesticulations fired his followers to action which was a general smash-up from the front to the back of the building.

.... Editor Uttley declares that all men of the 118th home on leave are not to blame for the riotous conduct of a few. Now new developments are expected unless the promise of some members of the 118th Battalion to return to-night is fulfilled. The News Record will publish to-day as usual.

Leaders of the Citizens' League this morning declared themselves absolutely loyal to Britain and the cause of Britain, and said they have no desire to revert the city to the name of Berlin. The issues between the Citizens' League and the British League, they say, were entirely local municipal politics, and many of the men elected are British born and of British parentage. On the other hand leaders of the British League this morning while showing no sympathy for the rioters, declare that the result of the municipal elections would be to make Kitchener uncomfortable for British sympathizers to live in.

Bulgars Claim They Took 1500 Prisoners

SPECIAL TO THE EXAMINER:

SOFIA, January 2.—Fifteen hundred men, sixteen officers, four field guns and 19 machine guns were captured by Bulgarian forces in the offensive around the bridgehead of Macin, to-day's official said.

Answer of Entente to President Wilson

SPECIAL TO THE EXAMINER:

PARIS, January 1.—The answer of the Entente powers to President Wilson's note, according to the Matin, will contain a long, detailed account of the origin and objects of the war. It will include also a declaration by the Belgian Government "thanking the generous American nation for the immense services rendered during the last two years," and expressing its "confidence in America's friendly collaboration for the future."

The answer, the Matin says, will contain all the facts justifying in the eyes of actors in, and spectators of, the great struggle, the determination and will of the allies.

The reply of the Entente allies to the peace not of President Wilson will follow the same course on the answer to the Central Powers. Great Britain and France already have agreed on the draft, which has been submitted to the other members of the Entente, and on their approval will be handed to the American Ambassador, William G. Sharp, in Paris, it is officially announced.

The original draft, like the reply to the Central Powers, will be written by the French authorities after consultation with the allies of France.

Only Son of Harry Lauder is Killed

SPECIAL TO THE EXAMINER:

LONDON, January 2.—Capt. John Lauder, of the Argyll and Sutherland Highlanders, only son of Harry Lauder, has been killed in France. In late years all Harry Lauder's hopes and ambitions have centred in his son, who was graduated from Cambridge and was about to begin his training as a lawyer when the war broke out, although Lauder, writing in the Sunday Herald yesterday, said: "When my son comes home from the wars I hope he will take kindly to thoughts of sheep farming and become established a decent Scots laird, growing the nation's meat. That's the life that is a reality ,but most of your doings in town are just a cinema show."

Generally Quiet On the French Battle Front

SPECIAL TO THE EXAMINER:

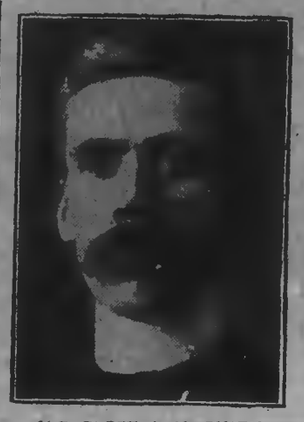
PARIS (French Official), January 2.—Skirmishing around small posts in the woods of Lepretre and Jury northwest of Hiry were the only features of the fighting on the western front. The night was generally calm.

BERLIN, January 2.—"With thanks to God, with pride in Germany's strength and confidence that the coming year will bring new victories we hold on," declared Kaiser Wilhelm in a New Year's message to Empress Augusta Victoria.

Frank Replies To National Service Cards

SPECIAL TO THE EXAMINER:

OTTAWA, January 2.—This is national registration week, and already the incoming mail bags are filled with cards containing replies to the 24 questions put to all Canadian males between ages of 16 and 65 by the National Service Commission. The replies received so far are from those living within a day's travel of the capital. The replies in practically all cases are frank and open, showing willingness to answer the 24 questions asked. Speaking at the dinner to returned soldiers yesterday, Premier Borden said he realized that the days of voluntary recruiting were practically at an end, and more efficient measures would have to be taken to fill up the ranks of the Canadian expeditionary force.



ALD.-ELECT J. H. SMITH
Winner of the Aldermanic Election in East City, where Ald. Evans was defeated.

MARTIAL LAW IN KITCHENER AFTER ELECTION

British League's Candidates For Municipal Honours Were All Defeated--Squad From Muskoka Battalion Patrols Streets

THE "NAME" AN ISSUE

KITCHENER, Jan. 1.--Instead of the electors of Kitchener celebrating victory for the successful candidate for the Mayoralty to-night the city is under martial law, 100 men of the 122nd Muskoka Battalion, stationed at Galt, parading the streets of the city to preserve order, this state of affairs following the landslide of the Citizens' League, which was organized shortly after the majority of the electors decided that the name of Kitchener should take the place of Berlin. To-day's municipal election resulted in Ald. David Cross, jr., the Citizens' League nominee, for the mayoralty, defeating Ald. W. E. Gallagher, of the British League, by a majority of 754. In addition, the Citizens' League was successful in electing its entire slate of 15 men for the City Council, two members to the Water Commission, two members to the Light Commission, and three out of six to the Public School Board.

Name-Changing Issue.

The municipal fight was waged between the two leagues primarily on the name-changing issue, but during last week the Citizens' Leaguers declared that the name question was not an issue until after the war. Instead the organ of the Citizens' League, the News-Record, appealed to the old-timers to show by their votes to-day who would control this city in future, with the result that the entire German vote in all parts of the city showed its strength and gave their candidate for Mayor, Ald. Cross, who declared at the nomination meeting that "legally the name of the city was Kitchener, but in his heart it was Berlin," a majority of 754 and piled up large votes for the 15 candidates of the City Council, five of whom were members of the Council of last year. Ald. H. Huehnergard headed the list with 1,845 votes.

When the results were being reported and it became known that the Citizens Leaguers were successful, the soldiers of the 118th Battalion formed a parade on King Street and marched to the tune of patriotic airs until they reached the News-Record office, where some unknown person, it is alleged, attempted to grab the Union Jack away from Sergt.-Major Blood. This aroused the anger of the men in khaki and in a very short time the front plate-glass window of the News-Record was smashed and the office was entered by scores of soldiers.

During the melee Ald.-elect H. M. Bowman and N. Asmussen attempted to stop the soldiers and were roughly handled, the former being struck on the head by a chair and the latter was knocked forcibly to the floor. Provost-Marshal Osborne, of London district, was in the city and immediately appeared on the scene and called upon the men to disperse. They did so and shortly after a message was sent to Galt for a

(Continued on Page 10.)

93RD MAN WOUNDED

Fortieth Casualty Among Members of Peterboro' Battalion Reported —247th Battalion Canvass Begins This Afternoon

TO-DAY'S MILITARY NEWS

Another ex-member of the 93rd Battalion is officially reported wounded, making a total of 40 casualties in the Peterboro unit. Mrs. Theodore E. Kimball, 297 King street, has received official word from Ottawa that Pte. Theodore Kimball, of the 5th C.M.R., late of the 93rd Battalion, has been admitted to hospital on December 10th. Pte. Kimball is a well-known resident of Peterboro, who enlisted with the 93rd Batt.

A letter received by a member of the Examiner staff, from Sergt. L. Millership, formerly of the military police of the 93rd Batt., states that he has been transferred to the 1st Canadian Military Police for duty in France. "I have had to give up one stripe to get into that unit but I can get to France instead of "bumming around" England.

Messages of appreciation and gratitude have been received from Sergt. J. H. Williams, Sergt. Wm. Jones, West Sandling Camp, Sergt. E. Sutherland, Witley Camp, and Sergt. B. J. Palin, Shorncliffe, by Mr. L. J. Colling, Principal of the South Central School, for the Christmas parcels prepared by the pupils for the fathers or brothers or friends of the pupils of the school. Sixty parcels were forwarded from the school and the pupils received great pleasure in their "doing a bit" for the Empire.

The music belonging to the 93rd Batt. Band, which was lost for a few days in the journey from Quebec to Peterboro, has arrived. The band reported for duty this morning and were soon hard at work rehearsing. They will make their first appearance in public since their return, at the hockey game at the Brock street rink to-night.

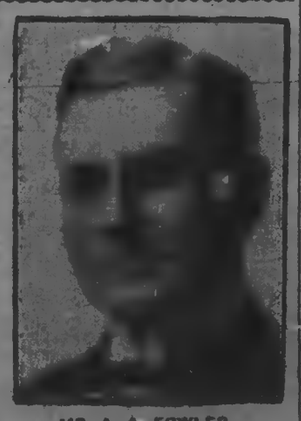
The 247th Battalion canvas of the eligibles of the city, commenced this morning. Fourteen hundred men of military age, are to be interviewed.

Lt. A. H. Cameron, Sergt. J. C. Gamey, and Corp. A. E. Cole, of the 247th Batt., leave to-night to take a course at the School of Bayonet Fighting and Physical Training at Kingston. Lt. D. Shook, Lt. V. J. Moderry, Sergt. A. C. Cole, Pte. C. G. Pilkey and Pte. D. MacLeod, left this morning to attend the I. S. of I., at Kingston.

A Returned Soldier.

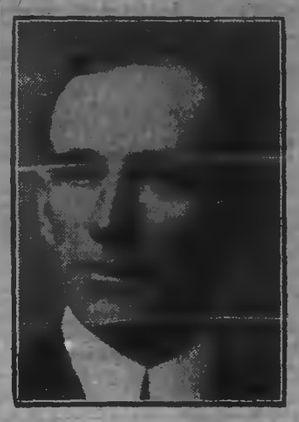
Private Horace Urquhart, of the Royal Canadian Regiment, is in the city after an absence of twenty-one months at the front. Pte. Urquhart is visiting his sister here, and will stay here if he can secure satisfactory employment. Pte. Urquhart was surprised at the reception which he received upon his arrival in the city. He first called at the Empress Hotel where he was cordially welcomed by Mr. George Graham, and later upon calling at Yeotes cigar store failed in an attempt to purchase some cigars. The smokes were given to him by Mr. Yeotes. These and several other similar experiences led Pte. Urquhart has had o strenuous borough is not slow to welcome in a practical way a returned soldier. During the past twenty-one months

(Continued on page 10.)



MR. A. A. FOWLER
Who headed the polls in the Board of Education race.

Alderman George Evans Will Demand A Recount



ALD.-ELECT W. H. TAYLOR
Who defeated Ald. Edgar in the South Ward Race.

DISTRICTS AND DAYS FOR COLLECTION OF NAT. SERVICE CARDS

Postal Carriers Will Collect Cards From Entire City and Citizens Are Requested to Co-operate to Fullest Extent

NOTICE THE DATES

The National Service cards are being collected in districts which the citizens are requested to notice. If they will have the cards ready on the particular days of collection and respond to the postal carriers' calls they will materially facilitate the work and assist the letter carriers.

The districts and their dates of collection are as follows:

Tuesday, Jan. 2nd—All East City.

Wednesday, Jan. 3nd—All north of London street west of the river and east of Donegal street.

Regular carriers—G. Stevens and Gilbert Harris.

Thursday, Jan. 4th — All east of Park street to the river from London street south to Brock street; all north of Charlotte street west of Bethune street, and east of Park to Brock street.

Regular carriers—E. Lee and W. Rogers.

Friday, Jan. 5th—All Park street and west to the Boundary from Wolfe street to Smith street; also all Charlotte street.

Regular carriers—G. Davis and C. A. Stenton.

Saturday, Jan. 6th — All north of Lansdowne street and south of Wolfe street; also Reid and Rubidge streets to and including Sherbrooke street and Dalhousie from Stewart to Park street.

Carriers—G. Downer and B. Stevens.

Monday, Jan. 8th—Water street from Brock street south; also north of Wolfe street east of and including Stewart street south of Charlotte; also Rubidge and Reid streets from Sherbrooke to Charlotte street, and King street east of Park street.

Regular carrier—J. Grisdale.

The centre route south of Brock street, west of Water street, east of Bethune and north of Charlotte will be collected by Mr. W. Stewart, the regular carrier during the present week.

EASY.

In the old days when a person suffered with their eyes, they had to go on suffering because science had not made the great strides in optics that it has done in the past few years. Now it is comparatively easy for a person suffering with their eyes or head to obtain relief, by consulting an eye specialist. See Dr. Lacey, and See Better. 410 George Street.

BIG YARN SALE

Thurs., Fri. and Sat., Jan. 4th 5th and 6th.

Donner-Worth Yarns, the biggest value for your money. Reg. $1.60 and $1.75 per lb., now $1.29 in all colours.

82 Hunter St

4d-1 East of St. John's Church

First Returns Gave the Late Chairman of the Fire, Water and Light Committee a Lead of Five Votes While Later Figures Gave His Opponent a Lead of Four Votes--Fowler Heads the List of Successful Candidates For the Board of Education.

RETURNS CAME IN QUICKLY

To start out with a lead of five votes and then lose out by four votes was the experience of Mr. George Evans, candidate for re-election in the East Ward. There was some confusion in one of the polling sub-divisions with the result that at one stage of the evening, the re-election of Mr. Evans was practically assured. Mr. Evans will seek a recount before the County Judge. In the South Ward the result was not quite so close. Mr. W. H. Taylor loped in with the comfortable majority of one hundred and fifty-one over his opponent, Alderman Edgar, who now as a matter of course, will pass to the ex-alderman class. Both men put up a good contest, and many are the conjectures as to the cause.

BOARD OF EDUCATION.

Mr. A. A. Fowler headed the list of successful candidates for the Board of Education. He was followed by Messrs. Gordon, Eastwood and Denne in the order named. Mr. B. F. Ackermon ran fifth place, while Mr. Doan headed the list from the bottom up. Mr. Ackerman's defeat was a distinct surprise to everybody, as he has given long years of service to the Board, and has always taken a keen interest in educational matters pertaining to this city.

THE FIGURES.

Following ore the figures:—

BOARD OF EDUCATION

Polling Division—	Ackerman	Denne	Doan	Eastwood	Fowler	Gordon
1 Freeburn's Store	38	36	12	31	35	33
2 Braund's Store	18	20	6	21	28	30
3 Halpin's Store	25	19	7	19	24	20
4 Co-Operative Store	38	32	14	35	41	41
5 T. J. Murray's	37	32	5	33	40	40
6 Storey's Office	14	18	12	20	21	19
7 City Council Chamber	13	20	6	15	23	25
8 Bell's Store	3	6	3	6	11	9
9 Rea and Hunter's	15	19	12	16	23	21
10 Matthew's-Blackwell	27	28	9	27	33	34
11 J. E. Lillico's	43	33	16	35	37	28
12 H. Merritt's house	48	51	28	56	62	48
13 H. Routley's	25	22	13	24	26	21
14 J. Lynch's	19	20	7	23	25	19
15 Lee's House	24	26	19	35	32	32
16 Cook's Store	37	28	16	33	39	37
17 Kennedy's Store	13	10	5	13	17	16
18 T. H. Hooper's	14	18	11	18	26	26
19 J. T. Braund's	34	30	14	41	36	29
20 Swanson's	26	39	9	29	56	30
21 T. I. Hill's shop	17	31	12	25	71	44
22 Coon's Store	17	19	7	23	37	20
Totals	529	557	247	576	734	645

Candidates elected: A. A. Fowler, G. N. Gordon, V. Eastwood and R. Denne.

FOR ALDERMEN

SOUTH WARD.

Polling Div.	Edgar	Taylor
1 Freeburn's Store	32	78
2 Braund's Store	27	49
3 Halpin's Store	22	72
4 Co-Operative Store	25	60
5 T. J. Murray's	45	36
	151	296

Maj. for Taylor 151

EAST WARD

	Evans.	Hamilton.
No. 20 Swanson's house	65	48
No. 21 T. I. Hill's shop	80	59
No. 22 Coon's store	34	46
	149	153

CARBOLIC ACID CAUSE OF DEATH

Mrs. Edward Tighe Found Dead in Bed Sunday Morning—Empty Bottle Told the Story

Following a family row on Saturday night, Mrs. John Edward Tighe was found dead in bed of carbolic acid poisoning on Sunday morning at her home, 513 Donegal street. When P. C. Pratt arrived at the house at 10.40 a. m. on Sunday he found an empty bottle of carbolic acid that had been bought at Madill's drug store on Saturday. There were also three empty liquor cases and a half bottle of whiskey. Dr. Amys was present when P. C. Pratt called and stated that death was due to carbolic poisoning.

At a late hour on Saturday night Police Sergt. Reid and Constable Deannard were called to the Tighe home to quell a disturbance which Tighe and his wife were carrying on to the annoyance of the neighbours. According to their report Mrs. Tighe complained that her husband had been drinking and that she and her mother-in-law had been driven out the police left, but when they had and that his wife appeared to be taking the initiative in the disagreement. After restoring a semblance of order gone a short distance they turned to see the two women standing in front of the house.

The late Mrs. Tighe was Mary Anne Heffernan of Douro. The funeral will take place on Wednesday to the Little Lake cemetery.

LINE-UPS FOR TO-NIGHT'S GAME WITH LINDSAY

Although the weather is mild to-day the ice at Brock Street Rink is in good shape for to-night's game between Lindsay and the 247th Battalion, the opening hockey game of the season. The 247th Band will furnish music. Stanley Burgoyne of Toronto will referee the battle and the teams will line up as follows:

Lindsay	247th
Goal.
O'Loughlin	Leggitt
Right Defence.
Norton	Thornton
Left Defence
A. Carew	Halpin
Rover
G. Carew	Flanagan
Centre
McElroy	Armstrong
Right Wing
Griffin	Adams
Left Wing
Haugh	Evans

TO-DAY'S INDEX

Page 1—Allies refuse to discuss peace.
Page 3—Serial Story.
Page 3—Daily Short Story.
Page 4—General News.
Page 5—War and local Military News.
Page 6—Editorial.
Page 7—Reconstruction Problems for a Canadian Overseas.
Page 8—Sunday Sermon by Rev. Mr. Fegan.
Page 9—Memorial Service on All Saints'.
Page 10—General News.
Page 11—Sport Gossip.
Page 12—Local News.

Evening Examiner

Phones—Editorial 1601, Business Office 1600 Private Branch Exchange to all Departments.

The Paid Circulation of The Daily Examiner Is Over

5200 COPIES DAILY

SWORN TO AND GUARANTEED

The Daily Examiner, published every week-day by the Peterborough Examiner, Limited, Office, 410 George St.

The Weekly Examiner, published Thursday morning.

The subscription price of the Daily Examiner is $4.00 per annum; that of The Weekly, $1.50.

U. S. Representatives—Stockwell, Special Agency, People's Gas Bldg.—Chicago, Tribune Bldg.—New York.

Advertising rates on application.

R. H. Glover, Managing Director.

"Peterborough Presents Possibilities Unsurpassed."

TUESDAY, JAN. 2, 1917

THE LOCAL ELECTIONS.

Our local elections are over. The fact of so many being elected by acclamation concentrated the aldermanic fight and intensified it in two of the wards, with, in one case, close results, and in the other, a sweeping victory for the successful candidate, Mr. W. H. Taylor, Ward No. One is generally a fighting district of the city. In the School Board contest there were six good candidates in the field, and consequently four good men were elected. The retirement of Mr. Ackerman is something of a surprise. As chairman of the Board and a member with large experience, it would have been thought that his implied qualifications would have made larger appeal to the electorate, who, however, have the matter of their representation in their own hands. It seems certain that the gentlemen favoured and returned will give the good services expected of them, in keeping with the generally good character of the administration of the Board of Education as a whole. It may not be amiss to give congratulations to Mr. Gordon, who, in the face of strong opposition, received a vote that represents a large public confidence in his ability and will to give good service; and to Mr. Fowler, the novus homo of the Board, for having achieved the honour of heading the poll. Both bodies, especially the City Council, will have the strength, administration, and direction of important matters the coming year, and we can have reasonable confidence that they will measure up to the responsibility which they will both do if they take a course to enlist the cooperation of the citizens, an important condition of success with any representative body.

THE YEAR AND ITS WORK.

The new year faces us with its benefits, its trials, and its sacrifices; with its responsibilities and its rewards; with its duties and their discharge. And the measure of our happiness and prosperity will, under Divine Providence, rest with the manner in, and extent to, which we meet our responsibilities. The highest object does not consist in material success, not in the satisfaction of our more animal wants, but real happiness, real prosperity, and real success can only come from meeting as adequately as may be the obligations not directly associated with our material prosperity, yet supremely important. We have the higher duty to work for others; for our fellow citizens in city and county, and in country and empire.

The key note of the action the year demands is strenuosity. That is the slogan of our armies in the field, of our allies.

Till the battle is done there is no room for rest. We must all, in the words of the metaphor "get down to our knitting." In this we may well all follow the example of the tireless Red Cross women workers. They have ended a year of strenuous endeavour and fruitful work. Boldly they envisage another year's hard work. The call to service has been sounded and to-morrow they meet to organize anew for an even more energetic campaign than that of the year just closed. Not only must they come prepared to outline work, but they are summoned to begin work, to come to the meeting prepared to work.

The spirit of the Red Cross workers, furnishes a splendid example in its simplicity, directness, and practical character to our governments and all our citizens of the sterner sex. We only adequately see our duty when we resolutely and promptly do it. These splendid women make sacrifices; let their homes, to a certain extent, look after themselves; but it is probable that women who look after their home duties in the same way that they attend to patriotic and national duties, have their homes in such order that they can, for a time, easily take care of themselves. Anyway the Red Cross women—and this includes those of the associated auxiliary organizations—show that where there is a will there is a way. The logical sequence of their attitude is generous support by the rest of the citizens. Willingness to work and working create a demand for materials, and these create a demand for more or less financial support.

This emphasizes the fact that the essence of effective local or national success or accomplishment is cooperation and harmonious coordination of effort. We have now the way clear to give effect to this desideratum. Our Christmas holidays are over; we have elected our civic and educational rulers; and we now are in a position to throw ourselves whole-heartedly and with a minimum of distraction into the work of helping win this war, and provide for the home consequences, as related to our returned soldiers, our fellow citizens, and our industrial and economic interests. With a strong pull and a pull altogether at home and abroad, the forces that stand for civilization and humanity will, we hope, end the terrible conflict before another year rolls away. So may it be.

THE HEALTH ASSOCIATION.

The significance of the existence and activities of the Peterborough Health Association, and its importantly "intimate" relation to the promotion of the prime interest of the city, the public health, was greatly emphasized by the occasion of Friday night last at the Empress hotel. It was at once a reunion and an annual meeting. The character of the gathering, its personnel, as in the case of the O'Connell banquet, showed the catholicity of its objects and service. The spirit of harmony, the inclusion of every class, creed and nationality in the work of the Association and in the promotion of its effectiveness and range, represented the conditions that are essential to the promotion of every worthy public service, whether waging war, or caring for its consequences, or advancing patriotic, national or civic interests—harmony of spirit, cordiality of citizenship, and intensity of cooperation, involving effective co-ordination of effort and the greatest of good results.

The report of Rev. Father Phelan, the president of the Association, though complete as to detail of statement, fell far short of conveying the true idea, except to the thinking, the sophisticated and the sympathetic, of the real meaning and extent of the work of the Association. It could not tell the full story or express the real significance of its work; of the visits of the nurses; of their ministrations; of the comfort they carried; of the joy they brought; of the healing they helped, by the most potent of medication—intelligent, skillful and tender nursing. It could not tell, only by suggestion, of the comfort and hope brought to hundreds of homes, left otherwise, with scant equipment of means, of suitable housing or home comforts or knowledge, to fight alone the grim battle with present disease and menacing death; neither could the report tell only in terms of dollars and cents, the benefits of the nourishing food provided, a luxury in these high price times, for the rich, but inaccessible otherwise, and impossible to, many a patient, whose scanty means were perhaps inadequate to the supply of the crudest food, crudely prepared, perhaps, and unappealing to the appetite of an invalid whose one chief need might be nourishing, palatable and tempting diet.

With all the appeal of the Association, by virtue of its work and the benefits it bestows, with all the claim to liberal support, it is remarkable that it closed its year with a deficit of about $100. It is true the occasion of Friday night considerably strengthened its finances; and happy accident was responsible for unexpected display of generosity. The banqueters of the DeLaval Company meeting the appeal of the occasion with a splendid liberality, in their contribution of the considerable sum of $50, is an example to others. Most of them are newcomers to the city, with naturally less of interest in our domestic affairs than other citizens. If all our other citizens, proportionately, supplemented the funds of the Association as they did, there would be no deficit to report at the end of the year. And if all our other citizens had done as much as the proprietor of the Empress hotel, who made it over to the ladies of the Association—"lock, stock and barrel"—for Friday night, there would be as much of a surplus in the coffers of the Health Association as there was supererogatory generosity in Mr. Graham's largess or privilege.

The claim of the Health Association to public sympathy and support are of the strongest. The sanitary oversight of the city, a responsibility of the Board of Health, is important; but no matter how thoroughly its work is done—and in Peterborough it is fairly well done—there are necessarily shortcomings; cases of poverty, disease and suffering that the application of sanitary principles of the most thorough kind cannot avert, will arise. These conditions must be met. They have the double claim of considerations of the general sanitary welfare and the higher claim of our humanity. Here is where the Health Association comes in. Here its benefactors begin. Here it becomes the help of the helpless, the hope of the unhoping, the Florence Nightingale of the wounded in the hard battle of life. The Association works by means, and that means is furnished by the means of the many.

The work of the Red Cross, the appeal of the Patriotic Fund, must be helped and heeded. They are noble causes, but not more nor most noble. Thes insistence of their claim, please God, will soon cease, and the call to action end. But the Health Association and what justifies its existence, and calls for our help will, like the poor, be with us always. We must keep its machinery in smooth working order and in good repair.

TREMENDOUS DEFEATS THE GERMANS HAVE MET

Self-criticism is one of the inherent characteristics of the British temperament. Doubtless that is one reason why we have heard so much of Allied blunders during this winter's stock-taking of the war, and as relatively little of Allied achievements. Suppose we look upon the other side of the picture for a moment, and make a brief record of the series of tremendous defeats which the Allies have inflicted upon Germany? First, there was the fearful defeat inflicted upon Germany at the Marne—a defeat which shattered into ruins the whole ambitious scheme which Germany started the war to realize. That scheme had been elaborated and planned by over a quarter of a century of careful and systematic preparation. Then there have been the successive defeats of Germany at Ypres, which have definitely blocked their long-cherished march upon Calais; and the terrible defeats they have experienced on the Aisne and the Somme. The defeat of the Germans at Verdun has been nothing short of colossal.

Turning from France to the Russian front, we have seen some terrible punishment inflicted on the Teutons by the Slavs, culminating in a defeat of the Teuton forces by Brusiloff that disposed of over a million of the enemy. The recent defeat of the enemy at Monastir, is another significant achievement for the Allies, while on the Italian front a startling turning of the tables in our favour has been brought about. The enemy offensive against Egypt has been smashed, and the Russian capture of Armenian territory from the Turko-German forces has been a staggering defeat for them. In addition to this we have seen German power absolutely smashed out of existence in the Islands of the Pacific, in China, and in vast portions of the African continent.

On the sea, Germany has suffered even worse. German raiders on the Pacific have been blown to atoms. Von Spee's fleet was annihilated off the Falklands by one of the most brilliant naval victories in history. Germany's Navy suffered another cruel blow by Admiral Beatty's victory off Heligoland, and it met real disaster at the hands of the British in the Jutland battle. In addition to this Germany's merchant fleet has been absolutely driven off the seas, and her whole foreign commerce absolutely destroyed.

All this has been achieved, while the Allies have been preparing and building up the great war machine with which to meet Germany in that vast final clash of arms which is to decide once and for all the fate of civilization. For that cataclysmic event we are now almost ready. Germany's minor victories in the surprise attacks on Belgium and Northern France, and her swoops on small nations, like Serbia, Montenegro, and Rumania, weigh but lightly against the succession of defeats she has suffered. When we talk about blunders, let us ponder on the appalling blunders committed by Germany in the conception and pursuit of her grandiose scheme for the domination of the world, and for the soul-shaking defeats she has suffered. Yet this colossal catalogue of catastrophes is but the preliminary to the final abyssmal defeat which Germany is now draining her manhood to the very dregs to stave off, in the hope that before the great blow falls the hands of the Allies will be arrested by the Judas cry of "Peace."—Montreal Herald.

HINTS FOR SMOKERS.

How To Get the Best Results From Your Favorite Pipe.

A good meerschaum pipe demands plenty of attention. If you carry it loose in your pocket pieces of grit will scratch it. Keep it in a case except when actually smoking it.

If you wish to color a meerschaum, bear these few points in mind. Use a strong tobacco at first, shag for preference. Put a plug at the bottom of the bowl. Ordinarily the bottom of the bowl colors before the upper part, but this plug reverses the process. When the top of the pipe has become an even brown remove the plug.

Don't smoke the meerschaum in a high wind or when out in the rain. The wind may color it unevenly, the rain will spot it. Don't let it get too hot, and be careful not to scratch it with your finger-nails.

The best pipe to smoke is a briar. Clean it out once a week by running a piece of string through the stem, and it will give you just as good a smoke and less trouble than a meerschaum, clay, or calabash. String makes a better pipe-cleaner than a feather, as it goes right through the stem and out at the bowl, whilst the feather comes back the same way as it enters. Whenever possible, scrape out ashes in preference to knocking the bowl against any hard substance, as constant knocking causes the bowl to crack. But don't scrape away all the carbon from inside the bowl—just leave a thin coating.

Some smokers always light their cigarettes with wax vestas and their pipes with wooden matches. The liquid wax drips on to the tobacco and taints it. The unpleasant taste of a brand-new pipe can be banished by burning some grass in it.

Snow and Timber.

Few would imagine that the absence of snow would double the price of timber. The greater part of the world's supply of common timber comes from the forests of Canada, Scandinavia and Russia. All of these countries have a greater or less fall of snow. Snow is one of the best non-conductors of heat or cold in the world, and when the fall is a foot deep a thermometer showing 60 degrees on its surface will, if buried beneath the snow, rise to about 30 degrees. The snow, therefore, is an enormous blanket protecting the roots of the trees from the intense cold, besides covering the warmth of the soil. A full-grown pine can stand almost any degree of cold, but a young tree cannot do so. It might sprout during summer, but a snowless winter would infallibly kill it. If, therefore, snow ceased, the enormous timber supplies of Northern Europe, Asia and America would disappear.

FOR NERVE-SHATTERED MEN.

Ontario Provides a Hospital for Soldiers Suffering From Shock.

Ontario has again come to the front in a most tangible way in connection with the war. This time it is not with a gift of money, but in the equally practical and necessary way of caring for those who are suffering through the stress of battle. Recognizing that the war has produced special conditions among the disabled soldiers, the Canadian Hospitals Commission has arranged with the Ontario Government, through the Department of the Provincial Secretary, to establish a military hospital for the treatment of mental and shock cases.

For this purpose the present hospital for mental diseases at Cobourg is to be converted into a military hospital, with a staff and equipment provided by the present organization of the Department. This means that soldiers from Ontario who are brought back suffering from shock will be received into an institution specially maintained to give them proper treatment. So far as is known, Ontario is the only Province where such an innovation has been attempted, and it is regarded by those who are familiar with the wastage produced by the present war as one of the most needed branches of the medical service.

The Cobourg hospital will be made immediately available by the transfer of some 180 female patients to the new institution at Whitby. Special equipment such as continuous baths, vapor baths, electro-therapeutic baths and other apparatus will be installed at Cobourg, while detached buildings will be erected from time to time to provide for an increased accommodation up to 500 patients. The staff will be selected from the most competent in the various institutions of the Province, and should the demand warrant it, part of the new hospital at Whitby can also be used.

In making use of the facilities of the Province for this work the Canadian Hospitals Commission is not divesting itself of any responsibility. The arrangement with the Ontario Government provides for a fixed allowance per day for each patient. In this way a large capital expenditure is avoided on the one hand for the Dominion, and there will be no delay in commencing treatment for those men who are now on their way to Canada or will be immediately sent here.

Settlers' Loans Prove Popular.

Applications for loans under the settlers' loan legislation of last session, already amount to $92,790 for the District of Timiskaming alone, and others are still coming in.

"A substantial amount has already been paid over to the settlers and the bulk of the amount applied for is in process of going to them," stated the Government Loan Commissioner, Mr. Fred Dane.

"We have given precedence to applications from Timiskaming, because we thought the need there more urgent than in other districts on account of the fires," said Commissioner Dane. "One effect of the burning of so much standing timber has been to give an impetus to clearing. With the bush burned off settlers are looking for loans to help them get more land cleaned up and in cultivation, and to get cattle to pasture in the burned areas."

The New Liskeard, Englehart, Matheson, and Cochrane agencies contribute the bulk of the applications. Cochrane has 82 settlers applying for a total of $35,300; Matheson, 52 for $26,100; Englehart, 48 for $16,550, and New Liskeard, 49 for $18,500.

In the Hearst agency away out on the Transcontinental, nine settlers want $2,940; in the North Bay district, five settlers ask for $3,100, and at Haileybury, three want to divide up $1,000. While the legislation under which loans are made permits the Commissioner making a loan up to $500, secured by the settler's property, comparatively few men have asked for so much, the average running around $350.

LOCAL WANT ADS.

One cent a word first insertion, ½c for subsequent insertions. No advertisements accepted less than 15 words.

CONTRACT RATES.

One Issue	1c
Three Consecutive	2c
Six Consecutive	3c
Two Weeks	5c
Three Weeks	7c
One Month or Over (c a word a month.

Out-of-town orders, to insure insertion, must be accompanied by cash or stamps.

COMMERCIAL ADS.

Commercial Advertising Rates on application to Examiner Office or to any recognized advertising agency in Canada, Great Britain or the United States.

EXAMINER PHONES

Business Office and Advertising
1600
Business Mgr. and Advertising Mgr
1600
Editorial Department.
1601
Private Telephone Exchange

TRANSIENT ADS.

Birth and Death Notices, 50c; Memorial and Marriage Notices, 25c.

Transient Displays, Amusements, Auction Sales, etc., 15c per inch. Reading Notices 25 cents per inch. Black Locals 25 cents per inch.

SUBSCRIPTION RATES

DAILY EXAMINER—Delivered by carriers to any address in the city 25 cents a month; by mail to any address in Canada and Great Britain, 25 cents a month, or $3 a year; to the United States, $5 a year. Payable in advance.

WEEKLY EXAMINER in Canada, $1.50; to the United States $1.50.

FLAG OF BRITAIN FIRST.

Since the Time of the Commonwealth —Naval Term Explained.

When did Britain first assert her supremacy on the Narrow Seas? It is possible that this may have been first done in the time of the Edwards, when the English Kings, ruling possessions on both sides of the Channel, would naturally claim sovereignty over the waters between England and France; and it is quite certain the French and also the Flemish so that this right was admitted by both early as 1330, for in a petition of certain Flemish traders to the English King for punishment of English pirates, he is distinctly alluded to as "Lord of the Narrow Seas"—in fact, they were commonly spoken of about this time as the "English Seas."

Even earlier than this, however, after the great battle of Damme, King John caused it to be proclaimed that all foreign ships refusing to salute English men-of-war were to be treated as enemies, and either destroyed or confiscated, and instructions to this effect were actually issued to the fleet down to the end of the eighteenth century.

In the time of the Commonwealth this sovereignty of the seas was strongly resisted by the Dutch, but Admiral Blake's great victory over Van Tromp and De Ruyter finally settled the matter, and since then every ship of another nationality salutes a British one first. This, however, has now come to be regarded as merely a piece of naval etiquette, and does not convey any idea of inferiority or submission.

Saving Time.

"Say," exclaimed the excited young man with the discolored optics, "I want you to strike me off a few thousand cards!"

"All right, sir," responded the printer. "What shall I put on them?"

"Just print 'None of your business' in big type. Then when the next person asks me how I got this black eye I can just hand him a card and save words."—Philadelphia Ledger.

Ethan Allen's Foundry.

Ethan Allen prior to the American Revolution operated an iron furnace and foundry in Litchfield county, Conn. His iron foundry subsequently furnished much of the shot and shell that was used in the Revolution.—Magazine of American History.

There is no grace in a benefit that sticks to the fingers.—Seneca.

NOTICE!

The undersigned grocers of the City of Peterborough, have placed our orders for grocery stock, in accord with, and are selling to the public, goods that conform to the regulations as set out by the Pure Food Law of Canada. The following stores will be found satisfactory stores at which to buy:

A. W. PASKINS, 233 Hunter St.
W. J. BYERS, Byersville.
D. B. NICHOLLS, 209 Stewart St.
MITCHELL'S GROCERY, 239 Reid St.
BERT. HUNTER, 235 McDonnel St.
EDGAR PUTTICK, 531 Park St.
JUBY BROS., 242 Charlotte St.
N. ROUTLEY, 392 Brock St.
W. ROUTLEY, Lake and Aylmer Sts.
A. DAVIDSON, 133 Benson Ave.
BERT. HEARD, 239 George St
GOHEEN & MATCHETT, 196 Rubidge St.
DAWSON BROS., 559 George St.
F. DARLING, 521 George St.
E. J. McDONELL, 233 Lake St.
F. LYNCH, 465 Park St.
R. S. GOHEEN, 481 Aylmer St.

MONUMENTAL WORK

WE RESPECTFULLY SOLICIT YOUR Order for Cemetery Work of any kind. Latest equipment; first class Scotch granite cutters—Coughlin's Monumental Works, 214 Hunter Street. 'Phone 1341. dtf 46-4346

TO RENT

TO LET—LARGE, WELL HEATED, FURnished front room. Apply 575 Division street. 3d152-671

TO LET — TWO LARGE UNFURNISHED rooms; all conveniences. Apply at the Examiner for address. 3d-151-659

FOR RENT—4 ROOMED HOUSE, WARM —rent $6.00 month. Apply 63 Robinson Street. Harry Morgan. 6d-150-655

FOR RENT—HOUSE 232 McDONNEL (COR. Aylmer), 8 rooms, hardwood floors, gas and conveniences. Apply Wednesday afternoon and evening. 3d-151-662

TO RENT—FURNISHED SUITE OF TWO rooms and bath; very central; steam heat, electric light; suitable for two gentlemen. Box 679 Examiner Office. 3d-152-679

GOOD OFFICE OR STORE WITH WATER connection and heated, possession at once. Apply 185 Charlotte St. dtf-26-2799

FOR RENT—NO. 337 WATER STREET, suitable for store or office, immediate possession. Apply 427 George street. dtf-26

FOR RENT—STORE No. 123½ SIMCOE ST. Immediate possession. Apply 427 George Street. dtf.

LOST

LOST DURING THE CHRISTMAS WEEK a Club Bag lettered L.E.M. Reward if left at Examiner. 3d-152

LOST—ON SATURDAY—AN ALASKA Sable Muff, on street car. Finder please leave at the Examiner office. 3d-1-708

LOST—THREE $1.00 BILLS ON GEORGE Street on Saturday evening. Please leave at the Examiner. 3d-1-696

LOST YESTERDAY—A BLACK PURSE — containing a sum of money, a $5 bill and other change. Finder please leave at this office. 2d152-672

LOST—BETWEEN ARGYLE AND McDONnel streets, a blue brushed wool Scarf, with white border. Finder please leave at the Examiner. 1d-1-697

LOST—ON SUNDAY AFTERNOON ON THE way to Keene a black Buffalo Robe. Finder please leave at 244 Charlotte St. Phone 166. 3d-1-tw-1-697

LOST ON SUNDAY BETWEEN ALL Saints' Church and Thomas Street, a small silver Chain and Locket. Finder please leave at the Examiner. 1d-1-721

LOST—BETWEEN HUNTER ST. BRIDGE and the Court House, two steel bars. Finder kindly phone 198. Reward. 1d-1-720

BOARDERS WANTED

BOARDERS WANTED—CENTRAL — ALL conveniences. Terms moderate. Apply 545 Bethune street. 6d-149-602

BOARDERS WANTED—GOOD BOARD & all conveniences. Apply 108 Aylmer St. 3d-151-656

FOR SALE

CLEARING OUT SALE OF GENT'S SUITS, overcoats, several good gent's fur collars. JAY'S store, Aylmer street. 6d-d

FOR SALE—A NO. 5 UNDERWOOD TYPEwriter, good as new. Cost $125; sell for $75. Apply 15 Fleming Place. 5d-tue-1-700

FOR SALE—CANADA MALLEABLE steel ranges and repairs. 205 Sherbrooke street. 'Phone 1656. 20d-133-263

FOR SALE—PETREE "RANDY" PLANING Mill, nearly new; first class shape; cheap for quick sale. Address Box 706 Examiner office. 3d-1-706

UNDERWOOD NO. 5 LATEST MODEL, two color ribbon, back spacer. For sale cheap to a quick buyer. Apply to Box 4661 Examiner. 20d-108-4661

FOR SALE—BLACKSMITH'S OUTFIT FOR sale, on the premises of the late John Halpin, 211 Hunter Street. Sale commencing January 3rd, and ending January 10th. 6d-1-699

PRIVATE SALE OF HOUSEHOLD FURniture. Bedroom suite and dining room suite and other sundry things; practically new. Apply to 161 Cedar Street. 3d-152-680

CHEAP LOTS—IN BLOCK B, ASHBURNham, on Dufferin, Roper, Elgin streets; $6 per foot, $10 down. $10 per quarter till paid for. Interest only 6 per cent. Land dry, sightly, healthy, also on McDonnel St., Peterborough. Apply to Dunble & Johnston. 6mos-21-947

HELP WANTED—Female

WANTED — A GOOD CAPABLE GIRL — good wages. Apply 21 Crescent street. 12d-143-655

GIRL WANTED — APPLY PETERBORO Laundry. 1d-1-719

GIRL WANTED—GOOD WAGES. APPLY at once 84 319 Maitland Ave. 3d-1-715

WAITRESS AND PANTRY GIRL WANTed. Apply to Mrs. Colson, Oriental Hotel. 3d-1-692

WANTED—WOMAN ABOUT 35 YEARS OF age for general work. Apply Montreal House. 3d-151-664

A DINING ROOM GIRL WANTED—GOOD wages. Apply to Mrs. Foster, Temperance House, 69 Hunter Street. 3d-1-715

GIRL WANTED FOR LIGHT HOUSEWORK —Good home; steady work. Apply at once 466 George street. 6d-151-685

WANTED—GIRL TO ASSIST WITH THE housework. Apply 309 Pearl Avenue. 3d-1-688

WANTED—A GOOD GENERAL SERVANT —Apply Mrs. D. Hall, 25 Dennistoun ave. 6d-151-665

WANTED—AN EXPERIENCED GENERAL Servant for family of two; good wages. Apply to Phone 1489 or 284 Park St. 3d-1-698

WANTED—A TRUSTWORTHY GIRL TO help with general housework. No washing. Good wages. Comfortable home. References. Mrs. G. Pierton, 39 Foxbar Road, Toronto. 3d-151-667

WANTED

WANTED—WOMAN TO SCRUB OUT OFfice. Apply at the Examiner Office.

WANTED—A GOOD BOOK-BINDER—Apply at the Examiner Office, Peterboro.

WANTED—DELIVERY HORSE FOR WINter for its feed; good care. Apply at Examiner office for address. 1d-1-704

WANTED— A SECOND HAND SET OF single bob sleighs; give price and particulars, Box 675 Examiner. 2d-152-673

WANTED — MACHINE OPERATORS ON Whitewear; also two girls, 14 to 17 years for light work. Gemmell & Company, 216 Charlotte Street. 2d-1-709

WANTED—A FIRST CLASS CHEESE AND Butter maker for Warsaw factory; duties to commence in April. Apply stating salary and experience, to Arthur Edwards, Secretary, Warsaw, Ont. 4d-1-707

HOOPER'S REPAIR SHOP

NEVER TOO LATE TO MEND.

WHEN YOUR BICYCLE NEEDS DOCTORing, cutlery needs sharpening or grinding, sewing machine needs overhauling, household breaks mended or small brass or iron turning done, we know how. Gasoline engine work a specialty. 198 Charlotte street, opposite Showdon House. 20d-97-4023

VULCANIZING

NOW IS THE TIME TO HAVE YOUR Vulcanizing done. Reliable steam vulcanizing and tube repairing done promptly.—THE MANNING GARAGE, 249 Water Street. 'Phone 1247. 20d-97-4005

HAIR DRESSING

MANICURING, HAIR DRESSING AND massageing. Hair braids, switches, up-to-date line of hair ornaments. Make an appointment now.—MISS B. SMITH, Opera House Block. 'Phone 1125 10d-81-30

SOCIETIES

CHILDREN'S AID SOCIETY of Peterborough City and County For the care of neglected and ill-treated children C. A. G. SPENCE Assistant Secretary and Inspector 131 Simcoe Street. 'Phone 1066 Office Hours 3 till 5 Children for Adoption.

PATENTS

GORDON & WIDDIFIELD, Barristers, Solicitors. Patent applications receive special attention. Offices, Cor. George and Hunter streets.

H. J. S. DENNISON, 18 WEST KING ST., Toronto: Experts in Patents. Trade marks, designs, Copyrights and Infringements. Write us for Booklet. dtf-4

BABCOCK & SONS

Patents, Trade Marks, Designs. Registered Patent Attorneys. Established 1877. Formerly Patent Office Examiner. Master of Patent Laws. Representatives in all foreign countries. Write for book, "Patent Protection." Tells All about and how to obtain Patents. 99 St. James St., Montreal. Branches: Ottawa, Washington.

SECOND-HAND STORES

FURNITURE, STOVES, and Household Goods sold on Commission, Exchanged or Bought for Cash. Storage room to let at reasonable rates.

"M. T. BUTCHER," 346 & 348 Water St.

A. CHERNIKOFF

Will Buy and Sell New and Second-Hand Goods of all Kinds. Best Prices Paid. Big Bargains in Cook Stoves and all kinds of Heaters at Chernikoffs. Men's Suits and Overcoats at less than the cost of making.

435-437 George Street 'Phone 1?

SECOND HAND FURNITURE, STOVES, etc.

Bought and sold. Entire Household Furniture or pieces bought. We know the value. Telephone and we will call.

S. COHEN 180 CHARLOTTE ST.; PHONE 1365

FINAL CLEAN-UP SALE

BALANCE OF CREDITORS' STOCK TO BE CLEARED OUT in 3 Days

THURSDAY - FRIDAY - SATURDAY

PRICES TO BE AGAIN CUT IN HALF

See Big Display Ad. IN 'THE EXAMINER' To-Morrow WEDNESDAY

W. R. MORRIS
ASSIGNEE

THE REID COMPANY

J. G. STEWART
MANAGER

ROUMANIAN PICTURES

The Peasantry of a Little Known Land

(By the Queen of Roumania)

Roumania is fruitful, of vast plains, waving corn, deep forests, rocky mountains, and rivers turbulent in spring, but sluggish in summer, of scorching suns, icy winters and burning summers. It is a link between the East and the West.

Twenty-three years I have now spent in this country. I have moved amongst the most humble. I have entered their cottages, asked them questions, taken their new-born in my arms.

They are poor, they are ignorant, these peasants, neglected and superstitious, but there is a grand nobility in their race. They are frugal and sober; the one great dream each man cherishes is to possess the ground that he tills and to call it his own. The small houses have a door in the middle, a tiny window on each side, and smoke curls out of the heavily thatched roof. In the evening the women sit with their distaffs spinning on the door-steps, whilst the herds tramp home through the dust and the dogs bark furiously.

The Roumanian peasant is never in a hurry. In summer the carts, in winter the sledges, move along the endless roads, slowly and resignedly. Drawn by lean horses, the wooden sledges bump over the uneven snow; the peasant sits half-hidden amongst his stacks of wood, hay or maize-stalks. He is as picturesque in his rough sheepskin coat as he is in summer in his white shirt and broad felt hat. The Roumanian road is wide, dusty and straight, and the peasants' carts crawl along it, one after an other, in an endless file.

If night overtakes them on the way the oxen are unyoked and the carts are drawn up beside the ditch until dawn. Roumania is not a country of violent colours. It is only the sunsets that turn all its shadowy tints into a sudden marvel of colour.

Very different are the mountain villages from those of the plain.

The cottages are less miserable, less small, the roofs are of shingle and shine like silver. Richer and more varied are the peasants' costumes; the colours are brighter and often a flower-filled garden surrounds the house. Autumn is the season in which to visit the villages amongst the hills, when the trees are a flaming glory. Many a hearty welcome has been given me in them, the peasants receiving me with flower-filled hands. Rustic riders gallop out to meet me, scampering helter-skelter on their shaggy little horses, bearing banners of flowering branches, shouting with delight. The bells ring and gaily-clad women and children flock out of the houses to strew flowers before their Queen.

The church generally stands in the middle of the village; here the Sovereign must leave her carriage, and is led to the sanctuary, where the priest receives her at the door, cross in hand. There is no awkwardness, no shyness, neither is there any pushing or crushing; the Roumanian peasant remains dignified; he is seldom rowdy in his joy. Mostly their expression remains serious, and their children stare at one with grave faces and huge impressive eyes. There are some strange customs among the peasants, curious superstitions.

Roumania being a dry country, it is lucky to arrive with rain; it means abundance, fertility, the hope of a fine harvest — wealth. Sometimes the peasant women put large wooden buckets full of water before their threshold; a full vessel is a sign of good luck. They will even sprinkle water before one's feet, because water is abundance. I have seen tall, handsome girls step out to meet me with overflowing water jars on their heads; on my approach they stood quite still, the drops splashing over their faces so as to prove that their pitchers were full. It is lucky to meet a cart full of corn or straw coming towards one, but an empty cart is a sure sign of ill-luck.

Many a time the inhabitants have crowded around me, kissing my hands, the hem of my dress, falling down to kiss my feet, and more than once they have brought me their children, who made the sign of the cross before me. It is impossible to describe all I have seen, heard and felt.

On forlorn sea-shores I have discovered humble hamlets, where Turks dwelt in solitary aloofness; near the broad Danube I have strayed amongst tiny boroughs inhabited by Russian fisher-folk, whose type is so different from that of the Roumanian peasant.

At first sight one recognizes their nationality—tall, fair-bearded giants, with blue eyes, their red shirts visible from a great way off. It is especially in the Dobrudja that these different nationalities jostle together. Besides Russians, Roumanians, Bulgarians, Turks, Tartars, in places even Germans live peacefully side by side. I have seen a village in the Dobrudja which was part Roumanian, part Russian, part Turk and part German. I went from one side to the other, visiting many a cottage, entering each church, ending my round in the tiny rustic mosque hung with faded carpets and there amongst a crowd of lowly Turks, I listened to their curious service, of which I understood naught.

On a burning summer's day I came once to a tiny town almost entirely inhabited by Turks. I distributed money amongst the poor and forsaken. Excited women in strange attire called me Sultana, and wanted to touch me; they fingered by clothes, patted me on the back; one old hag even chucked me under the chin. They drew me with them from hut to hut, from court to court. Like a swarm of crows, they jabbered and fought over me, overwhelming me with kind wishes. The poorre Musulman women wear wide cotton trousers and over these a sort of mantle which they hold together under the nose. The shape of these mantles gives them that indescribable line, so agreeable to the eye, which alone belongs to the East.

The songs of the Roumanians are sad, their dances slow, their amusements are seldom boisterous, their voices rarely loud. On festive days they don their gayest apparel, and, crowded together in the dust of the road, they will dance in groups or in wide circles, tirelessly, for many an hour; but even then they are not often joyful or loud; they are solemn and dignified, seeming to take their amusement demurely, without passion, without haste. Their love songs are long complaints; the tunes they play on their flutes wail out endlessly their longing and desire that appear to remain eternally unsatisfied.

Few very old houses exist; there is hardly a castle or a great monument remaining from out the past. One or two strange old constructions have been preserved from those times of invasion; square, high buildings, with an open gallery round the top, formed by stout short columns, and here and there in the immense thickness of the walls tiny windows as look-outs. Primitive strongholds, half-tower, half peasant house, they generally stand isolated.

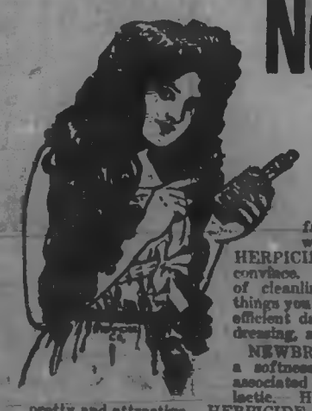
(Copyright 1916 in the U.S.A.).

J. E. H., Canadian Overseas.

There is Nothing Like it,

Nothing that can take the place of

Newbro's Herpicide



If you are troubled with dandruff, falling hair or itchy scalp, there is a world of comfort in NEWBRO'S HERPICIDE. Try it. One application will convince. The feeling of coolness, the sense of cleanliness and the exquisite odor are things you cannot forget. HERPICIDE is an efficient dandruff eradicator, a delightful hair dressing, a cleanser and an antiseptic.

NEWBRO'S HERPICIDE gives the hair a softness and luxuriance that is always associated with the use of this scalp prophylactic. Hair that isn't healthy cannot be pretty and attractive. HERPICIDE by rendering the scalp sweet and clean, makes the hair healthy and keeps it so. It is indispensable to the toilet—not a luxury, but a requisite.

SEND 10 CENTS FOR SAMPLE BOTTLE AND BOOKLET

Every man and woman is exposed to the attacks of dandruff which is contagious and ninety nine out of every hundred are suffering from it's annoyances. The booklet published by The Herpicide Company, on the hair and its care, is of intense interest, and HERPICIDE itself is a revelation to all. A sample bottle of NEWBRO'S HERPICIDE and the booklet will be sent to any address upon receipt of Ten Cents in postage or silver to cover cost of posting and mailing. Address THE HERPICIDE CO., Dept. B, Detroit, Mich.

Two sizes, 50c and $1.00—Sold Everywhere—Guaranteed by The Herpicide Co.

Applications at the better barber shops and Beauty Parlors.

Demand Genuine Herpicide and GET IT.

SAMPSON GETS 3 YEARS IN "PEN"

Third Member of Cattle Thieving Trio Sentenced by Magistate Langley Saturday Night

On Saturday night Clarence Sampson, of Dummer township, was found guilty of stealing cattle from A. E. Carveth, also ofo Dummer, and sentenced by County Magistrate Langley to three years in the Kingston penitentiary.

Mr. E. Gus Porter, solicitor for the prisoner, stated that he would appeal the judgment.

On Tuesday, December 5th, Judge Huycke sentenced William and Davis Hill, Sampson's brothers-in-law, to terms of two and five years respectively, for practically the same crime. Davis Hill was found guilty and William pleaded guilty. Thus the trio of cattle thieves who stripped a Dummer pasture of a small herd of cattle have been finally disposed of, and their experience since early in October when the crime was committed proved to them the bitterness of the lot of the transgressor.

Magistrate Langley reviewed at some length the evidence presented to him and on which he found the prisoner Sampson, guilty. It was nine o'clock on Saturday evening before the trial was concluded, and the eve of the New Year witnessed the last act of the dramatic unfolding and rebuilding of the interesting episodes of this crime. The evidence has been given fairly minutely in the several trials of the Hills and Sampson.

The round-up and disposition of this trio of law-breakers in the Dummer community is in itself a testimony to the vigilance and industry of the County officials. Crown Attorney Hatton has been the pivotal force in the case, particularly handling the legal work and arranging and linking up the evidence. The outside work was performed by County Constable Moore and his staff, assisted by some of Chief Thompson's men, including Detectives Newhall and Meagher and Inspector Boyd of Toronto.

Voice of The People

Correspondence under this heading, containing or involving attacks on individuals or violent or extreme statements, must to secure insertion, be signed with writer's real name, the owner of which thus assumes the responsibility.

To the Editor of The Examiner,

Dear Sir: I saw a letter in your paper on Friday evening that a soldier's wife had said she could not afford to pay her fine for the harm her two little boys had done to those church windows. To tell the truth I don't see where she could find the money, which I understand is ten dollars. I know for my part, that if it was ten dollars that I had this morning I would feel a rich woman. Here I am stuck with no wood and not enough coal to tide me over Sunday, and hardly a cent in the house—not much more than would buy a loaf of bread—and let me tell you, dear sir, that I have not wasted my money either, because it just keeps me busy scraping and saving to make both ends meet. Why is it, when all the men's wages are raised that the soldier's pay isn't raised? Things keep going up but still the soldier's pay never goes up. It is a funny thing to me and I don't quite understand it. I know some men who are making as much as seven dollars and a half a day. How much does that amount to, and seven days a week? Why, it is fifty two dollars and fifty cents — even more than some soldier's wives are getting in a whole month. And I know of some soldier's wives who are getting favored too. They get their patriotic money the same as the rest of us, and they get their wood and coal free, too, because I have had it from their own mouths. Do you think there is justice in that? No, I guess there is not, and I can't see why the soldiers' wives are getting imposed upon either. If they want a few stove pipes put up or a bit of wood cut, the man who does it knows how to charge his 50 cents or a dollar. They think that the soldiers' wives are getting a small fortune instead of the paltry sum they do get. Is it enough recompensation for the loss of their husbands, who are doing their bit? No! No!! No!!! I would not take a million dollars a day from the Government to let my husband leave me again, and go to war. Hoping that you will publish my letter, dear sir, and thanking you kindly for your valuable space, I beg to remain,

A Soldier's Wife in Need.

To the Editor of The Examiner,

Dear Sir,—Allow me, through your paper, to correct the report presented to the Property Committee by the Plumbing Inspector in regard to a test that was made a short time ago:

Now, in the first place, he states that I, in his company, found everything satisfactory. Now, that is erroneous, and that I did not show up is a misleading statement.

The test was to take place at nine o'clock. I was there in company with the Chairman of the Committee (Mr. Saunders), and a witness I had invited to be present. No one but us showed up. We left at 10 o'clock, and the test was started between 10 and 12 o'clock, and was not completed till long after dinner.

I would like to ask if the gave an explanation why he was not there on this and two other occasions that I was officially notified to be present, when no one else showed up. Why he did not mention these other instances that were pointed out to him that are contrary to the plumbing by-law.

Why I was not notified by letter to attend the meeting on Friday night; when I was notified to be there the night previous.

It appears to me that I was not wanted and my presence would be too disastrous to certain parties.

One more item has caused me to wonder why this matter was brought before a practically defunct committee, some of whom may never attend another meeting. Just a little wire pulling and the fares goes on.

Yours respectfully,

Wesley Ross.

SCHOOL REPORT

S. S. NO. 1, OTONABEE.

The names are in order of merit:

Junior IV.—Gladys Nelson, Kathleen Elmhirst, Greta Hastie, John Wood.

Junior III—Mary Hastie, Janet Wood, Wilena Nelson, Leonard Eason, Margery Francis, Alfred Elmhirst, Victor Fortune, Walter Gillespie, Bertha Elmhirst, Stanley Wood, Craigie Edwards.

Junior II—Evelyn Faux, Gladys Steele, Harold Elmhirst.

Senior I—Gracie Wood.

Senior Primer — Arnold Nelson, Jean Elmhirst.

W. Sluce, Teacher.

GRAND TRUNK RAILWAY SYSTEM

WINTER TOURS

SPECIAL Fares now in effect to resorts in Florida, Georgia, North and South Carolina, Louisiana and other Southern States, and to Bermuda and the West Indies.

Return Limit May 31, 1917

LIBERAL STOP-OVERS ALLOWED

For full information write to C. E. HORNING, Union Station, Toronto, Ont.

J. B. Doran phone 259

CHEAPER THAN CARPET

I will furnish complete, wax and polish a quarter cut oak floor at lower cost per square foot than carpet.

Other floorings cheaper. Consult me for house plans, remodelling, estimates, etc.

Special Prices for Winter Work

A. B. CUNNINGHAM
331 REID STREET PHONE 1261

IF YOU want to BUILD UP YOUR BUSINESS, you must USE THE PAPER that goes into the Home.

FOR THE NEW YEAR

Your table will not be complete without a big bowl, generously filled with these jolly, bright, California Oranges. They should be plentiful. They possess the organic salts and acids that oranges contain to aid digestion, and bring the blood and tissue back to normal.

SUNKIST

Uniformly Good Oranges

Buy them by the box. Uniformly good oranges—such as Sunkist—will keep.

"Oranges For Health"

PRINGLE'S

Sanitary Fruit & Fish Market
Cor. George & Charlotte St.
Phone 197

Car of California Seedless Oranges at All Prices

Malaga Grapes, California Grapes, Bananas, Figs, Dates, Grape Fruit, Pomegranates, Apples, Lemons, Hot House Tomatoes, Potatoes, Hot House Lettuce, Mangoes, Olives, Olive Oil

Choice Groceries for Christmas

Fresh Fish, Haddie, Herrings and Select Oysters

JOE LONGO & CO.

2 Stores (218 George St., Phone 891; 236 Charlotte St., Phone 2012)

A NEW YEAR'S MESSAGE FROM HIS EXCELLENCY THE GOVERNOR GENERAL.

Canada is heart and soul with the Mother Country and the Allies in their fight for Liberty and Justice.

Every Canadian man and woman can assist by placing his or her services at the disposal of the State.

Government House,
Ottawa, 20th December, 1916.

Devonshire

National Service Week, 1st to 7th January.

Only Four Blinded Canadians.

A statement issued by the Military Hospitals' Commission recently calls attention to the fact that an entirely erroneous idea prevails regarding the number of the members of the Canadian expeditionary force who have lost their eyesight as a result of their war service. Various agencies have been started for the collection of money in order to provide homes and special training for blinded Canadian soldiers, and unauthorized persons are making collections for this purpose.

"It should be distinctly understood," said Secretary Scammell, "that these collections are quite unnecessary."

The Military Hospitals' Commission is entirely competent to deal with all blinded soldiers who may come under its care.

"Up to the present four blinded soldiers have returned to Canada, four only: not four hundred or four thousand, as some people imagine. Of these one was trained at St. Dunstans, England, and is now earning his livelihood as an insurance agent in his home town; his typewritten letters are a model for many sighted typists. Another lives on a farm with his friends, who are well to do. A third is suffering from shock blindness, and may regain his sight. This man returned from Liverpool on the Hesperian, and when thrown into the water after the ship was torpedoed he regained his sight temporarily, but has since had a relapse.

Some Good Bargains From The Hall Store

For The First Wednesday of the New Year

WOMEN'S WHITE VOILE WAISTS

Women's Waists, made of fine White Voile, with large collars and jabot fronts. Daintily trimmed with fine lace and embroidery. Reg. up to $1.50. Wednesday Bargain 98c

MOIRETTE PETTICOATS

Women's Black Moirette Petticoats. Made with pleated flounce or wide frill. In colours of Black or Navy. Regular $1.25 each. ..... Wednesday Bargain 98c

WOOL-FILLED COMF'TERS $4.98

We have only a few of these good Wool-Filled Comforters left. They are made extra large (72 by 78 ins.), and are covered with good quality Silkoline, in pleasing colour effects. Wednesday Bargain, ... each 4.98

75c CHINTZ, 25c

English, French and American Chintz, 31 and 36 inches wide. Regular 50c, 65c and 75c. ..... Wednesday Bargain, yard .. 25c

25c & 35c SCRIMS, 18c

White, Cream and Ecru Voiles, Scrims and Marquisettes. Some plain, others with plain band edges; others with fancy edge. Regular 25c and 35c yard. Wednesday Bargain, yard 18c

TABLE LINEN

An extra heavy quality of partially bleached Table Linen. 54 inches wide. In a dainty blocked design. Wednesday Bargain, yard.. 50c

FACTORY COTTON

An extra choice heavy quality of Factory Cotton. 36 inches wide. Wednesday Bargain, yard .. 9c

$3.98 RUGS, $2.59

Heavy quality Ingrain Rugs in several good designs and colourings. Size 2 yds. by 3 yds. Wednesday Bargain, each 2.59

What About The Covering of Your Furniture

We are showing an immense range of New Furniture Coverings, and our expert upholsterers do the work well and very reasonable. Telephone the Home Furnishing Department for any information you may require.

WOMEN'S SWEATER COATS

Made of heavy quality of Yarn, in Cardigan stitch, large roll collars. In combination colours of Grey and Blue, Maroon and Grey, Fawn and Khaki. Wednesday Bargain 1.75

AXMINSTER RUGS, $1.69

5 Only Axminster Rugs, in mottled designs. Splendid wearing quality for hall or bathroom or bedroom. Size 27 by 54 inches. Wednesday Bargain, each 1.69

MERCERIZED POPLIN

A heavy quality of Poplin, with a rich silk finish. In colours of Brown, Navy or Belgian Blue. Suitable for Skirts or Dresses. 40 inches wide. Wednesday Bargain 59c

MUFFLERS

Mufflers for Men, Women or Children, in a large range of colours. Made to fit the neck snugly. Reg. 50c each. Wednesday Bargain, each 25c

WOMEN'S UNDERWEAR

WORTH TO-DAY 50c, WEDNESDAY 25c

Women's Knitted Underwear, in White or Natural. Vests with high neck and long sleeves; ankle length drawers. Wednesday Bargain, ... garment 25c

FLEECE-LINED HOSE

Women's heavy quality Fleece-lined Hose. Good wearing quality. Sizes 8½ to 10. Wednesday Bargain .. 25c

SHANTUNG SILK

34-inch Natural Shantung Silk. Suitable for Waists, Skirts, Dresses, and Men's Fine Shirts. A good washing and wearing fabric. Regular 50c yard. Wednesday Bargain 35c

STRIPE TWEEDS

A good quality of Stripe Tweeds, suitable for Ladies' Skirts and Children's Dresses. A good range of colourings. 38 to 40 inches wide. Regular 75c yard. Wednesday Bargain 47c

LINEN TEA TOWELLING

An Extra heavy quality of Linen Tea Towelling. 23 inches wide. Pure White. Wednesday Bargain, yard.. 12½c

RICHARD HALL & SON LIMITED

PRAYER AND DEPENDENCE IN GOD NECESSARY FOR VICTORY

Eloquent Appeal By Rev. Robert Pogue at St. Paul's Church on Sunday in Connection With National Service and Country's Needs

Speaking to a large congregation in St. Paul's Church, Sunday morning, the Pastor made an eloquent and powerful appeal for prayer and service in connection with the war. He had some difficulty, he said, in deciding what would be the theme of his morning discourse, as he wished to connect his sermon in thought with a series of sermons which he is to preach during the next three months, and also to associate with it the ideas relative to the opening of the New Year. His choice was influenced, however, by the fact that the ministers of all Presbyterian churches were to make special reference on Sunday to the National Service Week. National service was described as "the willing discharge of every duty, great or small, which comes to us by reason of our citizenship and our relation to each other as units in the State."

"The question was, what is the relation of the Church to the great conflict? What is the greatest service that I, as a minister of the Gospel, can render the State just now? If I could raise an army of half a million men by the wave of my hand, or by the same means liberate the moral and spiritual forces of the great Empire of which I am a part, which would it be the better for me to do?

Duty of Everyone.

At any rate it was the duty of everyone to do everything in their power to assist in this national service campaign. We may or may not approve of what has been done thus far. But now that the Government has taken this step—and they should have taken a longer one—by which it proposes to marshall all its resources, and take drastic action if need be to bring them into operation, then we must support this thing with passionate loyalty. We have been fighting up to the present with only one hand, and at that only fighting with one hand for a short time. If we must support this thing with pleading hands, and this was the objective of the National Service week. Among other things the National Service campaign should reveal three things. Firstly, the number of men between 16 and 65 years of age who are fit for the firing line. Secondly, those who may be employed in other ways. Thirdly, the position of all others with regard to the war." This looks like conscription," said the speaker. "Well, let it come to that." As a minister of the Gospel it was his duty to influence the community to acquiesce peacefully to any radical change.

He must continue to encourage and guide those in his ministry to trust in divine Providence. Many of late have lost faith. Many had asked why has not God interfered to bring victory to the Allies if their cause was a good one. Many wondered why He had not interfered to smite the murderers of the Lusitania victims. Others had prayed unceasingly day and night that the lives of their loved ones at the front would be spared, but in spite of it all they had been taken. Some of these had come to doubt the reality of prayer and the existence of a Divine Being.

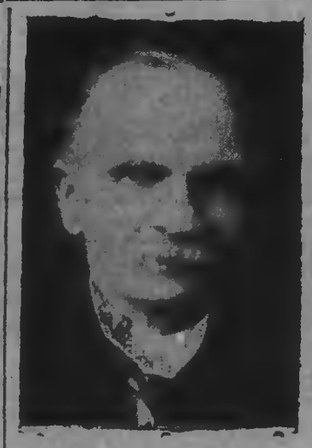
But God is still on His throne. He has not given the world over unto the government of Satan. God is not only over the world, He is in the world, directing and controlling it towards a glorious destiny. He rules righteously, piteously and tenderly—knows all things from the beginning, and is just in all His ways. The God we are asked to believe in is the Father who revealed Himself in Christ. From the Cross we see that His thoughts for us are higher even than our thought for ourselves. The Church has risen to a period of greater vitality than ever before. Some claimed that in the war Christianity had received its death blow. "But I say that there never was a time when Christianity was doing all that it is doing to-day! God reigns, the Church is His church and the gates of hell shall not prevail against it."

Pray as Never Before.

Secondly, it was the speaker's duty as minister, to point to prayer at this time and to pray himself. We must pray because God is God and nothing that is evil shall finally triumph in this world. "I ask you to pray again, from now until the closing of the war as you have never prayed before. Some asked why we had not won in this war. But England would not win until she was on her knees before God. She will not win as long as from her shores come the stories of vice and immorality that are coming now. Were it not for a remnant that is godly she would long ago have vanished out of the national life of the world. The spirit of England to-day is that of self-reliance and self-help, and the people are asking why should they pray when we can get all we need by our own actions. Our whole attitude on this question of prayer in regard to the war has been wrong. We have lacked leadership, and, perhaps in this the ministers of the Gospel have been somewhat to blame. It is prayer that wins because it is prayer that makes us one with the power of God.

Concluding, the Pastor announced that from now until the conclusion of the war he would meet with every one who wished to come to wait upon God on behalf of the Empire at 10.15 every Sunday morning in the Sunday School room of the Church.

MR. G. N. GORDON
Who Polled a large vote for the School Board elections.



ALD. F. H. DOBBIN
Centre Ward Representative of the City Council.

"If you love the Empire; if you love your sons, and desire to see them victorious on the fields of Flanders, if you believe that God reigns and answers prayer," pleaded the Pastor, "come every Sunday morning as I have announced and wait upon God in regard to the war."

AFTER THE GRIPPE

Vinol Restored Mr. Martin's Health.

Wapakoneta, Ohio.—"I am a farmer by occupation, and the grippe left me with a bad cough and in a nervous, weak, run-down condition, and I could not seem to get anything to do me any good until I took Vinol, which built me up, and my cough and nervousness are all gone, and I can truly say that Vinol is all that is claimed for it."—James Martin.

Vinol is a constitutional remedy for all weak, nervous and run-down conditions of men, women and children, and for chronic coughs, colds and bronchitis.

For sale by McDermid & Jury, druggists, E. L. Payne, Peterboro; also at the best druggist in all Ontario towns.

One-third of the fools in this country think they can beat the lawyer in expounding the law, one-half think they can beat the doctor at healing the sick, two-thirds of them think they can beat the minister in preaching the gospel, and all of them know that they can beat the editor in running the newspaper.—London Tit-Bits.

English Club In Paris.

A new club for English residents in Paris, to be called the Imperial British Club, is to be opened in Paris by King George. The new club, with a subscription of only $10 yearly, will appeal to the 30,000 British residents of Paris.

Good Shot.

Wigg—So young Goldie has become a benedict. What was his wife's maiden name?

Wagg—Her maiden aim seems to have been to marry Goldie, and she proved an unusually good shot for a woman.

A YEAR INDOORS.

"For thirteen months I was so bad with chronic indigestion that I could not go out of doors. Nerves were unstrung, the heart bad, and smothering feelings came on till I thought that I would choke. Doctors' treatment failed me so I began the use of Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills, which I thank for my present good health. I am now doing my housework and have a family of ten.

A BENEFICIAL BURGLARY

By ALAN HINSDALE

I am an auto enthusiast because I am especially fond of roying, and I can rove to better advantage in a car than in any other way. Touring in the autumn, when the leaves are turning, I find delightful.

One evening in October about sunset I passed a cozy place a short distance off the road and determined to ask to be housed for the night. Finding the gates locked, I left my auto in the road and, climbing the fence, walked up to the house. There was an ominous silence. Not a dog, not a chicken, not even a cat, gave evidence of life. The nearer view showed me that the window shades were drawn. One shade had not been entirely pulled down, and I could look into the living room. What gives some rooms an air of comfort that others do not possess, unless it is the taste of the furnisher, I don't know. This room was especially inviting, so inviting that I yielded to a temptation to force an entrance.

I made a burglar of myself and with an iron bar found on the place jimmied the window and went inside. There was a well filled wood basket beside the fireplace, and I lighted a fire and sat down in a big easy chair before it.

I dreamed all sorts of dreams about the place, but they all connected me with it, and they were all dependent upon a lovely imaginary girl who was to make me happy in it. After awhile, hearing a step on the porch without, I turned and saw the object of my dreams looking in through the window. At my rate, a girl was there and evidently interested in the person within. I arose and went to the window, the girl retreating before my advance.

"Don't be frightened," I said reassuringly. "I'm not a burglar." And I explained to her how I happened to be there. She heard me through, then told me that the place belonged to her. She would not come inside, but after some hesitancy told me a bit of a story. She had been born and lived near by. She became engaged, and her fiance had built the house with the intention of their making a nest together in it when they were married. It was all ready for their occupancy, and they were to have been married in a few days, when her lover sickened and died. She had never been in it since a few days before his death. Having seen a light in the window, she had come from her home to discover what it meant. I apologized for trespassing and offered to vacate immediately.

"No," she said; "I wish you would remain as long as you like. You have broken a melancholy spell. I live where I can see this house all the while, and I think that it has kept me in an abnormal condition. The moment I saw the light in it that spell seemed to snap."

She asked me to go to her home with her for the evening. I did so, and she introduced me to her mother, a sister and a brother. I passed a pleasant evening with intelligent and refined persons, and when bedtime came I was offered a room for the night.

"No," I said, looking at the girl who had told me her story, "I think it would be better for you that some one should sleep in your house."

She made no reply to this, but asked me to come to her home for breakfast the next morning. I proposed that the family come to the other house for breakfast. Her mother urged this, and I left them expecting them to come to me the next morning.

I slept in the best bedroom, which was in readiness, and the next morning arose early to make a few necessary preparations. In due time my hosts appeared, and all except the bereaved girl took on the merriment of a picnic. But I was happy to find that before the meal was over she had lost much of her sadness. Before I left my newly made friends she said to me:

"If at any time while you are touring you find yourself in this neighborhood please feel welcome to remain overnight here."

I accepted the offer, intending to do that very thing. The next month I rode out to the place, called on my hosts of my first visit, and we all spent the evening together in the vacant house. I asked permission to use the premises for a few friends at Christmas time, and it was granted. I had a special object in this, which was to get the bereaved girl used to merry-making there. I told my friends her story and that I proposed to make her one of the party if possible. They all endeavored to make her forget her grief, and one night we persuaded her to sleep in the house.

This did more than anything else to break the ice, and before the party broke up she had entirely thrown off her abnormal condition.

When the spring opened I began my touring and never failed to spend at least one night in the vacant house. Of course I always visited the owner. It was my object to make her the center figure of my dreams when sitting before the fire the night I had burglarized her house. In this I succeeded, though I was a long while about it. At the end of a courtship she consented to be my wife. There was a wedding, and she and I are now occupying the house together.

The place is singularly pleasing to me, remembering how I came to occupy it permanently, and I think that nature has kindly obliterated from my wife the sadness that once attached to it. This has largely been accomplished by the advent of children.

Behind the Procession.

Hopkins (to his wife)—You might tell Susan that this steak isn't done enough. Mrs. Hopkins—You are three girls behind, Charles; this one's name is Rollnia!

ALD. A. H. STRATTON
Who has another year in the City Council

MAYOR J. J. DUFFUS
Who will head the 1917 City Council

Schools To Re-open On Wednesday

The Public schools re-open to-morrow morning, Wednesday, Jan. 3rd. Parents having children about to commence school in the Kindergarten or Primer classes should see that they start on the opening day.

ST. PETER'S PATRIOTIC CLUB

The members of St. Peter's Patriotic Club are reminded that the work room at St. Alphonsus Lyceum, will re-open on Thursday, January 4th. On account of the appeal to the local branch of the Canadian Red Cross, of which St. Peter's Club is an auxiliary, the members are requested to turn out in large numbers every Thursday afternoon and evening, and do their share to help replenish the supplies which are so badly needed. The work room will be open from 2 till 9 p.m. and there will be work for everyone, so please be punctual and come prepared to work.

The tea room on Thursday will be in charge of the Young Ladies' Sodality and tea will be served from 5 to 7. All are invited to tea. Proceeds of the tea room are used to buy yarn and other comforts for the boys at the front.

A PRESENTATION TO MISS PERDUE

On December 22nd a concert was held in school section No. 7. After the lengthy programme was finished the presents from the Christmas tree were distributed. Among the many presents was a manicure set and work box to Miss Perdue, accompanied by the following address:

Dear Miss Perdue,— We thought it would show a lack of gratitude not to display our appreciation for your kind interest in our welfare.

It is but four short months since we began our year with you to guide and direct us along the path of knowledge. During that period you have always shown a keen interest not only in our ordinary school work, but also in preparing this entertainment. Many precious hours you have spent in practising in order that we might be efficient.

No doubt we have often been a source of annoyance to you by our misconduct, nevertheless we ask you to forget such misgivings in our conduct. In behalf of the pupils I ask you to accept this little gift as a remembrance of the pupils of S. S. No. 7. Signed—

Agnes O'Brien.
Lillie O'Brien.
Francis Sullivan,
Francis Ryan.
Margaret Welsh.

Although taken by surprise, Miss Perdue briefly replied, in which she thanked the children for their kind remembrance.

350 CUPS FROM A POUND OF THIS TEA.

The increased cost of tea in the country of origin and enormously advanced ocean freight rates, have forced up the price of "SALADA," but only five cents a pound as yet. However as "SALADA" will yield 350 cups of delicious tea to the pound, it is still far and away the cheapest of all beverages, and more than that, possesses a unique flavour of unequalled quality.

No Damage Was Done

An explosion of the coal in the furnace at the De Laval Company's factory on Saturday night was responsible for the calling out of the fire brigade. No damage was done.

"It's Confidence That Does It"

Ready For 1917

Every housewife desires to present an appetizing table spread to her family and friends the first week of the New Year.

We have reinforced our stock of Family Groceries, Fruits, Vegetables, Biscuits, Canned Goods, Cereals, Nuts, Figs, Cooking Needs, and an excellent assortment awaits your choice. Telephone if you can not come.

Porter S. White
334 George St. Phone 208

The MODEL SHOE SHOP

Is noted for QUICK as well as SATISFACTORY Shoe Repairing. My new Electric Finishing and Polishing Machine does better work and in quicker time. Come in and see it running by electricity.

Goodyear Rubber Heels to keep you from slipping—the best wearing heels to be had.

Fashionable Shoes Made to Measure
in a First-Class Manner.
Cripples' Shoes a Specialty

M. VENERANDA
Practical Shoemaker and Repairer
SIMCOE STREET
WEST OF KINGAN'S HARDWARE

Barries'
LIMITED
Furriers, Peterboro

BRANCHES AT REGINA
SASKATOON
MOOSE JAW

Ladies' Ready-to-Wear Department

Semi-Annual January Sale
COMMENCES TO-MORROW

Ladies Attire

Suits, Coats, Dresses, Skirts and Blouses

25% to 50%
DISCOUNTS

Phone 340 A Genuine Sale

583 Bargain Annex Event — Wednesday, Jan. 3rd, 1917

Bargain Annex
Registered

Annex Leader. Women's and Misses' Coats Away Less than Half-Price $2.95

Winter coats in blacks, grey and browns. Both women's and misses' sizes 16 to 18. Coats that formerly sold from two to four times the Wednesday Annex Leader price of 2.95
Come early for this line.

15c White Flannelette 11½c yard

A genuine flannelette value, a good heavy quality and nap. 27 inches wide. Any person in need of flannelette will do well to purchase on Wednesday in the Annex. Price, yard 11½c

Extra Heavy 12½c Factory Cotton 9½c

A splendid heavy weight English Factory Cotton—36 inches wide and sells regularly at 12½c yard. An exceptional cotton value. Wednesday Annex, yard 9½c

Women's "Sample" Blouses $1.00 Lines 69c

A new lot of factory "samples" ladies' blouses—styles for spring. Sell regularly at $1.00. As they were samples some need pressing, but are not soiled. Annex 69c

Annex Leader. 48c Brown Terry Bath Towels 33c pair

A new Annex shipment of brown Terry bath towels—red and white centres and borders—fringed ends. Sizes 18 x 40 inches. Regular value 48c. Wednesday Annex Leader price will be only, pair 33c

Men's and Women's High Grade Rubbers 79c and 53c

"Shefford Brand," a good quality rubber. Two lines, one for men and the other for women:—
Men's $1.00 value, pair 79c. Women's 69c value, pair 53c

Annex Leader. Women's Splendid Quality Winter-Weight Underwear 24c gar.

"Watson Made" women's winter weight vests and drawers—splendid quality in white or natural grey—exactly the same quality we have bought to sell next season at 40c garment. Decidedly worth while buying your requirements for at least the next twelve months. Annex, garment 24c

One Hundred Ends. Coatings, Dress Goods, Skirtings and Waistings, reg. up to $4. Leader $1.95 ends

The great Christmas rush left us many short lengths of coatings, waistings, silk poplins, tweeds, etc. A big selection of over one hundred ends in lengths up to 5 yards, and would sell regularly up to $4.00 for the piece. All at one price for the Wednesday Annex Leader at, end 1.95
We strongly advise an early selection.

Annex Leader. Women's $1.95 Satin Underskirts To Clear 69c

The manufacturer made these skirts to sell at $1.95. Excellent quality English satin—are cut slightly narrower than to-day's style demands, but very easily altered; selection of ten colours. Wednesday Annex Leader price 69c

30 inch Striped English Flannelette 13½c yard

Striped English flannelette, 30 inches wide—light and medium striped patterns. This is an exceptional line and is indeed worth a good deal more. Wednesday Annex, yard 13½c

Curtain Scrim, "Sample Ends" 10c each or 3 for 25c

About one yard in each end, white, cream and ecru curtain scrim samples—regular values up to 25c yard. Wednesday Annex rush price ..... 10c each, 3 for 25c

Yard wide 18c Floral Curtain Muslins 13c yard

A new "Annex" spring arrival, coloured floral curtain muslin, in blue, green and yellow with cream grounds—36 inches wide. Regular 18c yard. Wednesday Annex, yard 13c

60c Value Black and White Shepherd's Check Dress Goods 39c yard

Fifty inches wide, a special quality, black and white Shepherd's check dress goods—two size checks. Can be used for many purposes. Wednesday Annex price, yard 39c

Annex Leader. New Shipment, 35 doz., Ladies' Overall Aprons 44c

Worth to-day at least 65c—complete overall aprons with belted waists; pockets have tape bound edges; all sizes 36 to 42 and misses 14 to 18—colours are mostly greys and blues. Annex Leader price will be 44c

27 inch CORDUROY VELVETS 47c yard

Velvets that we are selling at an astoundingly low price—in fact less than the cost of production. Full 27 inches wide, in colours of green, navy, Copenhagen and brown. One of the most popular lines in the Annex. Price, yard 47c

Annex Leader. Women's Dollar White Flannelette Night Gowns 79c

Made of splendid quality soft combed pure bleached flannelette in good generous sizes, with self-embroidery trimming. The Wednesday Annex price is actually less than to-day's cost of production. Annex Leader price will be 79c

The CRESSMAN Company Limited

MEMORIAL SERVICE HELD IN ALL SAINTS' CHURCH

Special Service in Memory of the Soldiers' Who Have Gone Out From the Church and Given Their Lives at the Front During the Past Year—"The Great Tragedy of the War"

GERMANY'S PEACE PROPOSAL

Very cleverly and impressively did the Rev. R. B. Grobb, rector of All Saints' church, blend two great sentiments in his sermon on Sunday evening. The service was one in memory of the soldiers who have gone out from the All Saints' church and given their lives at the front during the past year, and the evening sermon not only paid tribute to those brave boys, but called upon the congregation to lend itself at the beginning of the New Year to the business of winning the war. The great tragedy of the war so far, said the speaker, is not that so many young men have faced death and given their lives, but that so many held back and were afraid of death.

Mr. Grobb took his text from the 2nd verse of the 8th chapter of Deuteronomy, which reads, "And thou shalt remember all the way which the Lord thy God led thee these forty years in the wilderness. "What a marvellous thing it is that we are able to remember! The human memory is something which the wisest man in the world cannot explain. The mere fact that to-night the members of the congregation gathered together with all the wonderful memories of everything they had experienced was proof that we are not earth born. The memory is an everyday evidence of our immortality. The storing up of memories—the carrying of them onward into the next world—this is life. But while we meet to do honour to the memory of those who are gone, we should realize that they too are thinking of us. Death is just one incident in life. We must not think of those who are gone as being cut off in the prime of life, for there is no waste in the economy of God. The giving up of these splendid lives is no tragedy—the great tragedy is that so many are holding back and are afraid to face the thing that we call death.

Past Events.

God wants us to remember the events of the past as a demonstration of God's character, and in order that we may have confidence and faith in the future. The past is a guarantee of the future. The Bible is nine-tenths history. It is history interpreted. God speaks to us not in words, but in what He has done. God's yesterday is the guarantee of His to-morrow.

"To-night," said Mr. Grobb, "let us do a little remembering, first in a national way, and secondly in an individual way. Let us think of what he has done for the Empire and then what he has done for us."

The war cloud hangs very very heavily to-day and we are inclined sometimes to be a little discouraged. History spells the gradual coming into light of those things for which the British Empire is fighting to-day, Democracy, Liberty, the Might of Right, the Survival of the Unfit. In the events since the creation of the world God has shown his hand, his mind, his plan. He has revealed his ideal. Surely God's hand has been demonstrated in the past two years. In this day of rampant materialism it has shown that there are spiritual forces in this world that cannot be crushed Remember the Marne. Remember the retreat from Mons. Remember that Germany is not a whit nearer her goal than she was two and a half years ago. For Germany's goal is not Roumania It is not Greece. It is not even France—these are but side issues. The main issue is between Germany and the British Empire. And Britain is fighting for things for which the centuries have fought.

Germany's Peace.

Germany has asked for peace because she knows she has done what she can. She knows that time is against her. She dreads the year 1917. And we know that time it with us, for time is always with those who are in the right.

Then let us do a little remembering in a personal way. Thank God for these memories—memories of God's goodness to us in the past. For those who mourn a father, son, husband or brother, God's great compensation is "Remember." God didn't intend that these memories should serve only to tear the heart. If that was so he would have made like the animals and given us the balm of forgetting. Let us remember that the cause for which they laid down their lives is a righteous cause. Let us remember that history proves to us that everything of any permanent value that has been gained for the world has been gained along the highway of suffering and self-sacrifice. Only give God time. Let us not be sad on this New Year's eve. The march of years spells the defeat of all that is wrong—tyranny, opression, evil, and the coming in of the good. The march of years spelsl the passing of hatreds and pains and sorrow and the coming in of joy—the passing of war and the coming in of peace.

Fallen Heroes.

Those in whose memory the service was held were:
Private George Wilkins.
Private George Mehew.
Private William Hall.
Lieut. Crawford Rush.
Driver Claude Manley.
Private Arthur White.

The music of the evening was very appropriate and splendidly rendered under the direction of Mr. Geo. E. Chandler, organist and choir master.

The Messiah
IN
St. Paul's Church
ON THE EVENING OF Tuesday,
JANUARY 2nd, 1917

The Story of The "Messiah"

To Be Presented in St. Paul's Church To-night

The immortal oratorio The Messiah was composed by Geo. Frederick Handel in 1741 and the first performance was given in Dublin under Handel's own direction. Handel was English in everything but the accident of birth. He had himself naturalised as an Englishman and he wrote nearly every one of his notable works in England and to English words.

English oratorio is one of the most successful branches of musical art. There is nothing in existence that can be called an oratorio before Handel, and if it was necessary for us blindly to bow the knee to one single work, no doubt The Messiah would be our wisest choice.

No musical work has had such continuous and enduring popularity as The Messiah. Much of the veneration with which it is regarded is doubtless owing to the subject, but much also must be attributed to the splendid music, some of which—The Hallelujah Chorus, Glory to God, and Amen—are not for an age, but for all time. After all possible allowances have been made for associations, the Hallelujah Chorus remains one of the most colossal things in art. The effect on the London audience (on its early production) of the unison passage in the chorus, "For the Lord God omnipotent reigneth," was electrical; the whole audience, along with the King, rose to its feet and remained standing. This custom has been kept up ever since, and wherever the chorus is sung the audience all rise.

While writing the Hallelujah Chorus Handel said, "I see all Heaven open before me, and the Great God Himself." He knewv his Bible so well that for several of his oratorios he was his own librettist.

No composer has ever understood so well how to extract from a body of voices such massive effects by means so simple and yet so skilfully conceived.

In oratorio at least Handel is the people's composer, and such he must remain so long as oratorio holds its place with the public.

Handel possessed a mastery over a particular kind of choral technique and no one but he has been able to procure that extraordinary balanced clearness of sound. His chords ring out like bells and he can hurl himself straight through the rules of professional orthodoxy with an effect astonishing in its brilliance.

The Messiah is the great Christmas oratorio and embodies the promise of the Messiah, the preparation for His advent. His titles and character, His birth, passion, death, resurrection and ascension, and concludes with the triumphant song of the redeemed Heaven.

The Peterborough Choral Society will render this immortal masterpiece in St. Paul's church at 8 o'clock to-night.

FIFTY DOLLARS FOR THE RED CROSS

On the evening of December 12th, the young people of Lakehurst held a bazaar which netted the promoters fifty dollars. This amount has been turned over to the Red Cross Auxiliary.

Havelock Items Of Interest

Many Visitors to the Village Over the Holiday

Havelock, Dec. 29. — Mr. A. J. Copp of Windsor is at his home here.

C. P. R. Supt. Melrose is visiting with friends in Montreal.

Mr. and Mrs. Wesley Hart are visiting with friends at Guelph.

Mr. John Miligan of Oshawa is on a visit to his home here.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Cook are on a visit with friends in Peterboro.

Miss Gertrude Parcels of Toronto is at her home here.

Miss Thressa Houghton of Toronto is home on a visit.

Mrs. W. J. Andrews of Toronto, is staying with friends in town.

Mrs. Frank Parcels is staying with friends in Belleville.

Mr. and Mrs. Harry Grey and daughter Evelyn of Trenton, and Mr. and Mrs. Penrose of Toronto, are the guests of Mr. and Mrs. Andy Beatty.

Mr. T. J. Dineen of Toronto, with his uncle, Wm. Dineen.

Mr. and Mrs. William Buchanan and son of Trenton, are with Mrs. A. Copp.

Mr. Clifford Bullied of Toronto, is with his sister, Mrs. S. Higley.

Mr. and Mrs. Fred Masters are with relatives at Lasswade.

Mr. Stan. Holcombe of the Union Bank staff, Halifax, is with his parents in town.

Mr. and Mrs. C. Munroe of Campbellford, are with Mr. and Mrs. Daniel Munroe.

Ptes. Acker and Kelly of Queen's Ambulance Corps, Kingston, are at home on a visit.

Miss Grace Primrose of Toronto is with Mr. and Mrs. Alex. Primrose.

Mr. and Mrs. D. Stocks of Toronto, are with their daughter, Mrs. H. F. D. Dreyer.

ELECTION RESULTS.

The Havelock council is in by acclamation.

Reeve Matheson was returned by acclamation.

Next year's aldermen are: Messrs. William Jones (of the old council), Alex. Matheson, Wm. Davidson and Peter Haig. Messrs. Harrison Wing, H. W. Roche, John Howe, Thomas Wright, and S. B. Joyce, were nominated, but withdrew.

For the school board the newly-elected by acclamation trustees, are: Messrs. I. Barlow, Jas. Barlow, and Thomas Wood, the former two being re-elected.

Belmont township will have an election.

William E. Griffith is out in opposition to Reeve Ketchen and the contest promises to be a warm one.

Anderson, Brackenridge and Steinburgh of the old council are seeking re-election, Rylott having dropped out. Colman Elliott and Edwin Hubble are also in the field. Mr. John Scott was nominated but resigned later.

WEDDING BELLS.

At the home of Mr. James McCutcheon at Round Lake, on Wednesday, December 20th, their only daughter, Ella Mae, was united in marriage to Mr. George Albert Harrington, C. P. R. fireman of town. The bride was prettily attired in white silk and all-over lace and was attended by Miss Jeanie Wright, of Round Lake who wore white voile with lace trimmings. The groom was assisted by Mr. Joseph McCutcheon brother of the bride, and Mrs. Hattie Cousens of town, played the wedding march. The groom's gift to the bride was a grey fox mug, to the bridesmaid a pearl brooch, to the groomsman gold cuff links. The young couple left on the 28rd for a trip to eastern points, the bride travelling in a navy blue suit, with hat to match. On their return they will reside in Windsor.

PUBLIC SCHOOL REPORT.

Promoted from Senior II to Junior III—J. Wide, R. Peters, M. Brennan J. Kelly, H. Hooper, I. Matheson, E. Clarke.

On trial: J. Davidson, D. Curtis, H. Long.

Promoted from Junior II to Senior II—D. Carter, H. Fenwell, W. Barlow, P. Plunkett, H. Poupard, L. Jack, F. Barlow, A. Kennedy, M. Clark.

On trial—B. Wood, E. White, Z. Paget, teacher.

Home Health Club

(Edited by Dr. David H. Reeder, Chicago, Ill.

The Benefit of Right Thinking.—One of the least regarded and yet the best of Biblical sayings is the one I have so often quoted, "As a man thinketh in his heart, so is he." You cannot constantly talk about and think about your physical well being with fear in your heart and keep well. You cannot constantly think health, talk health and believe in your health and keep sick.

At a recent meeting of the American Association of Progressive Medicine, I listened patiently to two long technical papers, one of them by a young German scientist, telling all about the actions of certain very interesting germs and what they do to the poor little rabbits and guinea pigs and the other by a very ambitious American scientist, telling of his interesting experiments with non-toxic virus vaccines. The presiding officer heartily commended both papers as he had a perfect right to do for they were really wonderful and showed a tremendous amount of careful research work done in the interest of humanity and for which about the only compensation the doctors will receive will be to see their names referred to in other scientific works.

The presiding officer then said that he wanted to introduce a physician who was his instructor during his medical college days over 30 years ago and who was the author of several standard medical text books. A very vigorous and white haired old gentleman then threw a bomb shell into all the doctors present by declaring that the great majority of all cases of sickness and suffering was mental and not physical. That he no longer found it necessary to use medicine or surgery in many cases and many times when he did use either, it was for the psychic effect.

Here is a paragraph from Edward B. Warman's article in the December Nautilus:

"There is nothing in this world more convincing than the practical demonstration of one's theory. Work of some kind for both body and mind, is a strong factor toward attaining long life.

A man in one of the Eastern states, a farm hand, rounded out the celebration of his one hundred and fourth anniversary by eating a half section of a juicy cherry pie. But when you read the record of the amount of work he does daily—does not did—you will quite agree with me that he could have eaten the whole pie without any ill effect.

Here is his daily programme at 104 years of age: 4 a.m., gets up; 4.15, feed the horses; 4.25, start the milking; 5.30, breakfast; 5.45, curry the horses; 6 o'clock, hook up for the milk train, plough or take out a load of hay; 9.10, chores; 12 o'clock, knock off for dinner; 1 p.m., fix waggon and other odd jobs; 4 o'clock take the cows in to be milked; 5 o'clock, clean the horses; 6 o'clock, supper; 6.30 o'clock, load around; 8 o'clock, go to bed.

Evidently he is not an I.W.W. for he has held his present job for 81 years and, what is still more to his credit, he says he has never tired of his job. Surely it is not work but worry that kills."

I presume most of you have heard of Captain Diamond, who died recently in California at the age of 118 years. I remember telling you something about him when he was 111 years, and we thought he was pretty old then.

Keep smiling, cheerful, don't worry, don't overeat. Keep clear, keep faith in God and in yourself and you will win health, happiness and long life.

Club Notes.

I will gladly answer all inquiries for information on health subjects from readers of this publication if same are addressed to Home Health Club, 5089 Cottage Grove Ave., Chicago Ill. Send full name and address with 4 cents postage.

GROCERIES
Meats & Provisions
E. BENSON
Cor. PARK & ROMAINE
Successor to Brioux Brothers
To all our Customers and Friends we wish a Bright and Happy New Year. We ask for a continuance of your Patronage. Our aim is to serve and please you. We invite you to call and see us. A Fresh Line of Groceries and Meats always in Stock. Ask for our Prices on Canned Goods. We keep everything you need.
E. BENSON - Grocer

SPECIAL BARGAINS
In
CHILDREN'S HATS
For the remainder of this week we are offering large reductions in all lines of boys' and girls' hats. As our reputation, in this particular department, is well-known, you are assured of getting absolutely new and high-class goods, at genuine bargains.
W. E. LECH Manufacturing Furrier and Hatter
356 GEORGE STREET - - - NEAR SIMCOE ST.

Something For Your Table
New Year Presents that look well and WEAR well are a source of lasting satisfaction to the giver as well as to the recipient.
BRITISH-MADE SILVERWARE
The Standard of the World
In this line we offer some specially pleasing articles.
A cheerful welcome to all shoppers whether to look or to buy.
SCHNEIDER
The Jeweller, George St.

FRIENDS
Meet At HOOPERS
TEA ROOMS
For Lunch
They are always sure of delicious, wholesome food, daintily served, in an atmosphere of pleasant quiet. It is an excellent way to spend a half hour.
Meet your friends there, for Lunch, or a bite to eat after shopping, or for a private exchange of thought.
T. H. Hooper
3 Stores: 387 George, Phone 149; 412½ George, Phone 1342; Cor. & Dublin, Phone 291

9c Clearance Sale

TURNBULLS

9c Clearance Sale

9c CLEARANCE SALE WEDNESDAY

The excellence of the bargains offered for our Wednesday 9c Clearance Sale leads all values ever offered before. Read the list carefully as many of the items are bound to interest you. See the window display of these Goods Tuesday Evening

MAIN FLOOR 9c CLEARANCE SALE

Toweling, Linen, 16 inches wide	9c	Queen Hair Nets	3 for 9c
Towels, Huck, each	9c	Mending Wool	7 Cards 9c
Toweling, Dish, 2 Yards for	9c	Shoe Laces	6 Pair 9c
Toweling, Turkish, Bath	9c	Writing Pads, each	9c
Doylies, various patterns	6 for 9c	Linen Envelopes	4 Pkgs. 9c
Centre Pieces, each	9c	String Beads, string	9c
Ginghams, yard	9c	Brooches, each	9c
Val Lace	4 Yards for 9c	Elastic, White	3 Yards for 9c
Flouncing, yard	9c	Tape	6 Bunches for 9c
Embroidery Edging, with insertion to match, yard	9c	Darning Cotton	2 Spools 9c
Factory Cotton, 34 inches wide, yard	9c	Small Skeins Wool	9c
Flannelette, White or Striped, yard	9c	Bottle Perfume	9c
Pears Soap, cake	9c	Vaseline	2 Bottles for 9c
Hand Scrub Brushes	4 for 9c	Chamois	9c
Face Cloths	2 for 9c	Puff Pins	9c
Tooth Brushes, each	9c	Ribbon, all colours	9c
Toilet Soap	7 Cakes 9c	Handkerchief, Khaki	9c
Castile Soap	2 Cakes 9c	Pure Linen Table Napkins, each	9c
Handkerchiefs, Ladies	3 for 9c

BASEMENT 9c CLEARANCE SALE

Knives, "Bread"	9c	Fancy Decorated Chips Plates	9c
Re-Nu-All Polish, large size	9c	Fancy Decorated Sauce Dishes	9c
Vegetable Dish, plain	9c	Butter Moulds for 1-lb. Prints	9c
Egg Cups	4 for 9c	Dinner Plates, plain, each	9c
Coal Shovels, each	9c	Bread and Butter Plates, each	9c
Mirrors, in frame, 8 x 10 inches	9c	Cups and Saucers	9c
Granite Sauce Pans	9c	Pitchers, Plain or blue border	9c
Granite Spoons	9c	Cereal Bowls, blue border	9c
Granite Soap Dish	9c	Glass Cream Pitchers, large or small	9c
Granite Cups	9c	Glass Sugar Bowls, small	9c
Granite Pie Plates	9c	Glass Cake Plates, large	9c
Granite Cake Plates	9c	Whisk Brooms	9c
Granite Pudding Dishes	9c	Jelly Moulds, Aluminum	2 for 9c
Granite Wash Basins	9c	Shawl Straps	9c
Egg Beaters	9c	Clothes' Pegs, wire tipped	2 doz. for 9c
Mouse Traps	9c	Clothes' Pins	5 doz. for 9c
Flour Sifters	9c	Laundry Soap	3 Cakes 9c
Toasters	9c	Clothes' Lines	9c
Coat Hangers	9c	Cream Whippers	9c
Sink Shovels	9c	Salt and Peppers, Aluminum, pair	9c
Large Craters	9c	Knives, Carving	9c

9c Clearance Sale

CARPET DEPARTMENT

Curtain Scrim, yard	9c	Wagons, Carts and Wheelbarrows	9c
Cretonnes, various patterns, yard	9c	Books—Algers' and Girls' Books	9c

9c Clearance Sale

Voice of the People

To the Editor of The Examiner.

Dear Sir,—The campaign in the City of Peterborough indicates two things; firstly, that men who put up a good, clean, aggressive fight are almost sure of success. Secondly, no one newspaper can hope to dominate municipal affairs in this city. The attack made upon Mr. Gordon and Mr. J. H. Smith by the Review, no doubt got them a great many votes, and the fact that the Review was wabbling in the South Ward election and neither supported Alderman Edgar, who had an extremely good record, or his opponent, Mr. Taylor, who is a well-known young insurance man, left the Review on the fence. Some good men have gone down in the election, but it will always be so, and although hardships may take place, we are bound by our democratic form of government to accept the verdict of the people, and to assist in the government of the city's affairs those who have been entrusted with that duty and care.

Yours truly,
Junius.

To-Night

PETERBOROUGH CHORAL SOCIETY

Presents

"The Messiah"

St. Paul's Church

TUESDAY, 2nd Jan., at 8 o'clock

SOLOISTS

Miss DOROTHY ALLAN
Peterboro, Soprano
Miss PEARL STEINHOFF
Toronto, Contralto
Miss FLOWERS
Peterboro, Pianist
Mr ALBERT DOWNING
Toronto, Tenor
Mr MARLEY SHERRIS
Toronto, Bass
Mr T. I. PALMER
Toronto, Organist
Mr. JOHN ALLAN, Conductor

Tickets 50c may be had from Messrs Mason, Coleman, Barrie, Smith's Store.

GROUP PICTURES

Good time now when the visitors are at home for the holidays to have a group Picture taken. Make arrangements to sit at—

374½ George Street — The Moule Studio — Phone No. 46

ALD. G. DUNCAN
West Ward representative and mentioned as prospective candidate for Mayor in 1918.

MILITARY LAW IN KITCHENER AFTER ELECTION

(Continued from page 5)

guard of 100 men of the 122nd Muskoka Battalion, which arrived at 10.30, and are now guarding King street. Before their arrival, however, the soldiers made another raid on the News-Record Office and did considerable damage. Martial law was proclaimed by Marshal Osborne and peace was restored.

Took Liquor to Cafe Fined $200 in Court

A young man was fined $200 in police court this morning for having liquor in his possession in a Chinese cafe on Saturday, Dec. 23rd. While drunk he refused to pay for a meal, and when Sergt. Kidd and P. C. Pratt were called they found three bottles in his pockets. Thus the more serious charge of having liquor in his possession elsewhere than in his own private dwelling was taken up, and on Sergt. Kidd's testimony Magistrate Dumble found the man guilty and imposed a fine of $200 or three months in jail.

Bowlers Never Get Appendicitis

BOWLING FOR HEALTH

THE WATER ST. ALLEYS
J. J. SOLOMON, Prop

Anniversary Services At Zion Church

Anniversary services were held in the Zion Methodist Church, Otonabee, on Dec. 31st. Rev. W. P. Wilson, of Belleville, a former popular pastor of Keene circuit, preached at 10.30 and 7:30. The church being crowded to the doors, a thank-offering was taken up which exceeded all expectations. Miss Margaret Lancashire of Toronto, sang very acceptably at both services.

LAKEFIELD PERSONALS

Lakefield, Dec. 30th.

Mrs. Harold Kidd and daughter of Toronto, are visiting in the village, the guests of Mr. and Mrs. A. I. Kidd.

Mrs. C. S. Carter spent Saturday morning in Peterboro.

Miss Violet McCaul is spending the week-end in Peterboro.

Mr. and Mrs. George Hendren and children, Mrs. Walter Nugent and Miss Elva, and Miss A. Hunter drove to Peterboro on Friday, where they spent the day.

Mr. and Mrs. Allan Watson of Detroit, Mich., are visiting at the village, the guests of Mr. and Mrs. Jos. Watson.

Mr. Elwood Northey attended the Boys' Convention held in Lindsay this week.

Mr. and Mrs. Montgomery of Stirling, Ont., are the guests of Mrs. J. M. Bygott.

Mr. and Mrs. William Gillman have left for Toronto, where they will spend a month visiting with relatives.

Mr. and Mrs. W. J. Bullock of Young's Point, spent Saturday in the village.

Mr. Sherman Garbutt, who has been confined to his home for some time, through illness, has left for Montreal, where he will undergo treatment at the Royal Victoria Hospital.

ALD. EDGAR WORTH elected by acclamation in the West Ward—A new member of the City Council.

A SOUVENIR FROM THE FRONT

Miss Hilliard, Lakefield, has received a book which has an interesting history. A "News from Home," made up by the members of the Patriotic Society of Lakefield, and containing her name, was sent in 1915 to France. During the big drive it was left in a dug-out near St. Eloi and picked up by a private in an English regiment, who returned it to Lakefield, a delapidated but priceless souvenir.

CONSTABLE GOT BALANCE OF FINE

Lindsay, January 2. — High County Constable Cesquergood returned from Bowmanville, where he went to bring back a man who was fined $100 and costs for an infraction of the Temperance Act. He did not secure the man, but he got something substantial, $195, the balance of the fine unpaid. The military authorities at Cobourg are now interested in the man, who enlisted in that town.

Studying Timber Problems.

The laboratories situated on University street, Toronto, in which extensive work is now being carried on towards the better knowledge of Canada's timber resources has a total staff of about thirty, with a technical staff of about twenty-four, eight of whom had enlisted up to date. In addition to the division of administration there are four technical divisions; timber physics, timber tests, pulp and paper and food preservation.

Timber physics is concerned with the study of the physical properties of wood, such as weights, moisture contents, conditions of growth, minute cell structure, and so forth. All the microscopic and photo-micrographic work of wood and pulp fibres is done in this division. In the division of timber physics the mechanical strength of wood is determined to give architects and engineers a basis for design when structural timbers aroused. Now that the Dominion Government and certain private corporations in Canada have decided to use only Canadian wood in construction, reliable tests are valuable in pointing out the relative merits of Canadian woods. Tests have been made on Douglas fir for structural purposes; they have also been made on timber suitable for the mines of Nova Scotia.

"Diogenes the Wise."

With all his faults, the old philosopher of Athens was often called Diogenes the Wise. Whether his wisdom was really so great as to deserve that title may be doubted, but his worst faults seem to have been good qualities carried to excess. In opposing too much luxury he cut himself off from the comforts of life; in his eagerness to make life simple he lost sight of its gentilities; he was saving at the expense of neatness, truthful at the cost of courtesy and plain spoken even to rudeness. One would say that he was coarse grained by nature, but he showed signs of tenderness and even refinement, which proved that the grain was not entirely coarse and which makes us wonder at an age that could produce two men so wise and yet so different as Diogenes, the rude, "walking philosophy" of his time, and Plato, the polished and aristocratic gentleman.—St. Nicholas.

ALD. A. A. McINTYRE
re-elected by acclamation to the 1917 City Council.

Opening Service

Week of Prayer Will Commence in St. Andrew's Church To-night

All citizens of Peterborough are urged to attend the opening session of the week of prayer services which will be held in St. Andrew's Presbyterian church to-night. Rev. J. MacKenzie of Knox church will be the preacher, and the service will commence at 8 o'clock sharp. The Protestant churches of the city are uniting in these services.

MILITARY NEWS

(Continued from Page 6)

Pte. Urquhart has had a strenuous career and has participated in a number of engagements.

Pte. J. Monks of the 93rd Battalion, has written to his wife here asking her thank the girls of the Canadian General Electric Co., for the Christmas parcel sent him.

Music & Drama

THE BIRTH OF A NATION.

Once again the famous motion picture, "The Birth of a Nation," is the attraction at the Grand Opera House. David Griffith's wonderful film production, with its vividly drawn portrayal of conditions in the United States just before, during and immediately after the civil war, drew two large audiences at matinee and evening performances yesterday. Last evening's audience was a particularly enthusiastic one and applauded and cheered wildly as the Klu Klux Klan rode to the rescue. The splendid symphony orchestra which accompanies the picture, played even more charmingly than ever yesterday.

Owing to the number that were turned away yesterday a special matinee has been arranged for on Wednesday afternoon at two thirty o'clock. Prices twenty-five and fifty cents.

The advertiser who is deceived as to newspaper circulation is not entitled to much sympathy."

CARD OF THANKS

Mr. F. W. Doan desires to thank all those who supported him in the recent contest for the Board of Education. He appreciates the services of those who in any way assisted in the campaign and to the general public, extends the compliments of the season.

F. W. Doan

CARD OF THANKS

To the Electors of the City of Peterborough:

It affords me pleasure to publicly thank you for your continued confidence by re-electing me a member of the Board of Education. I trust I may be able to satisfy you that your confidence has not been misplaced. Promising that the educational interests of the city will continue to have my careful attention, and wishing you one and all a happy New Year, I remain,

Yours sincerely,

Roland Denne

Card to the Electors

I desire to convey my thanks for the renewal of your confidence, as expressed by your votes yesterday, in again electing me a member of the Board of Education.

Sincerely yours,

Vincent Eastwood

CARD OF THANKS

To the Electors of North Monaghan.

Ladies and Gentlemen,—I wish you to please accept my thanks for the support given in electing me as Deputy-Reeve of the Township of North Monaghan.

I will give all matters in which the Township is interested my very best attention.

Again thanking you, I beg to remain,

Yours faithfully,

Id-1w J. H. Bell.

CARD OF THANKS

Peterborough, January 2nd, 1917.

I beg to thank the ratepayers for giving me such a substantial vote in my election to the Board of Education. I appreciate very much the time spent by my friends in canvassing for me, and their efforts to make my election sure. I was unable to conduct a personal canvass on account of the absence of my partner and another member of my firm, but nevertheless, my friends probably did more than I could have done.

Wishing you a happy New Year, I remain,

Yours truly,

G. N. GORDON

Card of Thanks

ELECTORS EAST WARD.

Ladies and Gentlemen:—

I wish to thank all those who supported and worked for me, in my election for alderman yesterday. Although my majority was small, still the vote all over the city was only about half the normal vote. I also wish to say I have no complaint to make, as both my opponent and myself put up a clean gentlemanly fight.

Wishing all a prosperous year.

J. H. Smith

Card of Thanks

To the Electors of North Monaghan:

Ladies and Gentlemen,—I desire to thank all those who supported and voted for me in yesterday's contest for the Reeveship of North Monaghan.

While defeated, I have no regrets as to my past actions or attitude on questions pertaining to the Township, and I heartily wish the very best results from those elected.

Yours faithfully,

John McIntosh

Card of Thanks

I desire to publicly thank the electors of Number One Ward and my friends generally, for the cordial support that resulted in my election yesterday.

I shall make it my earnest care by honest and industrious endeavour in promoting the best interests of the ward and of the city generally, to justify the confidence reposed in me.

Wishing all the citizens a Happy and prosperous New Year, I remain,

Yours, very faithfully,

W. H. TAYLOR

Peterborough, Jan. 2, 1917.

Card of Thanks

I wish to express my appreciation of the magnificent support of my friends in placing me at the head of the poll for the Board of Education. Such an expression of confidence tends to greatly strengthen my determination to give my best services to the affairs of the Board to which you have elected me, and is a source of extreme personal gratification to myself.

My cordial thanks are extended to all who assisted my candidature in any way, to those whose votes gave me such a substantial majority, and to the many who, while obliged to be out of the city, expressed regret at not being able to help me with their votes.

With hearty good wishes for a prosperous year to all my friends, and hoping you will not find your confidence in me misplaced, I am,

Faithfully yours,

A. A. FOWLER

THE WORLD OF SPORT

GREAT INTEREST IN TO-NIGHT'S O. H. A. GAME AT BROCK ST. RINK

Lindsay Will Clash With the 247th Intermediates and Big Crowd Will See Battle With Peterboro's Old Rivals—Special Train From Lindsay Will Carry Many Fans.

To-night will see a new hockey season ushered in when the last Lindsay team will battle with the 247th Battalion intermediates at the Brock St. Rink. The game will be called at 8.15 o'clock and is the first appearance of the 247th in an O.H.A. game. The Lindsay team, with a sweeping victory over Cobourg to their credit, and a record of a number of wins over Peterboro clubs in recent years, are coming down full of confidence that they will get the edge in the group race by earning a decision over the soldiers to-night. The 247th team have however been showing good form in practice, and Cap. Simpson's band of speed artists will know they have been in a hockey game before the final gong sounds to-night. The 247th team finished their training for to-night's game with a snappy practice game with the Peterboro Juniors yesterday morning, and Grover Halpin's gang are in good shape, and ready for the fray.

A special G. T. R. train will bring several hundred Lindsay rooters here for the battle and there will be some of the old time excitement around the Brock street arena. The crowd promises to be large.

The 247th Band will be on hand to provide music.

JUNIORS OPEN THEIR SEASON HERE ONE WEEK FROM TO-NIGHT

January 9th is a date that the hockey fans of Peterborough, have marked with red ink on their calendars—the date of the opening Junior O.H.A. game at Brock St. Rink.

Funny what a difference there is in the attitude of fans to Junior hockey at the present time compared to that of a few years back. There was a time when the Junior brand could not draw enough people to pay for the sticks they were using. Last year the biggest crowd of the season saw the Lindsay-Peterborough Junior game.

People have begun to realize that the snappiest hockey is to be found in the junior ranks because the youngsters are keen and enthusiastic, able to go a full hour at top speed, and always ready to give the last ounce in them for victory. The result is that a game between two well matched Junior teams is always a sensational battle. Old players save themselves as much as possible, use their top speed only in the pinches as it were, but the Juniors are always out to the last link and there is never anything tame about a Junior game.

Peterborough 1917 Juniors make their bow to the public a week from to-night at Brock St. Rink with Bowmanville as their guests. It will be the first appearance of the Bowmanville Juniors in Peterborough, and the fixture will draw a big crowd.

President's Rinks Won Annual New Year's Curling Feature

President J. H. Ferguson of the Curling Club celebrated New Year's by defeating Vice-President W. D. Campbell's rink with a narrow but sufficient margin of 121 to 116. The ice was good and the curling in most cases of mid-season form. Many of the games provided close finishes and several were tied. The results were as follows:

Morning Draw.

President.		Vice-President.
J. H. Ferguson		W. D. Campbell
Skip	8	Skip 15
T. Brightman		W. Davidson
Skip	12	Skip 7
F. M. Dela Fosse		W. H. Dunham
Skip	10	Skip 10
G. H. Giroux		H. P. Coote
Skip	11	Skip 6
A. W. Archibald		R. P. Best
Skip	10	Skip 8
	49	46

Afternoon Draw.

W. M. Laing		W. G. Morrow
Skip	14	Skip	13
T. F. Matthews		W. G. Ferguson
Skip	10	Skip	11
J. W. McDermid		Dr. Grant
Skip	10	Skip	10
"Ald." Taylor		R. Hicks
Skip	12	Skip	7
R. M. Waddell		A. C. Kay
Skip	18	Skip	13
R. G. Sturgeon		Dr. Wightman
Skip	6	Skip	16
	79		70

Schedule Games.

The scheduled games begin on Wednesday night when the following skips will meet:

Matthews vs. Dela Fosse.
Waddell vs. Campbell.
McDermid vs. Taylor.
Giroux vs. Brightman.
Laing vs. Best.

Mr. J. E. A. Fitzgerald finds business interfering with his Tankard appointment and reversing the usual order is cutting out the Tankard. A meeting is being held to-night to appoint another skip.

HOCKEY GOSSIP

Writing from "Somewhere in France" to a member of the Examiner staff, Pte. Percy Windsor, the clever centre player of the 93rd Batt. Intermediate O.H.A. team last season, says that the 93rd boys who were drafted to the 52nd Canadians, are all well and doing fine. Pte. Windsor says that all the 93rd machine gun section are together, except Sergts. O. Heron and Anderson. The majority are on the Lewis gun section while Pte. Windsor and Pte. Bill Russell are operating a Colt gun. Pte. Windsor says that the men received the socks, tobacco and cigarettes sent by the ladies of Peterboro. "They were sure welcome," adds the hockey player soldier in sending holiday greetings from the 93rd Machine gun section.

Lorne Rose, captain of last year's Peterboro juniors, played left wing for the Sarnia Seniors in their game against Toronto Riversides on Saturday night. Sarnia won the game by 7 to 5.

Gunner Bill Moore, who played with the Y.M.C.A. City League team in 1914, when they were runners up for the championship, is in town for New Year's. He is now a member of the 64th Battery team at Guelph. The Y.M.C.A. team of that year may only have been runners up as far as hockey was concerned, but they were winners by a mile when it came to answering the call of Empire. Of the Y team of that year, Lieut. Barney Quinn, back after many months in France, Lieut. R. Stevenson, and Sergt.-Major Harold Knapman, both at the front, Pte. Edgar Smythe, in England with the Queen's Field Ambulance, and Gunner Bill Moore, are all in khaki, as is Gunner Clare Stuart, who played in some of the games, while the manager of the Y team, Pte. Walter Flowers, has been in France for a long time with the Canadian Mounted Rifles.

The Peterborough juniors will practice at Brock street rink to-morrow night at 7 o'clock and every regular is expected out sharp on time.

Hockey fans are reminded of the war tax. They will save much time at the gate if they will bring two coppers with them to to-night's and all other games.

With Norton and Art and Chuck Carew on their line up the Lindsay team which plays here to-night has not much claim on the title "Midgets" of which they are so fond.

BROCK ST. RINK

Program For This Week

TO-NIGHT

Hockey Match

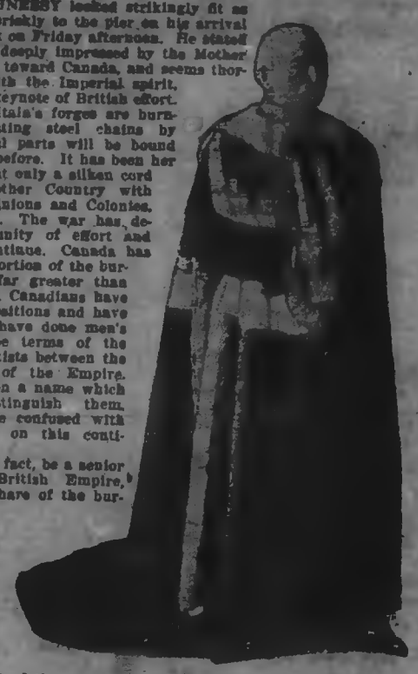
247th Batt. vs. Lindsay
Intermediate Serie s O. H. A.
247th Band in Attendance

Wednesday, Thursday, Friday and Saturday

Skating with Band

Admission For Skaters
15c and 1c War Tax
BRING YOUR COPPER

Canada As Senior Partner



LORD SHAUGHNESSY looked strikingly fit as he stepped briskly to the pier on his arrival in New York on Friday afternoon. He stated that he had been deeply impressed by the Mother Country's attitude toward Canada, and seems thoroughly imbued with the Imperial spirit, which is now the keynote of British effort. He went on: "Britain's forges are burning fiercely, creating steel chains by which her integral parts will be bound together as never before. It has been her boast for years that only a silken cord connected the Mother Country with her overseas Dominions and Colonies. That time is past. The war has demonstrated that unity of effort and direction must continue. Canada has assumed a heavy portion of the burden of the war—far greater than anyone anticipated. Canadians have stood in critical positions and have held them. They have done men's work, fulfilling the terms of the partnership that exists between the various members of the Empire. Canadians have won a name which will forever distinguish them. Never will they be confused with other nationalities on this continent.

"Canada will, in fact, be a senior partner in the British Empire, bearing an equal share of the burdens; reaping an equal, proportionate share of the profits and filling a prominent seat at the council table. Lloyd George's elevation to the premiership, undoubtedly is the outcome of a desire on the part of the more aggressive party in the House of Commons to have a Government that will prosecute the war with more vigor. The change merely indicates that the people of Great Britain wish to utilize every resource and every force at their command to ensure victory. Britain wants peace just as soon as the demands made by her and her allies are won from Germany. Anything less is not victory. The masterful way in which Britain is financing the war is no less impressive than the achievements at the front. Her wealth and resources are almost limitless and are being freely and gladly pledged. This war is developing the individual. Every man, woman and child must do a share. Women in the United Kingdom are taking the men's places at home. They have demonstrated that they can do the work heretofore done by men and just as efficiently. They work on the railways, manufacture munitions, do the farm work, in fact, there is nothing except the actual fighting in the trenches that they are not doing. Every woman at man's work, puts another rifle on the firing line.

"As to Canada's future, I have always been certain. The war has only hastened development. With a population nearly equivalent to that of New York State, and a territory larger than the United States, her possibilities are vast. The quality of her fighting and her share in the war has carried her fame to remote corners. Before the war immigration was rapid but not a measure to what it will be when peace is declared. I firmly believe that Canada will have an influx of population not unlike that in the United States about fifty years ago. A great deal of money and many thousands of settlers have already gone to Canada from the United States. The investor finds there a good field for his wealth, and the settler a fertile soil for his plow. Rewards have come quickly to both. Canada looks to the United States more than ever she did before for two reasons, money and men are plentiful here and the supply from overseas is cut off."

J. THIRNBECK WON THE ALL-ROUND TITLE

Athletic Meet at Y. M. C. A. Was a Splendid Success—Three Records Broken by Hubert Martin—Junior Collegiate Class Beat Employed Boys

The athletic meet at the Y.M.C.A. yesterday afternoon between the Junior Collegiate class and the Senior Employed Boys was a splendid success, both from the standpoint of interest and performances. Three records were broken by Hubert Martin, and the new marks are very close to the Hexathlon 100-point standard. The new records are: 60 yards, 15 seconds, 100 points; 160 yards, 44 2-5 seconds, 97 points; fence vault, 6 feet, 82 points. J. Thirnbeck won the all-round title for the contest with a margin of 25 points over H. Martin. By making a great put in the shot-putting event he overcame Martin's lead, scoring 512 points out of a possible 600, a fine performance. G. Thorndyke again sprung a surprise by clearing 5 ft. 10 ins. in the fence vault, and by jumping 4 ft. 7 ins., the highest mark cleared yesterday. The Junior Collegiate class won the biggest number of points, scoring 2148 against 1978 made by the Employed Boys. The following boys qualified on the Junior Collegiate Team: J. Thirnbeck, H. Martin, F. Rutherford, K. Kirn, R. Meserve, R. Pogue R. Cowan and G. Yeaman.

SUMMARY.

60-yard Potato Race.

H. Martin, 15 secs., 100 pts.
J. Thirnbeck, 15 1-5 secs., 95 pts.
F. Rutherford, 15 2-5 secs., 85 pts.
H. Copp, 15 4-5 secs., 80 pts.

160-yard Potato Race.

H. Martin, 44 2-5 secs., 97 pts.
J. Thirnbeck, 45 4-5 secs., 91 pts.
F. Rutherford, 46 secs., 90 pts.
N. Foote, 46 3-5 secs., 87 pts.

High Jump.

G. Thorndyke, 4 ft. 7 ins., 82 pts.
H. Tudhope, 4 ft. 7 ins., 82 pts.
F. Green, 4 ft. 7 ins., 82 pts.
J. Thirnbeck, 4 ft. 6 ins., 78 pts.

Broad Jump.

J. Thirnbeck, 8 ft. 4½ ins., 80 pts.
M. Martin, 8 ft. 1 in., 66 pts.
R. Cavanagh, 7 ft. 11 ins., 58 pts.
F. Rutherford, 7 ft. 10½ ins., 56 pts.

Fence Vault.

H. Martin, 6 ft., 92 pts.
G. Thorndyke, 5 ft. 10 ins., 84 pts.
J. Thirnbeck, 5 ft. 10 ins., 84 pts.
F. Rutherford, 5 ft. 6 ins., 66 pts.

Shot Put.

J. Thirnbeck, 38 ft. 6 ins., 66 pts.
F. Green, 33 ft., 44 pts.
R. Cavanagh, 33 ft., 64 pts.
H. Martin, 31 ft. 6 ins., 60 pts.

Team Scores.

60 yards—Jr. Collegiate 399, Sr. Employed 326.
160 yards—Jr. Collegiate 460, Sr. Employed 418.
High Jump—Jr. Collegiate 354, Sr. Employed 330.
Broad Jump—Jr. Collegiate 306, Sr. Employed 242.
Fence Vault—Jr. Collegiate 364, Sr. Employed 300.
Shot Put—Jr. Collegiate 304, Sr. Employed 302.
Total—Jr. Collegiate 2148, Sr. Employed 1978.

THE GOLD TEST.

Its Use in Diagnosing Diseases of the Brain and Nerves.

Like the weird remedies and tests of medicine in the middle ages are some of the latest means science has devised to detect and classify forms of insanity and brain affections. Salts of gold in solution, drops of spinal fluid, bits of the tissue from the covering of a normal person's brain and various other similar materials are the means employed.

The gold test, for instance, is used to prove definitely the existence of paresis, meningitis and several other forms of nervous diseases, though in practice it is used mostly as corroborative proof rather than the only proof. Solutions of salt of gold of carefully graduated strength are put into test tubes, with the weakest solutions at one end of the row grading up to the strongest at the other end.

Fluid from the spinal column of the person who is being examined is then dropped into the tubes. The presence of certain kinds of brain or nervous trouble is then indicated by the colors produced in some of the tubes. The particular color produced and the strength of the solution that shows the color strongest give the clew to the kind of disease.

Another peculiar test for certain other kinds of brain trouble is to take a drop of blood from the person examined and place in it a prepared solution from a tiny particle of brain covering of a normal person. Epilepsy causes an easily detected reaction on the combined solution, while other brain disturbances are detected by a similar process, using other materials in the same way.—Saturday Evening Post.

Spiteful.

Belle—I don't see why you call her spiteful. I thought she was paying you a compliment. Clara—Oh, you don't know her. Belle—Why, didn't she tell you you were looking quite yourself again? Clara—She said quite my "old self."—London Fit-Bits.

EUROPEAN POLICEMEN.

Clever in London, "Sloppy" in Paris and Polite in Berlin.

In humor, in urbanity, as in perfect control of his district, the London policeman is the nearest approach to perfection, writes Percival Pollard, who in "Vagabond Journeys" has a word to say of the various policemen of the world. He adds that in looks only our American policemen equal those of London.

To the stranger the policeman seems the politest of all Londoners. Chiefly, however, it is in his control of traffic, awheel and afoot, that he is unrivaled. When you consider the narrowness of the streets you constantly marvel at the easy skill with which he solves his problem.

The Paris policeman never looks anything but "sloppy," and his notion of controlling traffic at crowded street crossings is enough to make the observer shout with laughter. No one minds him, and his attempts to regulate the speed of the Parisian cabby only result in a slanging match. Observation of Parisian street traffic is all that is really necessary to impress you with the belief that in case of need the Paris policeman would always, with much noise and misdirection, arrest the wrong person.

The police of Berlin are vastly better than those of Paris. They do not look as well, according to our notions, as the English "constables," but they are fairly smart. The men are polite, control traffic inexorably and see to it that Berlin is one of the cleanest and most orderly of cities. But as reasoning individuals the Berlin policemen are hardly to be counted at all. When anything happens to you more serious than crossing a congested street or losing your way you are fairly certain of running hard against a city ordinance, mechanically enforced by the man on the beat.

No argument or persuasion prevails. There is the regulation, and here the instrument to enforce it. The human element is entirely absent. Both Italy and France are as to their police more human.

Origin of Some Slang.

A great many people use slang terms and expressions without knowing their real meaning or their origin. Ninety-nine out of every hundred, when their health is good, say they are "first rate." Why? "First rate" is a seafaring term and was originally used in the classification of the old wooden line of battleships.

"Sailing under false colors"—a term applied to a person who pretends to be other than he is—is a survival of the same period. This latter expression, like "to throw overboard"—to get rid of something—obviously nautical, but few people know that "skyscraper" was originally sailors' slang.

"Close quarters" is another very common expression. This like "first rate" and its accompanying expressions, "second rate," "third rate" and so on, come from the days of wooden fighting ships. The "quarters" were projections erected along the bulwarks, behind which sailors could lie low, and which were used to help repel boarders.

"To sail against the wind"—to be very much in the minority—and "to lower your sail"—to confess yourself conquered—are both terms borrowed from the sea, and the same may be said of "high and dry," and "laid up" and "spliced," the slang term for getting married.

When we talk of a person being "knocked into a cocked hat" we mean that he was limp enough to be doubled up and carried under the arm like the cocked hat of a naval officer. And we say that so and so will be "on the rocks" if he does not "steer clear" of the money lenders.

WE HAVE THE GOODS
FRESH ON THE SPOT

Good Fruit is necessary to the enjoyment of the Holiday Season. We carry none but the best.

California Fruits

Sunkist Oranges, Malaga Grapes, Grape Fruit, Bananas, Apples, Lemons, Cranberries, Pine Apples, Olives

Home-Grown Celery
New Head Lettuce
Potatoes, Onions
Cabbage, Carrots
Cauliflowers, Parsnips
Old Cheese, Pickles, Catsup

Fish and Oysters

Fresh Caught Lake and Sea Fish and Sealshipt Oysters

Douros & Geltas
375 George St. Phones 18 & 19

GRAND OPERA HOUSE To-night and To-morrow

LOOK! This is Your Last Chance to See

SAME BIG PRODUCTION — THE BIRTH OF A NATION — SAME BIG ORCHESTRA

IN PETERBORO

NOTICE—A Special Bargain Matinee has been arranged for To-morrow (Wednesday) at 2.30 p. m.

Lower Floor 50c Balcony 25c

No Reserve—Be on hand early to get best seats.
Doors open at 2 o'clock, starts at 2.30

ROYAL

Best Place of Amusement in Canada to get good value for your money

EARLE WILLIAMS in "The Gold Cigarette Case" from "THE SCARLET RUNNER"

"The Gold Cigarette Case" Another chapter in the Strand Magazine's Wonderful Story

The Scarlet Runner

Three Reel Drama of modern life
THE WAY OF PATIENCE

Celebrated Actor Francis X. Bushman, in Two Reel Drama
THE GIRL AT THE CURTAIN

Great Comedies—
Busting Into Society, Ambitious Ethel and Others

Two Full Shows Afternoon and Evening
PRICES 10c WHICH COVERS WAR TAX

Special For To-morrow CHARLIE CHAPLIN in THE PICNIC, 3 Reels

Also the Fox Feature 6 Parts Theda Bara The Best Actress in the world

EMPIRE

SEE CLEO RIDGELY AND WALLACE REID IN THE

SELFISH WOMAN

TO-NIGHT

ALSO A GOOD

COMEDY

TIZ-IT THEATRE

FRIDAY & SATURDAY—The Great Serial:

LIBERTY

Helen Holmes in the 5th episode of
The Girl And The Game
Red Feather feature
THE WAY OF THE WORLD
In 5 parts, with Hobart Bosworth.
Nestor Comedy WANTED A HUSBAND
Laemmle Feature THE THIEF IN THE DESERT
WEDNESDAY
The Diamond from the Sky

STRAND THEATRE TO-DAY
RUTH ROLAND in
Comrade John
"ROMANCE OF ELAINE" "THE SUBMARINE HARBOUR"
Two Comics, A MASHER'S MISHAP and
CHARLES CHAPLIN in
His Favorite Pastime
WANTED A PIANIST Apply at office

Amazing Reductions on Black Sealettes For The One Day
Regular $7.00 for per yard 4.00
Regular $6.00 for per Yard ... 3.75
Both lines 50 ins wide

ROBERT FAIR & CO., Ltd.

Wednesday Bargains

The Winter Season being advanced, Greater Values may be looked for To-morrow. Considering the marked reductions we have made in every department we look for a lively business on Wednesday.

WEDNESDAY MORNING SPECIALS
ON SALE FROM 9.30 TO 11.30

PRINTED DUCKLING FLEECE WRAPPERETTE — Designs suitable for kimonas, dressing jackets, house dresses and wrappers; also for children's wear. See window display Tuesday. Regular price 85c. Wednesday Bargain, Sale price, per yard 15c

BLEACHED LONG CLOTH—An extra good quality, free from dressing, a suitable weave for general household use. 36 inches wide. A 13c special, for.....6 yards for 1.00

ALL-LINEN ROLLER TOWELLING—Pure white with border. Suitable for hand, roller or dish towelling. 17 inches wide. A 15c special, for .....4 yards for 50c

PURE WHITE WOOLNAP BLANKETS—A wool like blanket that takes the place of the all-wool quality. Large size 72 x 84 inches. See this $4.50 blanket at, per pair..... 3.98

BEST QUALITY FLANNELETTE BLANKETS—Being shown today in all white or grey. The full 11/4 size, heavily napped. What is being sold at $1.75. For, per pair 1.59

WOOL BLANKETS AND COMFORTERS

WHITE WOOL BLANKETS—To-morrow the day to buy warm wool blankets. We will place on sale the $6.25, $5.50, $5.75 and $6.00, in sizes 60 x 80, 64 x 84 inches. All at, per pair..... 5.00

HEAVY GREY WOOL BLANKETS — Light grey with border. They come in two weights, and large sizes: —
The 6-lb. size at $4.25, for, per pair..... $3.75
The 7-lb. size at $5.00, for, per pair..... $4.25

PRICES THAT WILL SELL COMFORTERS — We offer three lines of well filled and large size, with Silkoline and Chintz covering. They are bargains. See them:—
4 only—72 x 72 inches. Regular $2.10 for..... $1.69
5 only—72 x 72 inches. Regular $2.98 for..... $2.50
6 only—72 x 72 inches. Regular $3.50 for..... $2.69

8/4 PURE WHITE SHEETING—A good heavy weave that will give the wear. Regular value 85c, for ..... 5 yards for.. 1.35

TOWELLINGS, FLANNELETTES, HOSIERY, UNDERWEAR, SWEATERS, EMBROIDERY

HEAVY CREAM FLANNELETTE — Free from dressing. An extra thick make, but soft and warm. Much better than the bleached at same price. Regular value 18c. Sale price special, ... 7 yards for 1.00

WE HAVE 36 SWEATERS AT $1.25 for 89c EACH — The biggest bargain of the season. They are all grey with high roll collar, heavy winter weight. Regular $1.25. Wednesday Bargain..... 89c

FLEECEDOWN FLANNELETTE—A heavy soft fleecy make, very dainty stripe designs. A quality you are sure to be pleased with. Regular value 16c. Sale price, ... 7 yards for 1.00

36-INCH PURE WHITE FLANNELETTE—This extra wide width cuts up to better advantage, heavy make, no dressing. Regular price 22c. Sale price ..... 7 yards for 1.25

HEMMED PILLOW CASES —Size 40 inches, made from a good cotton, neatly hemmed ready for use. 18c value, for, each..... 15c

BLACK CASHMERE HOSE —A very superior quality that is worth 35c. As a Wednesday special we offer ..... 4 pair for 1.00

20-INCH PURE WHITE CRASH—A good heavy weave, suitable for hand or dish towels. Note the wide width. Regular price 20c. Sale price..3 yards for 50c

BLACK FLEECE LINED HOSE—An excellent make, good and warm. The regular 25c line. On sale at, per pair 9c

CHILDREN'S RIB UNDERWEAR—Grey only. All sizes. What we sell at 25c. Tomorrow either garment.... 19c

HEAVY CARDINAL HOSE OR OVERSTOCKINGS—Rib knit, seamless. All sizes. Regular 75c and 85c. All one price, per pair.... 59c

A ONE-DAY SALE OF EMBROIDERY — As this is the great sewing month you should be interested in embroidery and insertions. Here are both insertions and embroideries that are worth 12½c and 15c, for, per yard..... 10c

KNITTERS ATTENTION!
WE MAKE A SPECIALTY OF YARNS.

BONNER-WORTH YARN—In grey, khaki, white or black. Now selling at $1.75. Our special price, per lb. 1.60

THE WHEELING FACTORY YARN—In light or dark grey, 3 ply, that sells at $1.10. Special price, per lb. 88c

MONARCH AND BALDWIN'S BEST 4-PLY FINGERING YARNS—In white, black, khaki, light and dark grey. Worth 18c skein, Sale price..... .....7 skeins for 1.00

SCOTCH FINGERING YARN—4-ply in light and medium grey, cardinal and white. Worth 12½c. Sale price, ... 10c, or 3 skeins for 25c

BEST CANADIAN WOOL FACTORY YARN—2 and 3 ply, in two shades of grey and grey and white mixed. Regular $1.25, for, per lb. 1.10

SEE WINDOW DISPLAY TO-NIGHT OF LADIES', MISSES' AND CHILDREN'S COATS
THAT SOLD UP TO $12.00. SALE PRICE $5.00

LADIES', MISSES' AND CHILDREN'S WINTER COATS
Every coat of this season's stylish cloths, and smart styles. On account of the low price we cannot make alterations, no exchanges, no 'phone orders. These coats sold up to $12.50. Your choice 5.00

LADIES' AND MISSES' $20.00 SUITS FOR $11.00
This season's suits of all-wool serges, tweeds, cheviots, and corded velvet. All man-tailored, in very latest styles. The principal shades are black, copen, navy, brown and tweed effects. Come early and get best choice of these suits. Worth $20.00, for just 11.00

LADIES' PLAIN BLACK SEALETTE COAT
Only a few left of the most popular garments of the season. This fine sold at $25.00. Special sale price..... 15.00

LADIES' FANCY PLUSH COATS
Very handsome coats, plain plush collar and wide band at bottom. Guaranteed satin lining. Regular price $25.00. Sale price 17.50

LADIES' QUILTED SILK KIMONAS
An after Christmas sale of a few we have left in navy only, with garnet and copen silk lining. Collar, cuffs and pocket nicely embroidered in colours. Regular price $7.50. Sale price..... 5.00

BLACK AND NAVY SERGE DRESSES
A collection of beautiful all-wool serge dresses that sold up to $10.00. Your choice for 4.50

ONE ONLY $10.00 SERGE DRESS TO CLEAR AT..... 2.50

DENTAL.
Dr. McKenty, Dentist, 370 George Street, on the ground floor, first door north of Peterborough Hardware Company. Nitrous oxide and oxygen administered for painless operations. 28d-128

Stop that Cough!
TAKE
Pinol
A healing Remedy
Compound of White Pine Compound with Eucalyptol & Menthol
A prompt relief for Coughs and Colds
Bronchitis
Sore Throat, Asthma
and other diseases of the Respiratory Organs.
For sale only at
THE WARNE DRUG CO., LTD.
351 George St. Phone 527

WEDDING BELLS

FORTUNE—PORTSMOUTH.
The marriage of Miss Mabel Ethel Portsmith, youngest daughter of Mrs. M. Portsmith, 576 Stewart street of this city, to Mr. Wm. Fortune, eldest son of Mr. and Mrs. John Fortune, of Hindville, Alberta, took place at the Methodist manse, Vermilion, Alberta, on Dec. 20th. Rev. A. H. Argus officiating.

LOESCHER—CRESSWELL.
A pretty wedding was solemnized at the home of Mr. and Mrs. B. K. Storey, 619 Union street, yesterday, New Year's afternoon, when Miss Florence Hazel Cresswell, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Chas. Cresswell, 91 Roach avenue, Toronto, was married to Mr. Hans Ludwig Loescher, of Peterborough. The ceremony was performed bby Rev. R. G. Peever, B.D., pastor George street Methodist church, in the presence of the immediate friends. Mrs. Gladys Calder was bridesmaid, and Miss M. Storey maid of honour, while Mr. A. Storey, of Millertown, N.D., was best man. The bride wore a pretty dress of white satin trimmed with pearl and lace and carried a bouquet of white carnations tied with a white bow. The bridesmaid was attired in pink satin with pearl trimmings, while the maid of honour wore pale blue silk with pale blue satin trimming both carrying pink carnations. A wedding repast was served at 5 o'clock. The bride was the recipient of numerous presents. Mr. and Mrs. Loescher will reside at 619 Union street.

DOWNER—RICHARDSON.
On Wednesday evening, December 27th, a pretty wedding was solemnized at the home of Mr. John Richardson, Otonabee, when his only sister, Annie Pearl, was united in mariage to Mr. Lewis S. Downer, Otonabee. The bride who was given away by her brother, entered the drawing room as the strains of the wedding march were played by Mrs. John Johnson, sister of the groom. The bride was tastefully attired in blue silk, trimmed with lace and white fur, and carried a bouquet of pink roses. Miss Olive Richardson, cousin of the bride, who was dressed in white silk, acted as flower girl. She carried pink and white carnations. The house was beautifully decorated for the occasion, while the wedding couple stood under a pretty arch.

The ceremony was performed by the Rev. Mr. A. K. Edmison, pastor of the Methodist church, Keene. After the ceremony was over, the bride led the way to the dining room, where a wedding repast was served. The guests numbered about forty, consisting of the intimate friends of the contracting parties. The bride and groom received many useful and valuable presents. The groom's gift to the bride was a muskrat coat; to the flower girl a bracelet. Mr. and Mrs. Downer will reside in Otonabee.

REED—DAVIS.
A pretty wedding was solemnized on New Year's Day at the residence of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Reed, Townsend street, when Miss Georgina Davis was united in marriage to Corporal Herbert H. Reed.

The ceremony was performed by Rev. Dongald Brown, in the presence of a number of their immediate friends. After the ceremony all sat down to a full course dinner, which was enjoyed by all. During the absence of Corporal Reed with his battalion, Mrs. Reed will reside at 312 Townsend Street.

SIMMONS—SHEPHERDSON.
On January 2, 1917, at the Baptist parsonage, 295 Reid street, a quiet wedding took place at 10 o'clock, when Mr. John Simmons, 33 Gladstone Avenue, and Miss Minnie Shepherdson, 154 Harte avenue, were united in marriage. The ceremony was performed by Rev. Dongald Brown. The happy couple left on the afternoon train for Toronto where they will reside.

OBITUARY

The friends of Mrs. Charles H. Huffman, 297 Boswell Avenue, were greatly shocked to learn on New Year's morning of her death during the night. The deceased had visited members of her family on Sunday, and appeared in the best of health, and retired without any signs of the disposition. During the night, however, her heart troubled her, and within a short space of time she had expired.

The late Mrs. Huffman was born at Glastings on March 7th, 1858, but had spent most of her life in this city. As Mary Hattie Fisher she married Mr. C. H. Huffman, in Rochester, N.Y., June 26th, 1882, who survives her, together with three sisters and two brothers in Rochester, N.Y., and one sister in Syracuse, N.Y., also two daughters, Mrs. F. Pearson, Edmonton, Alta., and Mrs. T. H. Glover, of this city, two sons, Harry and Sheldon, city.

The deceased took a great interest in her home and family and was much beloved by them, in return, as well as by all the friends of her acquaintance. She was an earnest member of Trinity Methodist church. The funeral will take place on Wednesday afternoon from the family residence, 297 Boswell Avenue, to the Little Lake Cemetery.

WM. GIFFORD.
Wm. H. Gifford died yesterday at St. Joseph's Hospital, aged 60 years. Mr. Gifford came to the city some time ago to visit P. C. F. Pratt, 33 McGill street, to recuperate after a long illness, and was to have returned to his home last week. However, he had a relapse which proved fatal. He was a member of the Anglican church. He leaves to mourn his loss his mother, Mrs. Jane Gifford residing in Peterborough and two brothers, Alfred of Peroria, Ill., and Robert of Rochester. The remains will be taken this afternoon to Logansport, Ind., where interment will take place.

MRS. WESLEY FOSTER.
The funeral of the late Mrs. Wesley Foster ,who died on New Year's Day after a short illness, was held yesterday from the family residence, lot 1, concession 1, Smith, to the Emily cemetery. Mrs. Foster was born in Cavan 51 years ago and resided in Smith the greater part of her life. The Rev. Mr. Crawl, pastor of the Presbyterian church, Emily, conducted the service.

BIRTH.
MOORE.—To Mr. and Mrs. Gordon R. Moore, 560 Romaine street, on January 1st, 1917, a son.

DIED.
TIGHE.—At the family residence, 513 Donegal street, Mrs. Edward Tighe. Funeral on Wednesday afternoon at 1.30 p.m. Service at 1.15 o'clock by Canon Cornish. Interment at Little Lake cemetery.

City and General

Broken auto cylinders, machinery and stoves welded, by the new Oxo Acetelyne Process. Anything in iron, steel or aluminum made as good as new, not patched up. Millard's Bicycle Shop, Hunter street, near Aylmer.

PROBABILITIES.
Moderate winds, mostly fair and mild. Wednesday, Increasing southeast winds, to be followed by snow or rain.

EXPRESS AND BAGGAGE.
E. D. Cooney, a returned soldier, has taken over the express business of Eddie Reid and will give prompt and careful attention to all work entrusted to him. 'Phone 847. E. D. Cooney, 340 Aylmer stree. 28d-243

FINE POST CARDS.
Post Cards of Quaker Oats fire IN COLOURS, 10c. each. See the specimens in the show case. Vincent Studio, George Street. 28d-243

WOMEN'S PATRIOTIC LEAGUE.
The monthly business meeting of the Women's Patriotic League of Ashburnham will be held in the work room on Wednesday Jan. 3rd, at 4 o'clock.

PIANO TUNING.
'Phone 595, The Greene Music Co., Charlotte Street, when your piano requires tuning or regulating. All work guaranteed. dtf

BOARD OF EDUCATION.
A regular meeting of the Board of Education will take place at the Secretary's Office, 437 George street, tonight at 7.45.

FUNERAL SUNDAY.
The funeral of the late Joseph Houlihan, took place on Sunday afternoon under the auspices of the Ancient Order of Hibernians. The Rev. Father Phelan officiated.

POTATOES FOR SALE.
Car load New Brunswick, white, mealy potatoes, for sale, price $2.30 in five bag lots, delivered. Single bags $2.35. S. Fisher, 'phone 1068, or Munro House, 'phone 44. May be seen at Munro House.

CARD OF THANKS.
Mrs. Geo. Wilkins and family, 147 Lake street, desire to thank the Daughters of the Empire and other friends for many kindnesses since the official announcement on Dec. 12 of the death of her husband, killed in action.

LOST TWO FINGERS OF HIS RIGHT HAND
On Saturday Mr. A. J. Donald, had the misfortune to lose two fingers of the right hand in an accident at the Wm. Hamilton Company. Dr. Harvey dressed the wounds at the Nicholls Hospital.

CLEANING, PRESSING AND REPAIRING.
'Phone 1416 for Cleaning, Pressing and Repairing. Goods called for and delivered promptly. Mrs. Read, 150 Rubidge Street. dtf

BE ON HAND EARLY.
The audience attending the "Messiah" performance to-night in St. Paul's church are requested to be seated by 8 o'clock, as late comers will only be admitted between items.

PRISONERS WELL FED.
A substantial repast in keeping with the season, was provided on Christmas day by Gaoler H. Nesbitt for the inmates of the county gaol. No provision is made for this in the maintenance account of the institution, so that Mr. Nesbitt followed out his usual custom of providing the extras at his own expense.

1916 BROKEN PROMISES.
When retrospection fills you with remorse, remember that your failures may be rectified in 1917. Make a promise to give your office help better facilities for doing your work by securing the BEST TYPEWRITERS — the kind that Nelson sells. We sell all makes manufactured. NELSONS for all office needs. We make a specialty of typewriting letters— while you wait. OPPOSITE ORIENTAL.

E. B. CLEGG & CO.
Furniture purchased now as gifts, will be held until Christmas week if desired. Dining room furniture on sale this week. Some handsome styles to choose from. A collection of colonial art craft and modern style buffets See our show window. A fine example of the William and Mary style

FOWLER'S PEBLO GLASSES
IMPROVE YOUR EQUIPMENT
Start the year right, by overcoming the handicap of poor eyesight. Let Dr. Fowler fit you with a pair of his "Peblo" glasses and give you guaranteed satisfaction for every day of 1917.
CONSULTATION FREE
A. A. FOWLER DOCTOR OF OPTICS
Pupil R. Toronto University
EYESIGHT SPECIALIST with NUGENT DRUG COMPANY
RESTORE THE NATURAL SIGHT

Resolve
To start the New Year with
A Good Timepiece
Whether Watch, Wrist Watch, or Clock you will find in our stock just the right Timekeeper.
HIGH VALUE joined to LOWEST PRICES is the combination we keep constantly before our customers.
Warne Bros.
DIAMOND HALL
NEXT TO WARNE DRUG CO

Social and Personal

Mr. Lyman Ball, of North Bay, has returned home after spending a few holidays with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. William Ball, Bridgenorth.

Mr. Jack Hanrahan is visiting friends in Toronto.

Mr. and Mrs. Wilber Thornton and family of Perth, Ont., spent New Year's in the city.

Mr. Edgar Galvin of Detroit, returned home this morning after spending the holiday week with his grandmother, Mrs. J. K. Galvin, Charlotte street.

Mr. D. Harvie of Port Colborne, is spending a few days in the city.

Mr. and Mrs. Cecil Shorten and children of Toronto are visiting Mr. and Mrs. Leo Krout, 435 Roger street, for the New Year's holidays.

Mr. A. W. Cressman received today a letter from his son, Lieut. Fred Cressman of the R.F.C., saying that he had gone over to France on the 16th for active service.

Mr. Coleman, the local confectioner, has received word that a fifth member of his family has now engaged in war work, his sister Miss Janet Coleman, having been added to the 16,000 women munition workers in the Woolwich arsenal.

Mr. and Mrs. F. D. McKay are the guests of Mr. W. J. Morrow, 484 Weller street.

Mr. and Mrs. S. J. Gough spent the holiday the guests of Mr. and Mrs. Bernard Morrow, Water street.

Mrs. Albert Dixon spent the week-end visiting friends in Toronto.

Mr. Wm. Hall, Weller street, spent New Year's in Toronto.

Mr. John Allan entertained Messrs. Albert Downing, Marley Sherris and T. J. Palmer, the soloists of "The Messiah," at dinner at the Oriental Hotel, to-day.

Mr. and Mrs. M. M. Stevenson, Miss Norah Stevenson, Mr. Marley Sherris and Mr. T. J. Palmer, all of Toronto, are the guests of Mr. and Mrs. John Allan.

Mr. Frank Montgomery spent New Year's Day in Toronto.

Pte. E. R. Hodges of Campbellford, was a guest at the Oriental hotel this morning.

Mr. Thos. McNamara, of Madoc, a former local dry goods man, was renewing acquaintances with friends here to-day.

Mr. and Mrs. M. J. Sullivan, Stewart street, announce the engagement of their eldest daughter, Evelyn, to Mr. Ray Donaghue, son of Mr. Dan Donaghue, Simcoe street, the wedding to take place in the near future.

Mr. B. A. Rose, G.T.R. ticket agent at Windsor, is in the city.

Miss Madeleine Parnell of the office staff of the T. Eaton Co. has returned to Toronto after spending her holidays at her home, 726 Harvey street.

Mr. and Mrs. Nagle Phelan, Rubidge street, spent New Year's in Rochester, N.Y.

The ladies of the Canadian Kitchener League will hold their New Year's tea on Wednesday, Jan. 3rd in the Oriental tea rooms, Hunter street. Tea will be served from 3 to 9 o'clock p.m. Drop in and enjoy a pleasant cup of tea and help along the good work of the Canadian Kitchener League.

The dance given by the Rugby Club of the P. C. I. last night was one of the greatest successes of the year. The hall, gaily decorated with flag and pennants, presented a most attractive appearance and the floor was never in better shape. The patronesses of the evening were Mrs. W. H. Bradburn, Mrs. G. N. Gordon, Mrs. C. S. McClelland, Mrs. R. Gliddon, Mrs. V. Eastwood, Mrs. W. C. Austin, Mrs. (Dr.) Carmichael Mrs. C. E. Jamieson and Mrs. S. D. Hall, and the committee, Messrs. D. Canniff, H. Skuce H. Austin, O. Gliddon, and G. McClelland. The music supplied by Messrs Wm. Moher and Frank Lynch was greatly appreciated. The actual financial results could not be obtained to-day, but will be about thirty dollars, which will be devoted to patriotic purposes.

Mrs. F. L. Cross, who has been the guest of Mr. and Mrs. Aylmer, returned this morning to her home in Barrie.

Miss Lenore Sanderson, who spent the holidays in the city returned today to Collingwood.

Miss Mona Sloane, who has been visiting Mr. and Mrs. T. Q. Quartermaine, returned to Toronto to-day.

Mrs. (Dr.) Boucher and Mr. and Mrs. F. M. Dela Fosse, are in Lakefield to-day, the guests of Mrs. F. J. Tate.

The Misses Jenkins, Peterborough, announce the engagement of their niece, Annie Muriel, youngest daughter of the late F. L. Somerville, C.E., of Toronto, to Mr. John W. Gomer, of the Canadian Bank of Commerce, Peterborough, son of Mr. Wm. Gomer, Exeter, England. The wedding will take place quietly in Peterborough on January 20th.

Mrs. B. Spilsbury, Peterborough, is the guest of her mother, Mrs. R. Martyn, 78 Waverley road.—Toronto Star.

Mr. W. Battle and son, Master Talbert Battle, 346 Stewart street, are visiting Mr. Battle's sister, Mrs. W. Austin, Port Hope.

Mrs. Brethour, Regina, is the guest of her daughter, Mrs. Donald Shook, during the absence of Lieut. Shook, who left to-day to take a course at Kingston.

Rev. F. J. Sawers, Cobourg, is the guest of friends in the city.

Mrs. T. B. Marling, Lakefield, was the guest of Mrs. Grieve to-day.

New York Stock Market

NEW YORK, Jan. 2.—The Stock Market opened with an upward bound to-day, Wall Street registering belief that the couse of peace has been set by the Allies, replying to Germany's peace proposal. First sales showed gainst of 2 to 5 points in speculative leaders.

LIGHT AND HEAT

Perfection Oil Heater
NO SMOKE, NO SMELL
Brings solid comfort to everybody, inexpensive, lasts for years cheerful, safe and economical.
Just the thing for that room you find hard to heat. It will heat any ordinary room in zero days. price.... 4.50
Rayo Lamp

THE IDEAL HOME LIGHT
Combines beauty, cleanliness, safety and ease of manipulation. The light is of a pleasing color and is easy to the eyes. To those who are without electricity for light, there is no better light going than that given by the Rayo lamp Price 3.50
Rayo Hanging Lamp 4.00
We recommend most highly the above two articles
PETERBORO HARDWARE Co
LIMITED

12 Pages

The Evening Examiner

VOL. LVIII No. 2 PETERBOROUGH WEDNESDAY, JANUARY 3, 1917 PRICE TWO CENTS

LIVERY
PUNTAINE'S LIVERY FOR BEST DRIVING HORSES IN THE CITY. AUTOS AND TAXIS FOR HIRE. CAREFUL DRIVERS AND GOOD SERVICE. 'PHONE 78. 188 HUNTER

Family Re-unions

The picture your friends want to see is the one you see in the mirror on New Year's Morn.

When Family Gathering and Friendships Chums come together is an opportune time to have Group Photos taken, that you may not be able to arrange for again.

If the boy or girl is home get busy and make an appointment by call or phone.

Troy

140½ Hunter Street

The Heads of Central Powers To Hold Important Meeting

Important Meeting Of Central Powers

SPECIAL TO THE EXAMINER:

COPENHAGEN, Jan. 3.—Important meeting of the heads of Central Powers' parliaments to be held in Berlin.

FIRE DESTROYS ALASKAN TOWN

SPECIAL TO THE EXAMINER:

TACOMA, Jan. 3.—The town of Valdez, Alaska, entirely destroyed by fire.

WAR HAS SERIOUS EFFECT ON TEA MARKETS.

Although the far-reaching influences of the war have added enormously to the cost of tea, the recent advance of five cents a pound, in the price of "SALADA" only means that you will now get eight cups for a cent instead of nine, and then you get that unique flavour, absolutely unchanged.

Voice of The People

Correspondence under this heading, containing or involving attacks on individuals or violent or extreme statements, must in order to secure insertion, be signed with writer's real name, the names of which, when necessary, will be regarded as confidential.

To the Editor of The Examiner.

Dear Sir,—Up to four years ago last fall I was a farmer and took very little notice of hens, although I think there were over 100 dozen eggs taken away from our home at one time, at 7 or 8 cents per dozen; but since coming to Peterborough I have tried to learn to take care of fowl. We keep about forty hens, and as we believe the first year is the best, they vary or change a good deal in number, but I think, never under 35, and never over 45; thirty-eight at the present time. Those fowl, chickens and all, have cost us during last year, $80.61. They have laid 4,752 eggs. Those eggs have never sold under 20 cents per dozen, nor over 50 cents per dozen. Now we sold seven pairs of chickens in October to a butcher, to be taken away by the first week in November. We also sold a good many other fowl, or hens dressed, but if a fowl went on the table it was charged the same price as if sold. Our family has always consisted of four, sometimes five persons. Once only I said spare the eggs; except that, use as you like. Those eggs and fowl have brought $130.46, leaving a balance to the good of about $1.00 on each fowl. If you see fit to publish this in your wonderful paper some person may learn from this experience or may teach me some. How memory flies back at this season of the year When I was a boy, 13 years old, there was a comet out in the North West for weeks and exceeded in grandeur anything that I ever saw. I have been reading two books on astronomy lately. I have learned that the sun is 93 or 95,000,000 away from earth that it takes full travelling 185,000 miles every second of time takes about eight minutes to reach our earth. But astronomers make out there are stars so far away fom earth that it takes full forty years for light, travelling at this terrible speed, to reach our earth and although He is so terribly great, and I am so very small yet I am permitted to call Him my Father. And He says, ask and you shall receive.

J. H. Taylor.

580 Bolivar Street.

THE MERE FACT THAT

Scott's Emulsion

is generously used in tuberculosis camps is proof positive that it is the most energizing preparation in the world. It has power to create power. It warms and nourishes; it enriches the blood, stops loss of flesh and builds you up.

SCOTT'S IS PURE AND RICH AND FREE FROM DRUGS.

Scott & Bowne Toronto Ont. 10-24

Accuracy of French Gun Fire Shown On Somme In Destroyed Trenches

Captain Henry J. Reilly Describes Effect of Shells Made for Tearing Barbed Wire Entanglements, None of the Force Being Wasted on Making Craters in Ground.

STUMPS OF FORESTS LEFT

PARIS, January 3.—The day of our visit to the French Somme front trenches was a quiet one, that is, except for the snipers. The infantry was not firing or throwing hand grenades and the machine guns were still, while the artillery only fired here and there a few guns at a time.

A short distance from headquarters the beginning of the artillery zone was reached, as was evident by the lack of traffic on the road, the villages more or less masked by shell fire and the fields and roads here and there pitted with shell holes, to say nothing of the occasional discharge to the right or left of guns, successfully hidden from view.

Finally, the beginning of a communicating trench was reached at the edge of a muddy road, on the other side of which is the remnant of a shot torn wood.

TRENCHES IN ZIGZAG LINE.

A communicating trench is simply a ditch from three to four feet wide and from seven to nine feet deep, which runs to the front by a series of zigzags, which present the enemy from being able to fire down it.

In rainy weather it naturally collects a good deal of water and mud. The French have largely overcome this by making narrow grating literally by the mile, which is shipped from the rear in lengths of about six feet.

As there are many of these communicating trenches and as they connect with line after line of trenches and bombproofs which go to make up a position, and as, due to modern long range projectiles, they must start several miles in the rear of the front line trench, it is easy to become confused and even lost in them. For this reason they are all named and have sign boards posted at all intersections; also the officer who serves as a guide has a map showing the whole labyrinth of trenches of the particular section.

REPAIR WORK IS CONSTANT

As even on quiet days occasional shells burst in or on the edges of these trenches and as it is necessary to keep them drained and in shape work is constantly going on in them. This work is usually done by the territorials, who are organized from the men too old for the most active military service. Occasionally these trenches pass through the ruins of villages destroyed by shell fire.

After some distance the trench, which was the first line French trench before the recent successful assault carried the French over the first two German lines, was reached. This trench has been connected with the old first line German trench by communicating trenches. From them on the old German communicating trenches have been put in shape and are now used by the French.

Climbing out of the trenches, there is every evidence of the excellence of the French artillery fire and the fierceness of the fight which took place. The entanglements in front of both German lines though made of three strand heavily barbed wire, fastened to iron posts, has been literally torn to pieces by the high explosive shell fire.

The French shells made for this particular purpose burst just before entering the ground, with the result that the full force of the explosive is exerted against the entanglement and none of it is wasted in making a shell crater in the ground. The accuracy of the French fire is shown by the fact that the ground along which is scattered the remnants of the wire entanglement has practically no shell craters in it, while the trenches just beyond and the ground all around them is literally pitted with shell craters.

In many places the German trenches have been so completely destroyed that it is difficult, if not impossible to distinguish them. Progress can only be made by slowly walking along the slippery, muddy ridges between craters. The ground is strewn with torn pieces of clothing, pieces of shell, unexploded shells of various calibres, hand grenades of different shapes and aerial torpedoes.

STUMPS OF FOREST LEFT.

Here and there what have been little French woods are represented by torn stumps of trees. A few hundred yards beyond is the new French line, with the new German first line about five hundred yards in front of it.

Except for the discharge here and there of guns of various calibres, the whistling noise of those projectiles which come the nearest and the occasional burst of a German six inch high explosive shell sending up clouds of black smoke mixed with chunks of earth, there is not a sign of life in any direction, so well dug in below the surface of the earth are the two opposing armies.

BIG CAPTURE OF PRISONERS

SPECIAL TO THE EXAMINER:

PARIS, Jan. 3.—Nearly six hundred thousand prisoners were captured during 1916 by the Entente Allies.

SUBTLE, MERRY CADORNA

Italy's Generalissimo Who Devised the Gorizia Surprise

When Lord Northcliffe talks about Cadorna there is a hint of a very merry luncheon at which the Italian generalissimo kept the table amused all the time. Here is the description of the cheerful general: A short, lithe, quick-moving man of sixty-six. General Cadorna is the most humorous of all the generals in the Great War. He has a glitter in his grey eyes that reminded me of those of the late Pierpont Morgan. He is a general who believes in seeing for himself. He took personal part in the direction of the final battle for Gorizia, climbing the ghastly hill of Podgora with the vigor of an Alpini. He is a close student of war, and he has all the subtlety of the Italian. In the long story of the war he is almost the only general who devised a surprise.

Lieutenant-Colonel Russell Kerr, of Newnham-on-Severn, has been elected to the court of verderers in the Forest of Dean, an office 800 years old.

Each year Sir Edward Grey leaves London for a week to mark the anniversary of his wife's death ten years ago. No Foreign Office despatch boxes are forwarded to him while he is away.

Honor Redeemed

"A burglar has won the Victoria Cross, seventy other burglars have laid down their lives for their country, and more than 700 persons listed in police records are now fighting for Great Britain," said the Bishop of Sheffield at Richmond, Yorkshire.

Putting Punch in Preparedness is not a question of guns and shells alone—it is a question of men—and you have to build men out of food. Be prepared for the critical moments in life by eating Shredded Wheat, a food that supplies the greatest amount of muscle-building material with the least tax on the digestive organs. For breakfast with milk or cream or fruits.

Made in Canada.

Germany May Define Views To the Neutrals

Lengthy Report From Berlin Cabled to President Wilson To-day—Conference With the German Chancellor

THE ALLIES' REPLY

SPECIAL TO THE EXAMINER:

BERLIN, Jan. 3.—A lengthy report was cabled President Wilson today by the American Ambassador Gerard following a conference with the Imperial Chancellor, Von Bethmann Hollweg. It was authoritatively understood, that the American diplomat and Germany's Chancellor talked, among other things, of the Allies' unfavourable reply to Germany's peace proffers.

"It is not yet decided what the Government will do," says the Cologne Gazette, "but it is probable that Germany will again precisely define its views in direct messages to neutrals."

"Troops Should Be Recalled"

SPECIAL TO THE EXAMINER:

LONDON, Jan. 3. — The Daily Mail declares that troops at Salonika should be recalled at once.

Bulgaria Faces A Revolution

SPECIAL TO THE EXAMINER:

SALONIKA, Jan. 3. — Bulgaria faces revolution, has promised that the war would end by January 14.

Appointment Has Been Cancelled

SPECIAL TO THE EXAMINER:

LONDON, Jan. 3.—Sir Geo. Perley cancels Dr. Bruce's appointment as inspector-general.

Fears For Safety Of Two Steamers

SPECIAL TO THE EXAMINER:

LONDON, Jan. 3.—The Leyland liner Necterian is ashore and breaking up. Will probably be a total loss. Some of the crew lost.

NEW YORK, Jan. 3.—Fears are expressed here for the eight-thousand-ton steamer Georgic, overdue two weeks.

TEUTONS MADE FRESH ADVANCE

Special to The Examiner.

PETROGRAD, Jan. 3.—The Teutons made a fresh advance and the Russo-Roumanians have taken up new positions on the Moldavian front

The Swedes Are Disappointed

Special to The Examiner:

STOCKHOLM, Jan. 3.—Swedish newspapers expressed great disappointment at the Allies' reply to the German peace proposal

HEAVY ARTILLERY FIRE IN PROGRESS

Special to The Examiner:

ROME, Jan. 3.—Heavy artillery fire is in progress along the Austro-Italian front.

BELGIAN GRENADIERS

London Honors For Bandsmen Who Fought at Loos

The Belgian Grenadiers' Band visited London for a provincial tour. The band, which holds a position in Belgium similar to that of the British Guards' Bands, consists of 70 highly skilled players. The men came from near Loos, where they assisted in holding an important part of the line.

Mrs. Lloyd-George

Mrs. Lloyd-George is the most practical of housewives and believes in personal supervision in the house. She very often goes to market herself, and both her daughters have been taught the home arts and can cook exceedingly well. When the family goes to Wales on holiday Miss Megan takes the greatest delight in going into the kitchen and preparing her father's favorite dishes.

Encouraging Marriage

To afford facilities to soldiers home on short leave from the front to get married during their stay, Southwark Council are setting aside apartments at the town hall for the purpose. The war weddings will be solemnized on Sundays as well as week days.

Overworked Doctors

Owing to the scarcity of doctors brought about by the war, medical men in the great industrial centre of Bradford, Eng., are pooling their services. Many physicians are seriously overworking and have not had a vacation since the war started.

MADE THE CAPTAIN HELP BLOW UP SHIP

German U-Boat Surprised the Briardene in a Mist Near British Channel Entrance—Sent Bombs By Ship's Boat—These Were Placed in the Hold, Sinking the Vessel

CREW PICKED UP BY STEAMER

NEW YORK, January 3.—An interesting account of the methods employed by German submarine commanders in sinking British merchantmen was related by Captain Joseph Faulkner of Nova Scotia, formerly commander of the steamship Briardene, who arrived in New York Sunday from Liverpool on the American liner St. Louis.

His vessel sailed from Baltimore Stores, South Brooklyn, on Nov. 16 with 3,900 tons of general cargo for London and was sunk on Dec. 1 near the Wolf Rock Light, about eleven miles from land, at the mouth of the English Channel. His crew of twenty-seven men were picked up by the Dutch steamship Luna, which had kept company nearly all the voyage from New York with the Briardene, and were landed at Falmouth.

"If the weather had been clear," said Captain Faulkner, "we should have seen the submarine and got away from her, because there were patrol vessels and destroyers all around us which would have responded to an S. O. S. call.

"The submarine was painted a bluish gray, and as she lay awash on the sea in a big western swell it was almost impossible to distinguish her in the haze that hung over the water. I had left the bridge for a moment in charge of of the second officer at 9 o'clock in the afternoon, when a shot boomed on the starboard bow somewhere in the mist and passed ahead of the ship. Two minutes later a second shot whizzed over the fo'c's'le head, followed by a third, which also missed us, although by that time the Briardene was broadside to the submarine.

"By that time I had got on the bridge and stopped the ship, and the crew were all on deck ready to take to the boats. The submarine was half a mile away, and hoisted some signal that I did not understand, but I supposed it was for us to abandon the ship, which we did in two of the lifeboats. There was a sharp southeast wind blowing, which blew the tops of the waves rolling in from the western ocean into whitecaps and hid the submarine from view at times. I pulled oved to the German craft in my boat, and the commander, in parrotlike sentences, asked me what ship it was, what cargo there was on board, and where I was bound. The submarine was quite small, and was one of the older class of U-boats, but had no identification marks on her sides.

"The German commander ordered three of his crew into my boat and signified to me that he wished them to be taken over to the Briardene and I was virtually compelled to assist in the sinking of my own vessel. Several bombs about the size of tomato cans were handed over the side of the submarine, which my men passed along very gingerly and they were stowed in the stern of the lifeboat.

"When we arrived alongside of our ship we were astonished to see the German sailors toss the bombs up onto the deck as if they really had been canned tomatoes. The time fuses were not set and there was no danger of their exploding. These fuses, by the way, do not allow any too much time; the first bomb exploded while the German sailors were getting back into my boat after placing the bombs in the hold.

The Briardene had 800 tons of apples in boxes in the foreheld and as she sank the hatch blew off and the sea was covered for over an acre with boxes of apples floating so close together that it would have been easy to walk on them."

The Dutch steamship Luna had been held up that morning by a British cruiser to show her papers as she was not near the Briardene when the submarine stopped her but arrived after that vessel had been sunk. The German commander went alongside and ordered an officer to come to him with the ship's papers, which were made out for Roterdam direct. This was fortunate for the Captain, as he was really instructed to call at Falmouth for orders. After examining the papers the Luna was allowed to proceed, and her Captain was ordered to pick up the Briarden's crew. The submarine towed the two boats over to the Dutch steamship and then disappeared.

The St. Louis, when she came in yesterday, was coated with ice from the water line to the top of her bridge, and had to bring over to the Liverpool pilot, Josephus Evans, on account of the weather being too severe in the Irish Channel for him to disembark in his boat.

GOING INTO BATTLE

France Notes Splendid Calm of British Soldiers

The Petit Journal's correspondent on the British front relates that, after having traversed part of the battlefield, he entered a dug-out, where he found British soldiers who, he says, in another moment would be dashing in a wave of assault upon one of the trenches which the Germans still held near Beaucourt. "I look at these soldiers," he continues. "It must not be said that a soldier before rushing to death does not think of death. No! Their faces reveal their seriousness. They are contemplating the probable fate which awaits them. Thus are tragedies beautiful! These men are talking very low to one another, with the intonations of the confessional, with slow, very infrequent gesture.

"One says: 'You will send that letter to my mother'; another, 'You will write and tell my wife so-and-so. What magnificent sang-froid! All think they may be going to their death; all are making their last will and testament.

"The hour of departure approaches. An officer makes a sign; the men gather under their officers, who explain the ground which the assailants have to cross. Now they are ready in Indian file. Slowly they ascend to the communication trench. The dugout empties. That is how British soldiers leave for battle."

Flowers For Horses

When detachments of British soldiers wounded in the taking of Beaumont-Hamel arrived at Charing Cross, flower "girls" threw the greater part of their stock into the cars as they left the station yard, and handkerchiefs were waved. The men were very cheerful.

"When peace arrives," said Sir D. Burnett at the meeting of the Crystal Palace Trustees, "I hope that the Crystal Palace will be the scene of a great rejoicing eclipsing anything that has taken place there."

Salvation Army attire is officially recognized by the order that all workers in military camps shall wear uniform.

With the exception of officers, wounded and a few others, all [illegible] captured by the British in Russian are retained there.

Notorious Monk Was Murdered

SPECIAL TO THE EXAMINER:

LONDON, Jan. 3.—Rasputin, the notorious monk, was murdered in Petrograd by high society men.

"ENGLAND" THE ENEMY

Germans Admit That Her Strength Was Underestimated

The Leipziger Neueste Nachrichten says: When, in August, 1914, Lord Kitchener coined the phrase "For England the war will only begin in 1916," we smiled at him; since we believed that long before then we should have resumed our peaceful occupations. But in the meantime we had to learn that we gravely underestimated the English as a nation. We know now that our real enemy sits upon the islands, and that he will ruthlessly employ every means to bring us to the ground. The English will fill all gaps and store up new and colossal supplies, which will enable them to expend many times more ammunition than they have now at their disposal. What we have to do is to turn all Germany into one colossal munitions factory.

QUEER SCOTCH SAW MILL

Canadian Bushmen-soldiers Amazed at Miniature Outfit

A Canadian thrasher describes the mills used in Scotland by the 144th Forestry Battalion: The Canadian mills in use are semi-portable ones, cutting from 20 to 30 thousand feet B.M. per day. A Scotch mill, with a capacity of from 3 to 5 thousand feet B.M. per day, is utilized from some operations. These Scotch mills are a source of amusing interest to the Canadian lumber jack. The engine sits on top of the boiler, and the mill is driven by a fly wheel. The logs are fed to the saw on a platform which lies on rollers. These rollers are forced to turn by a man turning a crank, and the platform is pushed forward, thus [illegible] the log to go forward against the saw. Some mill!

Huyler's AND Liggett's Chocolates

We have a nice fresh stock of Holiday packages each containing a special assortment of chocolates.

We make it easy to select the very package you require.

Prices from

25c TO $4.00

Per Box

McDERMID & JURY

The Safe Satisfactory Druggists
COR. GEORGE & CHARLOTTE

ONTARIO FLOUR UP THIRTY CENTS

Wheat Prices Went Up With a Rush Yesterday—The Cattle Markets

Wheat prices went up with a rush yesterday, the reply of the allies to the peace proposals acting as a spur to the bull side market. The visible also showed a decrease of 2 1-2 million bushels, and this gave a strong tone to the market at the close. Cash prices are up, and Ontario flour is advanced 30c.

Manitoba wheat—No. 1 Northern, $2.07, track, bay ports; No. 2 $2.04; No. 3 $1.99; No. 4 $1.89; old crop 4c above new crop.

Manitoba oats—No. 2 C.W. 70 1-2c. American corn—No. 3 $1.09 subject to embargo.

Ontario oats—No. 2 white 63c to 64c; No. 3 white, 62c to 63c.

Ontario wheat—No. 2 winter per car lot, $1.72 to $1.74; No. 3 $1.70 to $1.72.

Peas—No. 2 nominal, car lots $2.30.

Barley—Good malting, $1.10 to $1.18; feed barley, nominal.

Buckwheat—Nominal $1.25.

Rye—No. 1 commercial, nominal; No. 2, new, $1.32 to $1.33.

Manitoba flour—First patents in jute bags, $9.40; second patents in jute, $8.90; strong bakers, in jute $8.50 Toronto.

Ontario flour—New winter, $7.10 to $7.20, in bags, track, Toronto, prompt shipment.

Millfeed—Car lots, delivered Montreal; shorts $37; bran $32; feed flour per bag, $2.80.

Hay—Baled, No. 1, track, Toronto best grade new hay, car lots, $12 to $13.50; No. 2 $9 to $11; straw $6.50 to 10.

CATTLE MARKETS

Union Stock Yards—Receipts yesterday, 20 cars, with 402 cattle, 11 calves, 190 hogs, and 68 sheep and lambs.

With Monday election day all over Ontario, and the railways establishing a partial but temporary embargo on cattle and other stock, caused a big shortage of supplies in yesterday's market. These conditions, in the face of a brisk demand, sent prices soaring abnormally high. Choice butcher cattle sold up to as high as $10, one load of steers selling at that price, while other good loads of butcher sold strong around $9.50 to $9. Sheep and lambs were correspondingly high, and hogs are quoted higher.

Latest quotations:

Heavy steers, choice	$9 40 to	$10 00
Choice butcher	8 50	9 00
do good	8 00	8 25
do medium	7 75	8 00
do common	7 00	7 50
Heifers, good to choice	8 00	8 50
do medium	7 00	7 50
Butcher cows, choice	6 25	7 00
do medium	5 75	6 25
Butcher bulls, choice	6 85	7 50
do good	6 50	6 60
do medium	5 00	5 50
Feeders, 900 to 1,000 lbs	6 50	6 75
do bulls	5 25	5 75
Stockers, 700 to 800 lbs.	6 50	6 75
do med. 650 to 750 lbs.	5 50	6 00
do light 600 to 650 lbs.	5 00	5 75
Canners	4 10	4 40
Cutters	4 50	5 25
Sheep light	8 50	9 50
do heavy	7 50	8 50
Spring lambs	10 75	13 75
Calves	9 00	12 50
Hogs, fed and watered	13 25	.....
do weighed off cars	13 50	.....
do f.o.b.	11 75	.....

NOTICE.

I desire to notify the public at Bridgenorth and vicinity that I will run at BRIDGENORTH almost immediately and operate a saw mill for Custom Work. Anyone wishing to have logs cut can do so and feel sure of them being cut. I have also an eleven-inch Vessett Grinder for sale.

JOHN BRADLEY,
C. P. R. Pr. L.
Idlw Ida or Bridgenorth P. O.

$1,000.00 REWARD

For information that will lead to the discovery or whereabouts of the person or persons suffering from Nervous Debility, Diseases of the Mouth and Throat, Blood Poison, Skin Diseases, Bladder Troubles, Special Ailments, and Chronic or Complicated Complaints who cannot be cured at The Ontario Medical Institute, 263-265½ Yonge St., Toronto. Correspondence invited.

ADVERTISING RATES

Measurement, Agate, 14 lines One Inch
Transient Display ..... 25c per inch
Transient Reading ..... 60c per inch
Minimum Contract Rate for Display, 1,200 inch Contract, 15c per inch
Minimum Contract Rate for Readers, 25c per inch.
Legal and other notices, 8c per line for first insertion; 4c per line for subsequent insertions.

CONDENSED ADVERTISEMENTS.

Minimum charge 15c, of 1c per word for first insertion; ½c per word for subsequent insertions. Add 10c to cover postage or replies, if out of town.

BIRTHS, MARRIAGES AND DEATHS

Daily Examiner 25c
Daily and Weekly Examiner 50c
All advertisements subject to the approval of the Management.
Address:
THE EXAMINER, PETERBOROUGH

PERSONAL.

ADVERTISERS ARE REMINDED THAT IT is contrary to the provisions of the postal law to deliver letters addressed to initials only; an advertiser desiring to conceal his or her identity may accomplish do so by having replies directed to a Box at this office; ten cents added to the cost of advertisement will ensure the forwarding of letters to any out-of-town address.

Railway Time Tables

GRAND TRUNK RAILWAY.
CORRECTED JUNE 6, 1916.

7.00 a.m.—For Lakefield.
8.10 a.m.—For Port Hope, Cobourg and points east, connecting at Port Hope for Toronto, arriving at Toronto at 11.00 a.m.
8.25 a.m.—For Hastings, Campbellford, Stirling, Madoc, Belleville, Deseronto, Napanee, Kingston, Brockville, Montreal.
8.30 a.m.—For Lindsay, Orillia, Collingwood, Midland, Penetanguishene, North Bay, Toronto, Hamilton, Niagara.
11.40 a.m.—Mid-day express for Toronto, reaching Toronto at 3.15 p.m.
12.30 p.m.—For Lakefield.
11.40 p.m.—For Millbrook, Port Hope and all points on the main line, east and west. Close connections at Port Hope with International Limited for Toronto, Detroit and Chicago.
1.30 p.m.—For Hastings, Campbellford, Stirling, Madoc, Belleville, Deseronto, Napanee, Kingston and Brockville.
5.35 p.m.—For Lindsay, Orillia, Midland, North Bay, Toronto, Hamilton, Niagara Falls, Buffalo, New York.
5.40 p.m.—For Lakefield.
5.45 p.m.—Local for Lindsay.
9.05 p.m.—For Millbrook, Port Hope, Belleville, Kingston, Brockville, Montreal and Boston.

CANADIAN PACIFIC RAILWAY.
CORRECTED JUNE 1, 1916.

*8.30 p.m.—Indian River, Norwood, Havelock and Tweed.
*12.12 a.m.—Kingston, Smith's Falls, Ottawa, Montreal, Quebec, St. John, N.B., Boston, and New York.
*1.20 a.m.—Norwood, Havelock, Tweed Perth, Smith's Falls and Ottawa.
11.27 a.m.—Norwood, Havelock, Tweed, Perth, Smith's Falls, Ottawa, Montreal and intermediate points and all points east of Montreal.

GOING WEST.—
*4.33 a.m.—Toronto, Owen Sound, Guelph, Goderich, Hamilton, Buffalo, New York, Galt, Woodstock, St. Thomas, London, Chatham, Detroit and Chicago.
*5.54 a.m.—Myrtle and North Toronto.
7.35 a.m.—Toronto, Hamilton, Buffalo, Rochester and New York, Intermediate points between Peterborough and Toronto.
9.15 a.m.—Lindsay, Orillia, Port Mc-Nichol and intermediate points.
1.45 p.m.—Toronto, Hamilton, Brantford, Buffalo, New York, Guelph, Galt, Woodstock, London, Detroit and Chicago.
6.45 p.m.—North Toronto and West Toronto and intermediate points.
*Daily Daily except Sunday.

TELEPHONE 790
WHEN YOU WANT YOUR
Piano or Organ Tuned
ALL WORK GUARANTEED
W. H. Cunningham, 262 Weller St.

Our Poultry Department

is now open and we are paying high spot cash prices for good plump birds (alive), delivered Peterborough.

We can supply farmers and Poultry raisers with fattening crates at a small rent, to be returned us in good condition at the end of the season.

A premium paid on crate milk fed chickens. For particulars apply to—

W. SCOTT Co., Ltd.
1124 Robinson Street
Phone 264

SPEND YOUR MONEY FOR THE GOODS AS ADVERTISED IN THE EXAMINER

OUR SERIAL STORY

"DESTINY"

By CHARLES NEVILLE BUCK

(Continued from yesterday.)

CHAPTER XX.

Len Haswell carried a stricken face about the clubs where once he had been the centre of jovial gatherings, when he appeared there—which was not often. Old associates who read the signs avoided him out of kindliness save those who like Thayre could be with him without reminding him of his hurt. Thayre, with all his seeming of bluff and noisy gaiety, had an underlying tenderness of heart and delicacy of perception which made him a friend of troubled hours. He knew how to remain silent as well as how to be loquacious and he could radiate an unspoken sympathy.

One evening the Englishman chanced on Haswell in the otherwise deserted reading-room of the National Union Club. Because it was a club chiefly dedicated to the elder generation Thayre came infrequently and it surprised him to find the other there. The big man was sitting with an unread paper on his knee and his eyes were brooding as he gazed out through the Fifth-avenue window on the twilight tide of motors and 'buses and hansoms that passed in an endless and unresting flow.

"I had the idea, Haswell," remarked Thayre as he plumped himself down on the leather arm of the other's chair and grinned his meeting, "that you came to this place once a year—when they held the annual meeting."

"And you?" countered Len in a dull voice. "I didn't regard you as a habitue either."

"Right-o!" The Englishman stretched out one gaitered foot and lighted a cigarette. "I'll tell you a secret. When I grow savage in mood—" his clear-eyed smile belied that state of mind—"I just run in here for a bit of bear-baiting—rather good sport—bear-baiting. This is a den of bears you know. Oh, yes, rather! They are all elderly bears, very crabbed and self-absorbed and very quiet and immaculate—but bears none the less. Each has his particular chair, which to his own self-centred mind is his private pedestal. They sit here with their manicured hands resting idly on their robust, waistcoat tummies and stare out on the world like day gods." He saw that the other man was following him with a forced and uninterested attention, yet he went on, not like Larry Kirk, but because he was leading up to a purpose of friendship.

"Well, old chap, I just pop in here and squat on one of these pedestals, d'ye see? Presently its proper occupant comes in and glares at me from the door, puffing with indignation. Inwardly he is saying, 'How dare you trespass, you bally young cub!' and I pretend to be quite unconscious of his baleful gaze. I know there's really nothing he can do about it. If he were in London, I expect he'd write to the Times."

Thayre glanced up and started to add: "There's one now glaring at you" but he quickly bit off the words, for he recognized the stout frock-coated figure of old Tom Burton. Old Tom was progressing, for now before the lights were switched on something in his face told that the afternoon rubbers had not progressed without their libations.

After along pause Haswell said in a heavy voice; "I come here because I don't meet men who insist on talking to me."

"Oh, I beg pardon, old chap," Thayre hastily rose, "I'm sure I didn't mean—" But before he could finish the big fellow put out a hand and gripped his arm until a pain shot to the elbow.

"You are the one man I do want to see, Norvil. Even a miserable devil like me can talk to you, and there's a thing I want you to do for me, if you will."

"Name it."

Haswell glanced wearily about the big room and assured himself that no one was near enough to overhear his unbosoming. He still spoke in the dulled voice of a dulled heart. His utterance like his movements, was slow and laboured.

"There are times when you've got to talk—or get feeling giddy and wrong in the head. I've about cut most of my clubs, but I can't cut out meeting the men—down-town."

The Englishman nodded, but he said nothing.

"I'm getting rather sick of being asked—" Len halted, then forced the words doggedly—"how Loraine is and when I expect her back. I—well, I don't expect her back, and it hurts like hell to say so."

Norvil met the other's eyes and read in them a fulness of dumb suffering, and as might come into those of a great, faithful dog. His own question followed with a softness of assured sympathy. "And, of course, you want her back?"

A paroxysm of pain distorted his companion's face and his head flinched back as though it had been heavily struck.

"God! yes, like a struggling man wants breath," he said.

It was a misery for which there was no aid so Thayre satisfied himself with the inquiry, "What is this thing you want me to do?"

"Just intimate to these men that they stop asking those questions, that's all."

"Is there any one you particularly blame?"

Haswell shook his head. "No. There was at first but the principal point is that she has decided she can't be happy with me. If I try to hold her after knowing that I become her jailer. I treat her as my property. I hope I'm not that sort. I had my chance and have failed."

"I say I don't want to be impertinent you know." Thayre bent forward and spoke earnestly. "There are things a man doesn't like to have put up to him. But you aren't letting this knock you off your line are you? You aren't going to let it bowl you over?"

Again the tall man shook his head. "No I'm quite all right" he said, "I'm going fairly straight—so far."

Late that night a wet snow was falling and Madison square was almost deserted. Here and there in the Metropolitan and Flatiron building shone an isolated and belated window light. At the Garden a Wild West show with sing door, outwardly labeled, "ladies' ago disgorged its crowds and quieted its pandemonium of brass bands. Len Haswell had been walking with the aimlessness of insomnia, and asking himself over and over one question: "What changed it all?". In answer he accused himself and argued the case for the woman without whom he was too lonely to go home and face an empty house.

It was after one o'clock and the saloon doors were barred, but as he passed a small place not far from the square, he saw a side door flap and he entered it. It was an unprepossessing door, outwardly labelled, "ladies entrance."

Haswell called for whiskey, and was served by awaiter in a spotted apron, whose dank hair fell over a sallow and oily face. Save for himself, there were only four other customers. In a corner partition a slovenly woman in bedraggled finery berated the man who sat with bloated eyes across from her. The waiter looked on sardonically. At another table were two derelicts from one of the Garden side shows. A truculent and beady-eyed dwarf whose face hardly showed above the boards was browbeating a cringing giant of unbelievable immensity. "You crabbed my act, you big stiff," shrilled the midget truculently—and his huge visa-vis fell into a volume of excuse and apology.

Haswell set down his glass half-empty. "No good," he muttered as he rose and went out again into the streets. "One can't be alone." Yet he felt very much alone.

* * * * *

In these days Paul Burton found his thoughts turning often to Marcia Terroll and himself becoming more dependent on her companionship. In her sunny courage and sparkle of repartee he found a tonic exhilaration for his own jaded spirits and an antidote for growing morbidness. He knew that her daily rounds of the managers' offices were fruitless, and that she walked long distances to save nickels, and in his man's ignorance he marveled because her white gloves were always spotless and her appearance unmarked by poverty. With more money than he could use his impulse clamoured to volunteer assistance and his judgment forbade the liberty. These days of growing intimacy were troubled days for him, too.

Loraine Haswell was away and her letters kept him reminded that the purpose of her exile was ridding herself of those encumbrances which stood between them. Yet in her absence, there was also the absence of her personal fascination, the daily renewal of her hold on his senses, and, strangely enough, he began to feel that instead of having barriers swept from the path of his love, he was being bound to a future marred by intervals of clouded misgivings.

The thought of Mary also brought him distress. There was no policy of ostrich-blind self-discomfort by which he could escape from the realization that he was indirectly a party to responsibility for the destructive measure that hung over her happiness. His few attempts to discuss the subject with Hamilton had not been hopeful or pleasant, and he could not doubt that Hamilton would ultimately be swept into a chaos of ruin because he had opposed the irresistible onrush of his brother's power. He sought to reconcile himself to Hamilton's infallible wisdom and Mary's folly of infatuation, but the only certain conviction was that of a bruised and heavy heart in his own breast. Paul was pitiably weak, but, also, he was sensitively tender. Love he gave and commanded with the uncalculating quality of a child.

To Marcia he had not confided any word of his status with Mrs. Haswell, but her quick tuition told her he was deeply troubled—and her quicker sympathy responded. Sometimes Paul longed to see Loraine, but after each visit to the tiny apartment where Marcia Terroll and a girl who drew fashion illustrations had set up their household goods, the vision of his far-away Cleopatra grew a shade dimmer and a trifle more impersonal.

Bit by bit he had pieced together a few sketchy fragments of Miss Terroll's biography, just enough to make the wish for fuller knowledge tantalizing. That was her maiden name, also used as a stage name, but she had been married when just out of Wellesley. She spoke little of that episode. Her girlhood was a pleasanter theme and its environment had been that of his own world—full of the gaiety and sunshine that is girlhood's inalienable right. All these scraps of personal history filtered into their conversation; rather as incidentals than as direct information. This young woman was not of the type that gratuitously relates a life-story. That she had been left resourceless with a young daughter and had fought the world unaided and unembittered, herself retaining the seeming of a child, Paul now knew, but he knew all too little to satisfy his interest. She had been secretary in a business house and an interpreter of German and Spanish. Now she was the only actress he knew—untypical and unemployed.

Paul felt that in the presence of her superior mind and larger education he ought to be abashed, yet he was not, because when she laughed it was with the merriment of a gay child and when she was serious she was sweetly grave. Sometimes he played for her and sometimes she sang for him, and both did what they did so well that the critic in the other found no disappointment.

Unpremeditated and very naturally they had struck the basis of a dependable comradeship. She saw the occasional flash of genius in his musical creativeness and his need of practical attributes. To him she was something of a mystery. To her, save for his well-kept secret of loving Loraine, he was an easily read human document. She told him of her broader experiences, always tinging with a delicious humour in the recital, which twisted into comedy what might have been related as little tragedies, and because she had seen so much of life, where he had been seen so little, she was willing to recognize his lovable qualities and overlook his weaknesses.

But just as Paul did no talk much to her of his own affairs and the people of his set, so he did not talk with them of her.

At first she had interested him as an experiment; then as affording the possibility for a new type of adventure in friendship, and when he came to know her in that degree which represented their present association, he ceased to ask why she interested him and only knew that she did.

Of late she had been usually gay because of revival of hope. A part which she knew she could play had been half-promised her which would bring Broadway recognition and the chance to be judged on her merits. More than that it would mean the possibility of bringing her small daughter back from the relatives who were playing parents in these days of uncertainty.

(To be continued.)

Don't Persecute your Bowels

Cut out cathartics and purgatives. They are brutal—harsh—unnecessary. Try

CARTER'S LITTLE LIVER PILLS

Purely vegetable. Act gently on the liver. Relieve biliousness, sick headache, indigestion and constipation of the bowel.

Genuine must bear Signature

Brent Good

RASH ITCHED AND BURNED ON BABY

Healed by Cuticura Trial Free

"Baby was about five months old when we noticed little red spots on his face. The skin was all inflamed, and the rash itched and burned and caused him to scratch. His face was disfigured and he was cross and fretful and we lost a lot of rest with him. We had to keep his hands tied in a shawl so that he wouldn't scratch.

"We got some Cuticura Soap and Ointment. We used two cakes of Cuticura Soap together with the Ointment and the trouble healed." (Signed) Louis Gingerich, R. R. No. 2, Box 37, Petersburg, Ontario, Dec. 14, 1915.

Sample Each Free by Mail

With 32-p. Skin Book. Address postcard, "Cuticura, Dept. J, Boston, U.S.A." Sold throughout the world.

A Woman Magistrate

THE appointment this week of Mrs. Arthur Murphy ("Janey Canuck"), as a police magistrate for Edmonton, with jurisdiction over all cases in which women and girls are concerned, is another striking recognition of the unusual qualities possessed by this quite wonderful Canadian woman. The West has produced many women imbued with the frank and buoyant spirit of that big, new land, and several of them have succeeded as authors in expressing that spirit in such a way as to compel interest not only in Canada but far beyond it. Of all these Mrs. Murphy strikes one as being most truly western of all—keen and joyous, with a big, broad mind and a generous, expansive personality. Physically as well as mentally she radiates the most refreshing human qualities. Her writing naturally has these qualities, too, but it is also exceedingly admirable from a technical standpoint. Little wonder that Mrs. Murphy's influence is constantly increasing in broadening fields.

This exceptional woman was born at Cookstown—the South Simcoe village famous as the birthplace and present home of Hon. J. S. Duff, Ontario's Minister of Agriculture. She is quite frank in telling you that the date was 1868. Emily Ferguson was her name and she came of a noted Simcoe County family of Tory politicians, being a niece of the late Col. T. R. Ferguson, and a granddaughter of the late Col. O. R. Gowan, both of whom were members of Parliament. Sir John A. Macdonald was a guest at the wedding of her parents.

Yet, in spite of all this, in one of her books on the West she defended the cost of construction of the Grand Trunk Pacific, pointing out that while it was more expensively built it was sound and solid, "not cobwebs strung on a muskeg."

"Janey Canuck" believes in fair play in all things. In the same book, "Open Trails," she had a word to say for the French nuns at St. Albert, who have on their monastery windows, not a cross and the lilies of France, but a cross and maple leaves. Also she had something to say about a matter which we have now forgotten about—the notice, "No Englishman need apply"! She said (this was long before the war, of course): "I delight in that Englishman who, on seeing such a notice, raised his eyebrows and said: 'By Jove! Copied off the gates of hell!'"

Mrs. Murphy was educated in Toronto, at Bishop Strachan school, winning the Alex. Manning medal for general proficiency. In 1887 she married Rev. Arthur Murphy, a Church of England clergyman, and for many years has lived in Edmonton. Latterly Mr. Murphy became interested in mining and farming as well as in church work, and Mrs. Murphy took a hand at both and at a hundred other things. She knows all about mining, a lot about timber and farming, can ride a broncho with anybody, is a considerable traveler, a cyclist, and a collector of Canadian fossils.

An extraordinary variety of work has been done in the West by Mrs. Murphy, including an organization of district nurses, women's clubs, hospitals, improved law regarding dowers, etc. She was organizer and first president of the Women's Canadian Club at Edmonton. She is a magnetic platform speaker and a charming, genial conversationalist.

"Janey Canuck's" books include "Janey Canuck Abroad," "Janey Canuck in the West," and "Open Trails." They are not stories in the ordinary sense, but impressions of a penetrating, sympathetic observer of Western life, skilfully and charmingly recorded. Robust is the best word to describe her work as a whole, for it is all strong, sane, and refreshing. Agnes Deans Cameron, the noted Canadian Western writer, now living in the United States, has a keen admiration for Mrs. Murphy.

Toronto women were once described by Mrs. Murphy as wearing "a cross between the English and American modes; good material in good style." She also said that "Toronto takes its new jokes from the theatres," but adds: "The city is very fair, resourceful, tireless, and unafraid; a city worthy to be greatly loved."

Iron Acts Wonders on a Week, Run-Down Nervous System

Puts Roses in Pale Cheeks

Give you pep, vigour, and 100 p.c. more strength in 14 days.

Dr. Hamilton's Pills of Pheosphorus, edrian made with Iron are weak, run-down, anaemic people who are nervous, to start to-day to strengthen themselves by taking Iron for their blood. It has always been understood that Iron was an excellent remedy for the blood, but owing to its constipating, astringent effect it has been gladly avoided by most. Doctors have overcome this by combining the iron with phosphorus which forms a new Iron and at the same time the Phosphorus itself was one of the greatest nerve tonics known to medicine. You now have what is known in your drugging as Hamilton Pills with Iron. Dr. Hamilton finds this to be four fold in action. It charges the system with new blood, strength, greater strength and a new digestion. Your stomach will soon be ready for your hearty meals, then you will be thoroughly digested. Start to-day and take Phosphorus with Iron if you are thin, pale, weak, tired, run down, anaemic, nervous, etc., and in ten days you will be full of pep, bright, vigorous, alert, attaining the glow of health. Stop taking all sorts of worthless patent medicines, cheap laxatives, for what you require will cure kidney troubles, stomach pains, rheumatism, etc. What you want is good strong pure blood and strong nerves, making your system immune to all these everyday complaints.

Drained Phosphorus with Iron, as each of here does not contain one atom of arsenic or strychnine, which is found so harmful in almost every tonic. Arsenic and strychnine act only as a temporary stimulant, making you feel better only for the time you are taking them; while Drained Phosphorus with Iron goes to the root of the trouble, builds you up, strengthens your nerves, giving you a new lease of life. It is dispensed only by one druggist in each city. Agent for Peterborough is F. C. Weber, Charlotte Street.

Weakened By Anaemia Doctors Gave No Hope

Said She Was Threatened With Consumption, and Gave Her Three Weeks to Live

Anaemia is indicated by thin, watery blood. The gums and eyelids grow pale, there is great weakness and fatigue and digestion fails.

Since Dr. Chase's Nerve Food forms new, rich blood, it is naturally most suitable as a treatment for anaemia. This letter proves its efficiency in the most severe cases.

Mrs. J. Adams, Port Hope, Ont., writes: "About six years ago I was taken with very weak spells and though I doctored with the family physician and used other medicines for two years, I got very little relief and, in fact, continued to grow weaker. I was so weak I could not wait on myself or raise my hand to my head and decided to go to my daughter in Toronto. When examined by Toronto doctors they pronounced me to be in a dangerous condition, threatened with consumption and other ailments and said I would not live for three weeks. One day I was looking through Dr. Chase's Almanac and read about the cure of anaemia by the use of Dr. Chase's Nerve Food. I began the use of this treatment at once and am now well on the way back to health, after having used the Nerve Food for six months. I want my friends to know that my cure was effected by Dr. Chase's Nerve Food alone and after my discouragement from the use of other treatments, I feel it my duty to let everybody know about this remarkable cure."

As a restorative for persons who are pale, weak and run down there is no treatment to be compared to Dr. Chase's Nerve Food. Gradually and naturally the red corpuscles are increased in the blood, the color is restored to the cheeks and the strength comes back to wasted nerves and muscles. Dr. Chase's Nerve Food, 50c a box, 6 for $2.50, all dealers, or Edmanson, Bates & Co., Ltd., Toronto.

Canning Without Sugar.

Housewives who intended to reduce the amount of canning done this season by reason of the high cost of sugar may abandon that project and put up as much as they wish, is the statement issued by the canning specialists at the Department of Agriculture.

This can be made possible by the use of boiling water when sugar syrup is beyond one's means. Any fruit, they say, may be successfully sterilized and retained in the pack by simply adding boiling water instead of the hot syrup. Most fruits canned alone in water do not retain their flavor, texture, and color as do those canned in sugar, and must be sweetened when used for sauces or deserts.

In order to can without sugar the product must be canned on the same day that it is picked. It should be prepared for canning in the ordinary way. Then the containers should be placed in a sterilizing vat such as a wash boiler with a false bottom, and completely covered with boiling water. The sterilization process may extend from 10 to 30 minutes, according to the process used. After sterilization the packs should be removed, the glass jars sealed and wrapped in paper to prevent bleaching and stored in a dry, cool place.—Hartford Times.

Ontario's Edible Fungi.

Forty-five varieties of edible fungi from Toronto and vicinity were exhibited at the first meeting of the Mycological Society in the Botanical Building of the University of Toronto a few days ago.

Surprising the Doctor.

Scottish shrewdness is occasionally overmatched by Irish wit. The handful of people who inhabit a certain little island in the Atlantic, off the coast of Donegal, enjoy so much health and so little wealth that there is no doctor on the spot. In rare cases of emergency a physician is brought in a boat from the nearest village on the mainland.

On one occasion some islanders who were obliged to summon the doctor found that he had gone to Dublin on business. As the case was urgent, they invoked the services of another practitioner. This gentleman was a Scotsman, with the proverbial canniness of his race, and he declined to undertake the voyage unless he received his fee, a golden sovereign, in advance.

There was no help for it, and the money was paid. The physician went to the island and attended to the case. But when he inquired for a boat to take him away he found that not a boatman on the island would ferry him back again for any less consideration than £2, paid in advance.

The doctor had to part with the money and to admit that he had been beaten at his own game.

Longboat's Run.

Tom Longboat, the famous Indian runner, ran sixty miles to Toronto in two days to join the Canadian Sportsmen's Battalion, in which his old trainer for the Marathon, Tom Flanagan, is a captain.

FOR SALE

LOTS

On The Late Senator Cox Homestead

Beautifully Situated

Easy Terms of Payment

Apply—437 GEORGE ST.

Good Results

Only can come from having your PROPERTY INSURED AGAINST LOSS BY FIRE in the Most Reliable Companies.

Settlement of Losses, to which we give Personal attention are

PROMPT AND LIBERAL

You will find in our office the Strongest of the British, American and Canadian companies doing business in Canada.

Davis-Thompson Co., Limited
INSURANCE & GENERAL AGENCY
428 GEORGE STREET Phone 40

AMAZING DEEDS DONE IN THE SURGERY OF THE GREAT WAR

WINS A VICTORIA CROSS IN DARING TRENCH RAID

The Story of the Exploit for Which Officer Received High Honor.

(Special Dispatch.)
LONDON, Saturday.

Captain D. D. Sheehan, M. P., writes for the Daily Express this account of how in a trench raid a Victoria Cross was won:—

The other day I read that among the list of new V. C.'s was the following:—"Lieutenant Arthur Hugh Batten-Pooll, Royal Munster Fusiliers, for most conspicuous bravery while in command of a raiding party. At the moment of entry into the enemy's lines he was severely wounded by a bomb, which broke and mutilated all the fingers of his right hand. In spite of this he continued to direct operations with unflinching courage, his voice being clearly heard cheering on and directing his men.

"He was urged, but refused, to retire. Half an hour later, during the withdrawal, while personally assisting in the rescue of other wounded men, he received two further wounds. Still refusing assistance, he walked unaided to within one hundred yards of our lines, when he fainted and was carried in by the covering party."

I well recall the incident in connection with which Lieutenant Batten-Pooll won the highest decoration that can be awarded for valor in the field. We were up somewhere in the north of France preparing those series of preliminary bombardments which paved the way for the grand offensive later, and which I imagine worried the life and soul out of the Prussian Headquarters Staff. Many will probably remember that in one of the official despatches of the time special mention was made of the successful raids made by the Munsters and the Anzacs, precedence being given to the former, and right well they deserved it.

Romance of the War.

The story of that raid will yet constitute one of the romances of the war—how carefully it had to be prepared, how thoroughly every detail had to be thought out, how well practised the men had to become in the duties assigned to them and how perfectly the co-operation of artillery and infantry had to be arranged.

It is of the more human side of the story, however, that I would write. Though it was toward the end of June the rain was continuous, and I have seldom seen the trenches in a worse condition of slush and mud. The men cracked jokes at one another as they endeavored to negotiate some particularly deep pool, and, as is their way, treated the worst side of life in the most good humored manner.

We had completed our reliefs and made all our dispositions in good time, leaving some hours on our hands before the raiding party were to advance to their dangerous adventure.

Eight officers were to go out on the raid—this will give some idea of its magnitude and importance—and Lieutenant Batten-Pooll was one of them. He belonged to our company, and he looked to us at our dugout in the casual kind of way that is the fashion out there. Very little was spoken about the prospects of the raid, Lieutenant Batten-Pooll himself being a most modest and unassuming young fellow—a most sweet and admirable gentleman, though I say it who had but very brief acquaintance with him. There is not one of his comrades who will not rejoice at the signal honor that has come his way.

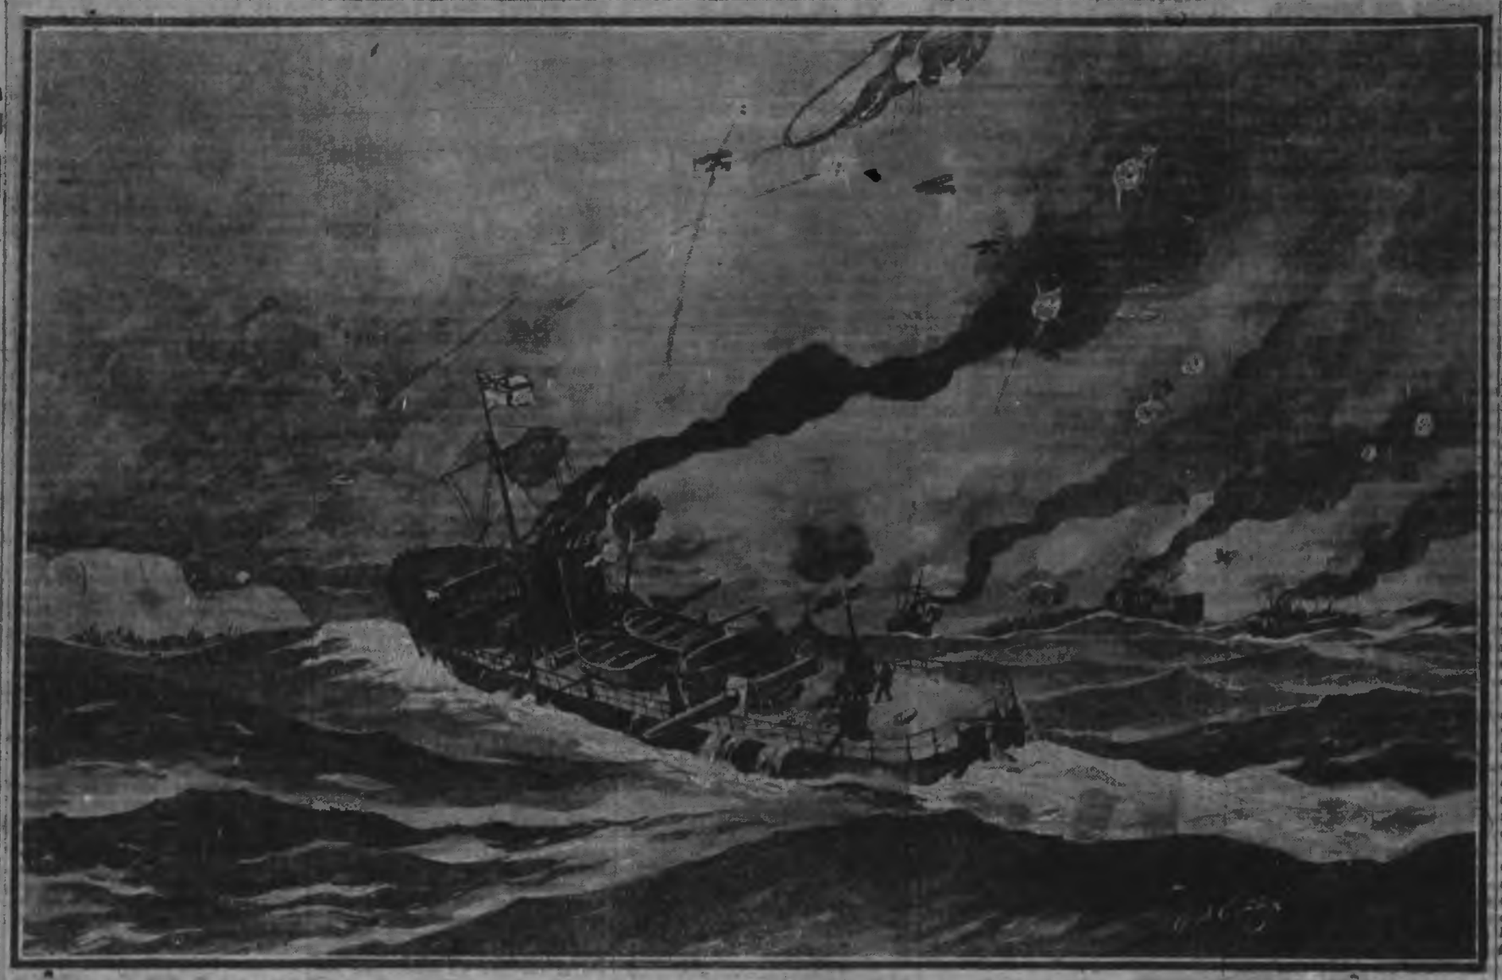
Thoughts for His Men.

Some refreshments were sparingly discussed, and just before leaving Batten-Pooll remarked to his company commander, Captain Humphreys:—"By the way, here is £5 which my mother sent me to be spent on the men of our company. I only got it to-day. Will you take charge of it?"

There was no pessimism about him then. He knew he was engaged on a desperate hazard, but it was not his way to talk about it. He only wanted to see that the gift intended for the men of his company should not fail in the worst event. His last thought before going over the parapet was one of consideration for the troops. Yes, Batten-Pooll deserved that Providence should be kind to him.

And what about the raid itself? Well, the Munsters once again covered themselves with glory. While our men were out in No Man's Land at the point of assembly our artillery at a given moment trickled forth such a fury of shot and shell as I had never seen before. I have seen worse since, but this was the beginning of those great demonstrations of our artillery superiority which will finally, I feel, decide anything else, determine the issue of this war.

Back came our men into the enemy's trenches with irresistible dash. They met with a stout resistance. There was no stopping or stemming the dash of the men of Munster. They rushed the Prussians off their feet. They bombed and they bludgeoned them. Indeed, the most deadly instrument of destruction in this encounter was the short, heavy bludgeon in the shape of a shillalah, the use of which, we are loth to believe, is the prescriptive and hereditary right of all Irishmen.



The Channel coast of England is almost daily visited by German aeroplanes and Zeppelins. Artist Coffin, the noted delineator of marine subjects, has drawn a picture of one of these attacks. It shows torpedo boats and batteries on the cliffs repelling an aerial bombardment. In a recent raid one of the Zeppelins was brought down in flames. The total number of Zeppelins lost by the Germans in the war is uncertain, but probably aggregates thirty.

WARNS SOLDIERS TO BEWARE SPIES

Writer in German Troops' Publication Says Missives Home May Give Advance Information.

(Special Dispatch.)
BERLIN, Saturday.

In the Liller Kriegszeitung, published by Prussian troops in the occupied French city, is an article by G. Pesch in which he gives some idea of how soldiers often unwittingly and unconsciously aid spies.

"The damage a spy can do," says Mr. Pesch, "may often require weeks and months of fighting by a whole army to overcome. Therefore it behooves every soldier to be on the lookout and to do everything to make the work of the spy difficult and dangerous.

"In this, comrade, we must have your help. No doubt you will say, 'Why, there is no chance in a thousand of my ever meeting with a spy. And if I ever do, well, my bayonet will be at his breast and I will march him in short order to headquarters.'

"Well, comrade there's where you are entirely wrong. You are not likely to meet a spy on the battlefield or among the ranks. A spy is a pretty clever chap. You will usually find him comfortably ensconced at home while you are in the trenches fighting for your life and country. Perhaps the spy is at this moment sitting in the café in your home city, sipping coffee or cognac, smoking cigars and congratulating your uncle or your father on the good news just received from you that you had received the Iron Cross. This you have yourself written to your uncle or your father, and this letter is proudly exhibited in the café. In it you state that you received the Iron Cross for bravery at the battle of N., that you belong to the Tenth Army Corps and that your troops are still located at N. Your father or your uncle's friend is also glad to hear through your letter that you have met an old school comrade belonging now to the Tenth Uhlans, formerly at the front in Russia, but that the corps will start for Russia again within a few days; that the Eleventh corps is on its way to Serbia, and so on. And so amid the social conversation in a comfortable café the spy sits and absorbs a great deal of military information from letters written by soldiers to parents or relatives at home.

"Just imagine for a moment what harm that spy can do. Now, if there also is in every big city and town the same mild mannered, polite and cultured gentleman all our work and bravery and efficiency are of no use. Then whatever move we make this harmless looking individual at once learns and makes the best use of. You know what it means when you are about to make an attack, supposed to be known to nobody but yourselves. He find that the enemy has known all about it for days and is ready to meet the attack with all its forces.

"Therefore, comrades, be careful of what you write home. Say nothing about military movements. Remember, in this big war everything is at stake—our country, our homes, our cities. We must win and will win, but be careful not to play into the hands of the spy, who is everywhere in the Fatherland and who can do us so much harm. Don't give him that chance."

War and the Influence of Mind Over Body

By JAMES J. WALSH, M. D., Ph. D.

There are many phases of the psychology of a great war like this which illustrate very well how much more influence man's mind has over his body than is usually presumed. Ordinarily it is supposed when suffering is lessened or disabilities removed or capacities to do things greatly enlarged by merely mental factors that those affected thus favorably were rather imaginative beings, usually women or rather effeminate men suffering from imaginary ills or dreads or inhibitions consequent upon overoccupation with self and the morbid tendency to introspection which modern self-consciousness fosters.

It scarcely would be expected that soldiers hardened now in body by the course of a long war, rendered practical in their outlook on life by the trials of many months of campaigning and with their physical powers reduced to the utmost by the calls made on them, would exhibit not only traces but very definite demonstrations of how much the influence of mind over body means for human accomplishment and the power to stand even the severest of hardships.

No Time To Be Ill.

Perhaps one of the most interesting testimonies to the influence of mind over body in the war was given not long since by Wilfrid Grenfell, whom we know best in this country as the medical missionary to the Newfoundland fishermen. He described some of his experiences at General Medical Headquarters during a visit to France. On a chart was shown the total ill and wounded for every day of the war. The wounded were represented by a red line, the ailing by a blue line. Elevations in these lines told their own story. A big red rise meant the battle of Loos, another meant the attack at Ypres, a third the advance at Hooge. In fine weather the blue line, indicating the number of purely medical cases, became level, and there was not much sickness among the soldiers.

The strange thing to Dr. Grenfell, whose own experiences as a medical missionary among the fisher folk along the northern shore of the Gulf of St. Lawrence make his point of view of special significance, was that illness "showed always nearly twice as much wastage of soldier material as wounds (except in cases of big attacks), and this in spite of all the advances of hygiene."

The curiously interesting thing, however, was that when fighting was most severe illness grew less. Every case treated by the army physician was reported to G. M. H., the soldier's familiar abbreviation for General Medical Headquarters, and physicians in charge of men actively engaged apparently did not have nearly so many cases of illness to report as among the same men at other times, even just before and after active engagements. The General Medical Headquarters' explanation of this fact was laconic enough and distinctly to the point. "No time to take notice of it." Pains and aches, disturbances of various kinds, conditions for which a physician would surely be consulted, fade into insignificance and are allowed to take care of themselves when men are getting ready for an advance or are being actively engaged by the enemy, or when they are occupied with caring for the wounded, burying the dead or intrenching themselves anew after an advance or a retirement.

In a word occupation of mind keeps men from disturbing themselves over ailments which prove to be self limited when their attention is diverted from them and concentrated on other and much more serious consideration. It is practically the same thing as is noted with regard to men in the woods during the summer at a considerable distance from where medical advice can be readily obtained. They refuse to give in to their disturbing physical conditions unless some very serious infection has taken place, and in nine cases out of ten the prescription to "forget it" proves to be as valuable as would much more elaborate prescriptions that might be obtained from their regular medical attendant.

Building Up Men.

The war, however, has had its effect not only on the powers of men to resist disease and ill health, but above all in developing their capacities to stand fatigue, irregular eating and sleeping, with the added serious disturbances of the nervous system and the worries of an active campaign which would ordinarily be expected to bring about serious deterioration of their health and ability to keep up with the accomplishment of any great purpose. We hear very little of "nervous breakdowns," considering the immense numbers of men who are engaged. They are so common in what we call the strenuous civil life as to be a commonplace. There are probably 25,000,000 of men, surely more than 20,000,000, in actual service, and probably more than 10,000,000 in the trenches. Nervous exhaustion occurs in a certain number, but practically without exception in those who have a history of distinct nervous or mental symptoms before enlistment.

Most persons would have said that it would be quite impossible for the young fellows of twenty to twenty-five, picked up in the streets of large cities, either thin and flat chested and scrawny from lack of proper air, exercise and nutrition, or soft and mollycoddish from inactivity and the eating of the carbohydrates, sweets and soft cereal foods in too great profusion, to stand month after month of trench life, with all its severities and all its call for the strongest qualities of human nature. Chosen men might live up to such pioneer existence but not the general run of mankind, above all from our modern cities.

Not only have just the average young city dwellers proved able to stand it, however, but they have actually developed under it into men quite different from what they were. A day of hard work with fasting would have sent most of them to bed with a stinging headache, but now, after thirty-six hours in which perhaps they have had very little to eat or drink, they are ready to take up the problem of helping comrades who are in a difficult position, or to take their turn in moving the wounded until hours pass over them without heeding their plight.

They have learned the lesson of how much more of power to do and stand things they have than they ever dreamed of before. Besides, they have found that much less of sleep and rest is necessary for the recuperation of their energies than they were persuaded was indispensable before the war. In a word, they have discovered in themselves sources of energy of whose possession they had no idea until they were actually compelled to develop powers which were latent yet present, though they might never have been revealed only for the emergencies of war that have called them forth. The revelation has been accompanied by that supreme satisfaction which the consciousness of finding new powers in one's self always brings with it.

Developing Human Energies.

Professor William James, of Harvard, in his well known essay on "The Energies of Men," written not long before his death, insisted that men can do ever so much more than they think when placed under the necessity of doing it and that very few live up to the maximum of energy, and that, indeed, a great many people exist merely on the surface of such powers as they possess.

He illustrated what he meant by the figure of the athlete and his second wind. A runner, for instance, after proceeding for a certain distance at his top speed finds himself gradually more and more hampered to continue his movements. His breath comes fast and quick, there is a tight feeling about his chest, his feet get heavier so that it is hard to carry them forward, his legs get stiffer, so that he is under greater and greater stress to lift them, and while the physiologist would explain that his internal respiration is proving insufficient, to oxidize his muscular tissues and enable him to go on the runner knows that he is just tired and probably will soon have to stop from sheer inability to keep up his movements.

If he pushes on, however, being in reasonably good health to begin with, a very curious phenomenon takes place. His breath begins to come easier, his feet get lighter, his legs move more readily, above all the tightness around his chest relaxes and he feels ever so much better than before. This is the experience known as getting his second wind. It occurs just when the runner as a rule has about come to the conclusion, unless he has had considerable experience with himself, that he shall have to give up.

There are some who get not only second wind and even third winds and even as athletic trainers know fourth reliefs of this kind. These latter are very rare, but Professor James has taken the illustration from athletics to suggest that in every mode of physical endurance and also of human work of all kinds incidents similar to this phenomena in running have been noticed. People can do ever so much more, people can stand ever so much more than they think they can. Training enables the athlete to tap successive layers of energy and thus to do ever so much more than he thought possible. Persistence against other forms of tiredness will accomplish like results.

The curious thing is that such persistence and training instead of leading to exhaustion and breakdown is absolutely necessary to enable the athlete and the worker of any kind to develop his own powers up to their proper limit. Instead of proving exhausting such forced continuance, if properly regulated, gives satisfaction and actually new power and the tiredness is readily relieved by what actually seems no more rest than was required after the more superficial activities of life before.

With this in mind it is easier to understand the expression of a British officer in a well known magazine not long ago. "For every Englishman killed in the war," he said, "two will be created." What he meant was that two hundredthousand men living as merely on the surface of things that what they were able to do with their dormant superficial energies meant very little would be lifted up to do real men's work.

After all, this is not a new experience in war, and, on the contrary, has often been noted before. France at the time of the Napoleonic wars was for twenty years in conflict with most of the rest of Europe and lost the flower of its young manhood, so that it might be expected that the French people would be almost a dead letter in the intellectual, artistic and political life of Europe afterward, especially as defeat came at the end, and they were without its stimulus of victory to act as an incentive to other men.

RUSSIAN OFFENSIVE COSTLY, HE SAYS

Swedish Writer Gives His Impressions of Recent Fighting on Eastern Front.

(Special Dispatch.)
STOCKHOLM, Saturday.

Nils Lago Lenquist, a Swedish writer, who was on the Austro-Hungarian front during the recent Russian offensive, has returned to Stockholm and gives his impressions and observations of the recent terrific fighting in an article in the Aftonbladet.

"The Russian offensive," he writes, "did not find the Austro-Hungarian troops unprepared. They were aware that Russia was massing new troops, and Austrian deserters, Russian prisoners and Russian deserters kept the Austrians thoroughly informed of everything that was going on. Russia had massed not only thousands of new troops but had numerous guns of large calibre and an almost inexhaustible supply of ammunition. Yet despite all this the Russians did not break through the Austro-Hungarian front and their offensive was not so successful as they led the world to believe.

"In Volhynia and vicinity the Russians in twenty days gained only seventy kilometres of ground. The Austro-Hungarian troops had the choice of fighting either on level ground, exposing themselves to heavy Russian fire and suffering great losses, or they could fall back and take up their positions in the mountains. They chose the latter. As a result the Russians advanced along the plain and their losses were enormous. To watch them being mowed down by the Austro-Hungarian fire was heartrending. To expose their men was idiotic and brutal on the part of the Russian leaders. Not since the beginning of the war has such slaughter been witnessed.

"In Volhynia alone the offensive cost the Russians at least 250,000 men killed, and the number of wounded cannot be estimated. Regiment after regiment was sacrificed, and without success, for the situation now is what it was a few months ago."

ROUMANIA LIMITS MEAT CONSUMPTION

Charles J. Vopicka, American Minister at Bucharest, reports to the Department of Commerce at Washington that Roumania has found it necessary to restrict the use of meat, particularly during the warm months, and in July the Minister of the Interior addressed instructions to the prefects of departments and mayors of communities in Roumania prohibiting the use of meat throughout the kingdom on three days each week during summer, this prohibition applying to restaurants and railway stations as well as to the various health resorts. The circular of the Minister of the Interior is as follows:

"In view of the fact that during summer the consumption of meat is not as frequent, and that on the other hand fresh vegetables are to be found in abundance at this time of the year and constitute a nutriment which can very well replace meat, the Ministry of the Interior, upon the advice of the Central Commission for Food Supplies, has decided that the number of days on which no meat is to be consumed will be three a week, and not two as heretofore. We therefore beg you to take the necessary measures in order to prevent the sale and consumption of meat on Mondays, Wednesdays and Fridays, and consequently not to allow the slaughtering of cattle in abattoirs on the eve of these days. You will see that the measures are applied in restaurants and railway stations as well as in health resorts.

"For certain invalids an exception can be made in order to permit them to consume poultry."

PRUSSIAN ORDER TO ECONOMIZE IN WAR SHOWS PINCH

Documents Captured by British Reveal Straits of Army at Front.

(Special Dispatch.)
LONDON, Saturday.

The following is a translation of a document captured from the enemy by British military forces:—

"The victorious termination of the war depends, in no small degree, upon our economy in all those things which are necessary for carrying on the war, so that, in the course of time, we may not be hampered by the shortage of some important war material.

"The necessity for care in the use of food has been dealt with several times recently.

"Equally important, though in many cases less heeded, is the careful use of our stocks of war supplies and raw material of all sorts, because, even if we have no shortage at present, the supplies and the money are limited, whereas the length of the war cannot yet be foreseen.

"If we wish to insure that the stocks and supplies are used to the greatest advantage every one in his own sphere must help to see that all stocks of clothing, equipment and war material of all sorts are spared as far as exigencies of war allow, and that new orders are sent in only for that which is absolutely lacking or entirely unfit for use.

"When deciding whether an article is capable of further service the same standard cannot be maintained as in peace time or on mobilization. Material is worn out or unfit for service only when it can no longer fulfil its proper purpose. A shabby appearance alone can never justify a new issue.

"It is the duty of all forwarding offices to make certain that the things ordered are really necessary before they pass the order on. Skilful adjustment or repair can often make good a deficiency and so effect a great saving.

"Demands have been sent in recently of a magnitude that was not in keeping with an economical and orderly administration. It is hardly possible, except in special cases, that a formation really needs at one time a complete set of fittings. It often happens that small repairs are not undertaken soon enough or that demands in excess of what is strictly necessary are made for the sake of obtaining an even appearance.

"From to-day, in order to insure that all unserviceable articles are sent back, so that they may be put to some use, a new issue will not be made from the office concerned until the worn out articles have been returned. If this is impossible for any reason, such as fire or destruction by bombardment, such reason must be stated on the indent.

"In case of articles of consumption it must be certified that the previous stock is completely exhausted. The O. C. of all units have been instructed to refer any orders which are in excess of the normal to army headquarters. All indents for replacements should be accompanied by a statement that as far as possible the unserviceable articles will be returned; the place where they will be given up should also be indicated."

Translation of another captured document follows:—

"Res. Inf. Regt. 99.

"Regt. H. Qrs., 18, 8, '16.

"Whilst our enemies obtain their food, clothing and material from all countries our own untiring industry has succeeded unaided in supplying from Germany the enormous needs of our army.

"It is your duty to be economical, not only with food, but also with all those things which are used in warfare. Take care of your clothing.

"A well patched tunic or pair of boots becomes a soldier, because it shows that in small matters he is helping to accomplish great things.

"Just as the small saver contributed to the great success of our war loans, so the soldier in the trenches contributes toward our economic victory by taking care of things that are intrusted to him.

"Take care of your arms. A sensible wastage of arms at the front lessens the equipment of new formations and saves labor at home, which is set free for other purposes.

"Be economical with all material and tools that are issued. Throw nothing carelessly away that might be of further use, however unimportant it may appear.

Remember that a wooden lining frame costs twenty marks, a complete dugout 1,000 marks."

"The less we use, the less the war will cost, and the easier it will be for our fighters at home to supply us out here with everything that we require for the final victory.

"Watch your comrades and encourage one another to be economical.

"V. BALMBACH."

"Extract from Divisional Order of 18, 8, '16."

GREAT SCARCITY OF PAPER IN GERMANY

(Special Dispatch.)
BERLIN, Saturday.

Owing to the scarcity of print paper in Germany and the consequent high price, many of the smaller papers throughout the empire have found it necessary to suspend publication, temporarily at least, while other papers have greatly reduced their output and number of pages. The newspaper publishers of Wurttemburg called a special session to consider the situation and have passed resolutions calling upon the government to place a fixed price on print paper in order to protect the smaller newspapers.

In Austria the government has already taken hold of the matter, dividing papers into first and second class and fixing them to a certain number of pages each day and also fixing the price at which they can be sold. In this manner it is hoped to prevent any further increase, for no matter what exigencies arise newspapers cannot publish any more pages than the number to which they have been limited. The scheme has proved successful thus far, and as a result no more increases in the price of print paper are expected.

FAMILY DOCTOR'S GOOD ADVICE.

To Go On Taking "Fruit-a-tives" Because They Did Her Good

Rouses, P. Q., Jan. 14th, 1915.

"I suffered for many years with terrible Indigestion and Constipation. I had frequent dizzy spells and became greatly run down. A neighbor advised me to try "Fruit-a-tives". I did so and to the surprise of my doctor, I began to improve, and he advised me to go on with "Fruit-a-tives".

I consider that I owe my life to "Fruit-a-tives" and I want to say to those who suffer from Indigestion, Constipation or Headaches—try Fruit-a-tives and you will get well". CORINE GAUDREAU.

50c. a box, 6 for $2.50, trial size, 25c. At all dealers or sent postpaid by Fruit-a-tives Limited, Ottawa.

Anzac Slang.

The vocabulary of some of the Australian and New Zealand troops would puzzle Solomon himself, judging by some of the specimens given in that entertaining periodical, The Gazette of the 3rd London General Hospital, Wandsworth. The following dialogue is quoted by a transport officer lately in Gallipoli:

"Hallos, chum! I've just heard some bonza news."

"What! Another fatigue?"

"No, dinkum oil this time; the boys have imahied the Turks on the right and got fifty prisoners, who say they have had mafeesh tucker for two days."

Bonza corresponds with our "ripping" or "topsole." Aafurfie is a rumor, dinkum means "genuine," and dinkum oil "authenticated news." Imahi is Gippy for "clear out," and mafeesh, which is borrowed from the same tongue, means "nothing."

When an Australian wishes to acquire something he "shakes it," whereas the British Tommy either "makes it" or "scrounges it." Tommy's slang is largely derived from Hindustani, and includes such words as "chipperew" for "shut up," "put some jildi into it," meaning "hurry up," and "let's have a dekke," when he wants to have a look at something.

Posey is jam—cherb, beer—rooty, bread—dough, money—dippo, gravy—muckim, butter — shar, tea. "Swinging the lead" is pretending or deceiving. When an article is "spare" it means that it is not wanted.

Russia's Senate.

The Russian Senate has been in existence since 1711.

WHOOPING COUGH.

Mrs. Charles Lovell, Agassiz, B.C., writes: "Seven of our nine children had whooping cough the same winter, and we attribute their cure to Dr. Chase's Syrup of Linseed and Turpentine. We always have it in the house and recommend it as the king of all medicines. I was formerly entirely cured of protruding piles by using Dr. Chase's Ointment."

FOR YOUNG FOLKS

A Sleepy Time Story That Is Both Interesting and Instructive.

DISCOVERY OF TREE PRUNING.

How a Wise and Hungry Old Animal Performed a Good Deed and at the Same Time Acquired a Square Meal. Interesting Items For Small People.

I am going to tell you tonight, said Uncle Ben to Polly Ann and little Ned, a story about

THE WISE DONKEY.

There was once a farmer who had a donkey, and, like most people who own donkeys, his master did not have a great deal of respect for his wisdom. One day the donkey showed him that he knew a great deal more than he was given credit for. At any rate, after this occasion the farmer thought him far wiser than a whole forest full of owls, who have ever been regarded as the wisest of feathered folk. But to begin at the beginning:

The hero of this tale—the donkey—was very hungry. His master, thinking him only a donkey, thought he did not know the difference between eating prickly thistles and something better. The donkey was very tired of thistles, and his stomach felt like the "old scratch" because of them. He gave a loud bray and before he got to the end of it—not farther than b-b-r, in fact—he saw the gate into the orchard was open. The donkey had always longed to go into this forbidden place, but the gate had been kept securely locked. His master could not lock the smell of the apples and pears from reaching the donkey's nose, though, and this smell made the donkey long more and more after the good things which grew there.

The donkey could scarcely believe his eyes or nose either, but the second glance showed him that his eyes had not deceived him. The gate was open; consequently the donkey was invited into the orchard. Once inside, he lost no time in sampling the fruit of a fine apple tree. You know how fond your pet pony is of a nice juicy apple. Well, you can imagine how a donkey who had been raised on thistles would regard a tree full of them. He ate and ate until no pig would have recognized him. Branch after branch came off the tree in Mr. Donkey's attempt to get the delicious apples. All went well until his master returned. When he saw what the donkey had done, poor donkey got the worst whipping that he had ever received in his life. The master almost cried, for his tree was ruined, and the apples were the finest ones he owned.

The year following, what was his surprise to see that the tree he had looked upon as ruined bore double as many apples as any other tree in the orchard. Besides this, the apples were finer and larger than any he had ever grown. He was ashamed of the way he had treated the donkey for his part in the scheme. He gathered a large basket of the apples and himself carried it to the poor donkey. Ever after this the farmer pruned all the trees in the orchard, and from so stupid an animal as a donkey the valuable process of pruning trees was discovered.

Jumbled Dinner.

"Oh," said Ruth, "I know what we will have at grandma's. There will be pigpen, hulpmup and cemni pies; yetruk, of course, with plenty of gyary; reeky and skiecoo, with ocfefe and drice to drink."

Answer.—Apples, pumpkin, mince, turkey, gravy, celery, cookies, coffee, cider.

One Summer Day.

Little rabbits in a row.
All dressed up, no place to go.
Said the tiny, frisky one:
"Let us go and take a run."

"Let's sit still," said t'other rabbit,
He who had the lazy habit.
"I know what to do," said Creepy,
"Sweet be our dreams, I'm sleepy."

A Pair of Pretty Boys.

The two young lads in the picture were snapped at the Piping Rock horse show, on Long Island, New York.

Photo by American Press Association.

JOHN AND KEMBLE TUCKER.

They are Masters John and Kemble Tucker of Newport, R. I., and they were gazing at a horse race when the photograph was taken.

Length of Life of Children.

In the American Magazine Dr. Alexander Graham Bell, inventor of the telephone, says:

"Contrary to the public belief that the first born child is apt to be short lived, I have found that the first born reaches the average age length, which is 34.6 years. The second born children come up to the average also. But here's a curious thing—the third and fourth born have an average life considerably longer than the average. As a general proposition, the children born after ten years of married life are short lived."

A DOMESTIC ONE.

An Actress Expert at Cake Making and Salesmanship.

HOW SHE MADE LOVEBIRD PIE

For 25 Cents Miss Hedman Sold a Slice of Pastry to the Greatest Fletcherizer in the World at the Allies' Bazaar.

One of the many actresses who helped the allied bazaar at the Grand Central palace, New York, was Martha Hedman, the Swedish star.

Miss Hedman, who is the only actress who ever baked a cake in a glass dish, sold a piece of the delicacy to an elderly man who visited her booth next to the authors and artists' booth. He was a little man with a fringe of hair as white as the serge suit he wore. A single medal stood out in bold relief on his left breast. He had given his quarter for the slice of cake so eagerly that Miss Hedman began extolling the virtues of a lovebird pie, a flaky crust over a glass bowl in which were two live birds, urging him to buy the pie and throwing in such an inducement as an autographed picture of herself. As she talked merrily on her visitor munched his cake, masticating each small bit thoroughly. At the end of several minutes he was still eating calmly, and as Miss Hedman glanced at the portion that remained undevoured there may have been just a suggestion of impatience in her eye. At any rate, her customer handed her his card, which read, "Horace Fletcher, A. M., Food Economist." Then it rushed across the actress' consciousness that the man fletcherizing his cake was he who had taken the joy out of life—and probably putting much health into it—for many by scaring them into eating slowly.

Photo by American Press Association.

MISS MARTHA HEDMAN.

Baby Things.

In the craze for quilts baby's interests should not be neglected, as he will perhaps have more use than his elders for such a comfortable, even during the warmer months. A most effective modern version of the old time quilt is made of blue chambray, with a white band near the edge, which crosses at the corners. In the center of the quilt are three saucy bedtime babies in nighties, not forgetting the caps, and each carries a lighted candle. White chambray is used to depict this and is appliqued to the blue background. Extra touches of color are put in with embroidery outline. Below the figure runs the legend, "The Sandman Is Coming."

A toy that the baby will probably take to bed as well as play with in the daytime is a linen doll made by joining two tinted and embroidered pieces of material together to form the front and back of the doll and inclosing beans, for the character doll is really a bean bag.

Secret of French Frying.

The secret of successful French frying is to have the lard so deep that it entirely covers what you wish to fry and so hot that it will instantly form a crust over the entire surface of the article that is immersed in it. If further cooking is necessary the heat should immediately be reduced.

The best frying is done by plunging the article entirely in boiling fat. All too often French fried potatoes are merely slices softened in grease. Boiling grease does not enter articles plunged into it, but forms a crust on the surface which keeps out the fat. A well fried article, prepared in the French manner, will hardly soil the napkin on which it is laid. Either lard or drippings may be used for this purpose. Test the heat with a bit of bread an inch square. If it browns in one minute the heat is right.

Corn Chowder.

Fry a half pound of diced salt pork in a big saucepan until brown. Add one sliced onion and cook until light brown. Then add four sliced potatoes that have been parboiled ten minutes, a can of corn or corn cut from cob and a pint of boiling water. Cook until the vegetables are tender, then add a quart of rich milk, pepper, salt and a half dozen crackers which have been soaked in a little milk. Serve with a cracker on each dish of soup.

We must ourselves learn the ways of right and wrong, and having learned we must choose.—Marie Corelli.

If hair's your pride, use HERPICIDE

THOSE PTOMAINES

What a Housewife Should Do to Prevent Them.

GIVE PERFECT REFRIGERATION

Dangers That Lurk In Food Left Standing on the Kitchen Table—Shellfish and Clams Make Especially Good Poisons In the Summertime.

The hot and often muggy days of summer seem just the ones to develop in certain foods definite bacteria which cause symptoms of pain, chilliness, subnormal temperature and thirst. These may continue for a somewhat extended period and are particularly dangerous because the after effects of the poisoning are often severe.

Ordinary colic or intestinal fermentation is not the true poisoning, which is due to fermentation or imperfect digestion.

There are certain foods especially susceptible to the development of ptomaines, such as meat, game, fish and milk or its products. Shellfish, and particularly clams, are possibly the most common cause.

But the development of ptomaines (which, by the way mean "derived from a dead body") is not due to any qualities in the foods themselves, but to lack of care in handling them. Some persons think that contact with tin or galvanized surfaces is the cause, as in ice cream. This has not been definitely settled. The chief and accepted cause is change of temperature in food products before they are used and careless storage either on the part of dealer or housewife.

In spite of all that has been said on the subject of care of the refrigerator, sanitary handling and cleanliness, many of us are not 100 per cent rigorous in the way we treat foods before they reach our table. Probably the reason why shellfish are most frequently the cause is because these are very seldom subjected to complete refrigeration, but are allowed to stand about in bags in whatever temperature happens to prevail.

In order to prevent the development and danger from ptomaines we must first oversee and insist on state and municipal strictness in all handling of food products, particularly milk. The second step is so to handle food when it is within our own four walls that our own home conditions cannot encourage this poisoning.

Food left lying even a half hour on the kitchen table, a refrigerator which registers above 50, unclean utensils—any one of these may be the cause of the ptomaine developing. Especially with all canned goods and canned and smoked meats should we exercise the greatest care. Remove the contents from a can as soon as it is opened. Place at once in refrigerator or, better, allow the can to stay in the refrigerator some hours before it is opened.

It is worth noting that the bacteria that develop the ptomaines do not always develop putridity or decay—that is, we can eat a food in a high state of preservation and still be subject to ptomaines. Scrupulous care and as perfect refrigeration all the way from the time the food was first handled until the last are the only preventives.

Dainty Scent.

When washing blouses or handkerchiefs put a small lump of orris root in the rinsing water. It gives a perfume of violets which is as lasting as a sachet placed among the clothes.

JOE DEVLIN.

Facts About the Celebrated Irish Orator.

In this country few people know anything about Joe Devlin, as he is affectionately called by the Nationalists, but he is a man who counts in the Emerald Isle. He will probably play a greater part in helping Mr. Lloyd George to clear up Irish affairs than even Mr. Redmond or Sir Edward Carson. For Devlin, like the Minister of Munitions, possesses that genius, energy, and courage which leads the people to put their whole trust and confidence in him.

One of the secrets of his success lies in the fact that he is a son of the people. Born forty-four years ago of working class parents, Joe Devlin has made his way by sheer genius and native ability.

"Joe Devlin," said Mr. T. P. O'Connor on one occasion, when writing about the member for Belfast, "has intense sympathy with the poor. He loves them. He goes to their homes. He knows nearly every man, woman, and child in his constituency by sight and by name. He addresses them as they address him by their Christian names."

After leaving school, Joe Devlin began to make his way in the world as a boy of eleven, and there is a certain little public-house in Belfast where at one time he served as a barman. But he had ambitions even in the days when serving out beer and spirits. When he was sixteen he won a prize for elocution, and it was about this time that he made a speech the eloquence of which astonished Thomas Sexton, one of the most gifted modern orators Ireland has ever produced. He drew from Sexton a compliment which thousands of our public schoolboys might envy. "I regret," he said, "the rule which obliges all members of the House of Commons to be at least 21 years of age."

It was Devlin's connection with a political debating society which fired his ambition for a political career. He soon became known as one of Ireland's youngest and most courageous stalwarts. On three occasions he was sent to the United States on behalf of the Irish party, his eloquence and organizing ability arousing such admiration that, when he ultimately returned, he was put in charge of the National Organization in Ireland.

For ten years Mr. Devlin has represented West Belfast in Parliament, and in spite of considerable physical disadvantage—for he is one of the tiniest men at Westminster—he is recognized as an orator, organizer, and parliamentarian of the greatest brilliance.

In Ireland he wields a unique power. He is the general secretary of the United Irish League, the official organization of the Irish party, which has branches in [illegible], Australia, and South Africa. He is also head of the Ancient Order of Hibernians, probably the largest and most influential organization of the Catholic laity in the world.

AFTER THE GRIPPE

Vinol Restored Mr. Martin's Health.

Wapakoneta, Ohio.—"I am a farmer by occupation, and the grippe left me with a bad cough and in a nervous, weak, run-down condition, and I could not seem to get anything to do me any good until I took Vinol, which built me up, and my cough and nervousness are all gone, and I can truly say that Vinol is all that is claimed for it."—James Martin.

Vinol is a constitutional remedy for all weak, nervous and run-down conditions of men, women and children, and for chronic coughs, colds and bronchitis.

For sale by McDermid & Jury, druggists, E. L. Payne, Peterboro; also at the best druggist in all Ontario towns.

Saxol Salve
CURES SKIN AFFECTIONS
One package proves it. Sold and guaranteed by above Vinol druggist.

WHEN YOU WANT
COAL
CEMENT
Sewer Pipe
CONSULT
H. B. TAYLOR & SON
Cor. Aylmer & Wolfe
'Phone 209

FILL YOUR BIN with the Only Genuine White Ash D. L. & W.
SCRANTON COAL Automatically Screened
It's a well-known fact that there is as great difference between different kinds of coal as there is between any other two commodities and it ought to pay coal consumers to do a little experimenting on their own account. We claim that the D. L. & W. Scranton Coal is the cleanest coal known. We claim that it will do more heating than any other coal.
Robert Hicks Co.
LIMITED
Charlotte and Bethune Sts.
Murray and Bethune Sts.
PHONES 47-48

LOW'S COAL
STOVE COAL, per ton..$8.50
NUT COAL, per ton....$8.50
PEA COAL, per ton....$7.25
No. 1 CANEL COAL $8.50
LOW & COMPANY
262 Simcoe St. and 385 Bethune St
Phone 697 Nights and Holidays 766

COAL
THAT IS ALL COAL
PROMPT DELIVERY
Peterborough Fuel & Transfer Co.
Charlotte St. Phones 270 261, 262
Truck and Transfer Business in Connection

THERE IS NO FUEL
so good as
ANTHRACITE COAL
and no better anthracite than
Lehigh Valley Coal
THE COAL THAT SATISFIES
ALSO
HARD AND SOFT WOOD
Cutting and Splitting Extra
J. E. A. FITZGERALD
[PHONE 111

HEAT PRODUCING
COAL
Use Our
PITTSTON COAL
It Makes Warm Friends
Terms Positively Cash
Weir & McCarthy
Coal and Wood Dealers
111 Simcoe St., East City. 'Phone 90

THE VALUE OF THIS NEWSPAPER

is that its readers read it!

This applies to its advertising as well as to its reading matter. In the belief that this is true, advertisers buy space in its columns.

The Daily Examiner
PETERBOROUGH, ONT.

EXAMINER PATTERN SERVICE

LADY'S HOUSE DRESS.

By Anabel Worthington.

8011

A woman who keeps her house in order without the aid of a helper needs a dress of just such simple loveliness as the one in the illustration, so that she may be quite presentable to the unexpected caller.

This model is thoroughly up to date with a waist that is bloused quite full and, shaped with a tuck in each front turned toward the armhole, the effect is pretty. The left front, closing with button decoration to yoke depth, adds the necessary smartness. Although the neck finishes without a collar, the sleeves are cuffed with contrasting goods.

The seven gore skirt has a plait at each side front seam and an under box plait in the centre of the back, so that the same fulness that stamps an afternoon dress in the mode is featured in this serviceable garment.

It may be made of seersucker, linen, chambray or checked gingham. The ease with which the design can be reproduced will surprise and please you.

The dress pattern No. 8011 cuts in sizes 34-44. To make in size 36 requires 5¾ yards 36 inch material with ¾ yard contrasting goods.

To obtain the pattern send 10 cents to the office of this publication.

When ordering remember to give your name and address as well as the number and size of pattern required, and age of a child.

Price 15 cents, or 2 for 25 cents.

Address—The Examiner Pattern Service, The Examiner, Peterborough.

IF YOU NO LONGER USE IT, SELL IT THROUGH AN EXAMINER "FOR SALE AD."

12 Pages

The Evening Examiner

PETERBOROUGH WEDNESDAY, JANUARY 3, 1917

GRANT SIX

If you are in the market for a [illegible] cylinder car, be sure and see the Grant Six, at PULKINGHORN'S AUTO AND TAXI LIVERY.

'Phone 278. Res. 'Phone [illegible]

Canada Enlisted 178,537 Recruits During Year That Has Just Closed

Toronto District Leads With a Record of 85,384 Men Since the War Broke Out---The Kingston District, Which Includes Peterboro', Has Raised 41,204 Men---Russians Are Making Strong Stand in Roumania

A SUMMARY OF TO-DAY'S WAR CABLES

SPECIAL TO THE EXAMINER:

OTTAWA, January 3.—During the year just past there were recruited in Canada 178,537 men for overseas service. Making the totals by districts since the beginning of war as follows:

Toronto—85,384.
Manitoba and Saskatchewan—77,254.
Kingston—41,204.
British Columbia—37,767.
Maritime Provinces—34,902.
Alberta—34,517.
Montreal—33,993.
London—31,325.
Quebec—7,729.

During the past fortnight Toronto enlisted 457, and the Kingston District 367.

TORONTO, January 3.—Speaking to the Board of Trade audience today Sir Thomas White, Minister of Finance, urged greater efforts all the line of national saving. "Canada should make her dollars fight the Huns," he said.

PETROGRAD, January 3.—The Russians in Roumania have retired towards Sereth, where they are making a strong stand.

BERLIN, January 3.—Prince Fusensterberg of Boden, aged 24, has been killed in action.

LONDON, January 3.—The declarstion that President Wilson knows the peace terms of the Central Powers was made in a New Year's speech at Budapest by Count Andrassy.

LONDON, January—The Teutons have made another advance in Roumania, capturing Barseci, some distance south of the Trotus, Topasia, and also Pintecesti and Mera on the Milcuvul, a tributary of the Sereth, towards which latter river the Russians have been steadily retiring.

WASHINGTON, January 3. — The Administration has studiously avoided a reference to its threat to break relations with Germany in the event of the resumption of relentless submarine warfare. But many interpreted the President's consultations and Lansing's visit to-day as being significant of a desire to have Congress on record in support of the President's note which was admittedly a warning to Germany.

BERLIN, January 3.—The question of whether the United States intends to remain neutral, or whether President Wilson is playing for a psychological moment to enter the war, is raised by the Cologne Gazette to-day.

Has U. S. Government Cards Up Its Sleeve?

SPECIAL TO THE EXAMINER:

WASHINGTON, D.C., January 3.—That the Administration has peace cards "up its sleeve" and has finally decided to lay them on the table before the Senate Foreign Relations Committee, was indicated to-day when Secretary of State Lansing went to the Capitol to consult with members of the committee.

New Type of German Submarine is Reported

SPECIAL TO THE EXAMINER:

NEW YORK, January 3.—Reports of new German submarines, capable of laying mines while submerged, and a new report of a mysterious German raider roaming the Atlantic, were brought here by the Holland-American liner Nieuw Amsterdam. Captain Jan Baron said it was believed by many seamen that Germany has perfected this type of submarine. He expressed a further belief that mines of this sort have been laid in all English harbours, even in the mouth of the Thames.

Baron said he had received daily warnings from Cape Race Wireless Station on his trip to this country, to be on the outlook for a German commerce raider, 450 feet long and 45 feet beam, with one funnel and two large masts. It was said she was equipped with long-range guns and torpedo tubes. Several British and American ships are long overdue.

Teutons Lost 583,523 Prisoners Last Year

SPECIAL TO THE EXAMINER:

ON THE FRENCH FRONT IN FRANCE, January 2.—During the course of last year, according to authoritative figures, 78,500 Germans were captured on the French front by the French, and 40,000 by the British, while in Serbia and Macedonia the Entente allied armies took 11,173 Bulgarians and Turks prisoner. During the same period the Italians made prisoner of 52,250 Austrians, while the Russians captured more than 400,000 Germans and Austrians.

SIX HUNDRED THOUSAND AUSTRIANS ON ITALIAN FRONT.

ROME, January 2.—From thirty to forty-three Austrian divisions are kept engaged along the Italian front, says an official communication issued to-day. The statement adds that since Italy entered the war she has conquered 1,200 square miles of territory, shortening her war front from 500 to 375 miles, with an aggregate of 1,875 miles of entrenched lines.

War material is being manufactured by 2,179 factories, employing 469,000 workers, including nearly 73,000 women.

The Austrian prisoners now number 85,000, the statement asserts.

UNIVERSAL WEEK OF PRAYER BEING OBSERVED THIS EVENING IN EVERY CHURCH IN THE CITY

The churches of Peterborough are finding a ready and cordial response to the call. Last night's service in St. Andrew's Church was attended by a splendid congregation. Let no one forget these meetings. If you never attended before—start now. If you have recently neglected prayer as the first duty of life—renew the habit. Remember our Empire and city, our homes, and lads overseas need your prayers before anything else. Services are being held to-night in every church throughout the city.

SUBJECT — "The War — Its Effect on Religion at Home, in the Trenches and on the Mission Fields."

Further notice each day will be given by the Ministerial Association as to the place of meeting and subject.

DEATH OF FIRE VICTIMS WILL BE A GREAT HANDICAP

Evidence of Wm. Walsh and Jos. Houlihan Was Regarded as Essential Provincial Fire Marshall Heaton Announces.

MATERIALS EXAMINED

SPECIAL TO THE EXAMINER:

TORONTO, Jan. 3.—The death from fire injuries of two of the employees of the Quaker Oats Co., Peterborough, whose evidence was regarded as essential to the official investigation into thee fire, has greatly handicapped the inquiry, in the opinion of Provincial Fire Marshall Heaton. Wm. Walsh and Jos. Houlihan, employeees, who died in the hospital a few days ago, were in the room where the fire started and the inquiry was adjourned to obtain their evidence, and that of another injured employee, as soon as they had sufficiently recovered from their injuries. Samples of material in which the fire occurred have been sent to the School of Practical Science in the hope of discovering if it contained anything which might cause spontaneous combustion.

Another Body Found in Ruins

Farmer Uncovers Remains of G. W. Vosbourg, Missing Car Checker

The body of another victim of the Quaker Oats Company fire was discovered this morning when a farmer loading a sleigh with grain unocvered the remains of George Wellington Vosbourg, the car checker, who had been missing since the catastrophe. The body was found about fifteen feet north of the northeast corner of the boiler-room, covered with bricks and by grain that had erupted from the destroyed elevator. The searchers had not done any work at that point, as Vosbourg was thought to have been at work at the cars on the siding, east of the boiler-room. Instead it is apparent that he had been passing outside the boiler room when the explosion came and was caught by the falling bricks. The identification was made by the clothes of the victim.

Mr. Vosbourg was thirty-one years of age and was born in Castleton, Ont. He had lived in Peterborough for about three months. His wife was Miss Hattie Kellog.

South Monaghan Boy Is the New Mayor of Ottawa

South Monaghan took a peculiar interest in the Ottawa Municipal elections this year because Harold Fisher, a South Monaghan boy, was elected Mayor of the Capital by over 1,000 majority in a three-cornered fight. The new Mayor was born in South Monaghan, 38 years ago, and received his early education there, afterwards going to Toronto University, graduating in law. Fifteen years ago he went to Ottawa, where he became law partner with the Hon. Chas. Murphy. He is a nephew of Mr. Walter Fisher, Water street, Peterborough.

OFFICERS ELECTED

Annual Meeting of the Ladies' Aid of George St. Methodist Church

The annual meeting of the Ladies' Aid Society of the George Street Methodist Church was held yesterday afternoon with Rev. R. G. Peever as chairman. The reports read indicated a successful year with $800 raised. The following officers were elected:

President—Mrs. Jas. Long.
1st Vice—Mrs. S. R. Armstrong.
2nd Vice—Mrs. C. E. Smith.
Secretary—Mrs. B. Shortly.
Treasurer—Mrs. S. A. Oke.
Pianist—Mrs. A. E. Micks.
Associate — Mrs. Hackett.

BIRTH.

BOTHWELL.— To Mr. and Mrs. Ira Bothwell, 460 Wellesley street, Toronto, formerly of Peterborough, a son (still born.)

NATIONAL REGISTRATION A PATRIOTIC UNDERTAKING

"The people of Canada do not realise the gravity of the situation with which we are confronted in the present war. Those who know best tell us that if we are to win any such victory as will have abiding results we must put into it every ounce of strength and every dollar that we possess. We have gone on the assumption so common in peace times, that things will right themselves, but this is certainly not the case. A satisfactory issue will only come if we determine to use our energy for that end. There is a great deal of latent power in this Dominion. In few countries have the people more natural ability than Canadians have, but in few countries is there so little co-ordinated direction as here.

"The purpose of national registration is to discover what available people are for different kinds of work. We must know what we can count upon. There are thousands of people in this Dominion who are only waiting to be told what to do, but it is necessary to find out who these people are, and what they can do. The next step will be to use the right person for the right thing, and to see that as far as possible the round peg is fitted into the round hole, to avoid waste, not to have the energy of a person missed by having him put to do the wrong thing. National Registration, therefore, is a sensible undertaking at such a time as this. It is a patriotic undertaking. It is the kind of undertaking that an intelligent people like the Canadians will surely be ready to carry into effect at the earliest possible moment."—President R. A. Falconer of the University of Toronto.

Sergt. Alex. Gillespie Well Known Peterboro' Boy On The List

Former Peterboro' Rugby Player Who Went Overseas With the Pioneer Battalion is Reported Seriously Ill--Another Recruit From Havelock For 247th Battalion--To-day's Orders and General Military News.

Mr. J. B. Gillespie, 138 Hunter street East has received an official message from Ottawa stating that his son, Sergt. Alex. C. Gillespie of the Canadian Pioneer is officially reported admitted to No. 23 Casualty Clearing Station, France on January 1st seriously ill. No further particulars have been received. Sergt. Gillespie who is a very well known Peterborough boy having been prominent in rugby circles, enlisted in New Ontario and went overseas with a Pioneer Battalion.

Another Havelock recruit joined the ranks of the 247th Battalion to-day.

Among the gifts of the season which fortunate ones have received the Executive Officer of the Patriotic Fund desires to make acknowledgment of receipt of two pair of what we call socks. The very best. Beautifully knitted, comely in shape and colour. Quite the very nicest. And the gift, so the card attached said, of a soldier's wife. The kind donor withheld the name or thanks would have been tendered personally. It will be observed that the Executive Officer is now on the same footing as the boys on the line. As the fashion of the early days in the town, set by the river drivers, of wearing their socks outside the pantaloons is not now au fait, the only way to display the excellence of this gift would be to shorten the length of the legs of ones trousers, and that, so far fashion will not permit, likewise the weather. Anyway the socks will be put where they will do the most good. And again thanks.

To-day's Orders.

Daily orders by Lt.-Col. C. H. Ackerman, commanding 247th Batt., C.E. F. Orders for Jan. 2, 1916.

(1). District Order No. 1. Unauthorized Expenditures—

It is published for the information of all concerned that since the outbreak of the war, the practice has arisen of incurring expenditure without due authority. It is pointed out for your future guidance that all officers concerned who may, after the receipt of these instructions, incur expenditure without due authority, will be held responsible for the same.

(2.) Parade.—All officers, N.C.O.'s and men except those specially employed, will parade in drill hall at 9 a.m. and 2 p.m.

(3.) Duties.—The following officers will do duty with "A" Company until further orders: Lieut. R. B. Brooks, Lieut. T. W. Quinn and Lieut. J. F. Strickland.

(4.)—Recruiting.—The following officers will report to Capt. J. Belton at 9 a.m., Jan. 3: Lieut. S. J. Dunsford, Lieut. W. H. Moore, Lieut. R. G. Johnston, Lieut. C. G. Shaw.

(5.)—Duties. — Orderly officer for Wednesday, Jan. 3rd, 1917, Lieut. F. J. Hayes.

Orderly officer for Thursday, Jan. 4, Lieut. R. B. Brooks; next for duty: Lieut. J. F. Strickland.

A. E. Brittain, U.S., 247th O.S. Batt.

The Kingston Standard Says:

Since men began to return to Kingston from the front, they have been wearing a variety of badges and distinctive marks, which compel even the best military authority to ask many questions as to their meaning and significance. Some of these badges and marks are official, and some are unofficial, but permitted by the Imperial War Office.

There are two kinds of buttons used by men who have been overseas. One is worn by men who have been to the front, and the other by men ho were unable to proceed beyond England. At first glance these look somewhat alike, but a close inspection will reveal the fact that there is a difference in their markings. The man who has been to the front wears a button with a "Union Jack" in the form of a shield in the centre. The man who has only been to England wears a button of the same size, but with the "Union Jack" in the form of a flag proper. Both centre pieces are in coloured enamel.

Then there is the gold strips worn lengthwise on the left sleeve which indicates that the wearer has been wounded. For each separate wound received in a separate battle the soldier is entitled to wear a gold stripe. The stripe is to be worn on uniform only, but no objection is being raised to it being worn on mufti.

Some soldiers wear patches of color on the back or on the sleeve, just below the shoulder. These are distinguishing marks adopted by different divisions at the front, and make it possible to know the particular division to which the wearer belongs without asking any questions.

The Princess Pats adopted a narrow badge worn on each arm just below the shoulder with the letters "P P.C.L.I." in white. Since then many other battalions have imitated this mark. The Welsh Fusiliers in the old land are allowed to wear a bunch of black ribbons called a "flush" hanging from the left of the tunic collar.

In addition to a division patch worn on the arm, some wear a brigade patch, and where the patches of different color are seen on the arm of a returned soldier on the streets of Kingston, they indicate the division and brigade to which the wearer belongs.

The buttons given to returned soldiers are handed to the men in Quebec, at the discharge depot. The returned soldier also wears an identification tag, which makes it possible to easily recognize casualties. This is supposed to be worn around the neck, but many have had it made in silver and wear it around the wrist fastened with a silver chain.

EAST CITY RINK

Good skating to-night and band in attendance. Admission 10c.

Brock St. Rink No Skating To-night

Owing to the soft weather there will be no skating at Brock Street rink to-night. Since the Rink opened this season this is the first occasion there has not been ice. Last year the week between Christmas and New Years was an entire blank so far as ice was concerned.

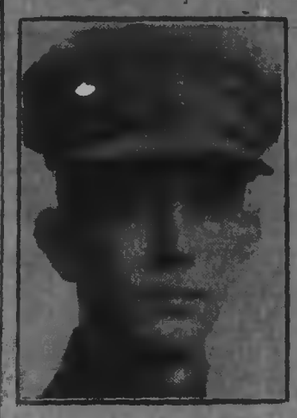
Is Organist of St. James' Church

Mr. Harry Hill has been appointed organist and choir leader of St. James' Methodist Church. He studied under Mr. John Renwick, who now has three graduates filling important church directorships in this city.

SOCIAL DANCING CLASS.

The social dancing class which was postponed last night, will meet to-night in the Conservatory Hall.

British League In The Fight To Stay



SERGT. LORNE L. HICKS.—Instructor of Radia Telegraphy at Kingston, a Peterborough boy who has important duty in signalling training.

NATIONAL SERVICE CARDS RECEIVED IN LARGE NUMBERS

Rural Communities are Being Covered by the R. F. D. Carriers through the Surrounding Townships — Response from East City, very Satisfactory.

"NO BOOZE NO FIGHT" WRITTEN ON TWO CARDS

The collection of the National Service cards has made a promising beginning. The East City postman returned yesterday with what was estimated at more than two thirds of the cards distributed, and it is expected that the most of the remainder will be offered on a second call. There were quite a few residences in which the residents were not "at home," but this is not a suggestion that they were following the social frosty custom. Cards from the south end routes are also in, and the general report of the first collection is entirely satisfactory. Two cards from East City men bore a blue-pencilled inscription "No Booze, No Fight."

The distribution of cards is not merely within the city. They have been sent out on the ten rural mail routes that radiate from the local post office one of which extends thirty miles up through Smith township, and another reaches to Lakehurst. They circulate through the various townships and are expected to thoroughly cover the southern section of the county at least. From these facts it becomes evident that Postmaster Edgar and his staff have a large job on their hands, and furthermore an idea is conveyed of the magnitude of the task that confronts the department. In the rural communities the work of delivery and collection likewise falls upon the "posties" and assumes a tedious and big job.

Men who fill out the cards and seal the envelopes are requested to write their names and addresses on the upper left hand corner. This is simply to facilitate the checking of the envelopes received at the Post Office.

In a number of cases the person filling in the card has forgotten to put his name on same. As this is a most important part of registration it is desired that all men see that their names are on the cards, with the addresses.

Kindly watch your districts as described in last night's paper and have your cards ready for the collectors. All cards must be returned by Monday (not later.) All not then returned will be reported to Ottawa. If you are short of cards or envelopes, kindly ask your carrier for the number required. He has a supply and will be pleased to oblige you.

District collected to-morrow (Thursday) will be London street and south to Brock, west to Park. Also south to Charlotte, west of Bethune and east of Park street. Kindly have all your cards ready.

BIG YARN SALE

Thurs., Fri. and Sat., Jan. 4th 5th and 6th.

Bonner-Worth Yarns, the biggest value for your money. Reg. $1.60 and $1.75 per lb., now $1.29 in all colours.

Lavoie Knitters
82 Hunter St
4d-1 East of St. John's Church

New Regime in Kitchener Has Started Out Auspiciously With the Water Commission Using the Name Berlin on Its Bills.

CONSIDERED AN INSULT

KITCHENER, Ont., Jan. 3.— At a meeting of the Executive committee last night it was decided that the British League should still continue its work.

"While beaten at the polls we will still carry on the fight for the British cause," declared W. G. Clegborn, chairman and one of the defeated aldermen after the meeting.

"We are beaten but not conquered and we still have the whole Dominion and the British flag behind us."

The new regime has not started auspiciously with the first act of the Water Commissioners, who have sent out bills bearing the date line on them "Berlin, January 1, 1917." The Teutonish element considered it another insult. "No, I'll not pay them," exclaimed one man vehemently. "Not even if they sue me." "Even then I'll protest against it."

It is also pointed out that not a single man in the new Council was a son in khaki.

Mayor-elect David Gross, Jr., told your correspondent to-day that the sole desire of the new council was for better civic government, better housing and no rechange of name. "We hope to be able, with the assistance of the people, to promote better housing, and while our opponents were willing to fight on a name change question by my desire it was never made an issue at this election. I was opposed as a British citizen, to name controversy as an issue in an election or as long as we need united effort to prosecute war to a successful conclusion."

"I am as good a citizen as any to the British empire," he went on, "and it is wrong to say that the people of Kitchener are pro-German. Some of the people here still have a feeling for the land of their birth, but the majority of these, some of whom have lived here for 40 years, were deprived of their votes, because they were not naturalised."

Mr. Gross explained why he changed name change. The name Berlin had come to mean something, he declared, on manufactured goods it stood for good stuff. "Berlin was well known. The people will to swallow that change in a will. We've been proud of the name. Why can't we be British with our name."

KITCHENER, Ont., Jan. 3.— [illegible] more the plate glass windows of the News-Record paid toll for its popularity with some people here. [illegible] a.m. this morning a brick thrown by unknown hand, was hurled through when the soldier's back was turned. There was no attempt at a renewal of rioting and the night otherwise passed quietly but one night does not make Kitchener's trouble and the arrival of the soldiers of the 118th Battalion on their last leave next week is looked forward to with interest.

FIREMEN'S SERVICES WERE 'APPRECIATED

LINDSAY, Jan. 3. — The Lindsay Fire Brigade have been highly praised in a number of instances and for their efficient work at several fires.

Besides the grant of $4 [illegible] to a man from Peterborough city [illegible] received some days ago, they have also received ten dollars each from the Quaker Oats Co., with an appreciative letter of thanks and appreciation.

Besides this grant the Fire Brigade received the following letter from Mr. Arthur G. H. Knowlson, of New York enclosing a check for twenty-five dollars for the Lindsay Firemen's Benevolent Association.

TO-DAY'S INDEX

Page 1—War News and Market Reports.
Page 2—Serial story.
Page 3—Stories of the War.
Page 5—General News.
Page 5—War and Local Military News.
Page 6—Editorial.
Page 7—Our Daily Short Story.
Page 8—Meeting of the Board of Education.
Page 9—"The Mountain" at St. Paul's Church.
Page 10—General News.
Page 11—Sport Gossip.
Page 12—Local News.

REMEMBER.

When your eyes become tired, don't over work them. If they become sore quickly you should have them attended to before they become worse. If you have a broken lens that can be duplicated quickly and accurately, a mount or frame that needs repairing, let Dr. Tassy do it, 420 Hunter street.

Evening Examiner

Published by The Examiner Printing Co., Limited, Business Office 360, Editorial Rooms 363, Private Exchange to all Departments.

Paid Circulation of The Daily Examiner is Over

5200 COPIES DAILY

SWORN TO AND GUARANTEED

The Daily Examiner, published every afternoon except Sunday by the Peterborough Examiner, Limited, Office, 346 George St.

The Weekly Examiner, published Thursday morning.

The subscription price of the Daily Examiner is $3.00 per annum; that of The Weekly [illegible].

Foreign Representatives: Dominion Special Agency, Limited, Tribune Bldg.—Chicago, Tribune Bldg.—New York.

Advertising rates on application.

A. M. Huston, Managing Director.

"Peterborough Presents Possibilities Unsurpassed."

WEDNESDAY, JAN. 3, 1917

THE KITCHENER AFFAIR.

The action of some visiting soldiers in attacking in a riotous manner a newspaper office in Kitchener, is a regrettable incident in a country where law and order are the general characteristics of the people. The background, however, of this discreditable occurrence is much more discreditable than the occurrence. There are many cross currents in the details of the present situation in Kitchener, where the change of name of the city from Berlin, the name of the capital of Prussia, the head and front of offending of what is known as German militarism and all of evil it implies was the cause of considerable ill-feeling between the loyalists of the city and those who sympathized with Prussia and the German cause. In the recent elections candidates were put up by the "British League," organized to foster British sentiment and uphold British institutions and another set of candidates by the Citizen League, organized to foster and make political capital out of the so-called anti-British sentiment in the city. Before we have given the explanation of the strength of the German influence in Kitchener, which, united with the party element, resulted in the pro-German candidates making a sweeping success in the elections.

The political factor is given as the disturbing influence that keeps Kitchener in turmoil over the underlying object the changing of the British name of Kitchener to the Prussian name of Berlin. In support of this idea is the fact that political influence in Ottawa by with the government at Ottawa power to block the objectionable deputation, visiting the city in the interests of the change of name and in the recent contest through the name-changing organ, the News-Record, the offensive journal of the city has been striking hand in hand with the pro-German admirers and sympathizers, who have been able to plot secretly and work openly through lax government oversight, to insult British sentiment and to restore a name typical of the fact of Prussian militarism and of the work against which Canadian soldiers are to-day fighting and dying. The local Conservative organ, therefore, came in for some hard knocks from the visiting soldiers, when an attack was made in front of its office to pull down the flag they were carrying through the streets. The soldiers, evidently knew and read for themselves that the party organ was in sympathy with the "Citizen League" specifically organized to defeat in the elections of 1917 the aldermen who had been identified with the adoption of a British name for a British city, and to substitute aldermen who would take immediate steps to discard the British name and substitute the German name with all its disgraceful significance. Though the new Board of Aldermen may be willing enough to do this; though their political friends who have helped them to the power may facilitate and condon such action no government will feel it a pleasant thing to do to sanction the perpetration of such an outrage. There is limits to the complaisance of the people. They have tolerated the indifference in the Borden government of affairs, representing Naturation sentiment and anti-British sentiment and action that has done so much to help recruiting in Quebec; but the people will hardly stand the outrage implied in the change of a good British name the name of Britain's greatest naval hero, for the name of the capital of a country that was doubtless proud of his tragic death. Kitchener's name is now, and Kitchener's remain or thousands of loyal Canadians will know the

CANADA FOR THE CANADIANS.

It seems to be a cause of gratification in the matter of Canada's development to have statistics show us that the imports of Canada have increased nearly 200 million dollars since the year 1914, though her exports show nearly a double increase. Of course war conditions very largely account for both increases. One feature of the figure of imports and an associated fact, however, furnish cause for humiliation as a reflection upon the national enterprise, and national sense of responsibility.

The year before the war, which, of course necessarily greatly stimulated importation of the raw material of munitions, Canada in the fiscal year before the war—1913-14 imported iron and steel manufactured goods to a value of more than 115 million dollars. These immense imports should not be possible—but if so, not for long—in a country, so rich in ores and coal, and electric energy, necessary for their smelting and for their industrial conversion into the ultimate commercial forms.

We need stimulating and rousing to a sense of our position and possibilities in ways the war has shown possible in the matter of steel production. Col. Thomas Cantley president of the Nova Scotia Steel Company shows what Canada can do in regard to steel production, under stimulus of patriotism and duty. Canada's production of steel in 1916, exceeded by 250,000 tons that of the year 1913, Canada's highest year of steel production. The possible disproportion of coal deposits to the possible output of our iron mines, is, to a large extent removed by our excess of electrical power. Col. Cantley tells us of the increased and very important use of electricity in the production of steel, a means which has had little employment or attention till recently. In 1916 about forty thousand tons of steel were produced by the use of electricity.

When the war is over Canada will be called upon to meet the larger demands that will come for iron and steel. We should "lay pipes" to produce what we need at least, for our own industrial and economic purposes with proper initiative and directing power and help from our government. We can in this make large use of our electric resources. We can conserve and develop them to be one great agency of realising the policy of Canada for Canadians; the policy of producing in our own country, everything that we need—the policy of developing by refinement process all our mineral wealth to the semi-finished state and the policy of manufacturing articles of iron and steel and silver and gold and nickel and articles into which the latter enters in a way to give Canada the greatest possible advantage in the employment of labour capital and associated interests.

We can apply this to our nickel, to our pulpwood and with advantage especially to the smelting of our iron ores. The point of objection to Canadian iron ores is the excess of sulphur. In converting iron into steel, electric treatment is especially adapted to dealing satisfactorily with this excess. The necessity of developing and utilising our wide-spread and abundant water power to produce electricity, does not demand special insistence.

We are making tremendous sacrifices to maintain Canada as integral part of the empire. To maintain Canada at her best or bring Canada to her best is the logical sequence to the maintenance of her political and territorial integrity. If Canada is worth fighting for she should be made her best and her best can only be reached by making the country self-sustained in all repects practicable in relation to the rest of the world. This, of course, the nature of things prevents from being fully realized; but there does not seem much limit to the possibility of successful and general applications of the policy that demands that all the resources of Canada should be developed, refined or treated in a way to bring them to their ultimate or approximately ultimate commercial conditions in Canada and by Canadians. We should refine our nickel, smelt our ores, grind our grains, manufacture our pulpwood, all to the highest practical degree within Canada by our own skill, by our own labour by as far practicable our own capital.

A CALL OR LEADERSHIP.

The necessity for reconstruction of the Canadian Government is in the public mind and cannot be put away. There is dissatisfaction with the Government. It is not a partizan dissatisfaction, not a desire for a change from the rule of one party to the rule of another. It is simply a desire for greater efficiency, greater energy, a more adequate expression and representation of the public desire that Canada shall increase its effort for the common cause. The Prime Minister and his colleagues will not make any move toward reconstruction. The only important change is one forced upon them by the resignation of Sir Sam Hughes. The change made was the least possible change, following the line of least resistance. —Toronto Star.

GLOBE'S SUMMARY OF THE GLOBE'S SPLENDID FINANCIAL SURVEY OF NINETEEN-SIXTEEN

The facts presented by the Financial Editor of the Globe and the experts who have contributed to the survey of the past year prove that Canada is standing the financial strain of the great war in a wonderful way. Three years ago, when the real estate boom in the West was seen to be on the point of collapse, and when the vast railway construction programmes of the transcontinental lines were approaching completion, there were many pessimists abroad in the land. It was feared by not a few students of business conditions not temperamentally pessimistic that Canada might have to pass through a period of hard times before the increase of production expected to follow the opening up of great new areas in the West would provide the interest on her tremendous investment in transportation and city building.

Before the pinch was seriously felt except in a number of over-built western cities the war broke out. The surplus labour of the Dominion was speedily swept into the army, and as recruiting proceeded tens of thousands of men who could ill be spared were withdrawn from the farms, the mines, and the factories to take their places in the armies of the Allies. Since August, 1914, Canada has embodied almost four hundred thousand men—the most robust and vigorous of her male population. Yet, in face of the great shortage of labour thereby brought about, the production of almost all the staple products of the Dominion has been maintained on a level with that of the record years of the past, and in the metallurgical industries has tremendously increased.

The chief falling off in volume in 1916 was in the western grain crop, but the decrease there was due to weather conditions, and not to the failure of the grain-growers in either sowing or reaping. While the total yield of all cereals in western Canada was only half a billion bushels, as compared with three-quarters of a billion in the record year of 1915, the value of the harvest of 1916 was $426,000,000, or $35,000,000 more than the value of the much larger crop of 1915. The increase in he price not only of grain and food-stuffs generally but of all commodities, has made an extraordinary change in foreign trade conditions. So recently as 1914, in the eleven months of the calendar year ending November 30, the imports into the Dominion exceeded the exports by over $60,000,000. The country not only failed to pay with surplus exports the $125,000,000 or $130,000,000 required to meet the annual interest on public and private borrowings from abroad, but was adding to its indebtedness to the extent of the excess of imports over exports. To-day that is all changed. In the eleven months of the year 1916 ending on November 30 the excess of exports over imports was over $280,000,000, so that the people of the Dominion at the present time are not only paying by surplus exports the interest on their debts abroad, but at the rate of a hundred and fifty million dollars a year in reduction of the principal of their indebtedness.

The chief increase in exports has been in the form of shell and war material. Hundreds of millions of dollars' worth have already been shipped, and the production of shell during 1917 will probably average a million dollars a day, Sundays included, if the war lasts throughout the year. By this tremendous export of projectiles to the Allied nations Canada will in a considerable degree lessen her own external war debt, which is piling up at a very rapid rate. The net debt of the Dominion will be close to a billion dollars if the war lasts for another year, but a growingly large proportion of the debt is internal, and the interest will go to the thrifty people of the Dominion, instead of being paid in the form of exports to British and foreign investors.

There is need for thrift and economy in every department of the national life and in the case of the individual. The burdens imposed by the war have been borne without undue strain, but they are nevertheless great. They will continue to press upon the Canadian people long after shell-making has ceased, and when the prices of foodstuffs have declined to normal. The pinch will then come. Every dollar saved now, every extravagance cut out, every public work deferred, every improvement in productive methods introduced, will make it easier for the Dominion to emerge from the war financially strong, self-reliant, and looking unafraid upon the future.

COUNTERFEIT TREATIES.

"If you want to ask about the war, I can say nothing. Thank you. But when anyone offers a scrap of paper you must think twice." This was the reply of M. Jusserand, French Ambassador to the United States when asked by a reporter what he thought of the peace proposals. The Belgian "scrap of paper" incident made the world "think twice." The second thought is still in the minds of the Allied nations, deepened to a conviction demanding that never again shall Germany, the outlaw, be permitted to utter spurious treaties.—London Advertiser.

CANADA'S FINANCIAL SITUATION.

The bank returns for the month of November are a remarkable index to the prosperity now reigning in Canada. They also indicate that Canada is quite capable of assisting still further in war financing. While Canada, with some help from American investors, has absorbed $200,000,000 war bonds during the past twelve months, she has added no less than $192,000,000 to her savings deposits in the banks, which now stand at the record total of $884,000,000. Business in all lines is good, and there is prospect of continued prosperity and activity for some time to come. Canada is in a sound position, and is well prepared to meet the difficult times which undoubtedly lie ahead, when the war ceases and readjustment begins. Until that time comes there should be the strictest economy in both private and public expenditure. Governments and municipal administrations in particular ought to be very chary of alienating large sums of money and valuable labour from productive enterprises. — Montreal Herald.

One of the Cavendishes.

The young Marquis of Hartington, who has consented to be the Coalition candidate for North-east Derbyshire, is following the Cavendish trail and entering politics early. It was only last month that he celebrated his majority, and if there is an election in the near future he will be the youngest member of the House of Commons. His father entered the House at the age of 23, when he, too, was the "baby" of the House.

The Cavendishes are not a military family, though it is to the first Duke that we owe one of our best cavalry regiments—the 7th Dragoon Guards, raised in 1688 by the then Earl of Devonshire. It bore his name for five years, when it was called Schomberg's Horse, and afterwards the Black Horse, the men being mounted on black horses.

Dangerous.

If a Maori wishes to speak words of insult to another Maori he calls his adversary some kind of food. Any kind will do, living or dead. One Maori chief once told another that he was a roast veal. Then he fled to the bush, hid in a cave, was tracked, captured, and beheaded.

The cave is still shown to visitors, and when Lord Kitchener was in New Zealand he was taken to it by a pretty Maori girl acting as guide. She told him the whole story, and at the conclusion the stern soldier's face softened into a smile as he said:

"Ah, then, I suppose it would be highly dangerous to call a Maori lady a little duck?"

ROMANCE OF GOLD.

How Greaves Sought Water and Found Gold.

For thirty years the memory of a piece of gold-studded ore haunted Richard Greaves, a famous West Australian prospector, who has died lately. It was in Western Australia, where he arrived in 1885, that "Dick" Greaves allowed the gold fever into his veins. For two years after his arrival in the State, and he tested it, and thereupon decided to find Beare and locate the place where the stone could be obtained. He never found Beare, nor did he find any more of Beare's stone.

To find gold in any stone, however, Greaves and his companion, Ted Paine, went out on their lonely prospecting trips. Success was denied them on several expeditions, but in October, 1887, they were rewarded, for in that month they discovered the first gold.

The story of the great find is simple, and, told in his own words, is as follows: "As water was getting scarce, and the country very dry, our work on that trip became a quest for water instead of gold. We got to a clay pan, but the water was thick and slimy. We had to set to and pull the dead kangaroos out. We decided to leave the dray and take the horses and test the country round. It was the best bit of country we had seen for prospecting, and so we struck it. Ted Paine struck a floater with a speck of gold in it. To find where it came from was the next move. On October 22nd I came upon the reef, and we took a lot of stone out with gold hanging to it." From that beginning the mining industry sprang into first-rate importance.

Prospectus Brings $1,575.

The only known copy of the prospectus issued by Robert Burns with a view to obtaining subscriptions for a proposed volume of poems—the now world-famous Kilmarnock edition, published in 1786—was sold recently at Sotheby's for £275 ($1,375).

Many autograph letters and other relics of the Scotch poet were disposed of. The trustees of the Burns cottage purchased for £98 ($490) an autograph letter to John McMurdoch, Chamberlain to the Duke of Queensberry.

Among the other Burns relics were an autograph poem "Sketch," for £98 ($490); an autograph letter to George H. Sutherland, playwright, for £200 ($1,000); the first draft of an "election ballad" for £220 ($1,100), and an autograph letter to "Dr. Moore, London," introducing a Mr. Nelson, for £150 ($750).

A first edition of "The Vicar of Wakefield," by Goldsmith, brought £80 ($400) at the sale. A first edition of "Waverley, or 'Tis Sixty Years Since," by Sir Walter Scott, in three volumes, sold for £150 ($750), and a collection of other first editions of his novels brought £120 ($600).

Renew your subscription.

LOCAL WANT ADS.

One cent a word first insertion. ½c for subsequent insertions. Minimum accepted ten cents for 10 words.

CONTRACT RATES.

One Issue 1c
Three Consecutive 3c
Six Consecutive 5c
Two Weeks 5c
Three Weeks 7c
One Month or Over 20c a word a month.
Out-of-town orders, to insure insertion, must be accompanied by cash or stamps.

COMMERCIAL ADS.

Commercial Advertising Rates on application to Examiner Office or to any recognized advertising agency in Canada, Great Britain or the United States.

EXAMINER PHONES

Business Office and Advertising
1600
Business Mgr. and Advertising Mgr
1600
Editorial Department.
1601
Private Telephone Exchange

TRANSIENT ADS.

Birth and Other Notices, 50c; Memorial and Marriage Notices, 50c.

Transient Displays, Entertainments, Auction Sales, etc., 25c per inch. Reading Notices 50 cents per inch. Black Locals 25 cents per inch.

SUBSCRIPTION RATES

DAILY EXAMINER—Delivered by carriers to any address in the city 25 cents a month; by mail to any address in Canada and Great Britain, 25 cents a month, or $3.00 a year; to the United States, $4 a year. Payable in advance.

WEEKLY EXAMINER in Canada $1.50; to the United States $1.50.

Australia's "Slackers."

Australia has recruiting troubles also. The Sydney, N. S. W., Herald says on the subject:

As a member of the recruiting staff put it—something will have to be done. "Look at the trams going to the race course last Saturday!" he said: "They were packed to suffocation with young men all, or rather the majority, of military age. They had already seen the cables telling of the fight in the North Sea, but that would not appeal to them. It was the most disgusting sight I ever witnessed, and yet these people arrogate to themselves the name of sports. While these young able-bodied men, who should be forced into the firing line if they won't volunteer, were going out to back their fancy in thousands, we had an example which would shame them if they were capable of shame. A white-haired man came into the office and unblushingly gave his age as 44 years and 11 months. 'Just in time,' he said, 'can't help my hair being white; that was due to a shock.' We passed him through only to learn the next day that his real age was 70. That would make a good story for the 'real sports' in Pitt Street to-day, who come to settle up and collect their winnings, but you can't do anything except conscription with these 'real sports.' What would make them blush would make an ordinary man leave the country."

TO RENT

TO LET—LARGE, WELL HEATED, FURnished front room. Apply 673 Division street. 3d-151-671

TO RENT—HOUSE, 7 ROOMS; ALL CONveniences; pleasant location. Apply at Examiner for address. 6d-2-666

FOR RENT—6 ROOMED HOUSE, WARM—rent $6.00 month. Apply 63 Robinson Street, Harry Morgan. 6d-150-634

FOR RENT—HOUSE 231 McDONNEL (COR. Aylmer), 8 rooms, hardwood floors, gas and conveniences. Apply Wednesday afternoon and evening. 5d-151-668

TO RENT—FURNISHED SUITE OF TWO rooms and bath; very central; steam heat, electric light; suitable for two gentlemen. Box 670 Examiner Office. 3d-152-670

GOOD OFFICE OR STORE WITH WATER connection and heated, possession at once. Apply 203 Charlotte St. dtf-31-579

FOR RENT—NO. 39 WATER STREET, suitable for store or office, immediate possession. Apply 427 George street. dtf-6

FOR RENT—STORE No. 185½ SIMCOE ST. Immediate possession. Apply 427 George Street. dtf.

LOST

LOST DURING THE CHRISTMAS WEEK a Club Bag lettered L.E.M. Reward if left at Examiner. 3d-152

LOST—ON SATURDAY—AN ALASKA SABle Muff, on street car. Finder please leave at the Examiner office. 3d-1-702

LOST—THREE $1.00 BILLS ON GEORGE Street on Saturday evening. Please leave at the Examiner. 3d-1-695

LOST—BETWEEN HUNTER ST. BRIDGE and the Court House, two steel fobs. Finder kindly phone 195. Reward. 3d-1-702

LOST—PAIR OF LARGE SNOW SHOES ON Chemong Road last Saturday. Finder please leave at Examiner. 3d-2-706

LOST—FIRE CHAIN OFF FORD CAR ON George or Charlotte streets. Reward at Examiner Office. 6d-2-710

LOST—ON SUNDAY AFTERNOON ON THE way to Keene a black Buffalo Robe. Finder please return to Jas. Grady, 204 Charlotte street. Reward. 'Phone 165. 3d-1-1w-697

LOST—ON TUESDAY EVENING BEtween 173 Wescott Street and 221 Perry street via G.T.R. track, a pocket book containing a considerable sum of money. Finder please leave at Examiner. 3d-2-725

BOARDERS WANTED

BOARDERS WANTED—CENTRAL — ALL conveniences. Terms Moderate. Apply 146 Bethune street. 6d-149-662

BOARDERS WANTED—GOOD BOARD & all conveniences. Apply 188 Aylmer St. 3d-151-668

WANTED

WANTED—WOMAN TO SCRUB OUT OFfice. Apply at the Examiner Office.

WANTED—GOOD PLAIN COOK WANTS go-ition with private family to do house work. Apply Box 729 Examiner. 3d-1-709

WANTED— A SECOND HAND SET OF single bob sleighs; give price and particulars. Box 673 Examiner. 3d-152-673

WANTED — MACHINE OPERATORS ON Whitewear; also two girls, 14 to 17 years for light work. Gemmell & Company, 216 Charlotte Street. 3d-1-709

WANTED—A FIRST CLASS CHEESE AND Butter maker for Warsaw factory; duties to commence in April. Apply stating salary and wherefrom, to Arthur Edwards, Secretary, Warsaw, Ont. 4d-1-709

WANTED—A GOOD BOOK-BINDER—Apply at the Examiner Office, Peterboro.

BABY GOING WEST WANTS THREE feather beds, blanket; cash price paid. Not quilted. 215 Charlotte street. 3d-2-726

WANTED — FURNISHED UNFURNISHED flat or unfurnished rooms suitable for light housekeeping. Apply Box 725 Examiner Office. 3d-2-725

FOR SALE

CLEARING OUT SALE OF GENT'S SUITS, overcoats, several good gent's fur collars. JAY'S store, Aylmer street. 6d-d

FOR SALE—CANADA MALLEABLE steel ranges and repairs. 205 Simcoe street. 'Phone 1456. 22d-122-683

FOR SALE—PETRIE "HANDY" PLANING Mill, nearly new; first class shape; cheap for quick sale. Address Box 705 Examiner office. 3d-1-705

UNDERWOOD NO. 5 LATEST MODEL, two color ribbon, back spacer. For sale cheap to a quick buyer Apply to Box 4661 Examiner. 22d-122-661

FOR SALE—BLACKSMITH'S OUTFIT FOR sale, on the premises of the late John Halpin, 211 Hunter Street. Sale commencing January 3rd, and ending January 10th. 6d-1-690

PRIVATE SALE OF HOUSEHOLD FURniture. Bedroom suite and dining room suite and other sundry things; practically new. Apply to 505 Cedar Street. 3d-152-680

CHEAP LOTS—IN BLOCK H, ASHBURNham, on Dufferin, Roger, Elgin streets; $6 per foot, $60 down $10 per quarter till paid for. Interest only 5 per cent. Land dry, sightly, healthy, also on McDonnel St., Peterborough. Apply to Trumble & Johnston 6mos-91-917

HELP WANTED—MALE

WANTED—MAN OR BOY TO SHOVEL snow and attend to the duties. Apply to —Examiner Office for address. 3d-2-734

HELP WANTED—Female

WANTED — A GOOD CAPABLE GIRL — good wages. Apply 31 Crescent street. 12d-143-626

GIRL WANTED—GOOD WAGES. APPLY at once at 319 Maitland Ave. 3d-1-715

WAITRESS AND PASTRY GIRL WANTed. Apply to Mrs. Colson, Oriental Hotel. 3d-1-698

WANTED—A COMPETENT MAID FOR general house work. Apply 740 George street. 3d-2-740

A DINING ROOM GIRL WANTED—GOOD wages. Apply to Mrs. Foster, Tombleance House, 62 Hunter Street. 3d-2-718

WANTED—GIRL TO ASSIST WITH THE housework. Apply 269 Pearl Avenue. 2d-1-689

WANTED—A GOOD GENERAL SERVANT —Apply Mrs. D. Hall, 25 Dublintown Ave. 6d-151-663

WANTED—GIRL FOR HOUSEWORK. APply Montgomery House. 3d-2-742

WANTED—AN EXPERIENCED GENERAL Servant for family of two; good wages. Apply to Phone 1289 or 294 Park St. 3d-1-690

MAID WANTED AT ONCE—FAMILY OF four, no children, good home, every convenience, twenty dollars per month. Fare paid to Toronto. Must be cleanly in habits. Apply giving full particulars as to age, ability, etc., Mrs. H. W. Snellpiece, 156 Dunn Avenue Toronto. 3d-2

OVER 50 DAILY EARNED EARNED AT home on Auto-Knitters; knitting Wool Socks, unexpired basic country, distance immaterial. Enclose three cent stamp to day for contract form. Dept. 350 Auto Knitter Co., College street, Toronto. 26d-w-2

VULCANIZING

NOW IS THE TIME TO HAVE YOUR Vulcanizing done. Reliable steam vulcanizing and tube repairing done promptly. —CITY MANNING GARAGE, 332 Water Street. 'Phone 1267 6d-87-669

MONUMENTAL WORK

WE RESPECTFULLY SOLICIT YOUR ORder for Cemetery Work of any kind. Latest equipment; first class Scotch granite used. Coughlin's Monumental Works, 344 Water Street. 'Phone 1291 dtf-44-6

HOOPER'S REPAIR SHOP

NEVER TOO LATE TO MEND.

WHEN YOUR BICYCLE NEEDS DOCTORing, cutlery needs sharpening or grinding, sewing machine needs overhauling, household breaks mended or small brass or iron turning done, we know how. Gasoline engine work a specialty. 232 Charlotte street, opposite Snowden House. 22d-97-668

HAIR DRESSING

MANICURING, HAIR DRESSING AND massaging. Hair braids, switches, up-to-date line of hair ornaments. Make an appointment now.—MISS E. SMITH, Opera House Block. 'Phone 1182 120-91-39

SOCIETIES

CHILDREN'S AID SOCIETY of Peterborough City and County For the care of neglected and ill-treated children C. A. G. SPENCE Assistant Secretary and Inspector 131 Simcoe Street. 'Phone 1046 Office Hours 3 till 5 Children for Adoption.

PATENTS

GORDON & WIDDIFIELD, Barristers, Solicitors, Patent Applications receive careful attention. Offices, Cor. George and Hunter streets.

H. J. B. BENNISON, 18 WEST KING ST., Toronto: Experts in Patents, Trade marks, designs, Copyrights and Infringements. Write us for Booklet. dtf-4

BABCOCK & SONS

Patents, Trade Marks, Designs, Registered Patent Attorneys, Established 1877. Formerly Patent Office Examiner. Master of Patent Laws. Representatives in all foreign countries. Write for book, "Patent Protection." Tells all about and how to obtain Patents. 99-84 James St., Montreal. Branches: Ottawa, Washington.

SECOND-HAND STORES

FURNITURE, STOVES, and Household Goods sold on Commission, Exchanged or Bought for Cash. Storage room to let at reasonable rates. M. T. BUTCHER, 346 & 348 Water St.

A. CHERNIKOFF

Will Buy and Sell New and Second-Hand Goods of all Kinds. Best Prices Paid. Big Bargains in Cook Stoves and all kinds of Heaters at Chernikoffs. Men's Suits and Overcoats at prices that fits the cost of making.

150-452 George Street 'Phone 859

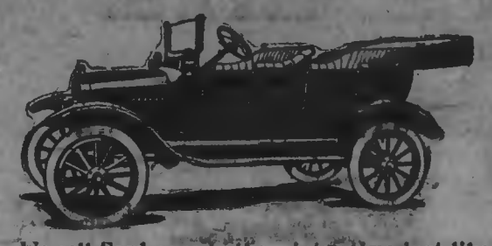
SECOND HAND FURNITURE, STOVES, etc.

Bought and sold. Entire Household Furniture or pieces bought. We know the value. Telephone and we will call.

S. COHEN 150 GEORGE ST., PHONE 1326

Ford Touring Car

$495 F. O. B. Ford, Ont.



We sell Ford cars in the winter time just like any other season in the year, because the Ford is not afraid of snow, ice or rough, slippery roads when you need it.

While the bigger heavier cars are all safely housed up waiting for spring, the Ford Touring Car gives the full 12 month, of service, 365 days in the year. This is an advantage you can't overlook when you are buying.

Make your selection now from our new models

THE DUFFUS GARAGE

Jos. J. Duffus, Prop.

195 SIMCOE STREET PHONE 255

MONEY TO LOAN.

GORDON & WIDDIFIELD, Barristers, Solicitors, Notaries, Solicitors for the City of Peterborough.

MEDICAL

DR. BUCHANAN, F.R.C.S., Edin., M.R.C.S., Eng., L.R.C.P. London. Eye, Ear, Nose and Throat Specialist. Hours 9:11 a.m., 2-4 p.m., 7-8 p.m. 'Phone 819. Office: Corner of Water and Murray streets.

DR. E. E. HARVEY, Silver Medalist University of Toronto. Special attention to diseases of women and children. Office hours: 1:30 to 3 p.m., 7-8 p.m. 'Phone 321. Office 213 Brock Street.

DR. L. P. W. ROSS, Ex-House Surgeon, Grace Hospital, Toronto. Residence:—Keene, Ont.

BARRISTERS AND SOLICITORS

GORDON & WIDDIFIELD, Barristers, Solicitors, Notaries, Solicitors for the City of Peterborough.

BENNET & GOODWILL—Barristers, Solicitors, etc. No. 276 Water Street, Peterborough. Telephone No. 191. J. W. Bennet; E. L. Goodwill.

BUDDY & BURNHAM—Barristers, Solicitors, Notaries, Money to Loan Offices 364 Water street, corner Water and Brock.
Robert Beddy, K.C., J. H. Burnham, M.P.

C. W. HATTON, County Crown Attorney, Barrister, Solicitor. Trust Funds to Loan at lowest current rates of interest on easy terms of repayment.

J. R. CORKERY, Barrister, Solicitor, etc., Commerce Building. Money to loan at lowest rates of interest.

PECK, KERR & McELDERRY—Barristers, Solicitors and Notaries. Offices 415 Water Street, Peterborough. Money to Loan at lowest current rates of interest on easy terms of repayment.
H. A. Peck, K.C., W. D. Kerr, V. J. McElderry.

D. O'CONNELL—Barrister, Solicitor and Notary, Hunter street, two doors west of the Post Office. Daniel O'Connell.

DUMBLE & JOHNSTON—Barristers, Solicitors &c. Office over Toronto Savings and Loan Company, 432 George street. D. W. Dumble, K.C. W. J. Johnston.

A. E. DIXON—Barrister, Solicitor, etc. Offices Corner Hunter and George Sts. Entrance next Madill's Drug Store.

HALL & HALL—Barristers, Solicitors and Notaries Public, Hunter Street, Peterborough. Next to St. John's Church. Money to loan at lowest rates of interest.
H. H. D. Hall Basil D. Hall

MOORE & WEARING, Barristers and Solicitors, 185½ Hunter Street (entrance first hallway west of post office.) Money to loan at lowest rates. W. E. Moore, K.C., Joseph Wearing, M.A.

G. A. LANGLEY—Barrister, Solicitor, Notary Public, etc. County Magistrate. Office, Peterborough, Ont., 435 George St. 'Phone 114; Lakefield, Ont. (afternoons.) 'Phones. Office 21; Residence 44.

R. S. HALL—Barrister, Solicitor, etc., Peterborough, Ont. Office, corner Hunter and Water streets over Canadian Bank of Commerce. Successors to Hall Madill & Davidson. Trust funds to loan on easy terms of payment.

ARCHITECTS

W. BLACKWELL, Architect and Civil Engineer. Plans and estimates made for churches, public buildings and dwelling houses. Buildings heating and plumbing a specialty. Office, 373 Water Street Peterborough.

OSTEOPATHY

DR. ASA G. WAMSLEY—Osteopathic Physician. Office in Sun Life Building, Corner of Hunter and Water streets. Entrance, 194 Hunter street. 'Phones: Office, 697; Residence, 697. Office hours, 9 to 12 a.m., 2 to 4 p.m. Evenings by appointment.

DR. MARY E. DAVIDSON, Osteopathic Physician. Office—No. 6 over Bank of Commerce. Entrance on Hunter st Water "Phone: Office: 23 to 12 a.m., 2 to 5 p.m. Evenings by appointment. 'Phone 1405.

EDWIN ELCOME
— TAXIDERMIST —

HEADS, ANIMALS, BIRDS, FISH, ETC. mounted artistically and promptly
HEADS OF MOOSE, CARIBOU AND DEER,
Heads, Animals, Birds, Fish, Artificial Eyes, Taxidermists Supplies, Bird and Mouse Guide Books for sale.

692 HARVEY STREET
PETERBOROUGH ONTARIO

Toronto Savings & Loan Comp'y

Head Office—587 George St., Peterboro

Paid Up Capital.. $1,000,000.00
Reserve Fund..... $900,000.00
Total Assets $3,884,642.13

Deposits received of One Dollar and upwards.

Interest (paid quarterly) accrues from date of deposit to date of withdrawal.

Every facility and convenience is afforded Depositors.

Debentures — For sums of One Hundred Dollars and upwards this institution issues Debentures bearing a special rate of interest for which half-yearly interest Coupons are attached. These Debentures are issued in terms of from one to five years as desired.

Executors and Trustees are authorized by law to invest in the Debentures of this Company.

W. G. MORROW
Managing Director
Peterboro, Dec. 1st., 1916

LUMBER

BUILDERS' MATERIALS of all kinds. Shingles, Scantlings, Joist and Bill Stuff, Mouldings, Casings, Base and all kinds of Finish. Boxes and Box Shooks, Make Shift Mill Wood.

Alf. McDonald Estate
POINT ST. CHARLES MILL

OUR DAILY SHORT STORY

LUBBER LAST

By Grace H. Boutelle

Ever since they had come to Perkinsville De Peyster and his mother had failed to adjust their respective standpoints to a mutual harmony.

To begin with, it was spring. With the delicious odor of resinous smoke from the boughs that had banked the house assailing one's nostrils, who could resist joining the dancing silhouettes that circled the bonfire and daring one's fate by leaping across it in swaggering competition as the flames died down?

But the drew lurid pictures of his certain fate if he should repeat the offense. Blind defiance rose insurgent within him—he would go! And then all of a sudden he remembered what his father said and hung his head to think how those grave, kind eyes of his would look at him now.

"Take good care of mamma," he had said at the last. "You must be her big brother and never let her worry about you, she's so little and delicate." And then he had whispered over two or three times, "My pretty little wife—my dear little girl!"

And De Peyster had tried with all his might to remember. But often it did seem as if it would have been a little easier if she could have understood that one was disgraced if one did not keep neck and neck with "the other fellows" in every prank they played.

There was a long and weary period of dooryard discipline after this episode. There were a good many times when De Peyster had to clinch his fists as tight as he could and remember his father very hard.

By and by June came, quivering with gold green sunlight, perfumed with a universal blossoming and pungent with the joy of living. At this time every true boy thrills with the half realized rapture of it all and finds the fullest expression of his ecstasy in going swimming.

Every bright morning in some part of the town there was sure to be a group of boys toeing a line, their necks bobbing eagerly forward and their bodies giving anticipatory jerks and twitches as they waited for the word. When the leader said "Go!" they darted forth, and there was a kaleidoscopic and dissolving view of legs racing madly down a side street that led to the river. Then collars came off, coats followed, as they ran with undiminished speed, the fellow who was farthest ahead sometimes slowing up with magnificent daring to get off his shoes and stockings while the others were still hampered by shirts and trousers, and by the time they tumbled in headlong competition over the bank the nimblest carried their entire wardrobe on their arms and flashed whitely into the water while the laggers fumbled at their shoe lacings. The unfortunate who popped into the river, flushed and panting, after all the rest were in was greeted with taunting cries of: "Lubber last! Lubber last! Lubber last!"

De Peyster had never been told not to go in swimming. It had not occurred to his mother as among the list of his possible perils, as she was in blissful ignorance of the fact that "the other fellows" did it.

So it was with the thrilling exultance of the Greek runner that he set his toe on the line with the rest and hurled himself forward, head up and elbows in.

The first few rods it felt like flying. His feet scarcely seemed to touch the ground. Then a pair of legs flashed by him, and another and another. He gathered his strength and shot forward again, but another pair of legs went by, and another and another.

They were tearing off their coats; they were stripping off their shirts. He felt at his collar, wrenched it off and flung it away, to have both hands free for his coat and shirt. They were almost at the bank now. He could see Micky Daly's white skin dazzle in the sun as he took a splendid dive ahead of the rest. His own feet were growing heavy, and there was a mist before his eyes. The knot in his shoe lacing would not come untied. A savage rage filled him. If he could have cut off his foot to rid himself of the hampering shoe, he would scarcely have hesitated. You were ruled out if you went into the water with anything left on. As he struggled and perspired and agonized the two or three whom he had distanced leaped past him, and as he shook the shoe off at last and made his dive he heard the air ringing with, "Lubber last! Lubber last!" and slowly realized that it was meant for him.

He tried manfully two or three other days, but it was always the same way. His muscles were flabby from the dooryard discipline, and he could not pick up in a few weeks what the others had acquired through joyous years of summer vagabondage.

He took it quietly and good naturedly, but it went deep.

His mother found out the custom shortly and forbade him to go near the water.

As for De Peyster himself, the numbness of despair settled upon him. Now he could never learn to redeem himself, to have some day perhaps the ineffable joy of being the first in, ahead of Jimmy Spratt, ahead of Micky Daly, ahead of everybody. His career was ended before it had begun.

"But I got to not let her worry," was the rueful conclusion he always reached. And then he breathed hard and winked fast.

Jimmy was his constant friend and brought him alleviating messages from time to time, such as that the other fellers all said he had lots of sand and could do as well as the next feller if he had half a chance.

When even these encouraging remarks ceased to comfort, he gave him his own horned toad as a last desperate resort. The effect was wonderfully efficacious, but transitory.

"I'd oughter been a girl," said De Peyster many times to himself, "but I wish she didn't want to make believe I am one when I ain't."

This was the nearest to a reproach that he allowed his loyal little heart to entertain, but a baffled, unchildlike look grew in his eyes as he watched his mates go off without him day after day.

In July a light epidemic of scarlet fever prevailed. The oldest inhabitants called it "walking scarlatina," the illness was so slight.

Mrs. Van Voort kept De Peyster in the house.

One day De Peyster caught it.

He regarded it rather in the nature of a festal occurrence than otherwise, for all the Boys who had had it came up to see him, and, although they were not allowed to stand long, it cheered him amazingly to hear what they were doing, for he had constantly the hope that these new delights they told of one after another would not be on the forbidden list when he was out again.

But after awhile he did not seem to care whether they came or not and one day when told that Micky Daly waited below said languidly, "I guess I don't care about seeing him just now—I'm sorter tired—but tell him it 'll be bully to have him come tomorrow."

But when tomorrow came no one was admitted, for he was tossing about in a weakening struggle with something he did not understand that those who watched by him realized only too well.

He heard a voice as if from very far away:

"You'd better tell him, doctor," it said, "I can't stand it to see him fight for his life like a little Trojan when it isn't any use."

The voice broke and then went on:

"He's a brave little chap, brave enough to face anything, and it isn't treating him square not to let him say goodby."

De Peyster opened his eyes. The doctor was standing over him.

"You don't have to tell me," said De Peyster, for he dimly saw that the old doctor's lips were quivering. "I—I guess—I know."

He felt for his mother's hand.

"I'd like to hear you sing just once first, mamsie," he said.

"There's a bully song one of the fellers taught me, 'One Wide River.' I've liked it specially much since—since it worried you to have me go in swimming."

His mother sobbed out a few lines, faltered and stopped.

A look of patient disappointment came over his face.

"Never mind, mamsie, you needn't," he gasped. "I'm going to see it, you know, so it doesn't matter. Won't the cool water feel good, though? And don't you worry, mamsie. Who's afraid? Father 'll find me!"

He lay quite still a moment; then he whispered:

"I would 'a' liked to try one more run with the fellers—Micky Daly was most always ahead—he's a peach sprinter. You tell him and Jimmy and the other fellers about—about me and the wide river. Tell 'em this time I—I ain't lubber last!"

And he slipped away to find that unknown river, the bravest of little pioneers.

What Wearied Him.

A friend once asked an aged man what caused him to complain so often at eventide of pain and weariness. "Alas," replied he, "I have every day so much to do. I have two falcons to tame, two hares to keep from running away, two hawks to manage, a serpent to confine, a lion to chain and a sick man to tend and wait upon."

"Well, well," commented his friend, "you are busy indeed! But I didn't know that you had anything to do with a menagerie. How, then, do you make that out?"

"Why," continued the old man, "listen. Two falcons are my eyes, which I must guard diligently; the two hares are my feet, which I must keep from walking in the ways of sin; the two hawks are my hands, which I must train to work, that I may provide for myself and those dependent on me as well as for a needy friend occasionally; the serpent is my tongue, which I must keep ever bridled lest it speak unseemly; the lion is my heart, with which I have a continual fight lest evil things come out of it, and the sick man is my whole body, which is always needing my watchfulness and care. All this daily wears out my strength."

In Perfect Accord.

Some years ago there came to an American city a delightful German, Herr von Blitz, who intended to support himself by giving lessons in his native tongue. When he had been here several months and had secured a moderate number of pupils, he went one day to the mother of one of them and to her great surprise asked for her daughter's hand in marriage.

"But, my dear sir," said she, "my daughter has no fortune."

The suitor smiled upon her in an expansive generosity.

"Me, too!" said he reassuringly.

"And, although we are not rich, we have thus far been able to give her every comfort. She is indeed used to luxury."

"Me, too!" was the smiling rejoinder.

"But, Herr von Blitz, she will never be able to manage affairs."

"Me, too!" rejoiced the lover.

"And I feel obliged to tell you that my daughter has a very high temper."

"Me too! Me too!"

That was enough. The mother retired from the contest, and the professor won his suit.—Youth's Companion.

Got In His Whole Name.

A Genoa paper tells this delightful story at America's expense: When the Duke of Veragua, the descendant of Christopher Columbus, visited Chicago, he inquired at a telegraph office the charge for a telegram to the city of Columbus of ten words. "Fifteen cents," answered the official, "not including the signature, which is wired free." Whereupon the duke wired: "Mayor, Columbus: Shall visit your city next Monday or Tuesday." And he signed it: "Cristobal Colon de Toledo y Larreategui de la Cerda Ramirez de Baquedano y Gante Almirante y Adelantado Mayor de las Indias, Marques de Jamaica, Duque de Veragua y de la Vega, Grande de Espana, Senator del Reino, Caballero de la Insigne orden del Toison d'Oro, Gran Cruz de la Concepcion de Villaviciosa, Gentil Hombre de Camarra del Rey de Espana."

Removing Ink Stain.

When an ink stain is difficult to remove and if the fabric is white apply lemon juice and salt and keep the spot exposed to the sun. The spot should be kept constantly wet with the mixture.

Looking Ahead

To be a success in this world you must plan ahead. The person who just takes things as they come, never gets anywhere. PLAN AHEAD, decide what you are going to be and then PREPARE. No matter what line of business you select you NEED a Business Training.

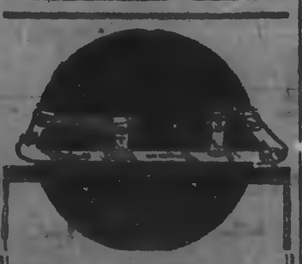
There are no boundaries to the financial future and success of the young man or woman who has a Business Education.

Winter Term Opens Tuesday, January 2nd

PETERBORO BUSINESS COLLEGE LTD
J. A. McKone, Prin.
PHONE 580-1441

CHINA PAINTING

Mrs. Langley McCarthy
Teacher Bisnop's New and Beautiful Art Work in China Painting



Ingersoll Watches
That Show the Time in the Dark from $1.25 up.
Automobile and Cycle Sights
Hockey Sticks and Supplies
Jack Knives
MILLARD'S BICYCLE SHOP
Hunter St., near Aylmer

UNION BANK OF CANADA

Co-operative Saving

is facilitated and encouraged by the opening of a Joint Savings Account in the names of Husband and Wife, Father and Son, Brother and Sister, or any two or more members of the family. Either can deposit or withdraw money at will, and the interest accrues to the credit of both.

Ask the Manager for full particulars.

PETERBOROUGH BRANCH C. H. PENNEFATHER, Manager
NORWOOD BRANCH . . . . D. B. CUTCLIFFE, Manager
HASTINGS BRANCH . . . J. M. THOMSON, Manager
STIRLING BRANCH . . . . W. S. MARTIN, Manager

HOW BLIND MEN READ

LOUIS BRAILLE WAS BENEFACTOR OF UNFORTUNATES.

Frenchman, Who Invented Means Whereby Blind May Read, Was Born a Century Ago Near Paris and Became a Professor at 17—Publishing Braille Books Is a Costly and Laborious Work.

It was a magnificent tribute which King George paid to the memory of the man who "made the blind to see," on the occasion of the recent opening of the new building added to the National Institute for the Blind in Great Portland street, London. "A great service," said His Majesty, "was rendered to humanity when Louis Braille devised the system of reading and writing which partially restores to the blind the lost means of intercourse with their fellows."

The tribute was well deserved, for of all the reading and writing systems which have been invented for the help of the blind, it is generally recognized that that of Louis Braille is by far the best. Much of the £130,000 which is being appealed for to support the National Institute is required to supply the increasing demand for books of the Braille type. That the money will be subscribed by the generous-hearted public there is little doubt, for, as King George truly remarked:

"It is a commonplace that men do not realise the value of that which they have never lost, but I am confident that your appeal for funds to extend and develop your undertaking will stir the imagination of many who unreflectingly enjoy the blessing of sight."

Braille, who was born in 1809 about twenty-three miles from Paris, became blind through an accident at the age of three. When he was ten years of age he entered as a pupil the Institution Nationale des Jeunes Aveugles, which was founded by Valentin Hauy in 1784, and such was his intelligence that when he was seventeen years of age he was elected a professor of the institution.

Both as a pupil and professor, however, he labored to invent a system which the blind could not only read but write in relief, and after years of patient labor devised the wonderful system which bears his name.

Briefly the signs of the Braille system consist of varying combinations of six points or dots placed in an oblong, of which the vertical side contains three and the horizontal two points. There are sixty-two possible combinations of these six points, so that after providing characters for the twenty-six letters of the English alphabet, there remain a sufficient number of signs for punctuation, contractions, etc.

The first ten letters, from "A" to "J," are formed by combinations of dots in the upper and middle rows; the next ten letters, from "K" to "T," are formed by adding the left-hand dot on the lower row, and the remainder by adding two dots in the lower row to the combinations representing the first ten letters.

By other various combinations it is easy to represent punctuation, numbers, and musical notes. Indeed, by means of this dotted system a blind man is able to keep memoranda or accounts, write his own music, emboss his own books from dictation, and carry on correspondence.

For writing, a frame is used consisting of a grooved metal bed, containing ten grooves to the inch. Over this is fitted a brass perforated guide, fixed into a light wooden frame like the frame of a slate, and which is attached to the grooved metal bed by hinges. The paper is introduced between the frame and the grooved bed, the instrument for writing being a blunt awl which carries a little cap of paper before it into the grooves of the bed, thereby producing a series of little pits on the side next the writer. When taken out and turned over, little prominences are felt, corresponding to the pits on the other side.

The reading is performed from left to wright, consequently the writing is from right to left. But this reversal presents no practical difficulty as soon as the pupil has caught the idea that in reading and writing alike he has to go forwards.

That the making of Braille books is a costly and laborious process may be gathered from the fact that John Andrew Ford, whom the King and Queen saw at work when they visited the National Institute, and who has the distinction of having hammered out the first Bible in Braille, took three and a half years to accomplish the task.

The task involved no fewer than 30,000,000 blows, the punch having to be struck three times with the hammer for each dot. This Braille edition of the Bible runs into thirty-nine bulky foolscap volumes.

Alpaca in Vogue.

With the return of alpaca to style a very practical material becomes the fashion. Whether in vogue or not, it has been worn under its more modern name, mohair, for many American women, who are great travelers as a rule, have always found this material the most practical and pretty for the traveling suit.

Under the French name of "alpaga" many pretty models have been created from this material. This fabric seems to be known under various names. Just as there are fine and coarse serges, there are fine and coarse weaves of alpaca, says an authority.

Three samples look at a distance very much the same. On closer inspection the thinnest and finest weave is marked alpaca or brilliantine. The other two samples resemble each other more closely. The one called mohair is a little closer weave than that which goes under the name of sicilienne. The brilliantine looks to be a fabric more suited to dresses, the sicilienne, and the mohair to tailored suits and coats. Cravenette mohair is mohair which has been treated by a process so it is practically rainproof and does not spot or shrink.

HOW TO LIVE.

That Is, How to Live Cheaply and Well.

Most Canadians wonder how people can live on the wages paid in some foreign countries, and when we see people coming over here in the steerage and raising large, healthy families on small wages we wonder also how that can be done. If the truth were known, it is largely a matter of soup and porridge. What is more the Canadian pioneer had a few tricks of the same kind, now almost forgotten. In every country there is some national dish which is cheap, nourishing and satisfactory, and it is usually a soup or stew.

The Italian has his minestrone and his macaroni cooked with meat or vegetables or both. The French housewife has a hundred or so good soups, notably petite marmite, soup a la bonne femme and pot-au-feu. The Scotch have their cockaleekie and barley broo. The Hungarian has his goulash. And so it goes. Old fashioned New England farmers cherished their "boiled dish" and hash and let no scrap of pork or veal or beef go to waste. On the southern plantations, where food was perhaps more abundant than anywhere else in the early days of America, soups were made of a variety of materials, cooked long and slowly. The soup kettle is the good fairy of any well managed household—a brown and squat fairy, but that is no matter. And to do the work properly it should be of good heavy enameled ware, easy to keep clean, and suited to sit on the back of the stove or the simmering burner for seven or eight hours. The great secret of any soup or stew is long, steady, slow cooking. Tough meat, mature vegetables, stale bread, bones (most particularly bones), remnants of oatmeal, macaroni, rice or potatoes, left in the dish after a meal and unappetizing warmed over, and such cheap foods as barley, rice and other forms of cereal, all improve a soup that is properly started, and the long, slow cooking with the cover on keeps in the flavor. Soup stock made in this way will make almost any sort of dish more palatable. With the cooking dishes these forms of cookery are practically impossible, but as tin gives place to the unrustable, unbreakable, durable enameled kettles the soup and the stew are coming back into their true place.

Petticoat Styles.

The petticoat of the present is a very important garment, with its cordings, ruffings, pipings and flounces. The silk, mercerized and other cottons are very attractive, as are also the new fabrics, such as cotton net, cotton crepe, sateen, twill, pique, lawn, embroidery and lace.

Mercerized petticoats, with dark grounds and pompadour bouquets in bright colors, are practical and inexpensive. A taffeta skirt in block design has a deep plaited flounce with three tiny ruffles on the edge. A yoke model has a deep flounce of six corded ruffles. Another design has a deep flounce, circular, tucked and plaited, with a tiny ruffle on the lower edge. Sometimes a deep scalloped flounce is trimmed with narrow ruffles.

TO PREVENT SCOURGE.

How to Ward Off Germs of Infantile Paralysis.

Doctors have explained how to detect symptoms of infantile paralysis and how to ward off the disease and prevent its spread.

The first symptoms are fever, bowel disturbances, headache, and irritability.

After a few hours pains develop, usually in the lower part of the legs and in the feet.

Sometimes there are also pains in the region of the spine, in the arms and neck—stiff neck.

Within twelve hours the patient is unable to move his arms or legs and sometimes cannot talk.

Vomiting, delirium, twitchings, and convulsions accompany the progress of the disease.

A temperature of from 100 to 106 degrees lasts two or three days.

Sometimes, but rarely, the patient has chills, sore throat, and skin eruptions.

Health is no protection. Often children go to bed apparently well and awake in the night with the first symptoms and are partly paralyzed by morning.

Cleanliness is the only known preventive.

The isolation of children in the house is next in importance.

Have children wash their hands and faces often.

Avoid buying candy, ice cream, and fruits which are eaten without being cooked from peddlers and store keepers who are not careful of their wares.

Don't kiss children on their mouths.

Keep their noses clean. This applies especially to young babies.

Protect them from flies.

The germs of this disease, which are so small that they cannot be seen with microscopes and which pass through germ filters, almost always enter the bodies of their victims through the mucous membranes of the nose and throat.

Keep children away from their mates in the streets or at moving picture shows.

Report all cases at once to the board of health, so that the city's doctors can immediately investigate and remove the patients to hospitals.

Adults are not free from the disease. If your hands are dirty or if you are not careful about the preparation of your children's food remember that you can give your little ones the disease as readily as can outsiders.

Of Chinese Inspiration.

Perched airily upon apple green twigs and scattered all over the new evening silks are tiny birds of delicate coloring. These are largely inspired by the Chinese influence and appear to be just what the dressmakers were waiting for.

GROCERIES
Meats & Provisions

E. BENSON
Cor. PARK & ROMAINE
Successor to Brisco Brothers

To all our Customers and Friends we wish a Bright and Happy New Year. We ask for a continuance of your Patronage. Our aim is to serve and please you. We invite you to call and see us. A Fresh Line of Groceries and Meats always in Stock. Ask for our Prices on Canned Goods. We keep everything you need.

E. BENSON - Grocer

SCHOOL REPORT

Following is the school report of S. S. No. 4, Smith. The percentage of the total number of marks taken by each pupil is given:

Senior IV.—Edith Brown 72, Helen Lewis 72, Laura Lewis (absent).

Junior IV.—Ivy Stevens 71, Morgan Brown 67, Audrey Cox 63, Harold Thompson 62, Dorothy Phillips 51.

Senior II.—Helen Garbutt 73, Helen Cox 63, Enid Lewis 53.

Junior II.—Amy Thompson 69, Harry Franks 65, Keith Stewart 61, (Willie Fowler and Russell, Roseborough, absent.)

Senior I.—Flossie Brown 64, Anna Franks 64, Pearl Mulden 61, Max Stewart 58; Thurza Allen 48, Edna Stephens 43, Beatrice Stephens (not re nked).

Class A.—Robin Stewart, Eddie Mullen, Mabel Mullen.

Class B—Marguerite Seabrook, Ida Heard, Wilhelmina Cox.

Class C.—Vera Stephens.

I. Brumwell, teacher.

Dawson Bros.
GROCERS
Cor. George & London Sts.

Currants, re-cleaned, pound	25c.
Valencia raisins, choice, pound	11c.
Mixed peel, lemon, orange, citron, pound	25c.
Fresh dates, pound	10c.
Cooking figs, 2 pound	25c.
Allen's famous apple cider, per gal.	60c.
Home-made mince meat, pound	18c.
Cranberries for your Christmas turkey, quart	15c.

SPECIAL.

Swift's premium bacon, put up expressly for boys at the front. Packed in sealtite and waterproof paper. Each piece safe at $1.00

White beans, fancy, picked, 2 pound	25c.
Prunes, large and meaty, 2 pound	25c.
Malaga grapes, pound	20c.
Lemons, large and juicy, dozen	40c.
Auto brand salmon extra value	15c.
Turnips. We have a limited amount of real choice turnips. Your goose will taste better if you serve turnips. Per bag	30c.
Oranges, large, sweet and juicy. Doz., 20c., 40c. and	50c.

Prompt Delivery - - 'Phone 1030

FOR THE NEW YEAR

Your table will not be complete without a big bowl, generously filled with those jolly, bright, California Oranges. They should be plentiful. They possess the organic salts and acids that oranges contain to aid digestion, and bring the blood and tissue back to normal.

SUNKIST
Uniformly Food Oranges
Buy them by the box. Uniformly good oranges—such as Sunkist—will keep.
"Oranges For Health"
PRINGLE'S
Sanitary Fruit & Fish Market
Cor. George & Charlotte Sts.
Phone 197

Car of California Seedless Oranges at All Prices

Malaga Grapes California Grapes
Bananas Figs Dates
Grape Fruit Pomegranates
Apples Lemons
Hot House Tomatoes Potatoes
Hot House Lettuce Macaroni
Olives Olive Oil
Choice Groceries for Christmas
Fresh Fish, Haddie, Herrings and Select Oysters

JOE LONGO & CO.
2 Stores (418 George St., Phone 931 / 240 Charlotte St., Phone 1013

CHEAPER THAN CARPET

I will furnish complete, wax and polish a quarter cut oak floor at lower cost per square foot than carpet.

Other floorings cheaper. Consult me for house plans, remodelling, estimates, etc.

Special Prices for Winter Work

A. B. CUNNINGHAM
331 REID STREET PHONE 1361

Have You Ever Thought of All-Over Stuffed Furniture For Your Living Room?

Or a single piece or more to add to your drawing room to give it a more comfortable appearance?

Do you know of anything that will give a stiff uncomfortable drawing room a more cosy inviting appearance than a few pieces of All-over Stuffed Furniture judiciously placed throughout the room? But the coverings of these pieces must be in perfect harmony with the rest of the furniture and surroundings to give the proper results. We employ expert upholsters to make this kind of furniture and our expert colorists, after looking at your room, will be able to suggest just the proper material, design and color to give your room the needed touch to make it complete and homelike. When you think of All-over Stuffed Furniture think of the Hall Store because this is the place where you will find the best selection of this kind of furniture, and there is an immense range of beautiful coverings of all descriptions to choose from.

RICHARD HALL & SON LIMITED

SCHOOL BOARD ESTIMATES FOR THE CURRENT YEAR ALSO FINANCIAL STATEMENT

Requirement For the Year 1917 Increased by $5,600—High Cost of Living Together With the Increasing Cost of Commodities One of the Chief Reasons For the Increase—Biggest Part of the Increase Will Go to the Public Schools.

NEW YEAR'S GIFT FOR THE COUNCIL

At a meeting of the Board of Education, held last evening, it was moved by Mr. V. Eastwood, and seconded by Mr. J. W. Miller, that pursuant to the Public Schools Act, section 47, and the High Schools Act, section 37, the Municipal Council of the City of Peterborough be, and they are hereby required to pay the Treasurer of the Board of Education in monthly instalments, the money to be used for the current expenses of the Public Schools and Collegiate Institute as follows:

January 15th	$3,000.00
February 1st	9,300.00
March 1st	9,300.00
April 1st	9,300.00
May 1st	9,300.00
June 1st	9,300.00
July 1st	9,300.00
August 1st	3,300.00
September 1st	3,400.00
October 1st	9,300.00
November 1st	9,300.00
December 1st	9,300.00
Total	$93,400.00

And that a copy of this resolution be forwarded to the Council.

The Recapitulation.

The recapitulation at the end of the appended report will be of interest to the City Council, in that it calls for an estimated increase in expenditure of $5,600 over the requirement for last year. Sixteen hundred dollars of this amount is for the Collegiate Institute and the remaining four thousand dollars for the Public Schools.

An overdraft of $500, an increase in the cost of fuel, amounting to approximately $1,050, an increase in the cost of printing and stationary, also an increase in salaries, are some of the reasons given for the proposed increase in expenditure for the year 1917.

Complete Statement.

A complete financial statement concerning the Board's activities during the past year, and the estimates for the year 1917, are included in the following report:

Following is a general statement of receipts and expenditures of the Peterborough Board of Education for the year ending 31st December, 1916:

Receipts.

Balance	$1,522.88
Collegiate Institute rate	23,000.00
Public School rate	64,800.00
Government grants:
Collegiate Institute	1,059.83
Evening industrial classes (2 terms)	807.00
Public Schools	1,914.36
Manual Training and Domestic Science departments	508.08
Kindergartens	150.00
Re Normal School	1,125.00
Strathcona Trust grant	57.20
Fees Collegiate Institute	2,232.52
Fees text books and supplies	3,000.32
Fees departmental exams.	177.14
